Hospital Leasing Favored At Hearing

A crowd of about 75 people filled the Gray County Courtroom Thursday evening for the first of two public hearings with the commissioners court on the proposed leasing of the county hospitals to American Medical International, Inc.

County Judge Don Hinton explained the problems facing the commissioners concerning the operation of the county hospitals, and stated that the court felt it was faced with three alternatives: to call a bond election to repair the plumbing and other deficiencies at Highland General (from $750,000 to $1,400,000) create a hospital district and call a bond election, or lease the facility.

Hinton said that the commissioners had been talking to American Medical International of Houston for over a year concerning the lease of the hospital.

He said that after studying all the alternatives the commissioners felt that leasing the hospitals was the best alternative since AMI had the capability to bring in specialists and other new doctors, purchase equipment as needed, and run an efficient hospital.

Hinton said that calling a bond election in the opinion of the commissioners would not solve the long-term problems of the hospital, since the hospital has a $131,000 note to a Pampa bank for operating expenses, and at the Oct. 13 meeting of the hospital board, the hospital lacked $36,000 to cover existing bills.

Hinton explained that the hospitals have over $380,000 in accounts receivable at the current time and if AMI leases the facilities, the corporation would immediately reimburse the county 80 percent of that amount. This money would be put in a special county fund to use if and when the county decided to take the hospital back.

Following Hinton's presentation, the public was encouraged to ask questions. The most vocal questioner seemed concerned about whether the question of leasing would be put to a vote of the people of Gray County. "It's the people's hospital, shouldn't the people have the right to decide if you lease it or not?" a Pampa resident asked.

Hinton explained that was the purpose of the public meetings, to decide if the public wanted a referendum or if the public would prefer that the commissioners make the decision.

The question can be called for a referendum if the commissioners court so decides.

Mayor Sam Haynes told the commissioners, "I have confidence in you. After all, we elected you, and whatever you decide is fine with me, because you should understand the problems of the hospital better than anyone except the hospital board and employees. You're not going to go against the wishes of the people."

At the close of the meeting, Hinton asked for a show of hands on three alternatives: calling a bond election, leasing the hospital, and calling a referendum on leasing the hospital. Two people were in favor of a bond issue, four for a referendum, and the rest of the crowd voted in favor of the lease.

The commissioners will conduct one more public hearing Oct. 30 at 7:30 p.m. in the county courtroom.

Kiowas Scalp Tigers In District Contest

Why should you shop at home? After all, you can go to Amarillo or another surrounding city, and save money... or can you?

Money you spend in your home town is multiplied by four times or more! In economists, there is a surprising result of money spent called the multiplier effect. Simplified, it means that money spent by Jones is received as income by Smith who spends it and it becomes income for Brown. Most economists figure that money spent, by the time it circulates through the economy, multiplies four or five times.

So when you shop out of town, what happens? Your money helps pay their taxes, and increases their income four or five times...

If the product is available in McLean, why not buy it here? It helps everyone in the long run.

The McLean Tigers' visit to Booker last Friday night was a setback in more ways than one, as the local team was ambushed 54-13 by the Kiowas and senior running back David Tolleson was lost for the season with a broken leg.

Booker lit up the scoreboard with a variety of scoring plays, posting an overwhelming 34-0 halftime lead and coasting to the District I-B win.

The Tigers' season record fell to 1-5, and they now are 0-2 in district competition. McLean's lone game in the win column to date was a 34-6 triumph over Chillicothe.

Booker raised its season slate to 3-2 and sports a 2-0 district ledger, so far keeping pace with undefeated Wheeler. The Mustangs zapped district rival Groom 28-0 Friday night.

McLean will seek to bounce back Friday afternoon against the Texline Tornadoes. The contest, to be played here at Duncan Field, will be at 2 p.m. to enable the Texline team and fans to avoid traveling the long distance late at night.

Booker will host Groom Friday night.

Tolleson's leg was broken in the second quarter of the Booker game. He joins Bill Hambright on the Tiger casualty list, as the sophomore tackle injured his knee in practice Oct. 18 and is not expected to play in the near future.

