FFA BANQUET HELD IN SHAMROCK

By JAMES HARKINS

The Top of Texas District FFA banquet was held at Shamrock recently, with the Shamrock FFA serving as hosts.

Approximately 160 members and guests were present at the banquet, with 18 from McLean attending.

Eddy Finley officially opened the banquet, along with the district advisor, Nelson Christie.

During the dinner, Al Schneider of Pampa received the District Honorary Farmer Award, after which Finley adjourned the meeting to the auditorium for the talent and sweetheart contest.

Between talent entries, Carl Hudson, Area 1 vice president, gave a short speech on the importance of hard work and study.

Pampa was the winner in the talent contest and will represent the district at the area convention in Lubbock.

The sweetheart contest followed the talent show, with Mary Odum winning the district crown. Runners-up were Leslie Watkins and Betty Brown. Janet Harkins was McLean's candidate in the sweetheart contest.

Mrs. T. E. Crisp spent the holidays in Dallas with relations and friends; her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hudson, June and Lesa; granddaughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lee and Stephanie and Marilyn Linley; her brother-in-law, Earl R. Nickerson, and a niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McWilliams and son, Justin.

MUSHROOMS

Don't eat wild mushrooms. Repeat—don't eat wild mushrooms.

Only a true expert can determine whether the wild mushroom is one of the tasty, safe varieties, or is one of those that is dangerously, possibly deadly, poison. There aren't many genuine experts. And even the experts sometimes are fooled to alike are some of the varieties.

After fall rains it is common to find mushrooms and toadstools in hundreds of sizes and shapes sprouting in woods and fields. Some times it makes a pleasant outing to stroll in the out of doors on a crisp fall day and pick mushrooms.

If you enjoy a walk, go ahead. If you want to pick mushrooms, fine. But don't eat them. Throw them out, and be sure they're beyond the reach of any small children in the household.

Some 10 persons were stricken this fall in the New Jersey-New York City area after eating wild mushrooms. Several of them died, and all were seriously ill.

If someone in your family becomes ill after eating wild mushrooms, the most important first aid is to get the patient to a doctor immediately. If the accident occurs in a remote spot, the first aider should help the patient empty his stomach promptly. Induce vomiting by placing your finger at the back of the victim's throat or by use of two tablespoons of salt in a glass of warm water.

It is also important to obtain fragments of the ingested mushroom, so the physician will be able to determine what type of poisoning has occurred.

One medical man observed that many victims of mushroom poisoning are immigrants from Central Europe. In Europe they picked tasty wild mushrooms from the fields and woods each fall. In America they picked what they assumed were the same, only to become violently ill from poisonous mushrooms or toadstools.

Don't be afraid of the commercial mushrooms found in the grocery stores. They are produced by mushroom farmers who know what they're doing. But, shun wild mushrooms. Even if you think you know the difference between safe and dangerous plants, you could be fooled, and it might be serious.

C. P. Callahan of Amarillo visited during the weekend with friends and relatives in McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Crisp spent the weekend in Pampa with Mrs. Ninetta Farrington.

COTTON HARVEST

In spite of cold weather, farmers are braving the lower temperatures and harvesting their 1965 cotton crop. Every year it seems we are later harvesting cotton. This year harvesting was delayed because of the record late freeze or frost, which is essential to condition cotton for harvesting.

Henry Lowrance says they have ginned 837 bales as of last Tuesday. The ginning crew is staying caught up pretty well by working until midnight. They usually leave 12 or 14 bales on the yard to gin the following morning. They have this ginned usually by the time cotton starts coming in that day.

Henry says the turnout has been very bad all fall. We have talked with a number of producers that have ginned elsewhere and they are also confirming the no-turnout story at other gins.

THIS AND THAT

Slick Boyd has just finished building a fancy hoof trimming table which Jerry Harland, assistant county agent, will put to good use shortly. It will be used to trim hooves of show calves. It is mounted on wheels which can be let down into working position shortly after arriving on the job. It will be trailed from one job to the other.

Note to Nelson Christie: if you need to borrow this rig, let us know. We appreciate fellows like Slick that will drop other important matters to help out on this project. McLean 4-H and FFA members will be showing their projects in March in new facilities at the Top of Texas junior show barn. This much needed facility will add greatly to the existing structure. A new kitchen with large dining area, an office and scale house, storage space and a hog barn have been added.

There are still several 1966 Farmers Tax Guides at the McLean

News office. Stop by and pick one up. I have a number of mimeographed copies of income tax savings tips you should have also. I would be glad to mail you a copy. Drop me a card to Box 2140, Pampa.

WASHINGTON AND
"SMALL BUSINESS"
By C. WILSON HARDER

Perhaps there is no better illustration of the old adage of the pot calling the kettle black than afforded by the clamor raised by printers when major newspapers merge, suspend, or otherwise throw union members out of work.

