McLean To Have Adult Vocational Training Class

Enrollment can begin now through Monday morning, March 12. Classes will actually begin the week of March 26th and end the week of May 14th. The courses may be a 24-hour course, 3 hours a night, one night per week or 48-hour courses, 3 hours a night, two nights per week.

Types of classes will include typing. These type classes must have a minimum enrollment of 15.

The qualifications for participation are that you must be 19 years old or over. Persons 18 years old may enroll if they meet certain requirements; but no one under 18 years of age are eligible.

MARKET REPORT

Fryer chickens remain a bargain in comparison with other high-protein food-- although chicken prices increased in recent weeks. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, also listed eggs as an economical protein choice with large-size eggs the better bargain. She cited lower pork supplies for this time of year as the reason for price boosts in that market section. Some markets are spotlighting a wide variety of choice ham selections, including center ham slices-- which usually represent a good menu choice. Scattered features are available on beef, as this is the time of year when steaks are in less demand. Chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef and liver generally make the most economical choices. In evaluating chuck cuts, remember the tender blade roast provides less edible meat per pound, so figure only two servings per pound from it and three from the round bone roasts. Turning to vegetables, the specialist named root vegetables as most plentiful--carrots, turnips, potatoes and dry, yellow onions.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

"Future financing of public schools in Texas is the most talked about, the least understood, problem in the state today," Sen. Pete Snelson told the West Texas Press Association at their winter meeting in Midland.

"The courts have said that the wealth of a school district cannot be the criteria for future financing," he explained. "And all future school financing in the state is affected by the court suit on the Edgewood district of San Antonio. Public school financing has been challenged in the court in 30 states."

He compared Edgewood with Odessa's school district. Odessa has 24,984 pupils, 1,119 teachers with a starting salary of $7,445. Edgewood has 22,134 students, 805 teachers with a starting salary of $6,000. This is not the "equality" promised under the 14th amendment, the courts have ruled--and the U.S. Supreme Court is looking at the appeals on this and other state cases.

The U.S. Supreme Court decision will write the next public school financing formulas in Texas, Snelson added, which might force a special session of the Texas Legislature, after this 63rd regular session had adjourned.

He speculated on the future of school districts--pointing out that ideas have ranged from a "statewide school district" to more "consolidations of school districts"--unitizing all districts in counties and state wide "property assessment at true market value."

Snelson, vice-chairman of the Senate Education Committee, quoted an El Paso newspaper clipping which said: "We are watching the demise of public education in Texas."

"The wealth of Texas as a whole will determine our future laws on public education," Snelson concluded--and asked these questions:

"What will be the effect on the state tax structure? What will it do to consolidation of 1,100 school districts?" and "Will there be room for local enrichment programs?"

LEGISLATORS HAVE UNTIL THE END OF THE WEEK TO LODGE THEIR OBJECTIONS TO THE 37-MEMBER TEXAS CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION COMMISSION SELECTED BY THE STATE'S TOP SIX OFFICIALS.

In order to reject the slate, a majority of both houses would have to signify their objections with the Secretary of State. Apparently, a relatively small number of objections will be lodged, although complaints on equality of the representation on the Commission were lodged by blacks, Republicans, women, youth and a West Texan. Mexican-Americans were also among signers of the objection petition.

Former state Supreme Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert was named chairman of the Commission which must report its recommendations to the Legislature by November. Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin, former Republican state vice-chairman, is Commission vice chairman. The Legislature will sit as a constitutional convention next year, using the commission's work as its starting point.

The Commission includes four Republicans, four women, three blacks and three Mexican-Americans. Neither group was satisfied with its numerical representation, although individuals named by the selection committee generally drew commendation.

Calvert is expected to call the group together soon after the Legislature's "veto period" expires. Members were warned they may as well be prepared to block off at least half their time for the next year to the re-

SALES TAX RECOMMENDATIONS

Tens of millions of dollars in sales tax collections are not finding their way into the state treasury, a Senate committee reported last week.

Former Sen. Joe Christie said the final report of the interim committee to study the sales tax reveals "glaring deficiencies in the way sales taxes now are collected."

Christie said the report is not meant as an attack on the office of the comptroller, the state's chief tax collector, but as an effort to suggest better and more efficient ways to get maximum yield out of the lucration, the state lost at least $18.2 million in 1971 due to faulty administration of the levy.

