F. P. College Reaches Quarter of Century Mark

As Frank Phillips College starts its twenty-fifth year of service to the Texas Panhandle, many interesting facts of its evolution will again be reviewed from time to time.

After a very humble birth a quarter of a century ago in space on the second floor of Borger Senior High School Frank Phillips College has become one of the more outstanding two year college in the nation.

The physical features of the college are a very impressive sight. The present sixty acre campus with its seven beautiful buildings, landscaping, paving and lighting represents a value of about $3,000,000.00. Frank Phillips College, with its dedicated faculty has fired the ambitions and enthusiasm of many thousands of student over the years.

With a philosophy of requiring responsibility of every student and knowing that the primary reason for the college is "to teach" Frank Phillips College has developed a most enviable reputation. The well known fact that "when you get through Frank Phillips College you can pass in any other college," measures the academic excellence the college has achieved.

Frank Phillips College has been recognized and accredited by the highest accrediting agencies in the land for many years.

Many changes take place in the courses offered by the college as the years roll on. Frank Phillips has been careful in its course offering and is sure of the basic value of courses before they are offered. F.P.C. does not change for change sakes and has guided its graduates into solid and valuable basic training.

The guidance and counseling at F.P.C. has always been very outstanding and on this twenty-fifth year will be offering a very outstanding program in personal counseling.

Year after year progress has been made in many departments and enrollment has climbed steadily upward from the first sophomore class of 1948-49 of six graduates.

On this twenty fifth year of service and education opportunity for the area people, Frank Phillips College looks to its second quarter century with definite projection and confidence.

Registration for the 1972-73 fall Semester will be August 31 and September 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Mantooth made a trip to Oklahoma City where they took his mother, Mrs. R.A. Mantooth of Weatherford, Okla., to McBrides Clinic for a check up.

July 25-31 Is National Farm Safety Week

"Protective Equipment--Your Defense Against Injury" is the theme of National Farm Safety Week, July 25-31.

"Agriculture is the nation's third most dangerous occupation," points out Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "In 1971 there were an estimated 2,300 work-connected accidental deaths and 190,000 disabling injuries."

As the 1972 theme indicates, special emphasis is being directed to the use of protective equipment such as safety glasses or goggles, hard hats and bump caps, ear muffs and plugs for lengthy exposure to excessive noise, filter and cart-ridge respirators for work in heavy dust and chemicals, protective clothing and safety shoes with metal toe caps and puncture resistant soles.

"Many accidents can be prevented by eliminating hazards and using protective equipment at work," contend the Texas A&M University specialist. "For example, accidents involving the feet and toes account for about one out of every 10 disabling work injuries. Safety shoes could help reduce farm accidents if more persons would wear them."

"Farmers and ranchers should become accustomed to protecting themselves from head to toe," emphasizes Keese. "Actually, the agricultural worker may need more types of protective equipment than the average construction worker."

President Richard Nixon has proclaimed the last week of this month as National Farm Safety Week and urges "all persons engaged in agriculture and all those allied with agriculture to take appropriate measures to reduce the number and severity of accidents." He added that the nation should "strive to bring the technology of safety to agriculture as successfully as we have brought it to the technology of production."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Gov. Preston Smith is threatening a special legislative session on insurance reform.

In a statewide, televised speech, he announced he will ask the Legislature to abolish the paid, three-member State Insurance Board, which he charges is company dominated.

Angered by Senate rejection July 7 of his longtime friend, Larry Teaver, to the board, Smith blamed the defeat on the "powerful insurance lobby."

His recommendations to "completely reorganize and reform the regulation of the insurance industry" will be delivered to a special session this year or to the next regular session in January.

Reaction to his speech, the Governor said, will determine whether he goes through with the special session call. He feels reorganization of the Board can be achieved only in a limited special session, but he isn't sure whether the public yet supports reform strongly enough to insure action.

Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy, a leader in the move to reject Teaver, challenged Smith to follow through and call the session immediately. He said he opposed Teaver, not because he was a consumer advocate of the Board, but for "lack of character and ability."

Smith in his tv speech announced 19 vetoes of items totalling $6.35 million from the 1973 appropriations bill.

Among the vetoed items: funds to acquire facilities for an A & I University center at Corpus Christi; A legislative scheme to thwart construction of a new highway building near the capitol by forcing creation of a state "garden park" on the site; $1 million for a Fort Worth state school and $1.22 million for new branch junior college in Coleman, Lubbock, Haskell and Palestine.

$200 MILLION TAX NEED SEEN

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee received advice the Legislature may be looking at a $200 million money shortage for the next biennium when it reports next year.

James McGrew, Texas Research League director, told the Committee spending from general revenue and other key state funds will jump $790 million over the present level next biennium. But he figured an additional $375 to $490 million in revenue is anticipated from present present "growth" taxes, and a $100 million federal welfare windfall is foreseeable.

The Committee also was reminded repeatedly of the likely effect of a federal court decision (now on appeal) holding the present method of financing public schools by ad valorem taxation unconstitutional. And a University of Texas official suggested property, income and sales taxes are all necessary to get "maximum equity" in the tax system.

Governor Smith strongly disagreed with McGrew's forecast and said there is a strong possibility no new tax at all will be needed next year.

COURTS SPEAK

The Supreme Court disagreed to hear arguments next October in a controversy in which the wife of a Wichita Falls doctor was granted a divorce settlement which included a $40,000 community property right in his medical practice.

In other cases, the High Court concluded: "A city can cut off water service for failure of resident to pay a garbage collection fee."

"Lower court rulings should be left standing which assessed a Houston doctor $134,150 in damages for failure to exercise proper diligence in treating a child for a broken leg. The boy lost his leg."

"Child support payments should be lowered for a once-wealthy father who lost his money on the stock market. Insurance has been recommended to the State Insurance Board."

Board member Ned Price said the rate reduction--which could save more than $68 million--probably will be made by the Board by mid August, effective September 1.

Proposed reductions amount to an average 8.2 percent on liability coverage and 14.5 percent in collision and comprehensive coverage. Industry spokesmen said the reduction--credited to lower accidents claims--is amazing in view of rising medical and repair costs.

Dallas Sen. Mike McKool claimed the reduction could have been greater--"at least 20 percent."

Board members also reviewed a modified no-fault auto insurance plan known as the "personal injury protection plan" which would add to policies additional coverage for medical bills and lost income due to accidents. Benefits would be paid without regard to who was at fault in an accident.

AG OPINIONS

A county judge (or his bond man) who sign a minor's application for a driver's license is not liable for any subsequent negligence or misconduct of the minor in operating a car.

State contributions for social security and employees' retirement for State Law Library workers may be transferred into the State Law Library Fund.

School districts cannot prohibit teachers from participating in political activities.

No vacancy exists in a justice of the peace precinct where part of land is detached and transferred to another precinct by commissioners court action. Commissioners have authority to reduce JP salaries during their term.

Commissioners precincts may be redistricted on the basis of either total registered voters or total population as long as the count remains substantially the same in each.

ALIENS SMUGGLED IN
About 412,000 illegal immigrants were deported from the U.S. last year, according to a Texas Good Neighbor Commission report.

Most of the group were Mexican citizens. The Commission said smuggling of the aliens into the country has become big business and that tougher criminal laws are needed to deal with exploitation of Mexican labor.

SHORT SNORTS

Sen. Chet Brook of Pasadena will serve as governor for a day August 12.

Twenty million dollars in state student loan bonds were sold July 20 at an effective interest rate of 4.89 per cent. Texas Welfare Board learned a new federal regulation may force the state to pay assistance to illegal immigrants.

Zack Fisher of Memphis, Texas, is new executive of the Texas Republican Party, succeeding Jim Kane who resigned.

