It was Mark Twain, I believe, who said that "To really know someone, share an inheritance with them."

Any of you who have ever been in that predicament would probably agree with the sage wit.

My dad always jokingly told us children that he was doing us the greatest favor he could think of because when he died there wouldn't be anything for us to fight over! He died in 1959, and was true to his word, and I have always been grateful for that.

My brothers and sister and I have managed to maintain a loving relationship for many years, and I think that is probably one of the reasons why.

We all inherited great riches from the remarkable man who was our father. He left each of us with a biding love for learning, a deep sense of fair-play, and a shining example of great integrity. At his death 20 years ago, he left no houses, lands, or money for his children, but gave us something far more important...the memories of a brilliant man who fought ill-health and near-poverty all his life, but was unbroken and un-bowed by misfortune.

Felled by a massive heart attack when he was in his early twenties, he was told by the experts that he would never work again, but he managed to work almost every day and support his wife and four children until his death at the age of 55.

Perhaps he was like many people with a physical handicap because he overcompensated by developing his mind to an unusual degree. He had degrees in math, English, and education, and had done work on a doctorate before his death. He was an accomplished musician, learning to play the piano "by ear." He had studied law and medicine and was conversant with almost every field of learning, including religion.

During his later years, he wrote two books of commentary on the Bible, but burned both of them one day because he said he was "afraid I might accidentally mislead someone."

Among my favorite memories of my childhood are the times I spent prowling through his books. He had a very advanced idea, for that time, that a child should be allowed to read anything he pleased, so I was allowed unlimited freedom in his library (though we did not have enough money for any luxuries, he always managed to find money to buy books.) It was there among those dusty books that I developed a life-long love of reading and an insatiable curiosity about people.

He also encouraged in his children a deep need to question anything and everything and to prove to ourselves the rightness of any idea.

Although I was still a teenager when he died, I know that he was probably the greatest influence on my life, and if the

Owls Hand Tigers Third Loss

By Mike Haynes

The McLean Tigers gained more than 60 yards on the first two offensive plays of the game Friday night against Silverton. But momentum is fickle, and the Owls held onto it long enough in the second quarter to go home with a 19-7 victory in a clash of two Class B football teams at Duncan Field.

The loss drops McLean to 0-3 for the season, while the Owls are 2-1.

After Silverton kicked off to the Tigers, senior quarterback Randy Suggs dropped back to pass on McLean's first play from scrimmage. But he was forced to scramble to his left, found running room and cut back to his right, then raced north and was caught after a 48-yard gain. Then on first down, Dudley Reynolds, a sophomore running back, dashed 14 more yards.

The fast start ended abruptly, however, when on the next play a Suggs pass intended for tight end Tim Killham was intercepted, setting Silverton up on their own 43.

The Owls didn't really get going until the second period, when all the game's scoring occurred. With almost 10 minutes remaining in the half, tailback Bobby McPherson plunged into the end zone to put Silverton ahead 6-0. Mark Brown's kick was no good.

McLean found itself on the defensive almost immediately as the ensuing kickoff was covered by Silverton at the Tiger 22. On the first play, McPherson broke loose to score the Owls' second TD within 14 seconds. The kick again failed, leaving the Tigers down 12-0.

The turn of events seemed to have little negative effect on the local eleven, as they began moving the ball and soon reached the Silverton 5 yard line. Senior halfback Rex Morris went over from there to score the Tigers' first touchdown in their three 1979 games to date. Dudley Reynolds, substiting for a shaken up Wade Smith, kicked the extra point to narrow the margin to 12-7.

McLean's rally was derailed shortly before halftime when the football took a Silverton bounce and ended up in the

CHAMBER ORGANIZED

Following a resolution by Boyd Meador, an enthusiastic crowd unanimously voted Tuesday night to form a Chamber of Commerce in McLean. Approximately 40 people gathered in the school cafeteria to discuss the need for a Chamber and to begin the process of organizing.

Temporary chairman of the group, Linda Haynes, read sample by-laws of other Chambers to the group. Mrs. Haynes appointed an organizing committee to nominate at least 14 people for seven spots on the board of directors for the group. The organizing committee will also draw up a constitution and by-laws for the organization.

The nominees for the board and the by-laws will be presented at the next meeting of the group for approval.

The group decided to let the organizing committee set the date for the next meeting, at which time the board of directors will be chosen.

Since a set of by-laws has not been adopted for the group, Carl Dwyer moved that a $5 voting fee be charged at the beginning of the next meeting, and that the $5 be applied toward membership dues for those who decide to join.

hands of an Owl over the Tiger goal. Visiting quarterback Paul Brannon lofted a long pass toward receiver Mark Brown, but McLean safety Randy Suggs appeared to have a better shot at the pigskin and went for an interception around the 10 yard line. The ball bounced off Suggs and into the hands of Brown, who ran into the end zone to put the Owls up by 12 once more. Brown's kick was good this time to make the scoreboard read 19-7.

"Randy had him covered like a blanket," said Tiger head coach Jack Dorsett. "The other guy was just trying to break up the interception." The unpredictability of the oval-shaped ball made Suggs an untimely victim. "It hit me twice," said the senior, "once on the shoulder pads and once on my helmet."

McLean threatened the Silverton goal three times in the remainder of the game as the Tigers totaled 198 yards to the Owls' 260. But each drive was ended by fumbles or other mistakes. A long run by Rex

Morris put the Tigers within 10 yards of paydirt, but the run was called back. Another penetration to the 15 also was nullified by a penalty. Silverton, ahead by 12 late in the game, drove to the Tiger 4 chiefly with passes and stopped the clock in the waning seconds trying to score one more time. But McLean held the Owls on fourth and inches at the 4 with less than a minute left.

After one running play, Suggs heaved a "Hail Mary" pass on the contest's last play. Dorsett said he told the wide receivers to just go to the center in hopes that someone in a black jersey might catch it. The effort fell incomplete.

Dorsett said the Tigers "came of age" during that late goal line stand. "The whole coaching staff feels that way," he said. "Those guys showed a lot of character" by not giving up, he said. "The kids never quit; they kept coming and kept coming."

DUMP IS STILL A PROBLEM

The city dump east of McLean is more than just a place to dump garbage... it is the source of endless complaints from local people about the hours and the fact that the dump is kept locked.

I wish the city could work out a solution which would make everyone happy about the dump. As the situation stands now, the dump is open two afternoons a week and on Saturday.

This works a hardship on some businessmen in McLean who need access to the dump several times a week.

One man told me that he had virtually been put out of business because he needs to unload trash several times a week, and because the dump is closed, he cannot work until the place opens and he can unload his vehicles.

I was also told that El Paso Natural Gas has a key to the dump and uses it after hours and my informant seemed to think that this proved that the City of McLean was partial to big businesses.

Upon investigation I learned that El Paso has a gas well within the confines of the dump, and therefore has to have a key to get in to check on the well.

I was also told that the city employees had keys, and that state employees had keys to the dump.

Since these are both government bodies, I can also understand the reason for this.

