Green Miley Spoke Lions Club

Miss Doreen Miley, District Executive, Boy Scouts of America, was the chief speaker last Monday night at Lions Club. Miss Miley, of Pampa, introduced by Neal Middleton, spoke on advancing scouting in the McLean area. She finished by presenting Lion President Darryel Herndon and Mr. Neal Middleton with Universal Scouting pins. Scoutmaster Middleton of McLean wants to create an active program in scouting, run by the scouts themselves. This will include trips, camping, recruiting, uniforms, awards, etc.

Lion Clarence Pierce was presented a special pin for ten years service by President Darryel Herndon.

McLean Lions continue to gather points for their club through making special efforts to visit out of town organizations. Lions Boyd Meador, W. W. Boyd, S. A. Cousins, and Jim Hathaway visited the Groom Lions Club March 19th. On March 14th, Lions Ken Gabehart, W. W. Boyd, Boyd Meador, and T. Pennington visited the Lions at Wellington. McLean Lions have visited ten clubs altogether in the past several weeks.

Wheeler To Hold Equipment Sale

The Wheeler County Livestock Show Association will sponsor a farm equipment sale, Saturday April 16, at the Wheeler County Agricultural Center, 1/2 mile north of Wheeler.

The sale will be held regardless of the weather. In the event of bad weather, the sale will be held inside the Agricultural Center.

Equipment may be consigned to the sale by contacting Vocational Agricultural instructors: Bryon Thoms in Allison; Dennis Crawford in Briscoe; James Moffett in Mobeetie; Bob Baxter in Shamrock; Wayne Bullock in Wheeler or County Extension Agent, Don King.

Consignments must be received by April 1, in order to be listed on the sale bill. However, equipment will be accepted up to the day of the sale.

David Zybach, Association president, said, "Our last farm equipment sale was a big success and we hope to have even a better sale this year. We hope anyone with equipment to sell will consign it to our sale."

Proceeds from the sale will be used to help pay for the wash rack recently constructed and to help defray expenses of operating the Agricultural Center.

6% of the 1977 sales goal of $490,000.

Texas sales during the month amounted to $21,030,227, while sales for the first month of 1977 totaled $21,030,227 with 8% of the yearly sales goal of $776.9 million achieved.

Retirees Can Avoid Filing Declaration of Estimated Tax

Retirees can avoid making quarterly tax payments by filing a Form W-4P to have Federal income tax withheld on each pension and annuity payment, the Internal Revenue Service said.

By filing a Form W-4P, "Annuitant's Request for Federal Income Tax Withholding," with the agency paying the pension or annuity, the taxpayer will not have to estimate the amount of tax owed nor will he or she have to pay a large sum of money at one time. The only requirement with a W-4P form is that at least $5 per month be withheld. Then the taxpayer must only file an annual tax return on or before April 15.

If a retiree does not file a W-4P and receives pension payments or other incomes which are subject to tax, he or she must file a declaration of estimated income tax, Form 1040-ES, when the estimated tax is $100 or more.

Even if some tax money is withheld, a declaration must be filed when the estimated gross income includes more than $500 on which no tax has been withheld. This, too, only applies when the estimated tax is $100 or more.

Payment is then made either when the Form 1020-ES is filed or in equal quarterly installments beginning with the filing form, the IRS said.

Taxpayers can obtain further information by checking with a local IRS office.

Mr. and Mrs. David Upton and girls from Amarillo visited Sunday in the Oba Kunkel home.

LETTERS TO EDITOR:

Dear Editor

For some time Veral Lynn and I have wanted to write a note of appreciation to the city of McLean and the many friends who made it possible for us to spend some fourteen of the happiest and most meaningful years of our lives with you.

We moved to McLean in February of 1962 with plans to stay 60 to 90 days. But by the end of that period we were "hooked" and the months turned to years until with deep regret, we were faced with another move.

We are happy here at Lake Tanglewood, but we surely do miss our loved ones there. We wish we could visit more often, but let this be a sincere invitation for any of our friends to visit us at anytime, you will be most welcome.

