

Lengthy Rail Strike Near A Settlement

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—A final agreement to end the violence-studded Louisville and Nashville Railroad strike still eluded mediators tonight.

After a day of hope that a pact could be signed to end the walkout on Monday, the mediation sessions were recessed until tomorrow with no accord in sight.

Francis O'Neill, chairman of the Federal Mediation Board, said both sides were "so close together they're searching each other."

O'Neill said he was "greatly optimistic." But when he was asked about a report that Monday had been set for settling the strike, he said "the time schedule may be a little set back."

Told that the two sides were reported close together, George E. Leighty, chairman of the striking union negotiating committee, said "if they are, the O'Neill knows something I don't know."

"I have nothing to say," said G. C. Howard, personnel director of L&N.

Beard Faction Wins Again In Irving Voting

IRVING, Tex., May 7 (AP)—Backers of ousted Superintendent John L. Beard won a smashing victory as all seven members of the school board were swept in an election held today.

The anti-Beard slate failed to land a single post although less than 300 votes separated the candidate receiving the highest vote total and the lowest total.

It was the third time within six weeks weary Irving voters balloted over the boiling school controversy, ignited when Beard was fired by the former school board in February.

The total vote was 3,298, some 400 shy of the number that turned out when the Irving Independent School District was abolished.

No matter which side won, it appeared Dr. Beard would not be reinstated. One of the so-called pro-Beard candidates, Jack F. Williams, this week said it was doubtful that the superintendent would be hired again because such a move might continue dissension in the town.

However, Dr. Beard may be reinstated by state Education Commissioner J. W. Edgerton. His case was heard by Edgar this week in Austin. The superintendent is appealing his ouster.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Consider the case of Mrs. C. N. Morton. Having worked at the Cash-worth puzzle last week, she found it easy. "Such a relief," she said, "that she just thought she would send it in. Somehow or another the answer didn't get turned in, and such a pity. It matched perfectly the correct solution in Friday's Herald. Mrs. Morton said it would have been nice to have picked up the $25 prize but it was also nice to know that the thing can be worked."

One thing about the showers of last week, no one referred to them as drought breakers. Usually some headline writer smashes the dry spell with the first good sprinkle. Now the area situation is such that even our arm chair agriculturalists aren't fooled. Although spotted, the showers were intense enough in places to furnish planting moisture, and those farmers are planting.

Under normal circumstances, the weather fare of the past week would be classified as "good for cotton growing." In the absence of cotton, you may consult your lawn and note that it also is ideal for growing goat heads. Give those things two drops of water and a warm day and they'll come up through pavement.

Last week had more than its share of violence. Garrison T. Massey was drowned in Moss Creek Lake; Cecil Hewitt Jr. was electrocuted when a TV antenna contacted a power line; fire inflicted an estimated $20,000 damage to the Gregg Street Shopping Center; Bob Wilson was critically hurt when

British Chief Urges Meeting Of 'Big Four'

By BRACK CURRY

PARIS, May 7 (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan today called on the United States to support his plan for a meeting of the head men of the Big Four powers to ease world tension. An official British source disclosed Macmillan's approach.

The informant said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reacted "not unfavorably" to the idea. Dulles and Macmillan were closest together about an hour here where the Atlantic community's foreign ministers are gathering to discuss a series of East-West issues.

But it appeared clear from talks with responsible American officials that American policy toward a Big Four meeting has not changed, and is not likely to change. It also seemed clear, although no American spokesman would say so, that Dulles would not willingly throw cold water in public on the Macmillan plan so near the British general election.

The American policy favors a meeting of foreign ministers—not the chiefs of the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

Foreign ministers made any sort of progress in solving problems that menace world peace, then President Eisenhower would be willing to join Prime Minister Eden of Britain and Premier Faure of France and Bulganin of Russia in the fact-to-face talks at the summit favored by Macmillan.

The whole plan for a meeting at the summit has been a hot issue in British politics since former Prime Minister Churchill tossed it to the electorate in a campaign speech four years ago.

Macmillan's precise proposal the informant said, envisaged an approach to the Soviets in this way:

1. A meeting of Eisenhower, Eden, Faure and Bulganin to look at the broad issues dividing East and West. The heads of government would seek to lay down a series of broad directives for a live-and-let-live agreement between the Communist and non-Communist worlds.

2. If all goes well, foreign ministers of the Big Four would carry on the work of their leaders in another series, immediately after the meeting, by trying to translate the broad directives into precise agreements.

3. There would be provision for further meetings both of heads of governments and foreign ministers of the Big Four powers if the need were to arise.

Most railroads agreed, but the L&N balked at what it called requiring its employees to contribute to a fund to enforce demands for a joint company-employee health insurance plan. A presidential emergency board had recommended early last year that the nation's railroads and nonoperating unions bear the cost jointly.

The strike was called March 14, primarily to enforce demands for a joint company-employee health insurance plan. A presidential emergency board had recommended early last year that the nation's railroads and nonoperating unions bear the cost jointly.

The strike tied up rail operations in the 14 states served by the L&N and its two affected subsidiaries, the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway, and the Clinchfield Railroad.

In addition to losses by the railroad and the striking workers, millions of dollars were lost to other industries dependent on transportation. In Kentucky alone, 14,000 coal miners idled by lack of railroad cars lost an estimated $5,000,000 in wages.

One killing, other serious wounding, and damage to railroad property developed.

The strike, involving 25,000 workers, was the longest since 1922 when union workers gave up their efforts after 80 days.

Twin Babies Die In Separate Beds

GLENDALE, Calif., May 7 (AP)—A young mother today found her 8-month-old twins dead in separate beds in the bedroom of their home, police reported.

Cause of death was not determined and an autopsy was ordered for Patrick James and Michael Timothy, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Caulfield.

Mrs. Caulfield, 20, said the twins had been suffering from colds. Canned meat and carrots, given the night before, and their first solid food, were being examined, police said, and the possibility that the twins suffocated in their blankets was being investigated.

Mrs. Caulfield, awakened by another son, Tommy, 2, about 2:30 a.m., found the twins dead.

Berlin Traffic Talk Slated For May 20

BONN, Germany, May 7 (AP)—The Western Allies today proposed May 20 as the date for a meeting with the Russians to discuss the high taxes on road traffic to Berlin.

The three Western ambassadors originally suggested to Soviet High Commissioner Georgi M. Pushkin that they get together today. He replied he would be away until May 16.

Texas Solons Face Big Tasks, Slated To Work Without Pay

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—With the state's two major problems—spending and taxing—still unsolved, Texas lawmakers today faced the prospect of having to work far beyond their automatic pay cut-off Tuesday.

How far depends on how hard and how smoothly the legislators want to work without their customary $25 a day, suspended by the Constitution after a session's 120th day.

The giant $1.5-billion-dollar spending measure for state services was still in a joint House-Senate conference Committee trying to reconcile differences between the two houses. Work was expected to be finished next week, but House and Senate concurrence are still necessary.

Taxation appeared to be in a

On Monday at Eglin, they, along with other industrialists and press representatives from over the nation, will witness a special weapons and fireproof demonstration staged by the Air Force.

The visitors arrived here shortly after noon, were greeted upon landing in their AF C-54 by Mayor G. W. Dalbey and Webb Commander Col. C. M. Young. Members of Colonel Young's staff joined them at an informal luncheon at the Officers Mess.

Civil Defense Helped By Latest Atom Blast Test

SURVIVAL CITY, Nev., May 7 (AP)—The nation's Civil Defense chief, Val Peterson, today hailed Thursday's giant atomic explosion as a big contribution to the Civil Defense effort.

It will "provide us with much information with which to update our Civil Defense pamphlets," he said.

The 14th and final blast of the 1955 atomic series staged for Monday, provided weather conditions are right.

Meanwhile, Peterson said, it will take months to complete studies of biological effects of the Thursday blast on scores of test dogs, rats, rabbits, guinea pigs and mice that survived in shelters.

Peterson added: "It will be several weeks before slide rules and

Whitney To Attend Treaty With Britain

MOSCOW, May 7 (AP)—The President of the Supreme Soviet today announced the British-Soviet friendship treaty of 1942 and the French-Soviet treaty of 1944.

The President acted on the basis of a recommendation from Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

It was done because Britain and France, satisfied the Paris agreement providing for payment of Western Germany, which the Soviet Union claims, makes the friendship treaties ineffective.

The Soviet Union has been threatening since December to scrap these mutual assistance treaties if the Paris pact were ratified, and became effective. Final steps in the ratification process were taken this week.

WE'LL SOON BE 165 MILLION

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The Census Bureau said today the population of the United States increased by about 25 million in the 19 years since Victory Day in Europe, May 8, 1945.

In May 1945, the population including the armed forces overseas was nearing the 140 million mark.

The bureau estimated that on May 8 this year the figure will be 164,865,000 and that by the end of the month it will go over the 165 million mark.

VA Hospital To Hold Open House

National Hospital Day will be celebrated with an open house at the local Veterans Administration hospital Thursday. The open house will be held from 2-4 p.m.

Specially conducted tours of the hospital will be guided by the volunteer Gray Ladies. In connection with NHD, the American Legion Auxiliary of Texas will sponsor "R Day" for rehabilitation, recognition, and recruitment of volunteer workers.

National Hospital Day is celebrated each year by hospitals all over the country on Florence Nightingale's birthday. She was born May 12, 1820. She took an interest in nursing and formed the first group of nurses to go into a battle zone and assist the wounded in 1854, the Crimean War. This was the first Nurses Corps to serve anywhere.

Later she helped found a nurses training school at St. Thomas Hospital in London. National Hospital Day was first celebrated in 1921. The ceremonies at that time set the pattern that has been used since. Purpose of the celebration is to acquaint the populace with their local hospitals.

Man Electrocuted As TV Pole Falls

A steel television pole fell against a 12,000-volt power line at the Dixie Court, 283 Scurry, Friday evening, killing Cecil Hewitt Jr. of Sulphur, La.

Hewitt, 20, and two friends from Sulphur were helping Abe Martin of Big Spring erect the TV antenna over his cabin at the apartment court. After the 48-foot pole was raised, it slipped out of control and toppled across the electric line at the rear of the cabin.

The entire discharge apparently passed through the body of Hewitt, who was standing on the ground and holding the bottom of the pole. He died on the way to the hospital in a River ambulance.

James Guillotte, also of Sulphur and who was standing beside Hewitt, suffered an electrical burn on his arm. He was jarred away from the steel pipe by the surge of electricity.

Charles O'Quinn, Sulphur, and Martin were not injured. Martin was on the roof of the cabin when the mishap occurred about 7 p.m.

The short circuit created when the pole hit the wires knocked out electric service to the south-central portion of the city for approximately 30 minutes, the Texas

Statement Due On Vaccine Findings

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Confusion gripped the nation's anti-polio campaign today after the government suddenly reversed itself and urged a halt in the mass inoculation program—at least until tomorrow.

The U. S. Public Health Service announced during the afternoon that its latest conclusions about the Salk vaccine, released to the public with high hopes less than a month ago, will be made public tomorrow afternoon.

Pending the Sunday announcement, the statement said, "the surgeon general recommended that states and municipalities postpone their vaccination programs."

This reversal of previous rulings that the nationwide inoculation of first and second grade school children go forward, repeated only yesterday by Surgeon Gen. Leonard A. Scheele, brought a deluge of telephone calls from perplexed health officials.

Dr. Scheele conferred with a group of government research specialists during the afternoon on tomorrow's announcement.

He was accompanied in the National Institutes of Health by Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh, who developed the vaccine, and Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Salk told newsmen "a few hours, day or so" would answer questions about his vaccine.

He appeared cheerful and commented that it was "a lovely day."

O'Connor, whose Foundation has played a leading role in the campaign to provide free inoculations for school children, was asked by reporters if he had lost faith in the vaccine.

"Don't be silly," he said, "of course not."

He said it was "not my field," however, to say whether the vaccination program would continue.

For the most part, however, the reaction appeared to be one of wait-and-see.

With some exceptions, the few areas which had scheduled Saturday inoculations called them off.

One of those exceptions was in Detroit, where Wayne County officials said their clinics would remain open Saturday to inoculate children who previously missed their turn.

Many health officials continued to express confidence in the vaccine, while others showed an inclination to wait further assurances from Washington.

Michigan's state health commissioner, Albert Heustis, commented: "We have ample evidence that in Michigan, at least, we are dealing with a safe and effective vaccine. We have been unable to get anything specific out of Washington as a reason for changing the program. All we do is read the press releases."

At Ottawa, Canadian Health authorities decided that the Salk vaccine used on Canadian children is safe and there will be no change in the countrywide immunization program.

Health Minister Paul Martin said about 500,000 Canadian children have been inoculated so far and there has been "no evidence whatever of unfavorable reaction."

The vaccine Canadian school children are receiving is produced

Medical Leaders Issue A List Of Vaccine 'Don'ts'

CHICAGO, May 7 (AP)—A top official of the American Medical Assn. today suggested a few "don'ts" to the American public when the program of vaccinations with Salk vaccine is clarified.

Dr. Dwight H. Murray of WAPA, Chicago, chairman of the trustees of AMA, in Chicago for a medical meeting, offered the following:

1. Don't let hysteria guide your thoughts and actions. While poliomyelitis is a serious disease, it has not reached epidemic proportions. Since Jan. 1 of this year only 1,452 cases of polio have been reported, compared with 1,995 in the corresponding weeks last year. This figure, applied against a population of 163,000,000 people in the United States, certainly is not alarming.
2. Don't permit your child to be vaccinated if he or she complains of not feeling well. Follow the advice of your family doctor to determine whether or not your child is well enough to be vaccinated.
3. Don't condemn the Salk vaccine. Because a few children out of the many thousands who were vaccinated, developed polio after inoculation is no good reason to knock down the effectiveness of the vaccine. In those isolated cases the vaccine may have been given too late to arrest development. Scientific study now going on will provide the answer eventually.
4. Don't expect vaccine to be produced overnight. Pharmaceutical houses manufacturing it are working day and night to speed production and everything is being done to produce sufficient vaccine to inoculate as many children as possible before the polio season gets rolling.
5. Don't expect the Salk vaccine to be 100 per cent effective. Some cases will develop but this vaccine is far better than anything we have ever had before.
6. Don't believe rumors that the Salk vaccine is being bootlegged or

The fuse block at the Dixie Courts was completely burned out. Lights dimmed and went out briefly in other sections of the city.

Hewitt arrived in Big Spring only Friday morning from Sulphur. His off-time job had played out in Louisiana and he and friends came here to visit Guillotte, who moved to Big Spring from Sulphur about two weeks ago. Hewitt hoped to find employment here.

Accompanying him to Big Spring Friday were Nina Guillotte, Mrs. Bruce Guillotte, Mrs. Lila Landry and O'Quinn. All are from Sulphur except Mrs. Landry who lives in Lake Charles.

Hewitt's body was sent to Lake Charles Saturday night by the River Funeral Home. Services will be held at Sulphur, but arrangements were pending.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hewitt, and a sister, Bernice Hewitt, all of Sulphur. The youth was born July 4, 1934, in Sulphur.

Ike, Adlai, Other Bigwigs Put On Gridiron Griddle

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower was depicted tonight as sending a message to White House squirrels asking them not to spoil this golf score because he may not be around Washington long.

Adlai Stevenson was described as suggesting maybe the Democrats "better get someone who can lose solemnly" next year, without any wisecracks.

And the President's new "pen pal," Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov, sang to him in a foreign affairs skit played "at the summit" atop Mt. Everest—because the United States has given away Asia and Europe and "there just ain't much left below the timberline."

All this happened at the annual dinner of the Gridiron Club of Washington correspondents at the Hotel Statler. The organization celebrated its 70th anniversary with its customary program of skits poking fun at the nation's political leaders.

The dinner also commemorated the 10th anniversary of VE Day, the victory won in Europe under the Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Eisenhower.

The President headed a list of 500 guests drawn from the Cabinet, Supreme Court, diplomats, Congress, journalism, business and labor.

A soloist representing Press Secretary James E. Hagerty said the putting-green problem had been solved. He said the President sent a message to the squirrels and, to the tune of "That's All I Want from You," sang:

"Don't spoil my game, and squirrels, keep away,
A little grass that slowly grows and grows,
That's all I want from you."
Democratic presidential hopefuls were presented as dreaming demogens of Peter Pan's Never-Never Land. Peter Pan was Gov. Averell Harriman, who had come from Albany to teach 1956 aspirants how to fly. Capt. Hook of the fantasy was translated into an impersonation of former President Truman, who said he would give 'em hell "just like in '48" with his man, Adlai Stevenson.

Peter Pan was introduced to others he could "teach to fly," including "larrupin" Lyndon Johnson, the marginal Democrat from Texas, and a Davey Crockett frontiersman representing Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tenn. "Harriman" finally said he would teach them all how to fly.

"You take a million dollars—and just spread it out like this," he cried, dramatically waving wings covered with dollars signs. "I fly, I fly"—and fell flat.

Dulles, Faure Study Viet Nam

By CARL HARTMAN
PARIS, May 7 (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Premier Edgar Faure met today—the first anniversary of the fall of Dien Bien Phu—to see if they can agree on how to keep communism out of South Viet Nam.

Their two countries have been at odds on the support to be given Premier Ngo Dinh Diem, officially backed by the United States.

The bigger problem of saving Southeast Asia for the free world faced a later meeting, with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan in attendance. That session was also concerned with how to save Formosa from Red invasion and how to promote a cease-fire in Formosa Strait.

With Dulles were U. S. Ambassador Douglas Dillon and the ambassador's expert on Indochina, William Gibson. Faure had Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and a battery of experts from his office.

Anti-Communist leaders of South Viet Nam are deep in local squabbles, a year before a scheduled election race with pro-Communist Ho Chi Minh for control of a unified nation.

New Fabric Processes Widen Economic Role Of 'King Cotton'

By GLENN COOTES
Cotton—the principal farm product of this area—fills 70 per cent of the textile needs of the country and is threatening to play an even more impressive role with new uses.

For instance, a new chemical process called "cyanooxylation" makes cotton one of the finer cloths available. The material becomes resistant to mildew or bacteria, wet and dry heat, and abrasion.

Also, the cloth is more receptive to dyes and has an added lustre with more resistance to wrinkles or creases. The material thus produced has the trade name "Azedon." Many new products, from clothes to ironing board covers, will be made from the fabric.

One product that has saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars is a new bandage now in use by the armed forces. Made of cotton, these bandages cost 25 cents each and replace an elastic bandage which had cost 62.5 cents each.

The government saved over five million dollars in 1952 with this new bandage. And besides that, the cotton bandage is a better bandage than the elastic. It doesn't hinder or stop blood circulation and does not work loose.

Cotton has even invaded the newspaper world. The New York Times prints a special edition every day on 100 per cent cotton-fiber paper. This is done to obtain a permanent copy of the paper for record purposes.

For safety, many hospitals now require that all sheets, blankets, and uniforms be made of cotton. Wool, plastics, nylon, and rayon had been invading this market, but the U. S. Bureau of Mines laboratory has recommended that cotton be the sole fabric in hospital work.

Reason for the recommendation was that the other fabrics tend to create static electricity which causes explosions around anaesthetics.

There is one example where cotton has been used as wallpaper. A couple used cotton print cloth for wallpaper 18 years ago and the fabric is still in place. There has been no fading, the cloth being still bright and colorful. For maintenance, they wipe it clean occasionally with a damp cloth. It is possible that cotton cloth will be the standard wall "paper" of the future.