It is a shame that state regulations have forced the dump to be locked. It is simply one more example of how the people-planners in the state and federal government in their efforts to protect us and help us, actually complicate our lives.

I'm not sure how the problem of the businessman who complained could be solved but I feel like some compromise might be reached in his case.

I strongly suggest that if your livelihood has been endangered by the regulations governing the dump that you appear at the next city council meeting and ask the council to work out a solution.

GOING TO THE DOGS?

A common item on the agenda at each city council meeting in McLean and in most small towns is dogs. The council receives endless complaints from city residents about the problems of dogs running loose, dogs destroying property, dogs disturbing people at night.

At each meeting the problem is discussed and discussed, but as yet no workable solution has been reached.

As a dog-owner, I know that the problems are difficult. The cost of fencing property is prohibitive, and the idea of a dog on a chain is repugnant to me. I have been embarrassed driving down the street with my dog running full speed beside my car, serenading the neighborhood.

But I think that the first step in solving our dog problem is for each individual dog owner to see to it that his dog is not a nuisance, does not roam the streets at will, and does not destroy other people's property. (And my dogs have been guilty of all those offenses.)

Perhaps the city needs to get tough and enforce the ordinances that are already on the books regarding dogs. Of course, to do that, the city will have to hire a city law officer, and provide a pound that meets state and federal regulations... all of which costs money, probably a great deal of money.

So perhaps like the poor, the dog problem will always be with us. However, when our enjoyment of a pet infringes on our neighbors' rights, we had better be prepared for trouble.

Look at your own situation. Are you guilty of allowing an animal to roam the town? Is your dog one of the members of the large pack of dogs that has terrorized children and pedestrians in McLean? If you answer yes to either of these questions, then you'd better take action before some government body forces you to.

McDonald's All-American High School Band was formed in 1967 to honor top-ranking high school musicians. Every year, two musicians are chosen from each state and from the District of Columbia—for a total of 102 band members.

The band performs under the direction of Paul Lavelle, former music director of Radio City Music Hall and director of the band of America. Assisting Lavelle is Paul Jeffrey, who is associate professor of music at Rutgers University and is musical director of the Midtown Manhattan Jazz Center.

number of letters and telegrams and visits from his former pupils is any indication, he was a great influence on the lives of many people.
I still miss him.

I hope you read the article by Jeanette Fish in last week's paper concerning the murder in 1927 near Alanreed.

I had heard about this horrible incident ever since I moved to McLean, but had never read the facts in the case. As I understand it, the law officers at that time thought that the couple who worked for the murdered family were the guilty parties, but they were never found and the murder was never solved. If you consider yourself an amateur sleuth, this would be a good case to investigate.

Did you happen to catch Henry Youngmans appearance on the Johnny Carson show the other night? I don't usually stay up late enough to see that show, but I happened to tune in one night, and got to see Youngman's appearance.

I have no idea how old Youngman is, but he must be in his seventies. He is of course famous for his "one-liners." After listening to several of his cracks, I was practically rolling out of bed. His humor is clean, sharp, and fast.

My favorite story he told went like this: "Did you hear about the man in California whose doctor gave him six months to live? Well, the man didn't pay his bill, so the doctor gave him another six months."
Oh, well. It was funny when Henry told it.

I have been tempted to run a full page ad in this newspaper stating "I am not the mayor of McLean." Being the editor of a paper, I get to hear plenty of complaints, but some folks seem to think that just because I happen to be married to the mayor, they should tell me their gripes about what the city is doing wrong.

So, in case you are one of the ones who is confused...let me tell you...I AM NOT THE MAYOR...I know the mayor...he is a nice fellow most of the time...but he doesn't tell me about city business, and I don't bother him about the newspaper.

If you have a complaint about the city that you think the paper should investigate, then by all means bring it to this office, but if you need information about something to do with city business, ask the mayor and if he doesn't give you an answer that you like, go to the city council meetings and voice your complaints there.

I wonder if the men thinking of running for president next year have considered the jinx on the office. Since 1840, every president elected in a year which ended in zero has either died in office or been assassinated.

In the 1840 election, William Henry Harrison won, but died one month after his inauguration.

In 1860, it was Lincoln who was elected, and he was felled by the bullets of John Wilkes Booth. In 1880, James Garfield was elected, and in 1881 he was assassinated by Charles Guiteau.

In 1900 William McKinley was elected, but assassinated by anarchist Leon Czolgosz in 1901.

In 1920 Warren G. Harding was elected, and following several scandals he died in office in 1923.

In 1940, Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected, and he died in office.

In 1960, it was John F. Kennedy who won the race. He was assassinated Nov. 22, 1963 by Lee Harvey Oswald.

I think if I were considering running for president I would decide to wait until 1984 to toss my hat into the ring...or if the jinx holds...we'd better be careful who we elect vice-president!

Ollie Hommel from Hommel's Orchard near Alanreed brought us a sack of delicious apples from his orchard last week. Hommel said that the crop was as good this year as any he had.

Vandalism, Theft Reported In Area

Several acts of vandalism and theft were reported in McLean last week. A stereo system belonging to Teen Town was stolen from the McLean Country Club sometime during the week. The system was valued at about $450, according to Gwen Henley, spokesman for the group.

Also, a window at the Billy Thomas home was shot out, and two windows in the stage area at McLean High School were broken out by vandals.

No other damage was reported to the school.

Local Airport Receives Grant

The Texas Aeronautics Commission announced recently that the McLean Gray County Airport has been awarded a $20,000 grant to seal coat and mark the runway at the local airfield.

Other area airports receiving grants from the board were the facility at Wheeler, which received a $70,000 to acquire land to build a 3500 ft. by 60 ft. runway.

Perry Lefors Field at Pampa received a grant of $50,000 to improve the facilities there.

Postal Program Offers Consumers Relief

The Postal Service's Consumer Service Card program offers prompt response to customer mail problems, according to Postmaster Frank Simpson.

"We've received several Consumer Service Cards since the program began in Sept., 1975," the postmaster said, "and we've been able to resolve a large percent of complaints to the satisfaction of our customers. The program has made a significant contribution," he said, "to our efforts to improve the quality of mail service to McLean area residents."

The postmaster's program is part of the Postal Service's nationwide Consumer Service Program reflecting Postmaster General William F. Bolger's determination that mail service should be courteous, efficient, and reliable.

Postal Program Offers Consumers Relief

The cards are designed to help customers bring their problems about mail service directly to postal management so everything possible will be done to resolve them. Postal employees are required to use the cards to record customer telephone and correspondence inquiries and complaints. They are available from letter carriers and in post office lobbies.

The Consumer Service Card consists of two postal cards with carbon paper in between. One copy is sent to the local postmaster for action. The other goes to the Consumer Advocate in Washington, D.C.—a high postal official charged with responsibility to cause necessary postal changes to meet customer needs for analysis and help spot problem areas and trends, as well as to assist individual customers. No postage is required on the cards.

Postmaster Simpson said not everyone used the card to register a complaint. "Many customers used a Consumer Service Card to offer suggestions to improve mail service in the McLean area, or to compliment a postal employee."

