Good Weathers Helps Harvest To Resume

Cotton harvest will resume on a limited scale this weekend over the Memphis area if clear skies and good ground drying conditions continue, said W.E. Cain, in Charge of the SUDA, AMS, Cotton Classing Office in Memphis. "Farmers welcomed the good drying weather this past week as about 30 percent of this crop is yet to be harvested," said Cain.

The Memphis Cotton Classing Office graded 5,000 samples this week to bring the season total to 136,300. This compares to 102,750 on the same date a year ago.

The predominant grade classed this week was Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) with 43 percent followed by Strict Low Middling (41) with 23 percent, and Middling Light Spotted (32) with 12 percent.

The predominant staple classed this week was 32 with 64 percent followed by staple 33 with 32 percent.

Micronaire, or fineness and maturity, readings showed 76 percent miked in the desirable range of 3.5 to 4.9. The 3.2 to 3.4 range accounted for 12 percent and the 3.0 to 3.2 range accounted for 8 percent.

Pressley, or strength, tests showed 88 percent of the samples tested 75,000 psi or higher. The average for the week was 80,000 psi.

The cotton market continued active and prices about steady compared to last week. Some average prices on the most active qualities traded were: Strict Low Middling (42), 32 staple, 27.50 to 28.00 cents per pound; and Strict Low Middling Spotted (42), 32 staple, 26.00 to 27.00. This was for cotton miking 3.5 to 4.9. The average price paid farmers for cottonseed at the gin was $52.00 per ton.

Baptist Women Have Program On Faith

Reported by Mrs. Luther Petty
The Baptist Women of the Baptist Church met Wednesday afternoon Jan. 17 in the home of Mrs. A.C. Wood.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Lloyd Hunt and the Director Mrs. Herman W. Bell took charge of the meeting, making suggestions for future work.

Call of prayer was read by Mrs. Homer Abbott and led in prayer for the missionaries having birthdays that day.

Mrs. Wood had charge of the program, "Faith in Action" and the lesson was taught by parables which were studied in groups and they gave an explanation of their immediate scriptures.

The thought was faith will bring results sometimes, somewhere.

The meeting was closed with a dismissal prayer by Mrs. Bell.

Others present at the meeting were Mesdames Walter Miller, Boyd Reeves, Jim Stevens and Luther Petty.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson of Canadian attended the Thomas Hardin funeral Friday. Mrs. Anderson is the sister of Buck Hill.

Music degree and a Bachelor of Music Education degree. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha honorary music fraternity.

Good health is a prized possession--something to be sought by those who don't have it and something to be held onto by those who do.

As in the case of a communicable disease, says the State Health Department, it is much wiser and easier to keep a person from having a preventable disease than it is to treat the victim.

During 1973 preventive health services will be extended to thousands of children in Texas through an agreement between the State Health Department and Department of Public Welfare.

The new title for this program is "early and periodic screening, diagnosis and treatment" for certain Texas youngsters who are on aid for dependent children rolls.

The State Department of Public Welfare is responsible for administration of the Texas Medical Assistance Program, and consequently, has responsibility for implementation of the periodic screening program.

But, the State Health Department has staff and experience in this field, particularly in providing regular maternal and child health and crippled children services. Through a cooperative arangement between the two big state agencies, the State Health Department soon will begin screening children who are eligible for medical assistance. Children who are found to be in need of more definitive diagnosis and treatment then will be referred by the Welfare Department to practicing physicians and other appropriate sources for such services.

Although the Texas Medical Assistance Program currently provides diagnostic and treatment services to eligible individuals, it is hoped that early detection and treatment of disease in children will have a significant impact upon the lives of these children now and in the future.

State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy said the program can have a tremendous effect on what could be long-term illnesses. "This program will allow us to catch these defects now, while they are still amenable to treatment," he said.

The medical screening will cover health and developmental histories, physical growth, physical inspection, inspection of the ear, nose, mouth and throat, vision and hearing testing, along with certain other tests for anemia, tuberculosis, lead poisoning, etc. Although the State Health Department has responsibility for conducting the basic screening, the Welfare Department responsibilities lie in different areas. It will be concerned with identifying individuals to be screened (up through five-year-olds at the start), for assisting families in discovering and understanding the screening program, and in assisting families in following recommended referrals, diagnosis and treatment.

