TIGERS WIN OVER GROOM 18-16

By Cheryl Holmes

The McLean Tigers put down state-ranked Groom Tigers last Friday night 18-16 on Groom's Homecoming date. Gary Griffin carried the ball five times and scored twice in the first quarter to lead the McLean effort.

The 'real Tigers', as victors of this traditional tilt are labeled, stunned Groom when they recovered a fumble in the 2nd play of the game. Griffin made the recovery and carried on four plays for the touchdown scored two minutes into the first quarter. Extra point kick by Ricky Kennedy was unsuccessful.

McLean was disappointed when a pass into the end zone from Marty Duniven to Skeet Lowery was fumbled with almost four minutes left on the clock.

The black and gold closed out the quarter with a touchdown drive carried into paydirt by Griffin one minute from the quarter horn. The extra point kick failed. During the first period, Groom earned only two first downs.

In the first minute of the second period, Skeet Lowery blocked Groom punt attempt and ran it in 15 yards for a third score making it 18-0. Kennedy's kick was no good.

Groom's Stan Britten scored late in the first half on a three yard skirt around right end and then cut through for two more points making an 18-8 halfway score.

Britten scored again in the fourth quarter on a short T.D. dash around right end. A pass to Jimmy Keel caught the extra points making the tally 18-16.

Groom dominated the last half but their momentum was slashed by the recovery of two fumbles by Tony Henley and Skeet Lowery. Groom's final-quarter hopes were crushed by two Lowery pass interceptions late in the period, one he brought back 25 yards, the other 40 yards.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Prisoner at Large!

Security was so lax at a state penitentiary that prisoners could get whiskey, drugs, and even guns without too much trouble. One night a hardened criminal stole a gun and made good his escape.

He was recaptured within a few hours, but not until he had invaded a nearby home and shot a housewife in the leg. In due course, she demanded damages from the state.

"They run that jail too carelessly," she charged in court. "Escapes are common. Furthermore, they knew that this particular criminal was dangerous. Therefore, the government is to blame for my being shot."

The court agreed, and the woman won a substantial verdict.

Injuries inflicted by escaped prisoners are leading to a growing number of damage claims against either prison officials or the state itself. The law says penal institutions must be run with fair regard for the safety of those outside the walls.

Nevertheless, the authorities are not to blame if the escape could not reasonably have been prevented. Nor are they liable, even though negligent, if the injury to the outside citizen was not reasonably foreseeable. Thus:

Another escaping prisoner, commandeering a passing automobile, caused the driver to suffer a fatal heart attack. But in this case the prisoner had a good record, with nothing to forewarn officials that he could be dangerous if he got loose.

In such circumstances, courts have generally rejected the victim's claim for damages, even though prison officials were to blame for the escape. Reason: although officials should have foreseen that the prisoner might run away, they could scarcely have foreseen that he would also be a bad driver.

"SIN NOT AGAINST THE CHILD"

Many years after Joseph's brothers had sold him into slavery they were brought before him in his powerful position in Egypt. Remembering the cruel treatment given Joseph, Reuben, the oldest brother, was moved to say, "Spake I not unto you, saying, Do not sin against the child..?" (Gen. 42:22) Joseph's brothers sinned against him while he was very young by planning to murder him and by selling him as a slave.

We may sin against our children by selling them into slavery. Joseph was sold for twenty pieces of silver. (Gen. 37:28). By our attitudes and examples, we may sell our children into the slavery of materialism (1 Tim. 6:10), immorality (Gal. 5:19-21, and religious error (2 Kings 17:17).

We may sin against our children by not correcting them in love. Eli's sons made themselves vile, and he restrained them not." (1 Sam. 3:13). Obedience and respect for authority should be taught in the home. (Eph. 6:1-4). Authorities tell us that 75% to 85% of one's adult traits are formed by age six. The discipline and love a child gets at home is the single most critical factor in determining whether that child develops into responsible, or irresponsible, adult.

We may sin against our children by neglecting their spiritual needs. Parents, as stewards, are responsible for teaching their children the way of God. (CF 2 Tim. 3:15). Children need to be taught to remember God and obey his commandments. (Eccl. 12:1, 13-14).

