Nan Wiginton Is 1973 Betty Crocker Homemaker

Lou N. Wiginton has been named McLean High School's 1973 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow. Chosen on the basis of scores in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to high school seniors here and throughout the country last Dec. 5, she will receive a specially designed award from General Mills, sponsor of the annual Betty Crocker Search for American Homemakers of Tomorrow. In addition, she remains eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemakers of Tomorrow, to be selected from all school winners in the state in judging centering on results of the Dec. 5 test, will receive a $1,500 college scholarship. A 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," will also be presented to the state's winner school by Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corporation. The second-ranking student in the state will receive a $500 scholarship.

In late April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia--each accompanied by a faculty advisor--will gather in Washington, D.C., for an expense-paid educational tour of the capital city and Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Personal observation and interviews during the tour will be added to state-level judging results in the selections, to be announced at a dinner in Williamsburg, of the 1973 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and three runners-up. Scholarships of the four national winners will be increased to $5,000, $4,000, and $3,000, and $2,000.

Instituted in last year's Betty Crocker Search, a $1,000 Nutrition Scholarship is also part of the program again this year. Recipient of this award will be participating student who plans a college major in nutrition or a related field, ranks among the highest in his or her state on the overall examination and, from those meeting these two criteria, achieved in the top score on the exam's nutrition questions.

Science Research Associates Chicago, constructed and grades the written examination, and is responsible for all judging and selection of winners.

A total of 665,600 seniors were enrolled in this year's Search, the first in which boys were eligible to participate. Approximately nine million students have taken part in the program since its inception in the 1954-55 school year, and with this year's grants, total scholarship awards will exceed $2 million.

Regarding the inclusion of boys in the program, General (Continued on Page 8)

Check Forms Closely, IRS Officials Say

Officials of the Internal Revenue Service have cautioned taxpayers not to overlook the revenue sharing portion on the federal income tax forms this year.

The revenue sharing section, which is new on the 1972 tax forms, will help the federal government determine proper distribution of tax dollars shared with state and local governments.

The two-line section asks each taxpayer to identify precisely his residence on Dec. 31, 1972, and to indicate how many other persons, not covered on other tax returns, should also be counted at that address.

The information in the section will aid the federal government in determining how many people live in each state, county, city or township. Such population counts are necessary in apportioning revenue sharing funds.

The revenue sharing sections are lines 26-27 on the 1040A short form and 33-34 on the regular 1040 form.

IRS officials reminded taxpayers that their local governmental agencies cannot receive their just shares of the federal funds unless accurate information is provided on the income tax returns.

Tax laws provide, furthermore, that a penalty of $5 may be charged for failure to furnish the information requested in the revenue sharing section of the tax return.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

First formal step toward rewriting the patchwork 1876 Texas Constitution was finally approved by the Legislature and Gov. Dolph Briscoe late this week.

Briscoe lost no time in signing into law legislation authorizing appointment of a 37-member Constitutional Revision Commission when both houses finally agreed on terms.

The Commission, which will study the constitution and make recommendations to the legislature when it convenes as a constitutional convention next year, will go to work within 14 days after it is named. It has only until November 1 to complete its hearings, study and report to lawmakers.

Under the legislation, Briscoe will serve as chairman of the six-member selection committee to pick the study commission. Other selection committee members are Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Atty. Gen. John Hill, House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., Supreme Court Chief Justice Joe Greenhill and Court of Criminal Appeals Presiding Judge John Onion Jr.

Legislators served notice they want the Commission to be fairly equitably representative of sexes, ethnic, social and economic groups and geographic regions.

Recommendations for membership already are pouring in from interest groups.

A majority vote of the House (76 members minimum) and Senate (at least 16) could reject the selection committee's choices of a commission slate.

A controversial provision of the legislation permits the selection panel to meet in secret (by majority vote) to consider its appointments--after first holding an open session and later meeting publicly for final, formal action.

