Congressman Price Spoke To Group Here Wednesday

Congressman Bob Price spoke to a group of McLean citizens Wednesday at 4 p.m. and excerpts from his talk are as follows:

"People want to know why we don't quit spending so much money...and my answer is, when the people quit asking for it," Congressman Bob Price told a town Hall Meeting today at American National Bank in McLean. "Of every dollar spend about 40 cents goes for red tape. We have created this waste ourselves," he continued.

"Just a few days ago, the Congress voted to increase the limit of the national debt from $400 billion dollars to $450 billion. I opposed this increase and my opponent voted to increase our national debt."

"The interest alone is $22 billion each year. When I went to Congress five years ago, the interest on the national debt stood at $13 billion. In another five years it will probably be $30."

"We may manage to cope with it, but our kids will have to pay for the good times we are having now. We are destroying ourselves."

Price predicted this trend will continue. "Welfare recipients have become a voting bloc just as labor has. In many cases they will vote for the man who will pass their liberal give away for nothing legislation. Labor furnishes the money for candidates who will support their legislation. They in effect have bought themselves a candidate. This is what some men in Amarillo are trying to do again...buy themselves a candidate so they can tell him to vote."

"We are reaping the type of nation we have created and we can only answer to ourselves. If the answer is 'I have not done anything,' then we have no argument with what has happened to our country," Price said.

"We must get our government back in the hands of the people. This is what the organization of government that the President has recommended is all about."

"Each of us must ask ourselves, 'What have I done to

Screwworm Total Hits Weekly High

MISSION---Last week was the worst in the history in the 10-year old Screwworm Program, Mission Lab officials gloomily announced Tuesday. Texas was hit with a soaring 3,879 cases, nearly 900 more than the previous record of 3,023 established the first week of July, 1962.

The surging caseload bore out the predictions of an unjuviant Dr. M.E. (Cotton) Meadows, program director, who warned two weeks ago that an unexpected drop in the count--the first after 11 successive weeks of increases--was probably only temporary.

Weather conditions hadn't changed that much so I felt sure it was strictly a fluke, he commented, but I didn't think it would climb so high so fast.

The biggest day was Monday with 1,019 cases, the smallest was Wednesday with 416.

Texas' 1972 total is now 16,196, second only to the 49,484 cases of 1962.

The voracious fly struck in seven new counties to raise that count to 162. The newcomers were Childress, Crane, McLennan, Oldham, Palo Pinto, Swisher and Wichita.

Arizona's worsening situation continued to become: just that as 50 more cases there raised the 1972 figure to 166. New Mexico had six more outbreaks and now has 24 cases for the year.

Two more cases from Oklahoma were the first there since May 10 when the first case in nine years was confirmed in Jefferson County. The new cases were in Cotton and Comanche Counties in southcentral Oklahoma.

California's modest outbreak remained at two cases where it has stood for several weeks.

Lions Elect International President

GEORGE FRIEDRICHS

George Friedrichs of Ancey, France, was elected president of Lions International at the association's 55th annual convention in Mexico City, June 28-July 1. Serving as the 56th president of the world's largest humanitarian service organization, Friedrichs leads over 979,000 members in 25,646 clubs located in 147 countries and geographical areas.

His 1972-1973 program stresses the need to increase understanding and cooperation between Lions Clubs through projects in international service. Increased participation by the clubs in the international youth exchange program is among the goals Friedrichs has set for his presidential year.

McLean Students On Tech Honor Roll

A total of 2035 students in the College of Arts and Sciences at Texas Tech University qualified for the dean's honor list for the 1972 spring semester, according to Dean Lawrence L. Graves.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

Students recognized for their high academic achievement in the College of Engineering from McLean are: Mike Haynes, Junior, Journalism, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Haynes; George Van Huss; Ronald McIlroy, senior, Music-Applied, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McIlroy.

Department Men Save Near Victims

Maybe the Red Cross Water Safety course should be part of the new employees orientation for all members of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Department employees are building up quite a good record for saving fellow Texans from a watery doom.

