McLean Has Million Dollar Building Boom In 1978

By Linda Haynes
Editor

"Everybody talks about something needing to be done, but nobody does it." If Will Rogers didn't say that, he should have. That seems to be the case too often in community affairs. For years people have said that the youngsters need something to do in McLean, but no one has ever come up with many satisfactory ideas. Well, all that is changing. The First Baptist Church in McLean decided to try to help solve the problem. They are in the process of converting the old auditorium of the church into a gymnasium that will be open to everyone in the community. The Rev. Buell Wells said last week that tentative plans call for basketball goals to be installed, and that perhaps skating could be offered. Now, that is a positive step forward. The gym will be open to all age groups, and for varied activities.

Parts of the United States may be in an economic slump, but if construction is a good indicator, McLean is definitely experiencing a boom. Over $1,250,000 has been pumped into the economy of McLean since Jan. 1 in construction of new businesses, new homes, and remodeling. The Thomas Nursing Home, with 15,000 sq. ft., has accounted for a large part of the boom. The estimated cost of the structure is $540,000. The Wil-Mart Convenience Store with 2400 sq. ft. was built for approximately $72,000, and the Housing Authority apartments, with 6,500 sq. ft., was finished this week for an approximate $136,000. A new Dairy Queen is being constructed, and should be finished by the first of the year. The structure will have 2,000 sq. ft., and the cost of the building will be about $120,000.

Several businesses have remodeled since the first of the year at a cost of over $380,000. Lamb Funeral Home added a new brick siding, the Lane Simpson Agency renovated their building on the inside and out, and the Pot Pourri is in the process of remodeling the inside of their building. The American National Bank expects to have remodeling finished by the first of the year. The bank will use the old Jewel Box and Harrell's Variety Buildings to add 5000 sq. ft. of office space. And McLean High School was remodeled this summer, with the ceilings lowered, lighting added, and air conditioning and heating installed for around $130,000. In addition to money spent on construction of businesses and public buildings, two new homes have been added to McLean and several homes in the town are being remodeled.

The rafters were raised on the Thomas Nursing Home this week, with officials predicting a Jan. 1 completion date.

City Sales Tax Receipts Up

To whoever was the guiding light behind this project, congratulations! Maybe you will inspire us all to do, instead of talk.

If I don't quit making so many errors, we will have to start a separate column called "Corrections of Editor's Gooft's!"

In my column two weeks ago, I mentioned the players on the Tiger football team, and I omitted one very important member, Bill Hambright. Phil is probably the most improved player on the Tiger squad. He has grown since last year, and gained speed and skill. He has made several fine defensive plays in recent games, and I certainly didn't mean to leave him out of the list of great Tigers. Sorry, Bill.

Our best source of information is you! If you have visitors, or know of something interesting happening in McLean, give us a call at 779-2447. Deadline for all news is Tuesday at noon.

It's very gratifying to gripe about something in this column, and then see some results. There has not been a major wreck on the east-bound lane of I-40 through McLean since the highway department installed some new signs and marked it for a three-lane street. We would like to speak for the citizens of McLean and say "Thank you" to the highway department for their prompt action. Sometimes a problem just needs to be brought to the attention of people to get it solved.

George Terry did a great deal of work, and so did other members of the city council to get this improvement and I know the town is grateful to them.

Perhaps another problem that could be solved by calling it to people's attention is the problem of trash being dumped on county roads.

Since the McLean landfill was closed to the public, many people have decided to dispose of their trash by dumping it on the county roads. The worst instance I have seen is on the dirt road out past the McLean Country Club.

The landfill is open two days a week, and one of those days (Saturday) there is no charge. I know it is inconvenient for some, but dumping trash on someone else's property is certainly not the answer.

McLean's share of the sales tax for September is up six percent over last year. The city received a check for $4,164,06 for a total in 1978 of $14,902,71. State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that his office has sent checks totaling $70.1 million to 900 Texas cities as their September share of the local option one per cent sales tax.

The September rebates raise the cities' total for the year to $306.5 million, an increase of 16.3 percent over the same period last year.

The sales tax is collected by merchants and other sales tax permit holders along with the state sales tax and rebated monthly to the cities in which it is collected by the Comptroller's Office.

Housing Project Completed This Week

The new housing project will be officially released to the Housing Authority of the City of McLean today (Thursday). The project, which began in April, was completed earlier this week, when architect L. A. Wossum gave a final inspection to the units.

The $196,000 unit will add six two-bedroom apartments and two one-bedroom apartments to McLean. The apartments contain 6,352 square feet of living space.

The project was financed by the Farmers Home Administration, and will be administered by the Housing Authority of the city. Mayme Hathaway is executive director of the project.

Deaths Rise Since Repeal

The number of cyclists killed in traffic accidents has increased 23 percent between 1976 and 1977, reports the U.S. Department of Transportation. According to national figures, 4,082 motorcyclists were killed in 1977, 770 more than in 1976.

In 1976, eight states repealed helmet-use laws and in 1977, an additional 14 states repealed or revised the law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets.

'Kiss A Baby' Campaign Begins

Members of the Beta Sigma Phi, volunteers for the 1978 Kiss A Baby Campaign, began calling on their neighbors Wed. to encourage them to kiss their babies and ask their help in the fight for the millions of children across the nation who suffer from lung-damaging diseases.

"The taste of salt on the skin is a symptom of Cystic Fibrosis, the most serious lung-damaging disease," said Mrs. H. F. Fabian, chairman of the drive.

The campaign's door-to-door drive is being conducted in McLean for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation as part of the annual effort to raise funds for programs benefiting children with cystic fibrosis and other lung-damaging diseases.

"Our cause is a very important one. Lung diseases kill more children in this nation than any other disease except cancer," said Mrs. Fabian. "Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children, and approximately 40 percent of persons suffering from C/F are not yet diagnosed."

