75th ANNIVERSARY EDITION

The McLean News

Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

VOLUME 75 McLEAN, GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1978 PRICE 20¢ NUMBER 39

from the staff side
by Linda Haynes

The staff of The McLean News chose this week to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the founding of the News. Although we are sure that the paper started in 1903, we were unable to determine the month.

Working on this edition has given me a renewed sense of the responsibilities of this job. So many good and great men have owned the paper and made a true contribution to the progress of the town, that the job begins to look more awesome all the time.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have one of those science-fiction time-machines and travel back and see what McLean really looked like? To talk to some of those early settlers?

We have tried to provide enough information and pictures so that you can attempt to make that journey in your imagination.

Since I am not a trained historian I know that we have left out many things that might have been of interest to you. If you have any obvious oversight, please tell us, because the city of McLean will celebrate its 70th birthday as an incorporated town next year, and we plan a large historical edition for that.

If you own a business in McLean or are the member of a pioneer family, I hope you will begin digging out old pictures and writing up a history of your business or family for that edition. We want it to be a special tribute to the town that we are all so proud of.

This paper has been accused of being a cheerleader for McLean, and I am delighted! That's exactly what I have intended for the paper to be. I know McLean has problems, as does every town, but if you don't like it here, chances are you won't like the next town you live in either!

I have found Mrs. Vera Back's historical file more and more valuable. One of her pet projects was to have students write papers about the history of various businesses and families in McLean. Do you suppose our current teachers might be interested in such a project? Everyone benefits from such a study. The youngsters learn more about their heritage, and the people who get to read the papers can relive some old memories.

McLean News—75 Years Old

This year marks the seventy-fifth anniversary of The McLean News. The newspaper has had several editors since its inception in 1903.

In 1903, J.A. Haynes and John Guthrie, local carpenters, owned the block of land in McLean where the News office stands now.

Richardson was the editor of the paper when McLean was incorporated as a town, and probably had a great deal to do with the development of McLean.

Job Fair Scheduled

AMARILLO--In an effort to help area manufacturers find qualified or qualifiable employees the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce Local Industry Committee and the Board of City Development will coordinate a job-matching program under the job fair concept in October.

In preparation for the job-matching program, 9 a.m. - 3 p.m., Oct. 14, at the Civic Center, an orientation for all participating firms will be 2 p.m., Wed., Sept. 13, at the Pioneer Natural Gas Company Blue Flame Room, 3rd and Taylor. It will be an hour-long session.

This October job-matching program comes under the second phase of Governor Dolph Briscoe's Texas First Program.

The Chamber of Commerce has asked Amarillo and Panhandle area firms to list jobs with this program which will be available between Oct. 14 and Dec. 1, 1978, according to Dan Neely, C of C Local Industry Committee chairman.

This job-matching effort will be advertised in surrounding states to attract new workers into our labor market, Neely said.

"We urge firms wishing to participate to get the name of the individual who will attend the orientation meeting next Wednesday into the C of C as soon as possible," he continued.

If there are any questions they should be directed to LeRoy Tillery, Amarillo Chamber of Commerce assistant manager.

Fellowship Candidates Sought

The President's Commission on White House Fellowships is seeking highly qualified candidates for its 1979-80 competition. Fourteen to nineteen positions are open for this extraordinary but highly competitive opportunity.

President Lyndon B. Johnson established the program in 1964 to give outstanding younger Americans firsthand experience in the process of governing of the nation. The White House Fellowship program is a nonpartisan effort to draw in a few of the brightest and most promising people from all over the country to work at a unique level in the Federal government for a year.

Presidents Nixon, Ford, and Carter have continued the Fellowship program with a high level of support. President Carter has removed the specific age limitations. The program is now open to all those who are early in their careers. Fellows have been chosen from a wide variety of careers and professions including law, medicine, teaching, state and local government and the arts.

The Fellows serve for one year, usually as a special assistant to the Vice-President, a member of the President's Cabinet, or to a presidential assistant. The Fellows may be involved in the development of special programs, assist in speech writing, engage in inter-departmental task forces, or do other tasks assigned by their principals. The knowledge that each Fellow gains in his work assignment is shared with the other Fellows during the year-long educational program which is conducted in addition to the work assignments and provides the Fellows an opportunity to meet with government leaders, journalists, and others related to government.

The Commission is looking for persons who will be the future leaders of their chosen career or profession and of their community. Applicants should possess enough credentials of accomplishments to show their potential for their leadership and of community or professional contributions.

