Bill Irwin Becomes Associated With Local Bank

The controlling interest in the American National Bank in McLean was sold recently by the McMurtry family to William K. Irwin of Bushland.

The McMurtry family has been associated with the bank for nearly 50 years. J. Alfred McMurtry, formerly of Clarendon, now living in Rockport, stated it was with regret the McMurtry ties with the local bank were being terminated after many years of pleasant association; he loved the people here, the bank, and this area, and would be coming back from time to time.

Mr. William (Bill) Irwin, a graduate of Tufts University, Medford, Massachusetts, was born in Amarillo in 1925, served two and one-half years in the U.S. Navy, and married Shirley Neely of Amarillo in 1951. They have three children: Corinne, working for S. W. Bell Telephone Company in San Antonio; Keith attending Graduate School in Ranch Management at T.C.U.; and Christine, a freshman attending Amarillo College.

Bill Irwin has been engaged in farming and ranching, and in grain elevator and feed yard business in the Bushland, Hereford, and Dalhart areas for the past 25 years. He is presently a Director of the American National Bank in Amarillo and has served in that capacity for 9 years. Mr. Irwin states "I am very pleased and excited to become a part of the American National Bank in McLean and the community it represents. Jim Allison and all the other members of his staff have been highly recommended to me, and in the few weeks of knowing them, I concur fully. It is also most gratifying to feel comfortable with all of the people of McLean that I have met to date. Before too long, I hope to meet and get to know personally as many of you as possible. God willing, we will grow together."

counties might have different opening dates and bag limit making it the responsibility of the hunter to know which county he is hunting.

The wardens in the Panhandle and on the South Plains are reporting a good crop of young birds and plenty of cover.

The use of bird dogs will enhance the chances of a full game bag as hunters attempt to find the

Duniven Has 2nd Highest Yardest

If the past is any indication the football will be flying when Texas Tech and TCU square off Saturday at Amon Carter Stadium in Fort Worth. TCU's Lee Cook leads the Southwest Conference in yards gained passing with 904, while Tech's Tommy Duniven has moved into second with 758 yards.

Duniven had the best statistical day of his career in the Raiders 28-24 win over Rice last week. The McLean junior hit on nine of 15 passes for 192 yards and one touchdown and rushed for 54 yards on 10 carries.

The big passing day leaves Duniven tied with Marty Akins for the top completion percentage in the conference, both have hit 56 per cent and moves him to second behind Ricky Wesson in yards per completion. Wesson is averaging 18.6 yards per completion while Duniven is picking up 16.1 yards per strike.

If Duniven continues his current pace he will become the first to gain 1,000 yards passing in a season for Texas Tech since Joe Barnes piled up 1,142 in 1972 and only the fourth player in Tech history to accomplish the feat.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bailey of Pampa visited in the EM. Bailey home on Sunday. Other visitors over the weekend were Kathy Southerland and Bradley of Wellington.

Market Report

Apples, eggs and beef show signs of plenty in Texas grocery stores this week--which usually means lower prices.

October is the peak month for apples, and there is an abundance of Jonathan and Delicious apples--quality is excellent, and prices are slightly lower, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt says.

She is consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System.

Egg prices are attractive, because demand isn't sufficient to absorb increased supplies," she added.

Of beef, the specialist reported good values on chuck roasts, round steaks, ground beef and liver.

Cheese is a special display item in many stores this month, and featured cheeses are available at mostly reasonable prices.

Rice forecasts call for a record-high production figure of nine per cent over last year's large crop, so that commodity merits a place in menu planning.

Other fruit buys this week include grapes--in good supply with lower per cent over last year's large crop, so that commodity merits a place in menu planning.

Other fruit buys this week include grapes--in good supply with lower prices in many stores. Also, check for economy prices on oranges, bananas and pears.

Grapefruit quality is fair, but the sugar content will increase as the season progresses.