A statewide food stamp program for the needy will be put into effect this year with stamps purchased at the post office windows.

The world of business is a mystery to too many of us and more companies should undertake programs to acquaint students and the general public with their operations.

Calf Crop Highest Since 1924... Sheep and Lambs on Feed Down 18 Per Cent... Crops Making Good Progress... Wind Erosion Down From Last Year... Screwworms Continue Out of Control... Vaccinate Horses Now for VEE...

The Texas calf crop this year is expected to be the highest since 1924, the Texas Crop and Livestock Service reports. A calf crop of 5,444,000 head is expected this year; this compares with 5,286,000 head last year.

Nationwide, the '72 calf crop is expected to total 48,445,000. This is the percent more than 46,974,000 head produced in 1971. The 5,444,000 calves expected in Texas this year is more than twice the number expected in second ranking Missouri, Oklahoma is the third leading state in calf production.

SHEEP and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1, is down 18 percent from a year ago. Sheep and lambs on feed totaled 150,000. Marketings of fed sheep during March through June at 226,000 head were 1,000 below the same period last year.

Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on succulent pastures and expected within the next three months to produce a carcass that will grade good or better.

SCREWWORMS continue to infest Texas livestock as well as wildlife and domesticated animals such as dogs. Little or no relief is expected from the screwworm infestations until cold weather sets in this fall and winter. Livestock owners are urged to continue to check their livestock regularly and to treat wounds on livestock for screwworm control.

LESS pollution from wind erosion has been noted this year compared to last year. Wind erosion in the Great Plains moved downward from damage totals a year ago.

Texas, with 1,145,150 acres, or about one-half of the total nationwide, reported the most wind erosion damage this season. Nationwide, land in condition to blow is reported at 3,269,060 acres this year compared to 6,693,695 acres for 1971.

Crops are continuing to make generally good progress throughout the state. Cotton is reported to be making excellent progress on the High Plains and Low Plains due to recent rains. The crop is doing nicely in the Blacklands and East Texas except for insect problems. Harvest in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been delayed by rains.

Corn is making good growth in most areas of the state. Grain sorghum harvest is more than 20 percent complete. Yields have ranged from good to excellent in Blacklands and parts of south and south central Texas.

Soybeans and peanuts are making good to excellent progress. Rice harvest is making fair progress but rain has delayed harvest operations. Harvest for the state is nearing the 20 percent completion mark.

As for commercial fruit, peach harvest continues in most areas with Elberta varieties now in production. This year's pecan crop shows good potential with most trees having moderate to heavy nut set.

VACCINATE now for control of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) authorities recommend.

VEE is now about 600 miles from the Texas border. Several hundred head of horses have died from VEE in Mexico. VEE appears to be moving northward in a pattern similar to last year when the disease invaded Texas.

Seafood Is High In Protein And Low In Calories

Millions of Americans are losing millions of pounds, and they are doing it on diets which call for seafood five times per week. Weight watchers have discovered that seafood is high in complete, body-building protein, rich in many of the essential vitamins and minerals and yet low in fats and calories.

If you're currently fighting the "Battle of the Bulge," seafood is a delicious and nutritious way to lose weight, according to Miss Cindy Gray, seafood consumer specialist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "Your local seafood dealer can introduce you to an ocean of low-calorie delights which can be prepared in a variety of cooking methods and perk-ed up with low-calorie sauces and colorful garnishes," said Miss Gray.

Instead of a high-calorie dessert, the meal can be rounded off with nutritious fruits and vegetables.

Try this recipe to see how delicious low-calorie seafood can be.

Pour sauce over top of tomatoes. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, F., for 25 to 30 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Sprinkle with parsley. PRPC Receives $26,087 Grant

A $26,087 grant for continued funding of the regional teletype system was approved for the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission Amarillo, today by Governor Preston Smith.

