Tigers Host Premier Valley Team In Scrimmage

The McLean Tigers hosted number-one ranked Valley in a tough scrimmage Friday night at Duncan Field in McLean, and turned in an outstanding performance. The speedy Patriots only managed to score twice against the Tigers first string, scoring two more times against the Tigers when they had several second-stringers on the field. Those two touchdowns were called back on penalties. The awesome Patriots scored almost at will the week before against the Groom Tigers, according to one of the McLean fans.

The scrimmage began and ended with the junior varsities of each school running a series of plays against each other, as the coaches evaluated the new players.

"We've been watching the films," Coach Jack Dorsett said Monday "and you can't imagine how much we improved over the week before."

Dorsett said that the Tigers won the scrimmage on the line. "Our line improved a hundred percent since the first scrimmage," he said. "Valley's speed and quickness is what got us."

"Valley deserves to be ranked number one in the state," Dorsett said. "They will probably be the best team we will see all year for speed and quickness."

Dorsett said that the coaches will work with the local boys on eliminating arm tackling and just generally getting the Tigers in top shape during the two week hiatus before the Tiger's first regular season game.

The Tigers open Sept. 12 at Duncan Field against the Shamrock Irish.

The only injury of the game was to quarterback Dudley Reynolds who suffered a severely sprained ankle. "Dudley should be ready against Shamrock," Dorsett said. "We would miss him badly at defense too if he couldn't play, but the injury looks like it will heal in plenty of time for the opener."

Dorsett also reminded McLean fans that the coaches have season tickets available. Six home games are scheduled for this season. Anyone wishing to purchase season tickets can contact Coach Dorsett, Coach Joe Riley, or Coach Jerry Cook or go to the high school principal's office during school hours.

Alanreed Couple Found Dead At Home

Bill and Sue Crisp were found dead in the front yard of their home near Alanreed Sunday morning about 9 a.m.

A .38-caliber revolver was found on the ground next to Mrs. Crisp's body.

The Gray County Sheriff's Department who is investigating the deaths, made no official ruling on the deaths, but officials say that they do not suspect that a "third party" is involved.

Crisp, 59, was shot three times in the back. Mrs. Crisp, 56, had one bullet wound to the heart.

The bodies were found by a neighbor Don Wilson who drove by the house Sunday morning. He found the couple's bodies between their car and their pickup which were parked in the front yard. The couple had apparently locked their house and were getting into their car to leave for a trip to Albuquerque when the shooting occurred, according to the Amarillo Daily News.

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Stubbs, who live about a mile south of the Crisps, accompanied Wilson to the couple's home to wait for the ambulance and sheriff's deputies to arrive.

Law officers have unofficially set the time of death at about 6 a.m.

Justice of the Peace Dorothy Patterson pronounced the couple dead at the scene and ordered autopsies.

Crisp was a farmer and rancher and also worked for Germania Insurance Co.

Both were members of the First Baptist Church of McLean.

Services for the couple were Tuesday at First Baptist Church in Lockney with the Rev. James Cooper of Lubbock officiating. Crisp was born in Alanreed. He married Dorothy Sue Young in 1940 in Shamrock. The couple moved to Gray County in 1970 from Lone Star.

The couple's survivors include a daughter, Mrs. David Frizzell of Lockney and three grandchildren.

In addition, Mr. Crisp's survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Crisp of McLean; and a sister, Mrs. Joe Hudson of Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Crisp's survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Henry Loter of Lubbock, Mrs. George McCarty of Albuquerque, Mrs. Fred Vaughn of Dumas and Mrs. Murray Boston of Canyon.

Two More Rabid Skunks Found In McLean Area

Two more rabid skunks were identified in the McLean area last week, bringing the total since summer began to six, according to Glen Curry.

Curry said that a skunk killed on the Ernie McCracken place about three miles east of McLean was positively identified as being rabid. Another skunk, killed on the Tommy Cole place about three miles northeast of McLean, was confirmed as rabid this week.

City and health officials have urged all residents to kill all skunks found and bring suspicious animals to Curry for testing by the State Health Department. Officials have also cautioned all pet owners to be sure that all pets are vaccinated for rabies.

Dr. John Galbreath of the State Health Department came to McLean several weeks ago to urge residents to kill skunks and vaccinate pets. He also urged that stray dogs and cats in the area be disposed of to prevent a spreading of the epidemic.

Anyone who finds a skunk should kill the animal, city officials have said. Any resident who needs help in killing a skunk should call Sam Haynes at 779-2947 or 779-2447.

McLean Residents Donate Record Amount To Fund

Twenty-two hours of intense fund-raising by many of the citizens of McLean resulted in all time high total donations from city and area residents to the 1980 Jerry Lewis Telethon.