The competition for the Fellowships is open to all United States citizens. There are no occupational, age, sex, racial, or religious restrictions. However, current employees of the Federal government are not eligible with the exception of career military personnel. For additional information or an application send a post card with name and address to the President's Commission on White House Fellowships, 1900 E. Street NW, Room 1308, Washington, D.C. 20415 or call (202) 653-6263. Requests for applications must be postmarked no later than November 15, 1978. The deadline for receipt of completed applications is December 1, 1978.

Applications Available For Fish

Application forms are available from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for three species of fish to be stocked in private waters in 1979.

These fish including the largemouth bass, channel catfish and sunfish are stocked at a recommended rate of 50 per acre. The bass cost $2 per surface acre, catfish $4 and sunfish $5. A $2 application charge is required for each order to cover cost of computer and paperwork.

The bass fingerling will be delivered in the spring and the channel catfish and sunfish the following August. Purchases must pick fish up at 37 locations across the state.

For an application form, write O. Hatchery Coordinator, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Rd Austin, TX 78744. Applicants have until Nov. 1 to apply for these P&WD fish.

Texas pond owners should consider whether their waters actually need to be stocked with fingerlings. If a lake has an established fish population now, it would be expensive and wasteful to restock fingerling fish because the larger fish would most likely eat the smaller ones.

Use Caution In Exercising Urges TMA

The growing popularity of exercise in the U.S. has propelled many middle-aged people into situations that could help or hurt their health. It all is on how they approach exercise, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says.

With a recent Gallup poll showing almost half of all U.S. citizens exercise some way daily, middle-age people face the temptation to throw their bodies into activities at the same intensity as 20-year-olds. If they do attempt youthful feats, discouragement, injury, but seldom success, may follow.

Of course many middle-age people are in better shape than people many years younger. But if they are healthier, they approach exercise sensibly and often slowly.

Especially for the individual who has not exercised in a few years, easing into it is especially important. Doing warm-up exercises, taking less and slowly increasing amounts of exercise are just a few ideas to make exercise more beneficial and enjoyable. Here are some other tips from TMA:

- Pick enjoyable exercises that involve, full rhythmic movements;
- Exercise at least three times weekly year-round;
- Do only about 10-15 consecutive repetitions of exercises affecting one particular muscle group;
- Include exercise that builds endurance as well as muscles.

A strong heart and lungs have long-term value than bulging biceps. If you are over age 40 or have a heart problem or chronic disease, check with a physician before starting an exercise program.

Except for the last recommendation, all the other guidelines apply to people of any age. U.S. News and World Report quotes a former president of the American College of Sports Medicine who says middle age can start about three years after people get out of college or the armed forces, usually in their mid-20s. So exercise guidelines apply to young people with unhealthy lifestyles as well as older people.

A TMA pamphlet on healthy lifestyle quotes a California study that shows that people in their 50s who follow six simple rules, including exercise, can be as healthy as someone many years younger who follows very few of the rules. For a copy of the TMA pamphlet, "Your Health Is In Your Hands," write TMA Communication Dept., 1801 N. Lamar Blvd., Austin, Texas 78701.

Management of ponds and lakes can be complicated, but a department publication discussing lake management techniques is available to the pond owner in Texas. The booklet entitled "Construction Hints and Preliminary Management Practices for New Ponds and Lakes" may be obtained by writing the Literature Distribution Office, P&WD, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744.

Texas Historical Commission A Gunman Repents

A crowd estimated at 4000 gathered outside Giddings on October 11, 1878, to watch William Preston (Bill) Longley hang. This 27-year-old marksman, horseman and charmer had been born into an upstanding pioneer family. Partially a victim of his time, he was too young to serve in the Civil War. He developed an intense dislike for the carpetbagger rule during reconstruction and for blacks in general. He saw himself as an avenger of the mistreated public. For a while he ran with young hooligans, going to social and causing a ruckus.

His criminal career started in 1867 when he killed a black man. From then on, murders and robberies forced him to stay on the run from the law. When arrested in Louisiana in 1877, Longley had built a reputation as a desperado that ranked with the wildest outlaw. He displayed uncanny ability to elude the law and to escape after capture. He became especially fearful after surviving a hanging. From his cell in the Lee County Jail in Giddings, Longley wrote letters to the "Giddings Tribune", bragging about his exploits, claiming to have killed 32 men. After his murder conviction, the tone of his letters changed. He blamed his hot temper and liquor for the haste in which he killed and he advised young men to avoid following in his footsteps. Apparently impressed by his change of heart, Longley's family stayed away from the trial. Even to the end, they did not contact him.