The money will come from the Criminal Justice Council, which oversees statewide law enforcement planning and administers funds from the U.S. Department of Justice for crime control projects in Texas.

A previous award enabled law enforcement agencies in the region to update their equipment from a manual to an automatic system. Grantee will furnish a cash match of $19,698. Counties served by Panhandle RPC are Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Collingsworth, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Lipscomb, Moore, Ochiltree, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler.

Hunters Safety Has Its Day In Court

Determination and resourcefulness are two of the unwritten requirements for instructors in the Texas Parks and Wildlife's Hunter Safety Program.

Two Harris County instructors, Louis Gardner and Billy Lee were at a loss for a classroom in which to teach their students the basics of safe hunting.

Who would be more interested in the safe use of firearms than the local law authorities?

The pair turned to the county commissioners court and asked to hold textbook instruction in the courtroom that was vacated in the evening.

The court was in unanimous approval of the action and an estimated 60 youngsters will learn the proper way to handle a firearm in time for the fall hunting season.

Gardner and Lee plan to start their first session August 9 and the second one on August 22.

Hunter Safety Instruction is open to all youngsters 12 years or older for a fee of $1 to cover materials.

Harris County residents can contact Lee and Gardner if they are interested in the program.

Parks and Wildlife game management officers are happy to help parents find a hunter safety class near them.

Weekly Food Buys

"If you're looking for food values, check local markets this week," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

For best meat values, Mrs. Clyatt advised checking beef sections for featured items. In general look for round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and liver.

According to the home demonstration agent, retail pork prices are gradually easing upward. Price tags generally mark hams, picnics, end cut chops and loin roasts and shoulder roasts and steaks as best pork values.

"Fryer chickens make an excellent choice, likewise, the agent said, "even though prices have advanced some in recent weeks. For economy and good eating, invite friends over for backyard barbecued chicken."

Mrs. Clyatt added that egg prices range about the same as last year. Grade A large sizes offer the best combination of economy and quality.

MISCELLANEOUS

DURING the approximate last three months, members of the city and county committees, officers and others, have been working like mad to fill up the tunnels and remove the pipes that went with the tunnels. It has been a hectic time to me and, I am sure, it has been to all these people who for months or years have allowed the tunnels or pipes under their premises. The ordeal was pretty bad for me, as, no doubt it was to the leaders of the inundation, and I, like some of them, at the peak of the finished work, felt the need of a few days rest.

One of the awful things I remember about the underground tunnels was the devastating roaring that would come through my house--and through my body--when the train switched backward and forward over the pipes that were laid beside or under the tracks. I have talked with others who experienced the same torture. It was as if the train was coming right into my bedroom.

The sounds of filling tunnels and pulling pipes were not the only things that happened to me during this time. Always, of course, I had the excruciating and health-damaging dusts, but so that you may the better understand the tortures that went with this experience, I shall relate a few of the extra methods of its use.

Not only the spraying of dusts through crevices around the windows and under the baseboards, but another way of torturing me with dusts, is to fill my house with the dust while I am away from home so that when I return and open the door, I walk into a dust filled house--often so bad that I open the door and wait outside for a few moments for the worst of it to settle.

Another method of torturing me, has been to fill my air conditioner with dust, so that when I turn on the current the dusts pour out in a mighty stream filling the entire house before I can get the current cut off.

My plastic garment bags are often filled on the inside while the outside has escaped the damaging dust.
Other dusts sprayed at me was dusts from sweepers, dusts mixed with urine, dusts mixed with manure, even insecticides mixed with talcum powder or mixed with cinnamon (My cinnamon).
Someone knocked or cut a hole just above the bathtub in the congoletum that covers the wall. This is sure a good spot to deal out torture. But the worst dust sprayed at me has been when one of the enemies collects those little sugar ant-hills. I sometime do canning at night, and the ant-hill stuff is usually sprayed into my scalp (through the cooler). Believe me, that is like fire.