It is said, and it must be true or Veral Lynn would never have married me, that beauty and love is in the eyes of the beholder. But somehow we never saw or felt the lack of spirit, or the presence of lethargy in McLean. We did, however, see and feel a deep sense of pride and loyalty in the people for their town. One thing for sure, McLean had to fight for everything it received, and nothing came easy.

Many of us wonder at times, at least I do; just what is our purpose on earth? I can't always answer my own question, but I can sure tell anyone what my purpose is not! And that is simple one what my purpose is not! And that is simply not to judge my fellow man. I thank God that we came to Christ while we were there with you. And we will all be judged by Him when that day comes. It would be best, I think to try to prepare ourselves for that time.

Again, please allow Veral Lynn and I to say from the bottom of our hearts, McLean and friends we love and miss you.

Sincerely,
R.T. and Veral Lynn

"Hello?" "Hi Marge, this is Suzie?" "Suzie, Suzie, Suzie! What a pleasant surprise!" "How are ya?" "I'm doing fine. How are things with you?" "Oh, things are terrific around here since you left." "I'll bet. You know I miss you guys." "How do you like your new house?" "Oh, Suzie, it's terrific." "Did you get what you wanted?" "That and more." "Well?" "Well what?" "Tell me about your stupid new house." "Suzie, it's fabulous." "Did you get the back yard you wanted?" "Three acres with a pond." "Do you have a garden?" "We have a greenhouse!" "Do you have a nice kitchen?" "A huge kitchen with all new appliances!" "Do you have some aspirin?" "Aspirin?" "Yeah, you're making me sick." "You should complain. You're not exactly living in a dump." "How does Fred like his new job?" "Suzie, he's a new man." "He likes it?" "He loves it. Absolutely loves it." "That's good." "How is Jack?" "Fine. He's going through a do-it-yourself phase right now." "Oh, good." "Everytime I ask him to do something, he yells 'Do it yourself!'" "Oh, not good." "When are you coming to visit us?" "When are you going to invite us?" "You know you have a standing invitation." "Yeah, but we'd rather sit." "I'm serious, when are you coming?" "Name a date." "How about in a few weeks... say the week of the 29th?" "Wait a minute, let me get my calendar... the 29th?" "That's a Saturday." "Yeah. Sounds good." "Okay, it's a deal. We'll be expecting you." "What do you want us to bring?" "Just your sense of humor." "No." "No?" "Just joking." "Funny." "You missed a great party at the Smiths last night." "They had a party? They never have parties." "They've been waiting for you to move away." "What happened?" "Well, for starters, Jackie's dog ate the main course before any of the guests arrived." "You're kidding." "No. Then the air conditioning went on the blink." "No wonder they never had any parties. What did everyone do?" "We starved and perspired a lot." "Sounds awful." "Speaking of starving, how's the old diet?" "I'll tell you, you tell me." "125." "Oh, Susan! You've been cheating!" "No I haven't." "Well how can you lose weight if you've been eating?" "How about you?" "I'm not telling." "Come on." "One fxxvie five." "What?" "One fxxvie five." "Marge, you're mumbling." "One fxxvie five." "One forty five?" "Less." "One thirty five?" "See, that's not so bad." "That's terrible." "I know." "What's your excuse?" "A perfectly understandable insecurity resulting from having to adapt to new surroundings." "New surroundings. The only new surroundings you're gonna have to adapt to is the late surrounding your midsection." "Hey, look. Go easy kid. I don't have you to nag me any more." "Well, it hasn't been easy for me either." "You wouldn't believe the food prices here." "Oh?" "Low." "Low?" "Low." "No wonder you're eating so much." "I'm not kidding..." "Neither am I." "...I'm saving about 15 dollars a week over what used to pay." "You're kidding!" "I'm not kidding." "Sounds like you got a raise, too." "Right. 15 dollars to blow on anything I like... toilet paper, floor wax and soap." "Don't forget laundry detergent." "Right." "Hey, you took something of mine when you left." "Your yellow sweater?" "Did you take my sweater?" "Sorry, I wasn't going to tell you." "That's okay. You keep my sweater and I'll keep your skirt." "Skirt?" "You know, the one with all the animals on it?" "Oh, yeah. I'd forgotten about that." "Is it a deal?" "We'll trade when you come to visit." "Suzie, I'm sorry I even brought the subject up." "What were you going to say?" "I was going to say that you took my Suzie Fu Yung recipe." "Did I?" "Yes." "I'll give you that too when you come." "Good." "See? Just think of the nice things awaiting you when you come." "I can't wait. Hey, I have something for you." "What?" "A riddle." "Shoot." "What has four holder-uppers, four puller-downers, a pair of lookers, and a swishy-wishy?" "I don't know, what?" "I'll tell you when we come to visit." "Oh, no you don't!" "Bye." "Come on, tell me!" "Bye." "Suzie"