With little change in fresh vegetable prices, consumers can rely on the following items for best buys: carrots, cabbage, cucumber dry onions, green peppers, rutabagas--along with yellow, zucchini and butternut squash.

Lions To Sponsor Jubilee Nov. 15

by Betty Holmes

The McLean Lions Club assembled for their regular meeting Monday evening, November 3.

Larry Fuller, the District Governor presented a program dealing with the advantages Lionism makes available to its members. Mr. Fuller, a resident of Borger and long time active Lion, also stressed the importance of Lions as a service organization which functions for the benefit of the community and should involve a deep commitment in each of its members.

Following the program, Boss Lion Homer Jefferson presided in a business meeting. The next project planned by the local organization is the sponsoring of a Derby Town Jubilee, Saturday night, November 15 in the McLean High School auditorium. Proceeds from the jubilee will be applied toward aiding the blind and helping crippled children.

Among other projects, the local Lions Club is one of twenty clubs now participating in a District wide "efficiency" contest. The competition, based on attendance and community projects, shows the McLean Club is now placed fifth in the Third Division (clubs having a membership of forty-six or more).

The club's next regular meeting is set for Monday, November 17 at 6:30 p.m.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights
 by Lyndell Williams
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey's decision to step down at the end of his present term Jan. 1, 1977, assured a wide open race for his position next year.

A large field already is forming.

Ramsey, 71, took many by surprise with the announcement he plans to return to law practice in San Augustine in a little more than a year.

His public service career dates back to 1931 when he first entered the House of Representatives. He served six terms as lieutenant governor—longer than any Texan.

State Rep. David Finney of Fort Worth, Houston attorney Terence O'Rourke and Walter Wendlandt, an Austin attorney and former Commission division head, are announced candidates.

Secretary of State Mark White Jr. said last week he is seriously considering getting in the race. White is an appointee of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, and speculation favored him to replace Ramsey if the incumbent stepped down before end of his term.

Other possible contenders for the Commission—which regulates Texas oil and transportation industries—are Texas Legislative Council Executive Director Robert E. Johnson and State Rep. Lane Denton of Waco.

Lawyer Policies Due

State Insurance Board members are considering a new type of policy covering attorney's fees.

The State Bar and agents' representatives requested approval of a plan authorized by the 1975 Legislature. The Board must approve guidelines.

The Bar is prepared to distribute group policies through a non-profit corporation, a staff member stated. Insurance Company of North America and American National Insurance Company have applied to the Board for authority to sell the coverage. Fees are expected to run $5 to $7.50 per month for such coverage as wells, deeds, advice, defense against traffic charges and domestic cases.

Minority Gains Few

A state legislator claims state agencies have made no progress at finding jobs for blacks, Mexican-Americans and women.

Rep. Paul Ragsdale of Dallas said the number of black employees in 38 agencies increased only four-tenths of one per cent in the last year, the number of Mexican-American workers 1.1 per cent, and the number of women 3.7 per cent.

Tax Distributed

More than $2.7 million is being remitted to 188 counties and 297 cities as their share of mixed drink taxes for July-September.

Cities get 15 per cent of the total tax collected in their boundaries, and counties 15 per cent. The remaining 70 per cent, $6.5 million for the last quarter, remains with the state general revenue fund.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court upheld a Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission ruling that a dry justice precinct remains dry even when the county around it votes wet.

In other recent opinions, the High Court declared:

- The son of a slain father must divide benefits with an "adopted son" who was never legally adopted.

- A $43,400 judgment for the state in an air pollution case against a roofer must be erased and a new trial held.

- Killeen's moving, zon-

AG Opinions

A county judge is authorized by statute to reject competitive bids on county goods or supplies below $3,000, Atty. Gen. John Hill stated.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- The Governor's desk calendar is not public information. Neither are notes on his appointments, but his flight log is.

- County law library fee may be taxed as costs in all probate proceedings except an action brought for the purpose of confining a person of unsound mind or a habitual drunkard.

- A small city can't pay a deputy sheriff to serve as town marshal.

