An intensified effort to prevent littering on the highways of Texas was announced today by Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Speir said DPS patrolmen in all uniformed services have been ordered to watch closely for motorists or other persons throwing litter on the highways or rights-of-ways, and to take appropriate enforcement action.

State law prohibits the dumping or depositing of refuse, garbage, rubbish or junk on public streets, roads or highways. It is also unlawful to dump any sort of waste on rights-of-ways, beaches, parking areas, or in inland streams or costal waters.

The law makes drivers responsible for any refuse or garbage falling from their vehicles.

Wheeler Downs McLean, 33-12

Wheeler's Lewis Britt blasted 38 and 14 yards for early scores for the Wheeler Mustangs, winning their fourth District 2-A victory of the season Friday night by a 33-12 count over the McLean Tigers.

Britt's runs were sandwiched around a safety, all in the first half, and Wheeler went on to build a 33-0 hedge before the Tigers got on the scoreboard as George Danner ran 6 and 5 yards for TDs.

Britt rolled up 128 yards on 26 carries, while Dale Stevens gathered in 72 yards and a TD on nine trips. Stevens also kicked four of four extra-point attempts.

The victory pushed Wheeler to 5-4 for the year and 4-2 in league play, while McLean dropped to 2-6 and 1-4.

This Friday night the Tiger will go to Wellington for the last game of the season. The Tiger needs the fans to go and support them.

Mary Martha Class Resident's Grandson Meet At Church Goes On Music Tour For Holiday Dinner

By Lucille Cullison, reporter

The Mary Martha Sunday School class members and their families of the First Baptist Church met in the church parlor for their monthly social and an old fashioned Thanksgiving Dinner on Sunday, November, 12, at 12:30 p.m. The tables were decorated in the Thanksgiving Motif, which was done by class teacher, Mrs. Margaret Chapman and other members.

Rev. Herman Bell offered the blessing before the meal was served.

Turkey and all the trimmings was served to Rev. and Mrs. Herman Bell and to the class members and their families.

Mrs. Newt Barker was the hostess for the dinner and meeting and Mrs. Walter Miller was co-hostess.

The member having birthdays were Mrs. Velma Willis, and Mrs. Ellen Roby and their birthday cakes were brought by their "Secret Pals" and the cakes were served with the meal. The 40 persons in attendance sang Happy Birthday to the ladies honored with CONTINUOUS heavy grazing can result in your ranch looking like the top picture—very little grass and a small return. The high intensity low frequency grazing system can make your ranch look like the bottom picture—abundance of grass and a big return. Which do you want?

Grazing Plans Have Advantages

The subject of grazing systems or rotation grazing has been around several years. Phil Richey, Range Conservationist with the Texas A.M. in Pampa. Most of these systems use 2, 3, or 4 pastures and 1, 2, or 3 herds of cattle. The cattle are rotated in a planned sequence so each pasture rests during a different season each year. Rotation dates are generally based on the calendar. Recently a fairly new concept called high-intensity low frequency (HILF) grazing system is gaining popularity.

What is a HILF grazing system. Briefly, this system utilizes 6 or more pastures with 1 herd of cattle. Cattle are grazed on one pasture for about 1 month and then moved to the next pasture. The cattle that would normally be carried on the whole 6 pastures, or however many pastures, are lumped into one herd and grazed on one pasture. The cattle are grazed intensively for a short period and then the pasture gets several months rest. The intensive grazing period comes about twice a year hence the high intensity low frequency.

There are definite advantages to this plan. First consider how the buffalo grazed this country long ago. They grazed an area off and then moved on to new areas. They wouldn't be back in the same area for several months during which time, the grass made new growth. This is the same concept as the high intensity low frequency system. One need only talk to an old timer or read a history to find out how good a system used to be in this country.

Uniformity of grazing is another big advantage Richey maintains. Cattle use all the pastures instead of just a few choice plants. Over a period of time this will result in a decrease of poorer plants because they are placed on an equal footing with better plants and the better plants can increase.