During the last three months two pair of scissors have been taken from my house. (This makes six large pairs taken). One quilt top which my mother had pieced, has also disappeared. (This may have been taken months ago but I didn't miss it until recently. During this time someone opened a pint jar of home cooked beans, ate two thirds cup and then filled the jar with water, put on the lid and ring. No doubt the man who did this was related to the boys who used to lick the chocolate off my chocolate creams, drank my grape-juice and then filled up the jar with water, and spat on my collars and underwear. Two weeks ago I canned beets, since that time, two jars have been opened and part of the content taken.

I wish to express my admiration for the men who filled the tunnels and pulled the pipes. They worked day and night. I still don't believe that that much work could have been done for less than five hundred thousand dollars. What do you think?

News From ALAN REED

By Mrs. P. M. Gibson

On Tuesday, July 25th the P. M. Gibsons returned home from a two week visit at Glenrose, Hurst, Allen, Sherman and in Red River Co, where Mrs. Gibson was born and raised. While there they attended a Frontier Affair at Avery. There was a large crowd, a good parade, a bank robbery and hanging. This was the first time Mrs. Gibson has visited back there with her loved ones and friends in 45 years. Mrs. Gibson attended church in Avery Allen and Dennison. They heard the "Old Time Gospel Hour" Sunday a.m. at Sherman. It was on the CBS Channel in Amarillo at 7:30 a.m. It was filmed at Thomas Road Baptist Church in Lynchburg, Va., where her son Jim Vineyard is co-pastor.

Benny Wayne and David Woods of Sherman are visiting their grandparents, the P. M. Gibsons and the T. T. Griffins at McLean.

Lena Carter made a business trip to Pampa Friday. Wade Windom, great-grandson of the E. J. Windom Sr. has been visiting them this week. Mr. Windom's brother and sister-in-law visited them Sunday.

Visiting the P. M. Gibsons Sunday was Mr. and Mrs. Norman Peek of Lubbock, A U.S. Savings Bonds help keep today's plans from becoming tomorrow's broken dreams.

We all have plans. We plan for a vacation, plan to buy a boat, or a house; or send our children through college.

And, in order to keep those plans from becoming broken dreams, we need money.

That's where the Payroll Savings Plan comes in handy. When you join where you work, an amount you specify is set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's an easy way to save money and collect some interest at the same time.

Keep today's plans alive. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. You won't end up with a bunch of broken dreams tomorrow.

Now E Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months 4%; the first year's Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Some say "everyone talks about the weather but no one does anything about it." However, the truth is that all of us, assuming normalcy, are constantly doing something about it.

Each of us is equipped with our own private thermostat. When changing weather conditions cause the atmospheric temperature to vary from the 98.6°F, at which the body temperature of a healthy human being has been standardized, the thermostat triggers the mechanism which helps the body maintain its normal temperature.

One of the most remarkable facts of human physiology is that the temperature of warm-blooded animals remains unchanged at 98.6 degrees, even though the temperature of the surrounding environment may vary from below zero to over 100 degrees.

Provided the air is perfectly dry, a man can exist and maintain normal body temperature in an atmosphere that will actually grill a beefsteak. There are experimental cases on record where human subjects, by drinking great quantities of water to sustain perspiration and stripping to the waist to facilitate evaporation, have withstood temperatures up to 260 degrees for extended periods without suffering ill effects.

The sensation of heat or cold is not due to a change in body temperature but to a change in temperature of the skin surface. And skin temperature is affected when our private thermostat goes into action.

This built-in regulator is a tiny maze of nerve cells located in the mid-brain, part of the brain area known as the "hypothalamus." If the day is hot, it re-routes blood from internal organs to skin capillaries to cause perspiration. Body temperature is reduced when the perspiration evaporates.

If the day is cold, the thermostat concentrates the blood and, instead of flowing through skin capillaries, blood flows deep within the body. Sweating is minimal. Result: you feel cold and have to put on a sweater or an extra blanket to stay comfortable.