CONSUMER FOOD GUIDE

Lamb promises "feature prices" on some cuts as supplies are increasing for the season at Texas grocery markets, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

Lamb specials will include loin and rib lamb chops, leg of lamb and shoulder roasts, she said.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

At beef counters, best values appear on chuck cuts, while good buys are available on a number of steaks for boiling and rib roasts. Other good choices are ground beef, round steak and beef liver.

In poultry departments, fryer chickens have reasonable prices - and turkey prices make them a good protein value with large birds providing the lowest cost per serving.

At pork counters, ham is a popular seasonal choice, but consumers should read labels carefully, because ham has many meanings, the specialist cautioned. Pork values in some markets are in whole pork loins - while others are featuring Boston butt-roasts, end chops, quarter-loins cut into chops, loin end roasts, smoked picnics, bacon, frankfurters and liver.

At fruit counters, high-quality winter pears are big - while other economical choices are oranges, grapefruit and apples.

In vegetable buying, items in good supply at the most economical prices include broccoli, carrots, head lettuce, potatoes, collards, mustard, turnips, rutabagas, and spinach.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Pasta products are featured - and they make excellent protein extenders or stretchers for more economical meals. Remember to buy enriched products.

couraging ASCS officials at both the State and National levels to make the extension. Hightower met late Tuesday afternoon in his office with Secretary of Agriculture Bergland, and Texas Wheat Association officials Winston Wilson, Association President of Quanah and Bill Nelson of Amarillo, Executive Director.

We had a good discussion of not only this extension problem but several aspects of the problems our farmers are facing. If Secretary Bergland can speed up the Department of Agriculture's reaction time to problems we are going to be in a better situation as far as agriculture is concerned.

The time extension applies to forty counties in Panhandle area of Texas. The counties are Archer, Armstrong, Bailey, Baylor, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Collingsworth, Cottle,

Gray County SWCD Met Recently

The regular monthly meeting of the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District Board was held recently in the Gray County Courthouse Annex opened by Curtis Schaffer, Secretary. Those present included Robert Sailor and Milton Carpenter, District Directors; Perry Gruhlkey, SCS; and Lana Waters, SWCD Secretary.

Progress on McClellan Creek and Red Deer Creek Watersheds was discussed by the Board. A report on the Panhandle Association of SWCD meeting in Friona was given by Robert Sailor and Milton Carpenter. The new conservation course at Pampa High School taught by Mrs. Joe Fisher was discussed by the Directors, which prompted a unanimous decision to sponsor a teacher at the Conservation Education Workshop at West Texas State University this spring.

Proposed Changes In Game Regulation

Among the notable hunting and fishing regulation proposals to be discussed at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department hearings the week of March 21-25 will be measures concerning landowners falsifying acreage totals when obtaining antlerless deer permits and an increase in striped bass bag limit.

A hearing will be conducted in each of the 233 counties regulated by the Parks and Wildlife Department in order to explain proposals and obtain public comment. Parks and Wildlife Commissioners later review proposals and comments prior to action on recommendations in April.

Current regulations do not adequately prohibit a landowner or lessee from obtaining more permits for antlerless deer, elk or antelope than proper game management should be harvested from a particular tract of land. The proposed regulation is designed to prevent an overkill resulting from fraudulently obtained permits.

A related proposal will prohibit the use of a permit more than once.

Striped bass, initially stocked in Texas fresh water in 1968, have steadily grown in numbers thus permitting a larger creel limit. The bag limit proposal will increase the current statewide limit from one fish to three, except in Toledo Bend Reservoir, where it will be two as it is on the Louisiana side of the lake.