For clothes, cotton is apparently the favorite of most of the housewives in the country. In 1946, 86 per cent of women buyers showed a preference for cotton over other fabrics. In 1954, 94 per cent showed the preference.

The summer use of cool seersuckers and pique have added to the choice of cotton over others. These materials require no ironing and are very popular with busy housewives.

About 13 per cent of all U. S. workers are employed in the cotton industry. Cotton is backed by an investment of machines and stock of 20 billion dollars. Texas ranks first in the nation in cotton production.

Production was 3,920,000,000 pound bales with a value of 689 million dollars. The state was second in the number of farms engaged in growing cotton with 23,177. This number represents 46 per cent of the total farms in the state.

In order to encourage farm wives to make order out of the crop so many of them grow, many manufacturers use fancy designed sacks to sell their stock feed. These cotton sacks can be used to fashion clothes for the entire family.

The materials of these feed sacks come in plaids, florals, stripes, checks, polka dots, and even abstract designs. It is estimated that three 100 pound sacks will make one dress in size 12 or 14. Farm families make clothes from approximately 125,000,000 of these sacks each year. It is reported.

The government reports that every plane, ship, and submarine it operates relies heavily on cotton for many purposes not yet revealed to the public.

In all these things cotton holds its own and apparently retains the position of "king," which it has held since its first use in India, about 3,700 B.C.

Displays of cotton producing and processing equipment, speeches, a style show featuring cotton garments, and other programs will highlight the observance.

The crowning of "King Cotton" during the cotton style revue Friday evening will climax the week's activities.

"King Cotton" will be selected from a "King of Cotton" of 12 boys and 12 pretty girls. During the revue, which will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday, 65 models will display the latest in cotton clothing.

A style revue also is scheduled for 3 p.m. Saturday at three Lamesa stores. The show will be filmed for later presentation over the television show "Texas In Review." The Tuesday revues will be held in Collins Department Store, Peterson Dress Shop, and the Kid Shop.

Ten farm implement dealers, four irrigation equipment firms, and two cotton milling concerns will set up displays on the Dawson Courthouse square. The exhibits and demonstrations will be held throughout the week.

All Lamesa civic groups will hear speeches on the cotton industry at their meetings during the week. Merchants will have cotton products displays set up in their store windows.

Models for the Tuesday and Friday style revues will be representatives of all 4-H clubs, home economics classes, home demonstration clubs and similar groups. The models also have been selected Saturday.

The "Cotton Week" program is being sponsored jointly by the Dawson County Farm Bureau, Home Demonstration Clubs of the county, and the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

Coahoma's School Budget Up $5,000

COAHOMA (SC) — A budget of $174,953 has been approved for the Coahoma Independent School District for the 1955-56 school year. This is slightly over $5,000 more than the current year's budget allowances, but only about $1,600 more than is estimated for actual expenditures this year.

Eden Asks For Votes To Meet East-West Issue

LONDON, May 7 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden tonight asked British voters to elect a Conservative government so he can press "a supreme effort" to settle East-West differences.

The Prime Minister addressed a nationwide radio audience in his first big bid for votes in Britain's May 28 election. Eden told the nation a Socialist victory would mean government by a party that is unable to agree on matters of foreign policy. The Labor party leader, Clement Attlee, would return as prime minister if Labor wins.

"Opportunities are opening before us, and if we use them intelligently the whole shape of world events at home and abroad may be altered for the better," he said in a prepared address.

"Fortunately there is a growing understanding everywhere of what war between great powers must mean. We have got to use this to reduce the risk of war while we go on to build up real confidence between nations."

Noting that the West was now stronger because of NATO and "the treaties it negotiated" to free and rearm West Germany, the former foreign secretary declared: "I have always believed that when this happened there would be opportunities for useful negotiations with Soviet Russia. And so it is providing."

"Now I want to make a supreme effort to see whether we can make progress with the main differences—between East and West."

Cotton Displays Planned Here

Cotton Week in Big Spring will be observed by a number of clothing merchants, but there is no special program slated here.

Placards and banners will be displayed in various stores, and window decorations in some establishments will follow a cotton theme. The advertising displays were furnished by the Chamber of Commerce.

This is the first year that any type of recognition has been given Cotton Week here, said J. B. Wightman, chairman of the Chamber merchants' committee. It is hoped that a special celebration can be planned next year.

Plans had been outlined for a parade through the downtown area, Wightman said, and a style show featuring cotton was to have been held. A display of cotton-bales on the courthouse square was also discussed.

All the plans fell through, however, as there were not enough merchants expressing interest in the arrangements.

Economic Committee Suggests Reduction In Taxes Next Year

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP) — A Business group which often reflects Eisenhower administration tax policies strongly suggested today that taxes can be reduced next year by three to five billion dollars.

The Committee for Economic Development, in a 20-page report on federal tax issues, said first priority should go to a general income tax cut for everybody.

The CED added that the biggest percentage cuts should be given high income brackets, to provide added incentives for economic growth.

And if the expected reductions do turn out to be possible, the CED said, smaller cuts should be made in corporation income taxes, and in excise rates on liquor, tobacco and autos.

The report was prepared by the CED's research and policy committee, headed by Frazar B. Wilde, president of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., Hartford, and J. Cameron Thomson, president of Northwest Bancorporation, Minneapolis.

Both Republican and Democratic congressional leaders have indicated they expect tax reductions in Congress next year, a presidential election year. The big fight is likely to be over whether cuts should be concentrated in low income brackets, as demanded by Democrats.

The CED report has special significance in the light of close ties between the CED and the Eisenhower administration, especially on taxes. President Eisenhower and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey are former CED trustees.

Today's report mentioned no specific figures for an income tax cut, but said continued economic growth should produce more revenue than originally estimated by July 1.

12 Persons Killed In Accidents In Area During April

Twelve persons killed, 54 injured, and a property loss of $56,043 were the results of 81 automobile accidents in this area during April, according to local Highway Patrolmen.

The 23 patrolmen in this area traveled 78,000 miles and worked 6,332 hours while contacting 1,948 traffic violators. A total of 819 motorists were arrested for violations and 1,100 more were issued written warnings.

The six most common factors contributing to accidents in April, according to patrolmen, were speeding, driving while drinking, failure to grant right-of-way, following too closely, improper turns, and disregarded signals.

Patrolmen gave 18 lectures and speeches and showed two safety films to a total audience of 1,300 persons.

Often the air was weighed with the stench of a nearby fish market. From this dreary wreck poured many hundreds of words, photographs and radio broadcasts.

Newsman struggled long hours to describe reports from men in the field talking over telephone lines aptly described as "two tomato cans tied together with 150 miles of badly frayed string."

Guns and weapons kept the bill in a perpetual explosive state, a foot locker full of hand grenades. Another tested his pistol by firing it through a broken window pane.

A news agency used a dud mortar shell for a door stop until an inspection Army officer saw it and ordered three enlisted men to cart it away—while he kept his distance.

A man on the fourth floor on one side had to walk down stairs, go around the building, then climb to the fourth floor on the other side.

Many a harassed former occupant will be surprised to hear it hasn't collapsed before now.

Smaller quarters are to be open for the few newsmen still left here.

The plumbing in the old quarters seldom worked. The lights worked only occasionally. Paint was fire-blackened. The steam boiler blew up periodically and then there was no heat or hot water.

At other times there was nothing but hot water—almost live steam.

The bill was built originally for the Japanese military. Doorways were so low that a man of average height had to bow to pass.

There were no connecting corridors.

Hovel Of A Press Billet In Korea Finally Closed

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL, Sunday, May 8 (AP) — The Army tomorrow will close the tattered doors of the beat-up, four-story, fantastic press billet from which 140 newsmen of 20 nations reported the Korean War and its aftermath.

Many a harassed former occupant will be surprised to hear it hasn't collapsed before now.

Class of 1985!

It would take a long time to determine who won the bet—but we'd be willing to wager that the lad in the picture winds up owning a Cadillac.

We feel so confident because he is starting out like a typical Cadillac owner.

Preponderately, Cadillac owners are self-made men. They just emerge—from everywhere.

But they are usually marked, quite early in life, by industry and thrift and the will to succeed.

That's why we say that this wonderful lad—out earning money to make himself self-sufficient—is very likely to wind up owning a Cadillac. Looking at him, as he labors, we estimate the class of 1985!

We hope we are around to deliver his car when the great day arrives—for it's a great thrill to hand out the keys when an owner comes in for his first Cadillac.

It's worth a lot to see the smile on his face and the gleam in his eye as he settles himself behind the wheel—studies the instrument panel to make sure of the controls—and floats away in the direction of home and family celebration.

Of course, for the lad in the picture, the thrill of that first Cadillac is still a great many years away.

But how about you? Is the time coming close for your dream of a Cadillac to come to a happy ending? If so, we'd be happy—indecidably—to see you.

This is a wonderful year for owning a new Cadillac—whether it's your first or your fifth or your tenth. Never before has Cadillac performance been so marvelous—its beauty so arresting—its comfort and handling ease so delightful. It is more decisively than ever—the Standard of the World!

Why not come in today—and check this for yourself? We'll give you the keys and gear—for the most revealing hour you ever spent in a motor car.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING Plainview Fliers In Forced Landing

John Simmonds and Eugene Garvin, both of Plainview, almost crashed near Taylor, Texas, Saturday in an emergency landing at Hamilton Field.

The airplane engine failed while the plane was aloft and in an effort to regain the field, the pilots were forced to make a landing in a nearby field.

Leon Stearns, local pilot, flew his Taylorcraft to Norman Okla. last week for a three-day course at the University of Oklahoma.

Keys Are Found Two sets of keys have been found in the local postoffice and were turned over to the sheriff's office.

Heavy Damage From Winds In Temple Area

Central Texas, especially around Temple, surveyed terrific storm damage Saturday as generally clear skies returned to Texas after a night of tornado winds and blinding thunderstorms.

Sifting dust cut visibility sharply in the Panhandle, but elsewhere over the state it was generally clear except for a few high and broken clouds.

Dust kicked up around Dalhart during the morning by wind gusts up to 25 miles an hour, drifted in Amarillo during the afternoon.

Meanwhile, Bell County residents worked to clean up debris from Friday night's twisting winds and damaging hail.

The roads were scattered from one end of the county to the other. Damage will run into thousands of dollars to property and crops.

One person was killed and another injured as the storm swept through Temple in cutting across the eastern part of Bell County.

Mrs. Mamie Bennett, 44, was killed in the destruction of the Blind Moccasin factory, Jimmy Rowan, 25, a salesman for the factory, was injured. He remained in a critical condition Saturday.

Corn and grain took a beating from hail. Rains ranging up to 3 inches fell within 20 minutes.

BOOKS • MUSIC • ART • DRAMA CRITIQUE

By Glenn Coates

"COMMUNISM, CONFORMITY, AND CIVIL LIBERTIES," by Samuel A. Stouffer, Doubleday and Co., 278 pp., $4.

Armed with finances from the Fund for the Republic of the Ford Foundation, two national polling agencies set out to probe the American mind for opinions on communism, conformity, and civil liberties.

For instance, consider our right of freedom of speech. When asked if they would be in favor of allowing a socialist to speak in their town, only 58 per cent of the populace said "yes."

If a book written by a socialist or a communist or an atheist would you be in favor of having it removed? This poll reported that 35 per cent would be in favor in the case of the socialist's book.

What about citizenship for communists? Should it be taken away? In the opinion of 77 per cent of the people, "yes." And, is communism a threat to this nation? Nineteen per cent think it is a very great danger.

Shepperd Due To Face New Questions In Land Probe

AUSTIN — Attorney General John Ben Shepperd may be called upon at the next House Veterans Land Board Investigating Committee meeting for a full disclosure of events leading up to, during, and after his visit to the Hascom Giles Ranch in Minnesota several years ago.

The Shepperd family sojourn on the Texas Land Commissioner's newly acquired ranch was made public recently by Cecil Burney of Corpus Christi in a talk before an Austin civic club. Coming at a time it had just been learned that Giles had acquired the property, the Burney revelation made headlines all over Texas.

Splendor of the Giles Ranch in Minnesota was a source of "wonder" to the attorney general, Burney told his audience. Members of the House Investigating Committee have wondered since if the attorney general was curious enough after the visit to ascertain how the land commissioner had obtained it. The House Investigating Committee itself was curious enough to send its investigator to Minnesota for a check-up. What he learned has not been made public yet.

Here's New Space Station, For About 4 Billion Bucks

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP) — A sketch that looks like a partially inflated inner tube and may hold some answers to man's long dreamed-of conquest of outer space went on exhibit here today.

It is an eight-foot model of a "space station" or satellite in the earth shown for the first time at the University of Texas Power Show.

It was dreamed up by a couple of aeronautical engineering students.

Dr. M. J. Thompson, professor of aeronautical engineering and an associate director of the Defense Research Laboratory, is not selling the idea short.

The students, Don Gregory of Fort Worth and Clinton Ferrell of Sweetwater, think the doughnut-shaped model could evolve into a practical artificial satellite to the earth, provided somebody wants to spend four billion dollars.

It took that much money to push the Manhattan Project which eventually produced the A-bomb, Thompson said. This, might take more.

The real thing would be hauled 1,000 miles out in space by sections, then put together like an assembly-line automobile.

The rocket would be started up by Thompson said such a satellite could have considerable military importance. It would contribute to knowledge of weather and astronomy.

The satellite would be made of some nylon-type material, impregnated with plastic to be gas-tight. The slides said the actual thing would be about 300 feet across. That seemed sort of small but they said it would be "big enough."

Since there would be no gravity that high in the sky, the ship would have to "create" some.

This could be done by attaching prior rockets to the thing to make it spin like a top.

Centrifugal force would then allow the inhabitants to "keep their feet on the ground." They would walk on the walls, like spiders. People at opposite points on the ship would be walking with their heads pointing toward their feet out.

Electricity and air-conditioning would be run by use of a solar reflector. You would harness the energy of the sun's rays and convert it into usable energy.

You would have your own gardens and animal farms, but you would be dependent on the earth for water supplies.

The satellite would rotate in an orbit around the earth, once every two hours. That's about 2,840 miles an hour.

Another Part Of Old Angelo Road To Be Reworked

Work will be started Monday on improvement of an additional half mile of the old San Angelo Highway west of the City Park.

Foster Dickey, county engineer, said workers will pulverize the existing pavement between the park entrance and a point a half mile to the west. The present pavement will be broken up and worked into the base of the roadway. New topping then will be installed.

Similar work was started on the road north of the park entrance last week. Dickey said some additional work must be performed on the base before new paving can be installed. The old road will be reworked for a total distance of 1.5 miles — southeast from Big Spring to the Wasson corner.

Several other small paving projects are on tap for the remainder of this year in the edges of Big Spring, at Coalbina and Forsan, and in rural areas. More extensive paving programs for rural roads are planned for 1956 and following years.

Deadline Is Set

HOUSTON, May 7 (AP) — The deadline for entries for the June 8-11 Texas Amateur Golf Tournament at the River Oaks Country Club, has been set for 6 p.m. June 7.

MOSCOW HAS HAIL STORM

MOSCOW, May 7 (AP) — A hail storm swept Moscow today as unseasonable cold continued to grip the Soviet Union.

Many Russians, reading denunciations of American atomic bomb tests in the Soviet press, blame these "explosions" for the freakish spring weather.

Agricultural experts in Western embassies say it is too early to tell what effect the late spring will have on Russian crop production. Soviet leaders have been demanding manifold increase in grains and other foodstuffs this year.

School Transfers Deadline Is June 1

Walker Bailey, county superintendent, reminded Saturday that formal transfers must be completed by June 1 for public school pupils who will attend classes outside their resident districts next year.

The transfers must be filed out in the superintendent's office at the county school board.

Failure to complete the transfers makes the students liable to payment of tuition on enrollment outside his home district.

The squad is a part of the University of Texas Army ROTC "Ranger" drill company. The unit was a guest of the 36th Annual Competition of Texas High School ROTC units Friday.

Units from nine schools witnessed the Rangers and Confederates in their maneuvers at Dalit Stadium in Dallas. The Confederate squad is only a year old. But it has already gained an extensive reputation. The unit has performed at Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Brownsville, and Austin.

Road Foremen Take Reports From Public

Foster Dickey, county engineer, suggested Saturday that citizens submit road repair suggestions directly to the foremen of the county's four road maintenance crews.

The maintenance foreman can take immediate steps to correct unsatisfactory road conditions if they are notified promptly. The foremen will make daily inspections of a portion of the roads in the various districts, but they won't be able to examine all roads every day. Consequently, reports of conditions needing attention may expedite repairs, Dickey said.

The engineer stressed that the reports also may be turned in at his office in the courthouse or be given to any of the county commissioners, the county road superintendent (Joe Barbee) or other officials. Even mailed reports will be appreciated, he said. However, maintenance foremen can receive attention more rapidly than reports which may have to be channeled through other officers.

FINE-CAR POWER!

Pontiac's husky 200-horsepower Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor, optional at low extra cost, delivers more power than any car within hundreds of dollars of its price! And road records are proving that this power is teamed with the greatest economy in Pontiac history.

FINE-CAR STYLE!

No car at any price is so beautifully distinctive. Pontiac's future-fashioned Twin-Streak styling and Vogue Two-Toning set it apart from all other cars — point the way to tomorrow.

FINE-CAR SIZE!

Pontiac is a big car where it counts — with a long, road-hugging 122" or 124" wheelbase. On any road, at any speed, you enjoy the safe, secure feeling that goes with genuine fine-car size and heft.

FINE-CAR COMFORT!

Pontiac's extra size means big-car comfort — room to stretch out and relax. Wide-stance rear springs and Shock-Proof chassis float you along in luxury style, surrounded by fine-car appointments.

If you were to guess Pontiac's price on the basis of its style, performance and size, you'd surely guess hundreds of dollars higher than its actual cost. Pontiac measures up with the finest on any point of comparison — except price.

It's a simple matter of fact that you can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars and much less than stripped economy models of higher-priced makes!

After a close inspection of Pontiac's luxury and quality and a few miles commanding its mighty 200-horsepower Strato-Streak V-8, buyers from both ends of the price scale are switching to Pontiac in record-breaking numbers. Come in soon for the clinching facts and figures. You'll make the very pleasant discovery that if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Pontiac — and step directly into the fine-car class!

By Jess Blair

The recent rain was a life saver to some farmers and just a teaser to others. Southwest of Knott a few miles a gully washer filled gages up to four inches. The rain was especially heavy on the farms of Arthur Coy and Oliver Nichols, and the land is still too wet to plow.

The Brown community received an inch or more of moisture, but it faded sharply toward Ackerly where about half an inch fell. Bob Piskerton, who farms just south of the Brown Store, says his field is still a little dry, but a re-listing job is needed so he will start putting some seed in the ground.

Most of Dawson County was again bypassed, receiving a third of an inch down to a sprinkle. Some of the land leveled over during the last sandstorm, but is still not in bad shape.

Around Ackerly there are a few fields of cotton, maize and sudan. Gaston Martin has 40 acres of cotton up to a good stand. M. Y. Dowlin has a crop of maize that has been up two or three weeks.

Mrs. Myrtle Sikes' Cafe, in Ackerly is not only a good place to eat, but fishermen find it convenient spot to meet and tell their latest yarns over a cup of coffee.

In order to keep the truth separated from the fiction, she now has a sign hung up on one wall reading: "Liar's Bench. Fishermen be Seated."