"We need to hear from people when they have mail problems," he said, "so we can resolve them. Taking the minute or two needed to fill one out is time well spent for the customer and us."

He added that SEDCO's subsequent sinking of the damaged rig in deep international waters on July 12 "cast grave suspicions on everything they (SEDCO officials) have said" about the company's role in the blow-out.

Pampa Women Injured In Wreck

Two Pampa women were injured in a two-vehicle accident east of Alanreed on Interstate 40 Friday afternoon.

Ada Whatley, a carrier for the Pampa News, and her daughter, Doris Luster were injured when their 1978 Dodge Colt station wagon was struck by James L. Noel, 53, of Latrobe, Penn.

According to John Holland, Texas Department of Public Safety officer, the Whatley car turned into the path of the 1976 Ford pickup camper driven by Noel, who was driving east on I-40 about one tenth of a mile east of Alanreed. Noel was not injured in the incident.

Mrs. Whatley was cited for failure to yield right of way at an intersection.

The two women are both in satisfactory condition at McLean Hospital.

Music for the nuptials was performed by Sarah Parsley of Dallas, organist, and Jan Roberts, pianist. Bonnie Brass and Ida Hess sang four wedding songs. A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Serving the three-tiered wedding cake from the bride's table were Janet Smith of Amarillo, Teresa Cheatham of Canyon, Kim Howell of Canyon, and Teresa Doughten of Stinnett. Study Club Receives Yearbooks

Pioneer Study Club met Sept. 20 in the home of Ruth Magee. Nancy Billingsley conducted the business session, and yearbooks were presented to members. The senior tea was discussed. Members were asked to bake a cake or pie to be auctioned at the forthcoming Jubilee, with the proceeds to go to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Band Boosters Elect Officers For Year

Sixteen people attended the first meeting of the Band Boosters Monday evening in the band hall at McLean High school for the election of officers. Elected were Jean Smith, president; Mrs. Don Wilson, vice-president; Sonie Heasley, secretary-treasurer; and Anita Hook, reporter. The group was introduced to Debbie Riepma, band director of the Pride of the Tigers band. Several items of business were discussed including a Jubilee set for Nov. 10 to raise money for future band activities. The group also discussed a pep-wee tournament, a volleyball tournament, a concert in the park, and the banquet for the band, but no action was taken on these projects. The Band Booster Club is selling toboggans and tams for $6, scarves for $7, and jackets for $20. Jean Smith reported that the money for the Colorado trip had been paid. Anyone who has a child in band is invited to join the club.

HOW MANY TIMES can you hear an echo? It depends on where you make the sound. In Killarney, Ireland, there is a cave called "the eagle's nest." Folks will tell you that if you sound a bugle not there, you'll hear it repeated at least a hundred times.

LIBRARY NOTES

DUKE
By John Boswell and Jay David
A new album which has been called "an intimate look at a legend" will certainly be of interest to all John Wayne fans. Numerous excellent photographs grace this excellent publication, taken from many of Wayne's movies as well as pictures from his private life and social activities. "Duke" once said himself, "Nobody should come to the movies unless he believes in heroes," and of course, his life as depicted in this album, is the epitome of the hero image. Many pleasant and exciting memories will be brought to mind as one exploits the pages of this very desirable book, and it accurately reflects the courageous story of the man who has become a legend to us all. "Duke", The Legend Of Our Time" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

THE EXPRESSION "IT'S a white elephant" is used when people want to say that something costs more to maintain or operate than it's worth. It comes from what a certain King of Siam is supposed to have done. He used to make a present of a white elephant to members of his court whom he wanted to ruin, knowing they couldn't afford to keep the white elephant in the proper style. But there's more behind the "white elephant" than that. In Siam, even today, it is believed that a white elephant contains the soul of a dead person, maybe even an ancient god. So when a white elephant is captured, it is cared for and worshipped. And when a white elephant dies, it is mourned for like a human.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: Recently I read in the paper about motorists being stopped for speeding. If they couldn't pay the fine immediately, in cash, they were taken to jail. Is this legal in the state of Texas?

A: A Texas resident driving a licensed Texas vehicle must be issued an order to appear in court for a speeding violation if the motorist gives his written promise to appear.

However, non-residents are often unable or unwilling to appear in court at a later date. For this reason, non-residents cited for speeding may be taken either into custody until a cash bond is posted or may be taken directly before a magistrate for disposition of the case and payment of the fine.

Q: Can a will be written for me to allow my wife and children to avoid inheritance taxes?

A: Inheritance taxes which may be imposed on your estate after you die cannot be avoided simply by a provision in your will. However, inheritance and estate taxes can be minimized by proper estate planning. For example, proceeds from a life insurance policy on your life may not be taxed if your wife owned the policy and paid from her separate monies. This may remove the policy from your taxable estate.

Q: My husband owned a farm and had four grown children from his first marriage when we married 15 years ago. What interest in the farm would I be entitled to, if he died?

A: If your husband had a valid will at his death, you would receive whatever part of his interest in the farm he provided for in the will. If he died without a valid will, various factors would determine your property rights. These factors would include whether the farm was your husband's separate property, or whether it was community property of your husband and his former wife.

Q: I'm a middle-aged man of modest income and savings, married, have three children, and would like to draw up a will. Must I consult a lawyer, or is there another way that may be less expensive?

A: The number of factors involved in drafting a will, ranging from the choice of a guardian for children to coordination of life insurance, are so varied that each will should be individually prepared. Your local or statewide lawyer referral service can direct you to a lawyer familiar with estate planning who will provide a 30-minute consultation for a minimal fee.

Q: Problems keep building up and I'm seriously considering getting a divorce. If I do it, I want to get it over with as quickly as possible. How long does it take to get a divorce in Texas?

A: After the divorce petition is filed, the law requires a sixty-day waiting period. You could get back together during that time and drop the proceedings. After this 60 days, the final hearing on the divorce can be scheduled. The exact date would be subject to the caseload of the district court and any complications or problems in your case.

Q: I have written a will naming my sister the beneficiary of a considerable amount of money. I want to be certain the money stays in the family. If she dies, will her husband and children be entitled to any of that money?

A: If your sister dies before you do, your gift to her will lapse and pass instead with the residue of your estate.

If, however, your sister receives this money after your death, it will become part of her estate and will go as she directs under her will.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical format; personal answers not possible.

THE MOST UNUSUAL commuters in the world are Turks who make a 10-minute ferry trip every day. They go across the Bosphorus from Uskudar to Istanbul. In those 10 minutes, they actually commute from one continent, Asia, to another continent, Europe.

IN SOME RURAL areas of England, the people believe that the apple can help produce babies. So at certain times, young people join hands and dance around apple trees—hoping this will make them more prolific.

Sylvia K. Lowe, a member of the National Home Fashions League, is Floor Fashion Specialist, GAF Corporation.

A Kitchen That's Both Pretty And Practical

The handsome brick-like floor tiles shown here underscore the rich patina of the wood-finish cabinets, as well as provide the important element of easy maintenance in a no-wax urethane surface.