- Harris County constables elected immediately following a redistricting of precincts in 1973 must stand for election in 1976 under the state constitution.

Roving Reporter...

by Cherrie Billingsley
 Hello! This is your Roving Reporter with a special update from the halls of M.H.S. One word sums up the atmosphere here. It stinks! The doors are covered with eggs, tomatoes, water from water balloons, and whatever else was handy Halloween night, the night after, and the night after that. It would appear the ghosts, ghouls, and goblins were out or was it boys, girls, and students?

I can remember when I was a little kid in the first and second grades that Halloween was a time of excitement, when I ran around all day in my Halloween costume, practicing my lines "trick or treat!" Now for two to three weeks before Halloween people begin to buy supplies of eggs robbing watermelon patches, and borrowing tomatoes. I'll agree times have changed.

McLean is not plagued by razor blades in apples, poison in candy, needles in oranges, and strange happenings in dark streets. Perhaps McLean is lucky that it is only attacked by rotten eggs, water balloons, tomatoes, and turned over trash cans. I can only speak for myself as I try to mail a letter while holding my nose...harmless pranks? I'm not so sure!

Spotting the Child That Has Learning Problems

With another school year under way, many families may be faced with the problem of a child who has difficulty in learning. Several million American school children have learning problems. Three-fourths of them are boys, and the problem frequently runs in families.

The Texas Medical Association lists some signs that can help alert parents as to whether their child has a learning problem--inappropriate behavior for age, distractibility, apparent laziness, withdrawal, short attention span, unwillingness to cooperate, poor memory, poor coordination, inability to sit still, trouble remembering what he sees or hears, tendency to work from right to left, general confusion about direction, writes letters upside down or backwards, and walks, runs, hops, skips or jumps more awkwardly than his playmates. If the child has trouble bringing his hands together to catch a ball, he may have trouble writing on the blackboard. If the parent feels there is reason for concern over the child's development, he is urged to talk with the family physician, and with officials at the school.

Whether there is a learning problem or not, the child often can benefit from parental help in learning. Here are some suggestions:

Provide a regular environment with orderly habits of sleeping, eating schoolwork, and playing that the child can count on.

Minimize distractions and choices. Give him his own room and arrange it simply. If an object is forbidden, remove it rather than lecture him on not playing with it.

Assign simple tasks, with simple directions, one step at a time. Show him what to do rather than relay on language. Better yet, do it with him.

Avoid overtiredness and overstimulation.

Most important, show him he is loved, even if he is different.

ASCS to Elect Co. Committeemen

Ballots will be mailed this month from the Gray County ASCS office to all eligible voters (husbands and wives) to vote for one county committeemen for a three year term. Two alternates will also be elected.

The term of Henry J. Harnly will expire this year. The elected committee will take office on January 1 and serve along with the two hold over committeemen.

Producers are expected to keep trying to plant wheat at least until Nov. wheat and it was too dry to get it planted by that date, you can file an application for "Prevented Planting" wheat credit. This must be filed by not later than Dec. 1. The land would be inspected and if approved by the county committee, the farm would be inspected and if approved by the county committee, the farm would be given credit on wheat for history and for disaster payment eligibility.

Road Hunting Violations Increase

Just before the opening of deer season each fall Parks and Wildlife Department game wardens keep busy with hunters who can't wait for the legal season and take a shot at a deer from a public road.

And this year is no exception.

Dexter Harris, chief of the P&WD's law enforcement field operations, vest is completed on the farm. Be sure to come in and file low yield application even if you do not have your production evidence. You can bring your production in later--but you must file the low yield application within 15 days from harvest completion. On cotton this must be filed in order for the county committee to adjust the future payment yield on the farm.

Cotton loans are available through this office for they can be made by an approved cooperative.

If you have approval under the AC program or under the Emergency program, you are encouraged to report performance of the practice when you have completed it.

said that during September alone, some 60 cases were completed for hunting from a public road. He expects October's figures to be even higher.

