Testimony Is Concluded In Ira McKee Trial At Lamesa

HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

Mr. Smitham's announcement that the Jones Valley sewer collection system will be the first started should meet with the thanks and appreciation of the residents of that part of town, as well as the entire citizenship. This sewer system is a very great emergency measure but, thank goodness, we can go ahead and make the improvements permanent.

Jones Valley was promised sewer service as quickly as it could be given and that promise is being carried out.

It just occurs to us that some 25 citizens of Big Spring ought to have an inside track into the realm of the Bonehead Club. We allude to the Chautauqua "sackholders." They know what we mean.

Well, see where Paul Vickers and some more of the Midland boys have been down at Abilene talking to Judge Ely about the possibility of building a state highway from Midland to Andrews, Hobbs, Lovington, Carlsbad.

Yeah. Been tellin' you all along we are standing in a very dangerous position relative to highways. We're asleep at the post, and not trying to awake. When we go to discuss our roads with the commissioner or some other official somebody always gets argumentative, and first thing you know the whole works is gummed.

If there's one thing in the world this town and this county ought to do it is to get along with the state highway commission and to "ride" with them. They are anxious to go as far as the law allows them to go in aiding us to build roads. What more can we ask?

Our suggestion that allowing vehicles to take right-hand turns on red lights at street intersections might help traffic conditions has drawn the following comment from The Abilene Reporter:

TRAFFIC EXPERIENCE
The Big Spring Herald inquires if it wouldn't be a good thing to permit right-hand turns on red lights at certain street intersections. From the experience of cities which have tried the plan, the answer is, it would.

Anything that facilitates the movement of traffic—that gets cars out of the way of other cars, and speeds up the movement of motor traffic—is a good thing.

Under the right-turn plan, cars get through the intersection and make a green light at the next intersection before the signals change. Under the old system the same cars would still be waiting against the red light, while other cars piled up behind them.

Many cities have a traffic system that slows up movement, instead of facilitating it. Expert opinion long ago swung around to the conviction that the prime object of all traffic control is to speed up the movement of vehicles, rather than retard it.

In every city there are signal lights where none is needed. Their sole effect is to slow up the movement of traffic, and cause congestion at local points. No city should install a signal system without first making an intensive study of conditions.

We are always learning something new about traffic. In the city of Abilene, for instance, the ironed rule for years was that cars must swing out to the middle of the intersection before turning left. A few weeks ago this rule was changed, and cars were permitted to start the left turn as soon as they entered the intersection. The new system is infinitely better and safer than the old.

CHARGE IS PREPARED BY COURT

Arguments to End Tuesday; Impeachment Fails

COURTROOM, LAMESA, June 23.—Closing both state and defense unexpectedly announced at 11:30 o'clock this morning, Judge Gordon B. McGuire of the 106th district court, this afternoon was preparing his charge to the jury in the case of the State of Texas vs. Ira McKee, charged with murder. The state used eleven witnesses and the defense one in rebuttal.

Court Intervenes
A state attempt to impeach the testimony of defense witnesses failed when Judge McGuire ruled that the line of questioning could not be followed.

Witnesses for the state were: A. M. Bennett, chief deputy sheriff of Dawson county; Granville Wyatt, deputy; Mrs. Emma Mayhall, state state witness and alleged companion of the accused on the fatal trip; G. J. Wolf, Ranger police officer; Mrs. E. L. Sherwood, sister of the accused; G. H. Abernathy, sheriff of Palo Pinto county; J. Wesley Smith, sergeant of rangers; B. L. Parker, O'Donnell deputy; W. Earl Young, state ranger; G. H. Deason, deputy sheriff of Breckenridge; and D. S. Bradford, Strawn constable. Mrs. Ida Cosby was the only defense witness.

Arguments in the case may be started late today or early Tuesday morning, Judge McGuire indicated.

Funeral Held For Father of Steve D. Ford

Funeral services were to be held Monday morning at Lubbock for D. A. Ford, 71, father of Steve D. Ford, well-known Big Spring business man.

Mr. Ford died Friday at 8:30 a. m. at a Lubbock sanitarium following an illness of about three months.

Services were to be held from the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. T. Ashford, with Dr. W. R. White, state Baptist mission secretary, and Rev. R. C. Campbell of Lubbock, officiating. Arrangements were in charge of Bynum Brothers.