Committee members offered these recommendations: Employment of more auditors to monitor payments by business firms to the state. Authority for cities to pursue in the courts collec-reports' recommendations in the Senate. The report charged Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has "pursued a policy which encourages sales tax delinquency" and has refused to demand adequate assurance of payment from new and consistently-delinquent taxpayers.

The proposed bonding requirement passed the House last week but failed to clear the Senate. AG OPINIONS Atty. Gen. John Hill held two bills to reinstate the death penalty for murder would be unconstitutional if enacted. In other recent opinions, Hill concluded" Financier requirements of a proposed state officials' code of ethics are constitutional, although there are some "problem areas" with the bill. The Legislature's extending the Governor's committee on Human Relations beyond Feb. 1 is valid, even though

The State Supreme Court upheld lower court rulings that former Crystal City School Superintendent John Briggs was due a $21,000 contract settlement due to removal from duties in 1970.

The High Court also said a Houston hotel is responsible for loss of a purse customer left in the restaurant.

WELFARE BUDGET QUESTIONED Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby asked

additional data from the Welfare Department to justify its case for major budget increases.

Hobby complained the department is asking for 2,851 new staff positions at a time when the federal government will take over cost of public assistance payments to some 275,000 aged blind and disabled. While more Texans may qualify for state Medicaid coverage under the new federal provisions, Hobby said, he is not convinced the number of recipients of the medical care will be doubled as estimated by the Welfare Department.

Texas Research League, meanwhile, accepted Governor Briscoe's request to make an analysis of the impact of new Social Security amendments on state finance and welfare programs.

Governor Briscoe has been suffering from a painful virus infection in both eyes that required bandaging and bed rest.

Planting Plans Postponed... Six Counties Lose... What's Your Beef... International Cooperation.

The 1973 Texas spring planting season is off to a slow start. Cotton planting in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been delayed at least a month due to cold, wet weather.

Texas Department of Agriculture officials report less than five per cent of the Valley's cotton has been planted thus far, and probably most of that will have to be replanted. Normally, about two-thirds of the crop would be in the ground in the Valley by now.

Meanwhile, on the High Plains-550 miles to the north-harvest of the 1972 cotton crop is now virtually complete. Rains and cold weather delayed harvest in that area for several weeks.

Wet conditions over the state are also causing some headaches for livestock producers, who normally welcome rains. Too much rain is keeping fields too muddy for grazing in many areas of the state. Supplemental feeding is continuing with some shortages of hay and cottonseed products reported.

SIX counties in Texas have lost their "modified-certified brucellosis" status because of non-compliance with certain minimum requirements of the cooperative state-federal brucellosis eradication program.

The counties in Texas are Denton, Freestone, Harrison, Kaufman, Navarro and Wood.

Counties initially receive the "modified-certified brucellosis area" status when the areas are in compliance with all requirements of the eradication program.

According to officials, the counties did not meet one or more of the following requirements:

- Retest infected herds for brucellosis within six months;
- Test or quarantine the herd of origin when an infested animal is found through the market cattle testing program;
- Test a dairy herd within 30 days after a suspicious brucellosis milk ring test has been reported.

Necessary corrective steps are being taken so that the counties may again receive their modified-certified brucellosis area status.

IF YOU'RE concerned about getting the most for your food dollar-and who isn't-you should be utilizing some information from the Texas Department of Agriculture about beef. TDA has available some tips on how to get the most from your beef dollar.

These include a beef chart showing the cuts of beef and cooking instructions for the various cuts and a pamphlet titled "Stretching Your Beef Dollar." Both are available by writing the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

INTERNATIONAL cooperation is providing Texas agricultural producers with better varieties of grain sorghum and forage sorghums. About 200 acres of grain sorghums are being grown to determine purity tests in Guatemala and Mexico.

This program is being carried on through the seed division of the Texas Department of Agriculture under direction of Bill Staffel. Texas is the largest producer of hybrid sorghum in the world. "We have the highest quality of certified hybrid sorghum seed in the nation," Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

Texas produces about 40 per cent of the nation's supply of grain sorghum annually.

News From ALAN REED

By Mrs. P. M. Gibson
My thanks, to Lucille Keller, who has been writing the Alanreed News for me while I was ill and in the hospital. After a check-up Monday, my Dr. reports me to be doing just fine.

