When I began working for The McLean News in February, I had planned to have an interesting, part-time job as a rest from teaching. I never dreamed then that I would someday be the owner and editor of the paper.

I am sorry that circumstances have forced Milie Haynes to give up the paper. It was a life-time dream, and I know he would have made one of the outstanding editors in the area. In the few months he was here, he did a wonderful job with the paper, and I only hope that I can live up to the standards that he has set.

I realized this week when the final papers were signed that I had invaded a male-dominated field. Some of the area papers have women on the staff, but very few have women owners and editors. I believe that negotiations are underway at the present time for the sale of the Clarendon Press to a woman. But for the most part, newspapers have historically been "men's work".

I hope to keep the News as objective as possible and to not include only items of interest to the members of my sex, but if you catch me going overboard on "girly" things, write a letter!

I received some comments from local merchants about a recent column about advertising. It's nice to know people read the column, anyway. I wish I could emulate T.A. Landers' tongue-in-cheek chastisement of local merchants who don't advertise but I'm afraid he was a master that cannot be imitated.

One of my favorite hobbies is "people-watching." I am never bored anywhere I go, because the variety of people is endless.

On a recent trip to New Mexico, I saw a young couple that did not seem to fit any category. They were in their early twenties, obviously honeymooning, and just as obviously accompanied by his parents!

We watched the young couple having dinner and dancing on two consecutive nights, whispering to each other and laughing, with his parents sitting at the same table. They seemed to be oblivious of anyone else in the room as they held hands and smiled at each other.

I tried to figure out every reason in the world why anyone would take parents along on a honeymoon, but it was not until the second night that I discovered the reason.

I had watched the young couple for an hour or so, when they decided to leave. The young woman reached in a handbag and pulled out a pair of enormously thick glasses and began to walk away from the table with the young man following her with his hand on her shoulder. His parents fol-

Youth Group Camps In City Park Monday

Nineteen members of a delegation of the Oklahoma City Indian Youth Council camped overnight Monday night in the city park. The group is traveling to Crow Agency, Mont., for an all-Indian rodeo, fair and pow-wow. Indians from Canada and the United States will attend the annual event. The delegation was traveling to Montana in a van and a 66-passenger school bus, when the bus developed transmission trouble. The group stopped in McLean for repairs, and spent the night in tents in the park. The youngsters will attend the rodeo in Montana, and five members of the delegation will participate in an Indian dance contest at the pow-wow. Members of the group and their tribal origin are councilors Tony Robles, Comanche; Frances Wise, Wichita-Caddo; Chebon Marks, Creek; and Raymond Marks, Creek. Youth members are Susan Wise, president, Wichita-Caddo; Karen Coen, Caddo; Francis Ross, Cheyenne-Arapaho; Milton Jansen, Navajo; Shirley Looking Glass, Apache; Elaine Ross, Cheyenne-Arapaho; Kickapoo; Meri Taylor, Seminole; Cheryl Taylor, Creek-Seminole; Dion Villacana, Kiowa - Wichita; Kaylo Wise, vice-pres., Wichita-Caddo-Kiowa; D.J. Yeahno, Kiowa; Steve Frazier, Pottawatomie; Michelle Villacana, Kiowa-Wichita; Theresa Powe, secretary, Choctaw-Creek-Seminole; and Sharon Joe Looking Glass, Apache.

El Paso Natural Gas Announces Expansion

The El Paso Natural Gas Plant in McLean will begin an expansion program around Sept. 1 which will double the present capacity of the plant to four million cubic feet of gas a day.

In the expansion program, two engines will be maintained, and the plant will be converted from a two-stage operation to a one-stage operation.

A new dehydration unit and a new treating plant will be added.

According to Dan Stokes, superintendent, one new house will be built, but the expansion will not involve the hiring of any new employees.

The expansion was necessary because of the volume of new gas being received from the Elk City and the Canadian areas.

The purpose of the meeting Aug. 29 is to solicit views of the citizens on ways they think the money should be spent.

Collision Injures One Person

A two-vehicle collision Sunday afternoon resulted in minor injuries to one person. The accident, which occurred at the intersection of two country roads at the north edge of McLean, sent Barbara York of Snyder to the McLean hospital where she was treated and released.

Charles Williams of McLean and Wendell York of Snyder were the drivers involved in the mishap. Williams, driving a 1973 pickup, was traveling east on a dirt road, while York, his wife Barbara and their daughter were on another dirt road, traveling south in their 1976 Cadillac. The two vehicles collided at the intersection of the two roads.