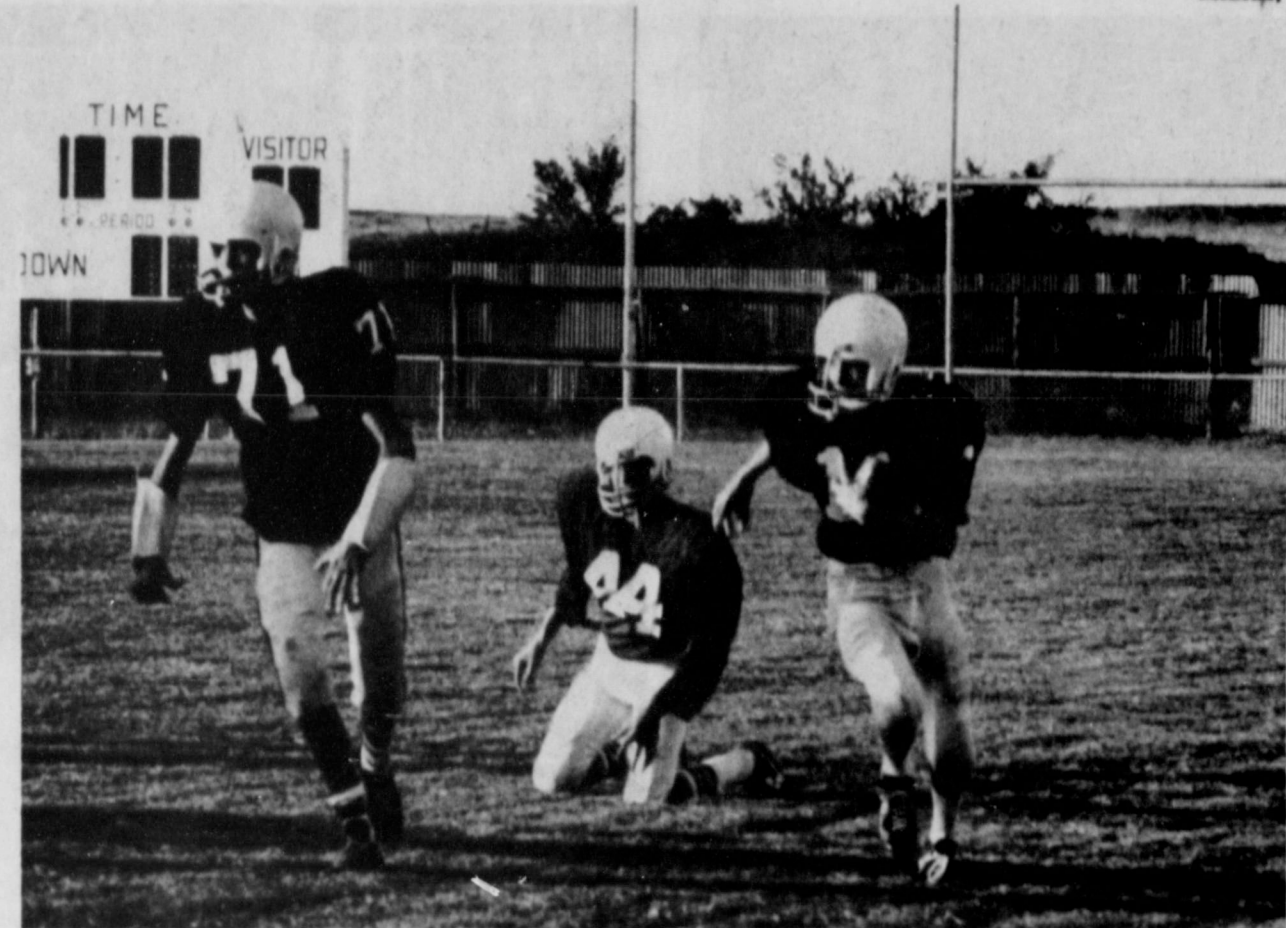

This feature is a welcome attraction for today's busy homemaker. However, I'd like to point out that an easy care urethane finish floor does need some attention to keep it looking its best. Some helpful hints:

1. Regularly remove surface dirt with a vacuum or damp mop.
2. While most household products will not stain a urethane surface, wipe up spills as soon as possible.
3. When the surface becomes soiled, wash with a resilient floor cleaner (GAF makes one) or any mild detergent and water, using a sponge mop (do not flood floor). For stubborn dirt or scuff marks add three ounces of household ammonia to a gallon of washing solution. Do not use scouring powders, mechanical scrubbing, steel wool, or other abrasive materials.

4. The GAFSTAR floor tile shown here needs no waxing. However, should heavy wear result in some loss of gloss, a thin application of urethane floor finish to dulled areas is recommended.

For a free booklet with more information on the care and maintenance of your resilient floors, write to me, Sylvia K. Lowe, GAF Corp., 140 W. 51st Street, New York, NY 10036.

Cubs Grab Second Win

The McLean Junior High Cubs continued their winning ways in a game against Skelkytown at McLean Thursday night, beating the Panthers 18-0.

