County Narrowly Adopts Its Budget

Members of the Gray County Commission Court Friday adopted the proposed budget of $1,317,470 by a vote of three to two.

Commissioners James McCracken and Don Hinton opposed the proposal.

Chief objections to the plan for 1973 spending seemed to center around the basic concept of revenue sharing and how these funds would be spent according to the proposed budget.

Revenue sharing monies would go to pay 11-12s of the operation of the sheriff's department and the tax department. Such a move as proposed by County Auditor Ray Wilson should put the county "in the black" financially at the end of 1973.

Prior to revenue sharing such a financial condition was calculated at two years, possibly more, away.

Commissioners Hinton and McCracken felt money going into revenue sharing should have been used in other areas by the federal government.

Chief objection to the allocation of such funds in the proposed budget centered around the idea that the need for capital improvements was greater. However, spending the money on capital improvements offered no hope of overcoming the deficit and showing a surplus at the end of the year.

At the time of the recent hearings on a tax rate increase, Hinton and McCracken stated the county could tighten its belt and do without any capital improvements until the county was once again in the black.

Of the $1.25 tax unit, the 80-cent constitutional limitation funds would break down this way:

Jury fund. 0.02; road and bridge fund. 0.15; general fund. 0.61; farm to market and lateral road fund. 0.30; hospital interest and sinking fund. 0.13 and the airport interest and sinking fund. 0.04.

Based on the proposed budget (which will require some normal adjustments), it is estimated that the general fund would be left with a balance of $95,000 at the end of 1973, against a deficit of more than one hundred thousand dollars in sight at the time of the tax rate increase.

The overall balance in the black at the end of the year would be $243,000-plus.

Once the business of the budget had been decided, the panel turned to other items on the agenda and quickly approved the budget for Highland General and McLean-Gray County hospitals.

Commissioners also approved a resolution requested by District Judge Granger. McIlhenny to ask the legislature for an amendment creating two six-month terms of court in the 31st District instead of the present one six-month and two three-month terms.

Also granted was a request for authority by Genesis House, Inc. to seek a grant from the Criminal Justice Council through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission.

Those attending under the GI Bill may complete their high school work without any loss of their veteran's educational benefits, which may be used in continuing their occupational training objectives.

The program is available to those 18 years of age or older who have not completed their high school work.

Interested adults are encouraged to telephone Gerald B. Seright, program coordinator and instructor, for counseling appointment and curriculum and cost information.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Children in Texas who seldom have an opportunity to receive treatment from a dentist will benefit in 1973 from a new Medicaid program of the Texas State Department of Health and Texas Department of Public Welfare.

Welfare families with children will be eligible for the dental program when it begins early this year.

The State Health Department will administer the program. Initially, the program will be for children under the age of six years—approximately 100,000 children in Texas. Beginning on July 1, the program will be expanded to cover all welfare children up to age 21—more than 300,000 children.

The program has dual goals in addition to the dental program, Medicaid Title XIX funds also will be used to provide a medical screening and treatment program. The medical screening services will be highlighted in next week's Accent on Health.

The two segments of the program—medical and dental—will share centralized administrative, data processing and fiscal facilities. However, operation of medical and dental programs will be under separate directors.

The dental program will operate under the Health Department's Division of Dental Health in Austin. It has been described by the Division staff as "a tremendous challenge and a meaningful opportunity to provide for the needs of many children who have been disadvantaged for so long a time." Limited portions of this target population have received services in programs of local public health dental clinics, and others undoubtedly have been seen by dentists who volunteered their services.

Dentists under the new program are selected on a volunteer basis. Any Texas licensed dentist who wishes to participate may do so by completing a brief application with the Division of Dental Health and filing a fee schedule with his dental association. Once an application is accepted, the dentist's name will be provided to the local and county offices of the Department of Public Welfare. Welfare social service staff workers, called caseworkers, will determine the eligibility of consumers for services under this program and enter names on a section of a dental invoice. Once a child is found eligible, a dental appointment can be arranged. In consultation with a caseworker, the family designates its present dentist or chooses a dentist from a list of those participating.

Once the choice is made, the caseworker arranges for an appointment and then follows through so both the consumer and the dental invoice get to the dentist. The voucher serves as a treatment record as well as a payment voucher.

