These victims of polio and other crippling diseases were the first to show up for a splash in the swimming pool at the Westward Ho Motel, YMCA swimming instructors, city-county health nurse Jewel Barton and representatives of the Howard-Glasscock polo chapter were on hand to assist the youngsters with their water fun. The exercise is said to be the best available for the handicapped children. The Westward Ho has made the pool available on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week. The next session, to which all crippled children are invited, is at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Jewelry Store's Window Is Broken, 2 Watches Stolen

Thieves broke the glass from a display window at Zale's Jewelry last night and took four watches. Value of the watches was about $130. The break-in was discovered when the store opened for business this morning.

The American Legion hall in the Bank's addition was also entered sometime during the night. A cigarette machine and a juke box were broken open and approximately $15 was taken from the music machine. An undetermined amount was taken from the cigarette machine.

Entry was made to the Legion hall through the front window.

6 Criminal Cases Set For Trial In District Court

Six criminal cases have been set for trial in district court the week of July 11, District Attorney Guilford Jones reported today.

Up for trial will be Manuel Plinola, on charges of possessing heroin; Van M. Miller, Eugene O. Worsham and Ramon France, each charged with second offense driving while intoxicated; George Jackson, charged with robbery; and Celestin McDade, charged with forgery.

The trials will be the first conducted during the June term of 1955 District Court in Howard County. The weeks of July 18 and July 25 will be devoted to civil suits. Twenty-five of the latter have been scheduled.

Income Tax Evasion Trial Due For Parr

AUSTIN (AP)—Political boss George B. Parr goes on trial here July 18 on three counts of federal income tax evasion.

Final Inspection Day Friday For Contestants In Soap Box Derby

The "bugs" will assemble Friday. That's one name for the fast, sleek coasters that boys between the ages of 11 and 15 have built to race in the Soap Box Derby on July Fourth.

Friday is final inspection day, and all contestants—there are more than two score of them entered—are instructed to have their cars at the City Park, beginning at 10 a. m. Friday. All cars must be there by 4 p. m.

Inspection station is at the older tennis court enclosure, on the east side of the park near the softball diamond.

The racing machines will be inspected for safe construction and to determine if they have met all regulations as to size, weight, method of construction etc. Boys who need to make minor adjustments then will be permitted to do so.

Official weighings will be done, on Toledo scales provided through the courtesy of Distributor Pat Brogan of Abilene. Inspection will be on special racks provided by Shell Oil Co., which also furnishes Soap Box Derby Lubricant. Members of the Lions Club, a sponsor, are in organization along with The Herald and Tidwell Chevrolet, will be out hand in full force Friday for the official checks. Inspectors are headed by Avery Falkner.

Then, on Saturday, the starting ramp will be erected near the concession house at City Park, and boys will make test runs, to get the "feel" of the course. Their racers will remain impounded over the weekend.

The big race comes Monday. It's all free, and a crowd of thousands is anticipated. Preliminary heats will start at 10 a. m., and the final races will be at 2:30 p. m. By 4 o'clock, Big Spring should know the identity of a local champion who will carry the city's colors to Akron, Ohio, for the great All-American Soap Box Derby on Aug. 14. That free trip, along with a big golden trophy, is the champion's payoff. Other winners will receive such merchandise prizes as a .22 rifle, a portable radio, a camera, a wrist watch, and a rod and reel. In addition, each winner of his first heat collects $5 in cash.

At their meeting Wednesday, Lions checked over last minute arrangements for the Independence Day program. Pete Cook is general chairman, and has starter crews and finish line judges all lined up. A loud speaker system, furnished by Baldridge Bakery of Lubbock and manned by Gil Jones, will enable the crowd to get full details on all races. Lions also will be in charge of cold drink concessions during the race program.

32 Pilots Graduate In Webb Ceremonies

Thirty-two student officers, including three from the Turkish Air Force, received their wings in graduation exercises for Class 55-Q Thursday morning at Webb AFB.

State Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman, San Angelo, told the newest group of jet pilots that they had the opportunity to guarantee freedom, to preserve rights which were not alone constitutional but which were inherent.

2nd Lt. George M. Purcell, son of M-Sgt. and Mrs. Edward P. Eastham, 2306 Franklin, Colorado Springs, Colo., was recognized as having attained the highest academic record of his class and one of the highest on record at Webb. Col. Charles M. Young, wing commander, extended congratulations of the base.

Among guests for the occasion were Mrs. Louise Thaden, a lieutenant-colonel in the Civil Air Patrol, a veteran of three decades of flying and 1936 Bendix trophy winner. Mrs. Thaden flew here from Roanoke, Va. to witness the graduation of her son, 2nd Lt. William V. Thaden.

"Don't be ashamed to sacrifice for your country," Hardeman told the young officers. "In so doing you preserve the institutions which are precious to you and your families."

He called for alertness on the part of the graduates, pointing to the perils of the day. The miracle of the UN is that it has survived 10 years, he added. In the same breath he cautioned against the precariousness of "peaceful or any other kind of co-existence with communism. What kind of co-existence can you have with a rattle-snake?"

Col. Young observed that it was fitting that all graduation exercises be opened with prayer, for it drew a sharp line between the values on this and other side of the iron curtain, he said. Graduates had a key role to play in maintaining a top notch Air Force, one of the pillars of armed strength which the colonel said constituted the chief inhibition of a potential aggressor.

Ten flight instructors rotated to personally give the wings and congratulations to their students. A brief reception followed in honor of the class at the officers' club.

Catholics Deny Trend To Mary

NEW YORK (AP)—Roman Catholic theologians say a recent Presbyterian statement that there is a Catholic "trend to exalt the figure of the Virgin Mary" presents a "distortion of Catholic devotion to Mary."

The Catholic Theological Society of America, at the close of its 10th annual convention yesterday, expressed "regret and sorrow" at the statement issued last May by the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The Presbyterian Assembly asserted in part that the Virgin Mary had become "virtual head" of the Catholic Church.

The Catholic Society said in a statement: "The picture of Catholic devotion presented in this statement is one that Catholics will find simply unrecognizable. It is not true that in the mind and heart of Catholics Mary takes the place of Christ. It is not true that Catholics think of Mary as a 'semi-divine' being."

'Million Kisses' From Korea Help Wife Win Divorce

ELIABETH, N.J. (AP)—Mrs. Cirilka Windsor won a divorce from her Army doctor husband yesterday with the help of "a million kisses" mailed from Korea.

Mrs. Windsor testified she found some letters to Lt. Zolton W. Windsor from Miss Pak Yung Ok, a Korean nurse.

One of the missives, she said, forwarded him "a million kisses" and told how much she loved him and would await his return.

Superior Court Judge Nicholas A. Tomasulo granted the divorce on grounds of adultery. Mrs. Windsor produced statements from another physician in Korea who said he had seen the couple in a compromising position in Miss Pak's home in Seoul.

Windsor, who returned from Korea last December and now is stationed at Camp Kilmer, told the witness stand but refused to testify about his relationship with Miss Pak. The couple, married in 1951, had no children. Mrs. Windsor lives at Union.

Strike Deadline Moves Closer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The steel industry drifted today toward an economy-crushing midnight strike with negotiators maintaining a tight secrecy lid on final peace efforts.

David J. McDonald, president of the strike - threatening CIO Steelworkers, was closed with John A. Stephens, principal bargainer for U. S. Steel Corp.

Stephens had hinted that Big Steel was preparing a new money offer. McDonald already has rejected an average 10-cent an hour pay raise proposal for the union's 600,000 members in the basic steel industry. They now average $2.33 per hour.

Major steelmills were gradually being shut down. They began well in advance of the strike deadline, cooling off furnaces and draining them of hot metal. Some workers already were reported off the job due to the gradual curtailment.

McDonald stayed away from a routine mid-morning session of the union bargaining teams. J. W. Abel, union secretary-treasurer, gave a brief, noncommittal "no progress" report to the closed meeting of union leaders and recessed the group until tonight.

Dollar Haircuts On The Way Out

Today will be your last chance to get a dollar haircut in the 13 union barber shops of Big Spring. The local Barber's Union No. 821 voted in a called meeting last night to raise the price of haircuts in their shops to $1.25, according to Bart Wilkinson, secretary.

The increased price will become effective tomorrow. All 13 shops in the union were represented and 80 per cent of those voting were in favor of the raise, Wilkinson said.

J. T. Burcham is president of the local union which includes 30 city barbers.

2 Cities Center Of Attention In Triple Slaying

DICKINSON, Tex. (AP)—Developments in the slaying of three members of a prominent Dickinson family focussed attention today on Dallas and Sulphur, La.

Will Fritz of the Dallas police force brought a picture here yesterday of Basil Doyle Carmichael, 20, Perrin Air Force Base airman charged with a 1953 Dallas murder.

Two waitresses tentatively identified the picture as that of an airman who was with Mrs. Ruby McPherson the last time the attractive 44-year-old woman was seen alive.

Mrs. McPherson; her mother, Mrs. Zola Norman; and the younger woman's 12-year-old son were found slain last Saturday in their home. The husband, John M. McPherson, and an older son, Jack, 22, were in Sulphur on an oil-well drilling project at the time.

Shortly after the two waitresses saw the picture of Carmichael, Galveston County Deputy Sheriff Pete Ury took a similar picture to Sulphur.

Sheriff Frank Blagone said that the McPhersons may have met the airman in a Sulphur night club the night before she was killed. Blagone said Mr. and Mrs. McPherson were joined by friends and the airman at the night club. When McPherson was called away on business, the sheriff said, Mrs. McPherson is reported to have left with the uniformed young man.

The two waitresses who viewed the picture of Carmichael are the same who told officers Saturday of seeing Mrs. McPherson with the airman and her call her mother to say that she was "bringing a friend of Jack's home for tonight."

Jack later said he knew of no such airman. Carmichael is charged in Dallas with the March, 1953, slaying of Mrs. Mahala Winterbauer whose body was found several days after she was shot to death in her residence. Her car, money and some clothes were gone.

Similar circumstances surrounded the killings here and police still are searching for Mrs. McPherson's 1953 Ford automobile.

Fritz said Mrs. Winterbauer befriended a man several days before her death, that he told her he was an airman and a good friend of her son.

Although they were pushing the lead hard, there was some cautious remarks from officers concerning the development.

Self-Defense Ruled In Fatal Shooting

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Superior Court has ruled that Julius A. Haninger, 26, son of a New York millionaire, shot a long-time friend, Bruce Whitlock, 28, in self-defense.

Hammer, son of Armand Hammer, manufacturer and art gallery owner, told detectives that he shot Whitlock during an argument May 8 over a gambling debt dating back to when they were roommates in Huntington, W. Va., 10 years ago.

A Navy official said, "The search will be continued as long as there is any hope."

Judge Escapes Highway Attack

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Four men in an automobile shot at Justice Hamilton Ward of State Supreme Court last night as he drove along a highway near here. The jurist was not injured.

The 50-year-old Ward told reporters that the shooting might have stemmed from jail sentences he has given juvenile delinquents recently.

The shooting occurred shortly after 11 p. m. as Ward was driving southwest on Route 20 toward his summer cottage on Lake Erie.

Ward said he believed there were four shots fired as the automobile drew up behind his car. He said that there were four men in the other vehicle and that a quick glance indicated they were young. He said he could not be certain of identification because of the darkness.

One shot smashed the left rear window of Ward's automobile. The judge said the short range—perhaps only four feet—indicated to him that two other shots probably passed through the open front windows.

Referring to juvenile delinquents Ward said: "Five years ago those boys would have gotten probation, but juvenile delinquency has grown so bad that something has to be done about it, and it's obvious that the courts have to take the lead in handing out stiffer sentences than we have in the past."

"I hate to relate this thing to those sentences several weeks ago. Those boys are in jail. But maybe they have friends who would do a stupid thing like this."

State police broadcast a 13-state alarm for the automobile.

State Aide In Soldier Trial Claims Attack

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Bill Henderson, 66, a Negro witness in the trial that convicted a Negro soldier of murder, was charged with murder today after he shot and killed a man he said attacked him.

The attack came, Henderson said, after he was threatened for testifying for the state in the trial of M. Sgt. Marion Washington. Washington was convicted of murder in the slaying of airman Henry Poole.

Waco District Atty. Tom Moore revealed that he had received threatening telephone calls about the trial and three other witnesses had reported being threatened.

Moore said he had asked the Rev. George Johnson, president of the Waco group of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, to call a meeting of Negro leaders as a result of the threats.

Henderson was released on $1,500 bond after being charged with the slaying of Troy Leroy Hancock, about 25. Henderson told police he was attacked by Hancock and two other Negro men.

Henderson's testimony contradicted Washington's statement as to his whereabouts April 3. Washington claimed he spent the night in Dallas, but Henderson testified that Washington was registered in Henderson's motel.

Moore quoted Henderson as saying he had received more than 100 telephone calls threatening him. Moore said he had also got a call saying that if Washington got the electric chair, "You die the day he do."

Washington was convicted and sentenced to die for the fatal shooting of Poole, Spartanburg, S. C., who died defending his fiancée from rape.

Henderson told officers the three men struck at him and one pulled a gun. He drew his own gun, he said, and started firing. He said Hancock fell and the other two ran. Police said neither man had been found.

FASTEST, HIGHEST

Bell X-1's Used In Heat Barrier Tests

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics disclosed today it is using the world's fastest, highest flying airplane, the Bell X-1, for research on the heat barrier.

Another champion of flight, the Douglas Skyrocket—first plane to fly twice the speed of sound—is exploring means of carrying bombs or fuel tanks beneath the wings, at supersonic speeds.

Still another experimental aircraft, the stiletto-like Douglas X2 is testing the puzzling behavior of air in the transonic range—the extreme buffeting which occurs in the 600-to-800 miles-an-hour speed category.

The NACA gave about 100 visitors here a glimpse of research activity carried on, 11 and more miles above the earth, with the nation's most advanced aircraft.

The station is 100 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

The pride of the fleet is the X1A, which has been flown by Maj. Charles Yeager to a record speed of more than 1,600 miles an hour—2 1/2 times the speed of sound—and by Maj. Arthur Murray to an altitude of more than 90,000 feet.

A sister NACA plane, the X1B, displayed here is under modification.

A third Bell experimental ship, the X1B, is at Langley Field, Va., having structural temperature gauges installed throughout to check heating in great detail at every point of air friction. The X1B will be flown here later this month.

Two Skyrocket D558-2 aircraft are in the fleet here, one with rocket power alone and the other with both rocket and jet engines. Also in the research fleet here is the Bell X5 transonic jet plane which can vary the sweep-back of its wings, in flight, between 20 and 60 degrees.

Search For 4 Fliers Down In Pacific Enters 5th Day

TOKYO (AP)—The search for four Marine aviators down in the Pacific went into its fifth day as dense fog closed in again Thursday night.

An Air Force spokesman said a voice signal—so weak "it was impossible to determine just what was said"—was heard about 4:30 p. m. He said that was the last and only report the Air Force has had since 5:40 a. m.

"It just wasn't audible enough to make out," said Maj. William James, deputy public information officer for Far East Air Forces. The Navy said it had no information of other radio contacts during the day.

Darkness once again turned the search into a blind game of dropping flares and listening for radio signals that did not come.

The missing aviators are: Capt. Hodgins P. Montague, Jackson, Miss., pilot of a Marine Sky Knight jet which ran out of gas while lost in fog Sunday.

Second Lt. David Winton Bell, of Wayzata, Minn., his ordnance officer.

Lt. Alan Murdock McAneny Jr., of Yonkers, N.Y., whose Marine Fury jet vanished Tuesday night in the search.

A still-identified crewman of a Marine helicopter which crashed at sea in the search yesterday. The fellow crewman was rescued.

The Air Force, coordinating the search over 25,000 square miles of ocean, said the new signals had been heard at 5:40 a. m. But planes and ships were unable to fix the position.

Associated Press correspondent Jim Becker flew over the search area late today. He said a dense white cloud bank thousands of feet deep was rolling over the area where the four aviators are believed lost. He said the clouds were moving at 15 to 20 miles over a sea which was choppy and rough at wave level.

The number of planes was reduced from a high of 70.

At Atsugi Naval Air Station, Bell's wife was said by Marine officers to be "taking this very well." She was in seclusion under a doctor's care. She arrived Tuesday from Minneapolis with no inkling that her husband was missing until told by Maj. Leslie E. Brown, Bell's squadron commander. She is expecting a baby in September.

Bell is a son of Charles H. Bell, president of General Mills, Inc.

The downed fliers are presumed to be in life rafts. All have emergency rations but have been subjected to burning June sunshine some days and cold foggy nights. The sea has been fairly rough.

Turncoats Return Seen

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian Red Cross officials said today three turncoat American soldiers who now want to be repatriated in the next few days.