According to Mrs. Fabian, contributions to the Kiss A Baby Campaign will help support a national network of over 100 Cystic Fibrosis Centers, research projects around the world and various educational programs.

Cystic Fibrosis Centers, most located at teaching hospitals affiliated with leading medical schools and universities, provide diagnosis, treatment, and referral to children suffering from cystic fibrosis, as thoma, chronic bronchitis, bronchiectasis, "childhood emphysema" and recurrent pneumonia.

was saddened by the death of Doug Clawson, Friday. He was a kind man who always seemed to have a good word for everyone. Doug lived quietly, but he died heroically trying to help his co-workers. We would like to express our sympathy to his family.

One of the best ways that people can show the Clawson family their sympathy is by donating blood to the Coffee Memorial Blood Center. While Doug was in the hospital, over 17 pints of blood were used. If the blood is replaced on a 2 to 1 or 3 to 1 ration, the family will not be charged.

Those wishing to donate blood should go to the Coffee Memorial Blood Center, 2911 Amarillo Blvd., West, Amarillo, Texas, phone 374-0301. The center is open 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to noon Saturday. For Saturday visits to the blood bank an appointment is preferable.

Donors should be sure to give Doug's name and Parkland Hospital to be sure proper credit is made. Those who need transportation can call M.M. Burroughs at 779-2242 or 779-2624. Also the mobile blood bank will be in McLean October 10, and some may wish to donate at that time. Again be sure to give Doug's name to the attendants to insure that proper credit is given.

When the blood bank comes to McLean, donors can specify an individual to receive credit for the blood or it can go into a credit account for the city of McLean.

Another victim of the explosion at the Warren Petroleum Co. is still in the Burn Center at Parkland Hospital. Gary Fry has had one surgery for skin grafting, and will undergo several more before the process is complete. To prevent infection, he is not allowed to have flowers, but I'm sure he would appreciate cards or letters from his many friends in McLean. but the largest number of wrecks with fatalities occurred on state highways.

Most wrecks occurred at 5 p.m., with Saturday the most dangerous day. However, most wrecks with fatalities occurred at 1 a.m.

More men drivers were killed or injured in accidents than women with 328 men killed and 10,816 injured as compared to 70 women killed, and 4069 injured. The most dangerous ages for drivers was 25-34, with the age group 20-24 the second most dangerous.

Most accidents occurred in daylight, on dry roads, and clear weather in vehicles with no defects reported.

Over 42,000 accidents occurred in passenger cars. Most violations contributing to accidents were caused by failure to yield right-of-way, but more fatalities happened in wrecks caused by driving over the speed limit. Over 2,400 wrecks were caused by driving under the influence of drugs or alcohol, with 59 fatalities and 1180 injuries in these wrecks.

law was repealed in August of 1977. Now only those under age eighteen are required to wear helmets. According to the Department of Public Safety statistics, there was an increase of 84 deaths between the 1976 and 1977 figures, a rise of 45.2 percent.

What may be more significant, however, is that the increase resulted almost entirely from the motorcyclists not wearing helmets. Deaths in this category rose from 12 in 1976 to 89 in 1977, a 741.7 percent increase.

Tax Questions To Be Answered

AUSTIN--State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced he is sending a representative from his Amarillo Field Office to Pampa on Wednesday, September 20, 1978 to assist local taxpayers and answer questions about State Taxes.

Bullock said Enforcement Officer J.D. Caproni will meet with local taxpayers at the County Judge's Office in the Gray County Courthouse from 2:00 P.M. until 4:00 P.M.

"If Gray County Merchants, or any one else for that matter, have any questions about State Taxes or need help in preparing tax forms, Mr. Caproni will be there to assist them," Bullock said.

"We're trying to cut the red tape in this office and we believe these face-to-face sessions with taxpayers help do just that," Bullock added.

Bullock reminded those taxpayers who are unable to meet with his representative on September 20, 1978 that they can still get their questions answered quickly by calling his TOLL-FREE TAX INFORMATION NUMBER in Austin. That number is 1-800-252-5555.

The Amarillo Field Office, headed by Claudia Stravato, serves the twenty-six counties of the Texas Panhandle.

Delegation Calls For Meat Quota

Fort Worth -- A delegation of directors of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association called on Texas Congressmen in Washington this week, urging passage of an amendment to the Meat Import Quota law that would complement the supply of domestic beef.

Texas Cattle Feeders Association directors joined in this effort. The group, headed by TSCRA vice president John S. Cargile of San Angelo and Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, found excellent response from their congressmen in favoring the establishment of a formula for importing more beef when domestic supplies are low and less when those supplies are high. The cattlemen also urged the lawmakers to restrict the President's power to intervene.

Cotton Crop Reduction Expected

Insect and weather problems in the West and Southwest have brought a 300,000 bale reduction in a recent estimate of the current U.S. cotton crop.

In the estimate, the American crop is estimated at 10.5 million bales. This compares with a 10.1 million bale estimate as of one month ago.

In the other largest cotton-producing country, the Soviet Union, conditions also have been experienced that point to the possibility of low yields. In that country, poor planting weather prevailed over a large area, causing widespread replanting. The northerly latitude of the Russian cotton areas means a late crop can be hurt by an early frost.

However weather conditions are promising in a number of other cotton-producing countries, resulting in an upward revision in total foreign production aspects at this time.

Overall, world production estimates for 1978-79 total 60.1 million bales.

Governor Briscoe Signs Proclamation

AUSTIN -- Gov. Dolph Briscoe has signed a proclamation declaring Sept. 23, 1978, as "Hunting and Fishing Day" in Texas.

Briscoe joined with President Carter and sportsmen's groups, conservation agencies and individual sportsmen throughout the nation in observing the annual day which recognizes the role of the hunter and fisherman in the conservation of fish and wildlife.