The dentists treat the patients in the same way that he treats his private patients. His services most likely will include an oral examination, diagnosis (including radiographs as needed) and whatever corrective or preventive treatment is indicated up to a specified ceiling amount.

Should more extensive treatment be needed beyond this maximum, toll free call can be made while the patient is in the dental chair for instant authorization to continue.

As the initial treatment is made, the dentist fills in the dental invoice which has sections for oral examination findings, treatment given and recommendations for further treatments on subsequent visit.

The dental invoice is audited in the central control office on its receipt and processed for payment of the normal fee-for-service based on private practice charges.

In five high-consumer population counties, a special pilot project is planned to determine the feasibility and effectiveness of using specially-trained dental Community Service Aides in the program. These aides would assist in the welfare and consumer areas. However they could go beyond this to provide basic oral health maintenance instructions to families in their homes.

Dental advisory and peer review committees will review and monitor the dental program with an eye toward bettering the services to provide the best possible dental care for the less fortunate children of the state.

TB Assc. Need Additional Funds

Attorney Tom Seay of Amarillo stated today that 26 lung research projects seeking medical knowledge and training to help victims of emphysema, asthma, and other respiratory diseases have been funded by Christmas Seal monies for the current year, leaving 21 other projects approved but as yet unfunded.

Patients entering the hospital for emphysema, asthma or pneumonia often desperately need help such lung research can provide, he said, adding that a recent survey of area hospitals showed 687 emphysema admissions, plus another 806 patients suffering with both emphysema and chronic bronchitis over a one year period.

Seay, who is president of Top of Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association, urged area residents to answer their Christmas Seal letters as generously as possible for purposes of community health programs and to supply the needed research. Thus far, Gray County has contributed $1,351.00 in 1972 Christmas Seal Funds.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Texas got a fast-starting legislature, a new governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the House all in eight action-packed days.

Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde and William P. Hobby Jr. of Houston were inaugurated as governor and lieutenant governor in spectacular ceremonies Tuesday (Jan. 16).

Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty won election as House Speaker without opposition as the legislature convened January 9. The 31-year-old son of former Gov. Price Daniel (who now serves on the State Supreme Court) announced appointment of House standing committees four days after his election, and immediately referred bills for hearing.

Outgoing Gov. Preston Smith offered some good financial news to the arriving legislators. His $9.7 billion biennial budget proposal estimated a $300 million surplus for lawmakers to use in expanding programs or revising school finance formulas.

Governmental reform proposals backed by Daniel will be among the first bills to get House hearing. The House, with a minimum amount of opposition, promptly adopted the thick set of procedural rules the new speaker urged.

Smith in his swansong to the Legislature, advised that lawmakers move immediately to establish the constitutional revision commission directed by voters last November. He submitted as an emergency matter appropriation of funds to pay the commission's expenses.

The outgoing Governor further advised legislators ought to consider tackling the tough school finance system overhaul in a special session.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith named former Gov. Allan Shivers of Austin, former Ambassador Ed Clark of Austin and Dr. James Bauerle of San Antonio as University of Texas System regents. A.G. McNeese of Houston was named chairman.

Other Smith appointments included: Mrs. Wilmer Smith of Wilson, Richard A. Goodson of Dallas and Clyde H. Wells (reappointment) of Granbury to the Texas A&M University board of directors; Edwin R. VanZandt of Beaumont as chairman of the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation; Dorsey B. Hardeman, formerly of San Angelo, as chairman of the Texas Water Right Commission; Robert S. Rowland of Houston and Ernest S. Sterling of Tyler to the Texas Southern University Board of directors; former Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso to Texas Aeronautics Commission; former State Rep. Joe H. Goldman of Dallas to the Texas Cosmetology Commission; Kent R. Hance of Lubbock to the West Texas State University board of regents; and Scott Hardy of San Antonio as Texas Film Commission chairman.

New governor Dolph Briscoe designated former White House aide Robert L. Hardesty, 41, as his press secretary and special assistant.

Robert S. Johnson will head the new Texas Commission for the Deaf staff.

Jack H. Dillard will serve as executive director of the new Texas Center for the Judiciary here.