Donations to the event, which supports the Muscular Dystrophy Association, began coming in at 8 o'clock Sunday evening as the nationally-televised marathon began. By 6 p.m. Monday McLean's total amounted to $1,631.24. The national total was a record $31,103,787. Of that, $183,781 came from the Texas Panhandle viewing area.

In McLean, many of the city's youth participated in the telethon through special events. Sunday night a lock-in at First Baptist Church saw approximately 30 students volunteering to man phones at the pledge center, and forming a bucket brigade along Interstate-40 to collect donations from those travelling through McLean.

Monday morning students began raising more money for the charity by sponsoring a car wash and going door-to-door with their MDA buckets. A talent show Saturday had attracted many local citizens, and donations were collected at that time also. In all, more than $700 was collected through special events, while the remainder came from pledges.

Mrs. Tommy Cole was chairman of the fund-raiser in McLean.

Funds raised by the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon support MDA's research effort and patient care program. The association sponsors more than 750 individual research projects and ten university-based research/clinical centers.

In addition, MDA maintains more than 220 clinics in the United States, including Puerto Rico and Guam, that provide services free of charge to patients afflicted by the 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by the Association.

said. Police believe two other men were involved in the incident, but said the suspect refuses to identify his companions.

OPINIONS

VIEWS ARE WRITTEN BY LINDA HAYNES, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED - IF YOU HAVE AN OPINION ON ANY CURRENT SUBJECT WE WELCOME YOUR SIGNED LETTERS.

Carter, Reagan, Or Anderson?

Very few qualifications are necessary to become a professional fault-finder or grumbler. Just set yourself up as an authority...and tell everyone else what he is doing wrong.

I have never particularly admired the negative point of view of the person who is the constant complainer...and yet when it comes to the presidential election this year, I find myself in the role of a grumbler and a fault-finder.

I don't want to vote for Ronald Reagan because I feel that he is too old for the job and that he is strongly influenced by some suspicious, dangerous people.

CARTER

REAGAN

I don't want to vote for John Anderson because he is, in my opinion, a humorless liberal who takes himself and his radical ideas too seriously.

I don't want to vote for Jimmy Carter because I don't approve of most of his policies over the last four years, and because I think the platform of the Democratic party is a total disaster.

Some of you have made up your minds as to who would be the best man for the job, but I have not. I'm sure that I will vote in November, but at this point, all I can decide is who I don't want!

Do yourself and our readers a favor, and if you have a strong opinion about any of the candidates, write a letter to the editor explaining your views. Perhaps at least we can see some different viewpoints, and you might even convince some people to vote for your man.

If it is still possible for one man as President to greatly influence the country and "turn things around", we certainly want the best man for the job.

If you have an opinion, share it with us.

miles north of the campground and is capable of seating 250 persons. I admit it is some distance away if you are in the habit of going regularly, but no doubt you will be pleased to know a great number of people take their lunch along and make a day of it. They usually arrive early and stay late.

"I would like to say it pains me very much not to be able to go more regularly, but it surely is no lack of desire on my part. As we grow older, it seems to be more of an effort, particularly in cold weather.

"If you decide to come down to our campground perhaps I could go with you the first time you go, sit with you, and introduce you to other folk. Remember, this is a friendly community."

As I remember the story ended by saying that the sweet little lady read the letter, fainted, and when she recovered, promptly cancelled all her plans for a vacation.

Can you imagine what the censor who cut that story would do with an episode of "Charlie's Angels"?

Put this on your list of the most thrilling things in life...to hear your grandbaby cry... FOR YOU...because she's leaving.

Gone Fishin'

by Jeanette Fish

When my grandson was four years old, his mother decided to take him on the Universal Studio Tour in Hollywood. He was pretty excited about it because it is a realistic adventure showing the parting of the Red Sea, airplane crashes and other violence. Unknown to them, the first half hour of the tour is a boring walk through various buildings and star's dressing rooms. After 15 minutes of this, he tugged at his mother and said, "Am I having fun?" She patted him on the shoulder with "Yes, you are, honey. You're having a real good time." That is kind of what summertime does to you. It whizzes by with visitors, homemade ice cream, suitcases in and out the door with an occasional fleeting "Am I having fun?" running through your head. Along about the middle of this summer, everyone suddenly departed, taking my one remaining live-in child to California for a two-week vacation. For the first time in 28 years, we left an airport, alone, came back to a house with no little boy or girl in it. They always tell you: "Now you should have some other interests through the year BESIDES raising children because after all, they will grow up and be gone someday, and THEN what will you do?" Raising kids is like being in a cage with a wild lion and having somebody say "Now, don't just stand there and fool with that lion. Learn to knit and play golf while you're there, because when that lion is gone, you just won't know what to do with yourself." When the cage is empty, it gets quiet. We came home from the airport, cleaned the cage and yard for six hours. The next day we left for a short, two-day trip to Arkansas. Was I having fun? I only know that I couldn't wait to get home. There seemed to be something there that I needed to see about. There wasn't.