As witnessed in Los Angeles, New York, San Francisco, other places, the elimination of a paper has created a cry by the union of a publishing monopoly.

Continued concentration in the communications field is distressing. And no business failure is so sad as the demise of a newspaper.

Yet who has been causing these situations to come about. Operating with immunity from antitrust laws, the printers' unions have created a monopoly that drives publishers to the wall.

Surprisingly, printers among the most, if not the most, literate of all craftsmen have long refused to recognize that no business can pay out more than it takes in.

Publishers are very much captives of a competitive free enterprise system. They must offer advertising rates at competitive rates, and at costs advertisers can afford.

Usually it is not the wages and hours that cause the trouble, but the fantastic nonsense forced on publishers by union bosses with vision so limited that should not walk the streets without a seeing eye dog.

In many metropolitan newspapers, for example, the union enforces a most silly rule. Many national advertisers prepare their ads the precise way they wish them to appear. To accomplish this, they hire union typographers, engravers, stereotypers, et al, to make up plates for the newspapers.

It is these plates which are actually run, but at the same time the union insists that the publishers pay printers to set up a duplicate of the ad, which is then scrapped.

Publishers are thus forced to pay for useless work because of the monopoly power exerted against them by the unions. Yet when publishers adopt methods to survive, the unions immediately cry monopoly.

It seems obvious, that if after seeing thousands of jobs disappear in the past few years, men with the intelligence of printers cannot understand their union leaders are working against their best interests and take corrective steps, there is only one remedy.

That is to make unions subject to the antitrust laws. This proposal has been supported on several occasions by the nation's independent business proprietors voting through the National Federation of Independent Business.

Veterans Should Report Income By January 31

Nearly 61,000 veterans and dependents of veterans in the Waco area who receive Veterans Administration monthly pension payments were reminded today to report their annual income by January 31, 1966, to the VA Regional Office to avoid having their payments stopped.

Jack Coker, Manager of the VA Regional Office at Waco, said that income reports have been slow this year in spite of the fact that the VA has mailed to all who receive pension a simplifier punched card on which the income report must be made.

These questionnaire forms must not be folded or otherwise mutilated as they are run through automatic data processing machines.

Dependent parents who receive dependency and indemnity compensation also received these questionnaires as their payments are also regulated by the amount of their income.

Off
 with his head! cried Alice's Queen.

The King, the Queen and the executioner were present. Alice and the prisoners, too, of course, but these were all. No jury, no public, no publicity.

No newspaper reporters.

In Alice's Wonderland even applause was "immediately suppressed by the officers of the court."

Not so in America.

In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right of a public trial, says Article the Sixth of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States.

So people may know, newspapers must report these trials.

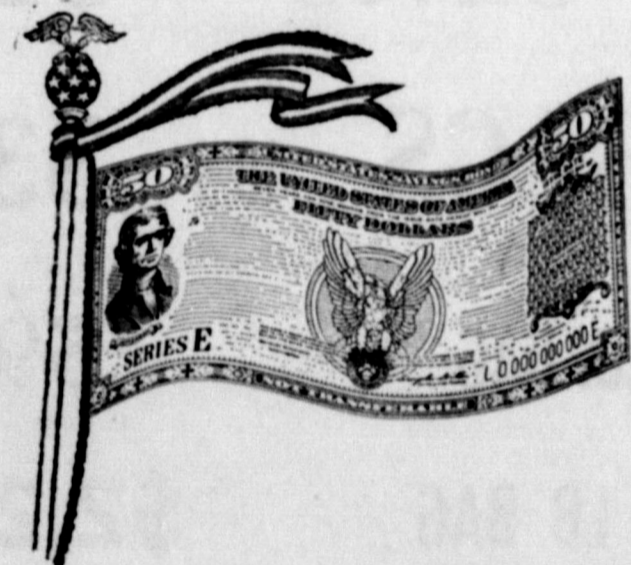

This is not freedom of the press. This is responsibility of the press.

Newspapers have no extraordinary rights.

People do.

Men have the right to a public trial and the right to know what happens in courtrooms. These are rights written into the Constitution and affirmed by the Supreme Court in 1829 when Mr. Justice Bagley wrote: "It is one of the essential qualities of a court of justice that its proceedings should be public."

If people are to know the truth the newspaper must report the news.

Red, white, & blue chip investment

You won't get rich overnight buying U. S. Savings Bonds. But for the long run, they make an excellent investment.

You get a guaranteed rate of interest—3 3/4% when held to maturity—so there's no ups and downs to worry about.

You also get certain tax advantages since Savings Bonds aren't subject to state or local income taxes and the federal tax can be deferred until the Bonds are cashed.

But probably most important is that Bonds pay off in more than dollars. When you get your Bond investment back you know it has helped Uncle Sam strengthen the cause of freedom (your cause) all around this troubled world of ours.