SHIELD, LOBBY BILLS ADVANCE

The proposed "free flow of information law" to protect newsmen from forced disclosure of their confidential sources of information to investigative bodies was passed the House with only a handful of dissenting votes.

At the same time, the House passed (with just 25 dissenting votes) a tough lobby control bill. Both measures are part of the reform package of Speaker Daniel who also backed amendments to the open meetings law and a measure to ease access to governmental documents in the public interest.

Sponsors of the shield law fought off five amendments to weaken protection against source disclosure.

The lobby control act, to be administered by a 12-member ethics commission, would require reports of lobbyists' activities, including gifts or loans of more than $50 in any month of a legislative session to legislators.

Both measures now advance to the Senate, where a somewhat less-enthusiastic reception is anticipated.

TEEN-AGERS ON JURIES

Under legislation approved by the House without debate, 18-year-olds can serve on all juries.

Representatives further passed a bill to extend until 1975-76 the deadline for school districts to go on the quarter basis.

Another bill advanced by the House to the Senate would make the school district fiscal year conform with the July 1-June 30 federal fiscal year timetable.

COURTS SPEAK

A Fort Bend County man won reversal of a 35-year sentence for robbery by firearms when the Court of Criminal Appeals held a guilty plea is invalid unless the defendant is advised of consequences of the plea.

State Supreme Court denied a writ of Habeas corpus to a Temple man who was jailed after he refused to produce 47 magazines in an obscenity case in which he had been convicted earlier.

A Jefferson County murder conviction was also thrown out by the Court of Criminal Appeals because the defendant was not advised of consequences of pleading "no contest."

ETHICS CONFERENCE CALLED Lt. Governor Hobby will invite about 150 representative Texans to discuss governmental ethics during a conference here last next month.

The Lieutenant Governor nor indicated he wants advice on what legislation to create a state code of ethics should contain. An ethics bill already has been the source of controversy in a House Committee.

AG OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. John Hill advised Governor Briscoe the state cannot intervene to prevent abortion during the first three months of pregnancy. Only during the last three months of pregnancy is state regulation possible under a January 23 U.S. Supreme Court decision, Hill wrote.

In another recent opinion, the Attorney General held that requirements for membership on the Texas Board of Examiners in the Fitting and Dispensing of Hearing Aids include a provision that one member be a licensed physician or surgeon specializing in otolaryngology and another be a trained audiologist--both actively practicing.

AIR'S CLEANER NOW

According to the Texas Air Control Board, air pollution has abated a bit.

Samplings over a two-year period indicated a slight improvement, a Board report maintained.

The Board further claimed its program of permitting polluters additional time to permitted at any time.

This is still true-except:
a producer who obtains prior approval may graze or hay
his set-aside acres by taking a reduction in payment. The reduction is based on the established yield on the farm and will amount to somewhere around 30% of the payment
on the acres grazed or hayed.

A. S. C. S. News By Evelyn Mason

We were saddened at the sudden death of Amos Harris on February 5. Mr. Harris had worked part time in this office for around 30 years.
Earlier he measured crops as a reporter, and then he became the performance supervisor in July of 1960. In this position, he was the overseer
for all the other reporters
measuring crops in the country.

He continued in this capacity until his death. In recent years, he did all the field work for the county, and worked at the counter in the office during signup and cer-tification periods. He was in the office most of last week
studying the current program
to be ready for signup on Feb.
5.

His loss will be felt by all the farmers in the county and the office personel. He has visited every farm in the county many times.

PROGRAM CHANGES:
A recent change was made in the feed grain program.
A producer can set aside 25%
of his base (this was originally 30%), received his payment, and will not have a limit on harvested acres of feed grain.
Under the other option, he can set-aside ZERO acres (originally this was 15%), receive a lesser payment, and will have a permitted acres of feed grain for harvest. The permitted acres will be limited to the 1972 feed grain acres for harvest.