The officials made this prediction after announcing Washington has agreed to permit the three to return to the United States.

The Americans are Lewis W. Griggs of Jacksonville, Tex.; O. G. Bell of Olympia, Wash.; and William A. Cowart of Dalton, Ga. All were U. S. Army corporals captured by the Reds in the Korean War.

'Buenos Dias,' And State Fair Has New Friend

By BRUCE HENDERSON
DALLAS (AP)—The State Fair is making lots of friends south of the Rio Grande simply by dropping in once a year to say "Buenos Dias."

For a third straight year the fair has sent a goodwill delegation to Latin-America. The purpose: to meet and invite ranchers to the Pan-American Livestock Exposition, held each fall at the exposition here.

Fourteen members of the 1955 delegation have arrived home after a 24-day flying trip to eight South American nations. More than ever, they are convinced this unique "private enterprise" in foreign relations is creating an untold amount of good will for the fair, Texas—and "Los Estados Unidos."

Frank Langston, business editor of the Dallas Times Herald, who has made all three visits, says: "At various places they told us that our trip had done more to develop good will between our country and the country we visited than all the diplomatic missions that had gone down there."

The first delegation toured Mexico. In 1954, the fair sent its friend-ship ambassadors to Panama, Ecuador, Colombia, Venezuela, and Cuba.

This year the delegation took a giant, counter-clockwise swing, visiting Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile, Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil.

In each, the group gave dinners for leading cattlemen, businessmen and government leaders. There were four main purposes: Get acquainted, study livestock conditions in those nations, offer any assistance possible and invite the Latin-Americans to the fair.

The delegation is the Pan-American Committee of the State Fair of Texas. Its chairman is Jack Burrus of Dallas, president of Burrus Mills. The organizer is Ray Wilson, director of fair livestock activities.

This year's tour included these representatives of purebred U.S. cattle groups: Don McCarthy of Kansas City, American Hereford Breeders; Milton Miller, Brady, Aberdeen-Angus; Harry Gyden, Houston, Brahman; Jack Malisberger, Cotulla, Santa Gertrudis; Frank Scottfield, Austin, Shorthorn; and Bob Stewart, Peterborough, N. H., Guernsey.

They gave dinners in Guayaquil, Ecuador; Bogota, Colombia; Caracas, Venezuela; Lima, Peru; Santiago, Chile; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay, and Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

B. R. Touriel of Dallas, who speaks Spanish and Portuguese (Brazil), served as spokesman and master of ceremonies.

Langston says: "When cattlemen get together they have a common interest. They can talk about cattle. That's something down to earth."

In 1953 the Pan-American Livestock Exposition drew 175 visitors from Latin America. Last year that figure jumped to 450.

Langston predicts that next fall "we'll have 1,000-1,500."

"And last year, incidentally, these visitors bought a great many purebred cattle. We expect they will do it again. As a matter of fact the minister of agriculture in Venezuela, Armando Tomayo, told me he plans to continue buying cattle in Texas. He has mostly Brahmans."

The group had its memorable experiences. Like the time Touriel became ill at Sao Paulo, and Langston had to preside at the banquet. Langston speaks Spanish but—as he puts it—"I don't make out at all in Portuguese."

"I had to preside in English, and my remarks were translated into Portuguese. When the president of the cattlemen's society replied to my remarks he did so in Portuguese, and they were then translated back to English."

State Hospital Receives Some Of New Furnishings

About 36 beds and some 800 chairs have been received by the State Hospital for the new ward buildings, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison.

All the furnishings for the two modern additions have not arrived, however, and this is what is holding up occupancy of them.

The two wards are expected to relieve the present over-crowded conditions of the hospital. They have been built along modern lines and boast several up-to-date conveniences.

The two buildings are connected by breezeways which lead to a central kitchen. Each one has heating under the floor and the new partitioning allows easy supervision.

Crop conditions in Mitchell County are perhaps a little better than in Howard County. Most communities are dry, but not quite so dry as the areas around Big Spring and Lamesa. A lot of cotton was lost to the big sandstorm in early June, particularly in the large sandy fields.

The best cotton seen this year is in the Cuthbert community north of Westbrook. The older cotton is as big as the irrigated cotton in the irrigated areas, and is already past the blowing stage. Some fields looked pretty weedy, but farmers were cultivating and a few were hoeing. The good crops continue all the way from Cuthbert to Vincent, but drop off sharply west of Vincent.

Grass in Mitchell County looks good in the creek bottoms, but a closer look shows that most of it is tobosa. It is green and headed out, but buffalo and the sandy-land mid-grasses have disappeared from some pastures, or else they haven't had enough rain to get them started again.

Frank Harris of Klondike is feeling better about his big irrigation well that almost went dry a few months ago. When first drilled, it made around 800 gallons per minute and was considered the largest well in southern Dawson County. Then suddenly it dropped down to half that much. The trouble, Harris found, was not a clogged water table but a cave-in of sand.

A few weeks ago he drilled another well nearby and is now getting around 750 gallons a minute.

Ray Adams of Ackerly says thrips are working on his cotton, but he is undecided about poisoning. There is also a lot of lice on the feed crop, but the ladybugs are building up fast, and he doesn't want to get rid of them.

"They will probably spread out in the cotton field later on," he said, "and help us fight the boll worms."

E. L. Newsom, who farms just northwest of Lee's Store, has lost one cotton crop to a sandstorm and another to hail. But crop No. 3 is coming up and looking good. He had replanted in the furrow and was worried about the moisture until Tuesday night. He said he got three-tenths of an inch rain and it fell slowly. Now, unless another sandstorm or hail comes along, he is well fixed for a few weeks.

All the cotton has been planted three times, as well as most of the maize and sudan.

"If a man can make expenses this year, he will be lucky," Newsom said.

Gene O'Daniel of Coahoma says grass on his pastures is only fair. He got a good growth of tobosa early in the spring which afforded good grazing, but it needs rain now. He thinks the other grasses will come back sometime, but the pastures are so bare that more than one good year will be needed to get a grass turf back.

He says he still has too many cattle and sheep for the amount of grass, but quit feeding quite some time ago.

Charles Denton, who farms near the refinery east of Big Spring, got an inch and a half of rain Tuesday night on his contoured field, and held every drop of it.

He is buying half and half cotton seed and intends to replant as soon as the fields dry out a little. Denton has farmed contoured rows before and says they are worth all the extra trouble of cultivation because of the moisture saved.

Ranchers and livestock farmers have built more tanks in Mitchell County this year than ever before. Around 20 have been constructed since last fall, and several more have recently made applications to the ASC for new tanks.

The most popular type is the conical or deep, round tank, which the Big Spring Soil Conservation engineers designed a few years ago. W. L. Wilson, in Northeast Howard County, dug several of these tanks, and they received much publicity at the time. Now they seem to be spreading to all parts of the Red, Rolling Plains.

These tanks are best suited to the deep red soils, according to Elmer Morton, SCS engineer at Colorado City. On the High Plains the soils are underlain with caliche and are too open to hold water in deep tanks.

It is possible to plate the inside of the tank with clay or other materials, however. On the Bobby Barbee place, five miles south of laton, the contractor dug into a large caliche seam. It was sealed over with aqua-jell, and thus far is holding water as well as the other tanks.

The main advantage of the deep, funnel-shaped tanks is that the evaporation is reduced and the water stays cooler.

Lee Pittman, who owns farms near Sparenberg and Lamesa, says the drought is really bearing down in Dawson County. He finished replanting a week or so ago and got cotton back up to a fair stand. There is still a little moisture, but he says it is getting away fast.

Ex-Red Says First Wife Assassinated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Winston Burdett testified Wednesday he is convinced the Russians "assassinated" his first wife because "she knew too much."

Mrs. Lea Schiavi Burdett, a news correspondent, was killed in Iran in April, 1942.

Burdett, a Columbia Broadcasting System newsmen, told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee of her death after first giving an account of spying, he said he had done for the Communists.

Her death, he said, came a month after he had broken finally with the Communists, and when she was in Iran and he in India on an assignment by CBS.

Here is the story, as related by Burdett:

While in Iran, she decided to visit the Russian-occupied sector to the north where she received information the Soviets were training partisans who would revolt under the leadership of Tito and thus insure that Yugoslavia would fall into the Russian orbit.

The Russians didn't want the Allies to know of this plan, so they hired a Kurdish tribesman in northern Iran to kill her.

This Burdett said, the tribesman did while she and her companions were en route back from a visit to a Kurdish leader.

At the time, a State Department announcement here said she was shot and killed by highwaymen who attacked her automobile. Several others were in the car, including an Iranian policeman, but were not hurt.

The announcement identified Mrs. Burdett as correspondent for PM, a New York newspaper now defunct. She was an Italian journalist when she married Burdett. Burdett told the senators he had been informed by U.S. Counter Intelligence agents that they believed her death was a "political assassination."

VA Has Several Jobs Available

Several positions are now open at the Veterans Administration Hospital here, according to Hayes Bacus, personnel officer.

Bacus said that persons interested in jobs as ward attendant or kitchen helper can file application for civil service exams in the personnel office at the hospital. He said these jobs pay $2,750 per year for attendants and $2,352 for kitchen help.

Bacus also announced openings for registered nurses at the hospital. He said those interested can go by the personnel office or contact the chief nurse, Bessie Love, for information concerning the job. These positions will pay $3,740 per year.

An occupational therapist, a physical therapist and an exercise therapist also are needed, Bacus said. All three jobs pay $3,410 per year.

Persons interested in a job as clerk-stenographer can file applications with the civil service board of examiners at Webb Air Force Base, Bacus said.

The makers of Super-Refined No-Nox, the clean-burning gasoline, now bring you a new super-refined motor oil...

New Gulfpride H.D. Select

...the only motor oil in the world
super-refined by the Alchlor Process for modern high-compression engines.

Not a compromise, multi-viscosity oil that tries to be an "all-season," "three-grades-in-one" oil. Contains no artificial thickeners that break down in your engine and increase oil consumption.

This completely new kind of motor oil—made possible by Gulf's exclusive Alchlor Process—is available in 3 grades to give you the finest protection, the best oil mileage for your make of car—in every season.

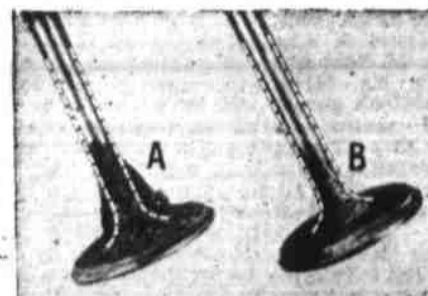

- Controls carbon—cause of knock, pre-ignition, valve failure and loss of power in high-compression engines.
- Combats corrosive acids, rust and deposits that build up on engine parts. Keeps hydraulic valve lifters quiet and free-acting.
- Assures lower oil consumption than the multi-viscosity "all-season" motor oils, because it has natural viscosity and contains no artificial thickeners that break down in your engine.
- Provides the toughest protective film ever developed in a motor oil... assures better engine protection for all cars under all driving conditions.

Available in 3 grades—SAE 10W, SAE 20/20W, SAE 30. Lets you follow your car manufacturer's recommendation for each season.

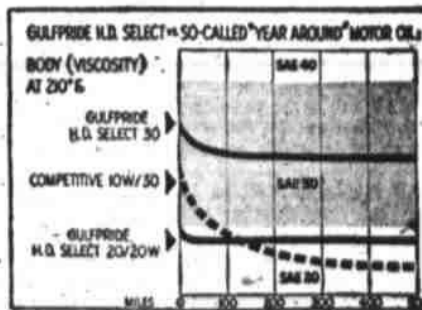

Now! For the ultimate in working octane performance and engine protection, always use Gulf's super-refined gas-oil team...

New Gulfpride H.D. Select Motor Oil

"Coked" valve "A" is from engine using a so-called "all-season," multi-grade oil. Coke-like carbon deposit is a cause of sluggish performance and ultimate valve failure. Clean valve "B" is from engine using new Gulfpride.

See how Gulfpride H.D. Select holds its "body" (viscosity). This new oil contains no artificial thickeners that break down under heat and pressure. But note how quickly a typical multi-viscosity 10W-30 oil starts to lose its body.

NCO ACADEMY REOPENS

Webb's NCO Academy, opened again after being closed for remodeling since May 28, will start two-week courses for airmen first class on July 11, according to M. Sgt. Charles Cameron, school NCOIC.

Attendance at the academy is reported to be a forthcoming requisite for promotion to the grade of staff sergeant in the future. The two-week course is designed to provide the potential staffs with the background knowledge necessary for a noncommissioned officer.

DRIVING ROADEO SCHEDULED

Plans are being made for Webb to again hold Base-level competition in the third annual USAF Vehicle Roadrodeo. The present schedule calls for it to be held on Friday and Saturday, July 8-9.

BIBLE CLASSES PROGRAMMED

Daily Vacation Bible School will be conducted at Webb again this year, announces Chaplain (Maj.) Charles J. Fix, wing chaplain. Registrations can be made at the Chapel Annex, Bldg. T-418, on Saturday, July 9, at 10 a.m.

NEW BOARD ELECTED

Meeting at the NCO Club last Thursday afternoon, members of Webb's Master Sergeants' Association elected themselves a complete new board for the next six months.

Elks To Sponsor Teen-Age Team

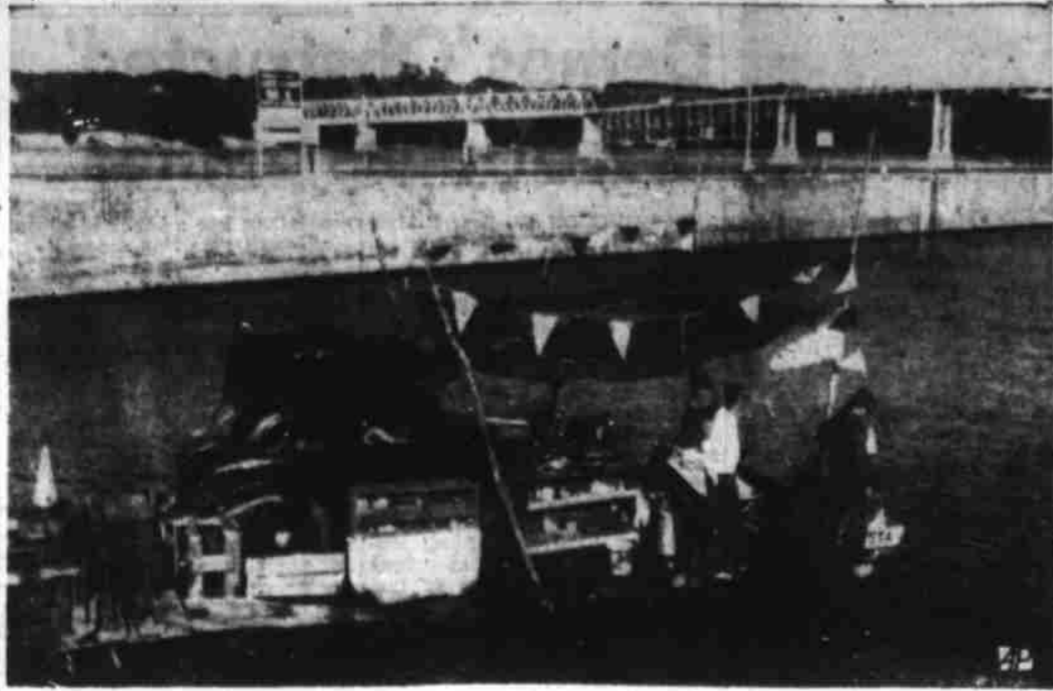

Elks initiated four new members, installed a plaque in memory of H. S. Parrott and voted to sponsor a team in the Teen-Age Baseball League at the meeting Tuesday night.

The group also presented a $50 bond to Glenn Rogers, who won second place in a state essay contest sponsored by the Texas Elks Association. Presentation of the bond was by Dr. Lee O. Rogers, father of the recipient.

The lodge voted to furnish all equipment and uniforms for its Teen-Age baseball entry. Frank Nell will serve as manager of the team which will be formed by the youth activities committee of A. J. Prager.

The plaque was installed on the Elks memorial in honor of Mr. Parrott, who was killed last month in a highway accident.

New members installed were Wallace Hall, Jimmy Johnson, J. B. Williams and D. D. Johnston.

Cruising Down The River

Three University of Minnesota students pass through the locks at Dubuque, Ia., aboard an oil drum raft they hope will take them down the Mississippi River to New Orleans. The boys are David Rufford, Sam Gray and Fred Hollberg, all of St. Paul, Minn. The rear wheels of a 1939 automobile in the center of the raft works as a treadmill for a second rear axle assembly, hitched to a 16-inch propeller to provide power. The steering wheel controls the rudder.