President Carter, in a letter to the National Hunting and Fishing Day organization, pointed out that license fees and special taxes have provided some $5 billion to support land acquisitions, research and habitat management for fish and wildlife.

"It is largely because of these efforts that the conservation movement in America is succeeding and hunting and fishing remain worthwhile and acceptable activities in our modern society," Carter said in the letter. "Properly regulated by state and federal agencies, hunting and fishing are an integral part of the system of modern wildlife management that has proven so successful in America."

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department encourages hunters and fishermen to participate in NHFD activities Sept. 23. Further information about NHFD activities in Texas may be obtained from the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas (SCOT) 311 Vaughn Building, Austin, Tx. 78701.

The couple exchanged their wedding vows in a double-ring ceremony on Aug. 12 at 3 p.m. with the pastor the Rev. Buell Wells, officiating.

The altar was enhanced with candelabra, greenery and flowers. A memory candle in the setting was used in the ceremony.

Susan Cochran, sister of the groom, sang "Always and Forever," "Color My World," and "We've Only Just Begun." The church pianist played the accompaniments and the wedding music.

Candles were lighted by Charley Cooper of Perryton and Brad Graham of Tucumcari, N.M.

MR. AND MRS. SPENCER CORRELL

In the Kitchen

By Linda Haynes

I want to share with you this week an excerpt from the old Methodist cookbook. There is no author given, and I assume it was copied from another source. However, the advice of the 1920's probably will still work today.

HOW TO COOK A HUSBAND

A good many husbands are utterly spoiled by mismanagement. Some women go about it as if their husbands were bladders, and blow them up. Others keep them constantly in hot water; others let them freeze by their carelessness and indifference. Some keep them in a stew by irritating ways and words. Others roast them. Some keep them in a pickle all their lives.

It cannot be supposed that any husband will be tender and good managed in this way, but they are delicious when properly treated. In selecting your husband you should not be guided by the silvery appearance, as in buying mackerel, nor by the golden tint, as if you wanted salmon. Be sure and select him yourself, as tastes differ. Do not go to the market for him, as the best are always brought to your door. It is far better to have none unless you will patiently learn how to cook him.

A preserving kettle of the finest porcelain is best, but if you have nothing but an earthenware pickin it will do, with care. See that the linen in which you wrap him is nicely washed and mended, with the required number of buttons and strings sewed on. Tie him in the kettle by a strong silk cord called comfort, as the one called duty is apt to be weak. They are apt to fly out of the kettle and be burned and crusty on the edges, since, like crabs and lobsters, you have to cook them while alive.

Make a clear, steady fire out of love, neatness, and cheerfulness. Set him as near this as seems to agree with him. If he spatters and fizzes do not be anxious; some husbands do this till they are quite done. Add a little sugar in the form of what confectioners call kisses, but no vinegar or pepper on any account. A little spice improves them, but it must be used with judgement. Do not stick any sharp instruments into him to see if he is becoming tender. Stir him gently; watch the while, lest he lie too flat and close to the kettle, and so becomes useless. If thus treated you will find him very agreeable, agreeing nicely with you and the children, and he will keep as long as you want, unless you become careless and you set him in too cool a place.

M*A*S*H MANIA by Richard Hooker

If you enjoyed the movie M*A*S*H, or have found yourself laughing through the current television series of the same name, then you will enjoy this book.

"M*A*S*H Mania" takes the main characters from the original M.A.S.H. 4077 in Korea into the present where they are alive and still slightly crazy in Maine.

In "MASH Mania" we find the men of "The Swamp well into middle age and operating the Spruce Harbor Hospital, which incidentally adjoins the Finestkind Fish Market.

Hawkeye Pierce, Duke Forrest, Trapper John McIntyre, and Spaulding Jones are still up to their old tricks, confusing the enemy enough to get a good job done.

The earlier adventures of this quartet are chronicled in Richard Hooker's previous book, "MASH Goes to Maine".

This is a hilariously funny book full of offbeat humor, and it should be read by every MASH convert.

"M*A*S*H Mania" is available at Lovett Memorial Library.

SELECT APPLIANCES TO AID ARTHRITIS SUFFERERS

Select household appliances to aid the person with arthritis. A person with arthritis may experience severe pain in trying to do everyday chores which others take for granted.

Some items that can aid the person with arthritis around the home include:

- (1) Two-handed cookware: two handles make cookware much easier and safer for handling.
- (2) Electric toothbrush: some of the small manipulative movements needed for brushing the teeth with a regular toothbrush are very Difficult for a person with arthritis.

(3) Electric knife: an electric knife can make the hardest cutting job in the kitchen relatively easy.

(4) Electric scissors: These are especially important for a person who sews or does any kind of craft requiring a lot of cutting.

(5) Electric can opener: the difficulty in turning the key of a manual can opener is magnified for arthritis sufferers.

Look for a unit with power piercing cutting blade so that the user doesn't have to make the initial cut.

(6) Portable steamer unit: a portable steamer unit which can help to steam out wrinkles in both sheer and heavy fabrics can, in many cases, eliminate the need for ironing.

ALLERGIES

Allergies affect one in five Americans. The most common allergies are asthma and hay fever, and both appear seasonally or year round.

Most serious of the common allergic diseases is asthma. About nine million Americans suffer from it. It usually appears as a shortness of breath with coughing and wheezing.

Asthma may occur in acute attacks which last from minutes to days, or it may be almost constant. Though asthma can begin at any age, most of its victims are afflicted in childhood. In the very young, symptoms of asthma may be rapid breathing and coughing spells or recurring cough with or without fever.

Asthma may be caused by pollen, house dust, grasses, weeds, animals or foods. Infections of the sinuses or of the bronchial tubes can also be made worse at times by emotional reaction to stress. Some allergic factors that bring on asthma in one victim may bring on hay fever in another. Symptoms are sneezing, itching, weeping eyes, runny nose, burning palate and throat. Hay fever, which affects an estimated 15 million Americans, may occur in spring, summer or fall and may last until frost.