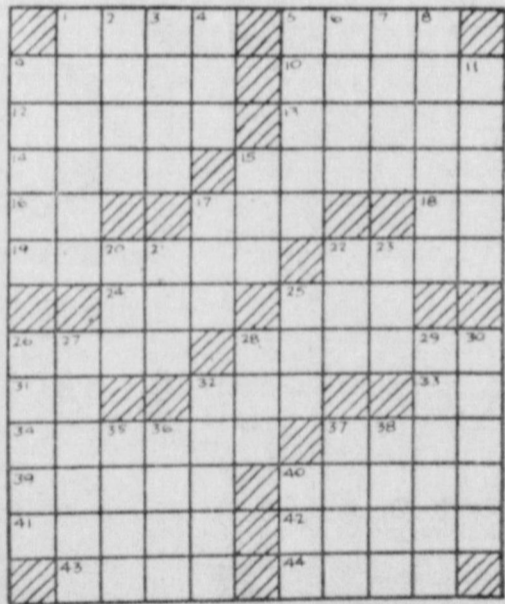

Parents may sin against their children by setting the wrong example before them. Children tend to be much like their parents. (Ezek. 16:44). What do we want our children to be? Do we want them to be faithful Christians who live boldly, give sacrificially, and win others? If so, are we showing them how by setting the right examples? Instead of sinning against our children, we should exert every effort to direct them in the way of salvation.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

"There'll be no 'right-to-work' law in the proposed new Texas constitution," predicted Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Bill Hartman, Beaumont Enterprise-Journal, at a meeting of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association last week.

Answering a question from a newspaperman at the summer meeting of the Texas Daily Newspaper Association in Guadalajara, Mexico, Hobby and Hartman said the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission will not have "right-to-work" in the proposed constitution which will be submitted to the legislature in November. Hartman is a member of the commission.

"It will be impossible for 'right-to-work' advocates to get the two-thirds votes necessary to get it back in the constitution at next year's Texas Constitutional Convention," Hobby said.

The convention--beginning in January--will be writing a new constitution to present to Texas voters in 1974.

Hobby also told the Texas publishers that the most important change for the commission and Concan is reorganization of the executive branch. "Texas state government now spends $5 billion a year with no one in charge," he concluded. "Under our present constitution we have the weakest 'office of governor' in the nation."

SPECIAL SESSION URGED
Atty. Gen. John Hill has joined in the demand that Gov. Dolph Briscoe call a special legislative session on a wide range of child welfare matters and school finance laws revision.

Briscoe, who heard of the recommendation while attending the Southern Governors Conference in Alabama, said he has not changed his mind about need for a special session at this time. He made clear that means he doesn't intend to call one.

Hill also released his report on licensing of Artesia Hall, the East Texas child care facility which was closed last summer after reports of serious mistreatment and even a murder charge there.

While he, in effect, said W. Kendall Baker of Houston, a former State Welfare Board Chairman, and House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., did nothing wrong in serving as attorneys for the Artesia Hall owner, the attorney general advised a law curbing legal practice before state boards by former members. He also suggested restrictions on legislators' practicing before state agencies.

Hill concluded there were no improper payments or inducements to get Illinois children placed in Texas child care institutions by that state's welfare officials.

The attorney general conceded, however, that there appeared to be a certain amount of "winning and dining" of the Illinois officials.

He criticized hiring out of Texas Welfare Department employees parttime to private child care facilities. The Welfare Board, meanwhile, voted to fire its former director of social services, who had been on the payroll of private institutions. YOUTH COUNCIL SHAKEN UP

Leadership of the Texas Youth Council was shaken up in the wake of recent "semi-riots" at Gatesville Boys School and a court finding that discipline is too harsh at several state institutions for youth.

Dr. James A. Turman resigned as TYC executive director, a post he has held since 1957, and Robert Kneebone quit as chairman.

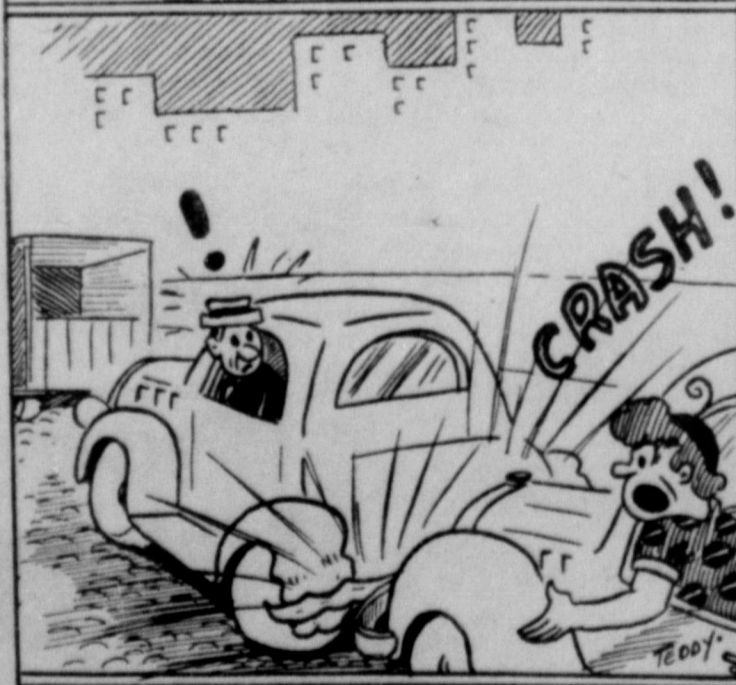

The Board named W. Forrest Smith of Dallas as new chairman of TYC and Ron Jackson, 33, of Brownwood as acting executive director.