Suggs Gets Second Snyder School Job

Suggs Construction Company has bid in another Snyder school project.

Proposal of Suggs was $155,770 for construction of a shop and band building, lowest of several submitted. Nearest bid was $163,680.

The concern, headed by A. E. Suggs, now has the West Elementary school project under construction at Snyder.

The new plant will be raised on the present junior high campus (formerly the high school) and will have about 16,000 square feet of space. It will be concrete block faced with brick and will have steel roof.

Contract calls for completion within 250 calendar days. Curtis Fish, general superintendent for Suggs, said work would start soon.

The company recently bid in the remodeling of the NCO open mess at Webb AFB on a proposal of $36,990.

Memphis Drops TVA Pact, Plans Own Power Plant

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Frank Tobey, to "eliminate any thought that we are bluffing," yesterday announced that:

1. Memphis had officially notified the Tennessee Valley Authority that it will not renew its present contract to buy TVA power.
2. The City Commission had decided to call off a referendum rather than possibly delay construction of a municipal power plant.

Dixon-Yates supporters had contended that Memphis was bluffing about building its own plant. "We are not bluffing," said the mayor, "and we want the entire country to know how we feel in this thing."

The Memphis-TVA contract expires June 1, 1958. The city now has about three years to get its own generating plant built and into operation.

Denton Pilot Pulled Out Of Puget Sound

SEATTLE (AP) — 1st Lt. Ray Minton, 24, Denton, Tex., was pulled out of Puget Sound yesterday after he parachuted from his jet plane following an air collision with another jet.

Hoover Commission Ends Job Today Wrapped In Controversy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hoover Commission wrapped up its two-year job today embroiled in controversy, but claiming its reorganization plans, if adopted, would balance the budget and permit tax cuts.

Former President Herbert Hoover, its chairman, issued a 19th and "final" report — it isn't quite final because another will be along in mid-July — and prepared to withdraw from public life at age 80.

The group — its formal name is the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government — is due to go out of existence at midnight.

The public power issue caused the commission to expire in a blaze of conflict. A Hoover report on "water resources and power" issued yesterday urged a drastic curtailment of federal power development and larger scope for private utilities.

It drew sharp dissents from 4 of the 12 members, including both Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general in the Roosevelt administration, charged that the report came "dangerously close" to inviting the government to "abdicate" its responsibilities in development of the nation's resources. Rep. Hollifield (D-Calif.) wrote 4 pages of stinging dissent and promised to press his attack on the floor of the House.

Hollifield charged that a 1,800-page report of the commission's task force on power — which he said cost the taxpayers $430,000 — was withheld "deliberately" from public distribution at this time, but is designed, he said, to become company propaganda. A commission spokesman said the task force report was delayed in printing, but might appear next week.

The Foreign Operations Administration, which also dies at midnight, delivered a deathbed kick at the commission in replying to a recent Hoover report on overseas economic operations.

It would "play directly into the Communist hands," the FOA said to adopt the Hoover proposal that America cut off all aid funds for major industrial projects in the Asian-African arc, "except possibly Japan."

This and several other proposals clash with presidential policy, FOA said.

The storm almost overshadowed today's report summarizing the commission's two-year history and aims. It quoted estimates of its various task forces indicating that multibillion-dollar savings could result from adoption of all Hoover recommendations.

The estimates added up to more than 1/2 billion dollars a year, but the commission said this would be excessive because the task force proposals overlapped.

However, another 19 billion dollars could be restored to the Treasury, the commission said, if all surplus and unneeded property assets were liquidated, and if some agencies were obliged to get along with smaller drawing accounts at the Treasury.

The commission settled on this savings estimate in a separate statement:

"If its proposals are carried out, the savings will be sufficient not only to balance the budget but also to ease the taxpayers' burden."

The budget deficit for the 1956 fiscal year starting tomorrow is officially estimated at $2,400,000,000.

Today's report contained only one specific new recommendation. The President's work load should be lightened, it said, by having as many as possible of the 64 agencies which now report directly to him report to some other official. Thirty-three agencies "unavoidably" must report to the President, it acknowledged.

"The commission reported 'considerable progress' in adoption of its previous recommendations. Some 50 actions have been taken by the agencies, it said, and 42 pieces of legislation have been prepared embodying various proposals which require congressional approval.

But even the mild "final report" carried a dissent. Hollifield questioned whether any useful purpose was served by the creation of commissions having broad scope, like the first Hoover Commission of 1947-49 and its present counterpart.

"The members of Congress are better qualified to make policy judgments and to legislate for the national welfare than any 12-man commission," he said.

Judge Overrules College Race Bar

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that the University of Alabama can't refuse enrollment to two Negro women because of their race.

Judge Hobart Grooms, in his ruling yesterday enjoined Dean of Admissions William Adams from refusing the women admittance to the university because they are Negro.

Arthurine J. Lucy and Polly Ann Myers Hudson said they plan to apply for admission to the university at Tuscaloosa, Ala., next September.

She Takes Steps To Safeguard Her Beauty

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Virginia Leith is a rarity among Hollywood's aspiring young actresses. She doesn't want the studio to make her into a glamour girl.

"I just can't compete with the famous beauties here, and I feel kind of ridiculous trying," she explained when I visited her at Twentieth Century-Fox.

Looking at Virginia, it's difficult to understand the basis for this feeling. She has what has become known as the "American Girl" type of beauty — gleaming skin, clear eyes, regular features, crisp, short dark hair and a pert and alive expression.

"I managed to convince the studio that some day they'd need an actress who didn't look like a movie star, so they made no changes except to cut my hair," she told me. "And 'Violent Saturday' came along and you were starred," I remarked.

Virginia feels that she owes a lot to the direction of Natasha Lytess, the drama coach Marilyn Monroe persuaded the studio to put under contract.

I asked Virginia what she did to her skin to keep it looking so radiant.

"My skin is naturally good," she explained. "Often girls with a good skin take advantage of it and neglect it, but I try to take good care of my complexion. I think the sun gives your skin an awful beating so I try to keep out of it as much as I can. Besides, with my dark hair I don't look too good with a tan."

"I don't use soap because it dries my skin. I began using cream a long time ago. I believe in that

'ounce of prevention,'" she laughed.

"An actress friend of mine told me a long time ago, 'Watch those eyelids — the eyes are the first place that shows your age,' so I've made a habit of bathing them with cotton soaked in witch hazel. It rests the eyes and stimulates the circulation at the same time."

"I'm far from being a health bug," Virginia continued, "but I do feel that the things you eat affect your health and your skin. As for diet, I think when you have well-balanced meals you actually eat less. I eat mainly, your weight more easily."

"Your meals may be loaded with calories, yet lacking in nutritional value. I'd rather eat the right foods and not have to worry about dieting. I find that by eating plenty of fish, lean meat, liver, green vegetables, salads and fruit, I have all I want to eat and I don't gain weight."

Virginia has the right idea. She is building beauty from within and taking that stitch in time that will preserve her youth and beauty.

MORE ON COMPLEXION

Jane Russell, like Virginia Leith, has beautiful skin. Do you want to know how she keeps a clear complexion? Jane tells all in Lydia Lane's new beauty booklet, "Your Loveliness I. Q." which is now available to you. In addition you'll find 12 pages of beauty tips from Hollywood's loveliest stars. Get your copy of "Your Loveliness I. Q." by sending only ten cents (10¢) and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty in care of The Big Spring Herald.

No Glamour Girl

Virginia Leith, 20th Century-Fox actress, has that "American Girl" type of beauty. She stars for her studio in "Violent Saturday."

'To Make The Best Better'

Eight 4-H Club Girls Finish Dress Workshop

Today completed a five-day sewing workshop for Howard County 4-H girls who are making dresses under the supervision of Elizabeth Pace, county home demonstration agent, and their mothers.

Eight girls, ranging in ages from 10 to 16, are enrolled in this workshop. They have all, with the exception of one, made a shirt previously during the school year, and now are constructing dresses. Members of the workshop include Jane Blizard of Lomax; Beverly Shockley, Neva Jackson, Janie Jeffcoat and Joyce Robinson of Knott; Joan Davis, Judy Brooks and Zina Kay Robinson of Coahoma; Miss Jeffcoat, the youngest.

Fredda Bonifield Entertains Friends

Dancing and games were the entertainment when Fredda Bonifield gave a party at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julia Bonifield, Wednesday evening.

Refreshments were served buffet from a table laid with a lace cloth and holding an arrangement of summer flowers. Kay Bonifield, sister of the hostess, and her mother assisted in serving.

Attending the party were Sally Atair, Freddie Pittman, Bobbie Bennett, Jerry Dunlap, Tommy Whitley, Mary Read, Johnny Freeman, Joe Smith, Jane Gunn, James Napper, Lynn Clawson, Steve Blair, Nan Rankin, Betty Boykin, Freddie Brown, Judy Foster, Danny McCrary, Shelby Lewis, Buddy Newell and Modesta Simpson.

Wide Political Education Set By Texas AFL

DALLAS (AP)—An extensive, state-wide political education program was in the plans today of AFL unionism in Texas.

Resolutions calling for such a program through the AFL's Labor League for Political Education received rousing endorsements yesterday before the 57th Texas State Federation of Labor convention.

It was resolved that every union local and every trades assembly would organize LLPE chapters and accompanying women's auxiliaries.

Mrs. Doris H. Cates, Fort Worth, was elected temporary president of the newly organized Texas LLPE women's division.

The planned program and resolutions, delegates said, were aimed at electing legislators and other officials friendly to labor and "educating those unfriendly to labor."

Leroy M. Williams, Houston, was re-elected state president. Fifteen vice presidents were elected. And Jerry Holleman, Dallas, was re-named executive secretary and elected delegate to the national AFL convention.

Earlier, the delegates joined in proclaiming Sept. 5 a "day of infamy" in protest of what they term anti-labor legislation passed by the Texas Legislature.

They will wear black armbands on the day a bill sponsored by Sen. George Parkhouse, Dallas, becomes law. The bill prohibits picketing to force an employer to bargain, recognize a union, or for purposes of union organizing unless the union represents a majority of employees affected.

AFL officials called for a state-wide protest and said the measure would be especially harmful to the AFL because it organizes workers by crafts and often does not represent all crafts in a given plant.

Waste Charged

Crockett Pops Up At College Meeting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Davy Crockett, whose name seems to pop up every place these days, even got into the act today at the convention of the American Assn. of University Women.

Sociologist Paul H. Haudis of Washington State College in an address prepared for delivery to the 2,500 women delegates talked of security, the major value of a changing age.

"Only the children of today see Davy Crockett as an ideal man in an ideal world," he said. "The adults want a guaranteed annual wage, a social security number, academic tenure, Blue Cross and a pension plan."

"The daring venturesomeness of our frontier society with its rugged individualists, its Davy Crocketts and Daniel Boones, and later its railroad kings and empire builders its economic royalists and industrial tycoons, has had to give way to programs for the common safety."

Haudis said the great need for emotional security has made marriage more important than ever.

"In the marriage relationship young people today depend on a single individual for the satisfaction of their need for emotional security—a need once met by the great family and the neighborhood," he said.

"They find it in marriage or they miss it altogether. If they miss it, theirs is the life-long quest, for without it life is empty."

The sociologist said college youth today are depreciating romance as the major value in premarriage courting.

"Thanks to family life education in high school and college," he added, "the dominant value sought today is companionship."

The delegates last night voted legislative "statements of principles" including resolutions calling for: Support of measures for effective participation in and operation of the United Nations and its affiliated agencies;

Support of a constructive foreign policy implemented by existing constitutional provisions;

Extension of reciprocal trade agreements;

Cooperation with other countries for the use of atomic energy toward peaceful means; and

Modification of immigration laws to permit freer movement of persons.

Red Attack Victims Describe Air Incident

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The Navy Neptune shot down by Russian attackers over the Bering Sea last week was over international waters and two Russian MIGs took part, crew members say.

First interviews allowed with the seven painfully burned and wounded fliers yesterday bore out, with colorful detail, the terse State Department description of the international incident a week ago. Their crippled plane crash-landed and burned on St. Lawrence Island a week ago yesterday and the 11 aboard scrambled to safety, with four soon returning to duty.

Ensign David G. Essard, Terryville, Conn., the navigator who charted the plane's course on its routine mission, put it: "I know damned well we weren't within Russian bounds when we were fired upon."

Aviation Ordnanceman Donald E. Sonnek, Minnesota Lake, Minn., said:

"I was looking out of one of the two windows in the aft station when I suddenly saw this Russian plane. It was firing tracers. Sure, I knew right off it was a Russian plane."

He had no time to shout a warning before a bullet ripped into the ship.

"There had to be another MIG," he said, "because the bullets came from a different side than where I saw the plane firing the tracers."

He admitted, however, he saw only one Russian plane.

The seven men, talking from wheel chairs and their beds at the Air Force base hospital here, gave high praise to Lt. Richard H. Fischer, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Aviation Machinist Mate Thaddeus Maziarz, Oakland, Calif.

Maziarz, who fed fuel to the one good engine from leaking and burning gas tanks to bring the crippled ship in for the crash-landing, had little to say.

"My first thoughts when we were hit were, 'If I could only get a chance to get at one of our guns . . .'" he said. "But he knew he was needed on the fuel line."

The seven men will be flown to the States for further medical treatment.

Last week in San Francisco.

Cap Company On Blacklist

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy yesterday blacklisted Sol Schlesinger's Ideal Uniform Cap Co. of Freeport, N. Y., because he refused to give senators his records.

Schlesinger on June 23 declined to let the Senate Investigations subcommittee see the company's books and records. It had sought them in its search for evidence of graft in the purchase of armed forces uniforms.

Air Raid Test Gets Approval

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—South Bend's Operation Exit today had the approval stamp of civil defense officials who found out it's easier to get the man-on-the-street out into the country than to get him back again.

The outbound file flowed from the 400-block test area yesterday with a minimum of confusion or traffic snarls, in the nation's first evacuation test of a large cross-sectional population.

Jams didn't develop until the "evacuees" did a turnabout and started back to homes and offices. By then, the overheated motor was the chief culprit.

Times Reporter, Former Red, Tells Of Korea Tiff Over Story

WASHINGTON (AP)—Charles Grutzner, a New York Times reporter, acknowledged today to investigating senators today that he was a Communist in the 1930s. One senator told him an Air Force general had requested he be removed from the Korean War theater for filing a story disclosing P86 Sabre Jets had gone into action.

Grutzner, testifying before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, said he never heard of this before and said that his story had been cleared by the Pentagon in Washington before it was published in the Times.

In telling of onetime Communist membership, Grutzner said he quit the party in 1940 in a "clean break" having become satisfied in his own mind that it was not run on "democratic principles."

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), the subcommittee chairman, said a request that Grutzner be removed from the Korean theater was made on Dec. 19, 1950, by Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie.

Eastland said, however, he was not stating that Grutzner had been ordered out of Korea.

Grutzner denied that he was removed as a correspondent from the Korean theater. He said another reporter was on the way to replace him before he filed the story about the Sabre Jets.

Subcommittee counsel J. G. Sourwine questioned Grutzner about another story Grutzner had written for the Times from Korea, a story which Sourwine said subsequently was picked up by the Daily Worker, Communist party organ in New York City.

Sourwine said the article "served the purposes" of the Communists.

SENT TO IKE $32 Billion For Services Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress today sent President Eisenhower the year's biggest money bill—nearly $32 billion dollars for the armed forces—without debate and by voice vote.

The House acted first. Immediately afterward the Senate adopted the conference agreement on the bill.

The measure finances defense forces for the fiscal year starting tomorrow.

The final package earmarks $7,329,953,000 for the Army, $9,118,179,556 for the Navy and $14,739,763,170 for the Air Force, including an extra $56 million dollars tacked on at Secretary of Defense Wilenski's request to speed the output of B-52 jet bombers.

That plus $694,920,000 for the Defense Department and interservice activities comes to $31,882,815,726—about $50 million less than what President Eisenhower asked.

But the legislators threw in an extra 46 million dollars to countermand Eisenhower's planned 22,000-man cutback in Marine Corps. The Senate by a 40-39 vote added 46 millions to keep the Marine Corps at present levels, and the amount was retained in a Senate-House compromise worked out by conferees late yesterday. The defense budget in effect approves a larger manpower cutback ordered for the Army in the coming year.

The compromise carries 356 million dollars more than was voted by the House to speed up production of the Air Force's long-range heavy jet bomber, the B-52.

Swim Schedule Changes Made

Schedule changes for the July period of the swimming courses have been announced to accommodate the anticipated increase in numbers.