News From ALAN REED

By W. L. Keller

The Alanreed Study Club met Thursday in the home of Grace Windom with Viola Glass, co-hostess. Motif of the meeting was St. Valentine's Day being carried out in decoration, valentines and refreshments. President Barbara Hambright officiated over the business session. Viola Glass interestingly reviewed the origination of St. Valentine's Day. Members answered roll call with nostalgic recall of past Valentines. Romantic organ music, played by Grace Windom, group singing by "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" and the wearing of long dresses lent a note of romance to the occasion. Those enjoying the meeting were members, Marjorie Fish, Barbara Hambright, Iona Glass, Ada Simmons, Lucy Goldston, and Nola Crisp, guests: Gayle and Robin Rohde, Sue Crisp, Mrs. Oscar Tibbetts, Imogene Glass, Jerry Ware, Mozelle Hall, Lucille Keller and Hostesses Grace Windom and Viola Glass.

A banquet honoring the Alanreed School's basketball teams was hosted by the P. T. O. Friday night.

Master of ceremonies, Eddy Finley opened the ceremony with Robert Bruce leading the invocation. Ham, salads, beans, drinks and pie compiled the banquet dinner, serving the cafeteria capacity of guests. Teachers, officials and team captains presided at the headtable. President, Beverly Fulton, extended a welcome to parents and guests, with Tommy Crupe, Longhorn Captain, responding. Verna Tidwell, Longhornette's Captain, rendered a thank you to teachers and parents.

Coach, Eddy Finley, made the presentation of lettered jackets to Longhornettes: Captain, Verna Tidwell, Becky Sanders, Donna Willis, Rhonda Alley, Lynda Daniels, Kara Daniels, Susame Bradley, and Kim Sanders. Longhorns; captain Tommy Crupe, Dusty Sanders, James Tidwell, James Daniels, Theron Stubbs, Benny West, Brett Simmons, Donald Bradley, Melvin Willis, and manager Gary Crupe. Best Sportsman award went to Tommy Crupe, Most Valuable Girl's player to Verna Tidwell and Most Valuable Boy's Player to Dusty Sanders. Honorary jackets and awards were presented Mrs. Lawrence Hauck, Most Valuable Player, Mrs. Don Sanders, Best Sportsman, and Eddy Finley, Coach. Referees of the season were Mr. Don Sanders, Mr. Turk Alley, and Mr. Jerry Fulton. Gifts of appreciation went to Granville Simmons and Elmer Daniels, bus drivers. Closing thoughts were rendered by Eddy Finley and the benediction by Warner Phillips. Needless to say, Alanreed is proud of its mini basketball teams.

Mr. Josh Foshee was released from the McLean Hospital last week.

Polly Harrison returned from an extended visit with her parents. She reports their health somewhat improved.

Lawrence Hauck was released from the hospital last week following an operation. Mrs. Hauck was eagerly greeted upon her return to her job of teaching.

Attendance was low at Alanreed Baptist Church Sunday. Rev. Smith issued a plea for more members to make a greater effort to increase attendance.

Congratulations to Betty Simmons. An avid member of Weight Watchers, she now sports four diamonds in her weight watchers goal pin after successfully losing fifty-six pounds. Betty may be our next Weight Watchers lecturer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crisp visited the Phillip Gibsons Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Goldston and sons of Memphis, visited his parents, the L. T. Goldstons Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Ruby Hill returned home from Oklahoma City Tuesday night following the death of her sister, Mrs. Ollie Rodgers, whom she had been visiting in the rest home there. Mrs. Rodgers was buried Tuesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis returned from Amarillo Saturday where they had been the past four weeks visiting their son and caring for the grandchildren while their daughter-in-law was hospitalized. Mr. and Mrs. Garden Staff and Mrs. Turbush from Groom visited the Davis home Sunday.

Children Learn By Doing

Learning comes through doing, because the true adventure is the doing—not the end result, according to one specialist.

Jane Fleischer, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, cited nine essentials a child needs to know to feel secure, safe and loved.