Adrian Juarez and Mark Bechtold scored for Booker on a one-yard plunge, Curtis Huffaker recovered a blocked punt in McLean's end zone, John Sheets took a 24-yard pass from Martin Lemon and Brent Guy ran 15 yards with an intercepted pass to account for the Kiowas' first-half points.

Juarez tallied another touchdown on a three-yard run in the third quarter before Randy Suggs took a 23-yard aerial from quarterback Tommy Eck for McLean's first score of the night.

Booker found the Tiger end zone twice more before Steve Ellison scored for McLean on a one-yard dive in the fourth quarter. Ellison had kicked the extra point after Suggs' score, but a pass failed to gain a two-point conversion for the Bengals after the last touchdown.

The loss to Booker put McLean's scoring average at 13.5 points per game, while the Tiger defense now is giving up 25.7 points per contest.

McLean quarterback Tommy Eck, a senior, shouts the signals as the Tigers prepare to execute an offensive play against the Booker Kiowas Friday night.

Booker won the district fray, 54-13. Coach Bill Coward's charges will host Texline Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. (Staff Photo by Linda Haynes)

Mayor Sam Haynes, standing, was one of several McLean residents who attended a public hearing Oct. 19 in Pampa concerning the possible leasing of the Pampa and McLean hospitals. Haynes received applause when he said he has confidence in the commissioner's court and is willing to go along with whatever the court decides about the hospitals. See story, page 1. Halloween a newspaper wanting advice on offering its facilities for the protection of the public. Nurses and physicians called to offer their assistance to the injured.

In several New Jersey towns women fainted as they heard the horrors being broadcast. In Palmyra some residents packed their belongings and prepared to cross the river into Philadelphia.

At Princeton University women members of the geology faculty, equipped with flashlights and hammers, started out for Groves Corners, the first location of the "Arrival" of the Martian monsters. Dozens of cars were driven to the small town by curious motorists.

College students were phoned by their parents and told to return home.

In some places mass hysteria grew so quickly that "witnesses" to the "invasion" could be found.

A Boston woman telephoned a newspaper to say she could "see the fire" and that she and her neighbors were fleeing.

An anonymous and hysterical girl phoned the Princeton Press club from Groves Corners and said, "You can't imagine the horror of it! It's hell." A man came into the club and said he had seen the meteor strike the earth and had witnessed animals jumping from the alien body. Reports became second-hand, third-hand, fourth-hand and became more and more credible.

Of course it was not even a planned hoax. No one was more surprised than Welles.

The public was told at the beginning, the end, and during the program that the radio broadcast was a dramatic presentation.

As it was, the radio stations and Columbia Broadcasting Company spent the remainder of the evening clearing up the situation. Again and again they explained that the presentation was a dramatization, not an actual news broadcast.

When the truth became known the reaction was significant. The deceived were furious, and demanded that they be protected from further delusion. Again there was a complete failure of good sense. It took days before the last signs of terror disappeared.

How was it that so much of the nation went into shock because of the Halloween broadcast?

One social scientist explained wryly, "All the intelligent people were listening to Charlie McCarthy."

John Hill calls for state tax freeze

"Our state taxes in Texas are among the lowest in the nation, and I want to keep them there. As I've said many times, I'll veto a tax increase before the ink dries on the bill."

As Attorney General, John Hill proved he could increase the efficiency of his office without any unnecessary budget increases. He absorbed a three-fold increase in his office caseload by hiring top legal talent capable of higher productivity. The result: his staff lawyers doubled their average workload, and the increased court judgments and enforcement of civil penalty laws returned $25 for every $1 of state funds spent on his office.

As Governor, John Hill will insist on this same type of increased productivity for all state agencies. He will institute new controls over federal funds, demand that we follow our "pay-as-you-go" budget policy, and use zero-base budgeting to eliminate unneeded programs before any new programs are added. And he'll block any state tax increase — there won't be any new taxes under John Hill.