Early diagnosis of allergies is important. Treatment for allergic diseases includes immunizing injections for allergens that cannot be removed—such as dust, pollen and mold spores. Shots must be given at intervals over a long period. Other remedies may include removing feather pillows or dust-catching furniture. Sometimes pets—cats, dogs, birds—must be removed. If certain foods cause allergies, they, too, must be removed from the diet. Many medicines are available to relieve symptoms of allergy.

1978 Quail Hunting Lower Than Last Year

Last year was a banner year for the quail hunter in Texas, but there's just no way 1978 can be expected to be as good, Gore believes. "There was a tremendous quail hatch last year in the southern half of the state," Gore said, "and a pretty fair hatch in the northern half. This year, the hatch was only poor to fair throughout the state."

Gore pointed out that quail production has to be viewed as "an annual occurrence," since there is seldom much carry-over of adult birds through the winter months. "To have a good quail season, you have to have a good hatch that year," Gore said. And this year it was too dry during the critical late spring and early summer nesting period, he said.

The current drought is very serious to local farm and ranch operators. Wheat farmers are in a pickle—many have not received enough rain since harvest to get volunteer sprouted. Wheat sowing would be underway if normal conditions with adequate moisture were the case. Fall wheat pasture is going to be limited even for irrigated fields. Most irrigated farmers have made so much money from wheat (that's a joke) that they are reluctant to put a pre-water expense into the crop to get their volunteer up.

Now for the cattlemen, he has been expecting some late August, early September rains which would allow him to grow some more grass to carry his cattle through the winter on. It is getting late to grow much, if any, grass before frost, therefore, some ranchers are already expecting to feed a lot of hay this winter. For the most part, ranchers had about a six week grass growing period in the spring and that just isn't long enough to grow a year's supply of grass.

All in all this hot, dry summer and fall of 1978 is coating area farmers and ranchers and the situation gets worse each day we go without any moisture.

ists will present the program on health practices, parasite control, feed and management tips. Also a report on stocker cattle shipping research being conducted on a cooperative basis with southeastern states will be given. Speakers include: Dr. Gene Cope, Veterinarian; Dr. John McNeil, Beef Cattle Specialist; and Dr. Carl Patrick, Entomologist. Their discussions will be informal and producers will have ample opportunity to get questions answered.

JOHNSON GRASS CONTROL

The hot, dry days of late summer and early fall are an ideal time to control rhizome Johnson grass in fallow fields. Repeated tillage is an effective way to clean up fields heavily infested with rhizome Johnson grass. Chiseling followed by disking pulls the rhizomes to the surface and chops them into short segments which dry quickly in the sun. If the soil is moist enough to plow, rhizome Johnson grass can almost be eliminated with repeated tillage during dry, hot weather.

Every time Johnson grass shoots reach a height of 6 to 8 inches, plow the field again. During a period of extended rainfall, the degree of control will be lessened because rhizome segments tend to root down in the moist soil and generate new shoots. Therefore, tillage is most effective in dry periods.

Even though tillage is effective for controlling Johnson grass arising from underground rhizomes, it has little effect on seeds. Effective herbicides are available for controlling seedling Johnson grass in cotton, soybeans and corn in the early spring. It is best to rotate heavily infested fields to these crops so Johnson grass competition can be brought under control with a combination of herbicides and tillage.

FREE BRUCELLOSIS VACCINATION

Most cattlemen are not taking advantage of the free brucellosis vaccination program for their herds.

The program is designed to protect beef and dairy herds from brucellosis, a disease that often causes reproductive failure in cows. All female beef and dairy calves should be vaccinated as soon as possible after they are two months old. After vaccination by a local veterinarian, the calves are tagged and tattooed and the owner is issued a certificate.

The strain 19 vaccine used in the program provides complete protection against most levels of exposure to 65 to 75 percent of the vaccinates, while the remainder receive various degrees of protection.

Vaccination should be a continuous thing since herd immunity increases along with the number of calf crops vaccinated. The vaccination program can help make beef heifers more valuable since the demand is high for vaccinated animals. Several states require that all replacements brought across state lines be official vaccinates.

In buying herd replacement it's also wise to buy only vaccinated stock. All replacement stock should be tested for brucellosis, isolated for at least a month, and then retested.

Through active participation in the free brucellosis vaccination program, chances are good that this costly livestock disease can be eradicated.

Specialist Says Alcohol Can Affect Unborn Babies

COLLEGE STATION -- Pregnant women who drink alcohol may threaten their unborn baby with malformation or mental deficiency, a health education specialist warns.

Three ounces of alcohol or more per day is a definite risk, says Carla Shearer.

Ms. Shearer is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Drinking only one to three ounces of alcohol per day also can be risky, and pregnant women should approach these amounts with caution," she adds, quoting information from the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism.

Researchers say that of the total newborns in the United States, thousands are malformed and mentally defective because their mothers drank too much alcohol during pregnancy, Ms. Shearer adds. Due to evidence that alcohol consumption by pregnant women can cause—in some cases—birth defects in children, the Food and Drug Administration is now considering new regulations that would warn consumers of this danger.

Labels of caution would appear on certain oral drugs and foods that contain alcohol, according to the proposed regulations.

Alcoholic beverages might also carry such labels, Ms. Shearer says.

Just "how much" alcohol is "how dangerous"—and "when" during pregnancy—are still areas of uncertainty, but researchers are still looking for the answers, the specialist says.

"However, until we know the answers, extreme caution with alcohol consumption is best," she urges.

Explaining how alcohol damages an unborn baby, Ms. Shearer says that when a pregnant woman drinks, the alcohol goes through her bloodstream and that of the unborn—in the same concentration.