Incidentally, a reporter has a hard time judging the truth of fishing tales he hears. However, Lemmie Kemp, Ackerly grocer, told about a recent fishing trip to the Rio Grande which I believe is true. He said he didn't catch any.

Buster Rhodes, Lamesa feed dealer, says he has sold more baby chicks this year than during any time since the drought started. Most of the orders have been small, but several farmers have taken as many as 400. He attributes the increased sales to better crop prospects and also because farm families want to hold down the cost of living.

Ranges in Andrews County are almost bare, says M. F. Coleman of Ackerly. He is foreman for his cousin, V. J. Coleman, who owns ranches in Andrews and Kent counties and also in Colorado. They don't have any cattle on the sandhill ranch near Andrews and few on the one near Clairemont.

They are carrying a truckload of year-old steers to Colorado next week to put on the mountain pastures. Coleman says they had a fair winter up there and that grass is now coming out.

Their ranch is located between Colorado Springs and Denver in a mountainous area at 9,000 feet elevation.

At long last Sparenberg is getting the three mile stretch of road paved between the village and U. S. Highway 87. Ewell Scott, Sparenberg grocer, says they have been working on this for years but the county always voted it down. Now the state has taken it over and the paving is assured.

A little well is better than none at all, thinks Pete Weatherford who farms southeast of Sparenberg.

Last year after a series of crop failures, he drilled two small four inch wells and started irrigating his cotton the last of July. The stalks were already wilting, but he got the water on in time to make a bale to the acre on 60 acres. The rest of the cotton made only a bale to every three acres.

"The wells are pretty small," he said, "but they helped out a lot. This year I've already watered the land once and am following the second irrigation with the cotton planter. So whether we make a dry land crop or not, I have a good chance of at least coming out even."

Earl Creech, 24-year-old farmer of the Courtney community, has found a very profitable way to use his small 400-gallon irrigation well the year around. He grows an oat crop during the winter while the water is not needed for cotton, then about the first of May shuts the water off the small grain and begins irrigating cotton.

Last year on 20 acres of oats he grazed a cow and calf to the acre and made a clear profit of $450 on them. The oats harvested 57 bushels to the acre and were sold at market price.

This last winter he again grew oats, but had about 40 acres this time. He hasn't figured up his cattle profits, but thinks they will run about the same proportionately as they did last year. This year's oat crop is better, however, and will thresh over 60 acres to the bushel.

On his 103 acres of cotton in 1954, he picked 141 bales. Although his gross profits ran $30,000 from the 240-acre farm. Only about half the acreage was watered, though some the remaining part was irrigated one time before planting.

Creech credits his farming success to year-long irrigation with the two crops, holding down overhead as much as possible and working 12 months a year instead of six or eight.

Several cost estimates have been received by the city for construction of a swimming pool in Northwest Big Spring. It was announced by City Manager H. W. Whitney. The city commission last week indicated that it was interested in constructing a pool in the Colorado Park and the manager was instructed to contact builders for estimates.

Whitney said he would submit the estimates to commissioners at a meeting Wednesday night. Size of the pool will be the determining factor in cost, the manager explained, and the size has not yet been determined.

So far as can be estimated, the Negro population of Big Spring runs between 1,000 and 1,200. Whitney said, as only a portion of these are swimmers, it is believed that a small pool would suffice.

Whitney pointed out that the pool at City Park serves a population in excess of 23,000.

Charges Against Youths Dropped

Two Latin-American youths, arrested about noon Friday after having driven beer cans in a yard in the 800 block of Runnels, were released Saturday without trial.

The boys, one 16 and the other 18, were charged with violating the city nuisance ordinance which prohibits throwing beer or liquor containers on private property.

Complaints refused to appear against the youths, however, and they were released.

After The Rains

The moist earth was being turned across the northern half of the county Friday and Saturday after Wednesday night rains put the land in shape for plowing. A few farmers were planting on the strength of varying showers which ranged up to three inches in some parts of Howard and Martin counties. Mostly, though, tractors were busy knifing or rebedding fields that had been flattened by April winds. Tom Birkhead, above, was bedding his land about three miles northeast of Big Spring. He said he probably could have planted on the inch of moisture he received, but preferred to get the soil in shape for more rain. The showers helped to bring up some cotton and sudan which had been planted earlier in the Ackerly area. It was "too wet to plow" in the section southwest of Knott where up to four inches of rain was reported Wednesday night.

Texas Tech Day Set Saturday

More than 500 Texas Tech alumni clubs are planning special activities for the second annual Texas Tech Day on Saturday.

L. C. Walker, ex-students executive secretary, said that around 20 of the clubs would bear a first-hand report of Tech's development presented by their home town radio stations. The informational broadcast is turned on the visit of John F. Wright, Fort Worth, to the campus after an absence of many years. His talks with President E. N. Jones, Dr. G. E. Giesecke, academic vice-president, and De Witt Weaver, athletic director, were tape recorded.

Among the stations which will carry this 15-minute broadcast will be KBST, Big Spring; KPET, Lamesa; KXOX, Sweetwater; KOJA, Odessa; KVMC, Colorado City; KCRS, Midland.

Theft Of Camera, Razor Reported

Theft of an electric razor and a camera from the check-in window at the Continental-Bus Station was reported to police by the operator.

Rice said that the items were taken sometime between Thursday and Saturday. He furnished police with the identification of a man he suspects of the theft.

Greedy Astor of Abilene told police that some papers were taken from his automobile while the vehicle was parked at either the Wagon Wheel Restaurant or Twins Cafe last Friday night.

Pakistan-Afghanistan Fuss Gaining Serious Proportions

NEW DELHI, India, May 7 (AP)—Western diplomats expressed deep concern here today over the widening breach between Pakistan and Afghanistan. They suggested it is time the two neighbors halt their "name-calling and quarreling."

India, usually the first to volunteer when it is a question of making peace for someone else, has been officially silent. Apparently India is too deeply committed to support the Afghanistan campaign for an independent tribal state to intervene.

It is the creation of this state—usually called Pushtoonistan—that underlies the quarrel, which brought Pakistan and its neighbor to the verge of suspending diplomatic relations.

Western diplomats here said they feared any move halting the normal flow of imports and exports from and to Afghanistan across Pakistan would have "most serious consequences."

Pakistan lies astride land-locked Afghanistan's only easy trade route to the sea. This route has been regularly troubled by trade barriers, some real and some imaginary.

State Hospital Patient Returned

A 16-year-old Latin American who escaped from the Big Spring State Hospital sometime Thursday night was captured in Odessa, local officials said.

The youth, who lives in Fort Stockton, was returned here Friday evening. Hospital attendants said that he had not been involved in any trouble while free.

DO IT YOURSELF Chaise Lounge For Outdoor Enjoyment.

By BILL BAKER

You come home from work. You're tired and irritable. You've got a splitting headache. In the yard dinner is being readied. This is the night for the out-of-door dinner, and your guests will be arriving in half an hour. But you're so tired and worn out that you wish you could call the party off.

And then you see your chaise lounge. You remember the fun you had when you built it in your workshop. Just looking at its sleek contour lines makes you feel a bit better. Then you stretch out on it. Immediately you relax. Within five minutes your feeling of irritability has disappeared. You're not tired any more. Your headache is gone. You feel fine.

For Relaxation

Restful relaxation will be yours when you add this contour chaise lounge to your yard. Hollywood motion picture and TV actress Allene Coates shows you how you can enjoy your adjustable do-it-yourself lounge.

You can actually put yourself in to the above picture.

And it's really true that a scientifically designed chaise can give you an immediate and complete relief.

It will be an easy job for you to add a contour chaise lounge to your yard. First step is to order pattern package number 116, and here's how to do it: send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 9, Calif.

Be sure to ask for pattern 161. And here are other out-of-door designs: No. 112, Barbecue Bar Cart, $1.50; No. 123, Contour Lawn Chair, $1; No. 114, Wheelbarrow Planter Box, 50 cents.

lift. When the design follows contour body lines, complete relaxation and a physical boost can be received in a few minutes.

But, as you probably know, an adjustable contour chaise lounge is an expensive item when you purchase one in a custom shop.

Don't worry about expense, though. You can own your own by building it yourself. And to help you do the job, you'll use my pattern package number 116. On a do-it-yourself basis, your only expense will be a few dollars for materials and a few hours of effort in your shop.

Many units require an expensive pad to make them comfortable, but it isn't the case with this contour chaise. Because of its design, a cushion is not needed. And you'll be amazed how comfortable you'll be, resting on the smoothly rounded slats that form the bed of the lounge.

As I've said, the chaise is an

15 Million Fund Set Up To Fight Mental Illness

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A 15-million-dollar fund today was allocated for study of what may be the greatest health problem facing mankind—mental illness.

The grant was announced by the Ford Foundation, which said about half the hospital beds in the United States now are occupied by mental patients.

But the Foundation emphasized it is going to take a much greater effort than is now being made to lick the problem.

"Care and treatment for the mentally ill costs federal and state governments alone more than one billion dollars annually," said a statement by Foundation President H. Rowan Galtner Jr.

"Yet, less than one per cent of this sum currently is being spent for research on the prevention and care of mental illness.

"The sum, earmarked by the Foundation's trustees, represents a substantial percentage increase in the amount available for research, but it will not meet the total problem."

Lake J. B. Thomas Rescue Procedures To Be Mapped

Fire chiefs from the three member cities of the Colorado River Municipal Water District—Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa—will convene here Monday to set up rescue procedures.

E. V. Spence, general manager for the CRMWD, said that purpose of the conference was to establish the basis for closer coordination of rescue and recovery operations at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Last week, Spence announced that the Snyder fire chief would be regarded as in command during such emergency operations and that the Big Spring chief would be second in command. This was based upon proximity of the departments to Lake J. B. Thomas.

General safety measures may be discussed at the party at 7 p.m. in the Big Spring fire station. Spence expressed appreciation to all who had a part last week during the time that the search was under way for the body of Don Sumrud, 19-year-old Snyder lad who went down in Lake Thomas when he plunged from a boat to recover his hat.

It was an exceptional demonstration of willingness of people to help, he said. At times there were more than 30 boats on the water at once. One of the problems, said Spence, is to marshal forces in such a way as to make maximum efficient use of all volunteers.

Harper Family Is Grateful For Aid

Eddie Lee Harper and his family are mighty grateful to friends.

Eddie and his wife have seven children, and all that they possessed was destroyed by a fire recently on the R. W. McNew place 18 miles northwest of town.

"Folks came in our rescue with gifts of food and money and kept us going," said Eddie. "The Red Cross stepped in to take care of clothing."

Eddie and his family formerly farmed but the drought all but starved them out. Eddie got a job in town that keeps the family eating. At the present time they are staying at a cousin's house until he can find another.

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

There's only one way you'll really discover the hottest power story of the year. Get aboard a new Chevrolet that packs a bundle of velvety TNT under the hood—the new "Turbo-Fire V8"!

For this is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stop-watches whenever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8" has the shortest piston stroke in the industry (that means less piston travel... longer engine life!) And it delivers the highest power per pound of any V8 in the low-priced field. It's so efficient that it requires only four quarts of oil instead of the usual five... needs less radiator coolant, too. It's the most modern V8 under anybody's hood!

But the thing you'll like most is the way it puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower with the new "Turbo-Fire V8" and if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe.

Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet is showing its heels to everyone else on the road!

No other low-priced car has any—no high-priced car has all—of these great Chevrolet features!

Body by Fisher—You see it on some of the highest-priced cars. Nine engine-drive choices in any model—The greatest choice going 12-volt electrical system—Twice the voltage of other low-priced cars. Anti-Dive braking—A Chevrolet exclusive for heads-up stops. Outrigger rear springs—Wide-spaced for steady cornering. Ball-Race steering—Turns on ball bearings. High-Level ventilation—Cleaner, fresher air. Double-Arch coil construction—Extra strength and safety.

Sen. Ellender Discourages Farm Change

By EDWIN S. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said today, "It would be a mistake" for Democrats to try to push through the Senate this year a bill scrapping the Eisenhower-Benson farm price program.

Ellender, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, and a veteran Democratic politician, said he made "a canvass of the committee and the Senate and I doubt that we have the votes to do it right now."

House Democrats on Thursday succeeded in ramming through a bill that would discard the present law providing for flexible farm price supports.

The vote was 206-201 with most Democrats voting for continuance of high rigid supports that have operated since World War II.

"I'm still for the 90 per cent supports until something better is offered," Ellender said. But if he tried and lost in the Senate now, that would be a political mistake. "And there is no strong demand yet from farmers because the lower flexible supports have not gone into operation, except for a slight drop in wheat."

Ellender pointed out that the House bill still could be considered by the Senate early in next year's session, before most crops are planted.

The senator said the flexible support level of 82½ to 90 per cent of parity would not really apply on the five basic crops—cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts—until next year. Existing law retains 90 per cent supports on tobacco, the sixth crop classed as basic, as long as tobacco growers retain acreage and marketing contracts.

Coahoma Band Slates Concert

A concert by the Coahoma High School band will highlight a meeting of the Coahoma Band Boosters Club Monday evening.

The concert is to be on the lawn of the Coahoma schools and will start at 7 p.m. Dillon Bowden, director, will be in charge, and G. E. Finley, president of the boosters group, will preside over the meeting. Refreshments will be served following the concert and the public is invited.

Annual spring concert of the band was played Sunday in the school auditorium, and observers classed it as one of the best jobs ever done by a Coahoma band. It was especially well received because patrons could remember that Bowden had started literally from "scratch" a couple of years ago.

Canyon Discovery Is Reported In Fisher

General Crude Company announced the completion of its No. 4 Edwin Aiken as a Southwest Fisher County discovery Saturday, and Southern Production Company announced an extension to the Sweetwater (Canyon sand) field.

The new discovery, in the lower Strawn, made a 24-hour flowing potential of 151.5 barrels of 40.9 gravity oil plus 33.5 barrels of water.

Flow was from perforations between 5,893 and 5,809 and through a 5/8-inch choke. Tubing pressure was 50 pounds. The zone was washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

The No. 4 Aiken had been drilled to 7,577 feet in barren Ellenburger, and the 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 6,926 feet. The new fluid opener is 12 miles west of Longworth and 3 1/2 miles southwest of the multi-pay Claytonville field. Site is 600 feet from south and west lines, 249-3-H&T survey.

The extension to the Sweetwater (Canyon sand) field is Southern No. 1 Oscar C. Rossen. This venture is a mile north of regular production and 4 1/2 miles north of Sweetwater.

One-hour drillstem test at 5,300-5,350 feet surfaced gas in 22 minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud and 280 feet of very heavy oil and gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure was from zero to 150 pounds and shut-in pressure in 30 minutes was 2,175 pounds.

A previous four-hour drillstem test at 5,250-5,300 feet surfaced gas in 16 minutes, mud in two hours and 14 minutes, and oil-cut mud in three hours and 30 minutes. Recovery was 2,900 feet of free oil, 850 feet of mud-cut oil and 15 feet of water-cut mud with a salty taste.

More hole was being made at last reports. Location is 660 feet from south and 1,990 feet from east lines of section 32, block 22, T&P survey.

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 11, W. McIntyre has been completed as the fourth well in the field. Operator reported a 24-hour flowing potential of 1,081 barrels of 41.5 gravity oil through a half-inch choke and perforations from 5,196 to 5,258 feet after 1,000 gallons of fracturing fluid.

Gas-oil ratio was 684-1 and tubing pressure 575 pounds.

Pressure on casing was 100 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 13, block 22, T&P survey, four miles north of Sweetwater.

Possible Discovery Seen In Tom Green

A possible discovery in the North-east Tom Green County and a step-out to production in the Mount Susan, South field was reported Saturday.

Union Oil Company of California and Ray Smith Drilling Company of Dallas were running five and a half-inch casing for completion attempt at the possible Pennsylvania sand discovery.

Drillstem test from 3,858 to 3,872 feet, open 3 1/2 minutes, surfaced gas in 30 minutes and oil in 20 with flow estimated at 20 barrels hourly. Recovered out were 3.840 feet of oil.

Flowing pressure ranged from 500 to 1,095 pounds and shut-in pressure in 30 minutes was 1,495 pounds.

The project had been drilled to 4,133 feet before the above test was made with dual packers.

Site is 15 miles northeast of San Angelo, 6,609 feet from south and 690 feet from east lines of W. M. Bullock survey No. 11, A-527.

Paul C. Texas of Dallas has completed this No. 1-B R. Wilbur Brown as a one-half of a mile northwest stepout to production in the Mt. Susan, South (5,200) field in South Tom Green County.

On the completion test the well flowed 17 hours, through 14 1/2 inch choke and produced at the rate of 176 barrels per day. Gravity was 40 degrees and gas-oil ratio was 462-1. Tubing pressure was 330 pounds.

Total depth is 5,243 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented on bottom. The pipe was perforated at 5,226-41 feet and that zone was treated with 500 gallons of acid.

The zone producing the oil is the P&O Pinto. It was topped at 3,223 feet.

The location is 267.77 feet from south and 5,944.12 feet from east lines of the Samuel, Fitzgerald survey No. 67. The site is one and one-quarter miles south of Christoval.

Phillips Plans Research Lab

The Phillips Petroleum Company board of directors has authorized the erection of a new chemical research laboratory to be located near the Bartlesville, Okla., headquarters of the company, according to K. S. Adams, chairman, and Paul Eppacott, president.

This extensive addition at the several hundred acre Phillips Research Center just west of Bartlesville will provide one of the most modern chemical research and development facilities in the world. It is expected to further advance the position of Phillips in the petroleum and chemical industries by providing facilities for expansion activities in the vital field of research and development as well as to provide the latest scientific equipment for this endeavor.

During the past few years Phillips research has produced such outstanding petrochemical developments as oil furnace carbon black, greatly improved synthetic rubber and, most recently, a radically new and different type of polyethylene plastic, trademarked Marlex, so produced in a large new plant just announced for construction near Houston.

The new laboratory, to cost several million dollars, is on a site where Phillips now has numerous experimental and pilot plant units.

Shows Found In Devonian

Hole was being made below 10,754 feet after Devonian drillstem test in State Crude Oil Company No. 1-16 State, Southeast Chaves County, N. M., wildcat, developed 625 shows of oil and water.

Interval checked was from 10,775 to 10,720 feet. Tool was open two hours and 35 minutes. Recovery was 540 feet of gas in drilpiper, 90 feet of slightly oil and gas-cut mud, and 240 feet of salt water.

Flowing pressure was from 70 to 305 pounds and shut-in pressure in unreported time was 4,295 pounds. Location is 690 feet from south and west lines of section 16-14-30.

Mitchell Prospect Below 5,000 Feet

Union Oil and Sun Oil No. 1 D. W. Wallace, wildcat, about 12 miles southeast of Colorado City in Mitchell County, Texas, below 5,075 feet in shale Saturday, and bit was turning deep.

This project is slated for test around 7,500 feet. It has drilpiper of 660 feet from north and west lines, 24-12-H&T survey, on a 330-acre lease.

Paul Cleva's No. 3-P Strain, project in the Westbrook field, got down to 2,946 feet. Location, about eight miles north of Westbrook, is 990 feet from south and west lines, 12-28-11, T&P survey.

Hearing Opens Way For Review Of Entire Field Of Gas Laws

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—A hearing starting Tuesday before the Senate Commerce Committee will open up for consideration the entire field of natural gas legislation. The hearing probably will continue several weeks.