GOVERNOR

Mrs. Mary C. Vincent

Her husband, W.P. Vincent, died in 1922. Two sons, Cliff and Joe, also preceded her in death.

Survivors include one son, Jack R.C. Vincent of Amarillo; one daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Steele of Pampa; seven grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

A TAXPAYER'S BILL OF RIGHTS IS PAST DUE

Bill Clements believes we still have a chance to preserve our future by establishing constitutional protection against excessive taxation and runaway government spending.

Bill Clements believes the people of Texas should have the power necessary to ratify or reject tax policies made by legislators.

To establish this power (of the people), Bill Clements will introduce an amendment to the Texas Constitution that would give the people of Texas this right.

Bill Clements' "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights" would:

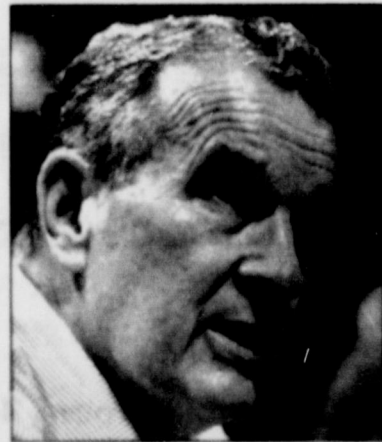

- Give Texans the right of initiative and referendum, a phrase that means we, the people, have a right to vote on the taxes to be levied on us.
- Place a ban on corporate or personal income tax in Texas.
- Require a two-thirds record vote of both houses of the legislature to pass a tax bill.
- Allow local taxpayers to call an election to ratify or reject a tax increase created by a local governmental unit.

Bill Clements believes in Texas and the people of Texas.

Bill Clements thinks that elected officials must work for the people and represent them properly.

As governor of Texas, Bill Clements will work for and with the people of Texas.

It's about time someone recalled that our form of government was conceived to be a servant of the people and provide the means to insure that principle endures.

HOW I GOT TO BE PERFECT
By Jean Kerr
This book is funny. It is just the thing to read to get you out of the winter doldrums.

Kerr has already given us three hilarious books -- "Please Don't Eat The Daisies," "The Snake Has All The Lines," and "Penny Candy."

In "How I Got To Be Perfect" Kerr has written six outrageous new essays, plus the best chapters from her three previous classics. Motherhood, home, and survival in general get it again as Jean Kerr passes on some words of wisdom from the domestic scene.

There are pointers on everything from how to cope with one of the great dilemmas of the seventies (your child as a houseguest) to sure-fire ways to shake an addiction to soap operas (don't try to quit cold turkey) to her research on the beauty secrets of the Beautiful People (for a vibrant complexion, plunge head into bucket of cold water for twenty minutes).

Kerr is a delightful author, and the book is a pleasure to read, from beginning to end. "How I Got To Be Perfect" is available at Lovett Memorial Library.

THEN AND NOW

In less than a century, the average American's life expectancy nearly doubled, thanks greatly to big changes in our knowledge of diseases and their treatment.

THEN: In the 1800's it was believed by some that typhoid could be cured by applying suction cups to the patient's skin.

NOW: Modern medicine and sanitation has practically eliminated that disease, and is concentrating on others--cancer in particular. In fact, some 5,000 scientists from over 70 countries are trying to help combat this problem by pooling their ideas at the Twelfth International Cancer Congress held in a leading South American nation Argentina.

State Production Down In August

Industrial production in Texas dropped in August at an 18.4 percent annual rate.

That was the biggest decline since last February, but most of the decrease was due to seasonal adjustment as the unadjusted production index was only down slightly. Nonetheless, output was off in both manufacturing and mining.

The decline in factory output centered in the durable goods industries where the only gains in production were posted by the lumber and wood products and primary metals industries. Although the decrease in output in nondurable goods manufacturing was smaller than that for durable goods manufacturing, the only industry that boosted production in that sector was refining.

Mining output decreased largely because of a sharp drop in drilling. Crude oil production was off slightly, while a modest decline was evident in metal, stone, and earth minerals.

