Planned Parenthood Clinic To Open In Pampa

Preparations for the opening of a Gray County Planned Parenthood Clinic are nearing completion. Ed Myatt, chairman of the Gray County Community Action Committee, has announced. Opening session is slated for Wednesday, Nov. 29, at the clinic location, 615 E. Albert, Pampa.

Twelve Pampa medical doctors have volunteered their services for the clinic, which will have a two-hour session each week, 10 a. m. until 12 noon, on alternating Wednesdays and Thursdays. The clinic office will be open from 9 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. Monday through Friday. All Planned Parenthood services are free of charge.

The Planned Parenthood Clinic is for men and women who want to know how the body is made and works; how a woman gets pregnant; how to prevent pregnancy; what methods are medically safe; what methods are church-approved; and how to use these methods.

During the weekly clinic sessions with the doctors, women will receive a medical examination and a Pap smear (cancer smear) will be taken. Prior to the clinic session, or prior to the medical examination, family planning will be thoroughly explained to each woman.

Planned Parenthood outreach workers, who will counsel with women and their husbands in their homes or at the clinic office, are Shirley Boddy and Jane Kadingo, both of Pampa. Appointments may be made by calling the office 665-2291. For those who need it transportation will be provided to and from the clinic.

Santa Needs Letters For Yule Edition

All youngsters in this area are being invited to write letters to Santa Claus for publication in the McLean News annual Christmas edition on Dec. 21.

Word received by the News from Santa indicates the jolly old gentleman is getting ready for his yearly trip south from his home at the North Pole.

"My toy factory is running at full force now," Santa's letter to the News said.

"Mrs. Claus and all our other helpers started working earlier this year than usual, because of the increase in the number of children we must make happy.

"My reindeer, who gets a little flabby around the middle because of inactivity from Christmas to Christmas, have started getting in shape.

"All of them, that is, except Rudolph. He is too busy having fun to take his exercises. If I didn't need his red nose to guide us on our trip, I would leave him home this year.

Santa told the News it would be alright for the boys and girls in McLean, Alanteed, Kellerville and the area to receive help from their parents and teachers in writing their letters.

He asked that the letters be mailed or brought to the News office by Monday, Dec. 18th, to assure delivery in time for the Christmas edition.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Texas School children and some of the common childhood diseases, hopefully, will soon no longer be frequent companions. Thanks to a mandatory school immunization law being implemented by state and local health authorities, Texas school children have the best protection against disease outbreaks they have ever had in the history of the state.

After the first full year since implementation of the new state law began, state health officials report immunization levels of the school population are up considerably over previous years. And early indications this year are that those immunization levels will continue on the upswing.

As of May 1, 1972, the great majority of all school children in Texas had begun or completed their required immunization program for five common childhood diseases: diphtheria, polio, measles, rubella, and tetanus. Smallpox, the standard immunization school children received for decades, is no longer a required immunization.

"We feel great progress has been made in the past year, particularly when you view the fact that out of 2.9 million school children in Texas some 2.3 million are on record in their schools as protected," said Dr. James E. Peavy, Texas Commissioner of Health. "Our forecast is for even better levels next May."

The mandatory immunization law passed by the Texas Legislature in April, 1971 required a monumental effort on the part of health authorities, school officials, and private medicine. Prior to enactment of the law, each individual school district set their own immunization requirements and some had no requirements. Quite often, in those areas where children needed the full range of protection, smallpox was the only immunization required. Under the new law, a child must be immunized against certain diseases to enroll in school. School authorities worked closely with health officials to see that all parents were advised of the new requirements and that all school children began their immunization programs as soon as possible. The result was that three-fourths or more of all Texas school children were protected against each disease by the end of that first year under the new law. With the 80 school districts that began late campaigns and continued enforcement of the mandatory law in all school districts, state health officials foresee a substantially better immunization level at the end of this school year.

Cure Guaranteed?

Gerald was a born skeptic. When a doctor suggested surgery for the stiffness in his left arm, Gerald demanded a flat guarantee of good results. The doctor, confident of success, gave the guarantee.

But the operation, through no one's fault, turned out to be a failure. Gerald duly sued the doctor on grounds of "breach of contract." And, even though the doctor had done nothing wrong medically, the court ruled that Gerald had a good case.

A doctor, like an engineer or a carpenter, can make a legally binding guarantee if he is so inclined.