Fish and Wildlife Technicians Stanley Clark and Terry Kirkpatrick and their summer assistant Walter Batla were recently conducting research from a boat on Lak Tyler.

Cries for help from three nearby swimmers attracted the men and they immediately investigated.

One of the swimmers had exhausted himself trying to reach the shore and went under by the time the department men reached him.

Clark leaped overboard and brought him up while Kirkpatrick maneuvered the boat and Batla hauled the near drowning statistic to safety.

On the other side of the state, flash flooding in Palo Duro Canyon was nearly disastrous for two motorists stranded at low-water crossing in the State park.

Park superintendent Elton Baker came upon the pair as they were about to be swept away by a torrent raging through the canyon.

He towed the victims to safety but not without losing his own vehicle to the flood.

A small price to pay for two lives.

Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Hommel of Alanreed attended the wedding of their grandson, William Wesley Grigsby to Miss Myrna Pfington in Hondo, N.M., at the First Baptist Church on Saturday, July 1 at 8 p.m.

They were accompanied there by their daughter and sons, Mrs. Ray Howard Miller, Michael and David of Amarillo.

The groom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Norman Grigsby of Dumas. They and their son Mark attended the wedding.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thornton Pfington of Hondo, N.M. They were present for the wedding.

The couple will make their home at 2604 6th Ave. in Canyon.

Bailey Reunion To Be Held At Country Club

The Bailey Family reunion will be held at the McLean Country Club, July 15 and 16. I would like to invite all their friends out to visit at this time.

An Adventure
For Your Child

Questions about nature tumble from a child.

"Grass smells funny. What makes it grow? Why does it tickle?"

The world is a bulging, breathing puzzle to the wide-eyed child, who is constantly learning to "see" through his eyes, touch, smell, hearing, and taste, according to Jane Fleischer, specialist in family life education with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Miss Fleischer urged that parents tap this natural curiosity of a child and create a learning adventure.

"Learning comes through doing," she said. "Awareness, curiosity, understanding and independence can work to help the child discover learning adventures if you take time to show him the way," she said.

The Texas A&M University specialist explained that plopping down in a woods, park or meadow and listening to nature can stimulate a child's awareness of bird calls, insects and animals. Instruct him to sit completely quiet for sixty seconds with no moving or talking. Then discuss what he's heard.

"From a hilltop pause with him and notice colors in the distance," she added. "Ask how many different shades of green he can spot. Stroll through the woods and ask how many smells he can distinguish. Point out odors of freshly-cut grass and hay."

Miss Fleischer suggested going on texture hunts. Take time to talk about objects the child sees--things that feel soft and furry, smooth, coarse, sharp, wet and dry. In a field of flowers have him carefully examine the parts as you discuss their roles. Explain the part bees, butterflies and humming birds play in transporting pollen from flower to flower for seed production.

Watch ants at an anthill or an insect crawling in the grass or on a tree trunk. Discover where they can go or what they're trying to do.

"Learning about the world can be exciting for your child but it's up to you as a parent to start him on his won safari of seeing and doing," she urged.

Tire experts predict that within thirty years passenger tires will be guaranteed for 100,000 miles and for speeds up to 200 miles per hour, and trains will roll on rubber tires at a speed of 500 miles per hour.

An antique collector passing through a small village stopped to watch an old man chopping wood with an ancient ax. "That's a mighty old ax you have there," he remarked. "Yup," said the villager, "it once belonged to George Washington."

"Not really!" gasped the collector. "It has certainly stood up well." "Of course," admitted the old man, "it's had three new handles and two new heads."

When a man just returned from his vacation complained of the rainy weather he'd had, a friend interrupted, "It couldn't have been so bad--you're sunburned!" "Sunburn nothing," he replied. "That's rust!"

Kentuckian: "We have so much gold at Fort Knox we could build a gold fence four feet high clear around Texas." Texan: "You go ahead, pardner, and if we like it, we'll buy it."

Policeman: "Madam, didn't you hear me whistle when you went through that red light?"