In instances where a family does not have or know of a physician or other appropriate practitioner, it is anticipated that a County Medical Society can be of assistance in advising families on obtaining such assistance. Neither agency intend to make referrals to specific physicians.

It is the intent of both agencies to help families understand the health status of their children and to obtain further diagnosis or treatment from appropriate sources when it is needed. Freedom of choice by both families and practitioners is recognized.

The State Health Department screening will be accomplished at clinics already in operation and through other medical facilities and individuals, including mobile units where necessary.

Physicians in practice in local communities throughout the state are the key in providing services which screening indicates the children may need.

The medical program will be the second to be initiated for children in welfare families--those who ordinarily couldn't afford preventive treatment. Also operating within the State Health Department is a dental care program. Both have their separate directors and key staff members but will share centralized administrative, data processing and fiscal programs. Through screening and early diagnosis and treatment, both programs, should have a strong impact on the present and future health of thousands of young Texans.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Legislation to strengthen the open meetings law cleared the House State Affairs Committee promptly and landed as the first bill on the House calendar Monday.

The measure by Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur would delete from present law an exemption for conferences among staff members of a governmental body. It would also remove authority for the governing body to hold closed discussions with its attorney unless ethical obligations of the lawyer are involved.

The bill, backed by Speaker Price Daniel Jr., would further increase the violation penalty to $100-to-$500 fine or imprisonment in county jail for a month to six months, or both.

A measure to guarantee access to public records was detoured to subcommittee.

GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES PROGRAM
New Gov. Dolph Briscoe swept into office last week laying down a wide-ranging program to the Legislature his second day on the job.

Briscoe emphasized the need for cooperation with legislators and other officials and said he intends to be "the most persistent lobbyist" lawmakers will see this year.

One of the Governor's inaugural address and initial legislative message (several supplements are promised to fill in specific details) appeared to impress legislators favorably.

Most criticism centered on Briscoe's get-tough law enforcement program which includes restoring the death penalty for murder of policemen or firemen, legalization of wiretapping as permitted under federal law and admission of oral confessions in cri-

IT'S OUR TOWN

You've probably wondered why we are always beating the drums for local business.

It's simple. This is our town, our community. We have stores, shops, garages, service stations, banks, and individuals offering specialized services because these things are needed by an active, thriving community.

It makes sense that the community prospers through minal trials.

Briscoe's assertion that lowering of first offense marijuana possession penalties to misdemeanor status should await general revision of drug laws also brought some complaints. He planned to present his narcotics law revision to the Legislature this week.

Among the Governor's priority proposals:

Strengthening the lobby registration act and adoption of a new code of ethics, early creation of a constitutional revision commission, pending code revision, laws to curb "fences" of stolen property and give courts power to deny bail to dangerous offenders, requiring convicts to serve more of their sentences before becoming eligible for parole, more emphasis on vocational education and a requirement that spending bills be accompanied with long-range cost estimates.

SENATE RULES ADOPTED

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby easily won his first big test of authority in the senate when rules he favored were adopted 24-6.

One of the most significant rules for Hobby restored his power to appoint all Senate committees. A change adopted last September fixed appointments on the basis of seniority, leaving the lieutenant governor authority only to fill vacancies.

Another alteration in which newspaper executive Hobby had a strong interest will require Senators to vote in open meeting on confirmation of appointments by the governor. They will still debate qualifications and character of appointees in closed sessions unless two-thirds of Senators vote otherwise.

Still another change in the rulebook will make it more difficult to resurrect bills on "minority reports" which have been "killed" in committee earlier. Two-thirds of the Senate must vote to permit substitution of minority reports for majority report of committees. Hobby broke a 15-15 tie in favor of the two-thirds rule.

The Senate rejected amendments to permit shutting off filibusters after 24 hours, to permit Senators to elect their own committees and to throw debate on appointments wide open. They also turned down by a close margin an amendment to retain executive sessions for voting on appointments.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Hobby named veteran Senators to head Senate committees, but he gave vice-chairmanships and sub-committee chairmanships to freshmen. Chairmanship assignments are: Administration--Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon; Economic Development--Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells; Intergovernmental Relations--Sen. Jim Wallace of Houston; Education--Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas; Finance--Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris; Jurisprudence--Sen. Charles Herring of Austin; Human Resources--Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena; State Affairs--Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan; and Natural Resources--Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Briscoe named Mark W. White Jr., 33, a

Houston lawyer, as his Secretary of State, ending wide speculation.