JOB COMMISSION URGED

Key legislative researchers recommended establishment of a governor's committee on equal employment opportunity in state government to police job discrimination.

A Texas Legislative Council staff report found blacks and Mexican-Americans under-employed in state government.

The report showed 79.92 percent of state governmental employees are white and that they tend to hold higher paying jobs than the blacks and Mexican-Americans.

It recommended a six-member commission to report to the governor on employment opportunities at all levels of government.

IT'S OUR TOWN

You've probably wondered why we are always beating the drums for local business.

It's simple. This is our town, our community. We have stores, shops, garages, service stations, banks, and individuals offering specialized services because these things are needed by an active, thriving community.

It makes sense that the community prospers through the medium of people doing business with people.

We also happen to believe you can get the best prices, the best possible service, within the local community.

We don't ask you to take our word for it. Look around, if you like, but always, before you take your business anywhere, take a good look at the products, prices and the services offered by local merchants.

Trade at Home for your own sake!

JAILS CRITICIZED

Texas Legislative Council urged creation of a commission on county jail standards, terming present laws on the subject "totally unrealistic and meaningless."

The Council's report said only five jails in Texas (those of Andrews, Lynn, Oldham, Smith, Taylor, and Wichita counties) meet health department standards. The State Health department inspects jails but has no authority to compel compliance with its own standards.

TLC said the proposed commission should promulgate realistic standards and regulations and prohibit confinement of prisoners in those which do not measure up to them.

The Council also recommended a work-release program for jail prisoners, allowing inmates to post 10 percent of their bond on condition it would be refunded when they appear for trial and immediate transfer to the Department of Corrections of inmates convicted of felonies and waiting action on appeal.

COURTS SPEAK

The Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the murder conviction of Walter Lee Morris in the shooting of a Sherman police sergeant.

The same Court affirmed

a two-year probated sentence of a Houston youth for wearing the U.S. flag on the seat of his blue jeans, although it agreed two sections of the law on desecration of the flag are unconstitutional.

In a new ruling on contributory negligence laws, the Supreme Court held damages should be paid to the children of a woman killed in a collision with a negligent driver even if her husband was also partly to blame for the accident.

The High Court ordered a new trial in the suit by the widow of a man killed in a truck-train wreck at Floresville.

SENATORS DRAW FOR TERMS

Sixteen state senators got four-year terms in a drawing which may decide the political futures of some. Fifteen others, not so lucky, drew two-year terms and must face voters again in 1974.

Four-year terms went to Bill Braecklein of Dallas, Ron Clower of Dallas, Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, Robert Gammage of Houston, Glenn Kothmann of San Antonio, Mike McKinnon of Corpus Christi, Bill Moore of Bryan, Walter Mengden Jr. of Houston, Jack Ogg of Houston, D. Snelson of Midland, Jim Wallace of Houston, Carson Wolff of San Antonio, Betty Andujar of Fort Worth, Charles Herring of Fort Worth, Oscar Mauzy of Dallas and John Traeger of Abilene.

SHORT SNORTS

Mauzy, 46, was named Senate president pro tempore. The Legislature was urged by a study committee to regulate overpumpage of ground water in several parts of Texas, including the San Jacinto Monument-Baytown area, the High Plains and San Antonio area.

Austen H. Eurse of Bay City will head the oil and gas division of Atty. Gen. John Hill's office.

Texas employers will try for "workmen's compensation self insurance" again this legislative session. Only 16 states do not allow this--including the Lone Star state.

"Eat All" Packages

"If predictions of some food scientists are correct, consumers may really get to eat what they pay for," according to a foods and nutrition specialist.

Karen Kreipke with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, noted this week that edible containers such as ice cream cones, pie crusts and gelatine capsules may have encouraged food scientists to look for more.

Citing recent developments she explained that "coatings which act as a release agent in the frying pan, such as Myvacet, have been used on fresh poultry before freezing to reduce moisture losses by 85 percent.

Some coatings also add a nutritious substance to the product.

Water soluble films are already available for packaging instant tea, dehydrated soup and powdered drinks.

Can you imagine dropping an envelope of soup into boiling water and stirring a minute--while the soup powder, as well as the envelope, dissolve?