Reflecting the drop in factory output, the manufacturing capacity utilization index edged down in Aug. to 101.6 percent of the 1972 base.

News from your County Agricultural Agent

By JOE VAN ZANDT
Texas A&M University Extension Service

The cooler weather tells us that frost will soon arrive. Frost can cause prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing certain grasses and forages.

Although many plants contain the toxic material that causes poisoning, those causing the highest mortality in livestock when grazed after they have been frozen and wilted are Johnson and Sudan grasses and sorghum, or hybrids of these.

The most dangerous time as far as the grazing of these plants is concerned is following frost when the plant material begins to wilt. Livestock should not be allowed access to the wilted material until it has dried completely. This usually takes three or four days of good sunlight.

As far as prussic acid poisoning is concerned, the poison acts rapidly and can kill animals within minutes. In most acute cases, animals become affected within 10-15 minutes after eating toxic material and can die in 2-3 minutes. Symptoms may include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Signs of colic may be present. Stupor (loss of sensibility), difficult breathing and frequent convulsions may result. Death is caused by suffocation since oxygen remains in the blood and is not exchanged to the tissues. This also causes the blood to appear bright red.

To prevent prussic acid poisoning follow these steps:

1. Allow plant material affected by frost to dry thoroughly before grazing.
2. Feed animals hay or a supplement before turning them in on suspect plants. Animals that are not hungry will not be affected as seriously by toxic material since their intake will be limited.
3. Remove all animals from the pasture if one in the herd shows any signs of poisoning.
4. Call a veterinarian immediately if an animal appears to be poisoned. An antidote to treat affected animals is highly efficient if given early. This product is available from veterinarians.

5. Have suspect plant material checked by the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at Amarillo. Local veterinarians can submit samples for you.

The overall key to preventing prussic acid poisoning in livestock is to be aware of plant materials that may cause poisoning and then to keep cattle from grazing such plants until a safe period has passed.

PANHANDLE TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF FARM TEACHING MET ROD

October marks the 75th anniversary of the completion of the first successful farm demonstration in the nation.

It was the success of this venture on the Walter C. Porter farm near Terrell, east of Dallas, that led to the creation of the Cooperative Extension Service nationally and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in this state.

Farmers, ranchers and homemakers in the Texas Panhandle will join in recognizing this milestone in agricultural history by holding a special observance in Amarillo Tuesday, October 31.

The observance will be held in the auditorium of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, 6500 Amarillo Blvd., West. It will begin at 9:30 a.m. and includes a ceremony recognizing outstanding farm demonstrators from each of the 20 counties in Extension District 1.

The recipients are representing all of the producers in the district who conducted demonstrations this year in cooperation with their county extension agents, said Paul E. Gross, district extension agent.

A documentary film on the Porter Farm, "I Am Thinking Of The Harvest," will receive its premiere showing in the area.

You can integrate old and new styles when you decorate your home if the styles are of the same degree of formality.

A WORTHY EXAMPLE

It was Joshua who said, "Choose you this day whom ye will serve . . . but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (Josh. 24:15).

Joshua, the successor of Moses, stood tall and firm before the Israelites. He sought to confirm the faith of his brethren and to encourage their obedience to God. There was no egotism in his character, but there was grim determination, unwavering faith, and indomitable courage. These were very necessary to the conquest of Canaan, and to the influential leadership of Israel. It is said to Joshua's everlasting credit, "And Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua, and all the days of the elders that outlived Joshua, and which had known all the works of the Lord, that he had done for Israel" (Josh. 24:31).

It is especially commendable and very praiseworthy that he not only resolved to serve the Lord, BUT THAT HE ALSO FULLY INTENDED THAT HIS FAMILY SHOULD SERVE THE LORD! How desperately needed are such fathers in our day! Carefully note Eph. 6:4

Joshua and All Israel and the privilege of choice. As it was in the days of Joshua, so now people must choose whom they will serve. God has no draftees in his army - he only has volunteers.