Both vehicles received extensive damage.

lowed them out of the room, and it was then that I realized that the young man was totally blind and the woman had only partial vision.

I'm not sure why the young couple impressed me so much, except that, like most people, I had a preconceived idea that most blind people are old and behave in such a way that their handicap is obvious.

Anyone who watched this young couple dance and move around the room as if completely sighted, would have been as impressed as I was.

The printing company in Amarillo miscounted our papers last week and we wound up with no extra papers. If you have finished with yours, we would like to buy it back. We must have several extras for our advertisers and for our records. That is the Aug. 10 issue.

George Terry, McLean city councilman, met with two Texas Highway Department representatives in Amarillo two or three times last week to discuss the highway problem in McLean.

The men discussed several plans to make I-40 through McLean safer. No plans were finalized but some progress was made.

I hope that something can be done about the highway. After travelling west on I-40 as far as Kingman, Ariz. last week, I discovered that we certainly don't have the worst stretch of the interstate.

The highway has not bypassed Gallup, N.M., and it takes 45 minutes to get through the town in heavy traffic and narrow roads.

Most of the towns in New Mexico and Arizona that have not been bypassed have posted speed signs as far as two miles outside the city limits, slowing traffic to 45 miles per hour. At the city limits, the signs are for 35 miles per hour, which might be a good solution for us, too.

by the way, if you don't think that private enterprise can do everything better than the federal government, just stop at a national park sometime and eat in a federally-run cafeteria.

Not only is the food inedible and outrageously expensive, the building where we ate was hot and dirty, with the files making a supreme effort for the hotdogs that we couldn't eat. Just try it! You'll long for a good old McDonalds or Dairy Queen.

SIN'S BLINDING TOUCH

PRIDE touched Naeman, the Syrian general, and made him revolt at Elisha's command to dip 7 times in the river Jordan. Pride can blind just as easily today. (2 Kings 5:1-13)

SELF RIGHTEOUSNESS touched the Pharisees and blinded one to his own corruption. Not one is automatically exempted from self righteousness today. (Luke 18:11ff)

POSSESSION OF RICHES touched the eyes of the rich young ruler that talked with Jesus, and worked to deny him a crown of life in eternity. The gaining of possessions is the greatest desire of the majority of people today. (Luke 18:18ff)

SELFISHNESS touched the vision of a great king, Saul, and caused him to be blind and practice the price of presumption. Multitudes presume that God will accept what they offer today without his authority. Beware! (1 Samuel 13:16)

PREJUDICE touched the eyes of the rulers and they could not see the truth found in the Lord Jesus Christ's mission to this earth. Prejudice crucified Jesus! Let us ALL OPEN OUR EYES TO THE TRUTH! (John 7:47)

Each of us should cautiously beware that we do not allow our sight to be darkened by that blinding touch of SIN. Sin, transgression of God's law, brings only death. (1 John 3:4)

Last week a reader asked if we would begin a column similar to one that appeared in The Gray County Gazette, a mimeographed paper that we published a few years ago. Since we always try to please our readers, this column will appear at least once a month.

I would like to feature recipes by McLean cooks, so if you have a great recipe you would like to share or know someone who does, give us a call or drop it in the mail.

This week's recipe is one that I used for a long time, but lost when our home burned down. Thanks to Joyce Haynes for providing another copy.

For 21¢ or less you could put this letter into a call across the country.

If you're an average talker, you can say about 175 words in one minute. Which means you could put a personal letter like this into a more personal one-minute Long Distance call. And it'll only cost you 21¢ plus tax if you dial One-Plus from 11 p.m. Friday to 5 p.m. Sunday, or any weekday after 11 p.m. Of course we're not suggesting you talk for just one minute. But even if you talk 10 minutes, you're only talking $1.58, plus tax. Or $2.57 if you dial Sunday through Friday between 5 p.m. and 11 p.m. And that's talking clear across the country. So if you're still putting words into letters, just think of what you could be putting into a Long Distance call.

News from your County Agricultural Agent

By JOE VAN ZANDT
Texas A&M University Extension Service

The Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA, has recently issued a general summary for the world situation and outlook for grains during the next year, which follows.