Smith told the House Committee on Human Resources TYC "needs a little settling time and a little of the pressure taken off" before it can move toward new goals. Smith said the council will comply fully with the rulings of Federal District Judge William Wayne Justice at Tyler that it end certain disciplinary practices used against youth school inmates.

NEW GAS RATE GRANTED
The Railroad Commission granted Lo-Vaca Gathering Company, which sells natural gas to many Texas cities, a fluctuating interim rate of about 29.55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas.

The increase is five cents above the present weighted average cost of gas to the company as of last June.

 A commission order also provides that the weighted average cost of gas be adjusted up or down each month to reflect the current cost Lo-Vaca is paying.

Lo-Vaca sought an interim rate of 34.9 cents per mcf. The commission said the interim rate was designed to allow the company to purchase gas and recoup operating, but that it does not provide a rate of return on investment. Granting the temporary rate may prevent or mitigate gas shortages to the public during winter heating months, the Commission order said.

COURTS SPEAK
 A Dallas man sentenced to death for murder during armed robbery won a reversal of his conviction in the Court of Criminal Appeals on grounds his arrest was not based on sufficient information and conflicted with court-set standards.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed the 35-year prison sentence assessed a Houston man for rape, because arresting officers illegally seized negatives showing the man having sex relations with a child.

The Texas Supreme Court refused to hear the appeal of a military captain's ex-wife that she was entitled to part of his future retirement benefits.

The High Court also denied a motion for rehearing by a Houstonian Candace Mossler in her court suit to avoid paying a $250,000 legal fee to famed Houston Attorney Percy Foreman. Foreman successfully defended her and a nephew seven years ago on charges of murdering her husband.

Gillespie County landowners got their commissioners court on their side in claiming a 32-acre ranch condemned for the Lyndon B. Johnson State Park is worth $303,667 instead of $165,445 offered them by the State Parks and Wildlife Department.

AG OPINIONS
 The Parks and Wildlife Department may contract with utility or water districts for water and sewage services in state parks, Attorney General Hill said.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:
 The State Department of Public Welfare must continue to license child care institutions for the emotionally disturbed.

State employees may receive merit salary increases in both years of the fiscal period but the amount spend for such raises can never exceed the monthly maximum no matter how much money is available.

Beaumont has authority to donate park land to the State Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation for use in building a hospital, without need for an election, but public hearings are required.

Out-of-state and out-of-county witnesses can be paid reasonable expenses for their appearances in court cases.

APPOINTMENTS
 Governor Briscoe reappointed Mrs. Gus Wortham, Aaron J. Farfel and Mack H. Hannah Jr. of Houston to the University of Houston board of regents.

Briscoe reappointed Alton O. Bowen of Austin to the Governor's Committee on Aging and designated him to continue as committee chairman.

Dr. David T. Kelly of South Carolina will head the Division of Program Development of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Clayford T. Grimm of Austin will serve as managing director of the Texas State Building Materials and Systems Testing Laboratory, a consortium of nine state universities seeking to find innovative materials and methods in building.

SHORT SNORTS
 Some 420 Texas cities collecting sales taxes received $52.3 million from the source during the quarter which ended June 30.

The federal government probably won't approve Texas water quality standard, but the state won't lose anti-pollution funds, according to the Environmental Protection Agency regional director.

Texas Offshore Terminal Commission set December as target date for completion of its report on feasibility and location of offshore deep-water ports for oil-carrying supertankers.

Hearings have been rescheduled for October 3 in Houston and October 4 in Corpus Christi on locations of proposed liberty ship fishing reefs.

Texas city, county and other political subdivisions will receive the entire allocation of local funds from the Land and Water Conservation Fund Program for the next fiscal year--about $1.7 million.

Seguin has American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas executive committee endorsement as a Texas Bicentennial Community.

Next year's Southern Governor's Conference will be held in Texas. The host city has not been selected.

The Constitutional Revision Commission wrapped up its work amid predictions the legislature may not pay much attention when it convenes as a constitutional convention next January.

From The Living Bible

"The Festival of Tabernacles: Five days later, on the last day of September is the Festival of Shelters to be celebrated before the Lord for seven days. On the first day there will be a sacred assembly of all the people; don't do any hard work that day. On each of the seven days of the festival you are to sacrifice an offering by fire to the Lord. The eighth day requires another sacred convocation of all the people, at which time there will again be an offering by fire to the Lord. It is a joyous celebration, and no heavy work is permitted.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Disease hasn't been conquered, but Texas can be proud of its record in lowering preventable diseases as it enters October--chosen for a nationwide Immunization Action Month.