--Trust in the world. Would you take the word of someone you didn't trust? the specialist queried. Of course not, and neither will a child. However, once he feels secure, he's ready to receive new knowledge.

--His own body. A person's own body is his most important possession.

Learning about his body through various experiences, such as the names for body parts, many opportunities for vigorous use of muscles, and dancing five a child assures about his body along with practice in controlling movements.

--Familiar objects. Children need many different experiences to become familiar with objects around them.

For example, they learn a big block is better at the bottom of a tower, or you can't dig tunnels in dry sand.

Such odd bits of knowledge are the stuff thinking is made of. The larger a child's stock of information, the more detailed his map of his environment and the clearer his thinking.

--People. A wide knowledge of objects is useless if a child doesn't understand his relationship to people around him.

He needs to file away all sorts of information about what to call certain people, how they relate to him, what they do for him and what he's expected to do for them.

--Time. While taking every opportunity to introduce words and ideas of time, the parent must keep in mind that young children are just

Squirrels Have Peer Problem

Squirrels, like men, struggle for dominance among their associates.

In a recent field study, small groups of squirrels were confined in pens for long periods. "Conspicuous in each pen," said wildlife biologist Bill Wright, "was the rigorous peck-order relationship maintained by each group.

Extreme contesting for leadership followed initial penning out once this hierarchy became established, it was the way of life in the pen. The dominant squirrel and his favored associates rigidly controlled use of food, perches and nest boxes.

In some pens, individual squirrels were so completely rejected that they apparently died from the resulting frustrations. Autopsy of these revealed severe emaciation from lack of food and organ malfunction.

Wright pointed out that this social relationship would be a factor in controlling out-in-the-wild squirrel population levels irrespective of habitat conditions.

While the peck-order process seems extremely cruel, it is nature's way of selecting the best mentally and physically equipped individuals to survive.

Poorly equipped individuals are eliminated to prevent their genes from weakening the population.

Visitors in the E. M. Bailey home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Bailey and Allen of Plainview.

beginning to understand it. A child may know today but still be confused that tomorrow--when it comes--is also today.

--Realistic fear. Fear is born in us to alert us to danger.

Sensible fear is nothing to be ashamed of. Children's fears often grow out of their limited experience. A parent can help a child handle the fears by encouraging him to talk about them.

--How to handle anger. Anger is a natural emotion, too. Like fear, it needs control and direction.

--How to cope with frustration. Every child faces many frustrations each day.

A child beginning to cope with frustration is a child who understands the need for waiting, who willingly accepts substitutes, and who can do so many interesting things that he doesn't rely on one activity to make him happy.

--How to be responsible. Work that is appreciated becomes fun. Even routine chores are bearable if a person can approach responsibilities in a positive way.

The time to develop this attitude toward work is when a child is young and naturally wants to do grown-up jobs.

Beehive

Tier upon tier, window by window, modern apartment and office buildings are like human beehives. The people who live and work in them are often as busy as bees, too. Each day rushes by, each hour is filled, and when morning comes, it starts all over again.

Monotonous? Well, sometimes it is both monotonous and discouraging to live and work in a beehive. It seems as if you're just a drone, as if individuality has flown out the window. But is this true?

Whether you live in a palace or a penthouse, a hut or a one-room efficiency, you are you. Your uniqueness is your God-given gift. Your potential to be different, your capacity for accomplishment, is infinite.

If you've lost sight of that fact, you've been forgetting something — like going to church, maybe?

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the Volunteer

 wonderful people of the Mc-Lean and Alanreed area who helped in any way when my home and belonging were destroyed by fire and also for the cards, visits, prayers

 in the hospital.
 Your kindness will always be remembered.
 To those who have helped me since my release from the hospital, I want you to know I appreciate everything
 you are doing.

Mr. John Foshee, who was seriously ill in McLean hos-

 goods and clothing destroyed
 by fire.