Did you know you perspire even at room temperature? You do, but since it evaporates instantly you are really unaware of it. When you are at rest indoors fully clothed, visible sweating begins when the air temperature reaches a level between 80 and 90 degrees.

The old saw--"it isn't the heat, it's the humidity" is perfectly true. The same man who withstood 260 degrees in a dry atmosphere would be in serious trouble if he tried to endure a 120-degree temperature in a damp, humid atmosphere. Body temperature rises rapidly in such a situation because the rate of evaporation is influenced by the extent to which the atmosphere is already saturated with moisture. You feel sticky when the humidity is high because sweat which is not evaporated simply drips from the skin and in no way increases heat loss.

Suppose you, a male, and your lady are caught outside in the first norther of the season. You have a coat but she doesn't. You would probably be gallant and give her your coat. However, she is physically equipped to withstand the cold better than you. You both have built-in insulators--a layer of fatty tissue beneath the skin--but hers is thicker than yours.

Other conditions besides the weather can affect body temperature. In the presence of disease or infection, the pulse quickens as the heart hastens more blood-laden with antibodies--to the body areas involved. The speed-up in circulation raises body temperature and a "fever" is produced. There are also body conditions such as malnutrition, anemia, and senility which produced a drop in body temperature.

In any 24-hour period it is normal for temperature to vary. Usually it will rise a degree or so about 4 p.m. and drop in the same manner about 4 a.m.

Heat is also produced when the steak and potatoes you had for dinner are burned and converted into energy for various body uses. The process is called metabolism.

Comments about the weather have unquestionably opened more conversations than has any other theme of discussion. And all the time you're talking about it, that ingenious little thermostat in the middle of your head is hard at work compensating for changes in atmospheric temperature.

GMOs Authorized To Remove Trotlines

Trotline fishermen had better start carrying three-month calendars around in their pockets.

An angler who checks his lines after they have been set for 90 days and finds them missing shouldn't accuse his fishing buddy of pilfering.

As of July 22, Parks and Wildlife game management officers have the authority to remove all freshwater trotlines which have been in place for over 90 days and

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Drag Strips

To hot rodders, the opening of a new drag strip is a cause for jubilation. But to residents of the neighborhood, the occasion may be less joyful. Do they have legal grounds for complaint?

Unless banned by local statute, a drag strip (or other kind of race track) is a perfectly lawful activity. It may become unlawful, however, because of the way it is run. That is, it may amount to a "nuisance" -- subject to abatement by court action.

The noise alone may be offensive enough to justify a stop order. Take this case:

Residents living near a suburban drag strip found the noise so unbearable that they had to keep their windows shut. Residents one mile away had to keep their television turned on high. Residents three miles away said the noise ("like a chain saw") could be heard plainly.

Impressed by these tales of woe, a court ordered the track closed down.

Even if the noise itself isn't too bad, other factors may tilt the scales against the track operators.

In one case, in issuing an injunction, the court stressed the smell of burning fuel. In another case, the court called attention to the glare of lights, powerful enough to keep the neighbors awake at night. Said the indignant judge:

"To dangle restless sleep before an exhausted mortal and never allow him to taste of its refreshing juices constitutes one of the most torturous experiences of mankind."

Still, if these assorted annoyances are kept within reasonable limits, the mere fact that the track brings some commotion into the neighborhood may be overlooked. Thus:

The main objections to a new midget race track were 1) that traffic in the neighborhood had increased, and 2) that parking spaces had become harder to find. But this time the court denied an injunction, saying that traffic and parking were problems for the city, not for the operators of the track.

The judge said the right to use the public streets belongs to all members of the public--including racing fans.

those which are undated. Trotliners are required by law to tag their lines with name and address of the owner and the date of line was set and to redate them after 90 days.

The tags must be of a material at least as durable as the trotline itself.