Nevertheless, since medicine is not an exact science, this seldom happens. Courts point out that doctors often do--and should--give "therapeutic reassurance" to their patients without intending to make a positive guarantee.

"The doctor's reassurance that his patient will be all right," said one court, "must not be converted into a binding promise by the disappointed or the quarrelsome."

In another case, a doctor remarked to his patient that a certain treatment would "make a new man out of you." When the treatment was tried with less than complete success, this patient too claimed damages for breach of contract.

But the court found no basis for liability. The judge said no reasonable patient would read into the doctor's comment a positive assurance that he would indeed become a new man.

A special problem has arisen in connection with sterilization procedures that fail to prevent the later conception and birth of a child. Even assuming that the doctor has given a firm guarantee, has the patient actually suffered any harm by having a baby?

Some courts have simply recoiled at the idea that a baby is a liability--at least, if mother and child are healthy. Denying one such claim, a judge said:

"The cost was outweighed by the blessing."

U.S. fatalities due to fire totalled 11,850 last year, compared with 12,200 deaths in 1970, according to the National Fire Protection Association.

Of the 1200 school districts in Texas, 400 are being revisited this year by state health authorities. School officials are offered assistance, advice, immunization clinics, and assistance to their school nurse from state or local health authorities. "If it were not for the work done by local health departments and school nurses, the program would not have been as successful as it has been to date," said Dr. Peavy. "Of course, a lot of the immunizations were obtained through private physicians, and their cooperation has also been phenomenal."

Taking all groups as a whole, probably among the best immunized at the present time in the state are Catholic school children, with better than a 90 percent immunization level.

As of May 1, 1972 some 74 percent of all Texas school children are immunized against polio; 79 percent against diphtheria; 79 percent against measles; 78 percent against rubella; and 79 percent against tetanus. Health officials believe the required two months spread between the three dosages of polio vaccine and the required booster dose were the factors that caused the polio statistics to trail those for the other diseases. In many cases, as a result, complete immunization against polio was not reported by the end of the reporting period on May 1, 1972.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

A total revision of the finance system for Texas public schools will be reviewed by the State Board of Education at a special meeting December 9.

The plan, which would hand to the state over a six-year period the entire cost of the basic public school program, was submitted by a board public school finance committee November 11.

A three-judge federal court last December in San Antonio held unconstitutional the present school finance formulas which are based heavily on local property taxes. The decision, now on appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, concluded the system provides educational advantages for pupils in rich districts over those in poor districts.

Under the five-member finance panel's recommendations, the state would assume the "comprehensive foundation school program" cost completely from state taxes by 1978-1979. Local share of the current foundation school program is about 20 per cent.

Local taxes after 1978-1979 would be relief on only for building and equipping schools and for enrichment (expansion beyond the state standard) of individual school programs.

Increases already approved in the foundation school program will cost $464 million during the next six years. The committee-proposed improvements are estimated to cost $400 million by 1978-1979.

"Enactment and implementation of the comprehensive foundation school program will require some of the most far-reaching public policy decisions ever made in Texas," said State Board of Education Chairman Ben Howell of El Paso.

Committee members made clear they stand back of the recommendations regardless of the Supreme Court's ruling in the finance case.

OIL ALLOWABLE AGAIN AT 100 PERCENT

The statewide oil allowable for next month will remain at 100 percent.

Railroad Commission action retaining the all-out production formula marked a year at the nearly wide-open level due to increased energy demands.

Average monthly factor for 1972 is 94.1 percent or 344.4, producing days during the year, top figure since 1948 when the 100 per cent allowable applied throughout the year.

An exception to the 100 per cent order is East Texas field which will be held to 86 per cent as a waste prevention measure.

NEW TEXTBOOKS APPROVED

New textbooks in 18 subjects were approved by State Board of Education for use in classrooms next September.

Sample copies of the books will go to all districts beginning December 1, and local textbook committees will recommend selections to local school boards from the state adoption lists.

The $18.6 million adoption includes, for the first time, material for state-supported kindergartens. Other subject areas include reading in grades four, five and six; fifth grade history; American history and civil government, eighth grade; high school world geography studies; American history; civil government; economics; trigonometry, homemaking; business education; typewriting; health education; graphic arts trades; French and German, all for high schools.

New books will be adopted for four or five year periods. Total textbook bill for 1973-74 will be about $26 million, including new copies of books already approved.

Members of the State Textbook Committee received reports from 822 professional teachers before making their recommendations to Education Commissioner Dr. J. W. Edgar.