Much has been done, but there is more yet to be accomplished to prevent the suffering--and the crippling--which can result from the preventable diseases--diphtheria, polio, measles, rubella, tetanus and pertussis (whooping cough). Children under five are targets for immunizations.

This year--1973--shows promise of being one of the best yet in prevention of disease through immunization. Last year's comparison against the bad year of 1970 (year of the San Antonio diphtheria outbreak) showed diphtheria to be down by 82 per cent, pertussis to be down by 58 per cent, polio to be down by 82 per cent, measles to be down by 81 per cent and rubella to be down by 81 per cent.

What's the 1973 outlook?

Through the first eight months of the year, these childhood diseases were showing another remarkable decline. Compared to the same period in 1972, diphtheria had dropped from 23 cases to just 14 through August; measles was down from 1,354 cases to only 471; pertussis showed a decline from 135 cases to 95; polio showed two cases at this time a year ago and none this year; rubella dropped from 1,333 cases to 1,047; tetanus occurred 20 times last year and only three times through August of this year.

These are great statistics, but what about those children who still come down with these diseases because they're not immunized? The mandatory school immunization law has upped the percentages of children protected against disease, but there's still a reservoir of children four years of age and under who are the susceptibles.

A mid-year report on three diseases--rubella, measles, and polio--indicates that there's a big job ahead in reaching the children in the lower age group. Exact figures aren't known, but it is estimated that immunizations against pertussis, diphtheria and tetanus also fall short of desired totals in pre-schoolers. Immunizations against some diseases can start in early infancy. Physicians and public health officials advise the earliest possible action in a full immunization program. By law, children going to a child care center or to school must have begun immunizations for their own protection and the protection of others. So why delay!

Immunizations for DTP (diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis) should begin at two months, with subsequent injections at four and six months to complete the program, and oral polio vaccine may be received on the same schedule. When the child is one year old, immunizations may be given for measles and rubella. The DTP and polio immunizations should be repeated when the child is between 15 and 18 months, and again when the child is between four and six years old.

Health officials say many children who have started an immunization program haven't finished it, and they urge all parents of children with lapsed immunizations to complete the series for full protection.

Immunization records are important to all families. In order to enter school, records must be shown to verify immunizations. Also, should a person move, it is very important for a new physician to have old records. These immunization record books may be obtained through most physicians, from school, or a local health department office.

During Immunization Action Month, parents throughout Texas are urged to start or complete--those immunizations which can prevent their children from being struck by a disease which at least can cause suffering--and at the worst death or crippling.

CATTLE PRICES

After taking one of the most drastic drops in history fat cattle prices are now recovering slowly.

Fat cattle topped out in August at $77.00 per cut. The decline soon set in and fell to as low as $38.00 on a choice OKIE steer weighing in the thousand lb. category.

Stockers took a similar tumble when they dropped over $30.00 per cut on light weight kinds.

Today choice finished steer are bringing up to $42.50 having made a nice turn around. Futures have had two or three days of up the limit. Today they were down again as weather cleared in the corn belt and more cattle moved to market. Most analysts agree the big slump is over. Many feel we will have a slowly rising market that will extend into 1974. Nothing spectacular, just a slowly rising market as overfeds are worked off.

Stocker calves are making some recovery but not as fast as anticipated.

Wheat plantings have been delayed from the Southern tip of the Great Plains on through Kansas by September rains. Late Sept. and Oct., plantings enhances the yield prospect for grain but decreases the grazing prospects.

In our opinion the normal progress of wheat for pasture plus the high feed cost in feedlots will tend to hold the price of stockers down over the next few months. With wheat in the $4.00 per bu. bracket, farmers are less likely to graze late in the spring.

This will materially reduce the demand for stocker calves.

If you see a bulge in the price of stocker before now and frost it might be a good idea to sell those not needed for replacement cattle.

You can prevent baldness, at least on your tires. If a smooth spot appears across the face of the tread between two or more grooves your wear bar is showing, and the tire should be replaced.

I have seen a few patches of cotton that looked real good, but in general most of the cotton I have seen from here to Vernon of recent date doesn't look anything like as good as it did last year. The weather stayed dry too long after the cotton came up. A good rain after the cotton was about six weeks old could have sure changed things.

I've seen some excellent fields of milo in the McLean vicinity. The acreage of dryland milo is way down because farmers were unable to get their milo up earlier due to the dry May, June, and July.

There is a lot of dry land milo on the High Plains that will never mature before frost. Some of it was planted after July 15.