Lady driver: "Yes, but I never flirt when driving."

There is just one thing worse than having to pay income tax, and that is not having to pay any.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Wide variance in election costs over the state have been pointed up by Secretary of State Bob Bullock in a recent report.

Bullock said primary expenses ranged from 36 cents per voter (Democrats) in Travis County to $4.83 (for Republicans) in El Paso County.

Some county chairmen managed a "Thrifter, better organized election," while others spent the maximum amount authorized, said the chief election officer.

"These figures have reaffirmed our belief that single polling places for both parties, with primaries financed through the county clerk's office, would be a positive step toward reducing our primary election costs," said Bullock.

High unit cost for Republicans is not surprising, due to the small size of the GOP primary, Bullock said.

In some counties, the Secretary of State complained, 400 voting machines were allowed where "half as many" probably would have done the job.

COURTS SPEAK

A U. S. Supreme Court decision holding the death penalty unconstitutional left uncertain the fate of 41 Texas prisoners on death row.

A federal court at Brownsville held five Texas laws used in labor disputes are unconstitutional and scored the role of Texas Rangers in a 1966-67 Starr County farm workers' strike.

The State Supreme Court next fall will hear arguments concerning the extent of a health insurance policy holder's rights in suits based on alleged misrepresentation in policy sales.

The High Court ruled Sun Oil Company has rights to use 100,000 gallons of water daily for injection of oil-bearing sands beneath a Hockley County tract to increase production.

Part of the value of Medical and legal practices of divorced husbands can be held as community property for distribution to wives, the Supreme Court held.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trials for two men who had earlier received death sentences which had been overturned by the U. S. Supreme Court, and upheld Gov. Preston Smith's commutation of sentences for two others under similar circumstances. The Court affirmed a fifth death penalty.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals affirmed a trial court finding that a Travis County couple did not have sufficient mental capacity to understand the effects of leasing their homestead to

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

When the school bells ring this fall, Texas school children will be among the best-immunized in the country.

The reason, according to State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy, is the state's compulsory immunization law.

Under the regulations, grade school level children (and those attending day care centers) must be immunized against five communicable diseases—diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles, and rubella. Measles immunization is not required if there is a history of measles illness. And smallpox, which originally was a required immunization, was removed from the list by the State Board of Health, which sets immunization guidelines for the schools.

Junior High School, high school and college-level students have lesser requirements for immunizations, said Dr. Peavy. The Health Commissioner noted that immunizations should have been started by last January 1 and must be completed, according to age levels, before starting school this fall.

"I feel that almost all school children will have completed these requirements," said Dr. Peavy. About the only misunderstanding in the regulation was in the college level, he said. "If a collegian is 19 years of age or over, the only requirement is for the adult type tetanus-diphtheria immunization, or a booster shot within the past 10 years."

Dr. Peavy said local health units through out the state contributed toward meeting the large demand for immunizations, and private physicians have boosted the total. In 1971 almost 4.5 million doses of vaccine were administered to Texans during regular local health unit clinics and special campaigns.

Dr. Peavy said the immunization law is a good one—one that had been needed for a long time. It forces parents to protect their children and in so doing protect themselves, their friends and relatives from these preventable diseases.

"We are anxious to have children immunized long before they start to school," said Dr. Peavy. "In fact, they should start in the first year of life," he said.

"I feel that the immunization results will be reflected in the preventable disease total," said the Health Commissioner. "From the past experience, we have seen a steady decline in preventable diseases—except venereal disease," he said.

Dr. Peavy said it was imperative that the very young children receive immunizations since a lot of diseases appear in those two years of age and younger. "The best prevention is early immunization," he said.

Dr. Peavy said there has been good cooperation from everyone concerning the mandatory immunization law, which has co-sponsorship of the Texas Medical Association.

The law even allows exclusions from compliance for religious reasons, or where a physician licensed by the Texas Board of Medical Examiners feels that immunizations are medically contraindicated.

Many school districts had varying immunization requirements, but none were standard. "Some just had smallpox, while others required several immunizations. Now, however, they will be uniform throughout the state," said Dr. Peavy.