He is survived by his widow, five daughters and one son, and ten grand children. The daughters are Mesdames I. W. Hicks of Floydada, E. D. Sansing of Council Bluffs, Iowa; D. H. Cancill of Long Beach, Calif.; and H. O. Tatum of Burlington, Vermont. Mr. Ford of Big Spring is the only son.

Two brothers, E. J. Ford of Denton and H. M. Ford, South Bend, and a sister, Mrs. Nina Cosby of Cameron, also survive.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Ford and children were accompanied to Lubbock for the funeral services by a number of local people, including Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Piner and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Inkman, Mrs. T. C. Corry of Marshall, S. D. Ford's sister, and her brother, J. W. Freeman, also attended the rites. Mrs. Mancill of Long Beach, a daughter of the deceased, joined her brother and family here for the trip to Lubbock.

Railroad Solons In Mineral Wells

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP).—The State Railroad Commission was in Mineral Wells today hearing testimony preparatory to ordering a revision of bus and motor freight service in West Texas. The commission was to study the operating schedules of all lines and will attempt to coordinate the schedules of the feeder lines with the trunk lines. The hearing was decided upon after bus operators reported a 25 percent decrease in patronage as the result of inefficient schedules.

COMMITTEE FOR TREATY

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP).—The senate foreign relations committee today approved the London naval treaty.

By 16 to 4, the committee ordered it reported to the senate. Senators Johnson, republican, California; and Shipstead, farmer-laborer, Minnesota, announced they would submit minority reports. The overwhelming support for the treaty in the committee was believed to insure ratification of the pact when it is taken up by the senate in special session.

Those voting against the pact were: Johnson, Shipstead, Robinson of Indiana and Moses of New Hampshire, republicans. Those voting for it were: Borah, Idaho, chairman, Copper Kansas; Gillett, Massachusetts; Reed, Pennsylvania; Fess, Ohio; Goff, West Virginia; LaFollette, Wisconsin; and Vandenberg, Michigan, republicans.

Swanson, Virginia; Pittman, Nevada; Robinson, Arkansas; Walsh, Montana; Harrison, Mississippi; George, Georgia; Black, Alabama; and Wagner, New York, democrats. Borah announced he would submit the treaty to the senate today, without a report but merely introducing a resolution of ratification. This is the usual procedure of his committee.

Thus the treaty will be put before the senate without a word of recommendation either from President Hoover or from the foreign relations committee. In submitting the pact, the president only called for ratification.

"The debate will take care of any works of recommendation," observed Senator Borah.

With the treaty now on the senate calendar, there is a possibility that its advocates may move for immediate consideration should the senate and house become deadlocked on adjournment during a quarrel over the veterans' bill. No suggestion has been made for that course, however.

DUBLIN, June 23 (AP).—The airplane Southern Cross reached Port Napock at 7 o'clock tonight 1 p. m. (EST) to prepare for the Transatlantic flight to the United States. The weather appeared somewhat uncertain, Dublin having experienced thunderstorms during the day, but Captain Charles Kingsford Smith had not announced any alteration of his plans to take off early in the morning.

90 BOYS IN CAMP FOR THIS WEEK

Many Visit Sunday; More Big Spring Boys There

CAMP CONNELLEE, Tom Green County, June 23.—With 90 boys registered and practically all of them in camp by 9 o'clock this morning for the second week's activities incident to the program of the Buffalo Trail Area Council's annual summer encampment, the beautiful grounds along the Concho river were overflowing with life and good fellowship.

More than fifty visitors came here Sunday from various cities in the area. Most of the visiting automobiles brought scouts, a number of them from Big Spring. Practically all the Big Spring scouts are attending the second week when about 70 were registered. Fourteen boys are staying for both weeks.

Much was accomplished last week. For one thing, all boys in camp except two learned to swim. All the boys did work on tests for merit badges, as well as meeting with requirements for various classifications from tenderfoot to first class.

Among the Big Spring people here Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Garland Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. B. Reagan, C. S. Holmes, Frank Boyle.

Big Spring Troop 4 was four times winner last week of the emblem for having the best kept tent and grounds on personnel inspection.

Four automobile loads of Big Spring boys arrived this morning. Among those coming with them are E. B. Ribble and Rev. R. L. Owen.