Under the New Testament, in the Christian era, we need the same excellent characteristics that Joshua manifested -- the same grim determination, the same unwavering faith, the same indomitable courage, the same wise decision.

If we have the wisdom to make the right choice, the determination to live up to that choice, the courage to take the lead for our soul's sake, and for the sake of those whom we might influence, especially our families, and the faith to do just what the Lord requires; we shall be happier here and happy throughout the eternity. Let us repeat the resolution of Joshua until it becomes a part of our lives: "AS FOR ME AND MY HOUSE, WE WILL SERVE THE LORD" (Josh. 24:15).

APPLES, APPLES, APPLES - IT'S THE SEASON

You can count on lots of apples this fall. That's the word from the USDA that points the second largest crop in 45 years.

USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service has issued a special Food Alert on apples, to call attention to fall marketings that likely will run 11 percent more than last year. You are invited to share in the abundance. Food whole-salers and retailers have been asked to feature apples in special promotions, as often as they can.

You already have seen and enjoyed a good supply of early apples. Now look for the later varieties--the firmer, better keepers--as they appear in volume at fruit markets across the country. Each variety has its own appeal and special advantages for a wide range of uses. Choose those you like the best, whether for eating out of hand or lending flavor and nutrition to the main course, a salad, a bread or a dessert.

Four major varieties account for 70 percent of the apples produced this year. They are Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, McIntosh and Rome Beauty. Production of Red Delicious is forecast at 63.3 million boxes, or 36 percent of the total apple supplies. This is a new record for this variety. Golden Delicious production may be down slightly, but still will account for 16 percent of the total. McIntosh apples will account for about 10 percent, and Rome Beauty, about 8 percent. The remaining 30 percent of our supply will include such favorites as Winesap, Newton, York Imperial, Northern Spy, Stayman, and a host of others.

One nice thing about apples is that they thrive in every state of our nation, although only about 35 states have extensive commercial production. Also, apples ship well from one part of the country to another. And they're good keepers.

The old saw about "An apple a day..." is not sheer myth. Nutritionists point out that apples are important to consumers of all ages, including growing youngsters and dieters. An average-size apple contains 70 to 80 calories.

Apple energy is supplied by quickly available fruit sugars, making an apple a natural for a healthy snack. Studies show that children who eat apples, regularly, instead of excessive amounts of candies, pastries and soft drinks during the crucial 6 to 16 year period have markedly fewer dental cavities.

Apple muffins, apple waffles and apple pancakes are just a few of the tantalizing ideas that score as breakfast eye openers. To prepare these, simply add tiny cubes of pared apples, with a suggestion of cinnamon and sugar, to the batter before baking or cooking.

Or, perhaps you favor an old, proven recipe for Apple Strudel. Try this.

Apple Strudel
2 cups flour
1/2 t. salt
2 T. sugar
4 t. baking powder
6T shortening
1/2 cup nuts, if desired
2/3 cup milk
2T butter
1/4 cup brown sugar
Dash of cinnamon
2 1/2 cups chopped Golden Delicious apples
Sift flour, salt, sugar, baking powder together. Cut in shortening. Add milk to make soft dough. Turn out to floured board and knead gently. Roll out in rectangular sheet 1/4 inch thick. Spread with butter, cinnamon, brown sugar and apples. Roll jelly-roll fashion. Curve into a semi-circle. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Cover with white frosting.

FOR COUNTY JUDGE Kennedy

This is the most important political contest we have this fall. The race is not for the Presidency, the U. S. Senate or the U. S. Congress. It doesn't involve many thousands of voters or millions of dollars in campaign expenditures. It does involve honest, dignified and capable administration of local government and an outstanding candidate. This race is for Gray County Judge and the candidate is Carl Kennedy.

Carl Kennedy was born and raised in Pampa; was president of the student body in high school, fullback for the Harvesters and a member of the National Honor Society.

Carl Kennedy graduated from Texas Tech, with a degree in Business Administration, was president of the senior class and is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Carl Kennedy served in the U. S. Air Force and as Captain received the very important experience as Purchasing Officer.