In accordance with custom, he was buried, like all criminals, outside the bounds of the cemetery. Later, as the burial ground grew, his grave became part of the center of the graveyard. The judge who sentenced him is buried in the adjacent plot. An OFFICIAL TEXAS HISTORICAL MARKER, awarded by the Texas Historical Commission, and a blackjack tree mark Longley's grave in Giddings Cemetery.

In the Kitchen

By Linda Haynes

With cool Autumn evenings here, a good warm chocolate desert is always a treat. Try this one by Mayme Hathaway.

CHOCOLATE OATMEAL CAKE
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1 cup rolled oats
1/2 cup butter or margarine, soft
1 cup granulated sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
2 oz. (2 sq.) unsweetened chocolate melted and cooled
1 1/2 cups sifted all purpose flour
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon

For cake, pour boiling water over oats. Stir, cover and let stand 20 minutes. Beat butter until creamy. Gradually add sugars beating until fluffy. Blend in vanilla, eggs, and melted chocolate. Add oats mixture. Mix well. Sift together flour, soda, salt, and cinnamon. Add to creamed mix. Mix well; pour batter into greased and floured 9-inch square pan.

Bake in preheated moderate oven at 350 degrees for 50-55 minutes.

Do not remove cake from pan. For broiled frosting, combine 1/4 cup melted butter, 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 3 tablespoons light cream, 1/2 cup chopped pecans, 3/4 cup cocoa. Spread evenly over cake. Broil until frosting becomes bubbly. Serve warm or cold.

Good frozen, and better if frozen when warm.

Best Grocery Buys Reported

COLLEGE STATION -- Best buys at Texas grocery markets this week include fryer chickens, turkey parts, eggs, frozen orange juice, cooking greens and dry yellow onions, Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyatt reports.

Also, brown sugar and confectioner's sugar has sale prices--with an eye on upcoming holidays, she says.

Mrs. Ciyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

This week's price-quality trends include the following:

POULTRY--Both whole fryer chickens and mixed parts are bargains, and turkey parts have low prices in some markets. Medium-size eggs usually are the best buy currently.

FRESH VEGETABLE--Dry yellow onions in heavy supply have attractive prices in many markets. Cooking greens--mustard, collards and turnips--and others from local truck farms have excellent quality at reasonable prices.

Other economical items are cabbage, carrots, corn, bell peppers, squash and potatoes. Buy only small amounts of sweet potatoes, since current supplies are not cured. Late fall and winter supplies will be cured, and they will keep longer.

More attractive prices appear on eggplant, broccoli and cauliflower.

FRESH FRUITS--Most economical items are bananas, plums, cantaloupe and honeydew melons. Some grape varieties have lower prices. Soft summer fruit supplies are dwindling. New-crop apples and pears have larger supplies, but prices are high.

DAIRY--Look for features on chocolate milk, sour cream, yogurt and cheeses.

BEEF--"Specials" are fewer. Most economical choices are chuck roasts and steaks, boneless roasts, round steaks, liver, ground beef--and ground beef with soy protein.

PORK--Supplies are larger, but prices remain on the high side. Check prices on Boston butt and fresh picnic roasts and quarter loin sliced.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Many dry milk is an unusually heavy subsidy.

4-H Club Writers Projects

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

A brief look at some former McLean residents and where they are now.

Jim Stevens, a 1966 graduate of McLean High School, lives in Houston, where he works for the health department. He is married to the former Jill Fos. She is a junior high school teacher.

A member of the class of 1964, Michael Grogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Grogan of McLean, has been part of the U.S. Navy's Operation Deep Freeze.

Grogan, who graduated from West Texas State University in 1968 with a bachelor of science degree, served in the U.S. Army from 1968 until 1972, spending one year in Vietnam.

LOOSE MARBLES

BY LISA PATMAN

I've lied to you. I wasn't really a good child as I was growing up. I had thought that I might be able to get away with that claim, but my mother read it and has threatened to tell all unless I printed a retraction.

All right, Mom, here goes. Yes, I was the one who tore all the buds off your spring flowers and stuffed them into a Mason jar to see how they would look.

And I'm the one who, when you left me alone in the car while you shopped for groceries, shouted all the dirty words I knew at strangers. At least, they were strangers to me. How was I to know that they belonged to your Sunday school class?

Yes, I remember the time I tried to drink gin and, when you smelled it on my breath, claimed it was mosquito repellent.