Problem Now Is Naming New Arrival

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., June 23 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh are the parents of a son.

The baby, weighing seven and three-quarters pounds, was born at 2:15 p. m., eastern standard time yesterday in the home where his mother, the former Anne Morrow, was born. She became a mother on her 24th birthday.

Aside from the statement of the baby's birth and his weight, no details of the event were forthcoming from the household of Mrs. Lindbergh's parents, Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow except the statement that mother and baby were resting comfortably.

News of the arrival of the Lindbergh heir spread rapidly to all parts of the country and to foreign shores and within a short time a parade of messengers with congratulatory messages and bearing flowers began to arrive at the Morrow home. Radio stations interrupted their programs to broadcast news of the event which has been awaited with lively interest for several weeks.

The Name
A name had not been announced for the new arrival but Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., for his father or Dwight Morrow Lindbergh after his grandfather were mentioned as probable choices.

Preparations which had been made for Mrs. Lindbergh's reception in a New York hospital were cancelled several days ago and hospital equipment and two nurses were installed in the Morrow home.

The arrival of messengers trooping up the drive to the house was the only sign about the Morrow home to indicate that the event had taken place. There were even persons within the house at the time who did not learn of the

RIOT CASES ARE PASSED

DALLAS, Texas, June 23 (AP).—The Sherman riot cases were passed here today by the district judge, C. A. Pippen, who said it would be September at the earliest before the trials would be held.

Judge Pippen told the 14 defendants he set the cases for today merely to ascertain if they had counsel and to see whether any wanted to plead guilty. None indicated a desire to plead guilty and all said they had legal representation.

The cases grew out of the disturbances at Sherman May 9 when a mob burned the Grayson county courthouse and a part of a negro business section and attacked national guardsmen after being foiled in an effort to lynch George Hughes, negro attacker. Hughes perished in the courthouse blaze.

Fourteen men were indicted by the Grayson county grand jury and a change of venue to Dallas county was ordered. Bail was set at $5,000 each and five made bond. The others were held in the Dallas county jail.

Judge Pippen today denied the request of Maury Hughes of Dallas, attorney for most of the defendants, to reduce the bail. Hughes asserted that most of the alleged rioters were sons of tenant farmers and said that six were less than 19 years old.

Hughes then asked for a habeas corpus hearing and the court said he would set a date for the hearing later. Hughes said that efforts likely would be made to make bond for several of the defendants during the day.

About a dozen more men were charged in justice court as a result of the rioting but they have not been indicted.

Men Charged With Driving While Drunk

Charges of driving while intoxicated will be filed today against two men, following their arrest Sunday afternoon by Wolf Wolf, deputy sheriff.

The men are being held in jail here today. One is a resident of Tulsa and the other of Williams, Arizona.

A girl companion of the two men is in the Big Spring Hospital today with slight injuries received when she was allegedly thrown out of the car in which the two men were riding near Coahoma.

Motorists brought the girl to Coahoma, later bringing her to the Big Spring hospital. She is only slightly injured.

Wolf arrested the men four miles east of Coahoma. Similar charges have been filed in Mitchell county against them.

According to a story told Deputy Sheriff Andrew Merrick by the woman, she and one of the men left Tulsa together. The other man joined them at Dallas.

Aerial Flivver Visits at Port

Piloted by F. Myrten Johnston, who, incidentally, prefers a derby to the usual leather helmet, The Acrona—the flivver of the air—landed at the Big Spring Airport Sunday afternoon.

The diminutive aircraft is enroute from Kansas City to Oakland California, for the air show. Johnston set the craft down here just before noon, and took off after spending an hour at the local field. He had his ship serviced—with six gallons of gasoline and one quart of oil. The gasoline tank holds only eight gallons.

The ship has a 35-horsepower motor, with a top speed of 80 miles an hour. It weighs only 350 pounds. According to Johnston he gets 25 miles to a gallon of gasoline.

Johnston left Kansas City last Tuesday. He left Fort Worth Sunday morning, stopped at Ranger, and landed here about noon.

A. J. Edwards, sales manager of the company, is following Johnston in an automobile. Johnston hoped to make El Paso last night.

The plane attracted considerable attention here, dozens of persons viewing the tiny air craft.