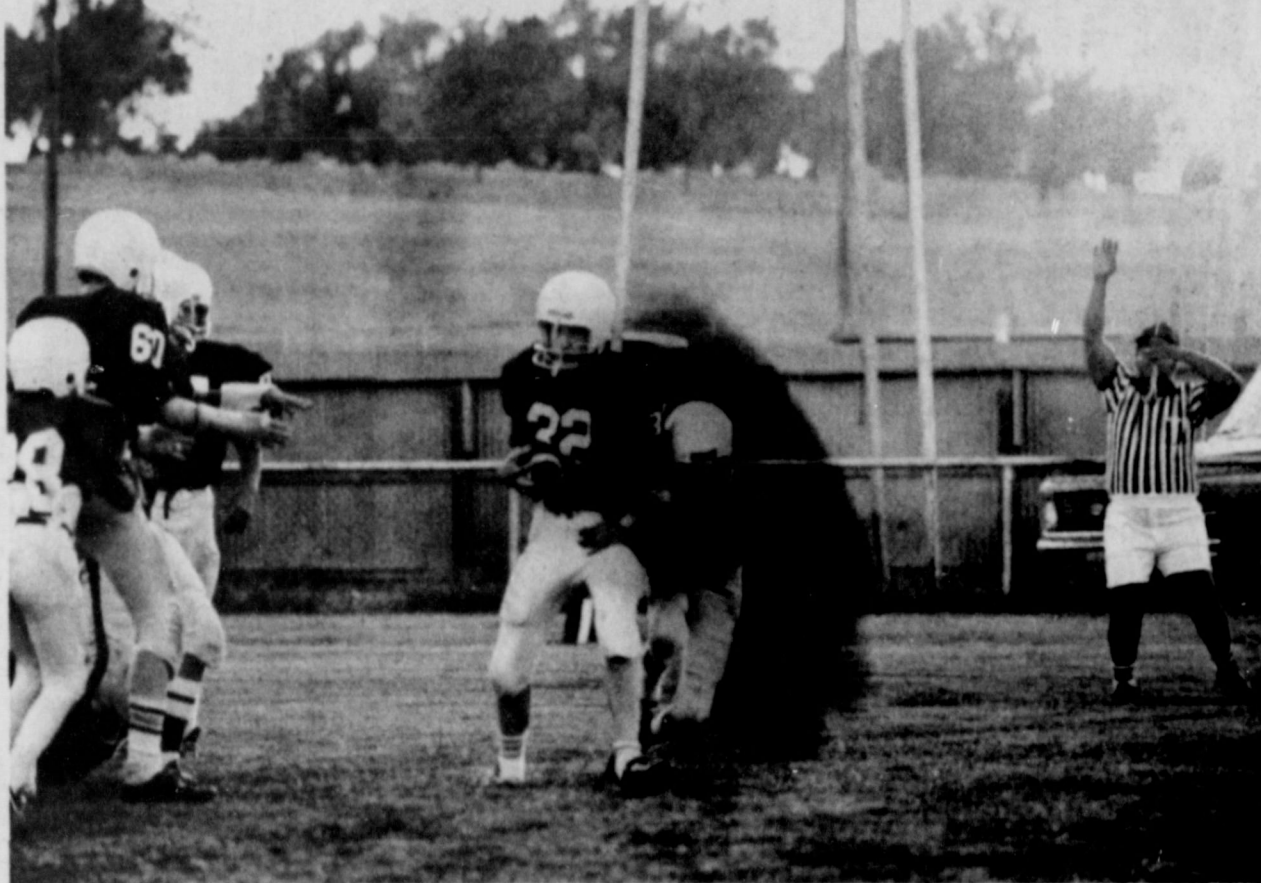

Kevin McDowell ran 60 yards on the opening kickoff to score for the Cubs. Extra-point runs for the McLean team failed all night. Later in the first quarter, Randall Wynn scampered 30 yards for a touchdown on a quarterback keeper. In the second quarter, Ricky Vasquez ran eight yards for a touchdown to complete the scoring in the game.

Coach Joe Riley said that he played his seventh graders on offense for most of the second half. "The boys are doing a great job all the way around," Riley said. "I'm just sorry we have an open date this week, but I think they'll be ready to play the next week."

WHAT ARE THE safest years in the life of a person in the United States? The chances of surviving from one year to the next are greatest at the ages of 9, 10, and 11. The mortality rate is the lowest during these years.

IN HOT CLIMATES, perspiration is good for the body, and a dry skin is an indication of fever. So in Cairo, many people greet each other with the salutation: "How do you sweat?"

IN AMSTERDAM, IF you own a cat or dog, you can get a special "Clean-up" service. Someone will come every day, take away the dirty tray and provide your pet with a clean tray filled with sand or sawdust.

TIGERS

Jerry Cook agreed that the Tigers played well for most of the game but were hurt by mistakes and bad luck. "We just had individual breakdowns at times," said Cook. "And bad breaks." Dorsett said he was pleased with his players' effort. "When we get our mistakes corrected, we'll be all right; we'll be there; until we do, it will be the same way it has been."

The Tigers accumulated 77 yards in penalties against the Owls, but that is an improvement over the 90 yards against Shamrock and more than 1200 against Chillicothe. "We're correcting those mistakes," said Dorsett. "It's going to take a little longer."

The head coach said another factor in Silverton's win was field position. "We played the whole second half inside our 40—all due to our mistakes," he said.

Dorsett said the offense has improved each week. "The line played real well at times but would fall apart for one or two plays," he analyzed. He said the backs ran well and that Terry Todd, Billy Joe Skipper, James Matheny, and Tim Killham each caught a pass. Dorsett said McLean's timing was better on throwing. Suggs topped all McLean rushers with 60 yards, while Morris had 40. McPherson, who had rushed for 168 yards against Lubbock Christian, paced Silverton with 134.

Rex Morris led the Tiger defense with 23 points awarded by the coaches for tackles, followed by Billy Kincannon with 19. Also scoring high on defense were Dudley Reynolds and Billy Joe Skipper. Suggs intercepted an errant Owl aerial in the second quarter and returned it about 50 yards.

Suggs also turned in a good performance punting, averaging 40 yards per kick, his best game of the year in that department.

Counter plays gave Silverton much yardage in the first half, and Dorsett was asked if those plays were something the Tigers had not seen before. "No, our linebackers just weren't staying at home," explained the coach. He referred to the linebackers leaving their assigned areas of responsibility.

Wide receiver and place-kicker Wade Smith was knocked out of action for much of the game when he was struck a lightning blow by an Owl secondary man. Smith, running a pass route, was knocked backward and lost consciousness. "I don't even remember being hit," said Smith. "I just remember going up for the pass and then waking up on the sideline." The pass fell incomplete.

Smith also had trouble with a pinched nerve in his neck which has bothered him for several days, but he re-entered the game in the second half, after recovering from being knocked out, to attempt a barefooted field goal. The try was no good.

The nondistrict game was the second straight home contest for McLean and was played in near perfect weather. The Tigers will travel to Claude Friday for an 8 p.m. game, still seeking that elusive first win of the season.

Claude, which competes in District 2-B (North) with Silverton and four other teams, has compiled a 1-0-2 mark in three games, edging Groom 10-8 in its opener and then battling to 0-0 ties with Miami and White Deer. The Mustangs have not scored in their past two games, yet sport an undefeated record. Claude is ranked the No. 38 Class B team in Texas by the Harris poll.

Although the Mustangs lack the speed of a team like Shamrock, they are "strong and big," said Dorsett. He said they are a solid team with experience. Claude operates out of straight T and wing T formations and runs a "5" defense, he said.

Dorsett said the Tigers had a good practice session Monday. "This has not hurt their enthusiasm," he said. "They realize they are just making mistakes and that when they cut them out they're going to win."

After playing Claude Friday, the Tigers will take a week off from competition with an open date Oct. 5 before opening District 1-B play Oct. 12 against Groom.

Food of the future featured in feast for the governor

COLLEGE STATION — Governor Clements recently came to Texas A&M University to learn about its research and ended up eating some of it.

The Aggies thought it only fitting that the governor be among the first to dine on their food of the future — products of research that can mean millions of dollars to Texas farmers and ranchers, better buys for consumers and even help with world hunger.

Elegantly served, the entrees included cotton-stuffed tomatoes, fish sausage and electrified beef. That was all after Governor Clements and his staff had snacked on such delicacies as glandless cottonseed, TAMUnuts and sorghum cookies.

The main meat was Baron of Beef which was tenderized by being jolted several times by 565 volts of electricity. That process developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station can significantly increase the value of beef carcasses.

Texas A&M's Sea Grant Program and Texas Agricultural Extension Service provided the fish sausage and the pickled royal red shrimp, the latter grown in man-made ponds and representing the potential for a new industry.

Texas Engineering Experiment Station personnel developed techniques for processing glandless cottonseeds and building the edible portion into appealing food forms. That, of course, was all after the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station produced a variety of non-toxic cotton.