I came home to a clean, quiet, depressing house. I never got used to it. After a few days, we tolerated the situation, were amazed at the amount of food we weren't buying, and the fact that it took two days to gather up one full load of laundry. Marking time. Two weeks later the lion came home. Life is back to Hectic/Normal. It's not the fun, but the safe and familiar that we have to have. School started. I came home from work and ran the pickup truck through the garage door. At the same time, I was informed that I must help my lion with sixth grade project.... "Mom, all it is, is a paper mache model of the solar system." Am I having fun? Where's the key to this cage? When's the next plane for California?

"I know just about how much my electric bill will be each month ... there are no more surprises."

"MAKE IT WITH WOOL" CONTEST:

It is now time to begin thinking about the "Make It With Wool" contest. The District contest will be held November 22nd at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. State competition is set for Saturday, December 6th in Kerrville, Texas.

The purpose of "Make It Yourself With Wool" is to focus attention on the beauty and versatility of wool; to encourage use of this incomparable fabric or yarn in sewing, knitting, crocheting fashionable garments; to offer young experts the opportunity to compete for valuable prizes and win recognition for their sewing or knitting or crocheting skills. All entries must be made from loomed knitted or felted fabric or yarn of 100 percent wool or of a minimum of 60 percent wool and no more than 40 percent synthetic fiber.

If you are interested in entering the "Make It With Wool" contest or have any questions, call the Extension Office at 669-7429.

4-H PROJECTS: FROM EXOTIC TO COMMONPLACE:

Texas 4-H members are involved in more than sixty different projects ranging from aerospace to wildlife science that vary in complexity as much as their names imply.

The 4-H project forms the basis for educational programs conducted through the Texas Agricultural Extension Service

4-H youth development programs. Members meet in small groups under the direction of a trained volunteer to study and experience various aspects related to the project of their choosing.

Some of the more popular 4-H projects among Texas 4-H'ers are foods and nutrition, clothing, horses, safety, gardening and livestock.

These projects help 4-H members understand and appreciate the skills involved and to actually learn and practice many of them.

BLENDING -- FOR SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE:

Did anyone say "blending" in a marriage was easy? Yet, it's one of the most fundamental issues in all marriages--the delicate task of blending the individual's need for autonomy and the collective need for interdependence. The nature of marriage brings individuals into a relationship that requires accommodation, modification, compromise and some self-sacrifice to exist.

In strong marriages, the individuals enjoy each other's company doing things together and sharing new experiences. Yet, they also enjoy each other because of their uniqueness. Each person needs "room to grow" and time for their own. Such a relationship thrives on a mutual commitment to support and nourish without controlling or smothering the need for respect as an individual.

A strong marriage is one of reciprocity. Unfortunately, the emphasis of the past decade on individual rights and personal fulfillment has prompted many to believe that happiness comes only through "selfism." In marriage, "selfism" lessens each person's sense of responsibility for the relationship's success and promotes marital discord. It prompts individuals to have high expectations from the relationship without a willingness to make adjustments and self-investments to reach desired goals.

A marriage relationship becomes more cohesive and mutually gratifying when there are common goals and cooperative efforts of both partners. In other words, "otherness" rather than "selfness" contributes to the individuals' well being and personal growth.

In the "sorting-out" period prior to marriage, individuals often focus on superficial needs, those which are most obvious and perhaps least important. Only by examining their individual needs and marital expectation, as well as their expectations of the marital relationship, can couples make realistic expectations come into focus. Then, because the marriage itself is a process of change, there is the recurring need to renegotiate and re-examine expectations as the conditions of the marriage dictate.

Strong marriages are built on clearly defined and mutually agreed upon expectations instead of individual demands of what the marriage should be and how the other partner should behave. Three questions--what do we expect of ourselves, what do we expect of each other and what do we expect of our marriage--can lead the way to constructive change and personal and mutual satisfaction.

A two car crash at a McLean street intersection early Wednesday sent one local woman to the hospital, but the extent of her injuries had not been learned later in the day. Mrs. Quannah O. antique model made in 1918 and found sometime back in Mertel's store.

W.C. Swafford of Burbank, Calif., sent along a note explaining who he is when he mailed his subscription to the McLean News this week. "I carried the mail from Northfork (north of McLean) to McLean in 1907 for George Colebank's father," he said. "Moved from Hollis, Okla., to McLean in 1913, lived on James Noel's father's ranch." In 1918, he said, he "sold out", moved to California. "But he comes back occasionally, the last time being last September."