Carl Kennedy has had extensive experience in business and industry as well as administration and has a first hand working knowledge of ranching and farming.

Carl Kennedy married Patricia Reynolds in 1959 and they have 5 children and he is chairman of the board of the Bible Church of Pampa.

When we say this contest is the most important we face we do not diminish the vital choices we will make for national or state offices, but we have to solve our problems at home before we can make any headway in Austin or Washington.

Over the past years Gray County has been fortunate to have many qualified local office holders, representing both major parties. We are able to continue this tradition by having a fine man as a candidate for Gray County Judge.

We have the opportunity to vote FOR rather than AGAINST this Nov. 7th.

"I want to take this opportunity to tell you that I am sincere in my objective to seek the office and serve as Gray County Judge.

"The knowledge I have gained working in business, industry, and agriculture during the past 23 years assure me that I can fulfill the Administrative responsibilities of the County Judge.

My involvement with family and church, business and social associations provide the confidence that I can properly carry out the Judicial responsibilities of the office."

FOR COUNTY JUDGE Kennedy

Paid for by the Kennedy For County Judge Committee, Buz Tarpley, Treasurer. A copy of our report is filed and is available from the County Clerk's office, Gray County Texas.

TIPS ON TIGHTENING YOUR HOME:

Insulating your home properly is one of the key ways to stop it from being an energy-waster. In addition, these other tips, from the Edison Electric Institute, will help you conserve energy.

1. Weatherstrip and caulk around all windows and doors. If they are leaking air, you may be increasing your heating bills by 15 to 30 percent.
2. Install storm windows or insulating glass.

This will cut in half the amount of heat lost through the windows of your home.

3. By drawing shades or draperies on cold days when the sun isn't shining, you can also cut heat lost through windows.

4. Close the damper in your fireplace tightly when you're not using it.
5. And close the doors to the attic, basement, garage, or other heated parts of your home so you won't lose money heating of cold spaces when they're being used.

Why Every Home Should Have Storm Windows-

- To Reduce Heating And Air Conditioning Costs
- To Help Maintain A More Uniform Temperature Inside The Home
- They Are Installed Quickly and Easily
- With Proper Installations "Sweating" on And Around the Primary Window is Virtually Eliminated. By Stopping the Build Up of Condensate (water) On the Inside of the Primary Window, The Necessity of Re-Painting, Re-Caulking is Minimized.

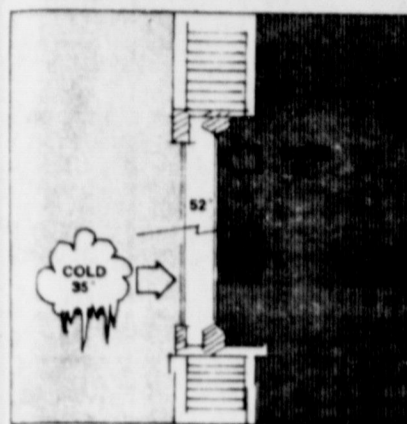

Storm windows will cut in half the heat that is needlessly lost through the windows of your house. In addition, they will cut in half the difference between room air and window temperatures which produces a cold feeling when you are near a window in the winter and causes cold drafts across the floor.

An investment in storm windows will pay for itself within a decade, including interest costs at 6%, and thereafter will return you an annual dividend on the order of 13% or more of your investment. In areas of the United States where the average winter temperature from October 1 to April 30 is lower than 45°F (for example, Philadelphia, Washington and Richmond). In regions of the country where snow lies on the ground all winter, payout of the investment for storm windows will occur in less than seven years and the annual return on the investment will be 18% or more, especially in areas where fuel is relatively expensive.

You will enjoy greater comfort in your home and will be conserving your nation's fuel supplies. If your house is cooled by air-conditioning in summer, all of these statements apply with increased force, because storm windows are as effective in reducing heat gain in summer as they are in reducing heat loss in winter.