He has been recently released from the hospital and is staying at the Hindman

Are You Watching
 Your Weight?

With a bit of imagination
 and a dash of color, Texas seafoods offer the dieter an ocean of low-calorie variety.
 Cindy Gray, home economist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, says
 the possibilities are endless
 for light lunches, satisfying
 suppers, and sensible snacks.
 Seafood also offers a high-
 protein way to start the day.
 To stay with a diet until you reach a goal, you need foods that give a sense of satisfaction as well as nourishment. Fish and shellfish give you both vitality and a wonderful, well-fed feeling because in addition to being high in protein, they are 85 to 95 percent digestible and rich in energy-giving vitamin and minerals.

Here's a recipe which will help you stay slim with seafood. Other recipes for diet-ers are contained in a brochure, "Stay Slim With Sea-

 Big Success

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the whole-hearted support we received for the Jubilee Saturday night, which 530 persons attended.

Our thanks to; Boyd Meador
 and the City of McLean, Sam
 Gayton and the school system,
 Mrs. Jean Bohlar and the Band Boosters who sponsored the show.

It takes much individual effort and cooperation to make a Jubilee a success, and Saturday's Jubilee was most successful. The advertising and communication was great. The entertainers were made to feel more than welcome by both the Greeting Committee and the overly enthusiastic and responsive audience.

Thanks for the support of all the entertainers. We wish to thank each of them personally-our local people as well as the many who drove in from all over the area.

We especially want to express our appreciation to Mr.
 and Mrs. Bailey and the Mc-

 publicity program.

Thanks for all the encour-

An annual problem for the average rifle hunter is that of sighting in his gun. It's an essential art that must be done before the season actually starts if hunting is to be successful.
 Most men feel they are just too busy to take an extra hour off and go to the rifle range to fire a few rounds.

It is fortunate for them that most guns hold their zero pretty well from one year to the next. And also that ammunition has become so nearly perfect that the bullet impact usually is retained.

But this good luck factor doesn't happen all the time. Neither does it happen for the man who just borrows a friend's gun and spends a couple hundred dollars for a lease and inci-dentals, only to miss the biggest buck he's ever seen. (That's always the case when you miss a buck. It's never a little one.)

True it is more difficult today to find a place for sighting in rifles than at any other time in history. You just can't go out and find an old gravel pit or crawl over a farmer's fence.
 But fortunately, there are enough shooting ranges where you can sight in the big bore for a dollar or two. If your gun is in proper form, two or three shots will do it. But if your scope has gotten knocked out of position, then you may shoot up a half-box of ammo before correcting the aim. But what is that compared to what you pay for a place to hunt?

Today's guns, especially those with scopes, are extremely accurate. They just need to be sighted in.

There's a good rule of thumb for sighting in a high-powered rifle. In fact, it works on all rifles.

If it's a .22 long-rifle hi-speed, zero it in at 25 yards. It will hit 1/2 inch high at 50 yards, but drops 4 inches low at 100. At 150 yards it is 16 inches low.

Now move up to the 222 Remington
 Magnum or the 223 Rem—lightest calibers that should be used on Texas'
 white tailed deer. This cartridge shoots 1/4 inch low at 25 yards. At 50 it is 1/2 inch high. At 100 yards it is 1 1/2 inches high and the same at 200 yards.

The popular .243 will zero at 25; it is 3/4 inch high at 50; 2 inches high at 100 and drops to 1/2 inch high at 200.

That popular .308 Winchester zeroes at 25; is 1 inch up to 50 and back to 1/2 inch at 200.

The old .30-30 zeroes in 1/4 inch low at 25; 1 1/4 inches high at 50 and 2 inches high at 150, but drops to 2 1/2 inches low at 200.

These are just a few figures to indicate what you can expect of your gun, if you hold it right and it shoots
 a consistent grouping. Lots of guns today still group shot after shot in the X ring, if held right.