But it wasn't really my fault when you caught me smoking my first cigarette. My brother made me do it. He forced me to smoke with him so that I couldn't rat on him. And I haven't been rattling on him ever since.

About staying out past curfew--no, we didn't really run out of gas that often. Now that I'm a grown-up person I realize that using that excuse twice a week was a bit much.

And those dents in the car weren't really caused by unidentified flying objects. But all the miles I put on the car were honestly the result of riding up and down Main street most of the night. I did not, as you often accused me of doing, drive across country.

But Mom, do you remember those times, after all the struggle and pain you went through, that you utter that universal motherhood curse under your breath, "I hope you get a kid just like you, so you'll know what it's like." You won, Mom. I did.

The McLean News Opens During Pioneer Era

When The McLean News was founded in 1903 the town of McLean was one-year old. Founded by Lord Alfred Rowe on a block of land donated by Rowe, the town was in much different than it is today.

McLean had a few businesses then. A frame depot was built in 1903. A barber shop in a tent was owned by W. W. (Windy) Rowe. W. E. McLaughlin opened the first general mercantile store about that time. The first hotel was owned by Silas Campbell. The first saloon in McLean had closed a year earlier.

The town, once called "Rusty Shanks" was officially named for the secretary of the Railroad Commission of Texas, E. R. McLean.

There were several ranches already established by 1903. Among them were ones owned by John Carpenter, J.S. Morse, Alfred Rowe, J.T. Glass, R.S. Thompson, the Campbells, the Whites, the Crawfords, Dave Veatch, the Whatleys, the Hudgins, the Pollards, the Oliviers, the Pressleys, Hog Smith, and George Sitter (although Sitter didn't move here until 1910).

Some of the families who lived here in 1903 were W.B. and Mattie Upham, J.C. and Amanda Short, S.A. and Mettie Cousins, John and Lou Carpenter, J.T. Glass family, Price and Eva Rogers, Etta Shaw, George Colebank, Dora Sanders, W.J. and Eunice Ball, Claybourne Cash, Willie Boyett, Robert and Mollie Thompson, J.S. and Martha Ellen (Dolly) Morse, George Reneau, Nora Bell, James F. and Hattie Heasley, Alonza and Myrtice Stanfield, John Thomas, Ivy Close, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Wilson, Duncan McLean Graham, Mattie Hindman Graham, Dad and Ma Hindman, V. L. Hindman, Pearl Hindman, Alvah B. Christian, Robert and Caroline Jordan, Mout and Maud Noel, and many others.

According to some records the first house in McLean was on the south edge of town, west of the Floral addition, owned by the McLaughlins. He was the first post master.

In 1903 the first school was built in McLean, south of the tracks, with Professor Henry Biggers as the school master. He had 28 students, among them George Colebank, Nona Cousins, Willie Biggers, Nettie Biggers, Andrew Floyd, Wayland Floyd, Flavos Green, Vita Heasley, Eva Biggers, Clifford Biggers, Maude Biggers, J. Ed McLaughlin, Frank McLaughlin, Billie Biggers, and Susie Biggers.

A windstorm demolished the frame building in the second term that year and classes were held in the back of E.H. Small building. Several churches were beginning to build congregations in town by 1903. The Methodist Church had built their building the year before on a block of land same location it is now) donated by Lord Rowe. The Baptist built a church building in 1904, the Presbyterians in 1906, and the Church of Christ held services in homes in McLean as early as 1904.

By 1909 when the city was officially incorporated several more businesses had been established. They included: the Palace Drug, Thornton and Grundy House Furnishers, Dr. W. C. Montgomery, Dr. W.R. Orr (dentist), Cicero Smith Lumber Co., Cooper and Smith Draymen, Dr. C.E. Donnell, Noah's Ark (candy and magazines), the McLean Hardware, attorney S.E. Boyett, McLean Mercantile Co., C. A. Cash and Son, McLean Real Estate, Western Lumber Co., McGrady and Son, Hindman Hotel, Citizens State Bank, the Rock Island Cafe, and the City Blacksmith Shop.

And the E.H. Small Co., J.L. Crabtree and Co., Guthrie and Haynes Building Co.,

W.R. Patterson Abstractor and Conveyances, L.M. Haynes and Son Grocery, and John B. Vannoy.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The historical articles in this issue are not intended to be a definitive study of the early days of McLean. That would require much more time and skill than we possess. Information was taken from early day editions of The McLean News, a term paper by Claude Mounce, recollections of early day residents, and the Alanreed-McLean Museum).