Miss Kitty Holley of the YMCA said that around 400 are expected before deadline time falls Friday at 5 p.m. Registration is to be done at the YMCA building.

Instead of meeting class every day, as was the case in June, pupils will report every other day, and the length of the period has been extended to three instead of two weeks. Classes will meet for 45-minute periods, as follows:

Monday, Wednesday and Friday—Those who did not take lessons in June—Boys 8:30 a.m.-9:15 a.m., girls 9:15 a.m. to 10 a.m. Tuesday and Thursday—Those who did take lessons in June and who are returning as beginners—Boys 8:30 a.m.-9:15 a.m., girls 9:15 a.m.-10 a.m.

Intermediate and advanced students will come from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. every day.

Classes will begin Tuesday, July 5, with the Tuesday-Thursday group meeting on Wednesday, the Monday-Wednesday-Friday group will report for the first time.

Instruction will be concluded by July 22.

The pool must be vacated by 10 a.m. daily to avoid conflict with youngsters from the Baptist encampment.

I. W. Kidd, 77, Dies Here Today

They Willis Kidd, 77, a Big Spring resident for eight years, died early today in a hospital. He had been ill for six months.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church with Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under direction of River Funeral Home.

Mr. Kidd was a retired carpenter and until recently had served as manager of an apartment house at 605 Main.

He is survived by his wife, four stepsons, Durwood Rice of Big Spring, Rudy Rice of San Antonio, G. W. Rice of the U. S. Army, Puerto Rico, and Norris Rice of Evansville, Ind.; a nephew, J. C. Gladney of Henderson and two nieces, Mrs. Otis Greene and Mrs. Nadine Hancock, both of Henderson.

77 Hoe Hands Placed By TEC

With the cotton chopping season in full swing, the Texas Employment Commission here reported placing 10 crews of 77 men in this county last month.

The monthly total of agricultural placements was 86, the TEC having also placed nine on other farm jobs.

The commission also announced that 29 handicapped persons and 48 veterans were among the 219 non-agricultural placements in June.

There were 288 new applications filed last month with 146 of them female and 47 veterans. There were 225 openings received in June.

New initial claims for the month totaled 49 while there were 322 continued claims.

Lions Consider Improvement Of SA Playground

A decision on whether to major in a long-range project of improving the Salvation Army playground in western Big Spring is to be reached next Wednesday by the Lions Club.

Gil Jones, who was filling the chair for the last time as president, presented to the club the recommendation of the board of directors that the project be undertaken.

As a matter of principle, he said, directors felt that work should be taken on the basis of several years' possible time. Details of improvement would be worked out subsequently if the membership votes to commit itself to the program, Jones explained.

Among guests for the day was Bill Ayres, Elmhurst, Ill., who is a zone leader in his district and interested in youth work. In a brief talk, he pointed out that the solution to many juvenile problems lay first of all in sound counseling.

Presbyterians In Lamesa Planning For New Building

LAMESA — Construction of a new First Presbyterian Church will be discussed at a meeting of the Survey Committee this evening in the home of Mrs. Matt McCall.

Plans for a sanctuary, kitchen, recreation room, nursery and other parts are in the making.

One of the purposes of the session this evening is to elect a chairman of the Survey Committee. Mrs. McCall has been serving in that capacity. Skeet Norret is overall chairman of the planning committee. Carroll Taylor serves as chairman of the assignment committee while H. M. Stover serves as its secretary.

A block in the north part of town has already been purchased for the new church.

3 Lamesa Youths To Attend Detroit Key Club Meeting

LAMESA — Three Lamesa boys will leave Friday to attend the International Key Club convention in Detroit, Mich., July 3-6.

Tommy Kuger, one of the three, will compete in the oratorical finals July 5 in Detroit. He is winner of the Texas-Oklahoma district contest.

The other two are Charles Zecek and Benny Lybrand. Zecek is president of the local chapter while Lybrand serves as lieutenant governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district and is vice president of the local club.

Expenses of all three will be paid on the trip. They will board a special train in Dallas which leaves for the convention site Friday.

Cattle Market Stronger Here

The market was stronger in all classes of cattle at the Big Spring Livestock Auction Company's sale Wednesday.

The largest run of hogs in several months, an estimated 125, occurred. In addition, 400 cattle were sent through the ring.

Bulls sold up to 14.00, fat cows from 19.50 to 23.00, butcher cows from 7.50 to 9.00 and fat butcher calves and yearlings from 17.00 to 21.00.

Stocker steer calves went for 18.50 to 20.50, heifer calves from 13.00 to 16.00, cow beside calves for 90.00 to 135.00 and hogs up to 19.00.

Fine Assessed In Angelo Tax Case

E. B. Trego, district supervisor of the State Comptroller office, has returned from San Angelo where a case against a businessman was filed under his supervision.

Trego said the operator of a motor car in San Angelo refused to pay the $5 fee to obtain a 1955 store tax license. He was fined $25 and court costs.

Trego emphasized that the $5 tax must be paid each year by the operator of a store in which goods are sold. Violation of this law can bring up to a $25 fine for each day after the deadline.

Beauty Pageantry To Be Rehearsed

Two more practice sessions remain for contestants for the title of Miss Big Spring and Miss Howard County before the crowning event July 4.

Lorena Brooks, directing the pageant for the Business & Professional Women's Club, said one would be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the City Park Amphitheatre, the other at the same hour Friday. In event of inclement weather, practice would be shifted to the city auditorium.

Names of several additional sponsors and contestants were announced, including Belva Jo Wren (McGibbons Oil Company), Joyce Hill (Howard County Farm Bureau), Anne White (Red Chain Feed), Sherry Fuller (C. & F. Grocery), Clara Gull (7-Up Bottling Company).

T. R. Davidson Dies Of Attack

T. R. (Peeler) Davidson, 36, son of a pioneer Howard County couple, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Davidson, died Wednesday afternoon of a heart attack.

He was born in Howard County on Mar. 27, 1919, and lived practically all of his life here. He was stricken at his home at 1413 Wood early Wednesday afternoon and died about an hour after reaching the hospital.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p.m. Friday at the Trinity Baptist Church with the pastor, Rev. Jack Power, officiating. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley's Funeral Home.

Mr. Davidson operated a farm near Big Spring for several years, but recently he was employed as a mechanic by the Texas Consolidated Transport Company. He had been a member of the Trinity Baptist Church since 1934.

Survivors include his parents, his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Curtis Tomlin of Sunnyside, Ga., and Joyce Davidson of Big Spring; one son, Gerald, of Big Spring; five sisters, Mrs. T. C. Morton, Mrs. Rex Edwards, Mrs. D. L. Knight, Mrs. Carl Hammack and Mrs. Maud Nix, all of Big Spring, and six brothers, Walter, Rufus, L. J. and R. B. Davidson, all of Big Spring; R. O. Davidson of Andrews, and Henry Davidson of Quemodo.

Pallbearers will be Leonard Hanson, Walker Bailey, Rip Bailey, Dan Scott, Hack Robertson, M. D. Cross, Garland Sanders, and Morris Sneed.

Father Of Lamesa Man Is Improved

LAMESA — Local friends of DeWayne Davis, manager of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, have been cheered by the news that Cecil Davis, DeWayne's father, is improved following a heart attack suffered in Midland earlier in the week.

The elder Mr. Davis will be taken home from Midland Memorial Hospital this weekend.

Young People Sign For YMCA Camp

Several young people have been selected as delegates to the summer YMCA leader training camp. At least half a dozen others are expected to be signed, said Grover C. Good, general secretary for the YMCA.

The encampment will be Aug. 21-26 at the San Antonio YMCA facilities at Hunt in the Kerrville area. Dave Sanford, youth director at the San Antonio Y, will be in charge.

Among those who have been named to go to the camp so far are Cecilia McDonald, Wesley Grayby, Buddy Barnes, Danne Green, Mary Lane Edwards, Mary Sue Hale, Bennie Compton, Janet Hogan, Jacqueline Smith, Richard Enloe, Gary Tidwell, Carroll Glenn, George Oldham and Mrs. Kitty Holley are due to accompany the group as sponsors.

Two Speeding Charges Filed In JP Court

Two speeding charges were filed in Justice court today. One person was fined $35 for driving 95 in a 35 mph zone.

Another was fined $11.50 for making a false statement on an exam.

JAYCEE PREXY PROMISES TO WHIP A LION

Larson Lloyd has himself an opponent for that feature "Kook-off" race at the Soap Box Derby Monday.

Lloyd, new president of the Lions Club, issued a challenge for some other club prexy to meet him in a duel of the coasters.

And his challenge was promptly snapped up by John Taylor, chief of the Jaycees. Said Taylor:

"I was willing to wait a few hours to see if some other club president wanted to tackle Bro. Lloyd. But, just as I suspected, there were no takers, for reasons of sanity or otherwise.

"But I want Bro. Lloyd to know that he no longer has to wonder about a contestant. His brazen utterances merely substantiate Jaycees' opinion that Lions are all bark and no bite. And after Monday they will wish they had barked less. I will be coming down that track, looking back over my shoulder at the piddling Lloyd. He can't say he wasn't warned."

Borden, Howard Wells Finaled, Sterling County Gets Location

Completions were logged in the Jo-Mill field of Borden and the Howard-Glasscock field of Howard County this morning. In Sterling, a new field location has been spotted in the West Jameson field. Wildcat locations have been staked in Coke and Rannels counties.

The Howard-Glasscock completion is Continental No. 41 Settles with a 108-barrel potential. In the Jo-Mill field, Blanco No. 1-2 Miller pumped 256 barrels of oil to complete. The Sterling County location is Inman No. 1 Knight and is scheduled for 7,500 feet in the West Jameson (Strawn) field. The Coke County wildcat location is Wells No. 1-A McCutcheon six miles north of Brent. It is headed for 6,400 feet. Drillsite is 330 from north and east lines. 400-1A-H&TC survey. The wildcat location in Rannels is Youngblood and Youngblood No. 1 Walter Nidhus and is scheduled for 5,000 feet with rotary. Drillsite is 330 from south.

Rodeo Music To Be By Hoyle Nix

Hoyle Nix and his famous West Texas Cowboys, one of the area's more popular string bands, will furnish music for the annual Big Spring Cowboy Rodeo and Reunion. The announcement was made Thursday by E. P. Driver, secretary. Nix's musicians will not only play prior to the performances Aug. 3-4-5-6, but also will cue the various specialty acts. This is not a new assignment, for over the nearly quarter of a century that the rodeo has been going, Nix and his Cowboys have played for the show.

The Webb AFB band and the Big Spring Community band are scheduled to play in the parade which will precede the opening round on Aug. 3.

First of the surrounding Sheriff posse groups to accept an invitation to take part in the parade and grand entry is the Lynn County group. Visiting posse will be feted to a barbecue at the city park. Malcolm Patterson, parade chairman, is supervising details.

Musical Show Gets Under Way

LAMESA — The Jaycee-sponsored musical show, "Holiday Ahoy," scheduled July 21-22, is getting underway with selection of a cast. Virginia Caldwell, Alamogordo, N. M., in charge of producing the show, is a dramatic major from Pennsylvania State College and has had extensive experience in both Little Theatre and radio productions.

In conjunction with the show, a "Tiny Tot" popularity contest will be conducted for children through 6 years of age.

The production is being staged in an effort to pay off the recently constructed Boy Scout hut, sponsored by the Jaycees, and to help in sponsoring Little League baseball teams.

Old Angelo Road Paving Postponed

Paving of the old San Angelo Highway southwest of the City Park has been postponed until next Tuesday, Foster Dickey, county engineer, reported today.

The road will be opened to traffic probably Friday. The primer coat of asphalt was installed on the reconstructed roadbed, but it must cure for 24 hours without traffic.

Dickey said paving will be started by W. D. Caldwell next Tuesday. The county crews and equipment will be moved to Airport Street, west of the railroad spur in west Big Spring, to start preparations for paving there, also next Tuesday. That road also will be closed when work starts.

Injunction Denied In Land Title Suit

A temporary injunction was refused in 118th District Court Wednesday in the case of Mrs. Laura T. Anderson vs. the Fort Worth Pipe and Supply Company and others.

Mrs. Anderson applied for the injunction against the holding of a public sale for disposing of land she claims. In her petition, Mrs. Anderson stated that she did not sign a warranty deed conveying the east half of Section 1, Block 34, Township 1-South, T&P Survey, to her son, Eugene R. Anderson. The deed was filed for record Nov. 20, 1954, according to the petition.

Fort Worth Pipe and Supply Company secured a writ of attachment against the land through a Tarrant County district court. The firm also received judgment for $5,807.29 against Eugene R. Anderson in a debt suit.

Sale of the land is set for 10 a.m. July 5. Proceeds are to be applied to Anderson's alleged debt, according to documents filed in the case.

Pair Transferred From County Jail

David Gonzales and Joe Dell Matthews were transferred from the Howard County jail to Mineral Wells and Snyder, respectively, today.

Both were being held on charges here, but no indictments were returned by the grand jury. Gonzales, a soldier stationed at Camp Wolters, was being returned to military authorities. Matthews, who faces a two-year prison sentence from Snyder, was returned to Security County authorities.

One Mishap Listed

Only one minor accident was reported in the city Wednesday. A collision in the 1000 block of East Fourth involved drivers Dorothy Irene Holloway, M. I. I. A. and Leonard Garrett, Stanton. No injuries or major damage was reported.

ATC Chief Arrives

Col. Charles M. Young, left, Webb AFB commander, greets Lt. Gen. Charles T. Myers, Air Training Command head, as the latter arrives at Webb. Gen. Myers, on a tour of ATC bases, was briefed on the AFROTC program at Webb and attended the graduation of pilot class SS-Q this morning. He was to go from Big Spring to Lubbock this afternoon.

Martins Stroke Cops To 5-4 Triumph

ODESSA, (SC) — The Big Spring Cosden Cops benefited from good spot pitching on the part of Marcus Job and Kosse Hill to defeat Odessa, 5-4, here Wednesday night and move out of the Longhorn League cellar. Hobbs lost twice to Artesia to drop a full game behind the Big Springers in the battle for seventh place. The Martin brothers, Manager Bob and Floyd, combined to give the Cops the needed make power. Bob batted in three runs with two singles and an infield out while Floyd clubbed his fourth home run of the season, a solo blast, in the sixth.

Job worked until one out deep in the seventh inning and received credit for his second victory of the season. He has lost once. Hill came in to hurl the final 2-3 rounds and surrendered only three hits.

The Ollers had the tying run at third base when Hill retired Jim Ackers for the final out.

Dale Scales, with his fourth hit of the night, had doubled with one away, then advanced to third on Lefty Loyko's ground ball to Mario Sabari at shortstop.

Nick Cappell, the Cops' shortstop, was thrown out of the game in the ninth for protesting a decision at third base. He had led off the inning with a double and tried to advance to third when Frank Billings skied to Jim Ackers in right.

Ackers then threw to Bob Smith to catch Cappell.

Mike Rainey will go to the mound for Big Spring this evening, as the Cops seek their second win over the Ollers. Odessa is due to counter with Dick Stombach, ace of the Odessa staff. Rainey will be seeking his seventh win of the season.

Big Spring's Frosty Robison has quite a fan in Rusk, Texas. Collins L. Mayfield of that city has written this window, asking all about the young football star. He wants a picture of the all-star.

An SMU football fan of long standing, Mayfield describes himself as a hospitalized, totally and permanently disabled veteran.

Bob Honeycutt, football coach at Forsan High School, and Bill Boll, who will serve Knott High School in the dual capacity of superintendent and coach next fall, are classmates at North Texas State College this summer.

Both are working toward their masters degrees.

Decision of Forsan's Albert Oglesby to attend North Texas was quite a blow to Coach Harold Davis and HCJC.

The tall, young man—an all-around athlete at Forsan—was being counted on to play a lot of basketball for the Jayhawks the next two seasons.

Oglesby is 5-foot-5 and still growing.

Davis, incidentally, returned only last weekend from San Diego, Calif., where he went through two weeks training with the Marine Corps Reserves. That's an annual chore with him.

The veterans of two Jima and other Pacific battles holds a captain's commission in the MC Reserves.

George McAllister, track coach at HCJC, is undergoing three months training in the MCR at San Diego. He'll be back here Sept. 1.

While in Camp, Davis was assigned to the same outfit with Harry Simmons, who might bring his Pueblo Junior College team to the fourth annual Howard College Basketball Tournament here in December; Hayden Fry, a coaching aide at Odessa; Bob Trout the former Baylor end who will probably go into pro football; and Max Snodgrass, principal of Lake View High School.

It was a little late in getting here, but the official All West Zone basketball team for 1955 was awaiting Davis upon his return here. It had been mailed to Coach Bob Carter of Amarillo College about June 1.