Just before he left office, former Gov. Preston Smith named the new Texas Offshore Terminal Commission to plan a superport. Members are Joe Albritton of Houston, chairman; Floyd L. Dellinger of Sugarland; R. H. Pruett of Baytown; Sherman S. Fricks of Deer Park; George R. Brown of Houston; Pete S. Miller of Galveston; H. H. Reynolds of Beaumont; Cap. William F. Fredeman of Port Arthur and P. Burgess Griesenbeck of Austin.

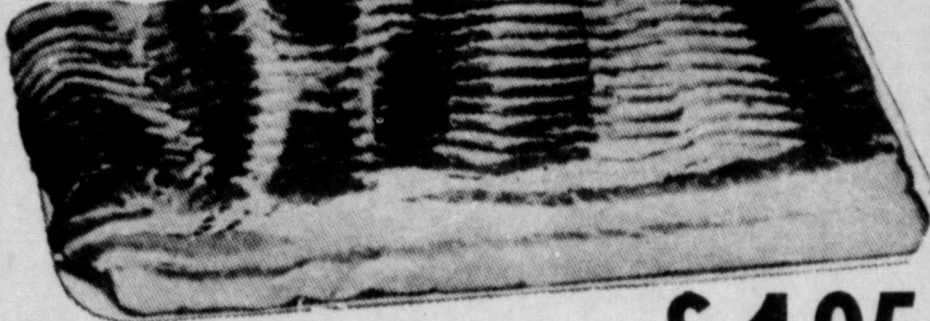

Smith also named V. R.

(Doc) Neuhaus of Mission the North Texas University Board of Regents and Thomas F. Jenkins of Winnie and Frank L. Jennings (reappointment) to the Gulf Coast Water Disposal Authority.

WELFARE LAW COST TOL
New federal Legislation may cost Texas another $60 million in fiscal 1975, a special study committee reported.

"Findings indicate consequences for Texas are of far greater magnitude than those which might be supposed from federal estimates thus far," the committee said. The federal government

Spring Accessories Go Classic

Gloomy winter may be outside, but in accessory showrooms it's bright springtime as designers show their ideas for the new year.

With tailored clothes coming up, classic accessories will go along--creating a touch of drama, according to one authority.

Marilyn Brown, consumer education-clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, viewed the spring look.

Starting from the top down, hats definitely belong in the spring picture.

Fashion leaders have already adopted the stretch jersey turban, and to it they'll add the sharp-brimmed hats, especially cowboy styles.

Along with hats, scarves remain in the spring picture.

Favorite prints come in every possible arrangement of dots and stripes, the specialist observed.

If you're not concerned about the "latest thing" any brightly colored print will work. A major scarf style will be the small cowboy type, tied close around the throat inside the open collar of a shirt-top dress.

Belts also will continue to be important.

In keeping with the classic trend, they're now less overwhelming. About the widest you'll find for spring is four inches, but lesser widths are more common, and the one-inch belt is back.

Leather belts will be well-cut and honestly accented without cut-outs or appliques. Suede, brushed cowhide and grained leathers appear in belts of various widths.

Hardware closings, big plain buckles, top-stitching and gilt rings all accent the tailored look of pants, suits and sportswear.

Good leather is the theme, whether grained, semi-polished, soft suede or glossy patent. Trimming is part of the design, whether in the prints done on suede, the gleaming hardware closings, or the handling of leather in tucked or shirted forms.

Woman's work is never done! A wren whose feeding trips to her youngsters were counted between sunrise and nightfall visited the nest 1217 times.

In Texas dairy cow and heifer numbers remained stable during the four year period while beef cows and heifers increased only about a half million. The average value per head of all cattle in Texas increased from $115 to $155.

The real striking statistic as far as beef cattle are concerned is the growth in the cattle feeding industry in Texas. Cattle feeding jumped 58 percent during the short period from 1969 to 1972.

Of course, this phenomenal growth has put Texas in the driver's seat as the nation's top cattle feeding state.

Beef Picture Still Stable

Beef prices continue steady across the nation despite increased production and increased livestock marketings. The main reason is the increased demand for beef due to the continued growth in the United States population and rising per capita disposable income, says Dr. Edward Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He points that the U.S. population increased by 2.2 million from July 1, 1970 to July 1, 1971 and that per capita disposable income rose 7 percent during that same period from a year earlier.