Robber Robbed

Jean-Claude Boyer, 36, from Nice, France did not expect to find himself complaining to the police. Boyer was celebrating a recent holiday he had pulled off when he himself was robbed of the $7,500 he had just stolen. When arrested three days later for his original theft, Mr. Boyer had to explain why he no longer had the money.

Loose Marbles

While perusing the local nursing center news the other day, I came across a list of activities which are regularly offered to the residents. Included were quiltings, book reviews, movies, singalongs, church services, birthday parties, and bingo games, among others. The events are obviously aimed at pleasing the members of that incredible generation of men and women who had filled their days with hard work and their free time with good, wholesome activities.

This got me to thinking as to what would be offered when the next generation gets up there. After all, time and values change. So here's THE NURSING HOME NEWS OF THE YEAR 2020:

A drug raid was held at the nursing home last Thursday, with three residents being arrested on charges of possession. One elderly resident had carefully hidden a cache of marijuana in her upper plate, but had forgotten and put her entire set in a glass to soak, thereby revealing her illegal stash. Two residents were caught sniffing Geritol.

Joe Schmoie celebrated his birthday last week with an all-night party. The highlight of the event was an impromptu dance by "Bubbles" La Boom-Boom, a former Playboy bunny and a new resident of the home. Several of the male residents were able to do without their heart stimulants after the exciting dance.

Jogging was cancelled yesterday after one of the residents threatened to "streak". Fortunately for the other joggers, he was unable to untie the knots on his dressing gown, thereby foiling his attempt.

One of the big events of the month was a wedding of two of the older residents. The marriage was performed by the resident guru. The bride's father was seen lurking behind a pillar, clutching a shotgun. Plans for a baby shower are being made by friends of the couple. The manager of the home has announced that henceforth the visiting room will be patrolled at regular intervals.

Female residents held a support-hose-burning on the lawn Thursday night. Ms. Ima Rebel called the stockings "decadent and chauvinistic." The weekly wife-swapping event was rescheduled for next Monday, after only one couple showed up.

The annual TV football season has started, and male residents are settling in for a long session. The divorce rate is expected to soar again, as it did last fall. Several couples who are rooming together without benefit of marriage already have separated.

Those making the nightly wheel chair drag down Main Street have been getting some complaints from local residents who claim that the geriatric set should be at home in bed instead of out disturbing the peace. Dragsters have been warned that local law enforcement officers will ticket any wheel chair driver caught speeding or driving recklessly.

92-year-old "Hap" Hazard was caught cheating on his blood test Saturday. His yoga privileges have been revoked. A credit-card-burning party was held today when Lisa Patman announced that she had finally paid off her Master Charge bill which has been accumulating charges for the past fifty years. An unhappy sidelight to the party occurred when Mrs. Patman went into withdrawal upon seeing the card burned. She is currently confined to her room where she is in serious condition. Her only words are a barely audible "Charge It!"

Mining engineering degree program is a first in Texas

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M has started the state's first mining engineering degree program.

Initiated in response to industry needs, the new program comes at a time when Texas is looking to its lignite and uranium deposits to help meet energy demands.

"The increasing demand for energy will require us to utilize all of our oil, gas, lignite and uranium," said Dr. Douglas Von Gonten, head of the Petroleum Engineering Department at Texas A&M University which is offering the new program.

'Roots' influence may be reflected in 1980 census

COLLEGE STATION — Fallout from the popular television show "Roots" may influence more people to proudly mark their ethnic heritage in next year's national census, believes Texas A&M University sociologist Dr. Robert Skrabanek.

Skrabanek said one of the major effects of the 1980 census will be to supply more data on transportation, physical disabilities and ethnic background — from how many people car-pool to how many different languages are spoken in the United States.

ON NEW YEAR'S Day, many people are "recovering" from their celebration of New Year's Eve. In Scotland, no matter how they feel, they don't forget to fill all the salt shakers in the house that day. Otherwise, it is believed, the household will suffer want during the coming year.

"WORKING MOTHERS".... AND ATTENTIVE PARENTING:

Attentive parenting takes commitment and a plan, especially for newly employed "working mothers" who now find themselves with two jobs. To them, "organizational juggling" emerges as the key to successful management of parenting and professional responsibilities.

It may be comforting to know that some studies are reporting similarities in the amount of "attentive time" or "quality time" spent with children by both employed and unemployed mothers. However, at first, for many newly employed mothers, finding the time for mutually satisfying parent-child interaction is an important issue.

Start by making a commitment to plan parent-child time. Initially, employed mothers get so bogged down with the management of existing chores and responsibilities that they are psychologically and physically overwhelmed. To make a commitment to parent-child time, you may have to review priorities. This might mean letting less-essential things go or dividing and sharing tasks in order to have planned time with all family members.

Some families plan for a special night together once a week. One or more family members assume the responsibility of planning the meal and any activities which may take place. Other families focus on a special weekend once a month.

However, parent-child time doesn't have to be elaborately planned. It may mean an opportunity for the parent to share with the child in reading a book or becoming involved in undertaking a task or simple project together. Children need to feel their parents want to be with them and that parents also enjoy the interaction which takes place.

Find some opportunity for giving each child "time alone with the parent". These are moments when the child feels they have the total attention of the parent. This is a time for enjoying each other and recognizing individual needs and personality traits. Outside employment of the parent does not necessarily mean the reduction of parent-child interaction, but perhaps some reorganization in the time planned for it. No matter what, it is important time for both parent and child.

FIGHT THE "CRAZIES" ON SHOPPING TRIPS:

Some people get the "crazies" when they shop—then their budget goes "crazy", too. Some of those people are me and you.

Experts have "names" for these shoppers—the "bargain buyers," the "depressed shopper," the "spiteful buyer," the "status buyer", and the "wishful buyer". These names describe several spending personalities. Study their symptoms below, and if any are yours, then fight the "crazies" and save more money than you ever dreamed of.

BARGAIN BUYERS — get pleasure from imagining they are outwitting the seller. Accumulating bargains becomes a game more important than the products. Not paying the original price is—for some people—a way of asserting superiority and independence.

DEPRESSED SHOPPERS — they use buying to compensate for frustration and gloom. It's a way to "boost the spirits", they think. But, of course, it's also a way to fritter away cash. Once in a while, a "fling" may be emotionally healthy, but when it becomes a habit, or the items are expensive, new ways of solving depression would be more economical.

SPITEFUL BUYERS — they "work so hard and get so little attention" that they just go out and buy something to get back. Unfortunately, a buying spree rarely relieves the feeling of neglect for very long, and worse yet, the purchase is rarely something they feel good about later.

STATUS BUYERS — will fall for anything that makes them stand out in a crowd. Sellers know people are willing to pay more for a product that reflects luxury. For example, cars feature options that have nothing to do with safety or economy. These luxury options simply appeal to status buyers.

WISHFUL BUYERS — spend money on products that promise a "wish come true" — young, slim, smooth skin. Did you make a wishful purchase today? Or any other "crazy" purchase? We hope not.