The first team was composed of Jim Knotts and Paschal Wickard, both of HCJC; Virgil Trower, Odessa; Richard Chandler, Amarillo; and Max Noble, Frank Phillips.

The second team included Arlen White, HCJC; Jim Heasley, Amarillo; Frank Dunn, Frank Phillips; Jasper Peoples, Clearndon; and Horace (Tuffy) Zellars, Odessa.

Gaining honorable mention were Ray Crooks and Wiley Brown of HCJC; Harold Riddle and Gordon Todd of Amarillo; Dugan Johnson, Jimmy Coulter, Shelby Stapleton and Waymon Bradley, all of Odessa.

The unusual thing about the teams is that Zellars, named to the second team, wasn't even a starter or a regular at Odessa.

FIGHT CONTRACT COULD BE SIGNED BY FRIDAY

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano was expected to agree today or perhaps tomorrow to place his heavyweight boxing crown on the line against Archie Moore in September but one thing seemed certain—the fight likely will not be held on the West Coast.

Boxing promoter Cal Eaton of Los Angeles offered yesterday to guarantee $1 million dollars for the heavyweight title scrap if the International Boxing Club would stage it either in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum or in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

But Truman Gibson, secretary of the IBC, immediately threw cold water on the offer by saying the IBC "is not too interested" in promoting a heavyweight title fight on the West Coast.

Jim Norris, president of the IBC, could not be reached for comment but it was believed he would be in New York today for a conference with Al-Wel, Marciano's manager, and Charney Johnston, who pilots Moore, the veteran light heavyweight champion.

The conference could well result in formal announcement of the fight but the date and site probably would not be forthcoming for several days. Both Wells and Johnston have said they prefer New York, probably in mid-September either at the Polo Grounds or the Yankee Stadium.

Chicago, New Orleans, Houston and Milwaukee have also been mentioned.

Gibson expressed doubt that the fight would draw a million dollars on the West Coast and added, "It will do more than a million any way in Chicago or New York and our business is mostly in the East."

Big Weekend Of Racing Is Carded At Ruidoso Downs

RUIDOSO, N.M. (SC)—Some of the finest races of the season along with the most attractive purses will be offered as Ruidoso Downs opens a gigantic three-day weekend with racing on Saturday, Sunday, and Monday.

Last year a total of over $180,000 was wagered on the fourth of July. Prospects are strong for an even better handle and attendance this week since the first six days of the season have already shown an increase of nearly thirty per cent.

Ruidoso has scheduled a three-year-old quarter horse derby this year and racing fans will have an opportunity of securing a preview of many of these derby prospects in action in the tenth race for Saturday, J. B. Ferguson's Diamond Mar, one of the top-three-year-olds of the country has been entered along with six other including such standouts as Nevo Jimmie, Top Gain; Bella St. Mary, who won a good race on the coast this year; Sorrel Billy; and Gold Note, who finished close in last week's quarter horse feature.

Saturday's feature race has been carded at six furlongs as eight top thoroughbreds of the $2,000 claiming tag will catch strides.

Just how good this field has been matched and just how tough the competition will be is evident in the fact that several of the horses that have secured a position in this race have been running in handicaps at the meeting and have fared rather well.

Oak Flata and Anna Charge are the newcomers, while Valor Second,

By The Associated Press

The way things are going these days, the Chicago White Sox and the Cleveland Indians look like they're smack dab between the devil and the deep blue sea in the American League race.

Dem ol' debil New York Yankees are up there in front, getting more ornery every day. And to the immediate rear are the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox, just itching to wash Chicago and the Tribe out of their second and third-place berths.

The White Sox looked to be on their way out as they dropped their fourth straight to Detroit 8-2 yesterday. A 1-4 Cleveland suffered another jolt in a 12-4 pasting by Kansas City.

New York, meanwhile, clobbered Baltimore twice, 9-2 and 7-3, while Boston continued its steady victory diet with a 6-3 success at Washington.

The Yanks, who have won 10 of their last 11 (only half of them against the second division), now are five games up on the second-place White Sox and seven ahead of the Tribe. Detroit is only three behind the Indians, and the Red Sox, who have won 19 of 23, are just half a game farther back.

In the National, crippled Brooklyn was battered by a revived Willie Mays as the New York Giants reclaimed fourth place with a 6-1 victory. Mays, shaking his slump, drove in all six runs against the first-place Dodgers, who have lost power guy Roy Campanella with a knee injury.

Milwaukee drew to within half a game of second-place Chicago by pelting the Cubs 14-1. Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 6-3 and St. Louis rapped Cincinnati 9-5 as Stan Musial reached the 2,500-hit mark.

The Tigers smacked the White Sox quick and hard to win their fifth game in six starts. Five straight hits, including Al Kaline's three-run homer, made for a five-run first inning that chased Harry Byrd and got Billy Hoert started on his eighth victory.

Cleveland lost its fourth in six games as Gus Zernial and Harry Simpson homered home four runs in the A's 16-hit barrage against loser Bob Felier and three relievers: Bobby Shantz won it with help from Tom Gorman.

The Yanks rolled on as Bob Turley became the fourth AL pitcher to win 10 this season in the opener. Gil McDougal got a four-run seventh under way with a two-run triple in the nightcap, won by Tom Morgan.

Boston breezed against the Nats, getting 13 hits in support of Ike Delock, who went all the way for his sixth victory after being idle almost a month with a sore shoulder. Billy Goodman tripled, doubled and singled in the Soxos attack.

A single and two home runs by Mays—one his first major league grand slammer—shook up the Dodgers, who got only three hits off Ruben Gomez.

Hank Aaron belted two home runs and Ed Matthews and Joe Adcock one each as Milwaukee and Lew Burdette downed the Cubs. Hank Sauer homered for the lone Chicago run. Howie Pollet suffered his first defeat.

Musial's mid-post hit was one of three Cardinal home runs off loser Rudy Minarcin. A five-run eighth inning won it for Frank Smith, sixth Cardinal pitcher.

The Phils defeated the Bucs with a five-run second inning that got its drive from Roy Smalley's bases-loaded triple.

Sports Nearer Top Division

By The Associated Press

Shreveport's Sports, playing the best ball in the Texas League the past week, hovered on the rim of the first division Thursday as the race tightened a mile with Dallas lead out to seven games.

The Sports, winners of six of their last seven, were in a virtual tie with Houston and Fort Worth for fourth place. They were just one percentage point back of those two worthies.

It has marked a long, hard pull for Shreveport but the big bats that had been so silent for most of the first half were booming at last. Les Fleming, Edgie Browne and Nellie Daehn did the job Wednesday night as Shreveport stormed to a 9-7-inning triumph over Houston.

By SKIPPER PATRICK

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A pair of tested pros — Louise Suggs and Patty Berg stepped into the opening National Open golf tournament today as co-favorites.

Miss Suggs is the leading money winner for 16 tournaments this year and Miss Berg is No. 2 in earnings.

Both favorites, however, predicted a wide-open battle for the title. For the first time in brief history of the $7,500 meet, distance and par for the Wichita Country Club course were not to be set until shortly before the scheduled 10 a. m. Central Standard Time first round tee-off. Both figures depended on the wind.

Secretary Joe Ley of the USGA reiterated last night that distance could be trimmed from 6,330 yards to 6,290 and par changed from 71 to 72, all depending on the wind. The weather bureau here forecast strong Southerly winds for the third straight day and predicted showers for the afternoon, indicating the course would be shortened.

Wallace (Bud) Smith Is Crowned New Champion

BOSTON (AP)—Wallace (Bud) Smith, master of the short, slashing left hook, hoped his "Gypsy" days were over today as the new lightweight champion of the world.

Smith, the 26-year-old Cincinnati Negro, gave Jimmy Carter the worst beating of his career last night at Boston Garden but had no easy time in gaining a split decision in 15 blood-spattered rounds. It was the third time Carter has lost the lightweight crown.

"I want to be a fighting champion," Smith said afterward. "No one could recall Carter ever being cut or badly in his 88-bout professional life. The 31-year-old New Yorker required 15 stitches—nine over his right eye and six over his left—after appearing in his 11th title fight.

The only time Carter was ever stopped was due to an eye cut in 1947 in a fight with Charley Lewis in Hartford, Conn.

Smith himself needed three stitches over his left eye.

BY NIPPING REED Legion Clinches First Half Title

The American Legion clinched first place in the Texas Little League by defeating Reed Oil, 5-3, in a well-played contest at Little League park here last night.

The Legionnaires made the most of five hits and two-hit pitching on the part of Joe Ramirez, who struck out eight and walked only two.

Charley Johnson pitched very well for Reed Oil, walking three and fanning seven.

Ronnie Supercinski got the only two hits for the losers. He singled in the fourth and again in the sixth. Ronnie Suggs of the Legion got the game's only extra base hit, a run-producing double.

In the other game, the Locals trounced the Oilers, 13-5, despite the fact that they got only five hits.

The Locals plated nine runs in the fifth inning to come from behind. They sent 15 batters to the plate in that round. Only three base hits resulted but walks and errors proved disastrous for the Oilers.

'PAY-WHAT-YOU-WISH' NIGHT SET SATURDAY

Another in a series of "Pay-What-You-Wish" nights will be staged at Steer Park Saturday night, at which time the Big Spring Cosden Cops play host to the Roswell Rockets in the second of a two-game series.

Bad weather, which seems to coincide with the Cops' home stands, has brought on another financial crisis in the Cop front office.

The "Pay-What-You-Wish" promotion, wherein a barrel is placed at the gate and fans drop in whatever they want to gain admission rather than stop at the box office, will — the management hopes — help meet the upcoming payroll.

The Bobbies were weathered out completely in their last home game, after having drawn only 804 paid admissions the previous two nights.

The Cops will be here for five nights in their next home stand. Club Owner Pepper Martin has not been making any long range plans because of his financial worries but is hoping for the best, especially since the team has now pulled out of the Longhorn League cellar and will at least come home in seventh place.

The team has a double header coming up with Odessa and it is tentatively set for the evening of July 4 but Martin is undecided what to do in view of the fact that other promotions are scheduled for that day. The Soap Box Derby takes place during the day. Two local golf tournaments will be going on while a Bathing Beauty Revue will be held at the Munny swimming pool at night.

It's possible the twin bill will be played on the following evening.

Campy Cleared In NY Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers' catcher Roy Campanella, questioned for three hours yesterday in a State Liquor Authority bribery probe, said: "I've been clear from the word 'go'."

Campanella was called by the office of State Investigation Commissioner J. Irwin Shapiro in connection with the transfer of his liquor store license from Queens to Harlem. Authorities contend that many such transfers were possible only through bribery of liquor authority agents.

"I assure you there was nothing under the table," Campanella told newsmen as he emerged beaming after the questioning. "I can truthfully say that there's nothing to be ashamed of. My books are on the up and up."

Shapiro himself declined to discuss Campanella's case.

The seeping probe of the State Liquor Authority began last February, when Shapiro's office presented the agency's 290-odd officials with financial questionnaires. Since then, 18 SLA employees have left their jobs when they refused to air their personal finances.

Shapiro said yesterday that only a handful of agency employees have filled out 70-page questionnaires. Campanella said he invested $9,000 in a package store in Flushing, Queens, in 1951, and then transferred it to Harlem.

Girl Finalists To Be Decided

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Four American girls—the world's greatest amateur tennis players of their sex—sort themselves out on Wimbledon's famed center court today to see who'll play Saturday for the cherished All-England singles title.

The only thing certain about it all is that the ultimate champion will be from the United States—just as in the last 11 years. All four moved into today's semifinals with the loss of little more than a handful of games each.

Once Hero, Ex-PW Gets 8-Year Term

NEW YORK. (AP)—Cpl. Harold M. Dunn, once given a hero's welcome by his native Baldwinville, N.Y., has been sentenced to eight years at hard labor for aiding the Communist enemy while a prisoner in North Korea.

A seven-man court-martial which pronounced the sentence yesterday also ordered a dishonorable discharge for the 26-year-old soldier and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Dunn, a heavy-set, tall man, took the sentence calmly. He snapped to a smart salute and wordlessly returned to his seat. But his young, broad face showed strain.

Moments before the sentencing he told the court that his conduct in North Korea "was a tragic mistake for which I am sorry."

"It did not take me long to realize as soon as I was repatriated that I had been wrong in what I had done as a prisoner," he interrupted the trial Tuesday to plead guilty to the charges of writing articles praising the Red enemy and making broadcasts from North Korea urging Ameri-

Compromise Approved In Suit For Damages

A compromise settlement for $1,750 was approved in district court Wednesday in a suit filed by Agnes Evelyn Mims, individually and as guardian of William Henderson Coots III, against the Gillette Motor Transport Company.

Mrs. Mims and her husband, Will P. Mims, petitioned for $15,850 in the suit for damages. The damages were asked as a result of a car-truck collision at the east city limits on Sept. 14, 1954. William H. (Dub) Coots, father of William H. Coots III, was killed in the crash.

H. V. WILSHIRE

Bus Line Names District Chief

H. V. Wilshire is Southwestern Greyhound Lines' new district manager over territory ranging from Dallas to El Paso and including Big Spring.

Oval Massey, Fort Worth, vice president of Southwestern Greyhound, today announced the appointment.

Wilshire's territory, recently enlarged, covers Dallas to San Antonio, Dallas to Oklahoma City, Dallas to Memphis and Dallas to El Paso. He goes to Dallas, his new headquarters, from Houston, where he was also a district manager.

Wilshire has been with Southwestern Greyhound 19 years. His first supervisory job was an operating supervisor at Waco in 1943, with a subsequent promotion to Houston district manager in 1946. With Wilshire's appointment and the broadening of his territory, Lynn Smith was made assistant to the Dallas district manager. He formerly had charge of Tyler divisional operations.

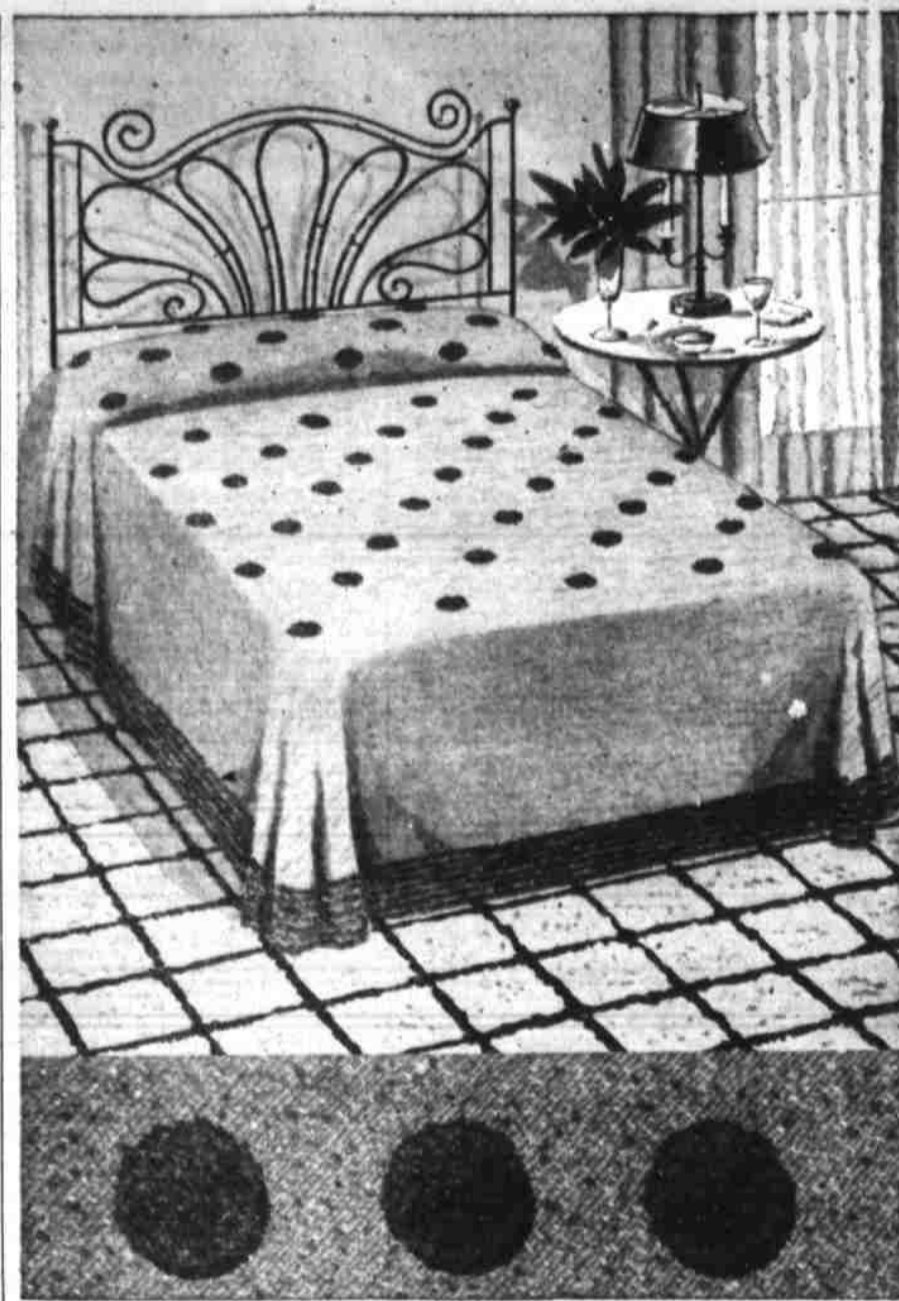

Officer Has Leads In Window Breaking

A E. Long, county juvenile officer, said Wednesday he has "some good leads" in the investigation of damages inflicted on the Washington Place school last weekend.