This has placed all sorts of demand on the only slightly higher total meat production.

Prices for feeder cattle continue up due to good feed grain crops during the past year and the continued expansion of large commercial feedlots in the Texas High Plains and in the Midwest.

Citing figures from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Uvacek notes that cattle numbers have changed relatively little from 1966 to 1970. Beef cows and heifers have increased by about 3.5 million while dairy cows and heifers have decreased by some 3 million. The average value per head of all cattle rose from $133 to $179.

The woman motorist was trying to navigate a traffic jam. She rammed the car in front of her, then tried to back up and knocked down a pedestrian. Then she tried to move over to the curb and ran into a hydrant. A policeman came up. "Okay, lady let's see your license." "Don't be silly," she groaned; "who'd give me a license?"

When You Should Feed The Baby

Almost everyone has heard of baby's "2 o'clock feeding. Forget it--if baby does.

According to a foods and nutrition specialist, the strict feeding times or hours may not have to be followed.

Since a baby will tell his parents when he's hungry, it's sensible to feed him then, Frances L. Reasonover with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, remarked.

Most of today's doctors recommend self-demand feedings for baby. This means the schedule is flexible, but has some regularity.

Generally, on the self-demand schedule baby is fed every three to four hours. At first, however, he may require smaller, more frequent feedings.

Such a schedule allows the child the form his individual feeding pattern, the specialist explained. Handled properly, this makes for a happy, well-nourished baby.

Also, a pleasant association between hunger, food and people will be formed.

Hunger is a basic need for all persons.

If hunger signs are ignored and the baby is required to wait until a scheduled feeding hour, he may feel his parents fail him because they don't satisfy a basic need.

Thus, a barrier between child and parent is formed.

This can be critical since studies show that early experiences with feeding have psychological influences on children in later life.

Taxpayers Face Four Duck Trapping Important Deadlines Project Yields

Four important tax deadlines face taxpayers and employers in Texas during January, W.T. Coppinger, District Director of Internal Revenue Service for North Texas, said today.

Employers are reminded that the deadline to give employees their 1972 W-2 forms is Wednesday, January 31, 1973. The form should show earnings, income tax withheld and Social Security information. January 31 is also the deadline for reporting Social Security and withheld income taxes for the calendar quarter ended December 31, 1972. If employers make timely deposits of the full amount of the tax due, ten additional days are allowed to file the return. The Director said that employers who received a pre-addressed Form 941, "Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return," should use this form to report their tax liability. Other employers can obtain blank copies from their local IRS office.

The last day of January is also the last day to report and pay any balance of Federal Unemployment Tax not over $100.00 for 1972, using Form 940. If the balance of tax due is over $100.00, the employer must make a deposit with FTD Form 508. The full amount of the tax is deposited on time, employers may then file the return no later than February 10, 1973.

Texas farmers and fishermen who did not file a declaration of estimated Federal individual income tax by January 15 may have a tax deadline of March 1, 1973. Mr. Coppinger said that if at least $500 was earned from farming or fishing, and no estimate was filed by January 15, 1973, these taxpayers must file

Ever wonder what would happen if you took a spot while setting out decoys during a duck hunt?

You'd probably go straight to the bottom, wearing chest waders and heavy clothes, right.

Nope, you'd float. A new water safety film produced by the U.S. Army Force in cooperation with Red Cross, now being distributed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, tells you how.

The 11-minute color film entitled "Survival for Sportsmen," demonstrates survival floating positions while engaged in hunting gear and in bathing attire.

"Survival for Sportsmen" is available free of charge to the sportsmen's clubs, schools and other organizations interested in Texas outdoor recreation, wildlife and parks.

An organization may borrow the film and pay only the cost of return transportation.

Booking requests should be mailed to: Film Library, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Telephone bookings may be made by calling Area Code 512, 475-4409.

The Parks and Wildlife Department also has a new film catalog listing 33 other films available to the public.

Forced Handwriting

During a holdup at a gas station, the robber handed the manager a threatening note. Some months later, when a suspect was brought to trial for the crime, he was asked to make a sample of his penmanship for purposes of comparison.
But he flatly refused to do so.
He invoked his constitutional protection under the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination.
Nevertheless, the court ruled that he would have to make the sample or face punishment for contempt. The court said handwriting is not a form of testimony
but a neutral, objective fact.