PAY BOOST PROPOSED

A $92 million pay increase for state employees has been recommended by the Legislative Budget Board, but the people it would benefit term the proposal "woefully short."

Raises of 3.4 per cent a year, plus provisions for merit boosts of up to 3.4 per cent were suggested by the Board. Amount is subject to change before the final LBB budget draft is submitted to the Legislature on January 9.

For all practical purposes, the raise would barely cover the cost of living increase since September, 1971.

Texas Public Employees Association is seeking raises totalling 35.9 per cent for the two-year state fiscal period at a cost of $293 million.

Some Board spokesmen still insisted it is possible to write a no-new-tax budget.

BENEFITS RESTORED

Medicaid benefits will be restored to 20,000 Texans who lost welfare eligibility last month after a small Social Security increase.

Notices were mailed last week advising persons affected of the restoration of medical coverage retroactive to October 1.

Most of those involved are elderly people who lost state old age assistance when they got the 20 per cent Social Security hike. Federal law requires that Social Security income be counted in determining eligibility for state aid. Those who were no longer eligible for state financial assistance also lost Medicaid coverage.

First steps toward implementation of a new plan for revising the 96-year-old state Constitution were taken by a state Senator-elect last week.

Voters on November 7 approved a constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to sit as a constitutional convention in January of 1974. The amendment also authorized appointment of a citizens' commission to study needed constitutional changes and report its recommendations next November.

Sen. Nelson Wolff pre-filed resolutions calling for appointment of a 36-member commission by a five-member group headed by the Governor and for formation of a 10-member House-Senate committee to plan convention mechanics. Wolff also offered a bill to appropriate $900,000 to the commission for its work. A constitutional revision agreement would have to be approved by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature and submitted to voters for a final review.

Ice Cream Was A Fad In 62 A.D. Too

Welcome to the "Wonderful World of 28 Flavors" and the celebration of "National 28 Flavors Month," July 28 through August 28.

The first record of "ice cream" was in 62 A.D. in Rome, during the reign of Nero. Special runners whisked snow from the nearby mountains and raced it to Nero's cooks before it melted, to be flavored with honey, juices and fruit pulp.

During the "Dark Ages," the secret of ice cream was lost along with other knowledge of the ancients. For the next thousand years, we have no record of ice cream.

Among the many marvels and treasures that Marco Polo brought back from his journey to the Orient was a recipe for a frozen sweet which began the famous tradition of Italian ices. When Catherine de Medici married Henry II of France, Italian cooks from her native Florence accompanied her to her new kingdom. It was at her sumptuous banquets that "fruit ices" were introduced to the French nobility.

As the new delicacy became widely popular in France, an Italian named Courtreaux opened a shop in Paris and carried the recipe a step further. Courtreaux added milk to the sweet liquid before freezing, thus creating the forerunner of the ice cream we enjoy today.

Throughout history, special foods have enjoyed a romantic place in the role of intrigue. During the reign of Charles I of England, ice cream was held in such high esteem that he ordered it should be confined to the royal table only. His zeal to protect the secret of ice cream led him to bribe a French ice cream maker in London to keep the formula a "state secret."

Until recently, in fact, ice cream graced the tables of only the very rich, primarily because there were no means of freezing and storing it.

By 1904, of course, ice cream was a very special treat for children in America, and everyone would take turns turning the handle on the ice cream maker — a very tedious chore. But ice cream was a saucer and spoon food, altogether a sit-down affair.

That summer, a certain ice cream vendor ran out of saucers at the St. Louis, Louisiana Purchase Exposition. As everyone clamored for ice cream, he grabbed a thin crisp waffle, rolled it up, and set a scoop of ice cream right on top. Thus was born the ice cream cone.

In 1925, Howard Deering Johnson achieved spectacular success with a second-hand ice cream freezer, hard work and his own imagination. He made ice cream richer by doubling the usual butterfat content, and he used only natural flavors and the best ingredients. And that was the beginning of the "Wonderful World of 28 Flavors" of ice cream. Today, Howard Johnson's enterprise is a coast-to-coast operation comprising 875 orange roof restaurants and 470 motor lodges.

Now that you know all about "National 28 Flavors Month," go out and celebrate. Have yourself some ice cream!

Turkey -- A Good Meat Buy

Consumers complain about the price of meat while, at the same time, ignoring one of the best meat buys around, the turkey.