When he sold the News, he retired to his tree farm near the Heald Community and spent the rest of his life doing what he loved most, making things grow.

He had six children who live in the area: Mrs. A.L. Grigsby of McLean, Mrs. Mildred Grigsby of Shawnee, Okla., Floye Reager of Lubbock, Madge Mead of Pampa, Fern Serra of Lubbock, and Marie Carruth of Lubbock.

No history of The McLean News would be complete without the mention of Miss Eunice Stratton. "Miss Eunice", as she was known to generations of McLean residents, began working at the McLean News office when she was 18, shortly after her graduation from McLean High School in 1918, and worked there until her death in the 1960's. She worked for six editors during her tenure at the News.

She was quiet, deeply religious woman who worked efficiently at a job she loved. She ran the printing press and was a virtuoso of the linotype machine.

She was very efficient, patiently training new, young editors and office help through the years. For several generations of McLean people, she was as much a part of the News as any editor.

After two years, Cullen and Combs sold the News and moved to Staton where they operated the Slatonite newspaper.

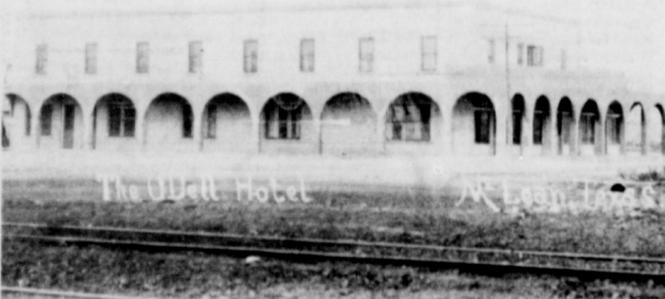

Cullen later served as city desk editor at the Lubbock Avalanche Journal. He moved to Santa Fe, N.M., where he wrote the syndicated column "Inside New Mexico."

He served Governor David Cargo as press secretary during Cargo's term of office. Cullen was named director of the New Mexico Film Commission and later as deputy director under Governor King administration. He is presently employed by St. Vincent Hospital as public information director.

Cullen has three children: Mitchell of Dallas, Charise Christian of Paducah, and Charyn of Santa Fe.

On October 28, 1946, Lester H. Campbell and his two partners took over The McLean News. Campbell was just out of the Navy, where he had served as an officer during the war.

Campbell made several changes when he took over. He changed the size of the paper from six columns to seven, and he remodeled the News office.

He served as the president of the McLean Lions Club in 1948-49 and as secretary of the Panhandle Press Association.

He sold the paper in August, 1955, and moved to Shamrock for a period of about nine months where he managed the radio station, then KEVA. From there he moved to Amarillo where he entered the insurance agency business.

In 1964 he bought an agency in Memphis where he still lives. In May 1975 he was appointed county judge, to fill the unexpired term of Loren Denton.

He and his wife Martha had a daughter Chris born while they lived in McLean. She is married and has three children, and lives in Memphis. They have one son, Jay, who was born the year after they left McLean, and he is a senior at Texas Tech.

Since returning to Memphis, Campbell has been president of the Chamber of Commerce, president of the Lions Club, chairman of the administrative board of the Methodist Church, chair-

In August, 1960, Jack Shelton bought the News. Shelton and his wife Margaret with the help of Eunice Stratton and Laverne Carter produced two papers, The McLean News and The Lefors Progress.

The Sheltons had two daughters, Becky and Susie when they lived in McLean. Since moving to Weatherford, Okla., where Shelton is the director of public relations at Southwestern Oklahoma State University, they have had a son "Barney" (Jack Barnett Shelton, Jr.), who is now 10 years old.

Becky Shelton Reimers graduated summa cum laude from SWSU with a degree in accounting and is employed by an oil company in Oklahoma City where she resides with her six-year-old son, Erick.

Susan Shelton Smith graduated from Weatherford High School, and lives in Weatherford where she works as a type-setter in a local printing plant.

When asked about his experiences in publishing the paper, Shelton said that without the faithful efforts of Eunice Stratton, Laverne Carter, and his wife Margaret they would never have survived.

Shelton sold the paper in 1965 to E.M. Bailey, who had had many years experience as a printer and type-setter for newspapers all over the country.

Bailey and his wife Deloris ran a printing shop and the newspaper for 13 years. They have six children: Carolyn, Mark, Denise (Hill),

QUALLS STUDIO

John Goes - Owner, Photographer
 In researching our business review, we encountered one of the finest photography studios in this area, Qualls Studio.