About 135 windows were broken at the school. Painters found numerous rocks inside the building when they went to work Monday morning.

Long said he has the names of two boys who another youngster accused of throwing rocks through the windows. He said he is on the trail of a third youth, but knows only his first name.

The two boys Long has identified are visiting their grandparents in another town. The officer said they will be interrogated as soon as they return to Big Spring July 9.

Diem Claims Major Victory In Fight Against Rebels

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem today claimed another major victory in his campaign to unify South Vietnamese military forces — the defeat of Hoa Hao religious army units who followed rebel Gen. Le Quang Vinh.

A government announcement said the national army had driven Vinh — better known as Bacut (One-Armed) — and his troops from their wild, rain-trenched stronghold in the Seven Mountains area on the south Cambodian frontier.

At the end of a four-day lightning drive, Bacut and other dissident Hoa Hao leaders are in flight to Cambodia or the Gulf of Siam, the government said.

Presumably the national army is continuing to mop up fleeing Hoa Hao units.

The announcement said the climax came yesterday when Diem's troops seized a 2,000-foot mountain which the French Union forces never had captured despite months of effort during their drives against the Communist-led Vietminh.

The government campaign against the Hoa Hao sect's private army of about 9,000 men began June 5.

Dr. Friedlander Gets Top Post With VA

Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, chief of professional services at the VA Hospital here for the past two and a half years, has been appointed director of the internship and residency program of the VA's Department of Research and Education. Resignation of Dr. Friedlander was announced today by I. G. Sims, manager of the local hospital. Dr. Friedlander will remain on the staff here until July 17.

Dr. J. H. FRIEDLANDER

Acceptance of the VA Central Office post was made by Dr. Friedlander shortly after his return from Washington early this week. He had been called to the VA headquarters last week and was offered the position.

In his new job, Dr. Friedlander will be in charge of all professional training throughout the Veterans Administration. He will work closely with the deans of medical schools affiliated with the various VA installations and will be responsible for all in-training programs at hospitals not connected with medical schools.

An in-training program established here by Dr. Friedlander has attracted attention throughout the VA. Shortly after coming here in October, 1952, he set up a program of monthly educational meetings, including lectures by some of the Southwest's leading surgeons and physicians, technical films and papers.

Dr. Friedlander was in the VA research program at Northport, L. I., VA Hospital prior to coming to Big Spring. He has been associated with the VA for eight years, and served as chief of medicine at Northport for five years. He established the research laboratory at the Long Island hospital.

At the local institution, Dr. Friedlander has filled three posts for most of his time here. In addition to being chief of professional services, he has served as pathologist and radiologist. Both of the latter positions have been filled in recent months, however.

Savings in staff salaries effected during the time Dr. Friedlander served in three capacities put the Big Spring VA Hospital at the top of the Veterans Administration "economy rating" list.

A native of New York, Dr. Friedlander received his medical degree from the Long Island University served his internship at the Long Island College Hospital and at the Kings County Hospital. Post graduate study in internal medicine followed at the Mayo Clinic. During World War II, he was chief of cardiovascular services for the 79th General Hospital in Europe.

He is a fellow in the American College of Physicians and the New

Official Lists Measures To Avoid Drowning

AUSTIN — There were 397 drownings in Texas last year, according to the State Department of Health. Over half of these deaths were among those under 25 years of age. Drownings dropped sharply after age 45, but occurred in each age bracket up to 90 years.

Dr. Henry A. Holle, commissioner of health, stated that most of these deaths could have been prevented if sensible precautions had been taken. This is the season of the year when many persons like to take to the water for a cool swim, for weekend boating or fishing trips.

"These are all healthful forms of recreation, if you follow common sense rules, but don't get cocky about your ability in the water and don't take chances," Dr. Holle warned.

"The safest place to swim is the municipal pool where a life guard is on duty. The water is treated to kill disease germs and is kept fresh by a continuous change of water. Also there is no danger of wading into unexpected deep holes such as there is in ponds, lakes and rivers," said Dr. Holle.

If you go boating and do not know how to swim always take along a life preserver. See that each child is so equipped. Be careful not to overload the boat. Changing seats or standing up in a small boat is dangerous business. If you should capsize, stay with the boat.

Watch children carefully while they play around small pools or even buckets of water. Small children often drown in stock tanks, fish pools, ditches and drainage canals. They even drown in bath tubs, because thoughtless mothers leave them there to play without supervision.

Consciously practice safety precautions and soon avoiding accident hazards will become second nature to you, according to Dr. Holle.

Careful, He'll Be Back For More

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Mrs. Ruth Uchida is trying to break herself of the habit of swearing. She got no help Monday night from a burglar. A piggy bank containing $15 and a box in which Mrs. Uchida drops a penny every time she curses were taken from her apartment. The box held 40 cents. Piling Guards Fishing Area

AUSTIN (AP)—Steel piling will be driven to protect both sides of Rollover Pass on Bolivar Peninsula under a $90,000 contract let here yesterday.

The contract was between the Game and Fish Commission and the Hardin Construction Co. of Houston. Work of driving the piling will start in the fall. It will protect both sides of the pass from the new highway bridge to the Gulf.

Rollover Pass, across a narrow point on Bolivar Peninsula between Galveston and the Sabine area, was cut to permit a free flow of water between the Gulf and East Galveston Bay. Fishing in the area has greatly improved since the pass was cut.

The first phase of the project was finished last winter at a cost of $200,000. An additional $166,000 previously had been authorized to finance permanent protection against erosion caused by the swift current that rips through the pass.

Some Of City's Old Laws Not Highly Regarded Today

By LA DOYCE LAMBERT
City ordinance books show that late 1920's and the early 30's passed some laws which are still in effect but are not held in the greatest regard by modern-day citizens.

For instance, a law was passed in 1927 saying that all males between the ages of 21 and 45 would be liable to a summons requiring them to work on, repair and clean the city's streets and alleys. The law, which excludes ministers, invalids and city firemen, says that men between these ages had the choice of working five 8-hour days or paying the city $5. Otherwise, he was subject to $25 fine.

In the same year, City Commissioners made it unlawful for persons to skate or operate a "scooter or similar contrivance" on the city's paved streets.

If you have the idea of raising your own bacon in your back yard, you had better forget it. In 1930, an ordinance was passed making it illegal to keep and maintain hogs within the city limits. The reason for this law was that the animals were considered a nuisance and a menace to the health of the city.

Now, we consider homogenized milk a definite improvement over the old pasteurization process, but there was a time, in 1931, when it was against the law to sell homogenized milk in the city. Commissioners passed the law because they were concerned with what they called the "falsification of the cream layer" which they deemed unhealthy.

Just in case you had forgotten, it is against the law to allow your chickens or other fowl to run loose in the city streets. In fact, it's a misdemeanor carrying a fine of from $1 to $10. This law was passed in 1935 after it was found that there was an uncontrollable number of fowl running round pell mell in the streets encroaching upon and causing excessive damage to yards and premises of local citizens. A similar ordinance applies to dogs, and it gets limited enforcement.

These laws and others may be old but they are still enforceable. The moral is, if you are in doubt about some action or situation, find out about it; never take it for granted, it may be illegal.

It's cotton-chopping time again on the irrigated farms in Martin County, as farmers try to make up for a late start. Despite modern machinery, nothing has been invented yet to take the place of the old-fashioned hoe in thinning cotton plants. These workers on the Noel Glendening farm near Tarzan are making that last round before lunch time.

Pamper yourself with luxury - and save with Chevrolet prices!

With a new Chevrolet, you can go "all out"—and still go easy on your checkbook! You don't have to pay an extravagant price to pamper yourself with the latest luxuries. And it doesn't cost you a pretty penny to enjoy beauty that's in the best of taste, either.

That new Chevrolet below shows what we mean. You couldn't buy a better-looking car no matter what you paid. You'll notice there's no excessive bolted-on ornamentation to clutter the classic lines of this Bel Air Two-Door Sedan or any other Chevrolet model. And the interior is as luxurious as those of the highest priced cars.

There's plenty of room inside, too. The difference in spaciousness between Chevrolet and some of the so-called big cars can be measured in fractions of an inch.

Yet this dazzling dreamboat is a low-priced car—strictly! With all its luxury features—even including extra-cost conveniences, as shown at right—it delivers for less than many unequipped "bargain" models of higher priced cars.

All in all, a new Chevrolet is just about the nicest arrangement you and your budget could make with each other. So come in and see how luxurious you can get—and how much you can save—when you go Chevrolet!

The Bel Air 2-Door Sedan. You'll find your favorite model among Chevrolet's complete line of Fisher Body beauties.

To Feed A Hungry Bunch Quickly

Have a group coming after a Fourth of July swim or golf game? A good way to fill them up is with pork chops and rice casserole. Simply brown pork chops, place in baking dish and top with a tablespoon of uncooked rice, some chopped onion and green peppers. Season with salt and pepper and pour canned tomatoes over all. Bake at 350 degrees about an hour. This can be made the day before and heated when ready to serve. Um-m-m. Good, too!

Patriotic Dessert Offers Color, Cool Refreshment

Patriotic colors for the July 4 party dessert: It's a red-white-and-blue star, cool and refreshing, big enough to serve a flock of guests. Strawberries, cream cheese, blueberries and flavored gelatin are the main ingredients in this sweet offering. If you haven't a two-quart star-shaped container in which to mold the dessert, don't worry—use a saucenpan for a mold and outline a star on top. We suggest an aluminum saucenpan rather than a glass casserole for the molding, because the larger dessert will slip out of the aluminum container better than it will out of the heavy glass baking dish.

Don't worry either if the red strawberry layer of the dessert runs a bit into the cream-cheese layer; that sometimes happens in the best of test kitchens. A gentle brush off with a clean damp cloth will help clear away the displaced color.

Note the recipe directions that tell you to chill one layer until almost firm, and heed them. If you pour one layer of gelatin onto an entirely firm layer, you won't have good co-bession!

This Red-White-and-Blueberry Star dessert will look pretty on an Independence Day buffet supper table. For a first course you might start off with chilled clam soup, made easily from canned Vichyssoise soup, canned minced clams (undrained) and light cream. Serve this excellent soup with a sprinkling of chives. The main course might be cold meat with green beans doused with a tangy French dressing and a border of crisp greens, and rolls. Or make this a seafood buffet and have broiled lobster or shrimp for the main dish along with sliced tomatoes and cucumbers and crusty French bread.

Fry Fish To Celebrate 4th

Celebrate July 4th with a fish fry. Every fisherman knows how delicious small, freshly caught fish can be when cooked in a frying pan over an open fire. But it is not necessary to be a fisherman to have this treat. Pan fish, fillets and fish steaks may be purchased.

For an out-of-door fish fry, prepare the fish for cooking, wrap each piece separately in waxed paper, and pack in ice in the picnic basket to keep cold until cooking time. Line the basket with a thick layer of newspaper, then put in a layer of ice, then the wrapped fish. Put another layer of ice over the fish and cover it with more newspaper. Take along a paper bag containing a mixture of fine corn flakes, crumbs and white flour, half and half, and salt and pepper to taste. Also take a pancake turner or spatula to turn the fish, a heavy cast-metal frying pan, and plenty of cooking fat.

A bed of hot coals provides the most even heat for frying, so build the fire long enough ahead to allow it to burn down to red embers. Heat the frying pan slowly and have in it about one-fourth inch of cooking fat. Have the fat hot but not smoking when the fish goes in.

Dip each piece of fish first in cold water, then in the cereal crumb and flour mixture until it is thoroughly coated on all sides. Lay it in the hot fat; brown on both sides. Watch the fire to keep the heat even and moderate. Serve immediately on picnic plates. A pickle relish makes an appetizing accompaniment for campfire fried fish. Include raw fried potatoes, buttered rolls to toast, a salad and some home-made cookies, and your picnic meal is complete.

Supplies for a Fish Fry for Four
 1 pound fish fillets
 1 1/2 cups cornflakes (crush finely and sift to make about 1/2 cup crumbs)
 1/2 cup flour (mix with cereal crumbs, and season with pepper and salt)
 1 quart sliced raw potatoes
 Shortening or drippings for frying fish and potatoes
 1 small jar pickle relish
 4 medium sized tomatoes, stuffed with cold slaw
 8 buttered buns
 2 quarts coffee in thermos jug
 Cream and sugar
 Salt and pepper
 1 muskmelon or 1/2 watermelon
 8 ripe peaches (dessert)
 1 dozen home-made cookies
 2 skillets
 2 spatulas or pancake turners
 Paper dishes for serving

Sen. Kennedy Inspects New Estates' History

Young Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) and his pretty wife Jackie, are deep in historical research while awaiting the moment they can move into their new home, Hickory Hill, the nearby Virginia estate of the late Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, which they purchased for a reported $125,000.

The justice's widow says the estate is believed to have served as a headquarters for Gen. McClellan during the Civil War but that, little of its history has been yet brought to light since records of its building were lost in the war-time firing of the courthouse in which they were kept.

Cheers For Meat Loaves Hot, Cold

A bouquet goes to meat loaves these warm days. Served hot or cold they're a ready-made treat for July "at home" dinners or picnic lunches.

If you're in a habit of preparing your meat loaves alike—from the standpoint of both combination of meat and shape, then now is the time to introduce a change. Reba Stages, home economist, suggests adding these meat combinations to your list: ground beef and pork, pork and ham, veal and beef, or lamb. All present different flavors that add a touch of newness to your summer meals.

If your meat loaves are always baked in a rectangular loaf pan, then introduce changes here too. Next time you prepare a ground meat mixture, press it into your ring mold or into custard cups. Or for something entirely different, pat the mixture into a rectangle, 1/2-inch thick. Place bread stuffing over it and roll up the meat jelly-roll fashion and bake.

To serve the ground meat mixture at its best, remember to cook it slowly. Beef, veal, lamb or smoked meat mixtures are baked in a 300-degree F. oven; those loaves containing fresh pork in a 330-degree F. oven.

Let Your July 4th Party Pull All Kinds Of Punches

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 July Fourth and visitors come calling. Maybe they're on their way to the traditional Independence Day picnics. Eggs have been stuffed, potato salad has been made, fried chicken has been packed into hamper. Now they stop to lool on your porch or relax in your cool living room.

Welcome your guests with a cool punch! Bake a pound cake in a tube pan and frost it in white. Save a little of the frosting to color a bright pink and with a decorating tube write "A GAY STRIP" on your cake. Perch four little flags at one side of the frosting; small fry won't be able to wait until you cut the cake so they can wave the Stars and Stripes.

Our Independence Day Punch is made with a tangy tea base, then sugar and fruit juices go in to add more goodness. A cold drink both young and old will enjoy. Here's the recipe.

INDEPENDENCE DAY PUNCH

Ingredients:
 Two quarts cold water, 4 teaspoons loose tea or 12 tea bags, 2 cups sugar, 2 cups lemon juice, 2 cups orange juice, 1 cup bottled cranberry juice, 1 quart pineapple juice, sliced orange, maraschino cherries.

Method:
 Bring 1 quart of the water to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat and immediately pour over tea. Brew 5 minutes uncovered. Stir and strain. Add sugar; stir until sugar dissolves. Cool at room temperature. At serving time, pour sweetened tea over ice block or ice cubes in punch bowl; add lemon juice, orange juice, cranberry juice and pineapple juice and remaining 1 quart water. Mix well. Garnish with sliced orange and maraschino cherries.

spoons loose tea or 9 tea bags, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 cup lemon juice.
 Method:
 Bring water to a full rolling boil. Remove from heat and immediately pour over tea. Brew 4 minutes uncovered. Stir and strain. Stir in sugar and lemon juice. Pour into ice cube tray and freeze. When serving iced tea, add 3 to 4 iced tea cubes to each glass.