"The constitutional privilege," said the court, "does not protect a man from being compelled to stand up, sit down, walk, speak, or submit to photographing or fingerprinting."

Almost always, courts have ruled this way when an accused person is reluctant to demonstrate his handwriting. In fact, he may even be called upon to write in an unnatural style if that will help clear up the case. Thus:

The defendant in a forgery trial was requested to write something with a backward slant, since the document in question had been written that way.

Again, the court said he would have to comply. The court reminded him that the odd style of writing would be especially helpful in exonerating him if he was truly innocent.

Still, a defendant might properly object to the content, rather than the form, of the writing.
In another case, involving fake claims against the government, the defendant was asked to write down the specific names that had been used in the falsified papers.

This time, when he refused,
the court decided he was justified. The court said that by complying with the request, he might be tying himself directly into the crime.

Compelling him to do so, added
the judge, would be "an infringement upon the spirit" of the constitutional privilege.

COTTON HARVEST

1108 bales of cotton have been ginned as of Tuesday, January 24th. Two more weeks of pretty weather will finish cotton and milo harvest. Combines are running full speed on the High Plains.
No doubt the 1972 crop harvesting dates will set a record. As one fellow put it "I hope I get my 1972 milo harvested in time to plant the 1973 crop."

CATTLE PRICE

You have seen the fat cattle price rise to $42.50 we predicted earlier. We think you will soon see the top out if it hasn't already come.

Now you are about to see light weight stocker calves hit an all-time high. I have before me a price list from an eastern order buyer. Prices run like this: 200 lb. choice.
Hereford and Angus steer and bull calves - $62.00 per cwt.
That is $186.00 per head before freight and other charges
This would make this little calf cost you around $190.00 delivered.

400 lb. choice Okie steer and bull calves are priced at $55.00 per cwt.

500 lb. steer and bull calves were listed at $52.50.
I was told some 600 lb.
steer brought up to $52.00
in Amarillo last Monday.

Last week I heard the prediction from a person that has been engaged in the cattle business for a number of years, "light weight calves will go to one dollar a pound
This might not come within the next year but I think sometime before three years roll around the prediction will prove correct.

I'm told steers can be contracted for spring delivery for $50.00 per cwt. in the 600-650 lb. weight range.
Consumer resistance to beef prices and government price controls could change the picture for a short run period
Any temporary price fixing is more likely to dry beef supplies over the long run.
LAYOUT LAND

In the McLean vicinity
we have thousands of acres that have been returned to grass over the last 25 years.
A lot of this land was subject to severe wind and water erosion before it was returned.

Recently I've heard talk of some farmers that plan to break out some of this land and return to milo or wheat.
It takes many years some time to regrass an old field
to a good stand of grass.
Cattle have for many years been much higher than most of the grains or cotton. I'd think twice before I stuck a plan in much of the beautiful stands of grass in this area. I've heard a lot of people say, "This place is now back in grass the way it should always have been."

Wish I'd Said THAT

There's no heavier burden
than a great potential.—

Texas Still Cotton King... Weather and Agriculture... Milk Production Is Down But Also Shows Gain... Planting Dates Set.

Texas will produce almost one-third of the total cotton grown in the nation during 1972. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that upland cotton production in the state during 1972 is now estimated at 4,050,000 bales. Nationwide, the total for 1972 is now estimated at 13,472,500 bales.

For Texas, production in 1972 is almost double that of 1971. Yield per acre for 1972 is set at 377 pounds per acre compared with 263 pounds in 1971. Harvested acres are expected to total 5,150,000 compared with 4,700,000 acres in 1971.

The southern High Plains-crop reporting district 1-S-is expected to produce 1,700,000 bales for 1972, or almost 400,000 more bales than the previous season. The Blacklands-district four-is in second place with an expected production of 475,000 bales compared with 356,000 bales the previous season.

Weather of recent days and weeks has delayed harvest on the High Plains. But even so, more than 80 per cent of the crop has been gathered compared to only about two-thirds completion a year ago.

Production of American-Pima cotton in Texas is expected to reach 31,000 bales compared with 35,300 bales in 1971. Yield is expected to average 431 pounds of lint per acre compared with 478 pounds in 1971. Harvest of the crop is virtually complete.

FULL effects of the worst snow storm in Texas in 100 years which occurred recently are still not known regarding agriculture. But losses will be heavy. The oat crop, which had been showing some improvement, suffered from the ice and snow. Citrus harvest has been hampered by the cold wather. Rainy weather halted harvest of cabbage and carrots.