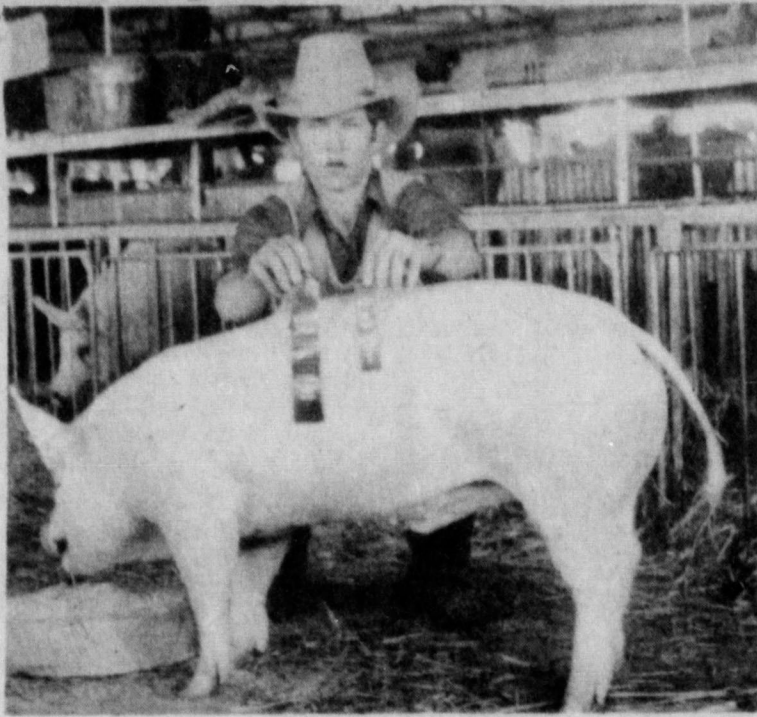

Visiting in Borger Monday was Junita McKee, Ruby Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Enloe Crisp from McLean, with the loved ones of Mary Hensley Boyd, whose funeral was Tuesday in Borger. She was a former resident and school teacher and was mourned by a host of friends.

Mrs. Jewel Warner stopped by to visit the Gibsons Saturday and turned in her news. Last Saturday night her grandson from Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Lovez Lingo and children, her nephew Benny Partridge and two friends had supper with her. The nephew was from Okla. City, also visiting her was Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morris of Lefors.

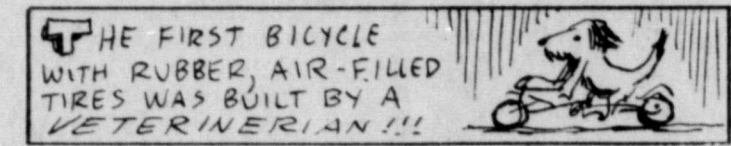

Mrs. Brooks Magee received word from Mary Harley, that Mrs. Earthman, her mother at the present time was doing a lot better.

The Alanreed PTO met Friday night March 2nd. There was a good turn out and games of 42 cards and volley ball was enjoyed by all. March 9th another meeting will be held winding up school visitation week, and as at all PTO meetings something good for refreshments will be served.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Magee Sunday was her niece's

Texas Aoudad Rams are Getting to be as Bog as the Sheep from the "Old Country."

The world's record aoudad horn length is 34 5/8 - inch monster found dead in 1947 in the Ennedi range of the North African Atlas Mountains.

A group of youngsters exploring a shallow cave in the Palo Dura Canyon have recently found a dead ram with a right horn 33 inches long.

The base circumference was 15 inches with a spread of 24 1/2 inches at the widest point.

To date, it is the largest horn size in Texas.

Area wildlife director Jack Parsons says that the head is not suitable for mounting but the skull and horns will be preserved for the new Palo Dura Canyon State Park interpretive center now under construction.

The Parks and Wildlife Department released the first aoudads in Palo Duro in 1957.

The previous Texas record ram had a 32 3/4 inch horn.

Overnight Pedernale Camping Delayed

The Parks and Wildlife Department has reluctantly turned away campers trying to spend the night in primitive campgrounds at Pedernales Falls State Park near Johnson City.

It was originally announced and anticipated that the park would be ready for overnight use by Feb. 1.

Construction delays have set back the opening to the middle or latter part of March.

The Department will advise campers of the exact date as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, the park is open to day-use visitors.

A good babysitter needs a lot more than a way with kids

Of course a babysitter should like children. And like taking care of them. But the job also involves some pretty big responsibilities.