"This is the time of year when hunters are out moving around, checking on leases," said Harris. "And it's always a temptation when they come across a buck standing near the road.

Dry weather has forced deer in some parts of the state to move around during the day and closer to roads for food.

So the temptation increases.

Harris reminds those who are tempted to add a little venison to the freezer early this year that hunting from a public road carries a fine of up to $200 on conviction.

Livesaving Course Offered By Heart Association

A busy supermarket, a crowded street, a football game -- anywhere people congregate--it can happen.

One minute, healthy, filled with life; the next, excruciating pain--cardiac arrest.

A man steps from the crowd. The victim slumps to the floor; his heart has stopped. Unless his heart starts pumping again within the next six minutes, brain cells may be damaged beyond repair. That's what happens when oxygen rich blood fails to reach the brain.

The bystander in this human drama plays a leading role. He presses his mouth over the victim's chest, he begins compressing the chest.

This bystander is performing the lifesaving technique of cardiopulmonary resuscitation. His actions could restart the victim's stopped heart and restore life. Like thousands of others, his training has been provided by his local heart association. Countless heart attack victim's lives have been saved by men and women, even teenagers, trained in CPR.

The Gray County Heart Division points out that local residents can now learn this lifesaving technique. Interested parties are urged to contact Jessie Newberry, chairperson of community service at Box 2334 or call 665-3721 Ext. 249 for more information.

The eventual goal of the Gray County Heart Division is that wherever, there is sudden heart arrest, someone trained in CPR can save hearts that are too good to die.

Good News For Livestock Feeders... Citrus Harvest Gains Momentum... Chick Placements Show Decline.

It's been a long time in coming, and there probably will be some rough spots continuing, but all in all, it appears things are going to get better for the livestock feeder.

Take a look at the cattle on feed situation. Even though it is down seven per cent from a year ago here in Texas, it is 11 per cent above a month ago.

Texas cattle and calves on feed as of Oct. 1 totaled 1,488,000 head. Cattle feeders now are talking about a lot better market coming during the latter part of 1976. It may be down some until then, but after that, cattle feeders are expecting to see better times to come.

Nationwide, cattle on feed in the seven major states are one per cent above a year ago and 12 per cent above a month ago.

Cattle and calves on feed in the 23 major cattle feeding states show a two per cent increase over a year ago.

In Texas, feedlot operators report intentions to market 750,000 fed cattle from now through December. This would be 50 per cent of the number on feed as of Oct. 1 and represents a decrease of 13 per cent from marketings during the same period in 1974.

A QUALITY CITRUS CROP is now being harvested in the Rio Grande Valley. Grapefruit volume continues to increase; the quality of the crop continues to be very good. Trees remain in excellent condition.

While citrus harvest is beginning in the south, seeding of wheat and oats in the northern half of the state is nearing completion. Wheat seeding for the state is now nearing the final stages. Oat seeding is also nearing the finishing mark.

Corn and sorghum harvest are in the final stages.

Harvest of cotton is about a third finished, and peanut harvest is more than 80 per cent complete.

Soybean harvest is more than a third of the way through while pecan harvest is underway.

POULTRY PRODUCTION THROUGHOUT THE STATE shows an increase in broiler chicks, a decrease in egg-type chicks, and an increase in egg production. Turkey poult hatching is up seven per cent from a year ago.

The September egg-type hatch was down 15 per cent from a month ago. Broiler chick hatchings were 11 per cent above a year ago.

Egg production in the state is seven per cent higher than a year ago at this time.

SCREWWORMS ARE CONTINUING TO PLAGUE many parts of Texas. Authorities at the fly lab in Mission continue to urge all producers to check livestock regularly, treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm control remedies, delay surgery on livestock as long as possible, and submit suspected samples to the fly lab at Mission.

You can get the vials with which to mail the samples at your county agent's office.

Meanwhile, cooperation of all livestock producers is needed in order for the program to be as effective as possible.