PUMPKINS: Harvest pumpkins when the fruits are full size, the rind is firm and glossy and the bottom of the fruit (portion touching the soil) is cream to orange color. Look for firm, bright-colored pumpkins, free from blemishes.

Store the pumpkin in a cool, dry place and plan to use within a month. To prepare the pumpkin, halve or quarter, remove seeds and stringy portions. Cube, then peel. Cook in a saucepan over medium heat, in 1-inch boiling, salted water. Heat pumpkin to boiling; cover and cook 25 to 30 minutes. Use in recipe for pies, breads, etc. To freeze pumpkin; wash, cut into small pieces, remove seeds and peel. Cook until soft in boiling water, pressure cooker or oven. Mash pulp or put through sieve. Cool by placing pan containing pumpkin over chopped ice, and stir pumpkin occasionally. Package and freeze immediately.

Gone Fishin'

by Jeanette Fish

There are currently three types of nursing care in the nation's hospitals. Up until a few years ago the most prevalent of these was a charge nurse of each hospital unit, a medication nurse, a treatment nurse, ie, I.V.'s dressing changes etc. and two nurses aides. This was a somewhat impersonalized type of nursing as anyone who was hospitalized in the 40's and 50's will remember.

The Registered Nurse was tied down with paper work and seldom saw the patients. With the advent of Licensed Vocational Nurses and Ward Secretaries in the work force, team nursing came into being. In this system there is a charge nurse for 20 to 40 patients, a ward secretary to do much of the paper work and two teams headed by L.V.N.'s supervising two nurses aides each. Team nursing is a good concept but as a practical matter has run into problems mainly due to nursing shortages.

Another recent concept is Primary Care. Many hospitals are now implementing this care on certain units. In Primary Care a patient has a Primary Nurse who is responsible for his plan of care throughout the hospitalization. She formulates the approach to his problems and sees that it is carried out. On her days off another Registered Nurse is responsible for carrying out the plan made by the Primary Nurse. This is the built in problem with that system. Due to the differences in human personality it is often difficult to ask someone on the scene to use the same tactics in carrying for the sick and dying as someone who is not there.

Primary Care has necessitated replanning of nursing units. Holy Cross Hospital in the San Fernando Valley of Los Angeles is one such hospital. The old building was destroyed by earthquake in 1971. They were able to build the new facility to fit Primary Nursing plans.

There are small desks in the wall outside the patient rooms which are all single care units. There are no nurses stations. Instead there are computerized communications desks at the end of the corridors so that lights can be answered at that desk and someone dispatched to take care of the patients needs. These units are quiet, no loud noises, no bells. There are air tubes by each patient chart desk to send requisitions for medication and lab work. There is a minimum of confusion. Most nurses enjoy this type of care which they are able to give to four or five patients as they take care of all their needs. Most of them had to adjust to the quietness and some said it was lonely. Some patients felt it was too quiet.

The majority of Registered Nurses seem to like the kind of health care they are able to deliver under this system. The problem with all the above systems is the shortage of nurses. There are 1,400,000 Registered Nurses in the United States with 70 percent of them working at this time.

There is a severe nursing shortage in most areas of the country in urban and rural locations. Delaware and Rhode Island are the only states who do not report a shortage. All states have a serious maldistribution of nurses even though some do not have a numerical shortage. Many hospitals have had to close critical-care areas due to lack of staffing.

The growing complexity of health care could see the need to double the number of Registered Nurses by 1982. In California 17 percent of the budgeted positions for nurses are unfilled. In Texas the figure is 14 percent. There is a one year waiting list to enter the public nursing schools in California. The private schools cost more than $2,000 a year with a schedule making it difficult to work while you are attending.

Nurses are called upon to make decisions which affect your life and health. They are paid less than an oil field ous-about or a union grocery checker. Most nurses don't complain. They truly love the profession. Many of them are caught somewhere between the paper work required by Medicare and emptying the trash. They are stuck between the new technology requiring them to learn the use of complicated equipment and their old "soothing fevered brows" image handed down for years.

They are excited and enthused about the many new innovations at their disposal. I believe that nurses will be able to work out their problems and roll with the punches. The fact that there are not enough nurses to go around will have to be solved with the help of other people.

Alanreed Community Profile

J.C. Gilbreath was born December 21, 1912 in Hollis, Okla. There were 12 children in the family of James Thomas Gilbreath. He moved to this area when he was a boy. The large family was fortunate in that 11 of them lived to adulthood but they were saddened several years ago when three brothers died in a 13 month period.

Ruby Clemmons Gilbreath was born at Lelia Lake. She attended the McLean school in the first grade where they lived for a short while. By the time she was in the 2nd grade the family had moved to Alanreed and she spent her remaining school years there. There were nine children in the Joe Clemmons family. Mr. Clemmons is 86 years old, still in good health living in Pampa and enjoying his garden.

When J.C. and Ruby were 16 and 13 they became acquainted in school. They grew up and were married in 1932 in Pampa where they lived for several years while he was employed at the Cabot Corporation. They eventually moved back to Alanreed as Ruby said "They took the boy out of the country but couldn't take the country out of the boy."

Their son Sidney was born in 1933, another son Lindsey in 1935 and twins Norman and Norma in 1938. They lived north of Alanreed for many years. J.C. farmed and Ruby recalls washing diapers for twins on a rub board with water carried from the creek in two buckets.

They moved into their present home in Alanreed in 1963. Ruby says it is a good life just to be a neighbor, be friends and have friends. "We haven't always had everything we want but we have had everything we need."

Their children, Norman and Lindsey live in New Mexico. Sidney lives in Hinton, Oklahoma and Norma in Pampa. There are 13 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren.

THE MAN WHO crashed the car in that film or TV story you saw was probably a professional car crusher. And among the precautions he took in advance of that car crash are some that may surprise you. He removed the small knobs, door-handles, window winders, ash trays, and all kinds of other things fitted inside the car. These objects become among the greatest dangers to a person inside the car when it crashes.

New Law Will Affect Texas Drivers

AUSTIN—Texas drivers need to know about an important new law which will seriously affect how they drive on freeway frontage roads.
The change is so important that ignoring it could literally become a matter of life or death.
The law, passed in the recent session of the Texas Legislature, gives traffic entering or leaving freeway ramps the right of way over frontage road traffic.
It was signed by the governor on June 11, and became effective August 27.
It reads in part:
"The driver of a vehicle proceeding on an access or feeder road of a controlled access highway shall yield the right of way to a vehicle entering or about to enter or leaving or about to leave the road to enter the highway."
Many ramps on Texas highways already are arranged that way, and YIELD and other signs are in place on the frontage roads for this kind of operation.

Other places where ramps and frontage roads meet, however, are not. There, the signs presently are arranged to require the ramp traffic to yield.
The situation is especially critical where the frontage road carries traffic in both directions. Ramp traffic both entering and leaving the freeway crosses opposing streams of traffic on the frontage road.
The wise motorist should be alert for any changes in signs on the frontage road he may drive regularly and should be aware that all ramp traffic will legally have the right of way over frontage road traffic.
He should also be aware when using freeway ramps that other drivers may not be aware of this law change and may overlook the new signs.
Signs are being changed now. Drivers should heed new sign arrangements as they encounter them.