Public comment will also be invited at the hearings concerning management of red drum, commonly called redfish. Department studies indicate an overharvest of reds in coastal waters. Redfish are highly prized by both sport and commercial fishermen.

Aoudad sheep hunters in the Panhandle will have a longer season if a proposed 14-day season immediately prior to deer season is approved. The current season is seven days.

Archery hunting regulations also will be considered to permit small game hunters to possess a shotgun in camp, car on on their person, provided they have shells containing shot no larger than number six.

Changes in deer hunting regulations are minor compared to past years. In Edwards and Real Counties, the proposed bag limit includes does and spike bucks, as in most surrounding counties, and an October archery season is recommended. The definition of a legal buck in Kendall County will also permit spike bucks in the bag limit.

Another recommendation, if approved, would require that antlerless deer in Zavala County be taken by permit only.

Don't Play With Fire!

"Can a man take fire into his bosom, and his clothes not be burned? Can one go upon hot coals, and his feet not be burned?" (Prov. 6:27-28)

The answer to Solomon's questions are "NO!" Fire burns! We learned that quite early in life. And who among those of us who grew up with wood and coal heating stoves escaped getting a few scars in the learning process?

The fire of which Solomon warns is far more dangerous, though, than that which is only hot. He is warning against toying with SIN! He says that anyone who does is bound to get hurt! (Sin is the transgression of God's law - 1 John 3:4) Do you believe him? Would that we could learn this lesson without taking fire into our bosom!

Every sin costs something. Sometimes the price is high, and sometimes not, but . . . it is never without its effect. Who is to say just how one will have to pay - a seared conscience? A broken heart? A ruined reputation? A LOST SOUL?

There is no way a man can play with fire and not be burned! The wise man's lesson is: "LEAVE IT ALONE!"

People who choose to live in rural or sparsely-populated areas deserve the same quality of health care as their big-city neighbors. The problem is that not enough physicians and other health providers want to live in rural areas.

The problem concerns the entire health services system, both the public and the private sectors. For a number of years, the medical profession in Texas, through the Texas Medical Association, has looked for ways to encourage young doctors to locate their practices in small towns where they can serve the surrounding countryside.

According to Dr. Ed Schmidt, the past president of the Texas Medical Association, practicing medicine in outlying areas offers several advantages: "short travel time between places, no smog, no traffic problem, relative freedom from crime, a wholesome atmosphere" are some of the examples he cites.

On the other hand, Dr. Schmidt recognizes that most young doctors are not attracted to rural practice. He explains, "Some doctors feel that they may not be able to cope with the situation, since they've been trained in an academic environment with a large amount of backup from big hospitals and medical centers. They don't feel comfortable" in a more isolated environment, he says.

It's also true, according to the medical association, that doctors in rural areas work harder, often for longer hours, and generally have lower earnings than their big-city counterparts. Furthermore, the doctors -- and their spouses -- often miss the social life, entertainment, and other amenities of a metropolitan environment.

Dr. Mario Ramirez, who has based his practice in remote Roma for the past quarter of a century, knows firsthand the problems of both poverty and rural areas. Until recently, he was not only the only physician in the area, but he operated his own hospital -- the only one in the South Texas county. Now there's a new hospital in Rio Grande City, but there is still a shortage of skilled medical personnel.

Dr. Ramirez believes that the best solution is to help young people from the rural areas obtain an education in medicine. Hopefully, after they receive their education, they'll return to their hometowns to practice among the people they know best. This approach has been used with some success, but it's inherently a slow process -- and the young doctors don't always want to go back home once they've spent a few years in the bright lights of the big town.

According to Dr. Schmidt, science and technology are beginning to help rural physicians provide better care, and to end the feeling of isolation. New devices such as remote telemetry, closed-circuit television, and computers can be used to give the rural practitioner access to expert consultants and other sources of vital information even if it's thousands of miles away. Also, the expanded use of paraprofessional medical personnel, such as physician's assistants and paramedics, helps to relieve the rural doctor's burdensome caseload.