On the same day the House Commerce Committee plans to start closed door sessions, after a month of hearing testimony, to consider what it will do with proposals to amend the Natural Gas Act.

Among bills before the House committee is one by Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) and others to exempt independent natural gas producers from regulation by the Federal Power Commission. Another bill before it is one sponsored by the coal industry to make direct sales of natural gas by pipelines to industries subject to FPC regulation.

The Senate committee will consider similar legislation, together with a bill by Chairman Magnuson (D-Wash.) proposing some amendments to the act as recommended by the FPC this year.

The amendments deal with various matters, including industrial rates, discrimination in rates, all locations in pipeline, temporary shutages, and so on.

One would enable FPC to prescribe safety regulations in the operation of pipelines and give it comprehensive investigative authority in connection with the industry.

Another would establish a "fair commodity value" as a base for rates for gas produced by an interstate transmission company. Another would set up regulations designed to protect consumers against any "unreasonable" price increase.

The National Coal Assn. has asked time before the Senate committee to urge amendment of the Natural Gas Act along the line proposed in a House bill by Rep. Staggers (D-W.Va.). This measure would provide for FPC regulation over direct sales of gas to industries.

Supporters of the various bills will be heard first by the Senate committee. The first witness may be E. O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission.

A "nip and tuck" fight in the House committee over the Harris bill is predicted by Rep. Hayworth (D-Mich.), a member of the committee.

"Big business interests gang together under the name of free enterprise to put through this kind of legislation," Hayworth said in a statement. "It's going to be nip and tuck. My count at the present time is 13 for and 13 against, with five undecided."

Death Claims Oilman's Wife

DALLAS, May 7 (AP)—Mrs. H. T. Hunt, 66, wife of the multi-millionaire Dallas oilman, died last night in Rochester, Minn., after a short illness.

She suffered a stroke several days ago and was flown to Mayo Clinic in Rochester Monday.

Mrs. Hunt was born in Lake Village, Ark. She married Hunt in 1914. They lived in Colorado, Ark., until 1932 when they moved to Tulsa. In 1937, they moved to Dallas.

She was active in civic and women's clubs.

Survivors include her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Loyd B. Sands and Mrs. Al G. Hill, and four sons, Hassie, Nelson, William and Lamar, all of Dallas.

ABANDONED WARD WILDCAT RE-FINALS FOR 435 BBLs.

J. C. Ratliff and Jack Edwards announced Saturday the re-completion of their No. 1 Edwards, an abandoned wildcat in Ward County, for a 24-hour potential flow of 453.03 barrels of 35-gravity oil.

Production is from the Hope zone of the Permian, which is the same zone in which Ashmond and Hilliard completed the well in 1952. Production played out subsequently, however, and the project was deepened to 5,535 feet and abandoned.

Ratliff and Edwards cleaned out the hole and tested from perforations between 4,345 and 4,470 feet in the Hope. The potential was taken through a two-inch choke, and the gas-oil ratio was 400-1. Pay was fractured with an unreported amount of sand oil.

Potential was based on an actual eight-hour flow. Location is 660 from south and west lines, 1-15-1st survey, about two miles southeast of Monahans.

Winkler Wildcat Recovers New Oil

Stand Oil & Gas Company No. 20-A Sealy-Smith Foundation, Southeast Winkler County wildcat, flowed four hours and swabbed 60 barrels on perforations in the casing at 12,000-11 feet in the top of the Ellenburger.

Recovery was 97 barrels of acid water, 80 barrels of load oil and 125 barrels of new oil. Swabbing to clean out and test was continuing.

The section being tested had been treated with 20,000 gallons of acid.

The well is 15 miles southeast of Kermit and 554 feet from south and west lines of section 50, block A, G&MBA survey.

This prospector has shown for some oil and gas production from the section at 12,290 to 12,400 feet — also in the Ellenburger.

It also has flowed oil and gas in commercial quantities from the Devonian to assure a discovery from that formation.

The project is inside the limits of the North Monahans (Glorieta) field, which produces 200 to 250 above 5,300 feet and it is approximately 12 miles north of Monahans.

Yoakum Has Small Find

H. L. Cain of Lubbock has completed his No. 1 J. C. Keller, West Yoakum County wildcat, as a small pumping discovery from the San Andre lime.

This strike is six and one-half miles southwest of Plains and two and one-half miles east of the Brahaney (San Andre) field.

On the completion test it pumped 24 hours and produced 32 barrels of 32 gravity oil, plus 10 per cent water. The production is from open holes between the bottom of the 5 1/2-inch casing which is cemented at 5,200 feet, and the total depth of 5,312 feet.

That section had been treated with 4,000 gallons of acid. The well is 230 feet from south and east lines of section 54, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

Traffic Group To Meet Monday Noon

The Citizens Traffic Commission executive committee will meet Monday noon in the Chamber of Commerce conference room. It was announced by Dr. Lee Rogers, CTC president.

Guests at the meeting will be the city's new parking meter attendants, Mrs. J. W. Rasco and Mrs. J. V. Anderson, and Police Chief E. W. York. Regular business and traffic matters will be discussed, Dr. Rogers said.

Snyder Pool Edger Continues Swabbing, Other Tests Deepen

Swabbing and balling operations were under way this weekend at C. D. Turner's No. 1 M. H. O'Daniel, project on the southwest edge of Howard County's Snyder field. Reports are that Turner will fracture and test early this week.

The project, which has 5 1/2-inch casing bottomed around 2,520 feet, is about 3 1/2 miles southeast of Coahoma. Drilpiper is 330 from north and east lines, southeast quarter, 40-30-1s, T&P survey.

Depth of 2,580 feet was reported Saturday at C. D. Turner's No. 1-19-O'Daniel, also in the Snyder field, only in the northwest vicinity. Location is 330 from north and east lines, 19-30-1s, T&P survey, 11 miles east of Big Spring.

Bond Oil Company's No. 3 TLM, located midway between the Snyder field and Iatan-East Howard production, was digging Saturday below 974 feet. Site, five miles southeast of Coahoma, is 330 from south and 1,650 from east lines, 17-30-1s, T&P survey.

Cosden's No. 1-36 Snyder, a two mile east stepout to the Snyder field which is located in Mitchell County, has been plugged and abandoned at 2,884 feet. There were no shows of oil or gas, it was reported.

The No. 1-36 Snyder had drilpiper of 330 feet from north and west lines, 36-30-1s, T&P survey, about nine miles southeast of Coahoma.

Duncan No. 5-A Currie, project in the Howard-Glasscock field, is making hole at 1,700 feet. About 12 miles south of Big Spring, this project has site of 990 feet from south and 330 from west lines, 4-32-2s, T&P survey.

C. W. Guthrie No. 3 Read was boring below 1,738 feet Saturday.

Varel Drilling Company's No. 1 N. C. and W. L. Peltz, wildcat, about nine miles northwest of Big Spring, edger to the Varel San Andre field, has been plugged and abandoned at 2,250 feet in time. Location is 990 from north and 330 from west lines, northeast quarter, 7-33-1n, T&P.

The drilpiper is eight miles east of Rankin and 1,980 feet from north and 690 feet from west lines of section 30, block 3, University survey. This project is to drill to 7,600 feet and is to begin operations at once.

Spraberry Wildcat Staked In Upton

Hanley Company of Midland No. 1-A University is to be a new exploration in the East Upton County sector of the Spraberry Trend Area.

Explorers Set In 2 Counties

Wildcats were spotted over the weekend in Winkler and Andrews counties.

The new Winkler try will be B. W. Wiseman and Ed M. Jackson No. 1-37 Bedford-Cosden, about 29 miles northeast of Kermit. It is slated for an Ellenburger test about 11,000 feet.

Drilpiper is 680 from south and east lines, 37-73-1st survey, on a checkerboard lease which is a farmout from Luterne Oil Corporation. The venture is being supported by Gulf Oil with dry hole money. Joe Dickson of Midland will drill the prospector.

In Andrews County, Felmout Oil staked the No. 1 Lotus Oil et al. as a wildcat. Drilpiper is 1,522 from south and 2,851 from east lines, 6-A47-1st survey. A Devonian test is to be at 9,500 feet.

Crude Flow Cut Begins

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The average calendar day crude-oil allowable dropped to 3,109,021 barrels today, a decrease of 206,327 barrels from a week ago, as the May producing schedule took effect.

The Railroad Commission's weekly drilling report showed completion of 262 new oil wells, 11 gas wells and 150 dry holes.

Totals for the year showed 5,008 oil wells, compared with 4,191 a year ago; 363 gas wells, compared with 445; and 2,355 dry holes, compared with 2,397.

Wellboring accounted for only five of the 262 new oil wells this week, one gas well and 84 dry holes.

Masonic Group Sponsors Program For Mother's Day

A large crowd took part in the first annual Mother's Day observance conducted by the Masonic Lodge No. 1340 at 2101 Lancaster Friday evening.

Program for the affair was arranged by the Laura B. Hart chapter of the Order of Eastern Star, the Big Spring assembly of the Order of Rainbow Girls, the Leon Motter chapter of the DeMolay Chapter and the J. F. Fix of the W. O. W. Chapter.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Facts about a pet lizard are related in a letter from Mrs. Troy L. Gaines. She writes: "Your article about lizards reminded me of the time when we lived on the desert near Fort Thomas, Ariz. We had a pet lizard which spent one summer with us. We called him Mr. Three Legs because one of his hind legs was missing. Maybe the leg was lost when this white sand lizard was being chopped. In any case he probably was carried into the house in an arm-load of wood, and took up his residence there."

"He became quite a pet, and followed me about the house when I did my work. If I worked in the stove, he would be nearby. Sometimes he would take a place on the kitchen cabinet, and seemed to watch what I was doing. If I took a nap in the afternoon, I would awaken and find him on the pillow beside me."

"I failed to notice him on the floor, one day, and stepped on his tail. Within a few weeks the tail was completely grown back."

"Mr. Three Legs used to spend warm afternoons on the window screen, catching flies. For speed and direction, he might have a target something to the makers of 'saucer' missiles. He certainly hustled his dinner off the screen."

"He would creep toward a fly, and then suddenly it was a case of 'now you see it, and now you don't.' The tongue would go back and forth so fast that all a person would notice would be one fly less on the window screen."

The gasoline price war in Big Spring got a little out of hand Friday so far as police were concerned.

A number of service station operators here, in an effort to post their low prices where they could easily be seen, placed signs too close to the highways.

HOUSTON, May 7 (U.S.) - Paul Butler, national Democratic chairman, is to begin a Texas tour June 14 at Lubbock.

Judge James Sewell of Corsicana, chairman of the Texas Democratic Advisory Council, said Butler also will tour East, Central and South Texas and conclude the visit with a speech at a state convention of Young Democrats in Houston.

Sewell made the announcement at a 200-plate fund raising dinner at which Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) was the principal speaker.

Houston Democrats interpreted Sewell's announcement as the opening of a campaign by liberal forces to gain control of state party machinery from conservative forces headed by Governor Allan Shivers.

Ralph Yarborough, Shivers' opponent in last year's gubernatorial primaries, was toastmaster at the dinner, which Sewell said was sponsored by "Rayburn Democrats."

An advance text of Kefauver's speech said it was prepared for delivery at a "Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner."

The senator spoke at a similar dinner last night in San Antonio. Kefauver was introduced tonight by John White, state agriculture commissioner who is considered a possible gubernatorial candidate next year.

After again attacking President Eisenhower "as failing to provide leadership," Kefauver predicted...

Acting Judge Carroll Smith dismissed City Court case Saturday in which a Webb Air Force Base sergeant was being tried on a charge of stealing wood from James Walker's land on East Second.

The sergeant had been arrested Friday morning after Walker complained that he had taken the wood, valued at about $2. Testimony in the court trial Saturday revealed that the wood taken was mesquite limbs which were just off the road.

Walker said he stopped the sergeant after a neighbor reported seeing someone take the wood. Some wood was in back of the sergeant's car, Walker stated.

Judge Smith dismissed the hearing when testimony revealed that Walker's property is not inside the city limits, placing the alleged crime outside the court's jurisdiction.

It was the third theft complaint Walker has filed in the last few days. A man was fined $1 and costs in Justice Court Friday when a jury found him guilty of stealing $4 worth of bricks from Walker's property. A week ago two young boys were given hearings in juvenile court after Walker reported they took some scrap iron from his property.

Fire Extinguished

A leak in a gas meter at the Bolinger Store, 303 N. Gregg, caused a small fire about 8:35 p.m. Friday, but firemen extinguished the flame before any damage was done. Firemen were also called to 806 Johnson about 9:25 p.m. when a car hit and broke a gas meter. There was no fire at the second stop, it was reported.

is available on the black market immediately after the Francis report was given in Ann Arbor only one per cent of the vaccine was made available for commercial use. Since then the vaccine has been withdrawn for commercial purposes. Dr. Chester S. Keefer, chairman of President Eisenhower's polio conference, reports that some manufacturers have not shipped any vaccine into commercial channels since April 13. All vaccine produced today is allocated to the National Institutes of Health and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Don't follow the advice of alarmists and self-styled health experts. With the immediate shortage of vaccine, intense emotional interest has been built up. Representatives of 50 organizations concerned with children have been meeting in Washington and have studied the latest developments in the problems of producing and distributing the vaccine. Have faith in the judgment of these qualified and responsible people who have the situation well in hand.

Don't be influenced by political demagoguery. Let's not be stampeded into compulsory federal control.

Don't ask your doctor to give you an adult-priority over children. The present supply of vaccine is committed for use in inoculating first and second graders. By the end of the school year it is hoped that enough vaccine will have been supplied to vaccinate nine million children, or about 30 per cent of those in the 1-9 age group.

Don't forget that every lot of vaccine must undergo many tests under supervision of the Laboratory of Biological Control, U.S. Public Health Service, Safety, identity, toxicity and potency are all carefully checked under the biological control law.

Don't fear that any child will be denied the vaccine for financial reasons. From the beginning the medical profession pledged to see to it that children of indigent parents would get the vaccine.

The drug store was charged with having contaminated food on the premises Jan. 26 of this year. Howard County Health Unit inspectors notified in the Justice Court Tuesday that spoiled roast beef and chicken salad was found in the store.

Defense witnesses disclaimed this testimony and the owner said he had never offered roast beef for sale in his store. The ruling in the case will be handed down by Justice Grice.

Awards Given To Region Conservation Leaders

The people who set the pace in saving soil, water and plants for present and future production got their recognition in Big Spring Friday night.

Occasion was an awards dinner for Region II of the statewide soil conservation contests sponsored by the Fort Worth Press and other business institutions. Various award programs were spotted over the state on a regional basis. Region II extends from Kermit to the San Antonio area, and from the Big Bend to the Abilene section.

About 150 persons attended the banquet session at the Settles Hotel to join in tributes to those who have achieved outstanding results in the farm-and-range development programs.

Outstanding farmer of the Region was Willie J. Haas of Blanco, a member of the Pedernales Soil Conservation District, who received a $100 check. Has completed practically all phases of the conservation program—terracing, crop rotation, soil building, etc.—on his livestock farm.

"Comeback" farmer of the year in the region was Eddie Ludolf of Kendall, Kendall County SCD. He set a remarkable pace in practically doubling yields on a piece of land which was low in production when he acquired it. Ludolf also received a $100 check.

For unselfish service by a non-farmer, special citation went to David Foster of Uvalde, who has assisted in development of the Nueces-Frio-Sabinal SCD. Top-ranking homemaker—the woman who has done most in the region to assist in developing a rural home—was Mrs. J. C. Appleman of Menard. She received a handsome silver tray.

For group work in soil conservation, first regional award went to the Grata Group of the Pedernales SCD. This is a unit of six farmers and ranchers who worked cooperatively in the conservation program. A $200 check went to the group.

And top Soil Conservation District was the High Point unit in Kent County. This District received a $300 check.

There were 20 awards to high school students who submitted essays in connection with the Soil Conservation program. First prize for the region and $25 went to Janice Walton of Junction; second award and $15 to Betty Sue White of Uvalde; and third place and $10 to Linda Woolley of Fort Davis.

Other students who won medals for outstanding essays were: Bryan Woolley, Fort Davis; Patricia Hope Marfa; Sue Goodwin, Robert Lee; Marie Clackum, Kermit; Irene Abbott, Winters; Carolyn McDaniel, Robert Lee; Beverly Bevell, Monahans; Thelma Carlisle, Kermit; Jo Clawson, Robert Lee; Katherine Franke, Uvalde; Genie Mitchell, Uvalde; Alice Ann Fritz, Kermit; Rose Marie Sawyer, Robert Lee; Nancy Hart, Van Horn; Bill Royal, Menard; Barbara Haynes, Monahans; and Sarah Stewart, Sonora.

A high point of the Friday night affair was the appearance of Jan King of Sonora, who won first prize throughout the state with her essay. She presented this piece as an oration, and won a big hand from the crowd.

Outstanding district farmers in the region, each of whom receives a special plaque donated by Lions Clubs over the area, were announced as follows:

H. G. Whitaker, San Angelo; H. R. Solomons, Midland; George Luteh, Fabens; Roy Kelso, Abilene; George Skeete, Water Valley; Kerr Mitchell, Marfa; D. C. O. Wilson, Fort McKavett; Frank W. Key, Menard; Henry O. Weiss, Boerne; Herman Pfeiffer, Comfort; Willie J. Haas, Blanco; Raymond Spaeth, Harper; Clyde Hill, Sonora; George Kasper, Mason; G. H. Forester, Del Rio; L. E. York, Junction; J. G. Focke, Bandera; Charles W. Bell, Van Horn; and Fritz Wenmohs, Marble Falls.

In charge of the program and presenting the awards was Earleton A. Jenkins of the Fort Worth Press, appearing for the Press editor, Walter Humphrey, who could not be present. He was assisted by A. W. Uhlig of the State National Bank, El Paso, one of the co-sponsors of the statewide program; and W. S. Goodlett, representing the Texas chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America. Presiding was Doris Bilsard, chairman of the local board of supervisors.

Principal speaker for the evening was Paul Walker of Temple, deputy state director of Soil Conservation Service, in Texas. He lauded the contests as an incentive to greater activity in conservation work, and praised the winners as "the folks who are setting pattern and showing the way to a more productive land."

Walker pointed to the decline in farm population in the United States, and pointed out that "never had so many owed so much to so few" for the products needed for existence. On the other hand, he said, these few are greatly dependent upon the many for an understanding of their problems. The mass of urban people, said Walker, must be made cognizant of the great importance of saving the soil and the waters.

Doctors Blast The Testing Of Polio Vaccine

FORT WORTH, May 7 (AP)—Fort Worth doctors, angry over being "kept in the dark" about tests of Salk vaccine, say they won't give any more of the antipolio shots until every batch is tested.

They said they had been led to believe every batch was comprehensively tested and learned only through news stories that only spot checks were being made.

"The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis can come down here and give the shots if they want to but the doctors here aren't going to do it," one physician said.

Doctors here had the "false impression" that the same method used last year was being used this year. That method, they said, called for a check of every batch of the vaccine at 1, the producing laboratory; 2, the National Institute of Health, and 3, Dr. Jonas Salk's laboratory.

The Public Health Advisory Committee of the Tarrant County Medical Society issued a statement which said, in part:

"Our previous opinion concerning the safety of the 1955 vaccine was established on meager and even erroneous information about the testing."