Caring for little ones means being able to handle just about any emergency. Because emergencies often require the use of the telephone, a handy list of important numbers can do wonders for your sitter's confidence.

So write down the phone numbers for fire, police, medical assistance and the places you'll be while out. Keep the list right next to the phone, and remember to call home if your plans change.

Interested in getting more for your telephone dollar? We'll send 30 tips to help you save time and money. No charge. We'll also include an Emergency Numbers List.

Texas Leads In Shrimp Catches

Texas shrimp boats were busy in 1972.

So busy, in fact, that they led the nation in the amount of shrimp landed for 1972.

Shrimpers took 61 million pounds of shrimp to market for a value of $80 million.

The value of the catch exceeds last year's $64.2 million, but the total poundage does not measure up to 1967's 64 million pounds of shrimp.

According to Parks and Wildlife Department official:
 the Brownsville-Port Mansfield-Port Isabel area led the state in production with 42 percent of the catch.

Arkansas-Rockport contributed 29 percent and Freeport shrimpers accounted for 15 percent.

Total U.S. shrimp landings amounted to 243 million pounds.

B. J. SHAW

B. J. Shaw Recognized As Leader
In "Conservation Way" Farming

B.J. Shaw of McLean has long been recognized as a leader in the "Conservation Way" of farming and ranching and has been named Outstanding Conservation Farmer and Rancher for the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

He will serve as the District's entry in the Texas Conservation Awards Program with the winner to be announced in May.

Mr. Shaw's farming and ranching operations are northwest of McLean. In April, 1970, he entered into a Great Plains Conservation Program Contract to assist in improving his farming and ranching operation. A primary aim was to establish weeping lovegrass on some of the poor cropland and low producing rangeland. Also, cross-fencing and additional livestock water was to be installed. In areas where severe erosion had occurred, Mr. Shaw planned to carry out critical area shaping and grass establishment.

Thus far, Mr. Shaw has planted 318 acres of weeping lovegrass pasture, constructed over 2 miles of cross-fences, put in one livestock water well and one livestock water storage facility. He has built over a mile of parallel terraces on his crop-land and installed 1530 feet of underground irrigation pipeline to be utilized on his irrigated alfalfa. This is a portion of the over-all soil and water conservation work Mr. Shaw has carries

"All of this work is just the beginning. The management that follows is the key to any successful conservation program," says
 Mr. Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw and their son, Jim, comprise a family livestock operation.
 Jim, although operating land of his own, helps his father extensively. They are full-time farmers and ranchers.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Douglas and children, Shana and Kelly were recent visitors in the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Willie Lamb.
 They were enroute to Hong Kong, B.C. on his assignment for the State Dept.

Danny's mother, Mrs. Wynema Corley of Grand Prairie, Texas was also here last week, and attended the funeral services for her uncle,
 Mr. Tom E. Pepper, held

Matador Area Good For Rolling Plains Research

If managed properly, those mesquite-covered rolling plains characteristic of much of the Texas Panhandle will support several species of wildlife, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

The problem of finding what special techniques are needed to encourage wildlife belongs to biologists on the Matador Wildlife Management Area.

This 28,148-acre facility is located 10 miles northwest of Paducah on the Pease River. It is part of land once owned by the Matador Land and Cattle Company, a Scottish land syndicate.

The area is typical of much of the Red Rolling Plains where bobwhite quail, scaled quail and mourning doves are the most important game animals. The area also supports modest populations of Rio Grande turkey and white-tailed deer.

Since the most important game animals of the Texas Panhandle are the bobwhite quail, they are the object of most of the research on the Matador area.

Biologists feel that a thorough understanding of the population dynamics of quail in the mesquite-mixed rangeland habitat of the Red Rolling Plains is fundamental to sound management recommendations.

They say it is especially important to understand the mechanism involved in population turnover, particularly with respect to eruptive populations and crash declines so typical of the area.

In a study on quail parasites, biologists found that parasites inhabiting quail of the West Texas Rolling Red Plains do not alter the physical condition of the birds. They could only be considered a secondary factor affecting mortality as in the case of injury or starvation.

Food studies on the management area are proving especially helpful to Panhandle landowners who want to manage their land for wildlife. It was found that of all species of plants in the Panhandle, only a dozen were important to quail. And of this dozen, the three most important were western ragweed, the crotons and broom snakeweed. As a result of this research, landowners know that successful management of quail foods can be directed toward a few specific food items.