All schools will be required to maintain records of the immunizations status of individual students, and this is a king-size job. Total registration for special education, kindergartens and grades one through 12 is expected to surpass 2.8 million students. Of these, almost a quarter-million will be entering the first grade.

The end result of the mandatory program will be reflected in better health for all Texans, a goal of the State Health Department in its immunization program, said Dr. Peavy.

Highway Signs Take on New Look:

Although the "new look" highway sign is not as revolutionary as the mini-art--Texas Highway Department engineers hope it will be as eye-catching.

In many cases, symbols, shapes and colors are substituted for words. It is hoped that this will give the message to motorists at a glance and remove language barriers. The new symbol signs and pavement markings adopted by the Texas Highway Commission are from the revised "Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices" released by the Federal Highway Administration.

The new prohibitive signs are probably the most important. These signs all have a red circle with a slash cutting diagonally through the center which means "DO NOT" or "NO". The symbol inside the circle shows what is prohibited.

The yellow diamond-shaped signs still stand for a warning, but some of the symbols showing hazards are new. In addition, most warning signs continue to have a word message, but the message is located under the sign on a plaque. For example: The word message "MERGING TRAFFIC" is replaced by a black arrow being joined by a smaller black line. A plaque under the sign will have the word "MERGE." It is hoped this will minimize confusion as to which stream carries the merging traffic.

School signs are shaped like a schoolhouse, containing the silhouettes of two children on a yellow background.

Color is a key in the new system. Red indicates stop or prohibition; green shows movement permitted or gives directional guidance; blue signifies motorist services; yellow indicates general warning; and black on white is used for regulatory signs such as those for speed limits and for most guide and destination signs.

In addition, orange (a new color in the Manual) will convey construction and maintenance warnings.

The shapes of the new signs are important. Diamond shaped signs signify warning; rectangular signs with longer vertical dimensions provide traffic regulation; rectangular signs with longer horizontal dimensions contain guidance information. An octagon always means stop and an inverted triangle means yield.

In addition to the new signs, there are major adjustments in the use of color lines for pavement markings.

Yellow lines will be the only color used for centerline markings on two-way roads and white will remain on multiple-lane highways--for separating traffic flows in the same direction.

Power Mower Maintenance

For The Guy Who Doesn't Know Or Want To

If you're the kind of guy who takes his power mower to a servicing dealer to have the height adjustment levers moved from 1 1/2" to 2", then you're beyond hope.

If you're one step above that, this article is for you. If you're an ex-GI you're in even better shape. First, just apply the first rule of "police call". For those that don't know what "police call" is, it is cleaning up any given ground area by hand. Translated into mower maintenance, do the same with the area you're about to mow. You'd be surprised at how many damaged rotary blades, broken crankshafts and jammed reels this can eliminate. The result? Less costly maintenance.

The second rule of "police call" is "if it moves, pick it up". If you can't pick it up... paint it. In mower maintenance, this translates into "if it moves, lubricate it".

That's right. Get yourself a can of household oil and starting at the mower control levers, give a squirt to every metal part that moves against every other metal part. This includes every screw, nut and bolt on the mower... every place where the control wires attach to the engine... where the grass bag hooks onto the mower deck... where the wheels rotate on the axle and where the axle attaches to the deck.

Get a cloth and wipe off all excess oil because that excess catches dirt and grass clippings. It's the oil you can't see after you put it on that's working for you. And that oil will keep those parts operating smoothly against each other and lessen the chance of serious troubles occurring because of jamming. Lubricating the screws, nuts and bolts protects them against rusting and jamming, when and if they have to be removed or tightened. They're certain to lower the tab at your servicing dealer because of the time he saves in dismantling the mower, when and if it is called for.

If you know how to use a screw driver, you'll be wise to start every season by tightening every screw on the mower you can reach. With a wrench do the same to bolts and nuts. This will keep your mower in line and limit the stress on it. It will also eliminate excessive vibration from loose parts. Vibration means more than noise. It means screw and bolt-holes are being widened by bouncing against the loose screws and bolts. This can lead to serious trouble and major service charges.