"Until we can be assured that every batch of vaccine has been adequately tested this committee cannot wholeheartedly endorse the vaccine as being 100 per cent safe. Our endorsement of continuing the school vaccination will depend upon assurance of such adequate testing."

Spokesman for the committee said today a generalized statement about the vaccine's safety would not be enough.

"We are going to get the lot numbers of every batch of vaccine that arrives here and require assurance that each of those batches was adequately tested," he said.

Bristow Witnesses A Blast Testing Effects On Cities

Bristow joined others on "Media Hill," a site for news representatives eight miles from the scene of the blast. There, he said, observers were instructed to keep eyes tightly closed and hands pressed tightly over the eyes. Even then, with back to the blast, said Bristow, it seemed "light as day" at the moment of the blast. A few seconds later, observers were permitted to turn around and watch the formation of the famous mushroom cloud. A little later came the shock wave, which was strong enough to sweep a man off his feet unless he was braced for it, said Bristow.

"It was an awesome experience," said the legislator.

Bristow will return this week to duties in Austin, where the Legislature is attempting to wind up affairs.

FAST, STEADY Troy Fort Beats 'Greatest Roper'

Troy Fort of Lovington, N.M., Friday evening roundly defeated the man whom he called the "greatest roper who ever existed."

Fort, roping and tying with uncanny speed and consistency, beat Toots Mansfield, Big Spring, by 29.8 seconds on 10 calves. He had turned the tables on the veteran Mansfield, scored a 11 m. 5.7 second champion, by a steadiness that put the pressure on Toots.

Just to prove it was his night, Fort was last man up in the jackpot roping event and fared a six-time 13.5 posted 101 ahead of him by Mansfield. Fort roped and tied his calf in 17.0 one of the fastest times ever posted in the Rodeo Bowl here.

At that, this was a measure of two champions, for Mansfield was hooking down the barrel of a 13-6 rucked up by Louis Powers of Ozona. Normally, this would have been good enough to win most any jackpot, but Mansfield, sloshed his rope around the calf's neck not 20 yards from the chute and methodically tied the kicking animal.

Actually, Fort beat Mansfield on his first two calves, for on his second calf Toots took 28 seconds and that left him 15 seconds off the pace. He never recovered. Through the first five calves Fort had 79.6 seconds and Mansfield 104.5, a deficit of 24.9 seconds for Mansfield.

However, Toots came back with a spurt that would have unnerved a less talented and experienced hand than Fort. Through nine calves Mansfield had reduced the deficit to 13 seconds, and Fort ran into trouble on his last calf. Mansfield might have overtaken him.

But it was Mansfield and not Fort that had trouble on the final calf. Fort made a humanly impossible for Mansfield to win by getting his last catch and tie in 16.1 seconds. Toots, trying to reduce the gap to a minimum, make a quick catch, but the calf, set up, Toots had a little trouble tossing the calf and then, with his horse dragging a bit too much to aggravate the situation, ran into grief on attempts to wrap it. In the end he had a 42.5 time. That gave him the distinction of the longest as well as the shortest—13.9 seconds on his eighth calf—time of the evening.

Fort averaged 18.37 seconds per calf, an exceptionally fine record. Just how persistent he was is shown by the fact that between his fastest catch (2.2 seconds) and his slowest, there was only 5.2 seconds difference.

Jackpot racers in the order they finished were: Fort 12.8, Mansfield

That would be Mother, of course, and this is her day. Symbolic of children everywhere (regardless of their age) are Frances Ann, 2; Kim, 9 months; and Johnny, 4, who are giving that special expression of love and appreciation to Mother today. She's Mrs. F. H. Slagle, 902½ Main St. Ann and Johnny have presents ready for Mother's delight, while Kim is placidly in the act. And it's a day of affection for everybody.

Have You Seen This?

It's worth a special trip by this yard to see this riot of color! If you have passed by you couldn't have missed it. There are galliardias (Indian Blankets to West Texas), pansies, snapdragons, conflowers and bells of Ireland. That pretty orchid-flower that you have probably wondered about is called "Thrift."

God Took Care When He Made Mothers

By LUCILLE PICKLE
When the Lord made mothers He must have put a very special lens in her eyes, a little extra hearing device in her ear and a very tender spot in her heart. Have you ever known one whose children didn't look a little better, or sound better in their recitations or weren't sweeter and more thoughtful than all the others? Outside of being a grandmother, motherhood must be the most wonderful state in the world. Of course there are trying times when things don't turn out just like the book said they would and the baby has colic. Also being a "good-Joe" and going along with what the kids like to do sometimes backfires and things get out of hand. But, generally speaking, children are pretty good gadgets to have about the house.

now a sad looking spectacle. Where the girls of my day had memory books, the young ladies now seem to have to have their chaggy little remembrances string out on the walls. "We have trains and airplanes at our house. The train track doesn't as yet have a home of its own so it rooms with the boys. It takes up one whole wall. That's where it is supposed to stay, but frequently when I try to make a bed I find this six-foot square of plywood complete with track, resting on my back. And we've had a steady diet of model airplanes for at least ten years. I think about complaining real bitterly about the mess it makes, but I know I'll miss it when it's not there any more. The little ones like fire trucks, so regardless of where we are going we route our way by Fourth Street or 18th Street fire stations. I also was never going to indulge them in their little whims. As our congressman says so often, it's all very interesting.

Every mother could write a book about the little things her kiddies do and the trials they bring along with such a great amount of joy. Only a few will ever get to do it but it won't make any difference because the feeling is just the same; the love is just as great and the pride is always there. Anyway you take it, motherhood is wonderful and all of us are grateful to our Heavenly Father for this gift He has given us.

Fashionable Babies Now Match Bedding

By DOROTHY ROE
Newest idea for the teething ring set is nursery coordinates, with the baby neatly matched to the bedding. Rosebud-printed percales makes a nursery symphony consisting of crib sheets, lace-edged saque and panties. If you have trouble telling which is the baby and which is the crib, pick up the one that moves. It's easy to make contour crib sheets, say local sewing center experts, who suggest cutting out a couple at a time. The top sheet is contoured at the bottom edges, the bottom sheet is fitted at both top and bottom. Mothers who have used them say contour sheets are wonderful time-savers. If you use a separate mattress pad, the tightness of the sheet will keep it firmly in place. You can make the entire outfit from a standard pattern which also includes patterns for a wrapper, short robe and receiving blanket.

set. Although flannelette is available in dainty prints, it's better to make everything in percale if you are going in for the coordinated look. The flannelette is fine for the saque, but not so good for the sheets. Perforations on the pattern guide you in sewing construction, including the hammer-on snap fasteners on the plastic lined panties. The entire 7-piece layette requires only 7/8 yard of 36-inch fabric, plus 1/4 yard for the saque lining and 1/2 yard of plastic for lining the panties. When fitting the plastic to the panties, use paper clips instead of pins, and use a very fine machine needle when stitching.

Songs and readings were by Sheila Allen, Janet Kendrick, Elaine Taylor and Shirley Hathorn. Music was furnished by Shirley Clawson and Betty Ellison closed the program with prayer. Mrs. H. Reeves was a visitor along with the 26 others who registered.

The Rev. William D. Boyd, Rector

An amazing and interesting thing to me is how many things a mother puts up with that she vowed would never be allowed to take place in her house. Along this time I like myself as an example. I never liked cats. My boys like cats. We had to start with, one cunning, playful kitten. A dog mauled it so badly it died. The children took the death very well, but I cried. Of course we got another cat and she lived to maturity as did her kittens and her kittens and her kittens, and this could go on forever but we took the last bunch to the farm. Then this deal of taking all the interesting things they find on hikes, etc., to school for display. This must be a great addition to the course of study and I'm sure some wonderful species of plant, mineral and animal life are brought for the exhibit. During one phase of my boys' early schooling, I was greeted each morning with a skull of something or other. It was very small, probably a skunk or small dog, and it would get pushed behind something so that by the time it finally got to school it was even more aged and precious. I even thought so I spoke so it very much the same as one speaks to a member of the family. Of course I don't know much about the habits of girls and their hobbies. I do have several friends however, who are bearing up very well under the strain having the walls of the young ladies' rooms completely covered with foreign particles. One young miss must have saved every corsage she has so far received and, lovely as they were to be given with, time has taken its toll and they are

May Breakfast Is Given By Episcopal Guild

In anticipation of the general convention of the Episcopal Church groups to be held in Hawaii in September, appropriate decorations were used for the St. Cecilia May Breakfast Saturday morning.

Breakfast was served in the Parish House, which was transformed into an island scene. Fishnets, shells and "palm trees" decorated the walls. A large palm tree was surrounded by shells in the center of the room, and a small rubber monkey added realism by perching on the trunk.

Tables for four were centered with a tiny green island in which a palm tree stood. Serving was done by members of the guild.

Mrs. Conny Wade is president of the group; Fred Doelp is vice president; secretary is Mrs. Milton Talbot, and Mrs. Howard Voss is treasurer.

Mrs. Ennis Cochran who is a member of the Planters Garden Club must feel like she really hit the jackpot at the recent flower show. She had never entered a show before, and, of course, it could be beginner's luck, but she won ribbons on all arrangements she entered in one class she won second place, whereas there wasn't a first place winner.

A flower arrangement that attracted much attention Friday evening at the tea given by the Woman's Forum was one of red roses. The flowers were from the yard of Mrs. Norman Reed who arranged them. They were the first she has gathered from her many bushes this spring.

A popular guest at this tea was Mrs. Maude Brooks who has been ill for several years. She tells me she is doing real well and recently walked around the block with the aid of her crutches.

A GOOD NAME IS THE FINEST ENDORSEMENT

Almost daily, new drugs appear which we are urged to offer. To reject the unproved products is just as important to this pharmacy as is the service of being alert to provide the newest and the best.

There are certain helpful guides on which we rely. Reliable pharmaceutical manufacturers, such as Parke, Davis & Company, establish quality and effectiveness with exhaustive clinical tests before a product is announced. Your Doctor is then given facts, and on his judgment we rely in making our decision.

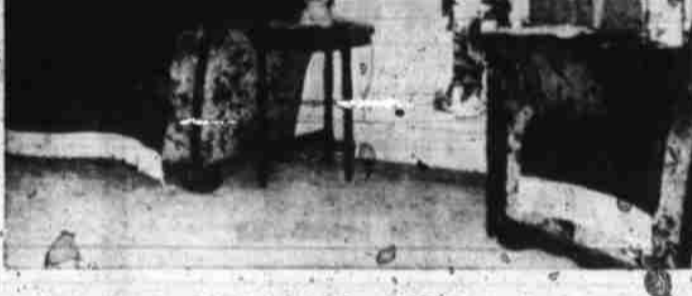

Thus, if a preparation is in our stock, you are assured of its reliability.

This Was Changed . . .

Here is the way the Lees HD Clubhouse looked before the group of women went to work with their paintbrushes and paperhanging equipment.

... To This. The club women will upholster the furniture soon, but until they can do so the covers give them an idea of how nice their room will look when it is completed.

Lees HD Club Women Make Own Clubhouse

By ANNE LEFEVER
The women already know how they are to get the grounds cleaned. A weiner roast is being planned for the boys and girls who will clean the yard. Then the group will be taken to a drive-in movie.

The club is planning to use the house for more of a community center for parties and gatherings other than their meetings. They hope to be able to rent it for just the cost of the utilities. Money has been raised for the work by bake sales and the sale of Christmas cards.

The president is Mrs. J. Overton and the vice president is Mrs. Glen Overton. Secretary-treasurer is Mrs. Figsd Pike; the reporter is Mrs. A. J. Overton and the THDA chairman is Mrs. R. H. Foard. Mrs. Foard and Mrs. Jack Engle are the delegates to the recently formed HD Council of the county.

Mrs. Engle is chairman of the committee on rules for the use of the house and plan is assigned to Mrs. J. C. Pye and Mrs. Overton the president.

Other members of the club are Mrs. A. W. White, Mrs. B. R. Stroud, Mrs. B. E. Overton, Mrs. Bents Nelson, Mrs. R. W. Dolan, Mrs. Lefoy, Mrs. Roy Rogers, Mrs. M. J. Woodard and Mrs. Ray Baker.

As for their furniture, the women plan to upholster it, patting to use the training they have received in their club work. They know how to repair springs, pad the furniture and cover it. From a piece of plywood, also donated, they will make a table.

As soon as they have completed the decorating of the inside, they hope to add a bathroom. Work will start soon on a barbecue pit, and

Fellowship Tea Is Given By Church Council Friday

Participating in the local program were Mrs. Johnnie Johansen, Mrs. Ray Shaw, Mrs. E. V. Spence, Mrs. Ellen Bearden, Mrs. Dean Forrest and Mrs. Knox Gifford.

For the social hour following the program, Mrs. Shine Phillips and Mrs. Frank Wilson presided at the tea table. This was laid with white linen and bore an arrangement of roses. Yellow tapers in silver holders completed the decorations, and crystal serving appointments were used.

Mrs. Phillips is president of the Big Spring Council of Church Women, and Mrs. Gifford is Fellowship chairman.

HI--TALK

By PEGGY HOGAN

Fishes! Mermaids! Ocean foam! It was the members of the senior class that stepped down into a cool atmosphere last night as the biggest social event of the year conveyed the theme — "Underwater." Host of the traditional banquet and prom was the junior class and the honored guest were the seniors, of course.

The school cafeteria took on the appearance of the watery sea as characterized fish frolicking along the walls and the stage was transformed into the image of a far away island. The program was built around a little mermaid named Eunice Freeman and a sailor called Gary Tidwell as the Key Four, a quartet from Odessa, and the starfish, a girls tap routine, performed.

Such strange sounding dishes as stuffed sea fowl (turkey), mermaid's delight (potatoes), sea goddess ball (green beans), sea foam (ice cream), and water of the murky deep (ice tea) were on the menu. The whole place was especially air conditioned for the dinner to really give that cool, cool feeling of delight.

The gym could hardly be recognized as the juniors joined the crowd for the prom at 8:30. Everyone was submerged down into the deep depths of an aqua ocean as they entered a bathosphere door. Sammy DuLong and his orchestra made music from a gigantic shell as sea animals bubbled along the sides of the dance floor.

Indeed, the prom this year will long be remembered. To the juniors it was the fulfillment of months of preparation and work. To the seniors — it climaxed all high school social events and left the road open only to graduation.

Awards were presented to members of the Big Spring High School band at a Friday evening banquet in the Sefton Hotel last week. About 120 people attended the affair which was sponsored by the Band Boosters' Club. Fifteen seniors were presented honorable discharges from the band by Mr. Worley and the new 1955-56 officers were announced. The corps is to be headed by Norman Gound, captain, followed by Marlene Mann, secretary-treasurer; J. T. Baled, librarian; J. C. Ereno, property manager; Leon Byrd, editor of the Downbeat; and Jon Cook, drum major. The honor of band queen goes to Kenda McGibbon who will march along with the band next year.

James Suga was named an Area II officer nominee at the last meeting of El Rancho District of the Future Farmers of America in Odessa, Thursday. He will compete with six other nominees over the 44-county area for the area presidency. James was also approved for the Lone Star Farmer degree and he passes area and state checking; he will receive the highest award given in FFA work at the state level.

Diversified Occupations students honored their bosses with a big feast Friday night in the form of a barbecue at the City Park. Acting specially wife to the "big boss" were Robert Broughton, Bobby McCarty, Truman Mason, Gary Brown, Arthur Smith, Don Martin, and Bob Rogers, officers of the club and participants on the program.

Seniors, don't forget to make an appointment at Barr Studio for your free picture in cap and gown. Your courtesy to the studio could be shown by doing this as soon as you can. Caps and gowns are furnished by the studio.

Disappointed isn't the word for Mr. McCumb when he thinks of the small turn-out at commencement speech try-outs. To be one of the graduation speakers is certainly a great honor, and Mr. McCumb is giving the seniors just one more chance Monday afternoon to make the most of this opportunity. Contact him immediately if you are interested. Seniors

Tickets for the All-School picnic will go on sale Tuesday for 35 cents. The convave will be sponsored by the student council at the City Park, May 27.

presidency of the Presbyterian Youth Fellowship of the El Paso Presbytery at the organization's meeting in Midland last week. Kay Wilcox was elected to the post of treasurer and Dennis Jones was named chairman of the fellowship committee. Others in the host that represented Big Spring were Benny Compton, Jimmy McCarty, Lady Frances Jones, Anita Gardner, and Gage Lloyd.

Seniors, swarming downtown merchant, cooled the buzz of Senior Radio Day again as the advertising department, headed by Glenn Rogers, took action in a big way. Manager of the whole shebang is David Ewing with Dickie Millam as his assistant. Program director is Robert Morehead, assisted by Carolyn Whitefield; Betty Earley is copy manager with Pat Dunn, Jane Reynolds, Barbara Lewter, Barbara Bowen, Lila Turner, Bob Thomas, Sandy Landua, and Glenn Coffey on hand to write continuity. Jane Reynolds and Lila Turner will serve as secretaries. KBST is completely handing over the 14th of May to the seniors. They will run the station the entire day from announcing the weather to directing programs.

An outstanding professor in the Vocational Industrial Club is Bobby McCarty. Senior of the week, Bobby has been a state officer in the Texas organization of V.I.C. for two years — serving last year as sergeant-at-arms in the local club. Bob has received several letters in sports during high school — "A" and "B" letters in football, one letter in tennis, and two letters in golf. He is a former member of DeMolays.

Something New Has Been Done To Leather Gloves

Leather gloves in all colors, which can be tossed into the washing machine, are the big news of the year in glove land.

The gloves come in nine colors and a number of styles, and will be available in stores throughout the country as soon as the manufacturers can turn them out in sufficient quantity — probably in mid-summer.

Although washable leather gloves have been on the market for years, they usually required great care in washing — and gloves in colors such as red, navy and the pastels usually had to be dry-cleaned.

Now, after years of research, tanners have developed a process which makes leather in high colors as washable as dungarees. After being put through the washing machine with a regular washday detergent, they come out as soft and bright as new, requiring no special care.

This also means that men's leather gloves can be washed in the future — a great boon to the housewife who frets when she sees the mate in her family wearing their best gloves for such chores as changing a tire or tinkering with the car.

High School Student Council Plans Final School Events

Members of the Big Spring High School student council set plans for the building a real spring cleaning and planned for the end of school events at their meeting on Friday morning. Sue Boykin opened the meeting with prayer and Lou Ann White reported the clean-up campaign was a success. All students and faculty members joined in giving the building a real spring cleaning. Announcement was made that the all school picnic will be held on May 27 at 6 p.m. at the City Park at the Old Settler's pavilion. Tickets that will sell for 35 cents each will be distributed this week. Senior Assembly will be held on May 18th at 9:45 a.m. The Senior class history will be given by Peggy Hogan; Tommy McAdams, class president, will present the school with the class gift; and David Ewing will deliver the farewell address. Jane Reynolds will be the soloist when the friendship circle is formed and the class members sing their song. A picnic and hayride for all student council members and their dates will be held on May 20. Tentative date for the 1955 Homecoming has been set for October 29. The council voted in favor of adopting the Four Way Test presented by W. C. Blankenship as a member of the Rotary Club. This concerns the test of the things we say of do which include "Is it the Truth?" "Is it Fair to All?" "Will it Build Good Will and Better Friendship?" and "Will it Be Beneficial to all Concerned?" M. L. Patterson, also a Rotarian, read a story to show the benefits of such a test in business. Plans are under way for the installation of council officers before a school assembly in the near future. Twenty-four council members attended along with the two sponsors, Mrs. Betty Ratliff and Don Green.