Biologists say that as a result of information gathered on the Matador Area, various governmental agencies are beginning to modify their range management recommendations to better provide for the needs of wildlife.

Many landowners in the Rolling Plains are now discing portions of their rangeland to encourage forb production. Others are using plots of winter greens to sustain turkey populations.

Data from public hunts on the area, documenting that hunting is largely self-regulating, has convinced many persons that restricted seasons are seldom necessary, and this has resulted in opening substantially more lands to hunting.

These same landowners will probably benefit from other studies such as research and livestock-quail research.

Land-use practices in the Panhandle coupled with the increased demand for game,

We do not have a complete copy of all the winners in our possession at this writing. However Gray County 4-H members stood near top of the classes in all divisions. The group of five calves was won by Gray County standing ahead of five other county and FFA chapters. We hope to have a complete list of winners for next weeks news article.

The Swine classes had some of the best exhibits we have ever seen.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

1725 bales of cotton have been weighed in at the McLean gin. Bill Estes says they will get 75 more which will top 1800 bales for the year. Mrs. Estes says they will never get that many this year. This is more cotton than has been ginned for well over a decade. Every thing went real well. We are fortunate to have a good gin as well as a good gin manager. This is a real asset to the McLean Gin.

STILBESTROL

The Food and Drug Administration recently approved stilbestrol as a morning after birth control pill. As you know they banned the use of this drug in feed for cattle because minute quantities were detected in the livers of slaughtered animals.

In a recent news release through the Texas Cattle Feeders Assn. they made an interesting comment regarding this inconsistency in their Food and Drug rulings. The cattle feeders report stated "A body would have to eat 216 tons of liver containing one part per billion of Stilbestrol (not allowed by F.D.A.) in order to get the same dosage as recommended in the morning after bill.

Marital ships sail best on the Seven C's--communication, cooperation, commitment, courage, compromise compassion and challenge, according to Dr. Jennie C. Kitching, family life specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

give the Matador area a challenging future.

The wild turkey has received relatively little attention and should become the focal point of future research.

The Rolling Plains is the second most important ecological region in the state with respect to nesting mourning doves. Much needed research on nesting habitat preference of the mourning doves will be conducted on the Matador Area.

The use of prescribed burning as a means of brush control and range habitat management will be investigated

There is also the possibility of building a 200-acre impoundment to give migrating waterfowl a resting place.

Resting places are rare in the dry Texas Panhandle.

Food Prices In U.S. Europe Compared

The U.S. housewife may have rising food prices to contend with, but she still has a few advantages over her European counterpart, according to Dr. Randall Stelly of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

In the U.S., for example an average income family spends about one-fifth of its income on food. In Italy and England, however, a third of the total consumer income goes for food. Similarly high figures hold true in other European countries as well, with France spending a quarter of her average income and Germany, 30 percent.

It also takes proportionally less work to buy food in the U.S. than in Europe, Stelly said. Paying for a pound of roast beef takes 20 minutes of work in New York but more than an hour and 20 minutes in Moscow. The same amount of beef costs 54 minutes of work in London, 85 minutes in Paris and 70 minutes in Munich, West Germany.

Even buying such a basic as bread requires 13 minutes of work for one pound in Moscow and 12 minutes in Paris but only about half as much in New York.

Another way of looking at the total cost of food is the "food basket", a figure that shows the theoretical weekly food expenditures for a family of four. In 1969, the latest figures, a U.S. food basket costs $32 and required 12 hours of work. France's cost was close to the U.S., $31, but required almost three times as much work, 36 hours.

In England the basket actually cost less, $29, but took 27 hours of labor by the breadwinner. Russia, on the other hand, ranked among the highest with the basket costing $56 and 82 hours of work needed.

Another plus the American housewife has going for her is the quality and ease of U.S. products. American food Quality is the highest in the world, Stelly said, and often the easiest to prepare. Pre-processed food that only have to be heated and served and specially prepared mixes are common in the U.S. but rare elsewhere, he added.

Ten cents this week buys satisfaction and nutrition--cabbage, reports Mrs. Gwendolyn Glyatt, consumer marketing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University FORWARD CONTRACTING- Forward contracting is a financial management tool that is helpful to producers when prices are changing, contends a specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. It fixes the price of a product so that there is less financial risk to the producer. A written contract is best as it prevents any misunderstanding between buyer and seller.