The chances of any major drawdown of world grain stocks for 1978/1979 are rapidly disappearing. The new harvest is now likely to equal or exceed global 1978/79 requirements. Total year-end stocks of wheat and coarse grains, which this past year were approximately unchanged in terms of volume and declined slightly relative to annual world utilization, now seem headed for a small net increase by this time next year.

In spite of the improved supply prospects, the world price and market situation is nevertheless apt to continue generally firm during the months ahead, for several reasons. First, what little stock increase does occur in wheat and feed-grains is likely to center in the USSR; elsewhere, stocks relative to usage will probably decline. Second, the quantity of "free" stocks in the U.S. will be well below year-ago levels. A third factor in the market situation is that, following upon the actions taken on reserves and production restraint in the U.S. over the past year, there is the possibility that similar actions in 1978/79, affecting either storage of the 1978 crop or production for the 1979 crop, or both, could be undertaken.

AFRICAN SWINE FEVER
The rapid spread of African Swine Fever in the Western Hemisphere is causing great concern among U.S. animal health officials. This disease which affects hogs was reported from Brazil on June 7, 1978 and has now spread to the Dominican Republic where it was confirmed on July 8, 1978. The presence of the disease in the Dominican Republic, which is less than 100 miles from Puerto Rico, is a serious threat to swine in the United States.

What is African Swine Fever and why should U.S. pork producers be concerned? It is a virus disease and probably the most deadly of all hog diseases. It spreads rapidly within a herd killing most of the swine, however, some types may be of a lower mortality allowing some pigs to remain alive and further spread the disease. In fact, reports from Brazil indicate that complications in diagnosis have occurred since the type there has been of a lower mortality and its diagnosis can be complicated by the existence of hog cholera. Fortunately, since hog cholera has been eradicated in the United States any disease causing swine to die rapidly should be reported without delay to a veterinarian. The Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Labs have personnel trained to diagnose African Swine Fever, Hog Cholera or other swine diseases.

SOIL TEST WHEAT-LAND
This is the last reminder to get soil samples on your wheat-land. With the generally bad wheat crop just experienced, saving a few hundred dollars on next year's fertilizer bill would be good management.

For only $2.00 per sample, you can get a fertilizer recommendation that should enable you to make the most efficient use of your fertilizer dollar.

Soil sample boxes, information sheets and mailing cartons are available in the County Extension office.

BITTER CUCUMBERS
This time of the year home gardeners often find that their cucumbers as well as eggplants have a bitter taste. The reason for this is difficult to explain.

Generally, any conditions that place the plants in stress can lead to bitter fruit. Such conditions are low moisture, high temperature and low fertility. Any one of these may cause the problem, but generally it is a combination of these factors that may cause bitter fruit.

When plants are growing vigorously in the spring, bitter fruit seldom occurs. As the summer weather approaches, bringing higher temperatures and less rainfall, conditions become less favorable for plant growth. Consequently, plants begin to stress and bitter fruit often results.

What can be done? Maintaining favorable growing conditions is the best answer. This means watering regularly, mulching to reduce soil moisture loss, and applying light applications of fertilizer around plants. Despite all this, the mid-summer heat may still take its toll of plants.

If bitter fruit continues to occur, peeling cucumbers and eggplants a little deeper may help since bitterness is generally associated with the skin of the fruit.

Another suggestion that may be worth a try is to peel the cucumber from the blossom end toward the stem end. Since cucumbers are always more bitter on the stem end, this practice might prevent spreading the bitterness throughout the entire fruit.

Tumbleweed Times

By Marvin C. Morgenstern

Now that a committee had been formed and financed to establish a West Texas A & M college, it was time to enter into the play of politics which would make the school a reality through legislation.

In those days it was known that if an issue was part of the platform plank of a successful gubernatorial candidate, the state legislature would bow to such demands when the candidate took office.

It was necessary then to secure the demand of an A & M college at the state democratic convention, July 1916.

A special committee was sent to Houston to spearhead the campaign.

James E. Ferguson was the man most likely to become the next governor and it was rumored he was unfavorable to the West Texas plan.

The West Texas committee met with Ferguson at the Rice Hotel to find out his ideas on the matter. Ferguson replied, "Get the plank in the platform if you can. If you succeed, I am for you." He stood by his promise.

At the convention, there was a committee on "Platform and Resolutions", then there was a sub-committee which would screen the demands. Once the issue passed both committee it was passed on to the convention for ratification.

The issue did become part of the campaign platform. When Ferguson took office, it was introduced to the legislature in January 1917.

