After 15 Years In McLean

McLean Hospital Will Close Doors Tomorrow

The McLean Hospital will close its doors Friday, concluding 15 years of service to McLean, according to Coronado Community Hospital administrator Norman Knox. The administrator made the formal announcement Tuesday afternoon at a meeting with city officials and other interested parties.

Knox said that Hospital Corporation of America will continue to recruit physicians for McLean, and that the facility had 12 months to reopen before losing its license, if a physician can be located.

Simmons reported that he and HCA officials have been in contact with several Viet Namese doctors about locating in McLean, and that one had shown interest in the town.

Gray county commissioner Ted Simmons told the group that he felt that HCA had done everything in its power to help the hospital. Knox told the group that HCA felt an obligation to do everything possible to maintain service in McLean.

The corporation has upgraded the McLean facility. Knox said, and maintained staffing at great expense to HCA. Knox said that some agency nurses have cost HCA $15 to $18 per hour.

Knox explained that to maintain a hospital, an emergency room must be staffed 24 hours a day to comply with state law, and that one doctor could not handle that kind of responsibility.

"I've talked with several doctors in Pampa about coming down here to give relief, but no one has volunteered," he said. "We (HCA) will do everything in our power to reopen the hospital," Knox said, "but to be honest I'm not very optimistic."

Knox said that Dr. Harold Fabian had stated that he would remain in McLean and conduct a clinic practice. Dr. Fabian said that he had been talking to some people in Pampa to provide care for his patients when he takes some time off.

No final arrangements have been made at this time, he said. Thomas Nursing Home administrator Bill Thomas noted that the Pampa Hospital maintains an emergency room 24 hours a day, seven days a week, if anyone in McLean should have a severe emergency.

Lionel Berry, an independent consultant for HCA, told the group that his company had been gathering statistics for some time about the different options for maintaining health care in McLean. Although the report was not final, Berry said, he has decided that the rural to urban has caused many of the problems. Berry said that the beds be reassigned to the Pampa facility.

Knox said that HCA will continue to provide clinic facilities for Dr. Fabian, including lab, X-ray, and some book-keeping.

Another physician who would locate in McLean would be given the same clinic privileges.

Knox said HCA would be willing to pay a physician moving expenses and even talk about a guarantee salary for a few months if a doctor could be found who was willing to locate in McLean.

Dr. Fabian noted that stringent government regulations have put a tremendous burden on small hospitals. "The regulations may have assured better health care, but they have sure closed down a lot of hospitals in the state," Fabian said.

Paramedic Jim McDonald was asked by Knox if anyone else in McLean would be interested in training as a paramedic. Dr. Fabian said that was one way the community could help, if the town was willing to help pay for someone to complete paramedic training.

McDonald said that a person would spend about two days a week for one year and spend about $1500 to get paramedic training now.

Attending the meeting at McLean City Hall were council members Ruth Magee, George

Terry, Miro Pakan, Boyd Meador, and Dale Glass; Knox, Berry, McDonald, Simmons, Dr. Fabian, Thomas, Mike Johnson, Roy McMullen, and Linda Haynes.

School Board Approves Bus Policy

During its regular session Monday night at the school business office, the McLean School Board approved a new bus policy, approved a report on the five-year evaluation for the school, and approved the easement for city gas lines to cross school property.

The new bus policy gives several requirements for the safety of the bus children and the conduct of bus drivers under various circumstances. The policy requires that buses will be loaded only at the high school parking lot, and that a bus will not be moved until its loading is completed.

The board approved the closing of Rowe Street between the high school and elementary school for approximately 30 minutes while buses are being loaded in the afternoon. The McLean City Council agreed last month to allow the closing of the street for the projected period, and to install poles and ropes to facilitate the closing.

The new policy requires teachers to escort students in the lower grades to the bus stop.

Superintendent Carl Dwyer presented a report which he will send to the Texas Education Agency concerning progress on McLean's five-year plan. The report stated that MISD has achieved some of the goals for facility up-grading, but that the goal for complete testing of students has not been reached. The board approved the report. The board also approved the city's request to cross school property to install gas lines.

Early in the meeting, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Day appeared before the board to ask the board to investigate a scheduling change in the high school which has caused their son to be placed in one class by himself. The board listened to the Days, and then later in the meeting decided to try to work out a compromise on the situation which will benefit the most people.

