This was held in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church April 16 at 3 p.m.

Registering the guests was Mrs. Evan Sitter, and special favors for seniors were pinned on by Mrs. June Woods.

Presiding at the lovely tea table of yellow and white, serving tea and petits fours, were Mesdames Tony Smitherman, Bob Holwick, Forrest Hupp and Jim Allison, who were the hostesses for the club.

Mrs. Dale Glass, president, welcomed the guests. The topic for study this year has been "Political History of Countries Around the World," and as a climax of the study, the costumes of women of these countries were shown.

Mrs. Mary Tom Riley was the narrator for the show as 16 beautiful girls paraded across the stage as Mrs. Norma Curry played appropriate music.

The sari of India modeled by Genevive Webb, was of irridescent pure silk about six yards in length. She showed how it was worn, then removed and folded it to fit into a tiny bag.

The dainty pink china doll in pink brocade was protrayed by Donna Glass; the upper class lady by Jean Orrick, and the peasant class by Jackie Groves. Kay Parr showed how the militant girl from Israel looked, and the authentic head scarf worn by both men and women. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner was in the news recently when he assured Southern political and educational leaders that his department was not trying to impose a formula of "instantaneous desegregation" of every teaching staff.
The move was seen as an attempt to head off a full-scale revolt by Southern school districts. Part of the new opposition in the South is said to stem from a belief that the Office of Education is about to press for more integration in the South than exists in other regions.