E. Ottinger, Sweetwater Farmer, Finds Argotane for Relieving His and Wife's Troubles.

E. Ottinger, well known farmer, living on Star Route, Sweetwater, Texas, is now an ardent champion of the merits of Argotane since the medicine has proved of such great benefit to both himself and wife.

Mr. Ottinger called at Bowen's drug store recently and in relating his experience, said: "For the past ten months I have been going down hill as far as my health was concerned and nothing I tried in the way of medicines or treatment seemed to do me the least bit of good."

"Following these attacks I found myself with a very poor appetite and all run-down in many ways. As I before stated I tried numerous medicines in my efforts to get back in shape, but every month I just seemed to be getting worse. Sometimes I would eat and then again I would not want anything. I became nervous, and that tired feeling all the time got to where my work was a drag to me."

"Seeing Argotane so highly praised by those who had used it, I concluded to try it myself and the very first bottle made a marked change in my feelings. Then I got another and kept getting better all the time. I now feel 100 per cent better in every way and my back or kidneys don't bother me at all now. Those terrible pains which bothered me so in the pit of my stomach have disappeared and I just feel fine in every way. My sleep is sound and restful and I get up in the mornings full of energy and take more interest in everything, especially my work. My wife also suffered with troubles similar to mine and is receiving just as good results from the medicine as I did. Argotane has certainly proved to be just what we needed and we do not hesitate in recommending it to our friends. Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drugs—adv.

CANDIDATES SWING INTO BUSY WEEK

(By The Associated Press) Unless all the signs are misleading, this week will see an intensification of campaigning by candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in Texas, campaigning that already has become somewhat torrid.

The past week was marked by the increased activity by virtually all the candidates in nearly every section of the state, by the withdrawal from the race by T. N. Maurits of Ganado, Lynch Davidson of Houston and Pink L. Parish of Lubbock, and by the demand from one source of an investigation of campaign expenditures. The demand for an investigation of expenditures by candidates was made by E. G. Senter of Arlington, who withdrew from the race in favor of Mr. Davidson. He declared the race has been turned into a lottery.

Mrs. Goodenough is conducting the school for the Big Spring Public Service Company and is demonstrating the Estate Gas Range. This range, according to Mrs. Goodenough, has many outstanding features. Its fresh-air oven—built like a double boiler—insures absolutely uniform heat with perfect baking results, without shifting oven pans. It also has the ThermEstate Oven heat control, rock-wool insulation which holds heat inside the oven and keeps the kitchen cool, door handles that stay cool, rigid draw oven racks and smokeless broiler pans. Gas ranges in color to match the kitchen is another feature. Mrs. Goodenough will demonstrate the ease with which the stove may be cleaned by taking it entirely apart during her lecture. Mrs. Goodenough, who is a graduate of the Boston School of Cookery, has had many years of experience in the fields of demonstration cookery. She will carry on her lectures tomorrow and Wednesday in the basement of the Methodist church at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

POLICEWOMAN

MARION HUNTSON

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP)—Here in this fashionable Chicago suburb a 22-year-old girl sits behind the grating at police headquarters. The very feminine, but very efficient desk sergeant is Marion Huntson.

Three years ago the police chief invited Marion to take the desk sergeant's job. She accepted with misgivings, but since then she has found that her work does not lack in interest. Marion has a policeman's coat with brass buttons, the insignia of a sergeant, a shiny star. She has the right to carry a pistol, but she never has made an arrest. Besides booking troublesome customers of the police department, Miss Huntson keeps the department's records, and checks the calls of the men on the beat.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS Answered By Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Harrisburg, Pa.
What can we do as parents to cultivate the love of art in our children? As the mother of three youngsters I shall appreciate your ideas.

Emerson said, "We ascribe beauty to that which is simple; which stands related to all things; which is the mean of many extremes. It is the most enduring quality and the most ascending quality. We say love is blind, and the figure of Cupid is drawn with a bandage round his eyes. In the true mythology Love is an immortal child; and Beauty leads him as a guide: nor can we express a deeper sense than when we say, "Beauty is the pilot of the young soul."