Dwyer told the board that he thought they should take one section of the school board policy each meeting to revise, as was suggested in the accreditation report which the school received recently. (See SCHOOL ACCREDITATION.

Page 1 of this paper for further details on the accreditation check).

The board voted to purchase the film of the band marching contest, which will cost between $117 and $135.

The board went into executive session to discuss personnel, and discussed a possible vacancy in the superintendent's job and a replacement.

Attending the regular session of board were members Jim Allison, Tony Smitherman, Darryl Herndon, J.C. McAnear, June Suggs, and Lloyd Hunt; principals Ron Cummings and Dorman Thomas; business manager Shirley Johnson; and visitors Johnny Day, Anita Day, Charles Milan, and Aven Hook.

Kiowas Ax Tigers' District Hope

By Lisa Patman

Booker was on the warpath Friday night, axing McLean 35-6 in a battle that cinched the District 1-1A title for the Kiowas.

McLean was 3-0 in district action going into the game, while Booker had racked up a 4-0 loop record. The Tigers, with three key players either injured or ill, were held to 98 total yards, 81 on the ground as Booker's Kiowas gained 333 yards total offense.

Tiger Brock Crockett was out for the entire game, having developed pneumonia earlier in the week. Dusty Sanders played, although he was ill Friday, and James Matheny was hit in the second quarter and saw no further action in the game.

The Booker roll started halfway into the first quarter as Gary Mills made a 49 yard run for the Kiowa's first score. With the extra point kick good, Booker led 7-0. Two minutes later Mills brought in another touchdown, and Rory Wilmoth scored the conversion, bringing Booker to 15 points, while McLean remained at zero.

The second quarter saw McLean making an attempt at a comeback, but a solid Kiowa defense game gave them no headway. Tiger James Matheny, one of McLean's leading ground gainers, having suffered a back injury in last week's action against Miami, was re-injured and taken out of the game. He missed the final half of the night's action.

Booker left the field at half-time with 21 points under their belts. Kiowa Mark Bechtold having scored on a 27 yard run.

During the final half Booker saw scoring territory twice more, once in the third quarter on a 12-yard run by Mills, and again in the fourth when Bechtold was over from the five. With two kicks by Jay Craighead called good, Booker led 35-0.

McLean's Tigers finally gained momentum during the last few minutes of the game, driving steadily down the field with Terry Todd and Dusty Sanders carrying the ball most of the way. Finally, after Sanders set the ball on the Booker 3 on a quarterback sneak, Todd was in for the touchdown. With a minute left in the game, an incomplete pass left McLean without the bonus point, and the game was Booker's, 35-6.

"We were mentally ready until we found out about Dusty and Brock," Coach Jack Dorsett explained "then it was just like a shock. It was a real letdown. We really didn't get back up.

"We had lots of injury trouble," he added. "Matheny got hurt, Kincannon hyperextended his elbow, Terry Todd got a hard hit on his knee, and

Dr. David Woods Council Passes Resolution Will Conduct Shot Clinic

Dr. David Woods, local veterinarian, will give domestic pets rabies vaccine at the McLean Fire Station Nov. 22 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. The vaccination clinic is sponsored by the City of McLean.

All residents are urged to bring their pets to the fire station for shots. Mayor Sam Haynes said that all residents should be reminded that Texas state law now requires that all dogs and cats be given a rabies vaccine once a year. Since McLean had so many reports of rabid skunks last summer, it is very important for residents to vaccinate their pets, Haynes said.

The charge for the vaccinations will be $5 for rabies, $6 for distemper, and $7 for Parvo virus, according to Dr. Woods. Pet owners who desire the distemper or Parvo virus shots for their pets should remember that they will have to give the animal a booster in two weeks, if the animal has not been vaccinated before.

Larry Jones, widely-known television evangelist, will conduct a crusade in McLean Nov. 18 through Nov. 23, with services nightly at 7:30 p.m. in the McLean High School auditorium.

The community-wide crusade is sponsored by four McLean churches: First Baptist Church, Assembly of God Church, Pentecostal Holiness Church, and First United Methodist Church. A special feature of the crusade will be the appearance Saturday night of internationally known country singer Wanda Jackson, who will sing at the service.

On the other nights of the crusade, the Royalheirs, one of the top television, radio and recording groups in the gospel music field, will sing. A community choir will also sing at each service.