The average person in the United States ate only 8.6 pounds of turkey during 1971, four times more chicken, nine times more pork and 13 times more beef. At the same time turkey prices were two-thirds that of pork and half that of beef.

The average American will eat slightly more than four pounds of turkey during the Thanksgiving-Christmas season and another four pounds during the next 10 months of 1973. The prediction can be made with confidence, according to Vito Blomo and Dr. Don Farris of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in spite of higher beef and pork prices, higher personal incomes and industry promotion.

Consumers have consistently ignored or changed their turkey buying habits very little despite low prices and advertising that would usually cause increased consumption. During the 1960's when relatively low prices existed and substantial marketing efforts were made, Americans increased their off-season consumption by less than two pounds and the holiday consumption by only a fraction of a pound.

Turkey output has increased substantially in the last 20 years, the two agricultural economists said, despite declining real prices for their product. Expansion came as a result of a growing population and the development of export markets.

To illustrate the lack of response to turkey prices on the part of consumers, Farris and Blomo calculated that if the industry were to put an extra one pound per person on the market next year, the price would fall by a greater percent than the increase in consumption. Most producers would lose money. If, on the other hand, producers cut supplies by one pound per person, the price would increase by a greater percent than the decrease in consumption and producers would make high profits.

Both consumers and producers would benefit if more turkey was eaten during the off-season, Blomo and Farris said. Consumers would still be paying low prices and producers would sell more, a suitable situation for both groups.

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS CONCERNING McLEAN SCHOOLS

Question: What is a self-study and what is it all about?

Answer: All schools in Texas are required to conduct a self-study periodically, and file a copy with the Texas Education Agency. The self-study is conducted by the following steps: (1) Review and if necessary, revise the local school philosophy, (which is a written statement of what the local school is supposed to do in regard to the educating of the youth of the community.) (2) Booklets containing the characteristics of good school are used to judge and describe the local schools performance, according to the local school statement of philosophy. (3) Committees are appointed, usually teachers and administrators only. The different committees judge or evaluate all of the different areas of the school, i.e., The Relationship of the school and community, The School Philosophy and Objectives or goals, the Curriculum, the School Facilities, the school staff and administration. (The self-study here at McLean I.S.D. have students and citizens serving on the evaluation committees with teachers and other school employees because educational experts contend that the study will be more accurate and have more value if the ideas and opinions of the people that the school is supposed to serve, have a part in self-study.) (4) The committees are to review the evidence that they find and then rate or judge the evidence and then make recommendations. (5) The self-study should take at least 5 or 6 months. After the study has been completed, a team of two experts in school evaluation will spend two full days at the school reviewing the committee reports and checking to see if the committee reports are accurate by looking at the different areas (mentioned above), and talking to students, teachers, and other employees, and citizens. (6) The results of the self-study will show the strengths and weaknesses of all areas and phases of the school and will contain recommendations for improvement. Each committee member and each community organization will be furnished a copy of the results of the study which will be compiled by the two-man expert team. The community will be aware and have knowledge of the total school program as presented by this self-study. If further information is desired, please call or visit the Superintendent's office located in the high school.

Rhonda Kay McKee Announces January Wedding Plans

Miss McKee is a 1972 graduate of McLean High School and is presently attending Sayre Jr. College in Sayre, Oklahoma.

Her fiance is a 1970 grad-

The young lady eyed her escort with extreme disapproval. "That's the fourth time you've gone back for more punch, Albert," she said coldly. "Doesn't it embarrass you at all?" "Why should it?" the young man shrugged. "I keep telling them I'm getting it for you."

Mrs. Mather was going away after a long visit. "Do you remember what time my train leaves tomorrow?" she asked her son-in-law. "Sixteen hours, seventeen minutes, and thirty seconds from now, dear Mama."

Dentist: "I'm sorry, but I'm all out of gas."
Girl in Chair: "Ye Gods! Do dentists pull that old stuff, too?"

Tourist: "Good river for fish?"
Fisherman: "It must be. I can't persuade any to come out."

"How did Oscar lose the fingers on his right hand?"
"Put them in the horse's mouth to see how many teeth he had."
"And then what happened?"
"The horse closed his mouth to see how many fingers Oscar had."

"How far is it to the next filling station?" the driver asked a farmer.
"Nigh onto two miles as the crow flies."
"Well, how far is it if the damned crow has to walk and roll a flat tire?"

Little moron's wife sent him downtown for a bucket of ice. He came back with a pail of water. "I got this for half price because it was melted."