Consistent Pattern Seen In Drowning Statistics

Water safety statistics on drownings consistently turn up the same facts--most drowning victims are Anglo males, 31 years of age and older who were involved in a swimming-oriented fatality.

And a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department study shows that a great majority of drownings occur within 25 miles of home.

Of the 588 people who lost their lives in Texas waters in the first three quarters of 1975, the percentage of male to female drownings was almost six to one, with a total of 502 males losing their lives as compared to 86 females. (A total of 574 people died during the same period last year.)

The rate of Anglo drownings as compared to the second largest group, Latin Americans, is three to one, with 353 such victims being Anglos and 117 Latin Americans.

Where age is considered, the percentage difference is not as great.

Statistics show that 161 victims aged 31 years or older lost their lives in this manner in 1975, with 126 aged 21 through 30 and 106 aged 16 through 20.

Of the 588 drownings reported so far this year, P&WD figures indicate 400 happened within 25 miles of home.

While swimming mishaps claim the largest loss of life, the next highest fatal category consistently is accidents in which the victims fall into water, totaling 101 through September 1975.

These figures are followed by 65 fishing accidents, 47 boating accidents and 38 wading accidents.

Water safety officials say that the single common factor in the majority of these fatalities is a lack of common sense on the part of the public. Most people fail to have respect for the relatively element of water and over estimate their swimming abilities or take unnecessary chances. letter to the editor Entertaining three applicants for a choice job, Thomas Edison based his choice on the results of the test. The three were seated in a circle facing each other. Each was told that either a black or a white dot was to be placed on his forehead.

ALL 3 DOTS WERE BLACK!
At a signal, each was to begin tapping on the table if he saw a black dot on any forehead, and to stop tapping only if he could determine the color of the dot on his own forehead.

After a few moments one stopped. He correctly had determined his was black. How did he know!

A weekly public service feature from the Texas Department of Health Resources

Accent on Health

Fratris L. Duff, M.D., Director

Microwave ovens may be a boon or a bust, depending on an individual's likes or dislikes, but--overall--they are considered a safe appliance if proper precautions are taken, says the Texas Department of Health Resources.

Cooking speed is the main factor in the usage growth of microwave ovens, which are used extensively throughout the state by self-service food distributors. Hot sandwiches and soups, sold at vending machines, in office buildings and coffee shops accessible to the public, are examples of the commercial use of the devices. And, the use of home ovens has shown a large increase, especially in families where adults and children are always on the go and meal-time is short.

Basically, microwaves are a form of electromagnetic radiation and as such are regulated by the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division of the Department of Health Resources. They are manufactured under strict federal standards

It is possible to be burned by microwave ovens, but safety devices are mandatory in the form of interlocks on oven doors. If a door is opened, the oven automatically goes off.

Investigators for the Department of Health Resources have found leakage around doors--some of above tolerable levels--and have removed these appliances from service until repaired.

It doesn't take much of a gap for leakage to occur. It can be caused by doors getting spring, by food particles or other substances being allowed to build up in doors, or by faulty gaskets, according to Joe F. Thiel, with the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division.

"Microwave ovens in commercial food vending machines are subject to extreme product abuse and are subject to a high failure rate in comparison to home use," said Thiel.

"For example," said Thiel, "a recent survey was made to maintain validation of an earlier, very comprehensive inspection of microwave ovens used in commercial food vending service in Texas. It showed that approximately eight out of 80 microwave ovens were leaking microwaves."

"In addition," said Thiel, "forty percent of microwave ovens surveyed were found to be insanitary...dirty. Among the units which failed, six of the eight were insanitary."

Another contributing factor to leakage is product abuse, combined with poor maintenance. In a report prepared for the International Radiation Protection Association by Thiel and Martin C. Wukasz, director of the Division of Occupational Health and Radiation Control, the abuse-maintenance factor was highlighted.

Since newer microwave oven manufacturing standard went into effect four years ago, significant reduction in the percentages of leaking ovens has been noted.