"In other words, if the mother is drunk, so is the baby," she stresses.

Epilepsy Battle Still Fought In Panhandle

Seven thousand people in the Texas panhandle are fighting the same battle that once was fought by Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar and Napoleon.

The battle is with epilepsy, a neurological disorder that has been known for centuries but is still often misunderstood. Epilepsy is a major panhandle health problem, affecting more people in the region than multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, cerebral palsy and tuberculosis combined.

In past centuries, the struggle to overcome the effects of epilepsy was a lonely, individual effort, even for great figures in history. But panhandle people with the disorder have an ally: The High Plains Epilepsy Association. The Association helps persons with epilepsy, and their families, with emotional and financial problems, and tries to promote better public understanding of the disorder. From headquarters in Amarillo and a few satellite groups in other communities, the association serves the 25 northernmost counties of Texas. Workers in the association are all volunteers, except for the staff at the Amarillo office, headed by Betty Brown of Pampa, the association's executive director. Under the Assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color, or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and the Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250, or the Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D. C. 20250, or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Such complaint must be filed not later than 180 days after the alleged discrimination, or by such later date to which the Secretary of Agriculture of the Rural Electrification Administration extends the time of filing. Identity of complainants will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations.

Dry Season Cause Of Area Shortage

HAY SITUATION BECOMING CRITICAL -- With most of the state still dry, time is running short for hay making. Hay supplies will be extremely short this fall, with production down as much as 50 percent in some areas, notes a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Hay is available in other states but the cost is high. Grain supplies are good and the cost should be reasonable. Winter pastures can also help take the pressure off hay feeding. Producers will also want to cull their herds closely before winter sets in.

Drug Abuse Problems Common

COLLEGE STATION -- Possible drug abuse problems can arise from "prescribed" drugs as well as "illegal" drugs.

Many people think of "drug abuse" only in terms of drugs that are bought illegally, points out Carla Shearer, a health education specialist.

It is very possible, however, to become dependent on drugs and to have a drug problem through the use of doctor-prescribed drugs, she says.

These drugs might include tranquilizers, stimulants, sleeping pills and pain relievers.

An even larger problem can arise as a result of combining these drugs with alcohol, the specialist warns.

Ms. Shearer is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

However, before drug abuse problems can be solved, the user must first realize that there is a problem.

To help in determining this, a person may ask himself or herself the following questions:

- (1) Am I defensive if a friend or relative mentions my drug or alcohol use?
 - (2) Am I sometimes embarrassed or frightened by my behavior while under the influence of drugs or alcohol?
 - (3) Have I ever gone to see a new doctor because my regular physician would not prescribe the drug I wanted?
 - (4) When I am under pressure or feeling anxious, do I automatically take a tranquilizer or drink or both?
 - (5) Do I take drugs and drink alcohol at the same time?
 - (6) Do I take drugs more often or for purposes other than those prescribed by my doctor?
 - (7) Do I regularly drink alcohol or take drugs to help me sleep?
 - (8) Do I have to take a pill to wake up in the morning?
- If you answered "yes" to any of these questions, you may have a problem with drugs, alcohol or both, Ms. Shearer cautions.

In old Germany it was illegal to tie nine knots in anything.

Chuck Pierce signals touchdown as quarterback Tom Eck breaks the ice for the Tigers with a score Friday night.

Tigers Lose To Shamrock In Last Quarter Friday

Four first-quarter fumbles set up two Shamrock touchdowns as the Irish captured a 25-20 decision over the McLean Tigers in a real thriller Friday night in Shamrock.

The second McLean fumble was recovered by the Irish on the McLean 23. That set up Shamrock's first TD, a 1-yard plunge by Stacy Prather, who finished the night with 130 yards rushing on 27 carries and three TD's.

After the ensuing kickoff, McLean fumbled at the 27 and Shamrock recovered. The Irish drove inside the 10 on the next two possessions, but were stopped by a determined Tiger defense.

The Irish were stopped at the one on the next possession when they fumbled, but McLean returned the favor at the Tiger 8-yard line to set up the second Irish score on a four yard run by Jessie Salinas.

In the second quarter, McLean scored on a run by quarterback Tom Eck. The extra-point kick by Steve Ellison was good, and the Tigers went to the dressing room at half-time behind 13-7.

In the third quarter the Tigers received the kick-off and junior Randy Suggs caught a pass from Eck to tie the score at 13-13. The extra point by Ellison was not good.

With 3:55 left in the third quarter, Suggs intercepted an Irish pass, but the Tigers were penalized 15 yards for holding and the Irish retained possession of the ball.

Two more successive 15-yard penalties brought the Irish to the Tigers seven-yard line. The Irish scored on the next play, but the extra point was not good making the score 19-13.

With 10:18 left in the fourth quarter, on the first play following an Irish punt, David Tolleson scored for the Tigers on a razzle-dazzle 60-yard run. The kick was good and the Tigers led 20-19.

With 4:03 left in the game, the Irish scored on a short run and brought the score 20-20. Extra-point run failed.

McLean was unable to score again in the short time left in the game.

The Tigers will travel to Silveston Friday night for a game against the Owls. "Silveston has lost to two fine football teams; Kress and Lubbock Christian," said Coach Coward, "and will be hungry for a win."

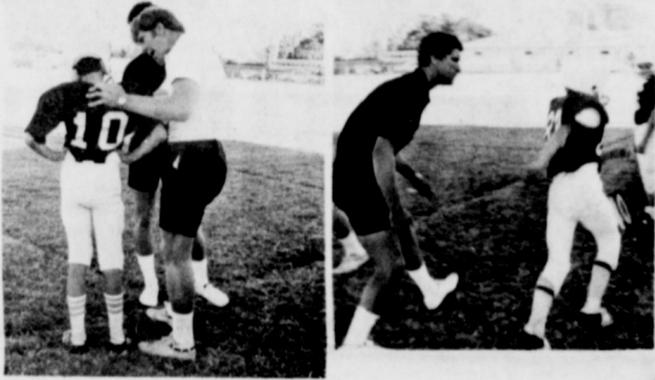

Game time is 8 p.m.