Cattle performance in tests have been as good on the HILF systems as on regular moderate grazing. The gain in pounds of beef produced comes in running more cattle due to better utilization and increased production of grass as a result of frequent long rest periods.

This system is highly flexible. Cattle movement is based on the condition of the pasture rather than the calendar. When the pasture is properly used move the cattle. If they take longer than 30-40 days to graze a pasture, stock more cattle. Size of the pastures doesn't matter a lot as this can be adjusted by length of grazing time. This is a big advantage of the 2, 3, or 4 pasture systems where additional fences may be needed to equal pasture sizes. If you have 6 or more pastures you can start a HILF system.

There are other advantages such as fewer bulls, less labor to care for cattle except at working time, and being able to predict forage available for future use.

Why should a grazing system be used. In this age of a price cost squeeze in ranching, sound management is the only way to stay in business. Grazing systems are sound management. The HILF systems benefits your grass and the grass is turned benefits the cattle. Grass condition should be the indication of good management rather than cattle condition. Good grass means good cattle but many of us have seen good cattle on only fair grass. "In our area we can count on drought about 1/2 of the time"

Richey goes on to say. With the HILF system you can predict when forage is going to be short long before you get caught in a squeeze. If the pasture resting aren't making good growth, adjustment of cattle numbers can be made before you run out of grass.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

The State Legislature which convenes January 9 will be vastly different from the present one which has served through the 1971 regular and four special sessions.

There will be 77 new faces in the 150-member House and 15 new members of the 30-member Senate. (Five of the House newcomers have served before the 1971 session, and six present House members will be serving in the Senate.)

Dolph Briscoe, of course, will succeed Preston Smith as governor, and Bill Hobby will preside over the Senate, succeeding Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Rep Price Daniel of Liberty will become Speaker of the House, replacing Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine.

Basically, the House is expected to be a more liberal body than the present one, and the new Senate considerably more conservative.

Republicans, women and blacks increased their strength in the House; and the GOP added one more senator, for a total of three. There will be 17 republican state representatives--seven from Dallas, seven from Houston, two from San Antonio, and one from Midland. GOP senators were elected in Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth.

The House, which now has a single woman member, will have five (including two blacks) in January. Mrs. Betty Andujar of Fort Worth, wife of a physician, is a new woman senator. She is a Republican.

The Senate's only woman member at present is Miss Barbara Jordan of Houston, a black, liberal Democrat who was elected to Congress November 7.

Black membership of the House will increase from two to eight.

$91.2 MILLION IN AID Sought
Governor Smith went to Washington last week in search of $91.2 million in additional federal social service funding.

ch of $91.2 million in additional federal social service funding.

Texas has received $34.8 million in federal matching funds for social services to eligible citizens during the fourth quarter of the 1972 fiscal year.

Smith argues people involved received the same services throughout the year, and the state is entitled to compensation for the first three quarters of fiscal 1972, as well as the last quarter.

The funding will be important in determining whether the next legislature will have to pass a substantial tax bill.

TAX LINE CAN BE HELD
Texas Research League predicts a major tax increase can be avoided next year if lawmakers can keep reasonable controls on spending.

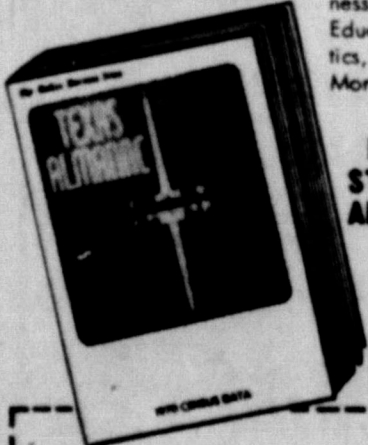

Spending, says TRI, probably can be held within bounds of a $750 million raise over the next two years--unless federal court rulings require sharp increases in funds for public schools.

An increase in revenue from existing taxes is estimated at $375 million. A $40 million surplus is expected to be available at the end of the fiscal year, and federal revenue sharing may provide the state as much as $315 million during the biennium, according to TRI. That is within $20 million of the new spending projection.