They conduct a photographic studio that believes that portraiture can deal with more than just the stark reality that past limitations have imposed.

We feel that we cannot adequately describe the work done here. The best we can do is suggest that you stop in and say "Hi" and see for yourself. For those of you who already have, John says thanks.

By the way, if you don't know where they are located, it is in Pampa, at 1540 N. Hobart, and their phone is 669-7721.

SPLENDID LIVES

By Penelope Gilliatt
This little collection of short stories is mostly English in tone, with a little Americanism thrown in for good measure.

The subjects are too varied to be categorized, but the overriding tone is one of wistfulness.

Gilliatt takes a loving view of old age through her characters. The title story's 92-year-old Bishop of Hurlingham, who once chained himself to the railings of the Houses of Parliament in support of women's suffrage now holds forth on violence and pacifism.

In "Splendid Lives" you will find a brilliant satire on radio call-in show; a quiet account of catering for a working-class English wedding; a neglected child of the jet-set rich; and an American grandmother who, for reasons of her own, shuttles her grandson back and forth on daily flights between New York and Rome.

Penelope Gilliatt has created an excellent book which should appeal to almost everyone.

"Splendid Lives" is available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Tumbleweed Times

By Marvin C. Morgenstern

Most West Texans were shocked that Governor Neff had vetoed the West Texas A&M bill on its second trip to the Texas Legislature. Many newspapers in West Texas issued strong statements against Neff, some even advocated that it was time West Texas formed its own state.

The oil fields of West Texas were being developed rapidly. Wanting more recognition for West Texas, the oil industry took up the West Texas college for a battletory.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce met in Brownwood, July 10, 1922, and the board of directors voted unanimously to fight harder than ever for a college. It was election time again and Neff won the State Democratic Primary. Neff told a close friend that if West Texas as wanted a college, it would be necessary to make it a platform demand at the upcoming convention in San Antonio in September, 1922.

Hearings were held in the Gunter Hotel and continued until 4:00 a.m. The main issue at stake was whether the college would have its own board of directors. The next day it was decided the college would be a branch of Texas A&M and the demand became a part of the platform.

When the bills were introduced to the Legislature to create the college, there were four major controversial issues. Should the school be a branch of Texas A&M, should the school be co-educational, how much money should be appropriated and who should make up the locating committee? The fight slowed to a deadlock and it looked as if the college would be defeated again. Meanwhile, a bill for a college of technology and textile engineering was making rapid progress through the House and it looked as if it would pass.

Representative Carpenter of Dallas was a co-sponsor of the bill and was a friend of West Texas. He was contacted by proponents of the A&M bill to see if a merger could be made because it was feared the A&M bill was dead.

The merger was agreed upon and a new bill was introduced to create a West Texas college with the name of Texas Technological College.

The bill carrying an appropriation of $1 million found quick passage through the Legislature and was signed into law by Governor Neff, February 10, 1923.

In the fall of 1925, the first students entered the classrooms of what is now Texas Tech University.

CJC Enrollment Up

Fall semester enrollment at Clarendon College is 536 students, an increase of 103 students compared to last year's total enrollment of 433.

A total of 482 students are enrolled in the college Academic Program and 54 enrolled in Vocational-Technical Programs.

The increase is the largest for the college in three years.

Texas Production Up 11%

Industrial production in Texas rose in July at an estimated 11.0-percent annual rate, seasonally adjusted, to a level 5.9 percent above a year earlier. The strong gain reflected increased output in both manufacturing and mining.

The increase in industrial production was led by durable goods manufacturing. All industries, with the exceptions of declines in fabricated metals and lumber and wood products, posted substantial gains in output.

Production in nondurable goods manufacturing also made a significant advance. The only major industries in that sector to register small declines were chemicals and paper and allied products. Mining output rose as a result of the continued increase in drilling activity and a rebound in metal, stone, and earth minerals. In addition, crude oil production was up slightly.

Reflecting the gain in factory output, the manufacturing capacity utilization index rose in July to 104.5 percent of the 1972 base.

Reflecting the gain in factory output, the manufacturing capacity utilization index rose in July to 104.5 percent of the 1972 base.