Red Raiders To Meet Arizona Saturday

The Texas Tech Red Raiders will meet the University of Arizona in a non-conference game in Jones Stadium at Lubbock Saturday night at 8 p.m. After having a week off, the Raiders will play their second consecutive Pac-10 opponent. Tech opened the season Sept. 9 with a 17-9 loss against Southern Cal. Tech leads the overall series with Arizona 24-3-1, winning a thriller last year 32-26. The Red Raiders will once again be at a huge weight disadvantage this weekend. Arizona is reputed to be the second largest team in the Pac-10, second only to USC. The offensive line averages 252 pounds per man while the defensive front weighs in at 236 pounds a man. Texas Tech's Rex Dockery will be after his first collegiate victory while Tony Mason was 32-25 going into last week's game with Oregon State. A crowd of more than 40,000 is expected for Tech's home debut.

Four Accidents Occur Near McLean

Four accidents Saturday and Sunday on a 1/2 mile stretch of I-40 west of Alanreed kept Department of Public Safety trooper John Holland busy over the weekend. Saturday, a semi-tractor truck rolled over west of Alanreed, and later that day a passenger car rolled over.

Another car roll over and truck roll over occurred Sunday. On Monday a van rolled over on I-40, also. Minor injuries were reported in several of the accidents. On Friday, a truck and car collided close to the Wil-Mart convenience store, but no injuries were reported.

Cubs Fail To Hold Lefors Thursday Night

McLean's junior high Cubs were unable to generate any offense in their season opener with Lefors Thursday night at Duncan Field. The Bandits beat the host team 14-0.

"We just weren't ready for Lefors but we will be ready for Skellytown," said Coach Jack Donett. Joe Riley is the assistant coach for the junior high. The Cub team has 16 seventh graders, with only 8 eighth graders.

"We were pleased with the attendance at game," said Donett. "We had a good gate receipt, and we appreciate the support of everyone who came." The Cubs play Skellytown tonight (Thursday) at Duncan Field at 6 p.m.

Punt, Pass, Kick Competition Set

Pete Burton Ford, Ford Dealers of America, and the National Football League are pleased to announce their participation in the eighteenth annual Punt, Pass, and Kick contest.

The Punt, Pass, and Kick competition began in 1961. Since then, thousands of boys and girls have moved through the different levels-local, zone, district, area, division, and national.

Punt, Pass, and Kick participants at each level of competition compete for trophies in their respective age groups. Each national winner will have his or her name engraved on a plaque in the Pro-Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, along with the names of the greatest players in the history of professional football.

Eighteen local trophies will be presented in each local competition - first, second, and third place awards in each of the six age groups.

The contest is open to all boys and girls between the ages of 8 and 13 residing in the U.S. Age eligibility will be determined by the entrants age as of December 31, 1978. There is no cost or purchase required to enter.

Entry blanks and rule books can be picked up at Pete Burton Ford anytime between now and Oct. 7, 1978, and will be available before competition at Nicholson Field in Wheeler on Oct. 7 at 2 p.m.

LOOSE MARBLES

BY LISA PATMAN

There are some of you out there who are still not won over to the idea that fat is beautiful. I know this is a hard pill to swallow since you have been brainwashed most of your life to believe otherwise.

If you are among those of us who, down deep in our hearts, know ourselves as true lardos, and you don't want anyone to know that you are fat, there are a few things you can do to keep people guessing. I have put them all together in a list called Patman's guide to Creative Fatness.

1) Always wear horizontal stripes. Yes, I know that this is contrary to advice given you previously, but there is a reason for this. If you wear horizontal stripes, you can always blame the stripes for your large look, claiming that underneath you are really quite slender.

2) Always hang around with terribly thin people. You're catching on now, aren't you? You can always say that you look so huge because the company you keep is underweight.

3) Claim that you eat like a bird. Never mind that the bird is a pelican, just pick at your food like a sparrow in public and then go home and stuff your face.

4) Tell everyone you know that you used to be an underwear model for the Montgomery Ward catalogue. (No, don't claim to be a former Playboy bunny. There are limits to what some people will believe.)

5) Wear a hair-do that is wider than you are.

6) Tell everyone that those unsightly rolls around your middle belong to the new high fashion skirt you are wearing, and isn't it a shame they no longer make clothes that cling to the waistline.

7) Casually mention that you have to purchase your belts in the kiddie department.

8) Here is the best trick of all. Some morning around seven o'clock, dial the telephone number of the town gossip. When she answers, hang up. Now that you have her awake, get in your car and drive to within a block of her house. Now, get out of the car and jog as quickly and noisily as possible past her front window, making sure she sees you. Do this three times and you've got it made. By the end of the week the rumor will be all over town that you're an exercise freak. And we all know that old rumors never die, they just get more ridiculous.

If none of these tricks work, there is one last measure you can take. If anyone dares to mention your obesity, just threaten to sit on them. That will sure shut them up.

TREMENDOUS TRIFLES

It was the year 1872. The tariff act was being framed. The United States, becoming more and more aware of the importance of tropical and semi-tropical fruits, desired to encourage their propagation in this country.

It was decided to permit the importation of such fruit bearing plants duty free. So the framers of the Tariff Act of June 6, 1872, included in what was then known as the "free list", or the list of items that should be imported free, "fruit plants tropical and semi-tropical for the purpose of propagation or cultivation".

The bill was framed. Then it was copied - or almost copied. For a copying clerk erroneously misplaced a comma and made it read, "fruit plants tropical and semi-tropical for the purpose of propagation or cultivation".