Jones, a graduate of Oklahoma City University and Phillips Seminary, also attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Moody Bible Institute. He has been involved in full-time evangelism for over 15 years and has conducted over 200 city-wide crusades. He is heard weekly on his syndicated radio and television programs.

Jones and his wife Frances, have two teenagers, Al and Larri Sue. Several members of Jones' crusade team will spend the crusade week in McLean assisting Jones with his ministry. Special events have been planned for the youth of the community.

Lovett librarian, Martha Parker appeared before the council to ask approval for policy requiring a $10 deposit for checking out books by new residents. The council delayed decision on the policy to check the legality of the rule.

City Attorney Don Lane reported to the council in a letter that a disannexation move for the Fish properties was not legal and could not be done. City secretary Stella Lee reported that the pre-application for a Urban Development Action Grant through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission had been completed and sent in. If the pre-application is approved, the City may apply for UDAG funds to help develop industry in the area.

MISD Receives Accreditation Report From State

Monday, the McLean Independent School District received recommendations from a Texas Education Agency accreditation team which visited the local school, Oct. 16.

The accreditation team noted three areas needed for improvement at the school, according to superintendent Carl Dwyer. The report pointed out weaknesses in board policies, teacher certification, and the relevance of in-service training sessions.

Dwyer said that the visiting team noted several strengths of the school during their visit, but did not make formal note of them in their report. "It was a fair report," Dwyer said. "I would like to have had their comments on the positive aspects of the school, but I guess that's not their job."

The accreditation report noted that the school's in-service program was not designed to meet the needs of the teachers for implementation of the five-year priorities plan adopted by the school. The team recommended that in-service days emphasizing the five-year plan be placed earlier in the year for the teachers.

The report stated that although the McLean school board has adopted the Texas Association of School Board's policy book that local policies need to be more explicit.

Concerning certification, the report noted that some teachers did not have teaching certificates in their files, and that some teachers were teaching out of their field in some classes. Dwyer explained that a teacher must have 24 college hours to be qualified to teach a subject; that for example, a science teacher would have to have 24 hours in physics, 24 hours in chemistry, 24 hours in biology, to teach those three classes. Most small schools have to use one science teacher to teach all three subjects, and most teachers do not have that many majors in college.

The report made no recommendation regarding accreditation status, pending a follow-up study in the spring of 1981.

Team members were Joyce Howard and Alfred F. Peters. The report stated in part: "The McLean Independent School District has made significant progress toward improving facilities, as described in the five-year plan and the

What Do They Get Out Of It?

Why would anyone want to be a member of the school board or the city council in a small town? In McLean, school board members receive no money at all for attending meetings; city council members get a small amount for each meeting. They do get to spend anywhere from four to forty hours a month struggling with government regulations, handling thorny personnel problems, fighting to finance a school or a town with low income.

A town or school or hospital the size of the institutions in McLean has to comply with the same types of state and federal rules that institutions in cities as large as Amarillo do. That means that the elected boards of these groups have to figure out some way of understanding and complying with these rules and regulations on tiny budgets.

One state education official was asked how small schools were supposed to comply with one complicated regulation. The state officials replied "There's probably no way. You may have to consolidate."

The federal government comes out every month with new regulations that small cities must comply with, again on midget budgets.

So that is one of the main problems that face a school board member or council member.

And sometimes the problems appear overwhelming. But in McLean, as in many small towns, a few dedicated people are willing to submit themselves to the hassle of meetings, the irritations of petty complaints, the long hours dealing with problems, for one reason. They have a desire to serve their fellow man.

And what thanks do they get? Complaints, back-biting, angry delegations, criticism.

The day may come when good, dedicated people have had enough, when they finally decide "Who needs this?", when they walk out the door.

Citizens should be interested in the way their city and school are run. They should attend meetings to offer constructive criticism, air complaints, and offer suggestions for help. But many of us in McLean have forgotten about the "helpful" part, and view meetings as a place to bully panel members. We have forgotten that the people on these boards are just like us...they are interested in the welfare of the town and the school.

No one tries to become a part of the school board or the city council in a town the size of McLean for financial or social gain. The few who have "an ax to grind" who get elected occasionally, quickly learn the realities of what a school or a city can do.

McLean needs good leadership. We need dedicated people who have the best interests of the community at heart. We need an effective, hardworking city council and school board. We must have good, dedicated people on those boards.