In the coastal bend, spinach harvest is at hand.
Vegetable growers in Central Texas are preparing land and applying fertilizer when field conditions permit.

Wheat seeding for the state is complete, and wheat grazing has been restricted due to wet fields. Soybean, grain sorghum, and pecan harvesting are all virtually completed.

The cold, wet weather has been hard on livestock throughout the state. Supplemental protein feeding and haying is widespread over the state.

MILK production in Texas during December was four per cent below a year earlier, but still two per cent above the previous month's production.

Milk production per cow kept for milk averaged 730 pounds per cow during December, which is 30 pounds below a year earlier but 15 pounds above the previous month. Nationwide, milk production during December was virtually unchanged from a year ago. Milk cows on farms during December totaled 12,127,000, a one per cent decline from a year earlier.

PLANTING dates for cotton in the Rio Grande Valley have been announced. Cotton planting can begin as early as Feb. 15 in these counties: Bee, Aransas, Brooks, Duval, Jim Hogg, Jim Wells, Kenedy, Kleberg, Nueces,
Webb, Zapata and portions of Hidalgo and Starr counties.

Cotton must be planted by April 20 in those counties.
The planting dates are a part of the regulations relating to control of the pink bollworm for the state of Texas.

Pheasant Hunters Have Limited Success

The pheasants were there, almost twice as many as last year, but foul weather and heavy ground cover kept them out of game bags.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Biologist Jim Dillard tallied only 2,000 birds during a nine-day Panhandle hunt Dec. 9-17. One out of every three hunters got a pheasant.

Snow, sleet, rain and fog kept farmers from harvesting grain sorghum and afforded pheasant plenty of cover.

Dillard said 63 percent of bagged pheasants were young-of-the-year birds.

Unusual Bird Important

Hybrid ducks are rarities in the wild but Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have come up with one of the unusual crosses.

Biologists are currently involved in a winter-long trapping and banding projects on Lake Proctor near Comanche.

The department men had banded 382 mallards and the 383rd proved to be the product of a mixed marriage.

The beautifully marked drake was a cross between a mallard and a pintail.

Department biologists say that chances are slim for interbreeding in the wild. The mallard is the duck most often involved in feathered miscegenation.

Hybrids are usually sterile and male.

Lake Proctor is in a peanut-producing area and annually attracts 30,000 to 60,000 mallards.

Tall Fescue Grass Presents Bright Future For Farmers

Kentucky 31, Tall fescue has a bright future for Gray County farmers and ranchers, states Rodney Hyatt, soil conservationist.

Management is just as important on grassland as on cropland. Tall fescue grass for Gray county, should be planted only on irrigated or sub-irrigated land, from late summer to fall, reports Hyatt. Water requirements are essentially the same as for grain sorghum.

Under a high level of management, fescue pasture can provide a home for approximately one animal unit per acre for nine (9) months a year. According to Hyatt, the dormant period can be during the summer or winter months, depending on climatic conditions. Having several small pastures is a must for maximum return. This will enable the producer to set up a rotational grazing system, allowing periods for irrigating, drying out, and grazing.

Bonus benefits offered from tall fescue grass are increased soil protection on steeper irrigated land, and reduced cost of establishing wheat pasture, since it is a perennial crop.

Letter To The Editor

(Editor's Note: The following letter was received by Mr. George Saunders Chairman of the McLean Library Board in regard to the retirement of Mr. Guy Beasley.)

Dear Mr. Beasley:

We were so sorry to hear of your resignation effective January 31. I, particularly, have enjoyed our association over the years and have always held you up to the other area librarians as a good example of a librarian who always placed patron service above everything. Please accept our best wishes for a happy and profitable retirement.

Your Friend,
Mrs. Elizabeth Crabb
Extension Coordinator

Some people do fine without the Payroll Savings Plan

It depends on your dreams. If all they need to come true is a dime here and a quarter there, you'll do fine with a sturdy piggy bank.

But if you've got some bigger plans, like a vacation, college tuition for the kids, or a new car, you need something more.

You need a savings program that delivers steady growth and healthy interest.

You need the Payroll Savings Plan. Just sign up for it at work. Then an amount you specify is automatically set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

You can use your take-home pay for daily expenses. And at the same time you'll be building funds for the future.

U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. For people with big dreams.