Importers were delighted. They imported fruits happily, and insisted that they were duty free. The Government contended that a mistake had been made and that duty must be charged on imported fruit.

that it was only for PLANTS which were duty free. The Government contended this and the Treasury ruled against the importers of fruit. But it finally reversed its decision and admitted that the law as published DID list fruit on the free list. So importers who had previously paid import duty on the fruit were refunded the amount of such duty, and the Government lost a million dollars in what would otherwise have been an income from imported fruits.

The error was corrected by act of Congress of May 9, 1874 by changing the comma between "fruit" and "plants" to a hyphen, making that commodity listed as duty free to plainly read "fruit-plants" and NOT "fruits" and "plants".

In subsequent Tariff Acts, according to the U.S. Tariff Commission, the hyphen has been omitted and the law now reads as originally drafted, "fruit plants, tropical and semi-tropical for the purpose of propagation or cultivation".

A million dollars is quite a sum but it was the penalty for a misplaced comma.

John Hill is attacking State Budget waste . . .

"I've already started my search for waste in the state budget. I want to be ready to tackle overspending the minute I take office as Governor in January. My budget office already is paring down big state agency budget requests, to keep spending within available revenues. We'll have to live within our means, because I'll veto any new taxes."

sonal effects, and allowing the legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property homestead from state and local property taxation.
 The amendment requires the legislature to provide for the taxation
 of farm and ranch land
 on the basis of its productive capacity instead of its market value and allows the legislature to provide for the taxation
 of timber land on its productive capacity.
 The amendment permits local governments to extend the present exemption of not less than $3,000 of the residence homestead of persons 65
 and older to include certain disabled persons.
 The amendment grants
 an exemption from public school property taxes of $3,000 of the market value of the residence homestead. It authorizes the legislature to grant an additional exemption from public school property taxes of an amount not to exceed $10,000 of the market value of the residence homesteads of persons 65 years of age or older and certain disabled persons. If a person 65 years of age or older qualifies for this exemption, the total amount of public school taxes imposed on that person's homestead may not be increased.
 The amendment prevents local governments
 from increasing property taxes unless the governing body provides public notice and conducts a public hearing. The amendment requires the legislature to provide by law for each property owner to receive notice of the revaluation of his property and the amount taxes will be increased.
 The amendment limits appropriations from state tax revenue to an amount not to exceed Texas' supported economic growth rate, with the legislature authorized to make exceptions for emergencies.
 The amendment prohibits the statewide appraisal of real property
 for property tax purposes. Enforcement of uniform standards and procedures for appraisal
 of property for property tax purposes is required to originate in the taxing authority where the property tax is imposed.
 The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment providing for tax relief for residential homesteads, elderly persons, disabled persons, and agricultural land; for personal property exemptions; for truth in taxation procedures, including citizen involvement; for a redefinition of the tax base; for limitations on state spending; and for property tax administration."

NUMBER ONE
 (S.J.R. 50)
 S.J.R. 50 proposes an amendment to the Texas
 Constitution to delete an archaic reference to the
 "Deaf and Dumb Asylum." The amendment would allow the State of Texas to purchase products and services done by handicapped individuals in nonprofit rehabilitation facilities without complying with bid requirements applicable to other state contracts. The amendment also would eliminate the formality of the approval of certain state contracts by the Governor, the Secretary of State and the Comptroller of Public Accounts.
 The wording of the proposed amendment as it
 will appear on the ballot
 is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment deleting the
 archaic reference to the
 'Deaf and Dumb Asylum,' allowing certain products and services required in the operation of state government to be made under bids awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, making all such procurement processes
 subject to laws enacted by the legislature, and eliminating the requirement that the Governor,
 the Secretary of State, and the Comptroller of Public Accounts of Texas
 be personally involved with such transactions."
NUMBER TWO
 (S.J.R. 55)
 S.J.R. 55 proposes an
 amendment to the Texas
 Constitution to permit
 local governments to issue bonds for the reconstruction or acquisition of facilities (land, equipment and improvements) designed to develop employment opportunities. These bonds would be payable solely from the revenue from the sale or lease of these facilities. The building or acquisition of such facilities must be determined by the local government to be necessary to develop employment opportunities.
 The wording of the proposed amendment as it
 will appear on the ballot
 is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment to provide that the legislature may permit political subdivisions to issue revenue

bonds to develop employment opportunities for its citizens."
NUMBER THREE
 (S.J.R. 44)
 S.J.R. 44 proposes an
 amendment to the Texas
 Constitution which would allow the legislature to authorize cities and towns
 to issue tax increment
 bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas. The bonds are to be paid solely from revenue from municipal tax increments. Payment cannot be made from the revenue of municipal taxes, utilities, or other services.
 The wording of the proposed amendment as it
 will appear on the ballot
 is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment to give the legislature the power to
 authorize cities and towns
 to issue bonds to finance the redevelopment of blighted areas and prohibiting any city or town
 from granting its money or lending its credit for such purposes."
NUMBER FOUR
 (S.J.R. 53)
 S.J.R. 53 proposes an
 amendment to the Texas
 Constitution to allow the legislature to exempt from taxation solar or wind-powered energy devices.
 The wording of the proposed amendment as it
 will appear on the ballot
 is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to exempt from taxation solar and wind-powered energy devices."
NUMBER FIVE
 (H.J.R. 37)
 H.J.R. 37 proposes an amendment to the Texas
 Constitution to grant exclusive jurisdiction to justices of the peace in civil cases where the amount in controversy
 does not exceed $200, except where the legislature gives exclusive jurisdiction to another court.
 The amendment grants
 justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with county courts where the amount in controversy is between $200 and $500,
 except where the legislature gives the county court exclusive jurisdiction.
 The amendment also grants justices of the peace concurrent jurisdiction with both county and district courts where

October 21 Set For ACT Tests

Five weekend mornings during this school year will probably be especially important to McLean High School, juniors and seniors who are thinking about going on to school after graduation.