This is one thing that adds up to more successful hunts, more kills and fewer cripples. With a good scope and any of the popular calibers, it is almost impossible to not make a killing shot on a deer up to 200 yards. Impact will be within an inch or two of where you aim, if you aim right and don't jerk it off by pulling rather than squeezing the trigger.

So, if you want to be sure, take the old smoke-piece out to the range and test it with a few shots. It will pay off by better shooting in the field.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

1597 bales of cotton have been weighed across the scales at the McLean Ginn as of Tuesday, February 13. About 200 more are expected. The cotton is coming from as far as Groom and Pampa.

According to unconfirmed reports, Bryan McPherson says it looks like he will get a good stand of cotton where he is planting while harvesting.

FARM PRICE
We are not predicting that farm prices will always be as favorable as they are at present because we have seen too many years in the past when farm prices were on the rocks because of over production. However, we think one very important thing is taking place that all farm and ranch people should be aware of. We are moving from a surplus era that has plagued several generations to one of surpluses.

We have mentioned this from time to time over the past few years but today few Americans realize what is taking place. This is not to say we will not have periods of over production. I'm sure we will but I can't see any extended period of over production that results in disastrous prices for long periods of time. Livestock products are not likely to ever drop into the twenty dollar bracket like we saw just a short decade ago. Poultry products are high; so is pork. I talked with a commercial swine producer today that predicted forty cent hogs this fall. He said many producers were curtailing production because of high feed price. This is especially true of protein supplement. Cattle people are talking much the same story. High priced feed creates high priced meat.

Today only four and one-half percent of the American people are engaged in the production phase of agriculture. We have now stretched our farm labor so thin it is showing up in production. Yields per acre has leveled off on a flat plane. Hybrid varieties and learning to fertilize and chemicals properly gave big increases in yields. Something new will have to be discovered today to materially affect yields. Environmentalists are having their day. They are being successful in blocking the use of many excellent chemicals that have substantially added to production. Banning the use of stilbistrol is a good example.

Prices of wheat, corn and milo will be affected substantially by the outcome of future trading with foreign nations, especially Russia and China.

Most other agricultural products will be affected in price by the level of economic activity of this nation.

We are optimistic on price now why doesn't someone do something about the weather.

Major appliance manufacturing topped all previous totals for the 12th straight year, a record 31,199,000 units in 1972.

Contract for Lifetime Care

"You get everything I own. In return, I get complete care for the rest of my life."

In effect, this was the agreement that an elderly widower made with a retirement home. And when he died a few years later, the management put in a claim for his remaining assets.

However, the man's relatives went to court with an objection. "This was gambling, pure and simple," they argued. "No one knew how many years he would live. No one knew how much property he would have when he died. And gambling contracts are illegal."

But the court saw nothing illegal about the contract. Finding it no more of a gamble than an insurance policy, the court said the law had no objection so long as both parties understood they were doing. In most cases, contracts for lifetime care have been as lawful and reasonable as say they serve a useful purpose for those who want the security of a safe haven in their old years.

Nor does the contract become invalid just because it is to work out better for one than the other.

In one case, a retiree got a financial windfall from a relatively young resident paying a large membership fee. He died within a few months.

In another case, a retiree home tried to back out of a contract after paying hospital expenses for an ailing resident more than four years.

But in both cases, despite complaints, the courts ruled the deal was a deal and had to be carried out.

Still, a contract might be invalidated by deception. A retirement home carefully telling an incoming resident he was signing over all property.

In this case, after he died, his property was held long to his children, not home. The court said it would not fairly enforce an agreement on which there was no "meeting of the minds."

Mrs. Luther Petty accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. (Buck) Hill to Amarillo Sunday and she spent the day with her daughter and her band, Mr. and Mrs. M. Billingsley.

Your income tax refund is ready-made savings—ready to be tucked away as a nice lump-sum payment on tomorrow.

It's probably what you've had in mind all along, isn't it? Getting this far without missing the money, and then making sort of a giant step toward whatever it is you're saving for.