$500,000 for the purchase of a site, erection of buildings and maintenance for two years was passed by the governor Feb. 20, 1917.

A locating committee was formed to select a site for the school and they visited 23 towns in whirlwind fashion.

Five men, including Ferguson, were to make the final decision as to where the school would be located.

When Abilene was announced as the winner, the whole town broke out in jubilee all too soon. It was found there was a discrepancy in the voting.

A new special legislative session seated a new governor, and Gov. W.P. Hobby, in order to avoid controversy over the college, repealed the bill.

NEXT WEEK: West Texas Doesn't Give Up.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editors:

... I still consider McLean my home town. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sharp, and I lived and worked and attended school in McLean until I married.

A few months ago, while visiting my folks, I picked up the paper. I couldn't believe my eyes - pictures! I looked on and found the articles great too. (I really enjoy the articles about former residents and students.)

Mother saved a lot of issues for me, and I found your work consistently good. Where, but in McLean, can one read another "Work Wanted" ad to equal the one by Towboy Day? You see, even the ads are readable and enjoyable!

I'm glad I lived in McLean. I'm glad my kids like to visit there. Friends who grew up in big, impersonal towns don't believe our tales of home. McLean has many "characters," great, small, known, unknown, but always unique. Where else can you find anyone with the courage of Dickie Wheeler, the intelligence of Mrs. Back, the success of C. A. Cash?

Please accept my check and enter my family as subscribers. (Just don't tell Mrs. Back how badly I write or that I'm too lazy to hunt a dictionary and check my spelling right now!) Keep on doing what you are doing. It must be right. I know I like it.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gary L. Gordin

ONATE INSCRIPTION GRACES SANDSTONE CLIFF AT EL MORRO NATIONAL MONUMENT

Two years before the first mosquito bit Captain John Smith at Jamestown and 15 years before the Pilgrims stepped ashore at Plymouth, a Spaniard stopped beside a waterhole in New Mexico and carved a message in a soft sandstone cliff.

Visitors to El Morro National Monument may still read the message he left there nearly 375 years ago: "Paso por aqui," it begins. "These passed by here the governor Don Juan de Onate on his return from the discovery of the sea of the south, April 16 of the year 1606."

Onate wasn't the first man to carve his name into the sheer cliff that sentences the high plains surrounding the monument and he wasn't the last. Today the cliff -- aptly named "Inscription Rock" -- is a 200-foot high autograph album that has many historical messages on it, including some entertaining ones.

Corporal Joseph Trujillo worked some humor into the rock in 1736. On July 14 of that year, General Juan Paez Hurtado recorded the fact that he was at the rock. Just underneath, two lines were added, no doubt when the general's back was turned:

"And in his company, the Corporal Joseph Trujillo."

With that line Corporal Trujillo found his place in history. Visitors to El Morro today have no such easy route because the rock is closed to autographers, but, there's a block of sandstone in front of the visitor center where you can scratch your name. It's not the typical National Park Service guest register.

There is more than signatures in stone to this 1,275-acre monument located off Interstate 40, 43 miles from Grants, N.M., and 58 miles from Gallup, N.M.

Long before the first European arrived on our shores, the prehistoric American lived on and around the rock. Atop it are ruins of two pueblos. On its face are petroglyphs -- carvings of men, goats, winged serpents and birds.

The first known historical mention of El Morro is found in the journal of Diego Perez de Luxan, chronicler of the Espejo expedition of 1583. Luxan stopped at El Morro for water on March 11 of that year.

Water lured others to the rock. Over the years, soldiers, gold seekers, and cattlemen were attracted to a precious pool of water at the base of the cliff that was the result of summer thundershowers and winter snows.

There is a small campground located in the park, which can double as a picnic area. The nearest restaurant is in Ramah, 13 miles away and there are overnight accommodations in Gallup and Grants.

If you are planning to visit a National Park Service area on your vacation, write the agency at P.O. Box 738, Room P-1, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501. You'll be sent a free brochure that lists NPS areas near your home and chart facilities and services available at each.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES
THE SNEER THAT ELECTED A PRESIDENT!

Many Presidents have been elected with the help of a slogan that caught the popular fancy. There was "Tippecanoe, and Tyler, too", Harding's "Back to Normalcy", Roosevelt's "New Deal".

But it was a slogan coined from an obscure that rallied William Henry Harrison into the White House.