The next time you see a member of the school board or the city council, give him or her a pat on the back. You may not agree with every decision made by each board, but you can still tell the members that you appreciate their hard work and dedication.

pace with inflation, and my mind is somewhere back in the Sixties when prices were considerable lower.

I bought a child's pair of pajamas last week, and chose a brand that my daughters have worn since the oldest was a baby 20 years ago. Now children's pajamas should cost $7.98, right? Or at the most, maybe $12.98. These plain little pajamas, the kind that I have bought at a reasonable price for years, now sell for $24 a pair!!!

I nearly fainted when the clerk handed me the bill. I don't think I'm a stingy person, and certainly no one has ever accused me of being frugal, but that price is absolutely ridiculous.

Maybe in some parts of the country where most workers are on a salary and get cost of living increases, the rising prices are not so horrible. But here in the Panhandle, and especially in McLean where the majority of the citizens are either senior citizens or are farmers and ranchers who are at the bottom of the totem pole on prices, inflation is beginning to hurt, and hurt badly.

The only solution that I know for most of us is to simply want less and watch every penny closely. We can sure save on the price of gas by shopping at home as much as possible, and we also keep the money circulating by shopping right here.

My brother-in-law has always told me that it is very easy for a family to go up on the economic scale, but it is almost impossible for a family to learn to cut down. With inflation rising every day, we're all going to be in the same boat of learning to cut down, and do with less.

Who knows, it might be fun!

"We were sure happy to see all the McLean fans that went such a long way for the game. We were just disappointed that they didn't get to see McLean win."

"We may be taking a skeleton crew to the Follett game," Dorsett noted. Frank Todd is out sick. Matheny won't be able to see any more action, Crockett is still sick. But we'll be ready for Follett. We're still happy about how we've played this year, and we would sure like another victory. I think we're going to bounce back and play a good ballgame. We'll have some real competition--Follett is bigger and as fast as Booker. They're three and one in district, and so are we, so essentially we'll be playing for second in district, assuming that Booker beats Groom. Booker's quarterback was injured in the Booker game two weeks ago and hasn't played since, so he may be out of the action. And we'll have a freshman starting this week; Kevin McDowell will be in for Matheny. We expect some real competition. I hope the fans continue to support us with their attendance."

McLean will travel to Follett Friday for final district action. The game is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

annual evaluation report. The instructional program and testing program are being revised and developed in terms of essential learner objectives; however, these processes have not progressed beyond the beginning stage. The district has the potential to achieve its priorities and establish a good program if a consistent, united effort is made by the Board of Trustees, administrative staff, and faculty."

The report then listed areas of concern and suggestions for improvement and corrective actions required.

Dwyer said that some of the minor recommendations have already been implemented and that the other weaknesses noted will be corrected before the spring reassessment.

Accreditation for a school is necessary in Texas for the school to receive state money, Dwyer said.

Two Accidents Reported On I-40 Last Week

Two accidents occurred near McLean last week, both on Interstate Highway 40. Nov. 7 at 10 a.m. a pickup truck driven by 62-year-old Edmond Hapton of Riniera, Ariz. struck another pickup, driven by cLean resident Melvin Baker, about half a mile west of McLean. Both vehicles were traveling east on the highway in the outside lane when the accident occurred.

Hampton was ticketed for failure to control speed. Damage to both vehicles was minimal.

The second accident happened Nov. 9 at 3:30 p.m. on I-40 near Foshee's Texaco station. William Tipton, 67, of Topeka, Kansas turned from the right-hand lane in front of a 1979 Mack truck tractor semi, driven by Melvin Ferguson of Troy, Tenn. Ferguson, who was traveling in the center lane, pulled into the left turn lane to offset collision, but was unable to avoid contact with the Tipton vehicle. Tipton, who was pulling a camper home, was cited for an improper turn. The Tipton vehicle suffered damage, but was driven away from the scene. No injuries were reported in either accident.

School Announces Street Closing Each Afternoon

Rowe Street, between the McLean Elementary School and McLean High School, will be closed each afternoon for approximately 30 minutes while buses are loading, according to Superintendent Carl Dwyer.

Dwyer said that the policy was devised by the administration and approved by the board of trustees to help insure the safety of the children who ride the buses.

The following procedures will be followed:
Rowe Street will be closed north of the south entrance to the high school parking area 30 minutes before school is dismissed until the buses have departed the loading area.

The area from the south end of the elementary building to the gymnasium will be closed 30 minutes before school is dismissed until the buses have departed the loading area.