Public health in Texas has made great strides in its effort to provide better service to people in the countryside. Although there are full-time local health departments in only about 75 of the state's 254 counties, the local agencies now serve roughly 80 percent of the population.

Six years ago the first of ten Public Health Regions was established. This Fall, the last two regional offices will be open for business. According to Dr. Fratis L. Duff, Director of the Texas Department of Health Resources, the whole purpose of the regional program is to "form the coordinated and integrated regional staff capable of providing comprehensive public health services" to the rural areas that don't have access to a local health department.

Dr. Duff says, "The public health regions have demonstrated that public health services can be provided to all citizens of the state in an efficient and economical manner, even in the sparsely populated rural counties with very limited fiscal resources."

The goal for both the private and the public sectors of the health care system is the same: to ensure that every citizen in Texas has access to the services he or she needs, no matter where people choose to live.

Gray County Farm Newsletter

You can report your total planted wheat acres at any time. It must be reported by May 15 to be used for proven yields in future years. You would need to report your wheat for 1976 if you might want to prove your wheat yield any time through 1983.

You are again reminded that March 20 has been set as the final date to graze wheat or barley in Gray County if it is to be harvested for grain.

If you are grazing some wheat that you plan to harvest, you need to stop grazing on March 20 or have it appraised if you want to graze after that date and the crop has been affected by natural disaster. If appraised at this time, it will probably appraise very high.

If you have some wheat you plan to graze out, be sure to report it to us by March 21 so it will not be classified as wheat against any low yield payment you might be eligible for later. Then go right and graze it.

F. P. College Set Variety Of Classes

In an effort to respond to a variety of class scheduling differences and needs within its existing student body, Frank Phillips College introduced, for the spring semester, a 4-day schedule with classes meeting Monday through Thursday. This 4-day schedule has existed this spring on a limited scale and in addition to the already-existing 5-day schedule.

The action has afforded the student who adopted the 4-day schedule to have a three-day weekend.

The multiplicity concept for scheduling at FPC has now been extended even further for the Fall, '77 semester.

A student may be able to carry a full class load over a 5-day schedule if desired, or to carry the same classes over a 4-day session with either Tuesday, Thursday, or Friday free of classes in addition to the weekend, thereby allowing the possibility of a 3-day weekend.

In each case, classes may be scheduled entirely in the morning or in the morning and afternoon.

In addition to the above, additional adjustments have been made in order to make it possible for the student to schedule a full class load, with morning and evening classes, over a 3-day or even a 2-day period.

Consequently, if a dormitory student wishes to have the advantage of a 3-day weekend, or if a commuting student wishes to carry a full load and commute only 2, 3, or 4 days per week, he may do so.

A student wishing to carry a full load and work 2, 3, or 4 days a week may do so.

The inclusion of the evening schedule of classes extends the potential of scheduling possibilities.

Cotton lotments may be transferred at any time through May 1. They can be leased for one year only or sold permanently. Be sure to fill out the transfer papers in time to allow enough time to obtain all signatures needed from operators and owners on the farm involved. Leases can be made to farms anywhere in Texas but sales can only be made to farms in Gray County.

Pond Planning

Most fishermen dream of having their own private pond or lake where they can sneak down and catch a good size bass and this is possible if proper pond planning, construction, stocking and management practices are followed.

Recent surveys have shown that farm ponds and small lakes are used substantially by fishermen throughout the state. More than 23,000,000 fishing recreation days or about 35 percent of the total fishing trips occur on these small bodies of water in Texas.

The objectives of any good management program are to control the species of fish present and to provide conditions for good fishing. The management practices which best achieve these objectives are 1) construction designed to avoid the introduction of unwanted fish by preventing overflow through the use of overflow tubes or water falls; 2) installation of a drain pipe; 3) preparation of the pond bottom; 4) eradication of wild or native fish in the land basin prior to impoundment, and 5) proper planning and construction of a pond or lake.

Pond site selection is usually dictated by the land surrounding the site. Most ponds are dug to provide livestock with drinking water with from one-half to two-thirds of their area in shallow water where weeds grow unbelievably thick.