The Woman's Forum Fetes Club Women

Members of all clubs federated with the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs and with the City Federation were guests of The Woman's Forum Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Leroy Tidwell. In addition to the club women, other special guests attended the tea which was a semi-formal affair.

Mrs. Tidwell greeted the callers and others in the receiving line were outgoing officers of the host club. They were Mrs. Charles Tompkins, president, Mrs. Elvis McCrary, secretary, and Mrs. Carl Benson, treasurer. Mrs. E. B. Compton registered the guests. To decorate the receiving rooms bouquets of spring flowers were placed at vantage points. The tea table was laid with a cutwork linen cloth of white and was centered with a silver bowl which held a mixed arrangement of flowers. This was flanked with silver candelabra each holding three yellow candles. The punch bowl was crystal as were the serving pieces. Members of the Forum composed the houseparty and assisted in the serving and greeting the guests. Approximately 125 called during the evening.

Style Made For Women Who Dislike Shorts, Slacks

At long last, someone has given some thought to the thousands of women who won't or simply can't wear slacks or flared shorts. The someone is Brigrance whose casual sportswear is continually copying fashion prizes, and his thought consists of this two-piece culotte cut in two lengths with plenty of style and grace for any figure from size 12 to 18.

The low necked, collared blouse has an upside down side zipper to keep the midriff line sleek and clean. The culotte has deep-berried pleats both back and front, with two little released pleats on each side of the center front, that add a pleasant hip swing.

An easy to make costume, it is suggested that you choose linen, pique, shantung, chambray, gingham, or plain or printed silk for the top; the culotte is best in woven seersucker, corduroy, flannels, or worsted wools or flannels. College girls will do well to remember the wools made up in the longer length for their back-to-school wardrobes.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements.

Utilities Cost Householders Here Some $165,000 Monthly

By CLIFTON LAWHORNE.
The average Big Spring family pays out about $25 monthly for gas, water, electricity and telephone service, according to a survey conducted by The Herald.

This is the equivalent of about $300 per year per family. This figure appears quite large, but most of the individuals polled were of the opinion that utility costs are necessary if one is expected to perform basic necessities.

One man said he would much rather pay the gas bill than be forced to cut wood for the stove. A woman said she could not possibly do without electricity.

Without the basic utilities and the telephone, daily chores such as cooking, washing, warming, cooling, ironing, sewing, lighting and communicating would be much harder, it was pointed out.

Although exact figures are not available, conservative estimates are that the utility firms here gross more than a million and a half dollars yearly from residential connections.

If the "averages" are accurate, the figure would be close to two million dollars.

Average number of outlets for all Big Spring utilities is 6,630. If each of these outlets cost the $25 average rate, then the utilities take in $165,750.

The gas company would be upward of $165,000. The water bills would be in the vicinity of $1,980,000.

There are 6,728 residential customers for electricity in Big Spring, and the average monthly bill is somewhere in the neighborhood of 85 cents, according to individual contacts.

Electricity rates are $1.10 for the first 10 kilowatt hours. After that, the cost is 44 cents per kWh up to 50. Between 50 and 100 kilowatt hours, the rate is 2.8 cents each. All over 100 cost two cents each.

Gas connections for residential Big Spring total 6,385. The average cost per month per connection, according to the survey, is approximately $5.

The gas company rates are $1 for the first 2,000 cubic feet, 75 cents per thousand for the next 10,000 cubic feet, 65 cents per 10,000 for the second 10,000 and 55 cents for all in excess of 22,000.

The company gives a 5-cent discount per thousand for all gas used over the first 2,000 if payment is made in 10 days.

Water connections are in excess of 6,800 here, and The Herald survey indicates that the average monthly cost on a year-round basis is $7 (this includes garbage pickup).

People living inside the city have cheaper rates. These rates are $2.50 for the first 3,000 gallons, 35 cents per thousand for the next 100,000 gallons, 30 cents per thousand for the next 100,000 gallons, and 25 cents per thousand for all over that.

Individuals living outside the city pay $3.50 for the first 2,000 gallons, 50 cents per thousand for the next 100,000 gallons, 45 cents per thousand for the next 100,000, and 40 cents for all thereafter.

There are 6,230 telephone subscribers in Big Spring, and average monthly bill of $6 was indicated in questioning some of them.

Telephone rates per month are as follows: business phone $8; business extension $1.50; one-party residence $4.25; two-party residence, $3.50; four-party residence $3; and residential extension, $1.

In addition to the various residential outlets, utility firms here report a number of commercial hook-ups. There are 1,137 electrical outlets for commercial concerns and 814 such gas outlets.

There are 9,224 telephone stations here, though there are only 6,230 customers. Most of these extra stations represent business phones and extensions.

'Bootstrap' Puts Airmen In School

SYRACUSE, N. M., May 7 (AP)—The May had been clear and bright. A handful of lucky American B-17 bombers were winging homeward over the English Channel.

Capt. Arthur F. Briggs, wing commander, took stock. Only 3 of the 21 planes of his group were returning. The others had been downed by German fighters on the unscathed bomb run to Schweinfurt.

It was, on some days, a weird sight. Briggs, who at 22 might have been finishing the college education he had begun at Mars Hill and Belmont, N. C.

But it wasn't the last. Briggs was to know in the course of his chosen career.

Last month Col. Arthur F. Briggs, wearing several decorations for valor, hitched a plane ride from Norton Air Force Base, in California, and headed for Syracuse University.

He had routed out the home he had stored in his suitcase and said good-bye to his wife Mildred and 12-year-old son Arthur. They went to stay with her folks in San Antonio, Tex., while the colonel went back to college.

Briggs, now 34, is inspector general for the San Bernardino Air Materiel Area. He is one of a group of 400 Force men returning to college under a unique program called Operation Bootstrap.

Interviewed after his first weeks of classes, Briggs said:

"It was a little frustrating at first. It's been 15 years since I was in a college classroom. It was a little hard to catch just what the instructor was driving at. But it didn't take long to adjust again to the classroom language. Now I'm getting organized."

"The best thing is that it starts you to thinking. It's not so much what you get in a classroom. It's what you do with it after you pick it up."

Briggs is studying world politics, Russian history, photo interpretation, composition, and romance literature. He didn't pull the courses out of a hat.

"Secret formulas" do not work. Unfortunately, man is slow to discard his belief in the "magical" or "supernatural." As Thomaske observed, they have a natural tendency to crave the sensational, exaggerated, and impossible and to fly in the face of both reason and experience. Editorial

Our Commercial Building Is Sick

Construction figures for the first four months of the year in Big Spring are interesting if not disturbing. At the outset of the year we expressed the belief that one of the factors strongly affecting the outlook was one of the most difficult to predict - namely, construction. In the same line, it was our feeling at the time that the commercial end of building would be the determining element.

of the total going to new commercial construction, and it is entirely too small and a point for concern. While Big Spring construction has continued at a fairly respectable pace, it has seldom eased the city into the higher brackets that one might expect of its population. Year in and year out, the picture has been pretty much the same - public building and residential building carrying the load.

After Ten Years

Around The Rim A Young Fellow Tells About Mothers

My freckled-face young friend had to come out of his Davy Crockett uniform when I approached him with my request for help. "Gee whillikers," he moaned, "I wrote a piece for you on Mother's Day last year. I've already told everything I know about Mothers."

Most Mothers are a little bit sissy about things like frogs, and shedding dogs, no knowing how important these things are. But they are mighty handy to help once in awhile when lessons are hard, and they come a-running when you holler for them when you smash your hand or something like that.

Freedom And Progress Evidenced In Spain

MADRID - Spain is a big surprise to anyone who has never been here before. For the impression formed in advance is that here is a totalitarian country with troops everywhere and with an oppressive discipline imposed on the people.

groups and other organizations and in part by municipal councils which, in turn, are elected by the people. The legislative system here is different in that most of the work is done in executive session by special committees, in which, however, all parliamentary groups are represented. Once a decision is reached by a committee, the Parliament itself - which meets four times a year - merely ratifies the committee reports.

Widespread Agreement On Continued Rosy Business

The vigor and broad scope of prosperity are incontestable. Benjamin F. Fairless, on retiring as chairman and chief executive officer of United States Steel Corp., told a cheerful group of stockholders that merely to keep up with prospective demand, U. S. Steel would have to build the equivalent of a Fairless Works every two years.

from about 64,000,000 to 69,000,000. Average hours worked per week will drop from about 40 to 37 1/2. Yet per capita income will go up. There will be more people enjoying more leisure with more money. The present is so euphoric as the future. Soon the Federal Reserve Board will have computed its seasonally adjusted index of industrial production for April, it could go up 137. That would equal the previous all-time high of 135.933. The March figure was 135. At the beginning of the year only the bold were the hopeful.

STORY OF THE HOUSING BOOM Price of new homes rises 83% since 1946, but that doesn't stop demand.

As the year moves along, there's less worry about the second half. Automobile production might drop sharply - as much as 50 per cent to 60 per cent. But the expansion plans of business men, the purchases of new equipment, will be an offset.

Ownerless Bridge

LYONS, Mich. (AP) - This village wants to repair a 74-year-old bridge, but can't find out who owns it. To determine ownership, Village President James Kistler started friendly lawsuits against the village, county and state.

Angry buses have been ordered to stop on one side of the weakened structure, let the children walk across the bridge and pick them up on the other side.

Tax In The Mill

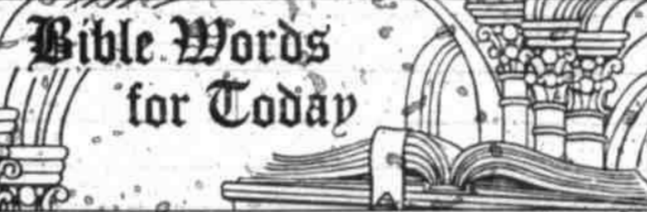

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - Joel W. Stowe, of Dry Fork, a saw mill operator, was acquitted in federal court here of willfully failing to file a federal income tax return after testifying he didn't know about it.

"It is rather surprising to see a person who is blissfully ignorant of the burden of Federal income tax," said Judge Sterling Hutchinson. "This is a case where I think this is true."

Cow Country Terms

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - Know the difference between a cowboy and a cowpuncher? Brand Inspector C. F. Barby of Kansas City explained it at a cattlemen's meeting.

"In the days when men riding the plain with cattle carried a lantern and a pond, they punched the cattle back to their feet with the prod when the stock lay down or fell."

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 13:34 - "A new commandment I give unto you, that ye love one another"

The story has been told of a wayfaring stranger who one day long ago found rest and refuge in a home by the wayside where poverty and piety dwelt. After the simple evening meal had been served and time for retirement drew nigh, this stranger was invited to participate in the customary family devotions.

This stranger was none other than the famed Bishop Ussher who pronounced the chronology which was later inserted in the margin of the King James version of the Bible.

Our Lord gave this command on the eve of His crucifixion. He spoke this word at the very moment when He was a victim of hate. He said that this commandment sums up all the commandments.

We do well to remember that in a world where hatred holds so much sway over so many, love is and ever shall be the greatest power in the world.

A Five-Point Program To Find Yourself

Three years ago, a friend of mine asked me to talk with his son, then a sophomore in college. The boy was headed for the rocks, the father said, and told me of several escapades in which the youth had been involved.

him a simple five-point program for effective living. I saw this young man again recently. He is now a senior and, far from being in trouble, is actually on the Dean's list. When I asked him how he had overcome his difficulties, he reminded me of the five-point program I had given him at that meeting three years before. You may find it interesting and helpful as he did.

THEY DON'T FORGET HER

How dear she is to her sons and daughters and her grandchildren. On this, her birthday, they don't forget her. These flowers are just a token, but in each blossom there is love.

She it was who taught them their first words . . . and their first prayers. She it was to whom they came with their childhood hurts. She it was who stood ready to console them when everything had gone wrong. She it was who taught them how essential religion is to a happy life—how vital it is that they belong to and take part in the activities of a church. On her birthday they remember all of this anew. Men and women now, they are living their own lives and accomplishing their own successes. But the great truths she taught them about faith, hope, gratitude, love and fortitude will remain with them forever.

Grandmother has indeed made a great contribution to their lives. Little wonder each week in church they say a special prayer in her memory.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

West Point Film

"The Long Gray Line" begins today at the Ritz, starring Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara. The picture is the life story of Marty Maher, athletic trainer for West Point, and is based on his book. It is in CinemaScope and Technicolor. In this scene, Maureen O'Hara gives Tyrone Power first aid treatment.

Fateful Day In Death House

Edward G. Robinson detains Jean Parker and Peter Graves in this scene from "Black Tuesday" at the State. The picture is playing today through Tuesday.

Saga Of West Point Presented At Ritz In 'The Long Gray Line'

"The Long Gray Line" starts today at the Ritz and stars Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara. With the 1954 Academy Awards out of the way, this film is director John Ford's bid for the 1955 awards and it should have a very good chance of doing so. Ford has won four previous Academy Awards.

"father" to generations of cadets. Tyrone Power plays Marty Maher, a pugnacious Irish immigrant, and Maureen O'Hara is Mary O'Donnell, the girl Marty met and married after he went to work at the "Point." West Point first bewildered, then befriended, and later honored Maher, whose life was centered on the Academy and the men being trained there.

One is the historic roll call of the class of 1915. The call sounds like a list of the names most prominent in the last war. Another scene of interest to local moviegoers will be a football game back in 1913. It is a historic filming of the Army-Notre Dame game when a lightweight nobody of a football player from a then unknown school helped defeat an Army eleven with a mystery play called a "forward pass."

CINEMA COMMENT

By Glenn Coates

May is more than Movie Month in Big Spring; it is "excellent Movie Month." A glance at the bill of fare for the coming week promises above average films.

The romance besap on location of "Dangerous Mission" which Michael's father, Victor, is starring in. Linda's father, Groucho, was amused at the incident.

For instance, "The Long Gray Line" at the Ritz today through Wednesday is Academy Award material. Fine acting and better directing might make this picture "the one" in 1955. Like Robb, manager for the Big Spring theaters, has seen an advance showing of the picture and he said it was exceptional. He ought to know.

"Vic Mature explained to Groucho that Michael had said, "Fishing is more fun than girls." Groucho leered back. "He'll learn." Michael is 12 and Linda is seven.

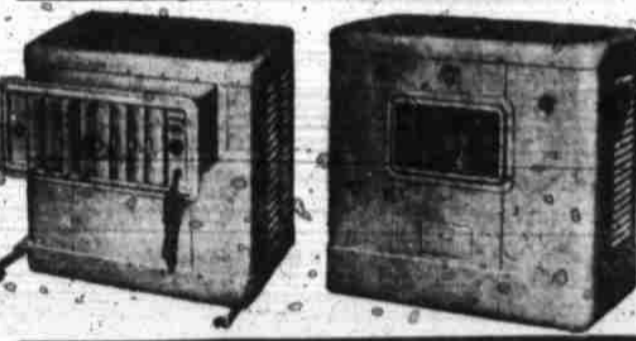

Both of these films are in Color and CinemaScope. And there is a wide variety of other good films at the State and Lyric. By the way, if you missed Grace Kelly in "The Bridges of Toko-Ri," that's at the Jet Thursday and Friday.

Sylvia Findley, co-starring in "Black Tuesday," is another product of Texas in Hollywood. And like other Hollywood Texans, Sylvia measures up to the standards of Texas beauty. Joan Crawford, Linda Darnell, Ann Sheridan, Mary Martin, Evelyn Keyes, and Debbie Reynolds are other Texas beauties in the film world.

Another Mr. Magoo cartoon is scheduled for Big Spring during the week. Title is "Magoo Sleeps Here" and will play with "Target Earth" at the Lyric Tuesday and Wednesday. For those who have not seen Magoo, he is a little man who has trouble with his sight.

These was a time when the "forward pass" in football was completely unknown, strange as it may seem today. But in 1913, an unknown school fielded an unknown team that revolutionized the game.

Greer Garson, Dana Andrews In Western

Dana Andrews and Greer Garson team together to star in "Strange Lady in Town" Thursday through Saturday at the Ritz. Greer Garson plays the sister of a renegade outlaw. Her brother has fallen in love with Andrews' daughter and Andrews is not in favor of the courtship. The townspeople want Greer Garson to leave town because of her brother's escapades.

Edw. G. Robinson In Prison Drama

"Black Tuesday" plays today through Tuesday at the State and stars Edward G. Robinson. It is the story of a convict trying to avoid the most dreaded death of all, the electric chair. The execution date is fixed in the getaway.

Victor Mature, William Bendix In Lyric Feature

"Dangerous Mission" stars Victor Mature, Piper Laurie, William Bendix, Vincent Price, and Betta St. John at the Lyric today and Monday. A murder is committed in New York with only one witness. But the witness disappears. The police send Victor Mature to Montana's Glacier National Park where the suspected witness is hiding.

Grace Kelly And William Holden In 'Bridges Of Toko-Ri'

Grace Kelly and William Holden are costars again in "The Bridges of Toko-Ri" at the Jet Thursday and Friday. The popular pair, (Grace Kelly was an Oscar winner in 1954; Holden was a winner in 1953), play excellent roles in a picture of the Korean War. Holden is a pilot whose job is to blast the strategic positions of the bridges at Toko-Ri. The perilous flight is made successfully, but at terrific cost.

'Show Business' Returns To Jet

"There's No Business Like Show Business" will play Tuesday and Wednesday at the Jet Drive-In. The CinemaScope and Color film stars Ethel Merman, Donald O'Connor, Marilyn Monroe, Dan Dailey, Johnnie Ray, and Mitzie Gaynor. Music for the picture, by Irving Berlin, includes the title song, "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody," "Heat Wave," and many, many others.

Cary Grant And Diana Lynn In Comedy Romance

"Every Girl Should Be Married" stars Cary Grant, Franchot Tone, Diana Lynn, and Betsy Drake at the State Wednesday and Thursday. Grant is a baby doctor and Tone is a wolfish executive in this film about the ways and wives of the female sex in capturing mates. The girls, Betsy Drake and Diana Lynn, are perfectly suited to their roles. Betsy Drake is a clever salesgirl with a well planned campaign on how to land a husband.

Edw. G. Robinson In Prison Drama

"Black Tuesday" plays today through Tuesday at the State and stars Edward G. Robinson. It is the story of a convict trying to avoid the most dreaded death of all, the electric chair. The execution date is fixed in the getaway.

"Dangerous Mission"

Victor Mature and Piper Laurie receive urgent news in this scene from "Dangerous Mission" at the Lyric. The exciting man-hunt film plays today and Monday.

Amateur Archaeologist Hunts Thomas Jefferson Birthplace

LINCOLN, Mass. (AP)—The long-lost birthplace of Thomas Jefferson may be found this year by a unique archaeologist who uses slender steel fingers to ferret out the secrets of the centuries.

Jefferson, who wrote the Declaration of Independence and became the nation's third president, was born at Shadwell, his family home near Charlottesville, Va.

The home was leveled by fire in 1770, shortly after construction had been started on the Jefferson home Monticello, a mile or so away.

Monticello has long been a shrine. Now the Thomas Jefferson

Birthplace Memorial Park Commission wants to restore the statesman's birthplace. And to help do the job, the commission has hired Roland Wells Robbins, who calls himself a "historical investigator."

Robbins, a sometimes poet, painter, contractor and — during the depression — window cleaner, has gained a wide reputation as an early-American archaeologist since being led into the field by curiosity.