Teachers, students and patrons departing from the high school parking area shall use the south exit on Rowe Street. Cars should not leave the area between the high school building and the band hall.

Sea Grant Program awarded funds to continue projects

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University's Sea Grant College Program has been awarded $1.73 million from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) to continue its research, education and public service efforts.

The federal grant, announced by Secretary of Commerce Philip M. Klutznick, will be augmented by state funds and other sources, providing a total budget of $3,039,876 in support of 26 Sea Grant activities in 1980-81.

The Texas A&M Sea Grant College Program, now in its 13th year, conducts marine education and training, fisheries research and seafood technology, studies in mariculture, coastal and ocean engineering, environmental quality, marine extracts and biomedicals, safety in the marine environment, and provides marine advisory and information service.

Program Director Fennan D. Jennings said the funding includes support for research at the University of Texas Marine Science Institute at Port Aransas.

Use Chain Saws Safely:

Each year some 23,000 persons require hospital emergency room treatment for chain saw injuries. Two of every three chain saw injuries to operators and bystanders are caused by inadvertent direct contact with the chain saw blade due to a failure to follow recommended operating procedures.

Chain saw accidents occur in many ways. For instance, an operator may reach across or hold work too near the moving saw. Or, he may lose control of the saw through loss of footing, sudden turns, climbing above ground level, shifting of the saw's weight while cutting at or above waist level, or through chain saw "kickback."

Kickbacks can occur when something touches the top of the saw blade, causing the saw to jump or kick back at the operator. Kickbacks may also occur when the chain is misfired

Beware Of Mail Fraud, Service Warns

Consumer complaints about work-at-home promotions that take money from those who can least afford it have prompted the Postal Service to assign 18 postal inspectors to spend all their time investigating that type of fraud, according to the postmaster. The postmaster made the announcement in connection with Consumer Protection Week, October 5-11. Although reluctant to label all work-at-home promotions fraudulent, the Postal Inspection Service has yet to find an envelope stuffing offer that is legitimate. "Postal inspectors haven't been able to identify a single operation that produces anywhere near the kind of income claimed in most advertising," the postmaster said. "My advice is to avoid them all."

The goal of the nationwide assignment of postal inspectors concentrating all their efforts on work-at-home investigations is to shut down all operations that are fraudulent or misleading. The most common work-at-home promotion seeks people to stuff envelopes even though envelope-stuffing today is a highly mechanized operation. Literally thousands fall victim each year, the postmaster said, despite the fact that many people realize no company could afford to pay people to perform such a chore by hand. "Unfortunately, it is the elderly or low income people who lose money to these con men," the postmaster said, "and that makes this kind of scheme particularly disgusting."

The postmaster suggested the next time readers see an ad for a work-at-home scheme, they clip it out and send it to him so postal inspectors can be among the first to examine it.

Loose Marbles

by Lisa Patman

Somewhat my life has become boring, boring, boring. The zest, the zing, the carefree air that I always had imagined would come along at this time in my life, has passed me by. I find myself in the proverbial rut--in itself a boring place to be. Woe is me. Think I'm exaggerating? Listen to this. Just last night I was awakened from a deep sleep by the exciting sounds of a cat throwing up on my bed. If that's not dull enough for you, get this. The dream the nauseous cat disturbed was one in which I was giving a friend a drink of distilled water. That's it--distilled water. Not seductively offering a glass of wine to Redford, not even saving the world from deadly chemical poisoning by destroying a menacing spy, just handing a friend a glass of water and saying "Try this, it's distilled." I haven't yet decided which was more fun, the water dream or the sick cat. It's kind of a toss up, if you'll excuse the expression. Really, it's almost too much to bear. Do J.R. and Sue Ellen stay home all the time watching old movies on television? Would Lisa spend her Saturday night giving a permanent to a friend? Do the Waltons think a game of Scrabble is a real biggie? I'd even bet that the high point of Gomer Pyle's day wouldn't be that his car started one more time. And it's pretty sad when your life isn't more exciting than Gomer Pyle's. I guess I should have known it would turn out this way. After all, I had ample warning. I should have figured it was going to be like this when that palm reader looked at my hand and yawned. It's hard to bore a palm reader.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

The neighbors and friends of Rish Phillips went out and gathered his crop Wednesday. Mr. Phillips has had sickness in his family the entire fall, making it impossible for him to attend to his farm work.