So be careful about the pictures hung on your walls and especially in the youngster's rooms. Such pictures should be interesting, inspirational, cultural, and they need not be expensive. As far back as 1914, Mr. Fitzroy Carrington, a pioneer in Children's Art Centers, arranged an exhibition of suitable prints, engravings, etchings and woodcuts at the Fine Arts Museum, Boston. More than 400 examples were shown, selected from the works of Edmund Evans, Randolph Caldecott, Walter Crane, Kate Greenway, and from color reproductions of drawings by Edmund Dulac, Maxfield Parrish, Jessie Wilcox Smith and Arthur Rackham.

A committee of ten children chose in less than an hour 110 of these pictures as their favorites. The juvenile attendance was large and enthusiastic, and the outcome was The Children's Art Center of Boston, opened for service on May 1, 1918. The good work accomplished there is a model for similar museums, art galleries and social settlements throughout the nation.

Teachers should unite with parents to transmit to the children the wealthy but ungarnered harvest of grace and loveliness found in our public or semi-public print and picture galleries. The youngsters of the University Settlement at 184 Eldredge Street, New York City, are as eager to feast on these viands for the heart and mind as any connoisseur visiting the world's great art galleries. What is being done with Mr. Carrington's aid in Boston and New York may yet spread to other municipalities.

The best method for insuring in children that sense of the beautiful which is also the useful, is by these concrete appeals to their virgin ideals. And what applies to art applies equally to music and the drama. Dirty plays and objectionable movies can be defeated in the nursery, the playground, the art center, the little theatre and the amateur dramatic club.

Louisville, Ky.
I have a question regarding

Joshua and the sun standing still. Could not the God who created the earth, sun, moon and stars, set them moving, also control them at His will, and if need be work a miracle to save His chosen people?

I have also heard a minister question the miracle of the swimming axe of Elisha, and great fish swallowing Jonah. If the miracles of the Old Testament can be thus explained away, the next step will be that the enemies of the Holy Bible will think they can discredit the whole book. What do you say?

The Scriptures voice the will of that Spirit who impels.

"All thinking, things, all objects of all thought, And rolls through all things."

But their very breadth and diversity render them liable to misinterpretation. Nowhere has this been more rife than in the views you express concerning miracles. Those related in the Old Testament belong to another and a far-different age than ours, an age in which devout saints revelled in the marvelous because for them it was the sign of God's protecting presence.

Modern men know that He works according to fixed laws, by the aid of which scientists have discovered fresh wonders far exceeding in spiritual value those of that distant time. Why not recognize this transformation? It has been created by the self-same Spirit of whom Wordsworth sang in the lines quoted above. And why seek for God in life's abnormal and exceptional events?

Get beyond the Old Testament's outward forms. Realize that its great truth is not discernible in an iron axe swarming or the sun standing still, but in the fact that the Father of us all is to be recognized in His eternal goodness and mercy. Hence these are the virtues He requires in us. Unless we have them iron axes may swim, huge fishes swallow fleeing phophets and the sun totally disappear, but we shall gain nothing from such contradictions of the natural order.

Have no fear for the Bible as a whole or for its hold on the heart, and conscience of the race. It contains imperishable realities otherwise unobtainable which guarantee its divine inspiration and its universal benefits for humanity. By those realities it lives and will continue to be the crown of revelation until we see our Maker face to face.

NEWPORT, R. I.—Charles Francis Adams is unlike a previous secretary of the navy who expressed amazement when he found a battleship was hollow. The present secretary can run a ship himself and often has, whether racing yacht or the Leviathan. On Monday he is to be at the wheel of the Yankee in a race of candidates for the honor of defending the America's cup.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—Napkins on railroad trains will be sufficient for portly travelers to tuck under their chins if recommendations of a committee of the American Railway Association's convention followed. It urges 20 by 30 inches as a standard size, and increase of 2 1/2 square inches in area.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

SAVE A LIFE Had you the chance—you would save a life.

Since you may never know when the opportunity might appear, be prepared—learn how to apply artificial respiration.

Artificial respiration is frequently a life-saver in cases of suffocation. Suffocation, asphyxia, or smothering is due to lack of and inability to get oxygen into the body.

It may also be due to an obstruction of the wind-pipe by foreign bodies, and to other agents mechanically interfering with the passage of air to the lungs.

Failure of the breathing mechanism, due to brain or nerve injuries, may also bring on suffocation. The first thing to do in a case of suffocation is to clear the lungs of water, to remove the unconscious individual from the poison gas atmosphere, or to remove the foreign body from the wind-pipe, etc.