This is the story. Martin Van Buren was running for re-election in 1840, backed by a Democratic Party so powerful and well-organized that it was generally conceded that his Whig opponent, William Henry Harrison, stood no chance.

A small Democratic newspaper in Baltimore wrote jeeringly, "If General Harrison was given a pension of $2,000 he would be content to spend the rest of his days in a log-cabin drinking hard cider."

The Whigs seized upon this obscure little paragraph and turned it into a mighty tribute. Harrison became the "log-cabin, hard-cider candidate," his military exploits were acclaimed and the enthusiasm of the people rallied to the picture of the rugged frontier hero.

Actually, Harrison had an income of $12,000 a year and never lived in a log cabin. But these facts did not change the country's conception of him. The Whig election was a hearty one, and the log-cabin and hard-cider became symbols of their candidate. On one occasion, when Daniel Webster was speaking at a rally in Harrison's behalf, he became so excited that he actually apologized because he, himself, was not born in a log cabin.

The "log-cabin, hard-cider" campaign became so popular that Harrison was swept into office. The sneer of the Democratic editor had acted as a boomerang and had achieved the opposite of its intention.

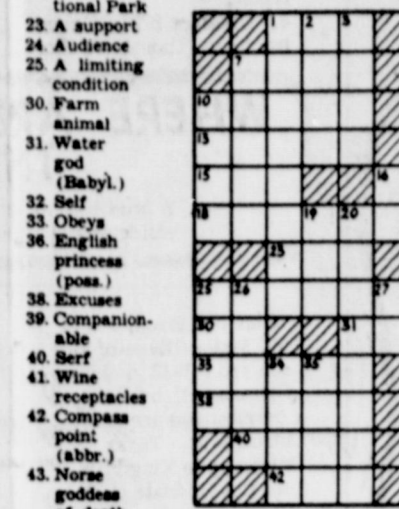

In more recent years, one of our Vice Presidents was publicly dubbed a "cigar-smoking, whiskey-drinking, evil old man" -- a phrase which won him many friends but not enough to insure his re-election. But, in 1840, a few drops of printer's ink, unintentionally provided a slogan that turned the tide of a presidential election.

for my daughter's college tuition? ... A. That depends. Some people may be able to get up to $250 in tax credit, but many will get much less or nothing at all. The approximately 80 percent of American college students who attend public colleges and community colleges will receive less, student aid recipients won't receive the full credit, and part-time students won't be eligible.

LOOSE MARBLES
BY LISA PATMAN

There has been a movement going on in this country for the past few years which I consider quite alarming. And there are signs that it has taken hold in the great state of Texas and is growing at an alarming rate. You already may be aware of it, but in case you aren't, I feel it my duty to warn you of the dreadful thing. It is called -- shudder -- physical fitness.

This strange phenomenon takes on many forms such as the playing of games like tennis and golf. The most dangerous form of all is jogging and its stowed down version, walking.

My idea of exercise has always been to lie on a chaise longue and lift large bon-bons to my mouth with one hand while with my other hand I change TV channels with the remote control switch or flip through the pages of a lightweight book. And now this strange idea that people should actually do enough exercise to - horrors - SWEAT.

I know about sweating. I did it once when I was but a young child, and was severely punished for it. Sweating is not a nice thing to do. In an emergency situation one may perspire, but never, absolutely never is one to SWEAT.

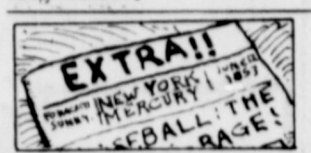

As for getting into shape, everyone is. I personally have the shape of a large potato. If that's not shape, then what is?

Scientists say that proper exercise and diet (another dread word) may prolong life. They have never seen the peculiar shade of gray-green that my complexion takes on after a tousing walk around the block. Nor have they seen me collapse in agony, trying for thirty minutes to regain my breath, after a trek up a flight of stairs. An old green wheezer is not what I want to be.

All those fanatics who insist that firm muscle tone and a flat stomach are essential will be sorry. They might live a little longer, but probably they will encounter little green men from the outer regions and have them for dinner. And those of use who knew better will be long gone, thereby avoiding not only invasions from outer space, but nuclear holocaust, the large earthquake which will drop parts of the nation into the sea, and killer bees.

So while they are all jogging past my window, I'll be sitting in front of my air conditioner laughing up my hot fudge sundae.