The engine maintenance should be left to a qualified servicing dealer. In fact, a good idea is to have your mower looked over by a servicing dealer either just before or just after the end of the mowing season.

A solid yellow line to the right of a broken yellow centerline will mean no passing is allowed for traffic in that lane. Double solid yellow lines will denote areas where no passing is permitted by traffic traveling in either direction. New Outbreak Of VEE Kills Scores Of Horses In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A new outbreak of equine encephalitis, the disease that killed hundreds of horses in Texas last year, is reported to have killed 1,248 horses in western and northern Mexico.

Medical authorities also said that at least 83 persons have been reported ill affected by the disease.

The largest incidence was reported in the Pacific Coast state of Nayarit where 643 animals died and in Durango, in north central Mexico, where 278 died.

Last year the disease first appeared in north central and north east Mexico and then spread north into South Texas.

Officials said that more than 97,000 vaccinations, most of them free, have been administered since the disease appeared.

On June 16, agriculture officials reported 205 animals had died from the current outbreak.

Last summer, an equine encephalitis epidemic in Northern and Central Mexico killed an estimated 10,000 horses and five persons.

A health ministry spokesman said 64 persons now have confirmed cases of the disease in Nayarit, 14 in Guerrero, two in Morelos and three in the state of Mexico. It was the suspected cause of illness in another 560 persons.

The statistics were only for current cases of the disease, which the spokesman said lasts from three to five days in human beings.

It rarely is fatal in humans, but causes high fever, vomiting, aches and diarrhea, he said. The spokesman added that the symptoms are common to several diseases and make positive diagnosis difficult.

The number of confirmed cases in persons rose from a report of 72 cases per day, while the number of suspected cases declined from 850 in the previous report.

MISCELLANEOUS

Last week I told you of the American Legionaire who told me that they were going to drive me out of town if they could not drive me out of McLean, they would drive me insane, they were going to put me in the insane asylum whether I was insane or not.

I did not tell my sister or nephew of that above threat, thinking of course that the problem would work itself out and certainly not wishing to disturb my family more than I could help. So I was in a pretty hot spot when a Gray County Officer went to my sister's home in Collingsworth County and told her she was to appear before the judge on the following Monday morning. To this, she said: "What for--what's it all about"

"It's about Ruby-that's what it's about. Thirty two families in McLean are afraid of her, say she is dangerous and should be put away."

"What's the matter with Ruby?"
 "You ought to know, you go up there every week, but she doesn't do anything wrong that I can see."

(All of the above incident and that which follows were related to me by my sister.)

The judge said that every complaint that had come to him about me was brought to him by the officers--the McLean Officers. He repeated that the complaints had come from 42 families, who were afraid of me, said I was dangerous and should be put away. (Not sure that was his figure, but the number fluctuated.

The judge refused to name a single person who had had opinion of my mentality. He said he would not release the names because I would annoy them. Among other reasons for my condemnation; I had iron pipes inside my house, I had a meat cleaver, and that I said I was sprayed by dusts and insecticides.

My sister and nephew came by my house after the ordeal before the judge. They wanted me to leave town for a couple of weeks. My sister begged me to go to a psychiatrist, "no psychiatrist, she said, would say you are insane." But I thought about Legionaire and the psychiatrist who for ten dollars would say I was crazy.

Then there was a period when my relatives tried to get me to leave town. Finally I was threatened that the officers would come after me carry me out of town. Believe me! I was terrified. I was so scared, I could hardly walk. Shaking in every part of my body, I refused. I felt they wanted me out of town so they could get the microphones out of my house. I still got them.

It's been pretty horrible, believe me. The tears that I shed did not drown my heart-break.

Weekly Market Report

"Don't forget to check local markets this week for tips on economical food buy," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, advised.