Shallow lakes soon become muddy or clogged with unwanted vegetation and access to the water is restricted to both cattle and angler.

The drainage area for the lake should furnish enough water to fill the pond and maintain a water level that does not fluctuate more than a few feet during the dry months. However, excess water runoff or overflow can destroy the pond.

The completion date of the pond should be planned and the most desirable time is early fall. Sunfish and catfish are available from hatcheries during this period and their release prior to stocking bass will allow good survival. Further, lower water temperatures during the fall prevent reproduction of native fish that might be present on the watershed or in the lake basin.

Construction of the lake bed, spillway, drainpipe, and clearing timber and installing fish shelters should be discussed with the contractor, local Soil Conservation Service, neighbors, and other pond owners to assure that you receive the best results for the amount of work done on your pond.

Before filling the lake, plant a fast growing cover crop in the lake basin such as rye grass or oats. This will greatly benefit the fertility of the water and serve to stabilize the bottom to aid in preventing turbid or dirty water.

County Agricultural Agents Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

By Joe VanZandt

A Landscape Horticulture Short Course will be held Wednesday March 30, in Pampa at the Courthouse Annex Meeting room. There will be two sessions on Wednesday. The morning program will be from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the evening program will be from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Both sessions will cover the same information. In the afternoon from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., specialists will be available for individual conferences on landscape problems.

Speakers for the programs include Everett Janne, Landscape Horticulturist and Dr. Richard Duble, Turfgrass Specialist, both with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, headquartered at College Station, Texas. Discussions will cover maintenance of the landscape including pruning and training or mowing, planting and transplanting, weed control, soil management to include fertilization, irrigation, conditioning and thatch control of turf. The discussions will cover the above subjects as related to trees, shrubs, flowers, indoor plants, and turfgrass.

The program is designed for the home gardener who is interested in learning how to care for the home landscape. The meetings are free and open to the public. Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Stockmen in Gray County will soon be faced with an annual problem that often goes untreated or unnoticed. That problem is shin oak poisoning.

Livestock that eat shin oak buds, flowers and leaves as new growth begins in the spring begin to lose weight and have a constant case of diarrhea. Calves are especially susceptible, and some have died from hemorrhagic enteritis and bloody diarrhea after being ill only 24 hours.

Signs of the toxin working within the animal begin with constipation, a decrease in appetite, frequent urination and smaller intakes of water. Death may occur after the animal has been ill more than a month.

A logical solution to help prevent cattle from eating the poisonous shin oak is to feed them during the time the new growth appears--usually three to four weeks. But this is not enough. A supplement of calcium hydroxide (hydrated lime) needs to be added to the feed mix to serve as an antidote to the poisoning. feed mix of 600 pounds of ground alfalfa, 1,080 pounds of cottonseed meal, 120 pounds of vegetable oil and 200 pounds of hydrated lime has proved effective as well as economical. There should be no substitutions in the mix.

Calves should receive the mix creep-fed while older animals need about 4 pounds daily, starting about a week before shin oak buds appear.

A custom mixed feed is available from Godbold Feed, Incorporated of Lubbock or the company's retail dealers in a number of locations.

USDA has released the following information about foreign grain crop prospects for 1977 in the northern Hemisphere.

According to reports received as of early February, planting of winter grains in Western Europe, the Soviet Union, North Africa, and South Asia proceeded generally according to plan. The major exceptions are the United Kingdom, Portugal, and Italy, where seedings were limited by wet weather.

Ground moisture has generally been plentiful in all foreign, Northern Hemisphere winter grain areas, and crops developed well before the arrival of winter weather. In cold areas snow has provided generally good protective cover as well as added moisture.

A good 1977 grain harvest will depend on continuing favorable weather during the rest of the season, including a good spring planting season. However, the prospect at present is for a large winter grain harvest next summer in Northern Hemisphere countries outside the U.S.A. Since yields from fall planted grains are usually bigger than from spring grains, the heavy fall seedings also favor a large total grain output in those countries in 1977.

In Western Europe, arrival of rains in September broke the critical 1976 drought and provided generally favorable conditions for fall planting of grains.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCall, former residents visited in McLean last week. While here, they stayed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parr.