Where the immediate cause of the suffocation cannot be removed, too much time should not be lost, and artificial respiration should be started at once, in the hope that there may be some small passage-way open, large enough to keep the spark of life glowing.

The most favored method is the "prone pressure," or Schaefer method. It is applied as follows: Place the patient face down after loosening his collar and any clothing constricting chest or abdomen.

Clear mouth of any mucus, froth, tobacco or false teeth. Draw the tongue forward, and turn the head to one side so that the nostrils and mouth are not obstructed. Carry the patient's arms away from the body and into an extended position beside his head.

Kneel astride the patient's hips (facing his head) and with the hands outspread on the sides and back of the chest, make compression inward and upward on the chest by leaning forward with your weight on your hands. Hold this compression for about three seconds. With a gentle push throw your weight back on your heels, releasing the pressure on the chest.

Continue this movement at the rate of 12 to 16 times to the minute. A cloth saturated with aromatic spirits of ammonia may be placed or held near the nostrils from time to time.

Hollywood Sights Sounds

BY ROBBIN OGDEN HOLLYWOOD—The fate of "Broadway" seems to be shared by "Good News."

The underworld play was bought at a huge figure, but it took so long to complete it that virtually every other studio here was able to beat it to the market with a picture "cutting its most of its plot."

"Good News," the collegiate musical comedy, is ready for release now, but in the meantime numerous other college musicals, notably "Sweetie," have used its material to good advantage.

The new picture, nevertheless, is pleasant enough. Stanley Smith and Mary Lawlor are the romantic leads, but Bessie Love and Gus Shy, a newcomer, walk off with top honors in their comic roles.

SONG-PLUGGING Ted Snyder, who must be dean of Hollywood's song-writers because he has been in the business 27 years, recalls a time when the public beaches about New York constituted the great hope of all popular music.

There, in the dance halls of the beach resorts, the writers and composers put their work before the public.

Snyder sees a direct relation between the manner of plugging and the type of songs produced from year to year.

In the days of "beach plugging," he says, songs like "In the Good Old Summertime" and "Take a Car" became hits because they told of things bearing relation to the beach crowds, who "in the summertime" had to "take a car" to get to the beaches.

WHY THEY'VE CHANGED Then vaudeville rose as a plugging field, and songs for teams, "part" songs, came into prominence. These were followed by rhythm, an outgrowth of the rise of dance orchestras.

Radio came, bringing with it the need for songs of great variety because the radio audience is greater than any other.

N. Y. STATE BUYS SHAD EGGS ALBANY (INS)—Shad fishermen along the Hudson river are finding a ready market in the state conservation department for shad eggs.

For several years the conservation department has been buying shad eggs in large quantities, hatching them out and returning the small fish to the river.

Between 1924 and 1929, the catch of shad in the Hudson increased from 55,000 pounds to 226,000.

ORDER SPRINKLERS FOR ALL THEATRES BOSTON (INS)—Mayor Curley appears to be a stickler for sprinklers.

Overruling all objections of representatives of theatres, his honor lately made public an order that all theatres must be equipped with sprinklers prior to July 25, or he'd know the reason why.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

BY ROBBIN OGDEN SYNOPSIS: It upsets naive, trusting Mary Lou Leslie when she comes to London and finds that Brynmor Whitmore, whom she loved last summer, has been smitten by Clarice Day, a night club dancer.

She is irked when Brynmor calls her "a nice girl, too darn nice." At the night club Brynmor leaves her to see Clarice. The club is raided and Mary Lou escapes with Tony Titherington, a stranger whom she likes. She is determined to have a good time in London despite Brynmor's change of heart, and Tony promises to show her the sights.

In return she is to go with him to see his Aunt Ethelberta—for some unknown reason. It is almost daylight when Tony takes Mary Lou to the home of her cousin Jay, where she is staying.

Chapter 5 "HOW DID YOU DO IT?" Jay had been good as her word. Not only had she stayed awake, but she had made some hot chocolate.

"I thought you might be cold," she explained. At the sight of Mary Lou wearing Tony's pyjamas and dressing gown, she burst into a peal of laughter.

"You do look a cutie! I'm aching to hear the whole story." While Mary Lou talked, Jay sat on the kitchen table, swinging her legs.