Note:
 Use freshly drawn cold water in making the tea for the punch.

LAST WORD
 Remember it's not necessary to refrigerate iced tea: refrigeration may cause clouding. Freshly brewed tea, cooled at room temperature will be plenty cold when poured over a generous number of ice cubes. If your tea does cloud, don't worry: cloudiness does not change the good flavor of the tea. However, for appearance sake, you might remember that a little boiling water poured into clouded tea usually brings back the original clear amber loka.

Mrs. Bill Horne

"Umm, good," says Anita, as her mother, Mrs. Bill Horne, gives her a sample bite of chicken fricassee.

Chicken Fricassee Is Mrs. Horne's Favorite

No one has to be called to the table twice when Mrs. Bill Horne has her favorite recipe prepared for dinner and the children and Mr. Horne know it.

The popular dish, winter and summer, is Chicken Fricassee served with fluffy rice. Mrs. Horne was given the recipe 15 years ago when the couple lived in Corpus Christi where he was serving with the armed services. A French couple from Louisiana living there had prepared the meal and the Hornes were so fond of the chicken that Mrs. Horne got their recipe for the main dish. Now the little Hornes Billy, 11, and Anita, 9, are just as pleased over it.

Mrs. Horne likes to cook, and she clips recipes that seem likely to please the family. If they don't like it, unlike many of us, she throws the recipe away. Cooking is a hobby of hers and her friends think she is one of the best. One friend has said that if she just fixed plain scalloped potatoes they tasted better than those prepared by someone else.

Although she is not working at present, she has done a great deal of legal work and most of it she does at home. The family has their membership at the First Baptist Church, but now they are helping with the Baptist Mission on Birdwell Lane. She is the superintendent of the beginners department in the Sunday School and helps with the training union. He teaches a class of intermediates in Sunday school. When Mrs. Horne serves her special dish, which she says is good to pep up lagging appetites, she has a tossed salad, French bread and tea. She is very particular in cooking the rice and uses a long grain type and cooks it by the double boiler method shown on the package.

CHICKEN FRICASSEE

3 or 4 pound hen, cut in serving pieces
6 tablespoon flour
1 qt. water
2 cloves garlic
1 medium size green pepper
1 large onion
2 stalks celery

Use a large thick bottomed vessel to cook chicken in. Brown the flour in 3 tablespoons fat, stirring constantly until it is very dark but not burned. Add cut up chicken and water. Care should be taken in adding the water as steam will be created if the water is added too rapidly. Chop the garlic, green peppers, onions and celery very fine and fry in a small amount of fat, stirring constantly until very lightly browned which should take about 10 minutes. Add to chicken. Season with salt and pepper to taste, cover and simmer until chicken is tender, usually about three hours. This makes a rich brown gravy which should be slightly thickened when the chicken is done. However, it may be thickened with a small amount of flour and water if it is not the desired thickness.

Easy Dessert For Fourth

Make a gorgeous strawberry shortcake for dessert on the Fourth of July. You'll probably have to buy the strawberries a few days ahead, and so you should know how to store them. First pick the berries over, removing partially softened or moldy ones; spread the rest out on a flat enamel tray or in a good-sized pan. Cover the tray or pan with waxed paper or aluminum foil, folding the sides under, and refrigerate. Before serving, dip the berries into cold water to wash. Be sure to save the largest berries for the top of the shortcake and use the smaller ones to sandwich between layers of the hot biscuit, which can be made from a commercially prepared mix.

One of the most beautiful blondes on the local social circuit is the lovely wife of the financial counselor of the Panama Embassy, Julio Heurtematte. She is also one of the best dressed of the diplomatic wives. At a recent dinner she was wearing white tulle banded in gold sequins and made after the style of her country's national dress.

Stand On Both Feet

Washington hostesses, whose gruelling social schedule requires them to stand long hours on their feet at afternoon and evening receptions and cocktail parties, are adopting the spine and heart saving custom practiced by former First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt. Lady Munro, wife of the New Zealand ambassador, told them about it. Stand firmly on both feet and now and then lift your weight from the heels to the balls of the feet.

Enrichment Through Service

When life has ended for some person who has been identified prominently with affairs that touch many lives, the natural if trite thing to say is that a keen loss has been suffered.

This, of course, would be true in the case of George White, but it is far more appropriate to say that our community is far better and richer for having had his energy, wise counsel, and material contributions.

George White fell into that prosaic but indispensable category of solid citizen. He wasn't to be stamped into flighty action; yet he was not one to sit by and wring his hands in frustrated despair.

He certainly would be the first to disclaim personal glory in connection with his interest in good roads, yet every major highway development that has come within the past 25 years has in some way felt the impact of George White's influence.

Similarly, his steady and tenacious spirit, his ability to talk rationally and logically with people of contrary opinions, helped in road development and it certainly helped in his position on the land committee of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

His sense of obligation to his country impelled him to serve as chairman of the draft board in the face of personal vilification and even a threat upon his life. He also had plenty of personal affairs to keep him busy at the time he was drafted to be district supervisor in setting up the old age assistance program.

He was not aloof to political responsibility, for he realized that this is the way government is operated. He was not so occupied but what he could give time as member and president of the Big Spring school board.

The list could be extended. These examples are sufficient to demonstrate that the community has benefited by the practical civic conscience which was George White.

Put The Heat On Vandals

News that vandals smashed 136 window panes from the Washington Place School during the weekend is distressing.

Every citizen ought to be stirred to indignation by such things as these, for they are in effect as much an affront and a threat to his peace and dignity as if the windows in his own house had been shattered.

Public property belongs to the people, and the people should take a pride and concern in their property which would burn to bring depredators to account. Thus, if anyone has leads which will result in catching those defacing or destroying public property, they have the civic responsibility of communicating that information to officers. Each of us would do that much if vandals had damaged our own private property.

While it is possible, we cannot readily conceive that the Washington Place episode was the work of small children. The extent and maliciousness of it is beyond the capacity of most youngsters in the lower grades. This sounds more like the work of some larger youngster or irresponsible teen-ager.

Whatever the age, those guilty should be brought to account if humanly possible. Restitution of damages is in order. And more than a gentle talking to would seem proper.

Insurance Companies Disagree On Stocks

A behind-the-panels battle is going on in the life insurance industry. In the years to come, it will determine how much your children — yes, and maybe you, too — will have to pay in premiums.

Devereaux C. Joseph, chairman of the New York Life Insurance Co., fourth largest in the industry, made this clear when I asked:

"Why do you bother with common stocks?"

Joseph, a slight, well-built, bright-eyed man of 62, didn't answer. He waited for amplification.

"Your balance sheet shows common stock holdings of $100,000,000," I said. "Your total assets are nearly six billion. It takes time, study and imagination to buy and sell common stocks. Why do it for less than 2 per cent of your assets?"

The corners of Joseph's mouth fell back as if he might smile. But he didn't.

"You're right," he answered. "A hundred million is too little for us to invest in common stocks. But we hope to invest more later. We hope to get the legal limit raised."

He explained that the New York State insurance law limits common stock holdings to one-third of the surplus or 8 per cent of the assets of a life insurance company, whichever is lower.

"The insurance industry" volunteered Joseph, "is backward. The New York Life wants to catch up in 20th century thinking. We're part of the entire economy of the United States. We, and other insurance companies, have even gone in for apartment-house building. If you'll pardon the pun, that's constructive work. So is investing in common stocks."

"But," I said, "Frederick W. Ecker doesn't approve of common stocks for the Metropolitan Life. He argues that life insurance companies have an obligation to invest in a fixed number of dollars always coming in regularly to meet death claims and annuity payments. Therefore, investments should be in fixed-dollar securities—bonds and mortgages with predetermined maturity dates.

Joseph replied, "Life insurance is a business of averaging risks. When we insure people, we average risks. Similarly, we ought to be permitted to average investment risks — to put our money in all classes of securities."

"An insurance company's investment department is a machine for compounding money. We now compound money at about 3.3 per cent. By buying common stocks, we might get that up to 4 per cent or 4 1/2 per cent."

"Would it mean you'd be able to out-earn me?" I asked.

"Yes, and we'd be able to pay bigger dividends to present policyholders."

"Then, if Metropolitan stuck to bonds only you'd be able to under sell the Met; therefore, you'd grow faster."

"That's a distinct possibility. That's what we would hope."

Joseph is at home with common stocks. He started his business life with the investment banking firm of Graham, Parsons & Co., Philadelphia, since absorbed by Hempliff, Noyes & Co. Later he became president of Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association "TIAA," which was founded by the Carnegie Corp. to provide retirement benefits for college professors.

TIAA decided not to invest exclusively in bonds. It organized the College Retirement Equities Fund (CREF) under a special act of the New York Legislature. A college professor who wants some protection against inflation and is willing to risk deflation can have 50 per cent of his pension money put in stocks. (Carroll M. Shanks, president of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, second in size to the Metropolitan, wants to apply the TIAA idea to annuities in general.)

Business Mirror

Good Times Flabbergasted The Cautious

NEW YORK — This is the year good times flabbergasted the cautious. The economy has hit its peacetime stride. Records topple as business becomes almost too good to be true.

At midyear businessmen are revising their predictions on the upside. Just as they were a year ago. Then, the recession was proving to be much shallower than many had feared earlier. Now the recovery is proving to be much more vigorous than most had dared to hope. Only the fear of crippling strikes or of future inflation clouds the prospects.

Last year the stock market outpaced business. This year industry forged ahead faster than stock prices. Securities have advanced since the first of the year but often hesitantly, and with overall gains only about half as steep as last year.

This has been a "big ticket" year, with the consumer unquestionably in control. He has been buying, and going into debt to buy, the hard wares of peace—autos in record numbers, TV sets, freezers, automatic washers. He continues to buy new homes and their furnishings at an astounding rate.

So the makers of durable goods and suppliers of the materials have been having a field day.

Consumer buying has sent the gross national product—the dollar volume of all the goods and services the nation produces and sells—to an all-time high of $70 billion dollars.

In the previous peak—$36 billion in 1953

—it was government spending for defense that furnished the spark.

And now, at midyear, business itself is about to goad the economy to a still faster pace with its plans for spending more for new plant and equipment.

Industrial output hit an all-time high in May. Rebuilding of inventories is looked upon as a likely bolstering influence for a while.

Large numbers of the public have more income. Wages have risen more this year than last. Factory hours have lengthened. More persons are on payrolls. Federal taxes are a little lighter. Dividend payments are higher.

And the public has responded in three ways: buying more goods and choosing more expensive items; pledging more of its future income in mortgages and installment debt, and saving a smaller percentage of income.

During the six months the cost of living has stayed remarkably stable. The cost of some industrial materials, notably metals, has risen. Most foods have eased in price, if anything. Rent and clothing have changed little.

Total debt continues to rise. Washington frets about what would happen to installment and mortgage payments if incomes should drop. Stock margins are hiked to bring trading nearer to a cash basis—as a warning against runaway speculation.

They Call Us Unpredictable

James Marlow States Rights Outlined In Report

WASHINGTON — The first intensive study since the constitutional convention of 1787 on relations between the federal government and the states has just been completed.

The job was done by a 25-man group set up under the direction of President Eisenhower and called the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. Appointed in 1953, it has just reported to Eisenhower.

The reason for its creation had its roots in a problem which has plagued this country from the beginning: how to keep a proper division of powers between the federal government and the states.

The problem has become increasingly acute since depression days and the advent of the New Deal, which widened federal control over the citizens while at the same time giving them new benefits and protections.

Some, but not all, of what the federal government has done might have been done by the states if they had either the willingness or the financial resources.

So the special commission tried to examine this whole picture and make recommendations on what the states should do and what the federal government should do so that the latter would not eventually become all-powerful and dominant.

The commission made some specific recommendations. For example: education is the states' job and there should not be any general federal aid to education; the federal government should be in full control of civil defense.

In short, the commission suggested less government from Washington, more government by states and local communities. But at this point the report was at its weakest since the commission could only suggest ideas and can't enforce them.

It recommended states and local communities do more for themselves and rely less on the federal government. How can it be done? That's up to the states to do for themselves.

Since what the government does for the people as a whole costs money, there is the endless temptation in the states, which don't want to spend money if they can help it, to let the federal government do it. Each time that happens more power is centralized in Washington.

As an example of the complexity and interlocking of the whole government structure in this country, the "local government map of the United States discloses a maze of approximately 109,000 governmental units, many of them overlapping.

"The figure includes some 3,000 counties, 17,000 incorporated municipalities, 17,000 towns and townships, 60,000 independent school districts, and 12,000 special districts."

I don't intend to tell you about the official program of entertainment that has been arranged for you. If you want that program, just write a letter asking for it and address it: "To the Mayor, New York City."

He'll attend to it, or we'll get a new mayor who will. He'll tell you all the 1,001 special attractions that make this particular summer the greatest in New York City's history.

They've gone to a lot of trouble to prove that this is a wonderful place to visit—after all, you don't have to live here—but if you have a sense of adventure you can throw away the program.

You never need a program to enjoy New York. I live here and I know this—and, if you believe me, you can take my word for it.

Certainly, New York gets hot on some days. It has a heat that can build up restlessness and discomfort, but usually within five days at most that heat will blow away.

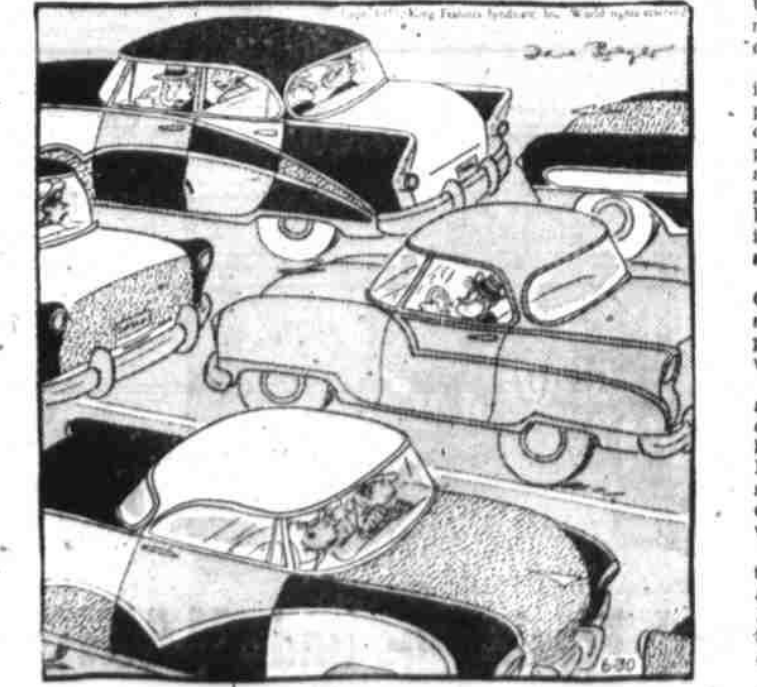

It's a changeable town in almost every way. But no one man ever owned it or bought it. And if you bring a feeling to it that matches its size it will also enlarge you.

They say it isn't America, but it is the most American city in the United States. The Statue of Liberty isn't in another port. It lifts its torch here.

New York City is fun, adventure and opportunity. It is also skyscrapers, culture and cruelty. But help it to let the federal government do it. Each time that happens more power is centralized in Washington.

Whatever you seek and don't find at home is probably here, or

Around The Rim Car Of The Future Won't Sell Today

Remember the old "airflow" cars of about 1934? They're now being called Detroit's "most successful failure."

The Airflows were put out by the Chrysler Corporation for two or three years, but they were so far ahead of their time that they were rejected.

Twenty years later, in 1955, practically every feature of the old Airflow Chryslers and DeSotos have been incorporated into virtually every make of automobile.

Those features include wide, rounded fronts, one-piece curved windshield, chair-high seats, wider bodies, engine over the front axle and back seat forward of the rear axle.

The Airflow created quite a stir when it was introduced in 1934. Everybody talked about it, and stared when they saw one. But hardly anyone bought one of the revolutionary new cars. Their appearance was just too many steps ahead of convention, which all but a few abide by.

Chrysler designed the Airflow as a purely functional car. It got its shape and appearance because it was supposed to run better that way — not because some designer wanted to deal in abstractions.

Wind tunnel tests had shown that cars had less wind resistance going backward than forward. So engineers simply made the front of the Airflow look like the back of conventional cars, with no valleys between the hood and fenders and a smooth, sweeping contour from the windshield back to the rear of the body.

Relocation of the engine over the front axle brought about a change in weight distribution and made it possible to put the back seat ahead of the rear axle for a more comfortable ride.

The wider hood brought on a wider front compartment and, for the first time, a front seat as wide as the back. The change from conventional design also reduced the height of the car for that "low silhouette" now so popular.