So far, no coating has been found suitable for all products.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fingerprinting the Jobholder

Employees of several stock brokerage firms were up in arms. Under a new state law, they had to be fingerprinted in order to keep their jobs. Taking the matter to court, they claimed this was an invasion of their right of privacy.

But the court could see no grounds for complaint. The judge said this minor invasion of privacy was outweighed by the major benefit to the public in reducing thefts of stocks and bonds.

Laws in a number of states now require the fingerprinting of employees in "sensitive" occupations. Almost always, the courts have overruled the assorted constitutional objections raised by disgruntled individuals.

In fact, the law no longer considers fingerprinting to be any great hardship anyhow. In another case, a used furniture dealer complained about a fingerprint requirement for anyone selling second-hand goods.

"It makes the people in my line of business look like criminals," he said in a court hearing.

But the court disagreed, pointing out that fingerprints are now used routinely in hospitals, schools, and government as a reliable means of identification. As one judge put it:

"The day is long past when fingerprinting carried with it a stigma of criminality."

This does not mean, however, that the police may resort to highhanded methods to obtain fingerprints. Consider the following case:

Officers investigating a burglary took a man into custody even though they had no adequate grounds for arrest. Their reason: to obtain his fingerprints. As it happened, the prints did turn out to be incriminating.

Nevertheless, they were held not admissible against the man in court. The judge said the Constitution forbids "wholesale intrusions upon the personal security of our citizenry."

Fashion Swing In Sleepwear

Spring won't be "bursting" out all over-- at least not in flame, according to a consumer education, clothing specialist.

Spring's fashion scene in children's flame-retardant sleepwear tops last fall's style and fabrics, Marilyn Brown, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, noted.

Coordinating non-flammable or non-flammable robes is the word in children's spring sleepwear.

New flame-retardant fabrics promise eye appeal and comfort as they retain a natural softness and preview spring in deftful colors and patterns.

Knit sleepwear, as well as wovens, now comply with government non-flammability standards for sizes 0-6X, as do most fancy trims and appliques (over two inches).

Laundering will be easier, too. Care labels will read: Machine wash, tumble dry, using a water softener plus your favorite detergent--do not use soap or bleach.

Miss Brown also indicated that non-flammable fabrics themselves are on the increase, with more stretch terry, brushed knits, batiste, jersey and flannel available.

As the new era in children's sleepwear dawns, we can expect more flame-retardant fabrics and garments on the market for spring.

The specialist repeated predictions that within two years, similar non-flammability guidelines will extend to sizes 7-14.

Weather Puts Harvest At Standstill

Cotton harvest is at a standstill in the Memphis area due to ice and snow the past week, according to W.E. Cain, in charge of the USDA, AMS, Cotton Classing Office in Memphis. "Cotton harvest is about 65 to 75 percent complete in this area," said Cain. The Memphis Cotton Classing Office graded 16,950 samples this week to bring the season total to 131,350. This compares to 87,150 on the same date a year ago.

The predominant grade classed this week was Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) with 37 percent followed by Middling Light Spotted (32) with 25 percent and Strict Low Middling (41) with 21 percent.

The predominant staple classed this week was 32 with 76 percent followed by staple 33 with 15 percent.

Micronaire, fineness and maturity, readings showed 69 percent miked in the desirable range of 3.5 to 4.9. The 3.3 to 3.4 range accounted for 15 percent and the 3.0 to 3.2 range accounted for 12 percent.

Pressley, or strength, tests showed 85 percent tested 75,000 psi or higher. The average was 80,000 psi.

The cotton market continued active and prices were steady to two cents per pound higher than last week. Average prices late this week for Strict Low Middling (41) and Middling Light Spotted (32) one inch staple were 28.50 to 28.75 cents per pound. This was for cotton miking 3.5 to 4.9.

The average price paid farmers for cottonseed at the gin was $52.00 per ton.

Market Report

Oranges head the market list this month as citrus season opens.

With 195.4 million boxes total production forecast, producers will come close to the record-large crop of 1970=71, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Ample supplies of fresh oranges are available at prices about the same as last year. Look for fruit firm and heavy for its size with a fine-textured skin.

Grapefruit supplies are on the increase, and quality is good.