Texas Highway Department is due to ask for a two-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax hike next year, which would add another $70 million to key fund revenues in addition to earmarked road building purposes.

THE OLD HOME STEAD

The house with the side, room, the barns, the sheds, and the cow pens are long gone from the old home place. I found an old snuff bottle or two and some red rock from the top of the cistern about where I think our house sat. The hill over the east was closer than I remem- bered. I hollered a couple of times and it echoed back just like it did when I was a country boy during the great depression of the early thirt- ies.

They were hard years, but many of the memories are happy ones. Memories of things like snow ice cream, the smell of shoe polish and lye soap on Sunday morning, town boys spending the night and sleeping on bed in the yard smoking cedar bark, doing without nice things and now knowing the difference.

About all the real excit- ement we had in those days was when a cat fell in the cistern or a candle fly got in the lamp globe.

We had 18 cats, and daddy milked four old half jersey cows to feed them. I never saw any white buffalo, but the hawks and skunks ate most of our chickens, and in 1931 about all we lived on was okra, rotten ended watermelons, cottontail rabbits, and clabber.

Mama wore tennis shoes and underwear made out of flour sacks. Once when she was crawling through a barb- ed wire fence and tore her under pants right where it said "Light Crust Flour".

If there was any underarm deodorant on the market we didn't know about it. And we had no air conditioners. If we got galled we would slap a hand full starch where it would do the most good and forgot it.

In 1933 we all took the itch. Every night we would apply a liberal amount of sulphur and grease to our bodies, slip on a suit of long handle underwear, and crawl into bed. Scratching kind of broke the monotony and gave us young folks some- thing to giggle about.

Daddy never did catch the itch, and mama said it was because he dipped so much snuff.

When we went to town we would cut off the motor and coast from the big hill to the forks of the road to save gas. Once we were in town an hour before we noticed the dead chicken on the run- ning board of the car. We forgot to kick it off on the way.

The only way you could tell a rich man from a poor man was that the rich man had two cars standing on blocks instead of one.

The outdoor rest rooms we had were not very relaxing or comfortable, and not places for deep thinking or long range planning. Usually I was too busy trying to beat a wasp or centipede to death with a Sears Roebuck catalog while fighting a cold updraft or 120 degree heat.

On winter nights we hudd- led around a red hot wood heater, roasting in the front and freezing in the rear. Daddy read Zane Grey books to us by a coal oil lamp.

I can remember like it was yesterday when daddy was out of money for gifts on Christmas Eve. He went out in the yard, fired the shot gun and came back in the house and told us Santa Claus had committed suicide.

The chickens roosted in a circle around the top rim of our drinking water barrel, and my job every night be- fore going to bed was to go out and turn them all around to where they were facing in. Yes, I remember the de- pression.

I can't forget the bad thin- gs. Like people not having new clothes very often; like some people not having enou- gh food or enough medical care, or enough money to hold things together.

But I remember the good things, too. Like people coming over to visit on the porch at night without our wondering what they wanted. Like a stranger stopping on the road to help you fix a flat. Like people just pulling together.

The great depression, as bad as it was, had a little good in it. I'm glad I was there then, and I'm glad I'm here now. I just hope I don't catch the itch again. (This clipping was brought into the News Office by Leon Waldrop, who thought it might be of interest to our readers.)

PUMPKIN EATERS

Bringing in the harvest is hard work! Just the thought of lugging this big pumpkin around is enough to make Carol and Sue tired and sleepy!

But what will Mommy do? She will make pies for Thanksgiving dinner. The house will smell sweet and spicy from the baking, and there will be a big table with the huge, browned turkey, and grandfather will say grace . . .

Thanksgiving is a day unique to Americans. In this troubled world of today Americans might count their blessings with hesitant hearts, but stop to compare your lot with your brothers in other nations, and you will soon find that God has given to you bounteously.

Give thanks, then, in the church of your choice.