Those Saturday mornings--the first of which is October 21--are national test dates for taking the test section of the ACT Assessment Program. The registration deadline for the October 21 national test date is September 22, it was announced by Ron Cummings, high school principal.

Also announced by Cummings was the complete 1978-79 ACT Assessment Program national test date schedule. It is:

Registration periods for test date October 21, 1978 will be August 7 -- September 22; for December 9, 1978 will be October 9 -- November 10; for February 10, 1979 will be November 27 -- January 12; for April 7, 1979 will be January 29 -- March 9 and for June 23, 1979 test date, registration periods March 26 -- May 25.

At area test centers on those dates it takes students about three hours to complete four exams (English, math, social studies, natural sciences) that make up the ACT Assessment's test section. The other important section is a two-part questionnaire, which is completed at home by students as part of the program's registration process. The basic student fee for using the program remains $7.50 this year.

Information reports resulting from the test and questionnaire sections are sent to the students and their high school counselors, as well as to colleges and other institutions specifically designated by the students.

McLean High School students who are uncertain if they need to use the ACT Assessment, or concerned about location of the nearest ACT test center, are urged to contact Cummings. Students can also obtain appropriate ACT Assessment registration packets, as well as other college and career planning materials, from the counseling office.

It is recommended that students use the ACT Assessment in their junior year or early in the senior year in order that the resulting information will be available in time to be of maximum assistance to students and counselors.

The ACT Assessment Program which is recommended or required for use by applicants at nearly 2,700 colleges, other post-secondary schools, and scholarship programs, is used each year by nearly one million students.

The ACT Assessment Program is one of several educational services provided by the American College Testing Program (ACT), which has its national headquarters located in Iowa City, Iowa.

Judging from the letters we get, it seems that homemakers will never stop asking for tips on removing stains from the laundry. Here are some strategies for stains.

1. Treat stains immediately, so they don't become permanently set. If immediate treatment isn't possible, blot the stain with cool water, then treat it the first chance you get.

2. Be sure the garment is colorfast before applying a stain remover, and stay away from chlorine bleach as a stain remedy. You risk damaging the fabric, color or finish of the garment. Instead, use a chlorine-free laundry additive (such as Borateam Plus) or a pre-treat product. They contain enzymes, whiteners and brighteners that remove stains without harming any washable item.

Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

caused by inflammation
Doctors have found a medication that in many cases gives prompt, temporary relief for hours from pain and burning itch in hemorrhoidal tissues, then helps shrink swelling of these tissues caused by inflammation. The name: Preparation H®. No prescription is needed. Preparation H Ointment and suppositories. Use only as directed.

That Is Your Interpretation.....

There is no mistaking this fact: there are two areas of life where people insist on their privacy-- religion and money. When discussing the faith of the Scripture, more often than not people will seek to terminate the discussion by saying, "That's your interpretation."

"You have your interpretation, and I have mine" is but a protest meaning "your interpretation might be valid for you, but it is not valid for me." In other words, "I have just as much right to believe what I want to believe as you do."

Merely to protest against teaching by saying "that's your interpretation" is to overlook one fundamental fact-- there are such things as correct and incorrect interpretations. If your interpretation is a correct one, then I need to make it MY interpretation, too.

Truth is not private property--it is a public commodity. It may be your boat, their house or my car, but the Truth belongs to all. It is "worthy of all acceptance." (1 Tim. 1:15)

If my interpretation is an incorrect one, I must change it. If it is correct, I must attempt to persuade all others of its absolute validity. A soul is a precious thing to waste!

EPILEPSY

tion needs more satellite groups," Melvin Isley of Amarillo, association president said. "Besides Amarillo, we have groups active in Hutchinson, Gray, and Moore counties, but ideally we should have a group in every panhandle county."

Satellite groups bring the association closer to the people it can help, and the groups expand the financial support for the association's work, he said.

"Right now, volunteers in a few cities are trying to provide medical and counseling services for several thousand of their panhandle neighbors," Isley said. "Obviously, those who are trying to help could use some help themselves. Anyone in the panhandle who has time or money to offer can find a place in this humanitarian work just by contacting the association office in Amarillo."

The services of the association provide individual attention to the needs of persons with epilepsy and their families. With proper diagnosis and regular medical treatment, about 80 per cent of those affected by epilepsy can have complete or partial control of the seizures, which are the major symptom of the disorder. To assure proper treatment, the association will arrange neurological examinations, provide transportation to medical facilities and offer emergency financial assistance for epilepsy-related problems.

Moreover, the association furnishes a variety of services to improve the everyday lives of victims of epilepsy. Although epilepsy is now known to be a disorder of the nervous system resulting from any of a number of causes, centuries of myths and misinformation have created a stigma about the disorder which has never been entirely dispelled. Because social reaction to epilepsy is sometimes as severe a burden as the physical effects, the association offers counseling to help victims and their families adjust to such problems.

Employment assistance is also available through the association. The association works with victims of epilepsy, helping them prepare for employment and develop the self-confidence necessary to hold a job, and with prospective employers, to resolve any misgivings they might have about hiring persons with epilepsy.

And for persons who are restricted from driving because of epilepsy, the association provides aid with transportation.

Equally as important as the help the association gives to individuals and families is the public education effort, to overcome the mistaken beliefs about epilepsy and to promote a better understanding of what the disorder is and is not.

The association conducts special programs for schools, to prepare faculty members and students for encounters with epilepsy in the classroom. And there are programs for civic clubs and companies concerning epilepsy and employment.

First aid for seizures, training in the early detection of epilepsy symptoms, and general information about the disorder are also taught by the association.