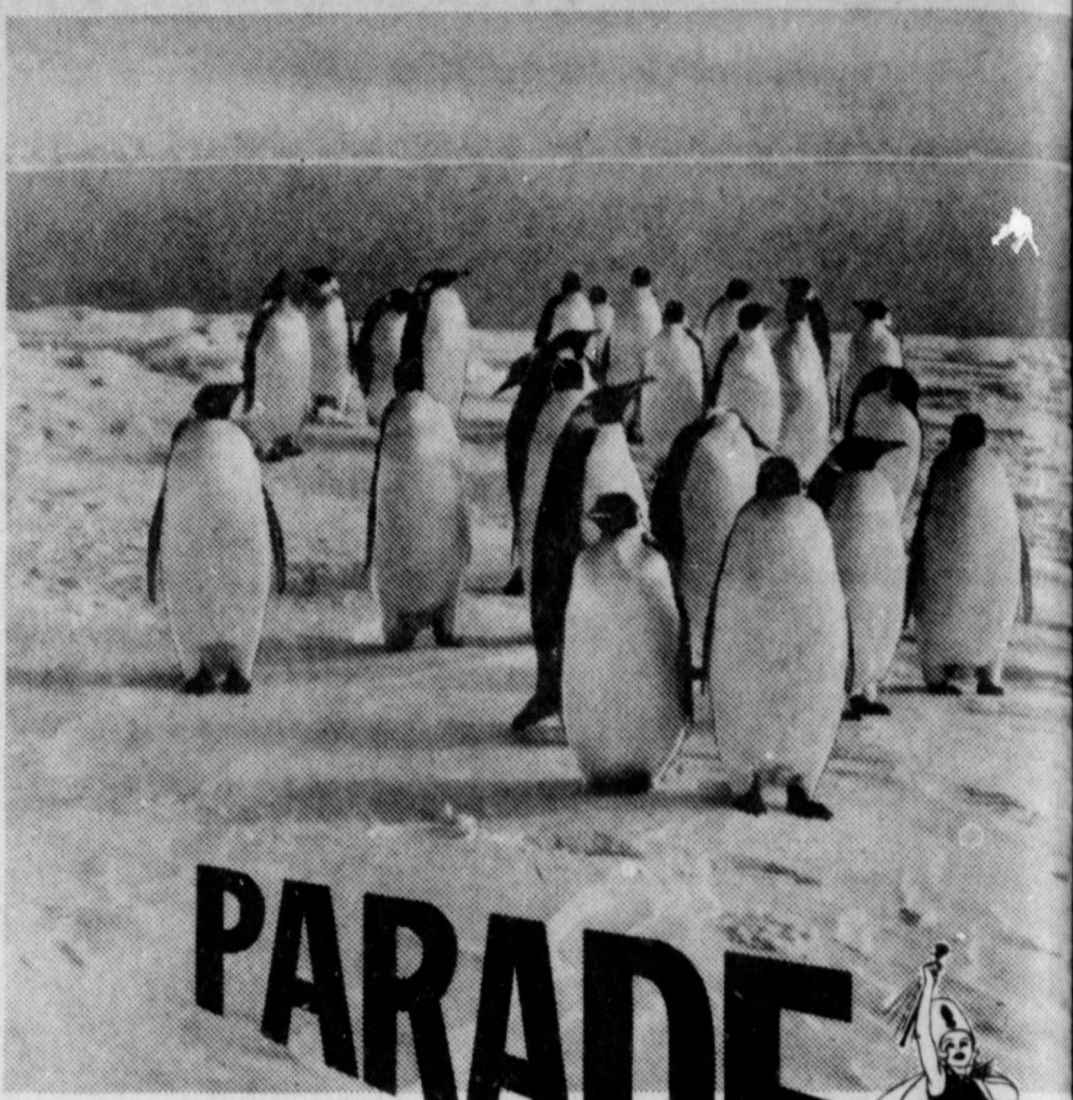

Other fruit choices available include apples, bananas, cranberries, tangerines, avocados and pineapple.

Economical buys at vegetable counters are cabbage and celery, both featuring attractive prices and good quality.

Hardshell squash, including Hubbard, acorn and butternut varieties, are economical vegetable choices now, and they can be served in many ways.

Fryer chickens are a bargain, although prices are edging up a bit.

Because it used noisemakers to sound alarms, America's first fire department was called "The Rattle Watch."