Texas Hunting Licenses Are Now Available

The new 1978-79 Texas hunting licenses valid Sept. 1, 1978 are available at license vendors and Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices across the state.

The licenses which are good for one year ending Aug. 31, 1979, are $5.25 for a resident hunting license and $8.75 for the combination hunting/fishing license.

Non-resident/small game licenses are $37.75 and are required of out-of-state hunters after quail, prairie chicken, pheasant, dove and other small game species. Out-of-state sportsmen after bigger game such as turkey and deer will be required to purchase the $100.75 license. This $100.75 license will enable these hunters to hunt all legal Texas species during the regular open season.

All licenses will be printed on waterproof, tear-resistant paper and each license will contain buck, antlerless deer and turkey tags. The date and month of kill on all these tags must be marked out in ink or cut out and attached securely to the carcass prior to transporting or moving the carcass. The place and county of kill must also be filled in at this time.

There is also a space on the back of the hunting license to affix white-winged dove, archery and federal waterfowl stamps if required by the holder.

A resident hunting license is required of every Texas citizen hunting outside of the county of residence between the ages of 17-65 years old. Persons hunting on land where they reside or persons hunting deer and turkey in county of residence must have an exempt hunting license available for $1.25. Certain disabled veterans may hunt deer or turkey while in possession of a valid exempt hunting license.

A legal citizen of Texas is any person except an alien who has been a bona fide resident of Texas for more than six (6) months immediately preceding application for a license. Members of the Armed Forces with proof of assignment on active duty at any Federal installation within the state for a period of more than thirty (30) days may purchase a resident hunting license.

A special archery stamp for $3.25 will be required of all persons who hunt wild deer, turkey, and javelina during any open archery season in which only long bows and arrows are used. This archery stamp will be in addition to the regular hunting license for both the resident and non-resident hunters.

More license information is available in the new 1978-

79 TEXAS HUNTING AND SPORT FISHING GUIDE which can be obtained at all license vendors and P&WD offices.

Fishing Report

GREENBELT LAKE - Fishing has improved with cooler weather. Fishing good for white bass, largemouth bass with a few northern pike caught up to 13 1/4 pounds. Crappie fishing has been slow. Water temperature is 76 degrees F.

LAKE MEREDITH - Channel catfishing has continued to be good. Sand bass are being caught at night. A few walleye are still being caught at depths around 40 feet on natural bait. Water temperature at five foot depth is 78 degrees F. and lake level is 83.91 feet.

MCCLELLAN LAKE - Fishing has improved with cooler weather in daytime. A few largemouth bass have been caught and several channel catfish up to eight pounds have been caught also. Crappie fishing is slow. Water temperature is 82 degrees F.

Analysis of data collected by personnel of the fishery division from March through May indicates that Lake Meredith in the Texas Panhandle is one of the top fish producers in the state and rates among the top lakes in the United States for walleye.

Meredith fishermen were contacted at various access points about the lake where their catch was recorded and interviews with these sportsmen helped determine the total fishing pressure on the lake. By expanding these figures, estimates were obtained.

The average angler fished for 4.75 hours each trip with over 38,000 fishermen utilizing the Texas lake while catching over 63,700 fish in the process. Walleye anglers caught 29,453 walleye weighing a total of 34,753 pounds for an average of 1.7 pounds per fish. While crappie catches came in second only to walleye with white bass close behind with over 11,000 pounds accounted for during the period.

Over 1,000 smallmouth bass averaging 1.5 pounds each were caught during the same period.

The present creel survey will be continued throughout the summer and into the fall. At the completion of the survey, a second analysis of the data will yield an estimate of yearly pressure on Lake Meredith by anglers along with their estimated fish harvest.

Morning People, Night People Studied At Texas A&M

Most people can easily classify themselves as "morning people" or "evening people" based on their daily habits, reports Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

A recent study was conducted to find out how marriage relationships functioned when spouses were both night or morning people, or when one spouse was a morning person and the other a night person.

The findings of this preliminary study indicate:

(1) Couples are aware of how the morning vs. night orientation affects their marriage.

(2) Morning people like to go to bed by 10:00 p.m. and get up early, while night people stay up late and have trouble getting up in the morning.

(3) Morning people are more physically active and enjoy outdoor activities. Night people are either homebodies and like to stay up late, watch TV, or talk; or they like parties and an active night life.