REPRINTED from booklet "7 Ways To Reduce Fuel Consumption in Household Heating ... Through Energy Conservation" price by U.S. Department of Commerce, National Bureau of Standards and cooperating committees for Consumer Affairs.

INSULATING STORM WINDOWS

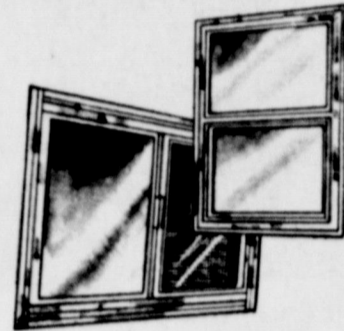

- Save up to 30% on utility bills
- Completely self-storing
- Helps stop sweating
- Colors available
- Fully insulated

Window Condensation - Its Causes and Cures

A single pane of glass in a window will sweat at about 14% humidity, inside temperature 70 degrees and outside temperature zero.

A window protected with storm sash will permit 32% relative humidity under the same conditions.

Temporary fogging on the inside window will not cause damage but constant water will eventually induce mold and rot of wood sash, sill, etc. This can be very expensive.

Storm Windows Will Slash Fuel Bills

Another cold winter is predicted and fuel prices may soar again, so it's time to consider energy-saving measures.

One of the most practical is to install aluminum-framed storm windows and doors, because they reduce heating loss through the windows by as much as 40 percent and add to your comfort.

According to the National Bureau of Standards, old unprotected windows and doors can be the single biggest cause of energy loss in our homes. Together they account for 70 percent of the heating loss.

Room heat works its way out through the glass and cold air leaks in around the frames, causing drafts.

A storm window is designed to provide a second window over the original glass and its low-maintenance aluminum frame helps reduce air leakage around the perimeter of the prime window.

To be most effective, there should be an air space of one inch or more between the two windows because it is this air space that acts as insulation. The window should fit snugly, but not too snugly, so that there is sufficient allowance for "breathing" to the outside to reduce condensation on the window panes and sill.

Today's most popular type of storm window is the "triple track" aluminum-framed window with self-storing screens, which slide easily into place in the spring.

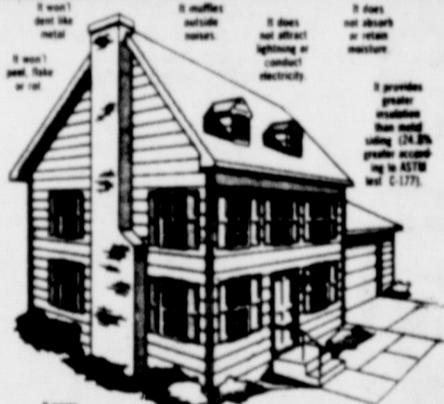

Standard shapes and sizes fit a wide variety of windows including double-hung, two and three-line sliders, single double and triple horizontal and vertical picture windows, and even patio doors. They can be custom-cut where necessary.

Home energy use and the facts of insulation

Our homes consume about 30 percent of all energy used in the United States, or about one and one-half times more than all our cars consume.

More than half of all home energy is expended on heating and cooling.

Insulation prevents heat gain and heat loss several times more efficiently than building materials such as brick, concrete or wood.

Weatherstripping and storm windows are efficient, easily-installed energy savers.

Attic insulation can save an average of 30 percent on winter fuel bills, and even more in the summer, according to industry experts.

Insulated homes have a higher resale value than similar, uninsulated homes, say real estate people.

Some experts put the percentage of un-insulated American homes as high as 80 percent. How do you know if your home is adequately insulated?

Check the following:

Is there any insulation between your attic floor joists or rafters?

Measure the thickness of existing insulation through-out your home. If you don't know its "R" value -- resistance to heat flow -- and it is less than R-13, chances are you need additional insulation.

Attic ventilation to permit air circulation is extremely important. There should be at least one square foot of louver venting for every 150 square feet of attic floor space.

In cold weather, place your hand at several places on an interior wall and compare its temperature to that of an exterior wall. If your home is adequately insulated, the exterior wall will feel only slightly cooler.