"Beef prices remain about the same as last month," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Since it's the broiling steak season, better beef values cover chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and round steaks, and roasts. Look for best pork values on ham, picnic, shoulder roasts and steaks, end cut loin roasts and chop and all kinds of lunch meats."

According to the Texas A&M University employees, fryer chickens continue to spotlight poultry bargain counters. Eggs also boast exceptionally low prices, with Grade A Large and medium sizes running for a close race for best value.

Mrs. Clyatt named cantaloupes, watermelons, Santa Rosa plums, bananas, pineapples and nectarines as fresh fruits in good supply at the most economical prices. Best vegetable choices include corn, carrots, yellow onions, okra, potatoes, head lettuce, cabbage, purple hull and black-eyed peas, cucumbers, radishes, green onions and tomatoes.

Wherefore Our Wormy Fish

An elated angler pulled the bass off his line and beamed at his catch.

Then his smile shattered and he disgustedly hurled the fish back into the lake.

Since when did bass fishermen chunk back their prize?

A horrified fisherman who finds ugly black or yellow grubs in his prize bass would certainly think twice about adding the wormy fish to his stringer.

But there is no cause for alarm.

The worms are usually encysted in the dorsal muscle tissue near the skin and can be easily removed with a

 According to Texas Parks and Wildlife fisheries experts, the parasites in both fresh and saltwater fish are harmless to man.

Freshwater fish are often infected with black and yellow grubs.

Both parasites have a complicated life cycle and utilize three hosts: fish, water birds and snails.

Fortunately, man is never host to these worms and is not harmed by eating infected fish as long as they are well-cooked.

Some of the coast's most popular sportfishes, speckled trout and redbfish, are also susceptible to parasitic worms which mature only in fish.

These worms are in no way harmful to humans and do not detract from the quality of the fish except for its looks.

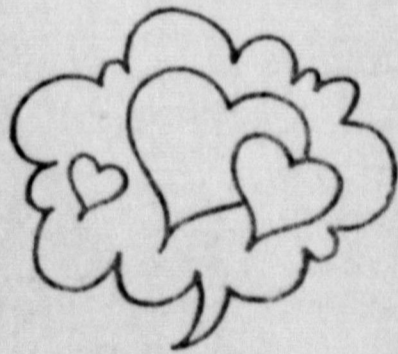

Many other parasites are common to our native fish and practically every fish is afflicted at one time or another.

The presence of various parasites should not interfere with either the fun of fishing in Texas or the pleasure of eating the catch.

"Plain English"

Gerald had the idea and Fred had the money. Over a midnight cup of coffee, they agreed to start manufacturing a new kind of toy. As for profits, they agreed on what they assumed would be a simple formula: a "fifty-fifty" split.

Things went well. Nevertheless, for personal reasons, they decided after a year to bring the venture to an end.

Dividing the profits should have been merely a matter of arithmetic. But Gerald insisted he was entitled to an extra share as wages, on the ground that he alone had put in regular working hours at the company office.

Fred finally won the argument—but only after a costly trip to court. Two years of bitter litigation was the price the partners had to pay for failing to make clear, right at the start, what they meant by the expression "fifty-fifty."

The case illustrates the danger of assuming that "plain English" is always plain. When money or legal rights are at stake, people have an astonishing capacity for putting different interpretations on what might at first have seemed perfectly clear.

Consider the following words: "fireproof," "cash on hand," "furniture," "unmarried," "immediately," "children." Plain English? But:

Does "fireproof" mean that the article positively can't burn?

Does "cash on hand" include money in the bank?

Does "furniture" include silverware and china?

Does "unmarried" include someone who was married, then divorced?

Does "immediately" allow for a reasonable delay?

Do "children" include step-children?

Each of these questions has led to litigation. Furthermore, in each instance, courts have given both yes and no answers, depending on the particular circumstances.

Even the lowest prepositions or conjunctions can be tricky. The United States Supreme Court itself has had to rule on the meaning of "and" (11 times), "from" (four times), and "but" (twice).

The lesson should be obvious. Not everyone who speaks English is able to use it with precision. Making any important legal agreement is definitely a job for an expert.