(4) Morning people value the morning and look forward to sunrise, breakfast, and morning activities. On the other hand, night people do not express a real value for the night hours. Mismatched couples report that this helped stabilize their marriage, making daily routines and preparation easier. Further, their sexual relations were more compatible, family activities more coordinated and job satisfaction greater.

"Mismatched couples reported more conflict, arguments, and the need for compromise to settle differences," the specialist says.

Several spouses noted that they had little time for conversation, irregular sleep habits and a less-than-ideal sexual relationship. They were also more likely to have poor overall marital adjustment, unmanaged conflict and potential for stress.

"However, mismatched couples who had satisfying marriages had to be flexible and adaptable in order to work out difficulties. Several said they took naps in order to keep up with their 'night' spouses.

Undoubtedly, couples who are on different time clocks have long realized the strains this can put on a marriage. If they recognize this, they can work out their differences in time and still have a satisfying marriage, Miss Johnson adds.

About 1 million Indians lived in North America when European exploration began.

SAFE CANNING PRACTICES HELP PREVENT FOOD POISONING

Home canned fruits and vegetables bring a little of summer's sunshine to dreary winter days. But that sunshine can be clouded if food poisoning occurs. Many homemakers are busy canning produce from home gardens to help our cost of food in the coming winter months. Here are a few tips that will help you keep those home canned products safe.

Without proper containers, there is little chance your products will keep without spoiling. Always use top quality jars. Check for nicks, cracks or chips in the top of the jar. If these defects are present, you will not be able to get a good seal.

Use properly fitting rings, rubbers and lids. The rubbers should be new and pliable. Don't test them by stretching, as that may cause them to lose their shape, therefore affecting the seal. Jar lids should be free of dents. If you use lids with a self-sealing ring attached, be sure they are new and in good condition.

Jar rings should be free of rust spots, dents and pried up edges. Jar rings for glass and metal lids are not interchangeable. When sealing the jar, be sure to screw the ring down tight against the lid. Before using, wash all lids, except those with a self-seal band, jar and rings in hot soapy water. Rinse well. Heat the jars, rings and lids in hot water before filling. In order to prevent contamination of the clean jars, keep them in hot water until you are ready to fill them.

After the jars are filled, wipe the top edge with a clean cloth to remove all food, grease, etc. If this isn't done, the seal may not stay. Low-acid foods, such as peas and corn, must be processed in temperatures higher than boiling in order to prevent spoilage. This means a pressure cooker or pressure saucepan is a must if you're canning these types of vegetables. In Gray County process at 12 lbs. of pressure because we are 3000 feet above sea level.

Follow the instructions carefully on your pressure cooker. Have it tested once a year to be certain the pressure gauge is accurate. We test pressure canners at the Gray County Extension Office free of charge.

High acid foods can be processed in boiling water, in order for the bacteria to be killed, follow time specifications for cooking exactly. Be certain to keep at least one inch of boiling water over jar

GI Bill Offers

Education Benefits

Jack Coker, Director of the Waco VA Regional Office, reminds prospective GI Bill recipients that acceptance by a school is the first step veterans must take on the path to valuable education benefits.

"The Veterans Administration is anxious to help veterans understand and use their GI Bill," Coker said. "But first they must help themselves by enrolling in school or a program of training."

Coker said that to receive benefits an eligible veteran may enroll in a school or college, take farm cooperative training, enter other programs which combine school and job training, train on-the-job, take flight training or correspondence courses.

Single veterans who are full-time college students receive a monthly benefits check of $311. Monthly payment for veterans with one dependent is $370, and for veterans with two dependents, $422 monthly. Benefits will be paid to three-quarter-time and half-time students as well.

Complete information on all VA educational assistance programs is available from your local VA Regional Office, veterans county service office, or veterans service organization representative.

"THE TROUBLE OF IT IS"
By David M. Newell
David Newell has created an endearing hero who is an encyclopedic of tall tales. Billy Driggers, the narrator of the book, hails from Florida's coastal country where, as he says, "there's been Driggeres and Eppes since before the gator bellered."
"The Trouble Of It Is," shows us Billy's whole family, from the time Billy's grandfather and the rest of his family brought their mules, heirlooms, and hound dogs from North Carolina and settled in "Hammock."
Billy's tales are spun in such a relaxed dialect that you might be sitting across the old kitchen table listening to that old uncle of yours who used to be the black sheep of the family. In the book we meet Uncle Winton Epps, his wife, Aunt Effie Epps, who, if you told her you had double pneumonia, she'd claim to have had triple, brother Tarley, and Billy's own sons, Kelly who grew up to be a sheriff, and David, who turned out to be an outlaw.