PARADE

Strutting across the ice, penguins make a comically pompous picture. They are at once dignified and ridiculous, and if we look at them very long, they remind us uncomfortably of ourselves!

We, too, are apt to mass together on occasion and to be, perhaps, a little ludicrous in our efforts to be "part of the scene." Sometimes following the leader may, indeed, be the best thing to do. But it can also be the easy way out.

Today, especially, we need the courage of our convictions. We need to stand up for what we truly believe in. We need to do the important things.

Like going to church.

Four Fisheries Objectives Approved
 Commissioner

Four new objectives in fisheries research have been approved by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. Wildlife biologists say could lead to results ranging from improved pond management to better bass fishing. Two of the objectives involve experimental stocking of walleye and flathead catfish in an attempt to find an effective predator to cut down excess populations of crappie. Biologists were intrigued when stomach surveys of walleyes stocked in West Texas lakes showed that crappie formed a portion of the walleyes' diet in proportion to the number of crappie which showed up in netting surveys. Crappie are a concern to biologists for two reasons. They have a fantastic breeding potential and overpopulate readily, resulting in unwanted fish. And they are effective predators of small black bass. Department biologists hope to find out what effect wal-eye stocking will have in lakes with overpopulations of crappie and gizzard shad. Population interactions of these species will be closely measured. The same objective, controlling stunted populations of crappie, as well as sunfish, is the purpose of the flathead catfish management study. Biologists will stock West Texas lakes with flat-head fingerlings at a rate of 10 per acre and then try to determine if larger fish will be produced when flathead catfish eat many of the smaller fish. Two other objectives involve refining of research techniques. Biologists want to experiment on how to determine the volume of ponds. This is not too much of a problem for regularly shaped ponds, but ponds with irregular shorelines present many difficulties. Biologists think that by measuring the dilution of a known weight of common salt by the lake's water with a simple chemical process, an accurate measurement of the pond's volume should be possible. Accurate measurement of pond's volume is necessary when biologists engage in selective poisoning to remove certain fish. For example, one chemical used at a rate of three to five parts per billion eliminates all fish except channel catfish from ponds. The same chemical used at a rate of .5 parts per billion kills only bluegills. Effective use of these chemicals requires accurate knowledge of how much water is in the ponds. In a fourth objective, biologists want to determine the accuracy of their fish-gathering methods used in determining the population makeup of reservoirs. Currently, gill nets and electrofishing equipment are commonly used to determine the species composition of a body of water. Sampling with rotenone and block-off nets are used to determine the species composition and standing crop of a body of water. Biologists say each sampling technique gives a biased picture of a fish population in certain ways peculiar to that technique. They intend to use 11 fresh-water compartments on the J.D. Murphy Wildlife Management Area in Jefferson County in closely controlled experiment on fish-gathering techniques.

Farmcast

Compiled From Sources
 Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
 John C. White, Commissioner

Up, up and away? . . . Sheep On Feed Declines . . . Rice Quota Vote Set . . . One Million Visitors . . .

At first glance, it might appear that farm prices are "up, up, and away". Although prices to farmers do show increases, production costs are also rising so the net result is not as rosy for agricultural producers as it could be. Remember, too, income in rural areas is still about a fourth under the rest of the economy.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that Texas farmers received price increases for almost every commodity recently. Only calves and sheep are above effective parity, however.

Calf prices at $47.40 per hundredweight are $1.60 per hundred pounds above parity. Sheep at $12.30 per hundredweight are $1.20 per hundred pounds above parity. Beef cattle at $34 are $4.20 under effective parity. Hogs at $29.50 are more than $2 under effective parity.

Crop prices show an even greater parity discrepancy. Cotton at 21.2 cents per pound compared with an effective parity price of 57.20 cents per pound. Grain sorghum at $2.79 is below effective parity by 65 cents per hundred pounds.

Egg prices at 50 cents per dozen are up eight cents from a month ago, but still almost eight cents below parity.

The index of all farm products was 20 points above last month and 13 percent above a year ago.

Farm production index prices paid by farmers was up seven percent from a year ago.