30 YEARS AGO
LESTER CAMPBELL, EDITOR
Luke Henley, who was elected as constable of Precinct No. 5 in the first Democratic primary in July, has been appointed to serve out the remainder of this year in that office. Henley was appointed by the commissioner's court of Gray County in the meeting of that group last week. The new constable will fill the vacancy left when J.W. "Jim" Sullivan resigned.

John Dee Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Coleman of McLean, has been invited to join the staff of the Battalion, student newspaper of Texas A & M College in College Station. He is an honor graduate of McLean High School with the class of 1950.

Weiners and marshmallows were roasted and served to some 42 young people. Sponsors for the groups are Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Appling, McLean; Mr. and Mrs. Dick Brown, Denworth.

McLean celebrated Labor Day by the opening of the school season, some 325 pupils enrolling at the ward school and 236 at the high school, under the superintendency of C.A. Cryer.

According to Director M.J. Newman, there are twelve new members in the band this year. The marching band will be composed of about forty members.

Twenty-eight boys are reporting for football practice, according to Coach Christian. Said Coach Christian: "We should have one of the best backfields in the conference, but we are short on reserve materials."

50 YEARS AGO
T.A. LANDERS, EDITOR
The new law allowing 6-year-old pupils to enroll in the public free schools will be observed in the McLean schools this term. All children who reached the age of six years by September first are eligible to attend school on the same basis as older pupils.

Mr. J.H. Crabtree, Mr. and Mrs. Bunk Oziedr and Miss Alice Carpenter visited at Carlsbad, N.M., this week.

Thieves effected an entrance to the 66 Filling Station Saturday night and took all the money in the cash register, which consisted of only a few pennies. Charles Cousins, manager of the station, says this is the second attempt to rob the station in a month, the gasoline pump being broken early in the month.

Miss Etta Mae Riggs and Fern Upham spent the weekend in Pampa.

Rosy Overton has returned to his home in Canyon after a few day's visit with relatives.

Last Saturday Miss Maude Thompson entertained Misses Mabel Watkins, Ruby Cook and Vida Montgomery, and Mr. Lionell Lonsdale of Denver, Colo., with a 12 o'clock dinner at the ranch.

A.G. RICHARDSON, EDITOR
Monday evening we had the pleasure of a visit to the pretty country home of Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Overton, one mile southeast of the city, and we were agreeably surprised at the progress that gentleman has made in four years towards making an ideal country home—the kind of home that makes one long for farm life. In the older settled states pretty country homes are the rule, but it has only been in the last few years that the Panhandler has turned his attention from raising prices to the raising of pretty trees and fine farm crops, and the Overton home is a fair example of a wise builder.

Friends of Will H. Langley were surprised this week when a telegram was received announcing his marriage to Miss Inez Bandy at Mingus, Texas, Monday afternoon. The young couple arrived here Wednesday on the eastbound train, very cleverly eluding a crowd of solicitous friends who had planned to take the groom for a joy ride on a "Mulemobile."

Hightower Calls For End To Anti American Demonstrations

(Washington, D.C.)—Congressman Jack Hightower again called for an end to anti-American demonstrations by Iranians in this Country during a speech before the House of Representatives on Tuesday. Hightower urged the Subcommittee on Immigration of the House Judiciary Committee to schedule immediate hearings on H.R. 5813, legislation authored by the Texas Naturalization Service could have deported those who initially refused to give their names. Instead, they were released and are free to roam our streets and incite more political demonstration. Incredibly, out of the group only one Iranian is under deportation proceedings and one other has been served with an order to show cause why he should not be deported," Hightower explained to the members of the House. The three-term member went on to relate that the people of his district continue to ask, over and over, "why can't something be done" about the people who are guests in this country that continue to abuse and insult us while Americans are held hostage in their country. "I for one," said Hightower, "want something done."

Library Has Almost Everything

Lovett Memorial Library is a lot of things to a lot of people. Homemakers can find ideas for decorating, cooking, gardening, home repairs, sewing, throwing parties and much more. Hobbyists become experts through the library's collection of "how-to-do-it" guides. Children love the library. Story hours held every Wednesday morning from 10 o'clock until 11, and their own special children's sections are favorite attractions. Students find Lovett Memorial Library a great place to find out about the great places, great events and great people in the world. Materials are available on everything from baseball to Balzac, from current events to current jellies, and from the White House to black holes. Voters become an "informed electorate" when they help their towns, counties, states and country out by reading about candidates and causes before going to the polls. Smart businessmen make it their business to keep up with current events and trends at the library. Whether you be farmer, carpenter, secretary, chimney sweep, teacher, artist, rancher, doctor, lawyer, Indian chief...or unemployed actor, there is something for you at the Lovett Memorial Library. Check it out!