Ten years ago, he left a tennis game to follow a pilgrimage commemorating the 100th anniversary of the building of philosopher Henry David Thoreau's famed hermit's cabin at Walden Pond, near Concord, Mass.

Robbins was amazed to find that no one knew exactly where the cabin had stood. Thoreau's own writing contained contradictions on the site.

A stone cabin ostensibly marking the spot had not been started until 25 years after the original building had been destroyed. And there were doubts as to whether it was on the right spot.

Robbins undertook, by deduction and his own unique methods of investigation, to learn the exact site of the cabin. He succeeded in uncovering physical evidence of the building, and in so doing he stepped into a full-blown career in American archaeology.

The first step in the Robbins method of investigation is to lay out as specifically as possible the area in which a lost settlement or structure is believed to have stood.

Then the steel "fingers" are brought into play. They are slender rods of varying lengths, driven into the ground at carefully plotted intervals to feel for artifacts or buried foundations.

Contact with a stone or similar object brings a shock that tingles throughout the arms. A softer, yielding resistance may indicate a buried foundation beam. A board tells its own story through softer resistance, then penetration.

Once an object has been encountered, its contours may be outlined through further probing with the steel shafts.

Robbins' most extensive undertaking was a five-year study that outlined the structure of America's first R.A. works at Saugus, Mass. It had fallen into ruin nearly three centuries ago.

Robbins' probing picked out remains of blast furnaces, bellows, water wheels, forges and thousands of other relics.

Most West Texans Go With Majority In Vet Land Vote

AUSTIN — Most West Texas House members voted with the majority of 89 which Thursday ordered the State Affairs Committee to report immediately on Rep. Obie Jones' resolution under which members of the Legislature would have to report their activities in Veterans Land Board affairs.

Rep. W. G. Kirklin of Odessa, chairman of the subcommittee in which the resolution has been dubbed, objected to passage of the resolution. He protested his committee plans to broaden the scope of the measure to include inquiring reports on all activities before all state agencies.

The Jones resolution would require senators and representatives to sign an affidavit setting out their activities in representing constituents before the land board for a fee.

Voting for the resolution were Reps. Armor of Sweetwater, Bishop of Winters, Brashear of Cisco, Briscoe of Uvalde, Chambers of May, Cloud of Rule, Cobb of Seminole, Kelly of Afton and Latimer of Abilene.

Washington Well Mapped By Texans

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's quite apparent that Washington is well marked on the maps of touring Texans. Any Texas congressman will tell you so.

Conventions and annual meetings have brought to town recently dozens of newspaper editors and Chambers of Commerce people from all parts of the state. And there have been REA folks with electric co-op problems. Natural Gas Act legislation, hearings brought in others.

Around the capital: Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower got a corsage made of cotton bolls gathered on Texas Tech experimental farms. It was presented by Mrs. Nolan Lassiter Jr. on behalf of the Rebekah Ladies of Lybuck. She went to the White House accompanied by Mrs. George Mahon, wife of the Lubbock congressman, and Mrs. J. C. Wilson of Dallas. Mrs. Lassiter's husband, a policeman, has been here attending the FBI school.

Statuary Hall near the Capitol rotunda contains the statues of two heroes from each state. Texas is represented by Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin. As a group of tourists passed by a youngster, glancing at Austin, was overheard making this comment: "Looks like they'd have Davy Crockett."

Dallas Republican congressman Bruce Alger, a champion handball player before coming to Washington, keeps fit in the House gymnasium playing paddle ball. He ribs his colleagues that it's an old man's game, compared to the speed and agility required in a fast handball game. They don't have a handball court in the gym.

Former Rep. Frank Wilson, Alger's immediate predecessor in Congress, has been here visiting friends about the Capitol. He came up from Dallas to do some work for the Hoover Commission. Former Rep. John Lyle of Corpus Christi also has been back in town doing business for law clients.

He doesn't know just why he got the post card, but Rep. J. T. Rutherford of Odessa was flattered when the post office delivered one to him addressed only to "Congressmen from Texas." It was a Kearny, N. J. school student asking for literature on the Lone Star State.

Spiritual Aid Offered In Auto Contract Talks

DETROIT (AP)—The Episcopal diocese of Michigan today offered spiritual assistance to company and union negotiators now bargaining on new contracts in the auto industry. It was in the form of a prayer sent to the 152 parishes and missions in the diocese. Bishops Richard Emrich and Archie H. Crowley said the "most important thing all of us can do is to pray for those who are so closely involved."

Things Lived For Dave's Kin

DALLAS (AP)—Life just isn't the same for David Crockett, great-grandson of the "King of the Wild Frontier."

Tiny children now gang up on him when he comes home. "You Davy Crockett, really?" they ask.

"Sure am," he answers. "Sing the song," they chant. "I try," said the 55-year-old drug company accountant. "And it seems to make them happy."

Adults and older children who see his telephone off the hook want to know if he really is related to bear-killer Crockett.

He is. And right proud of it, although life has gotten more hectic since those TV shows and that song, "The Ballad of Davy Crockett."

Crockett is the son of Ashley Wilson Crockett, the original Davy's grandson. Ashley was the son of Davy's boy, Robert Ramon Crockett.

Davy Crockett of Dallas was born at Granbury, near the farm where Davy's widow, Elizabeth Crockett, is buried.

He said the first, famed Davy Crockett had a "rather long face with a prominent, pointed chin. I think I look a little bit like him."

There's one thing that is a little bit trying for Dallas' Davy. Oftentimes when he's introduced to someone and he tells his name, they say, "Who're you kidding?"

Named Conductor

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Julius Hegel, 32, former conductor of the "Aphelene, Tenn. Symphony Orchestra," yesterday was elected conductor of the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra. Hegel succeeds Joseph Hawthorne who was named conductor of the Toledo, O., Symphony several weeks ago.

Our Story: IN A DARK CORNER ALETA CROUCHES, FAINT WITH WEARINESS, FROM THE DINING HALL WHERE LIES THE BODY OF DRAGDA KHAN COMES THE ANGRY SOUND OF QUARRELLING MEN. THEN SHE SPRINGS TO HER FEET, LISTENING. FROM THE CITY COMES A NEW SOUND.... AND HOPE RETURNS.

WHILE A BLACK-ROBED COURIER IS CRYING THE NEWS OF THE DEATH OF THE DRAGDA KHAN....

..... A SOLDIER FROM THE GATES IS SHOUTING THAT THE CITY IS BEING ATTACKED!

IN THE HALL THE CHIEFTAINS HAVE MOURNED THEIR LEADER IN THEIR HALF-SAVAGE, UNRESTRAINED MANNER. "HARKEN TO YOUR QUEEN," CRIES ALETA, "ENEMIES STORM OUR GATES. LET HIM WHO WOULD BE OUR NEW KHAN LEAD US TO VICTORY!". THE CHIEFTAINS RUSH OUT, TOO CONFUSED TO REALIZE THAT ALETA HAS DESTROYED THEIR UNITY.

ALL DAY AND NIGHT PRINCE VALIANT HAS MARCHED IN SILENCE, HIS MIND A MIST OF PAIN AND ANXIETY. BUT THE WALLS OF THE CITY LOOM UP IN THE DAWN LIGHT AND THE PRESENCE OF DANGER MAKES HIM ONCE AGAIN THE COOL, CLEAR LEADER.

"OUR ENEMY IS A HORSEMAN; A HORSE WILL PANIC IN THE FACE OF FIRE GATHER GRASS AND MAKE TORCHES OF YOUR SPEARS. BRING UP THE FIRE-POTS AND THROWERS!"

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY RESOLUTE NORTHMEN MARCH ON THE GATES WITH A DEFINITE PLAN. WITHIN THE CITY FIVE THOUSAND MEN AND AS MANY HORSES MILL AROUND, HOPELESSLY CONFUSED BY DRUNKEN ORDERS!

I was just thinking...

BILL AND ANNA RIORDAN had been happily married for almost 50 years when a tree came between them.

Sometimes trees are funny that way. They're so much like people. The old elm had sheltered Anna's lawn since the days the Sioux roamed the prairie, but in the springtime it was always young again.

It sprang hody arched into the April sky. It flaunted its nakedness like a child. By June it was lushly lyrical and, when Fall came, it was old again like Anna, but gentle with age and forgetful of the agony of Spring childbirth.

I think Anna was a little in love with her tree. I don't know whether old Bill was jealous or only frugal, but one Fall morning Anna awoke to hear him sawing away at it with a weather eye toward a supply of Winter firewood.

Anna was furious. She called in the neighbors, she cried, she flew at Bill like a mother protecting her young or a woman defending her lover.

Ewing Gallager

The old elm quivered in the Autumn chill. It wouldn't have lasted nearly that long in a city where a tree, any tree, is an interloper. The trees of the village or of the field breathe softer air. There is a pleasant glow to their bark. They can grow fat and old in comfort, ungrubbed by man's encroachment. Anna's tree was like that.

Someone else lives in her house now. There are children on the lawn playing under the trees. Bill and Anna have been dead for more than 15 years and they died as happily married as they lived. If you pass the old house some day, you'll understand.

Younger and older than all the other trees is an elm, grizzled but still green. It's a beautiful tree with only one flaw to mar its perfection.

There's a low welt of bark on its trunk.

THE OFFICE ROMANCE DEBUNKED

Why is it such a common belief that an office is a breeding place for romance? This idea seems to be one of the ever-popular topics of magazine articles, radio and television programs, plays, movies, books, and back-yard fences. Yet in the 20 years I have been working in offices, I have seen very few romances there and I have never met a girl who was in love with her boss or a boss in love with his secretary.

First of all, most persons working today hold themselves to certain moral standards which disourage any trespass into another person's marriage. A married man or woman is married—and hands off! But even without this, there is an equally effective deterrent to romances between the boss and the secretary; the everyday necessity of jumping when the boss says "Jump."

A secretary may be completely devoted to her boss; she may admire him; she may do everything she can to please him; and he may be kind and considerate and deserve her devotion, but the knowledge that she had jolly-well-better-do-just-that-or-else is always there to keep the admiration within its proper limits.—A Secretary, Demarest, N. J.

What Leisure Time?

When people ask me, "What do you do with all your leisure time?" I wonder where my "leisure time" is. When you work eight hours a day at a job you don't have much free time, so most people think when one retires it is all leisure time. But there are so many things you have wanted to do and places you have wanted to go that your "leisure time" after retirement is almost as restricted as before. That is, if by "leisure" you mean just sitting and thinking—or may be just sitting!

There are friends and shut-ins to visit, books to read, church meetings, lectures, concerts to attend, traveling to do, a hobby to engage in. The retiree's "leisure time" may be filled to the last minute with interesting activities commensurate to his strength.—L. V. Urbana, Ill.

Retarded Children Have Feelings, Too

When I go shopping with my daughter, who is mentally retarded, I notice that some people stare at her. I wish I could say to them, "Please don't stare! This child has feelings, too. Your curious glances are making her unhappy. Please look away, and as you go down the street, why not thank God for your own good mind and good health?"

But few people stare, I'm glad to say. Most of them, even total strangers, are immediately kind. The neighborhood druggist pauses before prescriptions for a friendly word, the postman takes time to listen to my child's "secrets," and the cop on the corner always reserves a king-size smile and wave for my little girl.

Maybe someday everyone we meet will be kind and understanding.—R. L. S., Newport News, Va.

There's Good in Everybody

I have a younger sister who is constantly criticizing others behind their backs. She is popular enough and a lot of fun, but this one bad habit often depresses me.

One of the greatest men I have known always treated people as if he had a secret conviction they were really royalty in disguise. He was one of those gallants who would gladly have laid down his life for his beloved royal family.

To me it's a much richer and more rewarding experience to look for the good in people, not for their faults. Once you make it a habit to do that, it's amazing to find how wonderful they are.—J. K. Wenatcher, Wash.

This Mother Grades Child's "Homework"

My daughter is a first-grader with normal tendencies to misbehave and escape responsibilities.

So I have devised a "Home Report Card" which has done much to improve her conduct.

Listed on the card are such points as these: Feeds Pets, Does Tasks Willingly and Speedily, Accepts Correction Cheerfully, Polishes Shoes Regularly, Picks Up after Self without Reminders.

The weekly grading of this Report Card is a big event as my little student either glows with pride or promises to do better next week. The card furnishes an excellent opportunity to show her certain specific instances where improvements could be made or to compliment her for good deeds.

This once-a-week discussion is much more effective than constant urging or criticizing. The promise of a reward for a Report Card with all A's is a challenge to her to strive continuously for perfection.—Mrs. C. W. Pugh, Bronck, Texas.

Can YOU Retire on Social Security?

by William J. Motteson

Director of insurance division, American Institute for Economic Research, and author of the book, "What Will Social Security Mean to You?"

THE ORIGINAL Social Security Act included a scheme whereby all employed persons would be forced to save for their old age in order to assure them a minimum income after retiring. But today, in actual practice, only those who have substantial savings or some other source of income can afford to retire.

Despite recent benefit increases, few can live on their Social Security pensions alone; and if the dollar continues to depreciate, only those with ample funds of their own will be able to afford to retire.

Security does not consist of having someone else take care of you. It is best provided by fostering conditions under which individuals, through their own efforts, can provide for their own futures.

The law as now amended provides life insurance and retirement pensions for more than 84 percent of America's workers. After the worker has paid taxes into the plan for a specified period, his dependents become eligible for certain benefits should he die. The worker himself and some dependents also become eligible for payments if he retires at age 65 or older and his earnings cease or decrease substantially.

To finance these benefit payments, you as a worker pay a two percent tax on the first $4,200 of your annual income, and your employer contributes a like amount.

How to calculate benefits

Calculating the benefits to which a particular worker is entitled is a tricky affair. But basically all payments depend on your average monthly earnings and the length of time you paid Social Security taxes.

Supplementary benefits may be payable to your dependents or survivors. The amount of these payments also depends on the amount of your contribution.

The accompanying table will help you estimate the Social Security benefits accruing to you and your family if you are currently and fully covered. After finding your income bracket in the left-hand column, read-across to find the approximate benefits you have earned.

From the table you will see that even if your earnings put you in the top bracket, the Government will pay you only $109 a month if you quit working at 65 or older. When your spouse also reaches 65, your benefit check will be raised to $163 monthly.

Perhaps you plan to continue working on a part-time basis to supplement your Social Security income. That works out nicely so long as you don't earn more than $1,200 a year. If you do, your Social Security benefits are reduced. After you reach the age of 72, you may draw full benefits no matter how much you earn.

Obviously, most of us cannot rely on Social Security alone to see us through our later years in comfort.

It takes more nowadays

As Morton Bodfish, chairman of the board, First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Chicago, pointed out recently, more and more Americans are living beyond 65. So what might have been adequate provision for old age a generation ago is pitifully inadequate today.

The most important part of a retirement plan is a home that is fully paid for," asserted Bodfish. "Nothing contributes more to emotional stability and happiness in retirement."

As for income, most experts set the figure at 40 percent of average earnings during the last ten years you work. At present prices, about $1,800 a year would be the minimum requirement for a man and wife.

This retirement income may come from several sources: Social Security benefits, part-time work, annuities, earnings on investments, private pension plans, and savings. Remember that Social Security payments are made regardless of your income from savings or investments.

The bank, savings and loan association, broker, and insurance agent in your community all stand ready to help you plan a retirement program suited to your own abilities and needs. They can map out a system of savings and investing to which your family will be able to adjust with a minimum of belt-tightening.

By preparing now, you can make retirement not just the end of your working years, but the beginning of a period as happy and rewarding as any that have gone before.

Jeanne Crain:

HOLLYWOOD MOTHER

by Peer J. Oppenheimer

IN A TOWN NOTED, among other things, for its high divorce rate, Jeanne Crain's happy home life offers a refreshing contrast.

Jeanne's secret of successfully combining marriage and a career is to keep both entirely separate. That's why she doesn't take her children to the set or ask Paul Brinkman, to whom she has been married ten years, to have lunch with her at the studio.

Yet at home she switches so completely from star to wife and mother that her four children don't even know she's in the movies!

Not long ago, the Brinkmans were having lunch at the Farmer's Market when a young fan asked Jeanne for her autograph. After he left, five-year-old Michael said in surprise: "Mommie, did he want you to sign your name because you write so pretty?"

The Brinkmans play some of Jeanne's pictures at home; but the children are so used to home movies that they think these were done the same way.

In keeping her real and reel lives apart, it's inevitable that occasionally one will interfere with the other. When that has happened in the past, Jeanne invariably has decided in favor of her family.

It's the chief reason why she asked 20th Century-Fox to release her from her contract—making three pictures in five months kept her away from her family too long. Instead of signing another term contract, she decided to do one picture a year for Universal-International (her first is the current "Man Without a Star," with Kirk Douglas; her next one will be "The Second Greatest Sex") and to freelance among the studios the rest of the time.

Jeanne believes that the best way to keep a family together is to be together. As a result, since the children started arriving she and her husband have never taken a vacation alone. Instead, they settle for an occasional long week end away from home.

Only when she made "Duel in the Jungle" in Africa did they leave the children behind for any extended period. When she went to Europe for "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," she took along the whole Brinkman clan—Paul Frederick, 8; Michael Anthony, 6; Timothy Peter, 5; and Jeanine Cherie, 3.

There are times when career and family run into a head-on collision. An hour before Jeanne was to meet me for lunch, she telephoned frantically, "I'm sorry I can't make it; the children have the mumps!"

To include the children in as many activities as possible, the Brinkmans choose hobbies and sports in which the whole family can participate. They built a swimming pool because it offered a sport they could all enjoy together. The oldest boys have their own ponies so they can go along when their parents ride horseback.

When I asked her what was the biggest problem in combining a home and a career, Jeanne replied, "It used to be time—enough time to get everything done. I solved that by not admitting that there wasn't time, and just doing it."

This approach sounds almost too simple, but in Jeanne Crain's case it has worked remarkably well for ten years!

Sprinkle 1 cup (4 oz.) moist shredded coconut, cut, over the brown sugar. Fold buttered half of dough over the half sprinkled with brown sugar and coconut. Sift together into the small bowl

Meanwhile, chop the cooled apricots and set aside.

Sift into medium-size bowl and set aside

Feminine Fancy

Deep rich-chocolate, sparkling cherry, delicate peach add color harmony to the appeal of angel-food cake and gelatin salad.

Party-Perfect Salad Molds

Set out to thaw according to directions on package

1 pkg. (12 oz.) frozen sliced peaches

Lightly oil with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil) six 1/2-cup individual molds and set aside to drain.

Drain the peaches, reserving sirup in a 1-cup measuring cup for liquids.

Empty into a bowl contents of
1 pkg. orange-flavored gelatin

If necessary, add to the reserved peach sirup

Water (enough to make 1/4 cup liquid)

Heat until very hot and add to bowl containing gelatin. Stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir into gelatin mixture

1 cup ginger ale

1/4 cup lemon juice

Chill mixture in refrigerator or in pan of ice and water until mixture is slightly thicker than consistency of thick, un-beaten egg white. If mixture is placed over ice and water, stir frequently; if placed in refrigerator, stir occasionally.

Set out

1/2 cup maraschino cherries

1/4 cup blanched almonds

Cut the cherries into halves and coarsely chop the almonds. When gelatin is of desired consistency, blend in the peaches, maraschino cherries, and chopped almonds. Turn into prepared molds and place in refrigerator to chill until firm.