A 22 PERCENT decline in sheep on feed is noted in Texas. Drylot sheep feeders with a lot capacity of 2,000 head or more had 90,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter on Jan. 1. This is 22 percent under a month ago, but five percent above the number on feed this time last year.

Current intentions to market are: January 50,000; February 32,000; and March 8,000. Marketings during December were 58,000 head.

COMMERCIAL slaughtering plants in Texas produced 194,000 pounds of meat during November, which represents a decline of six percent from the previous month, but nine percent above the total produced in 1971. Nationwide, production of red meat was one percent above a year earlier.

RICE allotment for Texas for 1973 is 516,132 acres. Nationwide, the rice allotment was increased 10 percent. A referendum will be held among producers Jan. 22 to 26 to determine if marketing quotas will be in effect. Two-thirds or more of the rice growers voting in the referendum must approve the quotas to make them effective.

TEXAS livestock interests will be represented during the annual Mexican National Livestock and Industry Exposition in Mexico City Jan. 20 to 28. More than 1,000,000 visitors are expected to attend the activities.

Texas will have three exhibit spaces at the exposition. A total of 14 breed associations in the state will be represented. The Houston Livestock Show and the San Antonio Livestock Show will also be involved. The Mohair Council of America will be in charge of a display of textiles. The Texas Department of Agriculture marketing personnel will be in charge of the entire Texas exhibits.

than a surplus. Our prediction is that we have crossed the great divide in farming and ranching from a price stand point. We are moving from a surplus era into one of shortages. With all the new regulations and restrictions on agriculture and the population increase I see the trend accelerating.

COTTON HARVEST
 According to Mrs. Bill Estes, 802 bales of cotton have been ginned. Bill thinks about half of the cotton has been ginned. This would make a total of 1600 bales if the weather will favor us with a few more days of nice weather. There is still a sizeable acreage of milo to be harvested on the High Plains. No doubt this year will set a long standing record in adverse weather for harvesting. JR. LIVESTOCK SHOW
 March 5-7 Jerry Hawkins, Clarendon Jr. College, Agri. Dept. and Dr. Robert Totusek, Oklahoma A & M University, will be our judges this year. Hawkins will judge swine and Totusek will judge the steers. Both have judged our show numerous times in the past. Both have been very popular and nationally recognized judges. GOV. FARM PROGRAMS

At this time we don't have any details on the new amendments to the 1973 Wheat and feed grains programs. From what I can learn you can do most anything you wish to set aside acreage. This would include harvesting set aside acreage in wheat. I'm not sure about the feed grain program but we feel set-aside feed grain acreage can be grazed. There is a question as to whether this can be done without suffering a reduction in payment if you choose to graze. There seems to be a great deal of alarm about many products in shortage rather

Sign-Up For Farm Program Open February

With sign-up in 1973 feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs due to open in less than three weeks, Gray County producers have many decisions to make, reports Evelyn Mason, Executive Director, Gray County ASCS.

Each producer with a feed grain base or wheat or cotton allotment must make his individual decisions on whether to participate in the programs, and, if so, what plans to choose among those that are offered.

Judging from past years, around 90 to 95 percent of Gray county farmers will sign up in one or more of the programs. This will be slightly more than 500 farms in the program.

Sign-up for the 1973 program is scheduled to begin on Feb. 5 and will last through March 16 at the county ASCS office.

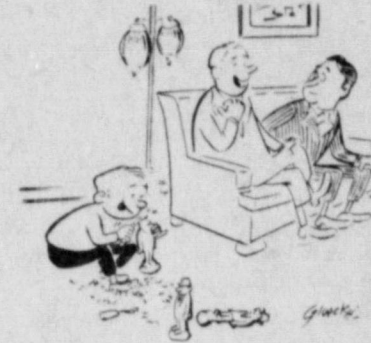

Participants in the feed grain set-aside program will decide whether to sign up for the 30% plan or the 15% plan. Wheat producers must determine whether they want additional set-aside beyond that required for participation. These are the main decisions for farmers to make-- but the entire farming operation plan for the year is tied up in the decision on farm program participation.

Before signing up, farmers need to know which land they will set-aside if he's in the feed grain program or the additional wheat program, and decide what crops he plans to harvest--whether it will be wheat or feed grain or a mixture of the two along with his cotton. Substitution is again permitted under the 1973 program.