DISTORTED VALUES

What has happened to a nation that affords protection for the eggs of our national emblem—the bald eagle—with severe penalties, even prison, for destroying them while at the same time paying for the murder of hundreds of thousands of unborn children each year by abortion. Bald eagle eggs more important than human beings? According to our laws—yes. The argument is made that life begins at birth. Is this true? What would be the "need" of an abortion if there was no life till birth? But there is life. James 2:26 says "the body without the spirit is dead." To kill an unborn child is to separate the body and the soul. Thus an unborn child has a soul! Would those who do not oppose abortion consider this: Man makes a distinction between a born and an unborn child by calling the unborn fetus. God makes no such distinction. In Luke 1:44, the yet to be born John was called by the Holy Spirit "the babe" (Greek—"brephos"). The babe leaped in his mother's womb. In Luke 2:12 the Holy Spirit calls the ALREADY BORN Jesus a babe (brephos). God uses the exact same word for the unborn and the born child. Would someone please say why it is not right to kill the child (brephos) after it is born but that it is OK to kill the child (brephos) before birth? Further, would someone tell us why unborn eagles are afforded such great protection while unborn children have so little? What a distorted sense of values. Abortion is immoral; it is murder in the eyes of God. Let's not kill unborn children—let's kill abortion!

October 1-7 Is 4-H Week

COLLEGE STATION --- Nearly 5.5 million young people across the nation—more than 100,000 of those in Texas—will observe National 4-H Week, Oct. 1-7. Activities will center on the theme, "4-H—Freedom to Be."

President Jimmy Carter called the theme "most appropriate for a program which is reaching out to all young Americans—rural and urban—from every cultural, economic and social background."

"For many," he said, "4-H is opening doors to a lifetime of personal growth and fulfillment. In learning-by-doing, through educational projects and through community involvement efforts, 4-H is providing useful guidance and direction to young people and making them more responsible and sensitive adult citizens."

National 4-H Week is set aside annually by the Cooperative Extension Service to focus attention on the values of 4-H as an informal educational program for boys and girls 9 to 19 years old," said Dr. John T. Pelham, state 4-H and youth leader with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The program's learning-by-doing philosophy encourages young people to acquire 'real life' skills and develop citizenship and leadership abilities," noted Pelham.

Most 4-H members are enrolled in locally organized clubs on a year-round basis. Others take part in 4-H through special interest groups, nutrition education programs, instructional television, internment programs, short-term activities and camping.

Lions Club To Sell Brooms

Junior high cheerleaders boost the Cubs in their victory Thursday night over Skellytown. (Below) All the players on the field rush to cover a ball dropped by a Cub running back.

Junior High Cubs Defeat Skellytown

The McLean Cubs scored their first victory of the season Thursday night in an exciting Dallas-Cowboys-style game at Duncan field, when they beat Skellytown 6-0. McLean's Brock Crockett scored three times for the Cubs, but only one score counted when he made a seven-yard run across the goal.

In the last two minutes of the game, the pace picked up as Skellytown fumbled a punt and McLean recovered. Then McLean fumbled, and Skellytown recovered. Skellytown threw a pass, and a runner broke loose from the 50 yard line, stopped short of the goal line by Crockett. Coach Jack Dorsett said that Crockett, Quint Finney, and John Jones were all outstanding on offense. He said the entire defensive squad played a good game but that Scott Stubbs was the standout in that area. The Cubs next game will be against Groom on Groom's home field Oct. 5. Groom is 2-0 in district play with a 14-0 win over Miami, and a 10-0 win over Lefors.

National 4-H Week Dubbed '4H Freedom To Be'

4-H, the informal educational program for youth administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, opens the doors to a lifetime of growth and fulfillment for many youth, points out County Extension Agent, Layton Barton.

News from your County Agricultural Agent

By JOE VAN ZANDT
Texas A&M University Extension Service

Rain, Rain, Rain! What a wonderful gift. As so often is the case in this country, it goes from one extreme to the other. This will allow the wheat crop to get started this fall.

Some farmers will be planting as soon as fields dry. However, other farmers will wait and see how much and what their volunteer crop looks like - some may decide to leave their volunteer while others will plow up their volunteer and probably sow right behind the plow.

Normally, we say that volunteer is a source of infection for wheat streak mosaic. However, this year should be an exception to this because the long, hot dry summer killed most all summer grasses that carry the virus over during the summer. About the only source would be grasses around irrigated fields. Considering the weather situation, volunteer wheat coming up after the rains should not have any more mosaic than planted wheat would. The mosaic is carried from infected grass plants to wheat by the wheat curl mite.

FRUIT GROWERS CONFAB Everyone interested or involved in fruit production is invited to attend the 1978 Texas Fruit Conference and Short Course at Texas A&M University, October 3-4.