"The trouble of it is," says Billy, "that as a feller goes through life, there's a lot of grievin' alone to go with a lot of laughin' out loud."
Either way, there are plenty of tall tales to keep your interest.
"The Trouble Of It Is" is available at Lovett Memorial Library.

WHO CARES IF YOUR ELECTRIC BILL IS HIGHER THIS SUMMER? YOU DO AND...

WE DO!

If your electric bill has jumped this summer, take a good look at that summer sun. Sure, we all like sunny days, but our friend the sun can be a villain in disguise. On these summer scorches, you'll need your air conditioning to run more. Sometimes running day... and night... all night. Well, that runs up your electric bill. Just when vacation and school expenses are here.

We know you care about higher electric bills. And we want you to know that we care, too. We can't cool off the sun, but there are still time and ways to keep your bill from going much higher. Here are just a few:

- Turn the thermostat to at least 78, or until you find the highest possible setting that feels reasonably comfortable to you. If you have window air conditioning units, run them only as much as is absolutely necessary.
- Check your insulation.
- When you buy major appliances, including air conditioners, be sure to check the EER (Energy Efficiency Rating). The higher the EER, the more energy and money you'll save.
- Clean and replace the filters regularly.
- Keep your drapes closed to block out direct sunlight.
- Weatherstrip around doors and windows.

At Southwestern Public Service, we care about you getting the most for your energy dollar. Call us for suggestions to help you change the size of your electric bill for the better.

NEWS OF HEALTH

CANCER: PUT THE BLAME WHERE IT LIES

While heart disease is the Number One killer of Americans, it ranks far below cancer in any public fearrating. Cancer, in all of its variations, is America's ultimate health phobia.
 Day after day, in the media, cancer is treated as though it has reached epidemic proportions. Repeatedly, too, product after product is cited by government regulators as potentially cancer-causing.
 Chemical products, in particular, are mentioned as contributing to a cancer explosion.
 The reality is far different.
 There is no cancer explosion. In fact, excepting lung cancer, the death rate for nearly all forms of cancer has been declining since 1900.

This is illustrated best by the chart which shows lung cancer rates for men to be rising, while all other types of cancer have remained virtually constant or have decreased. Significantly, too, the rate for lung cancer among females has risen on a basis parallel to the increase in cigarette smoking by women.
 Unfortunately, government behaves as though cancer has reached an epidemic level and apparently believes that restrictive curbs on chemicals are a sure cure.
 This continuing focus on industrial chemicals stems from an often-quoted and much misinterpreted statement that 80 to 90 percent of human cancer is due to "environmental effects" over which we have some control.

 What is not explained is that probably less than one to two percent--and perhaps considerably less--of human cancer is due to industrial chemicals. Practically all of the remainder are due to life-style functions such as smoking, diet, over-exposure to sunlight, etc., which also constitute "environmental effects."
 With the American Cancer Society reporting a slight decrease in the age-adjusted incidence of all cancer in the past 25 years, government's present efforts to control and eradicate the disease clearly are misguided.
 There is no cancer epidemic, caused principally by industrial chemicals, and this should be brought home to those who frame laws. Public pressure could cause a restructuring of our cancer-related research priorities towards diet and other factors more important than chemicals.

County Economy Gets Boost From Petroleum

The Multi-billion dollar boost that oil and gas industry operations gave to the Texas economy in 1977 was shared by the citizens of Gray County.
 The marketed value of petroleum production in the county has been calculated at $87.6-million in an economic activity profile of the state's top producing counties prepared by the Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.
 Gray was one of 201 counties which last year produced petroleum with a marketed value of $100,000 or more. The county ranked 49th in the estimated total value of petroleum produced. The Association has computed that some $45.6-million came from the production of 5-million barrels of crude oil, with approximately $42-million attributed to an output of 46.4-million MCF of natural gas. Payments last year to owners of royalty in the county were calculated at $10.9-million.
 While paying local, county and state property taxes, producers in the county also helped support state government through production tax payments estimated at $5.0-million. This included $2.1-million from crude oil output, $3.1-million from natural gas.

 he appreciates the confidence expressed, but is a Democrat

Pampa has passed a city or-street or alley in the city.

Increased business activity on the principal streets and the disorderly appearance given the streets by the signs was given as the reason for the action.