Feel for air drafts around cabinets on outside walls and around baseboards.

Check for insulation over unheated crawl spaces, garage or basement.

LOOSE MARBLES

BY LISA PATMAN

You can have some of the most interesting experiences on airplanes.

There was a time, of course, when airline travel was limited to the very wealthy, and to an occasional homesick college student.

Now, what with peanut fares and such, all sorts of nuts (including me) can afford to travel in the wide open skies. No longer are you assured of a seat next to a beautifully groomed career woman, or a handsome business man.

Now any old loony can grab the seat next to you, and with any luck they will.

Take the flight a friend of mine took, for example. She sat for four hours beside a woman who was huddled in a fetal position singing "Amazing Grace" the entire time. Now there is an unusual experience for you.

Usually I am surrounded on both sides by young children who invariably are (1) obnoxiously precocious and explain to me Einstein's theory of relativity or (2) extraordinarily ily airsick and proceed to ruin my only good suit.

In spite of this I am truly fond of airplane trips. Until recently I failed to understand those terrified people who have to be loaded with tranquilizers and must be carried onto the airplane by three strong men. These poor souls are noted for their pale green complexions and white knuckles. They often can be heard to recite "Hail Mary..." despite the fact that they are confirmed Methodists.

As I said, I had a little trouble understanding the fear people associate with airplanes until an experience I had recently. This incident may have changed my whole attitude toward the wild blue yonder.

Let me tell you, folks, there is nothing like taking your first flight with your husband after he has received his pilot's license. No matter how much you love and trust him, it is just too much to believe that he actually can get that little plane off the ground, keep it in the air, and land it without the slightest difficulty.

What I mean is---you KNOW the old boy. You've seen him walk across the living room and trip on absolutely NOTHING. You've watched him fall off the bottom step of a short ladder. You have seen his inability to notice a pair of his own dirty socks that have been lying on the floor by his side of the bed for three months. So how is he going to avoid all those other crazy people who are flying around up there?

I did try to keep my cool throughout the seemingly endless flight. And O.E. was so busy flying the plane that he didn't have time to notice my green complexion and white knuckles, so those didn't give me away.

But I suppose he might have thought I was little nervous, when, after the landing, I jumped out of the plane and kissed the runway. After all, there is a limit to my composure.

STATISTICS ON YIELDS AVAILABLE

From mid-November to early January, thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by the Service's field staff. The information gathered through the questionnaires and interviews provides the basis for determining the final acreage, yield, and production of crop and end-of-the-year livestock and poultry numbers for the state of Texas and for each county.

Reliable information on what is produced, how much, and where is important to farmers, ranchers, and others in making production and marketing decisions and in providing an unbiased picture of Texas agriculture. These are also essential to farm organizations and legislators in promotion, planning, and enacting wise legislation and are used in establishing acreages and payment levels to producers under the various commodity programs.

The collection and publication of agricultural statistics are a cooperative effort between the Texas Department of Agriculture and USDA. This ness of statistical reports. All individual farm and ranch information is kept confidential, and only state and county summaries become part of the final published estimate.

County statistics for 1977 and January 1, 1978, are available on Livestock, Poultry, Dairy, Field Crops, Small Grains, Cotton, Vegetables, Fruits and Pecans, and Cash Receipts from the Sale of Texas Farm Commodities. Bulletins can be obtained from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P.O. Box 70, Austin, Texas 78787, or by writing Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

NEWS OF HEALTH

New Hope For Cataract Patients

Potentially blinding eye cataracts can now be removed by a revolutionary new surgical program that sharply reduces hospitalization and recuperation time.

A cataract patient can be admitted, operated on and discharged within a 22-hour period under a new surgical program developed by ophthalmologist Dr. Joseph Spina, Jr. at Bryn Mawr Hospital, Bryn Mawr, PA. Using space-age microsurgical techniques, the clouded-over lens or cataract lens is removed virtually without pain. No five to seven day hospital stay or long recuperation period, common to conventional cataract surgery, is needed.

Even dogs from nice families get worms.