While a properly operating microwave oven is a safe appliance to use, repairs must be made correctly, said Thiel. They should be made only by individuals who are qualified to assure that the manufacturer's built in safety is maintained after servicing.

If some accident prevents the oven from turning itself off, an individual should never reach inside, said Thiel. It's possible for a serious burn to occur. In the event of switch failure, the door should be closed immediately and the appliance unplugged from the power source.

Thiel says that microwave oven users find that this form of cooking is a new experience. "People who have them--and have learned to use them--greatly appreciate their benefits. They cook quickly and heat food quickly and are great time savers, he said. "It's the same with any new, modern device; people have to adjust to it."

Most of the difficulties he's heard of, said Thiel, have been related to improper techniques in preparing food or cooking in an oven. One example was the case of the individual who tried to soft-boil an egg in a microwave oven. It was dramatically learned that due to fast cooking properties of the oven the egg exploded because of steam generated within the egg.

Microwaves cook differently than conventional gas and electric ovens, where the air is heated, causing the food to cook from the outside to the center. Through its peculiar properties, the

Aoudad - An Elusive Trophy

Sportsmen are awaiting the 1975 aoudad sheep season which opens Nov. 15 and continues through Nov. 21 in four Texas Panhandle counties.

Landowners in Briscoe, Floyd, Armstrong and Randall counties were issued 202 aoudad permits by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

These landowners can issue the same permits to sportsmen willing to pursue the elusive aoudad or barbary sheep.

Approximately 35 percent of the hunters are successful in bagging an aoudad as shown by the 1974 P&WD records. A total of 72 sheep were bagged from 203 permits issued last season. Each hunter spent 12.8 hours in the field after their sheep and fired an average of 7.4 shots for each aoudad collected.

Out of the 39 rams and 11 ewes weighed by P&WD personnel, each sheep averaged 140.5 and 81.9 pounds respectively.

Horn measurements taken from 50 animals indicated that the average horn was measured from a ram taken in Randall county that exceeded 32.5 inches.

All the hunters unfamiliar with the aoudad sheep should become acquainted with the habits and characteristics of this imported mountain climber.

Microwaves interact with food and cause water molecules to vibrate and become hot. Since there are water molecules in nearly everything cookable, the microwave oven cooks more or less evenly from center to surface.

The Department of Health Resources has these safety tips for oven users. 1. Clean thoroughly after each use, especially around the door seal; 2. Do not heat the oven when empty; 3. Do not tamper with interlocks; Travelers from Springfield, Missouri

Letter To The Editor

Some of your local residents reinforced our faith in human goodness recently by their help while we were passing through your town. Our car broke down on a country road at night. A young man whose name we failed to get, stopped to help and ended up pulling us into McLean, Texas service station and attempting to find us a mechanic. He was unsuccessful, but he tried, and refused to let us reimburse him in any way. The service station attendant was unable to fix our car, but offered us the use of his personal car to find overnight lodging. The next morning we were able to get our car fixed quickly and were on our way with a very warm feeling toward McLean, Texas, and we do want to express our thanks. these species will become a part of the legal bag limit. All animals and birds taken into possession must be kept in an edible condition.

Firearms legal for taking quail in regulatory counties is limited to rifles, shotguns and other legal firearms and long bows and arrows. Shotguns need not be plugged to a three shell capacity when hunting quail in regulatory county.

Hunters will be allowed to hunt from vehicle while the vehicle is on private property but the sportsmen is reminded that it is one of the most dangerous situations in the field. The restriction of shooting from public roads is still in effect and will be enforced by wardens of the P&WD.

Sportsmen have been careful in past seasons when nongame birds such as hawks, owls, eagles and songbirds are seen in the same general area of quail. Those hunters violating this regulation will be prosecuted as it is best to identify your target before firing.

More information can be obtained by reading the new 1975 Texas hunting guide available from license vendors, P&WD offices, wardens or call (806) 744-6583 in Lubbock.