The McLean Cowboys went to Miami yesterday to play a game of football with the local Legion Post. We have not learned the results of the game.

Leo Heasley of this place and Miss Jewel Shawn of Hydrow, Okla., were married at Hydrow Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Heasley arrived in McLean Wednesday and will make this their home. The News extends congratulations.

70 YEARS AGO
A. G. RICHARDSON, EDITOR
To the Public: We the undersigned warn the public not to hunt in our pastures—Henry Thut, J.E. Williams, Bruce Bull, B.E. Chery, Geo. H. Saunders, Geo. Thut, Emmett M. L. Laugham, W.H. Bates.

At the regular meeting of the city council Friday afternoon of last week Mayor Patterson offered his resignation as mayor, which was accepted rather reluctantly by the board. In his stead the board elected J.L. Crabtree, who refused to serve, and then elected C.S. Rice. Mr. Rice agreed to undertake the duties of the office until the next regular election which will occur in April. J.A. Grundy was elected to succeed Mr. Rice as councilman.

D.N. Massay, D.B. Veatch and S.T. Patterson, the latter of Commerce, were out the latter part of last week for a hunt in the big Mars pasture and were rewarded by bringing down a big buck deer. Mr. Massay was the lucky man this time and brought the game down the first shot. Regarding the tooth-someness thereof we can testify for we had the pleasure of devouring a liberal "Mess" of it.

The most popular man in the city is beginning to get numerous. So far there are four of them already put forward but the vote is light in the contest for the pretty hand painted pillow to be given away by the ladies of the Presbyterian church. The vote just now is: J.R. Hindman-8, Arthur Erwin-4, A.R. Guill-4, Dr. E.D. Langley-4. If you cannot pick a winner out of this bunch of popular young fellows name someone else and give them a run for their money. It only costs 25 cents for four votes and who would let "Pa" Hindman carry off as pretty prize as that for two bits. Buy your votes at the Erwin drug store.

Lefors Club Plans Program

The Lefors Extension Home-maker Club will host a special program on November 14 at 1:30 p.m. in the Lefors Civic Center featuring Mildred Prince, home economist with Southwestern Public Service. The public is invited to attend this free food demonstration featuring recipes from the new fall recipe booklet published by Southwestern Public Service. Make your plans to attend.

I had what the Quakers call "a concern" back in the Sixties...not a thing I worried about consciously but worried in little flashes from time to time.

We used to go from Los Angeles over to El Segundo a couple of times a month to visit my aunt and uncle who had two teenage daughters, Kathy and Ruthie.

I thought those two teenagers growing up in that turbulent decade had it all, or at least all that we are led to believe life is going to give us...an ideal existence, loving parents, money, trips to the beach, vacations, cheerleaders making pom poms on a Saturday afternoon.

Those were the years of campus riots, burned buildings and Viet Nam. It didn't seem to touch my cousins, especially Ruthie. She laughed, sang, and played her way through the world.

And I would sometimes think "Wow, when something harsh shows up, she'll fall apart." Her best friend, Nancy, spent weekends and summers with Ruthie. They really lived, those two. Steve, the boy next door, fit right into the group. Life was good.

Nancy grew up, married, had a little boy. Steve fell in love with a pretty girl, got married. Ruthie went to college for awhile, and soon joined the married crowd. Last summer they had their second baby, a little girl.

When Nancy's baby was two years old, her husband discovered a small knot on the child's head one day. It was a fast growing malignancy. His last year wasn't pretty, with confusion, loss of body control before the end. Nancy made it pretty well, coped with it, lived through it, made a life for her son. Friends Ruthie and Steve gave a lot of support.

Last year Steve's young wife died of leukemia. Ruthie, her husband Lynn and their friend Nancy helped him through it. He made it.

Two weeks ago Lynn went to the doctor. A small lump on a testicle was diagnosed as cancer, something you don't read about a lot but rather common in young men in their late 20's.

Although it can be cured if detected early, it is too late for Lynn. It has spread throughout his body.

And that girl that I worried about in the Sixties...well, she's making it just pretty well, getting through each day, giving him hope, giving thanks for what she has.

Seems funny now that I worried about those kids. Ruthie, Nancy, and Steve. Life showed up at the door. It was open. I think they'll make it.

A young man who does not have what it takes to perform military service is not likely to have what it takes to make a living.

John Fitzgerald Kennedy. Be nice to people on your way up because you'll meet them on your way down.