To unmold, loosen top edge of each mold with a knife. Invert mold onto a chilled salad plate. Wet a clean towel in hot water and wring it almost dry. Wrap hot towel around mold for a few seconds only. (If mold does not loosen, repeat.) Repeat procedure for remaining molds.

Garnish with sprigs of water cress.

Cocoa Angel Food Cake

Set out a 10-in. tubed pan. Do not grease the pan.

Measure and pour into a large bowl

1 1/2 cups (about 12) egg whites

Allow egg whites to stand at room temperature at least 1 hr. before beating. This will help to insure greater volume.

Meanwhile, sift together and set aside

1/2 cup sifted cake flour

1/2 cup sugar

1/2 cup cocoa

Add to the egg whites

1/2 teaspoon salt

Beat the egg whites with whisk beater, hand rotary beater, or electric mixer until frothy. Add

1 1/2 teaspoons cream of tartar

Continue beating until rounded peaks are formed and egg whites do not slide when bowl is partially inverted. Sprinkle over batter, 2 tablespoonfuls at a time, and carefully fold in after each addition (do not stir)

1/4 cup sugar

Blend in

1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Sift about 4 tablespoons of the cocoa mixture over the surface of the beaten egg whites and gently fold together. Repeat procedure until all the cocoa mixture has been folded into the batter. Carefully turn batter into pan, rotating pan as batter is poured. Cut through batter with knife or spatula to break large air bubbles.

Bake at 350°F about 45 min. Cake is done if top springs back when lightly touched at center.

Immediately invert pan on tubed end on cooling rack; allow cake to cool completely. (If cake is higher than pan, invert between two cooling racks so top of cake does not touch any surface.)

When cake has cooled completely, cut around tube with a paring knife to loosen cake. Loosen sides with spatula and gently remove cake from pan.

Set out

Chocolate shot

Walnut halves

Prepare

Creamy Cocoa Frosting

Spread the frosting on sides and over top of the cooled cake. Cover sides with the chocolate shot. Arrange the walnut halves on top of cake around the outer edge (see color photo).

One 10-in. tubed cake

Creamy Cocoa Frosting

Sift together into a large bowl

1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

1/4 cup cocoa

Make a well in center. Add, beating until smooth

1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened

2 1/2 tablespoons cream

1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Blend in thoroughly

1 egg yolk

Spread on sides and over top of Cocoa Angel-Food Cake (see color photo).

About 1 cup frosting

Salad Bouquet

Arrange three-cripsed lettuce-leaf cups on each salad plate, leaving space for two or three dainty sandwiches. Fill one-lettuce cup with a scoop of creamy cottage cheese, seasoned if you wish with a flash of chopped chives.

Arrange in the second lettuce cup thin slices and wedges of fresh or canned fruit (or a combination of both) that have been tossed with a creamy fruit-salad dressing.

Pile lightly into the third lettuce cup a medley of cooked and uncooked vegetables that have been marinated in French dressing at least 1 hr. and refrigerated.

Put the salads in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Meanwhile, prepare finger sandwiches. Almost any of your favorite tea sandwiches will do, but for a perfect accompaniment blend quantities of chopped water cress with whipped butter and spread on very thin slices of bread. Form a sandwich and cut each into 3 finger sandwiches. Serve sandwiches on the plates with the salads. Accompany salads with a cruet of French dressing.

Frozen Fruit Salad

Set refrigerator control at coldest operating temperature. Set a bowl and beater in refrigerator to chill. Set out a 1½-qt. mold or large refrigerator tray.

Set aside to drain, reserving sirup for use in other food preparation; contents of 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
(about 1½ cups, drained)

Cut into quarters and set aside to drain
½ cup maraschino cherries
(To avoid pink-tinted salad, drain the cherries thoroughly.)

Set out
½ cup (2 oz.) whole toasted almonds

Set out
¼ cup (about 1 oz.) salted pistachio nuts

Combine in a large bowl 3 tablespoons of the reserved pineapple sirup and 8 oz. cream cheese
Beat until smooth and fluffy. Blend in ¼ cup mayonnaise

Cut into eighths, using scissors dipped frequently in water
24 (6 oz.) marshmallows
Mix into the blended cream-cheese mixture. Mix in the pineapple, cherries, almonds, and pistachio nuts.

Using the chilled bowl and beater, beat until cream is of medium consistency (piles softly)

1 cup chilled whipping cream
Fold into the fruit-cheese mixture.

Turn into the mold or refrigerator tray, place in freezing compartment, and freeze until firm.
3 to 10 servings

Breast of Chicken Enchantée

Set out a 10-in. skillet having a tight-fitting cover.

Set out
1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
½ cup orange juice

Cut into ½-in. cubes and set aside enough cooked ham to yield
1 cup (about ½ lb.) cubed cooked ham

Wipe with a clean, damp cloth, cut off tips of stems, and slice lengthwise through stems and caps of enough fresh mushrooms to yield

1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms
Set mushrooms aside.

Rinse in cold water (do not soak) and pat dry with absorbent paper

4 chicken breasts (about 1½ lbs.)
(If chicken is frozen, thaw according to directions on package.) To coat chicken evenly, shake 1 piece at a time in a plastic bag containing a mixture of

½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper

Heat in the skillet over low heat.

½ cup butter or margarine
Place chicken breasts skin-side down in the skillet. To brown chicken breasts on both sides, turn pieces as necessary with tongs or two spoons. When chicken is evenly browned, remove from skillet; set chicken breasts aside to keep warm. Add mushrooms to the skillet and cook slowly, turning occasionally and moving with a spoon. Cook until mushrooms are lightly browned. Add to the mushrooms in the skillet the cubed ham and a mixture of ¼ cup of the pineapple juice, 6 tablespoons of the orange juice, and

1 clove garlic, finely minced or crushed in a garlic press

Add the cubed chicken to the skillet, cover, and simmer 25 to 30 min., or until the pieces of chicken are tender when pierced with a fork. Occasionally spoon sauce over the chicken breasts.

Meanwhile, cook according to directions on package, contents of 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen cut green beans

Gently break block of beans apart with a fork or spoon while cooking. When beans are tender, drain, if necessary.

When chicken is tender, remove pieces from the skillet to a warm serving dish. Add the cooked beans to the mixture remaining in the skillet. Gently mix together to coat beans thoroughly. Spoon mixture in the skillet over the chicken pieces and set aside to keep warm.

Pour into the skillet the remaining ¼ cup pineapple juice and the 2 tablespoons orange juice. Heat thoroughly. Stirring vigorously with a French whip, whisk beater, or fork, blend in

½ cup thick sour cream
Cook over low heat 3 to 5 min., or until thoroughly heated; do not boil. Pour mixture in serving dish.

People still have some strange misconceptions about the cause and treatment of a common ailment that plays no favorites.

THE U. S. PUBLIC HEALTH Service says that Americans will contract more than half a billion colds this year! On bad days, about 20 million of us will sniffle and sneeze. And the common cold will cost us an uncommon five billion dollars! Hand-in-glove with these fantastic figures go the strange misconceptions some of us have about the ailment. For example:

1. Colds can be caused by cold air and drafts. Temperature changes may lower your resistance and leave you more susceptible, but they cannot actually cause a cold.
2. Husky persons get fewer colds than thin persons. Colds strike regardless of build. The best safeguards are a balanced diet, sunshine and fresh air; exercise, adequate rest, ventilated and humidified rooms, and avoidance of contamination.

3. You should "stuff a cold and starve a fever." It's a good idea to drink more fruit juices and water, but not to overeat. The cold victim's diet should include plenty of proteins, minerals, and vitamins A and C. Going without food will not reduce fever.

4. Warm clothing, rubbers, and a muffler will prevent your catching cold in nasty weather. These precautions may not be enough if your resistance is low. Even anxiety or emotional stress can predispose some people to colds.

5. Colds are caught most frequently in damp climates. The greatest number of colds each year is reported from the North Central states, with the highest rate in Chicago. Atlantic Coast states, where humidity is high, report a low frequency of colds.

6. You can sweat away a cold by smothering yourself in blankets and taking foot baths and hot drinks. Excessive perspiration may be harmful and should be avoided. It won't cure a cold.

7. Your children will have fewer colds if their tonsils are removed. Frequent colds do not justify removal of tonsils. Surveys show that children who had many colds before their tonsils were taken out had just as many afterwards.

8. Crowded places like schools and theaters are the principal source of contamination. It's wise to avoid crowds, but a recent study disclosed that 75 percent of all colds originate in the home.

9. Cats, dogs, and other household pets are sources of infection. Colds are contagious, but they can be transmitted only by men or monkeys—no other animals are vulnerable to the cold virus.

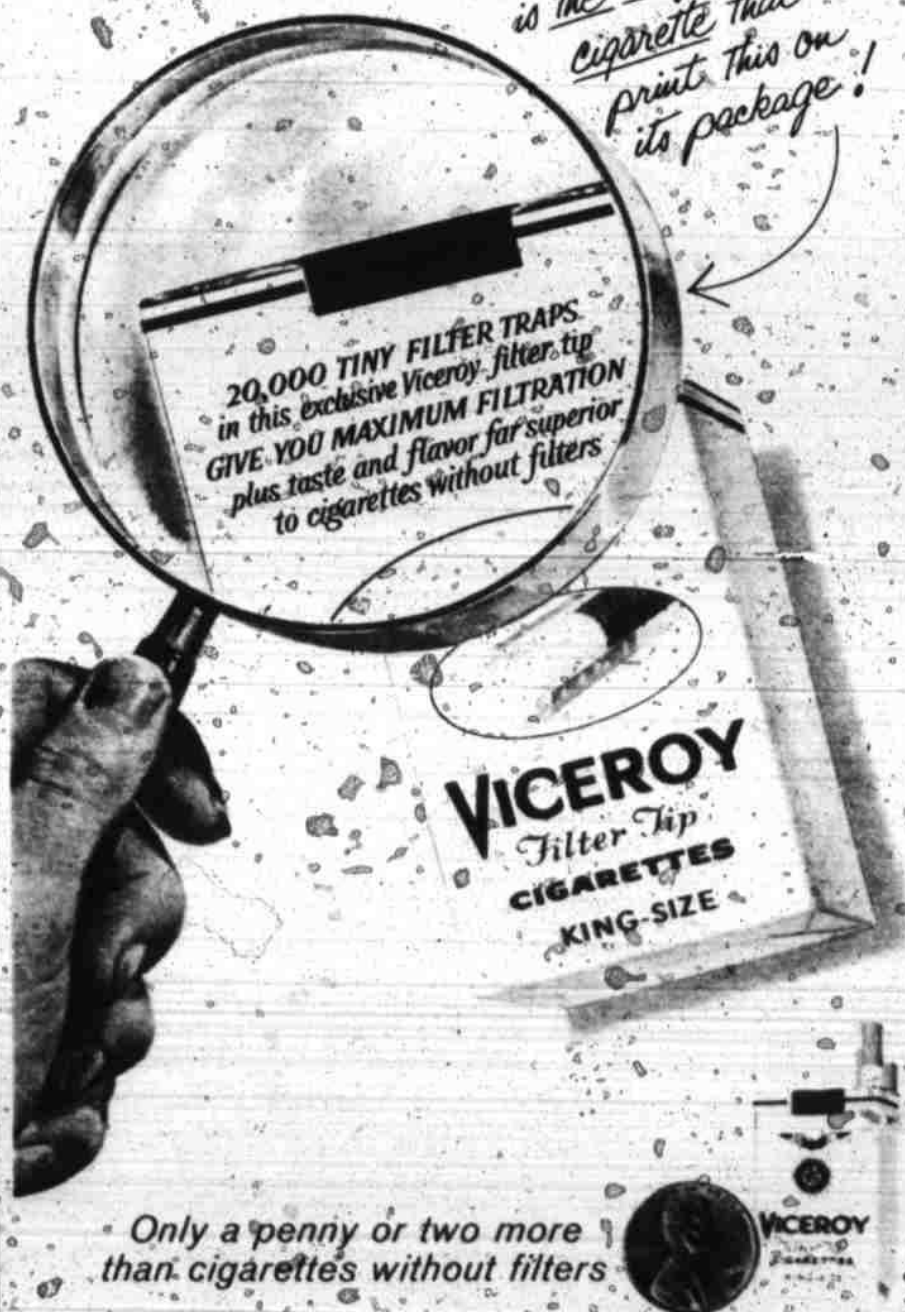

10. Doctors prescribe antibiotics, such as penicillin, to cure colds. Actually, they prescribe penicillin for the secondary bacterial infections which may follow colds. Colds are caused by a virus, and antibiotics kill only bacteria.

An Interesting Game

Have about 24 small wooden blocks cut about one-half inch square on all sides, or use 24 little cubes of sugar. Put the name of a girl, or a boy, on two sides of six different blocks. If it's a St. Patrick's Day party, draw a shamrock on two sides of six other blocks, draw a derby on two sides of six more blocks coloring them green. Divide the blocks equally among the players and give points in throwing the blocks. If the girl's or boy's name appears on top, they get 25 points, for the derby or shamrock on top they get 15 points. Each player gets three throws each round.

Whatever the occasion is, use symbols for that occasion—like Valentine's Day, Halloween, Thanksgiving, or Christmas. If it's a party, the boy's or girl's age may be put on six of the blocks and whoever throws a block with the age on top gets three extra throws.

Dear Miss Barrows:

Here is my story:
Sinbad the Sailor
Once there was a little boy sailor named Sinbad. He was a good little sailor. One day he was out in a boat sailing to the dock when all of a sudden out popped a fish. The fish's name was Pop-pop. Pop-pop was a flying fish and always flew a mile, so that was funny he thought. Sinbad said, "Will you be my friend? I don't have any friends at all."

Pop-pop said, "I will be your friend, but I can't get out of the water unless I fly." Sinbad said, "I will get a big pail and fill it with water." The next day Sinbad went to the river to see Pop-pop. He had a pail with him and he was going to fill it with water. Pop-pop jumped in the pail. Then Sinbad and Pop-pop started to play.

A number of boys and girls can play this game. It's fun! This is how you do it:

Divide into two teams (the more players the better). One team takes the field. The other team is outside. Each has a captain. One of the outside team hops into the field (on one foot!). He tries to tag this inside team. When he succeeds, the tagged one drops out of the game. The hopper, if he touches the ground with more than one foot or with any part of his body, leaves the game, too. His team's turn is then over. If he leaves the field while hopping he is not out of the game. Everyone has fun playing Hop Tag!

A Handkerchief Gift Folder

Bess A. Lee

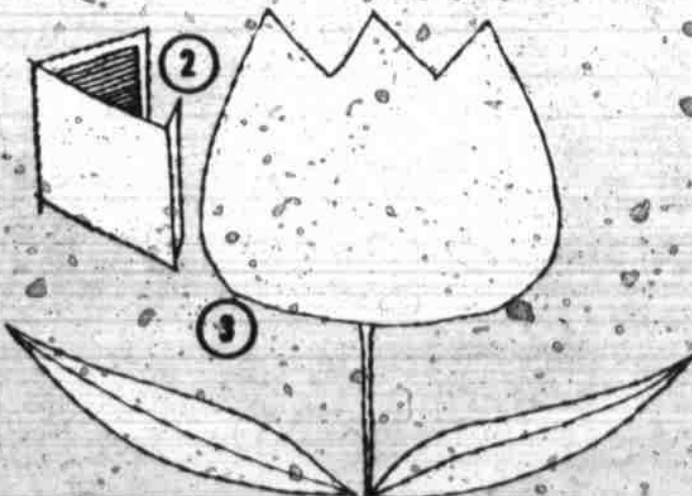

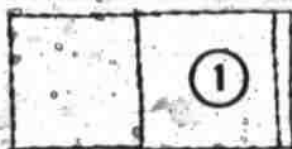

Everyone likes to receive a pretty hankie for a gift. Presenting it in a folder makes it more attractive.

The folder is made of colored paper with a tulip cut-out on the front. When the hankie is put inside it will show through the cutout part, making the flower stand out.

To make the folder use a piece of construction paper of a different color than that of the hankie. Measure the handkerchief when folded and cut the paper the same length and twice the width plus 1 1/2 inch for a flap. Fold it to cover the hankie, then bend the flap over the back. The dotted lines in Figure 1 show where the folds come. Figure 2 shows how it looks folded. Trace the big tulip in Figure 3 on the front of the folder, or draw a flower design of your own. Color the leaves and stem green. Then cut out the flower. Draw wavy lines around the edge of the folder in a different color and write a greeting below it. Then put the handkerchief inside, fold the flap over the back and fasten it down with a piece of gummed tape.

How to Keep Your Credit Good

by Irv Leiberman

A YOUNG husband in Cleveland liked to boast of his spot-cash policy. "As long as I live," he kept telling his wife, "we won't owe a cent."

Sneering at friends who bought furniture on credit, he refused to let his wife open charge accounts at local shops.

It wasn't until she fell dangerously ill that he realized the importance of having a good credit rating. Since local banks didn't know him, they refused to loan him the $1,000 needed for medical bills. The young husband was almost frantic before he scraped together the money from friends.

When his wife recovered, he promptly opened a savings account, arranged for a small loan, and was careful to pay installments on schedule to prove his reliability.

With the high cost of living, credit becomes more important every day. But this does not mean that Mr. and Mrs. America should go on an installment-buying splurge. Nor does it mean that they must forego the new washing machine or stove they really need. It does mean that they must understand what credit buying involves, to be sure of getting the most for each dollar.

Dena Martin's case, for example, illustrates how to bills annoyed her husband.

"I pay eventually, so what's the difference?" she told herself—and her husband.

But that's where Dena made treat your charge account if you value your credit rating.

The fruit bowl in Dena's pantry was always full of bills, slips showing purchases, notes from the gas company, the milkman, polite requests for payment from various stores. Dena was a nice woman, liked by all, but her laxity about a big mistake. It does make a difference if she is slow in paying her bills. In the files of her local credit bureau, she is a marked woman.

A Credit Bureau keeps tab on every credit transaction you make—the date each account was opened, highest credit rating granted, accounts now owing, the period during which they have been outstanding, and the length of time it usually takes you to pay.

The Bureau knows whether any account of yours has ever been closed for slow payment, what judgments have been filed against you, and whether you've been bankrupt.

The records also hold personal information, which show the number of dependents, positions held by members of a household, their salaries, the times they have moved, the rent they pay.

Since the rating of a husband and wife go hand in hand, a woman can ruin her husband's personal credit rating when she puts off paying her household accounts. His credit record is very important if he decides to start his own business, and if he's working for someone else, his wife may spoil his chances of advancement, for employers have a habit of investigating an employee's record.

Take the case of the young Michigan woman who found out the hard way how important it is to maintain a good credit rating. Her husband was transferred to a small town in Illinois while they still owed several hundred dollars on furniture they had bought on credit. A new baby had caused them to fall behind on payments; now the cost of moving made it impossible to catch up.

Martha didn't want to worry her husband with dunning notices from the store; she was sure they could resume paying once they were settled in their new home. But after they had moved and while she was entertaining guests one day, the doorbell rang. A truck driver had come to take back the furniture, including the chairs her guests were using.

In America today, credit is an essential part of our standard of living. Properly used, installment buying, charge accounts, or loans from banks and finance companies can help you acquire furniture and appliances to maintain your home's efficiency. They can also help you accumulate the wardrobe, automobile, and vacation funds that make living more enjoyable. So treat your credit rating kindly—and it will do the same for you!