The car was so hard to sell that in 1937 Chrysler returned to the "sharp-nose" design which the public favored in that period. The company took a financial beating on the Airflow, but it now has the consolation of seeing the principles incorporated in practically every new car.

Another automotive development of the thirties, which required about 20 years to really catch on was the V8 engine. Ford started putting out a V8 in 1932 and soon dropped to the No. 2 spot in car sales. This year, practically every manufacturer is trying to "out-V8" its competitors.

Ike Building His Own Party Formula?

(Washington Observer Thomas L. Stokes is "filling in" for Marquis Childs while the latter is on vacation.)

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — You could look on President Eisenhower's triumphal journey into New England through crowds of joyous folks as a sort of preview of the 1956 campaign for four more years in the White House.

You could — and many are, including Republican party leaders (hopefully) and Democratic party leaders (dolefully).

Republican leaders, including Chairman Leonard Hall of the National Committee, had all that in mind when they arranged the New England trip months ago. They counted upon a bit of psychology usually effective with most human beings, including Presidents. This is that the enthusiasm and friendliness of people has its warming effect, even a tonic effect, and might in this particular case prove a persuader with the President to run again, make him feel that voters wanted him.

The locale was just right for this experiment, if such it was. While the President would be sure of a friendly reception wherever he went in the country, this would be especially true of New England where there are always plenty of Republicans. This was perfect "try-out" territory for him.

He went over big. Furthermore, he seemed to enjoy it all immensely as if he were having the time of his life mixing with people. That is a contrast with his 1952 Presidential campaign which often seemed to be a burdensome chore. Observing the change now, Republicans felt encouraged to believe that he has come to like his job of being President, which was not true for a long time.

Yes, you could look on the New England Journey as a sort of preview for 1956 — and in another way also, which probably was not in the minds of Republican leaders who arranged the New England visit, but of the President's own doing.

This is speculation — but it is possible that the President is having a little game of his own, that he is consciously and designedly using his personal popularity with the people as a means of bringing the Republican party to the support of a project long in his mind. That is to remake the Republican party into an Eisenhower party, as Franklin D. Roosevelt made the Democratic party for quite a spell the Roosevelt party — and thus continue it in office.

The 1952 Republican victory was recognized as a persons Eisenhower victory not a party victory, if any further proof were needed, we have seen it in the strong Democratic tide that has been running in every election since, in every part of the country, including the Congressional elections last November.

It has been clear for some time that the President is earnestly seeking to produce an Eisenhower party, a transformation from which both he and the party could benefit. He has in recent weeks displayed a keen interest in the mechanics of politics, which is a necessary prerequisite. It may be noted that even in the brief time he was in San Francisco for his speech to the United Nations he took time out to talk to political leaders there in the interest of party unity in a state which includes three prominent figures with ambitions of their own — Vice President Nixon, Senate Republican leader Knowland and Gov. Knight.

Similarly, he sought while in Maine on the last day of his New England sojourn to heal the rift in the Republican party there which is blamed in part for the upset in last September's election when, for the first time in twenty years, Democrats elected a governor.

What happened there happens to political parties, both Republican and Democratic, when they have been too long in power. This is the tendency to become careless and casual of the general public interest and welfare, and to look upon government as a special privilege of its own for the party. That attitude was capitalized on by the Democratic candidate, Edmund S. Muskie, now governor, who pointed to Maine's loss of industries and of population and attributed this to indifference in the ruling Republican clique.

He promised the voters that he would work with them to help them help themselves and thus help Maine. He used this theme over and over — and convinced a majority of the need for change.

Among Republicans what had happened in Maine is a symptom of what is called "Old Guardism." It is that which President Eisenhower is combating as he tries to remould the party. It could be that whether he seeks another term may depend upon how successful he is with that mission.

Desi Arnaz Has Come A Long Way

HOLLYWOOD — Only a few years ago Desi Arnaz was a featured player at MGM, acting small roles in films.

Today he is a full-fledged partner with MGM as the producer of a movie, "Forever, Darling," starring himself and his talented wife Lucille Ball.

Desi and Lucie are shooting now on the MGM lot, but at Motion Picture Center. That's where they film their TV show I Love Lucy. Incidentally, they own the studio.

Lucille was playing hostess on the set, introducing fellow cast members James Mason and Louis Calhern. They play her guardian angel and father, respectively, in the film.

How does she like the switch from the TV grid to a feature film?

"It's much the same, except that I don't have a headache," she replied. "On the day of the TV show, I always have a pain right here pointing to her left temple. It's because of all those words I have to remember."

"There's much less pressure making a film. I have time to sit down and read the paper. I can never do that when we're on the TV kick. I just don't feel that I can spare the time."

But she said she'll get a vacation after "Forever, Darling" — five weeks at Def Mar.

About future plans for I Love Lucy, she was pretty vague. "I just work here," she said. "Ask the boss."

The boss is Desi, no doubt about it. And he had the answers, too. Lucy will resume in September, he re-

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — Waitress Muriel Kessel said a mid-afternoon customer came in and ordered strawberry shortcake. Still hungry when finished, the man ordered some fried eggs.

Miss Kessel watched him eat the eggs, then folded her arms and asked him, "Now would you like your soup?"

Buffalo On The Old Sante Fe Trail Again

Buffalo roam to a new home as waddies yell, and tourists watch. The buffalo are being moved from the Jordan Ranch near Eva, Okla., to Clayton, N. M.

'Influence' Was Honest

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Case (R-N.J.) acknowledged today he had helped arrange a switch in Army orders to permit an officer to remain in this country with his bride-to-be while one of his buddies goes to the Far East in his place.

Lt. Robert W. Hardy of Summit, N. J., attending the Army artillery school at Ft. Sill, Okla., asked Case if he could assist in exchanging his orders for those of a buddy, Lt. Joseph G. F. Farrell of Sarasota, Fla.

Farrell explained, it is to be married upon his graduation from the school. His orders call for him to accept a Far East assignment.

Hardy, on the other hand, had been assigned to Ft. Knox, Ky. If his orders could be transferred to Farrell, Hardy told Case, it would not be necessary for Farrell to be away from his wife-to-be for 16 to 18 months.

Case arranged the switch Hardy will now go to the Far East and Farrell—with his bride — to Ft. Knox.

Even the Army was impressed, a lieutenant colonel writing: "The kind gesture on the part of Lt. Hardy is highly commendable and is appreciated."

Same Time They Dig Grand Canyon

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — The Idaho Falls Chamber of Commerce tourist aid service didn't have the answer to one question yesterday. An unidentified woman tourist seeking information on Yellowstone National Park asked: "When do they turn on Old Faithful?"

Farm Bureau Seeks Queen Contestants

A search is on for beautiful farm and ranch girls of Howard County. The local Farm Bureau needs several entries for the Queen's Contest, which will be held in the Junior College gymnasium on the night of Aug. 11.

This is one of a series of contests to be sponsored by the Farm Bureau in Texas counties. Winners of the local contests will be eligible to compete in the district contests, and from the district winners a Texas Farm Bureau Queen will be chosen.

To be eligible for the local contest, girls must be single, between the ages of 16 and 22, and must be either a sister or daughter of a county Farm Bureau member. Daughters of employees, county officers and directors are not eligible. Applications should be made to Ralph White at the county headquarters located at 117½ Runnels St.

This is an honest-to-goodness queen's contest. Girls will be judged on grace, charm, vivaciousness, and all the qualities that go to make up winsome future homemakers. The three main qualities for judges to consider are appearance, poise and personality.

The county queen will receive an appropriate gift, and each district winner will get an expense-paid trip to the state contest. Each district queen will also be given a beautiful wrist watch, while the state queen will be sent to Chicago with a matron escort, and will be allowed $500 expense allowance. Any community or organization is allowed to sponsor a girl for the queen's contest. A program is being sponsored for the night of the contest by Mrs. C. H. DeVaney and a committee of Farm Bureau wives.

Mrs. Clark Asks Halt To Spending Of Mate's Estate

FORT WORTH (AP) — Attorneys were busy today preparing briefs in the law suit by which Mrs. Mary Clark asks to halt spending from the estate of her murdered husband.

Judge Jack Langdon of 17th District Court heard arguments yesterday and then asked attorneys to submit their written briefs.

The 46-year-old woman is charged as an accomplice in the shooting of her husband, William P. Clark, two years ago.

She is attempting to bar Clark's brother, Phillip Clark of Hobbs, N. M., from spending estate funds for special prosecutors and to gather evidence.

Clark's lawyers contend the court does not have jurisdiction. Her attorneys say Clark must respond to the local court's orders if he acts as executor of the estate, much of which is in Texas.

Lamesa Planning Yule Decorations

LAMESA — More extensive Christmas decorations are being planned by the retail merchants committee for next Yuletide.

Besides the usual downtown decorations, lights and other decorations are planned for several side streets.

Bob Saunders was named chairman of the finance and decorations committee at a retail merchants meeting Tuesday in Turner Caprock room. Also on the committee are W. B. Osborn, J. B. Claborn, Ernest Moody and Mrs. Carl U. Smith.

Chairman of the activities group is Don Nutt, assisted by L. I. Deah and Mrs. Ira L. Ashley. Jake Lippard presided at the meeting.

'Maneuverability' Listed As Key To Success By Walter Reuther

DETROIT, June 30 (AP)—How do you get a major economic concession, such as guaranteed layoff pay, from industry?

You keep maneuverability, says Walter Reuther.

And now that you have this, what's in the future?

Among other things, a 32-hour work week, and further in the future, work that is a sort of hobby for the laboring man, who will be preoccupied with culture.

The perpetual battle in Reuther's blue-gray eyes can be interpreted in several ways.

You might see in it a sense of amusement, or continuing optimism and self-confidence. Or a challenge to a battle of wits. Or a sense of triumphant mischief.

Whatever the interpretation, the twinkle in the eyes of the president of the CIO United Automobile Workers and the CIO brightens as he discusses the art of collective bargaining, in which he is an acknowledged virtuoso.

He takes his text from recent negotiations in which the UAW-CIO pushed open a historic door and came out with the principle of guaranteed layoff pay, which assures a worker some income when, through no fault of his own, he isn't working. Reuther still refers to it as guaranteed annual wage (GAW), although what the union won from Ford and General Motors provides layoff pay for only part of a year.

"The art of collective bargaining," said the red-headed labor leader, "is truly the art of timing and maneuvering."

"You have to know when to move. By maneuver, I don't mean compromise. I mean the ability always to leave yourself elbow room. At the point that you become rigidly locked, everyone is in trouble. In a sense, that's the problem of the cold war—too many rigid positions."

From global strategy, Reuther returned to the recent monumental poker game in the automobile industry.

"General Motors," he said, "had no maneuverability. They were so certain they wouldn't have to yield on the GAW thing in any form they hadn't done their homework. So, after Ford gave us the principle of GAW, General Motors had to grab the Ford package in a hurry. They had no time to make any changes.

"Now, go back to Ford. Ford offered us a stock purchase plan. We immediately saw it was the same as the one GM had offered, and we rejected it. Yet, Ford thought they had us in a box. But within 30 minutes, I had already figured how we'd get out of that position.

"Ford's strategy was this: Their 'partnership in prosperity' package was so attractive, they thought it would divide the union membership from its leadership and everyone would forget about GAW. They took big ads in the papers to tell how wonderful their plan was. They intimated that if the union leaders told the members all the facts, the members would want it.

"Now, here is where young Henry Ford made his first mistake. He refused my invitation to address a union meeting and tell about his plan. His second mistake was to write me a letter suggesting that the Ford proposal be put to a secret vote."

At this point, Reuther said, Ford was trying to get a vote between a positive and a negative—between his plan or a strike. Ford, Reuther said, indicated it was ready to "take a strike if its stock plan wasn't accepted."

"They thought they had us in this box," he continued. "But here is where we had to maneuver. We had to change the situation so that it would be a choice between two plans—theirs and ours—and not a choice between theirs and a strike."

"So I said to John Bugas (chief Ford negotiator), 'We're both interested in greater security for Ford workers, aren't we?' He said yes. I said, 'You're convinced the Ford workers prefer your plan, right?' He said yes. I said, 'All right, let's put it to a vote, your plan or ours, in a secret vote conducted by the Honest Ballot Assn. or some other independent outfit."

Reuther's smile broadened, his twinkle brightened.

"Well," he said, "that paralyzed them for 30 hours. Not a word for 30 hours. Then they forgot about the vote. Then we got their backs on the track and got our GAW principle."

The interview, in Reuther's bright, modern office, now turned to the future. When contract renewal time rolls around again in three years, will Reuther try to push the door open for a 32-hour week?

"We'll shoot for a shorter week," he said, "but how much shorter is impossible to say now. These things can't be arbitrary. We are not a narrow pressure group seeking advantage at the expense of others in the community. A shorter work week must flow from the fact that science and technology will have given us tools to create greater wealth with less effort and time."

"Personally, I'd favor a four-day 32-hour week over six hours a day, five days a week. Then you begin to give people the real benefits of progress through a longer weekend."

Reuther said the union also would shoot for extension of the guaranteed layoff pay idea and improvement of pension and medical benefits.

When will labor cease asking for more? When will it be convinced it has won its fair share?

"That," Reuther said, "is like asking when the human race will be satisfied it has made enough progress. Labor, like other people, will continue to seek the good life. If science and technology make more possible, labor will seek to share in the created abundance."

Women Protest Racist Vote Plan

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Seventy women protesting the South African government's plan to enlarge the Senate camped out last night outside the government buildings in Pretoria.

Sympathizers provided them with blankets, food and fuel for braziers which they lit on the lawns beneath a statue of Gen. Louis Botha, Boer War leader and former Prime Minister.

The government plan is designed to give the Nationalist government the two-thirds majority of both houses needed for constitutional changes removing colored voters in Cape Province from the common electoral roll.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Mass of ball lightning at Lincoln, Neb. (From photograph)

Last time I spoke about the "thunderbolts" which the ancient Greek god, Zeus, was supposed to hurl through the sky. The question comes:

"Is a thunderbolt a real object?"

A thunderbolt is imaginary. The Greeks said that Zeus used to throw a large bolt into the air when he wanted to make thunder.

Other legends grew from the sharpened heads of Stone Age arrows and spears. Ancient people found these relics at times, but failed to explain them properly. In some places stories grew that the sharp objects were sent to the ground during thunderstorms.

Lightning sometimes makes tubes in sand. These glassy objects are known as lightning tubes, or fulgurites. Some are only an inch or two long, but others are snakelike tubes which extend from 15 to 25 feet through the sand.

Q. What is heat lightning?

A. It is a flashing of light in the sky which is seen sometimes on a hot day. The most common time is in the late afternoon or early evening. This lightning is believed to be a reflection of forked lightning in distant thunderstorms.

Lightning flashes may take place so far away that we fail to hear the sounds which they produce.

Q. Is there such a thing as "ball lightning"?

A. Yes, this lightning has been observed by scientists and photographed. There are times when objects smaller than basketballs are observed floating about during a storm. In other cases (but rarely) masses of ball lightning fill a section of the sky. An event of the latter type took place at Lincoln, Neb. 25 years ago.

Tomorrow: Danger from lightning.

Anti-Labor Acts Charged

DALLAS — State Agriculture Commissioner John White charges that "the development of Texas has been hampered by disgraceful attempts to discredit labor in state political circles."

White, oft-mentioned as a governor candidate, also told the Texas Federation of Labor convention state labor laws should be completely revamped.

He said labor laws should be constructive, not constricting; protective, not punitive; harmonious, not harassing.

"And they should promote, provide and protect the common interest of all phases of our economy," he added.

White called for a "new look" in labor relations in Texas. He called for "unselfish and cooperative efforts" in promoting the well-being of "all people."

"Our people demand and deserve a good income," he said. "They deserve the opportunity to elevate their standard of living. This can be accomplished if agriculture, business and labor work together."

Wouldn't Have Hurt Him Anyway

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Being buried alive was all in a night's sleep for Bill Tinsley, a 55-year-old "repeater" in City Police Court.

At least, that's what the Charleston resident told police yesterday when he was pulled from beneath a dump heap on the bank of Elk River.

A bulldozer operator could hardly believe his eyes when he saw a pair of feet protruding from a pile of dirt and debris shoved to one side. His call brought two patrolmen, who began digging frantically in the dirt.

Tinsley was found near the bottom, loudly protesting the sudden interruption in his sleep. He will be arraigned today on a drunk charge.

Backward Driver

VANCOUVER, B. C. — Paddy Sherman, Vancouver Province reporter, has resigned from the "Do-it-yourself" club. He was told by an automobile mechanic he needed a new differential in his English car. He bought the parts and installed them wrong, he says. Now he has four speeds in reverse and one forward.