This time you're absolutely going to save something out of your paycheck. But, then, you really do need that pantsuit, a new coat and, of course, that perfume Eric likes so much.

Before you know it, the money's gone . . . and all you've got saved are your dreams.

That's why the Payroll Savings Plan is such a good idea for a single girl. When you join, an amount you specify is set aside from your check and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. And, it's all done before you get your check—so you can't help

Now E Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months 14% the first year. Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Market Report

Reports of larger beef supplies for the next few weeks are causing speculations of slightly lower beef prices.

According to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, this situation is likely to cause a moderate reduction in prices.

Chuck cuts and round steak are featured this week, along with a number of features on ground beef, sirloin steaks and rib roasts.

Mrs. Clyatt also reported a five per cent increase over a year ago for the new turkey crop, indicating that prices will remain at attractive levels.

Turning to the pork counter, she listed several economical buys including boneless butt roasts yielding higher percentage of edible meat per pound. Also 1/4 loins cut into chops, loin roasts, and smoked cuts which include semi-boneless hams, picnics, bacon, liver and sausage.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices are apples, oranges, grapefruit,

Farmcast

Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture John C. White, Commissioner

Winter wheat furnishing grazing . . . Rio Grande Valley citrus production increasing . . . Texas still cattle feeding king . . . Questionnaires in mail . . .

Full grazing capacity of the state's winter wheat crop is expected when weather conditions improve. Seeding of wheat is nearing completion. About 40 percent of the 1973 wheat crop is already of sufficient growth to permit grazing; last year at this time only 10 percent of the crop could be grazed.

AN INCREASE of 15 percent for the state's citrus production is forecast by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Grapefruit production is expected to total 10.4 million boxes, 13 percent above the 9.2 million boxes produced last year. Early and mid-season oranges are forecast at 415 million boxes, 18 percent above last year.

As production is up so is the quality of Texas citrus this year. Increased fresh market shipments are expected through November. Trees are in excellent condition, although cooler weather would help color and size the fruit.

CATTLE feeding honors still belong to Texas. As of November 1, there were 2,266,000 of cattle and calves on feed in Texas. This is 30 percent above 1971 and is also eight percent above a month ago.

Marketings of fat cattle during October totaled 406,000 head which is 14 percent above October of last year.

In the seven major cattle feeding states--Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas--there is a nine percent increase in cattle on feed compared to a month ago and 13 percent more than a year ago.

LIVESTOCK questionnaires have been mailed to 60,000 livestock producers in the state as a part of the annual livestock survey conducted for Texas. If you receive one of the questionnaires, you are requested to fill it out as accurately as possible and return it as soon as possible. This is the basis for estimating the state's livestock numbers and getting as complete a picture of the livestock industry as possible.

None of the information will be divulged on an individual basis. It will be compiled into county, area and statewide totals.

A county-by-county report on all agricultural production for 1971 is now available. All 254 counties in the state--from A to Z (Anderson to Zapata) are included. Information for each county includes all agricultural production as well as cash receipts and government payments. A statewide total is also included.

To get your copy free, write to Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711. Ask for 1971 Texas County Statistics.

COTTON production in Texas is now estimated at 4,210,000 bales. This would exceed the 1971 crop by 1,631,000 bales. Yield is expected to average 387 pounds per harvested acre compared with only 263 pounds harvested per acre in 1971. Harvested acres are set at 5,220,000 compared with 4,700,000 acres in 1971.

Harvest of the crop is virtually complete except for the High Plains where about half the state's production is grown.

MILK production during October in Texas is little changed from last month and a year ago. It is one percent above a year ago, but one percent below the previous month. Total milk production was 266,000,000 pounds.

BIRDS OF A FEATHER...

THANKSGIVING, 1972

All of us can be proud of and thankful for our remarkable heritage, our many blessings, and our hopeful future.

With hindsight we can quibble about some of the actions of our forefathers, but we should be forever grateful that they fought for freedom and won, that they sought and achieved a government responsible to the public will, and that they developed a competitive economic system under which our people have grown and prospered.

George Washington's call for "humble thanks" in his first Presidential Thanksgiving Proclamation asked his countrymen to pray for forgiveness of "our national and other transgressions," for performance of their duties "properly and punctually," and for a "government of wise, just and constitutional law, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed."

The Father of our Country urged his people to pray for other nations "to bless them with good governments, peace, and concord; to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science among them and us; and generally, to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best."