Water Well Survey Will Begin In October

4-H Corner
4-H is a youth development program to develop youth through the involvement of parents and other adult volunteers who organize and conduct learning experiences for youth in a community setting. The program is administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System and is open to any youth between the ages of 9 and 19, regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.
4-H members can grow in knowledge, skills, citizenship, leadership, and develop a sense of accomplishment and self-confidence through "learning by doing". Members select and plan project activities in their interest areas with the assistance of volunteer leaders.
While members learn through various experiences, they have the opportunity to have fun with others who have common interests. Some of the most popular projects in Gray County include clothing, foods and nutrition, rifle, dog care and training, and livestock, but projects are available in many other areas of interest.
4-H clubs throughout Gray County are currently being reorganized and welcome new members. Anyone who is interested in learning more about the 4-H program should contact the Gray County Extension Office at 669-7429.
Water Well Survey
An intensive field survey of water wells in the High Plains Area will begin in October, conducted by personnel of the Texas Department of Water Resources. Purpose of the survey will be to obtain measurements on the depth to water in the aquifer from land surface, with one measurement for every 10 square miles.
The survey is a part of a multi-state study to evaluate the vast Ogallala Aquifer.
TDWR personnel will work in the field gathering and recording depth-to-water measurements from wells included in a statewide network of observation wells, and will also attempt to obtain additional measurements from wells not in the network. Measurements are made by lowering a steel tape down the well's casing until it is in contact with the water in the well, observing and recording the depth to the water, and retrieving the tape. The process requires only a few minutes and care is taken not to disturb anything in or around the well.
According to a TDWR spokesman, the department has received warm cooperation from well owners whose wells are not in the network but who will be visited during the coming fall and winter months.
Cooperating in the program are the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 in Lubbock, the North Plains Ground Water Conservation District No. 2 in Dumas, and the Panhandle

IF YOU'VE EVER been in a house where they pointed out "the drawing room"--you know it's not a room where drawing or painting is done. It seems that during the 16th century in England, it became the custom for ladies and gentlemen to separate after dinner. The men remained in the dining room to drink and talk. The ladies went to a special room set aside for their gossip and talk. So what the ladies did was "withdraw"--and the room they went to came to be known as "the withdrawing room." In time, this was shortened to "the drawing room," which it is still called today.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

MEETING WITH SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE:

Farmers and ranchers in Gray County are invited to take part in a meeting with Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland on the "structure of agriculture."

The meeting will be Dec. 6 in Wichita Falls and is one of 10 regional meetings designed to obtain comments and suggestions on the economic and social issues affecting the structure of American agriculture and rural life. Major purpose will be to determine the overall impact of all the different problems, policies and conditions that interact to influence farm structure.

Individuals interested in making a brief presentation at the meeting need to submit a request. More details on how to submit the request are available at the local county Extension and ASCS offices. Written comments may also be submitted to be included in a final document to be published following the series of meetings.

The meeting will provide for a re-examination of the structure of American agriculture so that a comprehensive package of factual information and recommendations can be developed for use in proposing future policies, especially new farm legislation for 1981.

This meeting provides an opportunity for every interested in the future of agriculture to make his voice heard.

Persons wishing to address the meeting should send the request as soon as possible to: Project Coordinator, Structure of Agriculture, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250

WHEAT VARIETIES:

We have seed wheat of several fairly new wheat varieties for a demonstration. If anyone is interested in looking at some of these newer varieties planted side-by-side please let me know. It will only involve an extra hour or so at planting time to put this demonstration in.

TAX PRACTITIONER WORKSHOP

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering 34 Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state. The nearest workshop to our area will be held in Amarillo on the 19th and 20th of November. These two day workshops are specifically designed for tax practitioners who work extensively with farmers and ranchers.

Topics to be covered in the general workshops are: "What's New", Estimated Tax and Penalty; Pension and Annuities; Income Averaging; Investment Credit; Tax Free Exchanges.

This year, six advanced programs for Corporations and Partnerships will be offered in Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Lubbock, and Dallas, stressing tax preparation for small businesses also.

Topics to be discussed in the advanced workshop are: "What's New", Basis of Partnership and Partners, Introduction to 1120-S; Minimum and Maximum Tax; Section 351 Transfer; Organizational expenditures; Introduction to Partnerships; Transfer of Partner's Interest; Subchapter S Income; Corporate Liquidation; NOL Carrybacks and Carryovers; Estimated Tax.

For additional information, please contact the County Extension Office for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

HOME LAWNS:

Homeowners with Fescue lawns sometimes have the problem of the grass growing in bunches after a few years. Over seeding with new Fescue at this time of the year would be good practice to help solve the bunch situation in a Fescue lawn.

If you had been fertilizing your lawn regularly probably no extra fertilizer would be needed. You should probably rake or tear up any large bare spots to give a better seed situation. In fairly good turf areas, you may just want to let your clippings fall on the ground to serve as a little cover for the seed. Then keep your lawn fairly wet so the germinating seed will have adequate moisture.

Americans Lose Millions To Mail Fraud

American consumers lost more than $469 million to mail fraud and misrepresentation by mail over each of the last five years, Postmaster Frank Simpson said today.

September 24-29 has been designated the fourth annual Postal Consumer Protection Week by Postmaster General William F. Bolger to heighten public awareness of the problem.

Simpson emphasized that the majority of companies who are a part of the $60-billion mail order industry are honest and dedicated to customer satisfaction. But a few operators are out to bilk the public, as in many other industries.

"The nation's best defense against unscrupulous con artists using the mails is an informed public," Simpson said. "Everyone should be constantly on guard against what are really unbelievable claims and get-rich-quick schemes."

The Postal Inspection Service actively investigates mail fraud and false representation by mail, and assists with mail-order and service problems.

"Swindles aimed at consumers are limited only by the imagination of the con artist," Simpson said, "because they've learned that many people are willing to invest their hard-earned money on offers which sound too good to be true."

Typical examples of mail frauds and false representations by mail include a variety of investment offers, phony franchises, miraculous "cures" for a variety of illnesses, weight reducing plans with no proven medical value, and work-at-home-schemes.

"The elderly are quite often prime targets for these schemes," Simpson said, "because they are trying to protect their savings from the effects of inflation."

Simpson urged consumers to ask companies to back up their claims if an offer sounds unbelievable and too good to be true. "That's the best way to protect yourself," he said. "But if you feel you've lost money to a fraud, or haven't received the merchandise you ordered, contact my office or a postal inspector." Phone numbers are listed under U.S. Government Postal Service in local telephone directories.

Simpson reminded customers that whenever they have a problem with their mail service, to fill-out a postal Consumer Service Card, available at post offices and from letter carriers. "We need as much information as possible to help someone with a mail problem and the easy-to-complete card assures prompt action on our part."