A wide range of topics dealing with results of research and Extension programs will be presented. Special emphasis will be given to peach, apple, plum and blueberry production. For more information contact the County Extension Office, CATTLE IMPLANT DEMONSTRATION

A demonstration on the use and value of Raigro as an ear implant on suckling calves was established April 8, 1978.

This demonstration involved 32 head of calves. There were 28 head implanted with Raigro and they had an average weight of 232 lbs. when implanted. On Sept. 18, after a 163 day period, these calves weighed 551 lbs. for a gain of 319 lbs. or an average daily gain of 1.96 lbs. Four calves did not receive implants and they weighed 266 lbs. on April 8. Their weight on Sept. 18 was 560 lbs. for a total gain of 294 lbs. or an average daily gain of 1.1 lbs.

The implanted calves had an increased gain of 25 lbs. over the non-implanted calves. This is a good return on an investment of less than $1. The 25 lbs. of gain should be worth around 65¢ per lb. or a net profit of about $15 over the cost of the implant per calf.

Similar results were reported last year both with stocker cattle and suckling calves. Producers getting stocker cattle in should consider implanting these cattle when they are processed at arrival.

WHEAT VARIETY DEMONSTRATION Results from the wheat variety demonstration on the Ernie Wilkinson farm which was planted last year follows:

Centurk had the highest yield with 43 bushels per acre with a test weight of 60.1 lbs. Second was Scout 66 with 40.6 bushels and test weight of 60.2 lbs., Vona-49.2 bushels, test weight 60.4 lbs; Rail-37.6 bushels, 61.2 lbs.; Larner-37.4 bushels, 61.2 lbs.; Sturdy-34.5 bushels, 58.3 lbs; Lancota-33.1 bushels, 60.1 lbs; TAM-W101-31.3 bushels, 58.7 lbs. and Tex Red-31.3 bushels, 58.0 lbs.

The grain samples were checked by Dr. Robert Berry, Area Extension Pathologist for the presence of black tip, which is caused by a fungus. All varieties showed a trace with TAM-W101 having slightly more than the others.

The grain was also checked for yellow berry, a powdery mildew condition. Two varieties had moderate yellow berry-Lancota and Rail. The other varieties all had traces of yellow berry.

I have samples of wheat for an irrigated and a dry-land variety demonstration this year. I also have some Vitavax for a seed treatment demonstration for disease. Any farmer interested in having one of these demonstrations, should call me at 669-7479. It will not require a lot of time to get these in.

FLEA INFESTATION We have been getting a few calls nearly every week for the last few months about flea control in homes, lawns, and on pets. As the calls continue, I've about decided that there must be a flea infestation going around among many of the pets in the area.

Adult fleas vary in size from 1/32 to 5/32 inch long. They are dark, reddish-brown to almost black, sucking insects with laterally compressed bodies. They transmit several diseases and parasites of man. Fleas usually enter the home on dogs, cats, rats and other animals. They deposit eggs loosely on hosts; these then fall into cracks on the floor, ground or similar places. Flea larvae develop on organic matter, animal wastes and debris in the soil, in animal quarters, in furniture or other areas frequented by pets.

Treat garages, lawns and animal quarters with five percent malathion spray at the rate of two gallons per 1,000 square feet or four percent malathion dust at the rate of one to two pounds per 1,000 square feet. If necessary, treat inside of homes with two percent malathion or 0.5 percent diazinon spray, particularly floors, baseboards and walls to a height of about one foot. Apply a light mist to upholstery, rugs and other fabrics. Dogs should be dusted thoroughly with four percent malathion dust or dipped in 0.5 percent malathion water solution. Five percent carbaryl dust is also effective when applied to dogs and their quarters. Follow directions on manufacturers' labels.

October Is Cooperative Month

Austin,.....October is Cooperative Month in Texas and across the nation as proclaimed by most of the country's governors. Governor Dolph Briscoe, in his official proclamation, urged the people of Texas to "give special recognition to the constructive and responsible roles of agricultural cooperatives in the economic progress of our State".

Texas has more than 400 cooperatives operating and serving over 130,000 members", according to Bruno Schroeder, Executive Vice-President of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives. "These cooperatives are doing a business volume of almost 7 billion dollars annually", he said.

Cooperatives in Texas range from farmer-owned grain, elevators and compresses to marketing, supply and credit organizations. Health, housing, insurance, electric, telephone and other service cooperatives are becoming more and more important to all Texas citizens.