Jay was decidedly chic. She looked equally smart in a gingham apron or a Parisian gown. Her trim little figure was the envy of customers in her gown shop.

Even now, in her black silk kimono and tiny mules, Jay managed to look as if she were ready for a stage appearance, instead of having arisen in the middle of the night.

"I'm almost afraid," Jay said, a tense note in her voice. "Bary You was startled. 'What are you afraid of?'" "That you haven't got worldly sense or experience to bring it off," Jay admitted.

Mary Lou flushed. "Bring what off?" "Don't be a goose. This is a practical world," Jay admonished. "It would be a marvelous match. I'll have to see what I can do. How's your wardrobe, child? I've a stunning little blue kit at the shop that ought to suit you splendidly. Come down with me after lunch and you can try it on.

"May I?" Mary Lou's eyes lit up with excitement. "But I'm—I'm afraid I haven't the money, Jay. I spent quite a bit on clothes before I came here."

"What! Oh, those monstrously 'in your room' Jay exclaimed. 'If I let you wear those you wouldn't catch a man who was color blind. Besides, the expense is immaterial. You'll pay me later. I'm willing to gamble.'"

"Come on to bed, child. Sleep as late as you like. You'll need all the looks you can scrape together in the next few weeks."

Mary Lou found herself unable to sleep. Her mind revolved continually on the incidents of the night—every incident, that is, since she had met Tony. She scarcely gave a thought to Brynmor, whom she had come to town expressly to see.

If Mary Lou hadn't given much thought to him, Brynmor had expended a considerable number of thoughts on her.

Tony's ready championship of Mary Lou had boosted her value in Brynmor's eyes, yet he decided she wasn't worth his time. He couldn't bother with a girl who preferred a drunken stranger to him.

In the light of what had happened, Brynmor decided, he could wash his hands of Mary Lou and devote himself exclusively to Clarice. For the remainder of the two weeks Mary Lou could amuse herself as best she could. He had done his duty.

At the police station Brynmor answered a few questions and found himself at liberty. Then he decided it was obligatory upon him, as a gentleman, to see whether Mary Lou had reached her cousin's home safely after the raid. He had been distinctly embarrassed when he pressed the door bell at Mrs. Jerome's, only to learn that Mary Lou had not appeared—at three o'clock in the morning.

Brynmor had made as graceful a retreat as possible. After all, it did make him look silly—to take a girl out, and lose her completely. And the fact that Mary Lou had left him to keep company with a stranger gnawed at his vanity above everything else.

Will Brynmor keep his resolution regarding Mary Lou? He stumbles onto problems of his own—tomorrow.

RENCH PRESIDENT GIVEN MANY GIFTS When President Doumergue returned from his little tour to the French colonies in northern Africa, he brought back a large number of gifts made to him by the native chiefs and high personalities of the country.

Some of them included magnificent carpets, the work of skilled workers and artists and a variety of articles made by native craftsmen.

The President was obliged to look a gift horse in the mouth and tell the would-be donor that he appreciated his great kindness, but that he had no use for the animal and moreover, had no place to keep it.

Another Caid brought his best-looking and fleetest camel to the president the day before his departure and begged him to take it with him for his use in the capital! This gift too, had to be refused.

Shield Murder Case Scheduled for Friday

BROWNWOOD, Texas, June 23 (AP)—Trial of Joe Shield, 35, oil field worker, charged thrice with murder in the killing of his wife, Mrs. Paul May Shield, 33, and her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Shields was set to start in district court here this afternoon.

The triple shooting occurred at Brooksmith, a small town in the south part of Brown county, May 16. The residents of the town were incensed by the slaying and officers had Shield removed from the county jail for several days for fear of mob violence.

Witnesses at the inquest testified that Shield had some words with his estranged wife before he shot her on the porch of her home. Her parents then were shot as they came out of their store across the street.

One of the witnesses said that the 77-year-old storekeeper had a gun but asserted that he never raised it.

Mrs. Shield had filed suit for a divorce shortly before the shooting. Before killing Mr. Shield, Shield asked his wife, "are you going to change your mind," witnesses said. They also had cross words concerning playing jacks down the street, were going to accompany Shield, testimony showed.

Officers said that Shield admitted the triple slaying.

They also said that the arrival of a boy conformed to the wishes of both Colonel Lindbergh and his wife for a son.
