Report on Activities and Personnel at Ozona AFB
A-2C Jude J. Boardman

First of June Ozona AFB's base commander, Captain R. Smith, arrived from AFB to assume his duties. Captain Smith, during his years of service, is no stranger to Texas. He has served in the Air Force in San Antonio twice (Brooks and Harlingen and Houston). Captain Smith, a native of New Mexico, entered the service in 1942. He received his commission in the Air Force in the African European theaters. He also served in the invasion of southern France on August 7, 1944. He served under Air Force Colonel Cannon as a bomber navigator of a B-25; he participated in combat missions. Captain Smith, a holder of the Air Medal, Korean theater ribbon, returned to this country in 1956 after being 4 years in Japan. Numbers among his many hobbies are photography, hunting, fishing. He finds the coast of Texas, namely Corpus Christi, an excellent outlet for his hobby of fishing. Captain Smith in his nineteen years has the Air Force grow into a technical, trained organization.

states that this fall he has Ozona student and teacher to visit the station, and an invitation to all civic groups to pay a visit to our station and see how their Air Force is first-hand. A telephone call to Capt. Smith 3 days prior is recommended.

Smith and his wife, Mrs. Vida Smith, and their two children, Sandy and Harold, 13. Mrs. Smith whose hobbies include sewing, bowling, and curio collecting, of Japanese variety, a habit she picked up during the captain's 4-year tour of Japan. Her main interests are in her home and children. Both Sandy and Buddy, who attend Ozona schools in the fall, are honor students.

During the month of June for the first time at Ozona AFB, an Airman of the Month was selected. The first winner of this monthly award was A-3C Stuart Bruchey, a typist, and bookkeeper for the Food Service Section. Stuart is 23 years old, and a native of Crockett County, Maryland.

Persons like this are not new to Ozona. While in high school he was a member of the National Honor Society, band, softball team, and was a Farmer of America. He was his high school's delegate to the Maryland's Boys' State, and graduated in the top ten of his class. He has been an active member of the 4-H Club and represented the Maryland chapters of the American Institute of Cooperation in Raleigh, N. C., and later the National Congress in Chicago. He also represented the Maryland FFA Chapters at the Silver Anniversary convention in Kansas City, Missouri.

Stuart, who enlisted in the Air Force December 12, 1958, has had 3 years of college at the University of Maryland, and upon completion of his service obligation he will resume his studies at the University of Maryland. He was the Airman of the Month of July 1958. "Duke", as his friends call him, who was born in Rhinebeck, N. Y. in 1938. He attended Rhinebeck Central School and like the previous winner spent his boyhood in sports. He participated in sports in high school, being one of the best scorers in basketball. After graduation he entered the Air Force in September of 1956. He spent three months of basic at Randolph AFB, where his leadership was recognized by being made an element leader of his basic.

Upon leaving basic he was assigned to the 955 AC&W Squadron, Calhoun, Michigan. There he (Continued on Last Page)

Sheepmen Challenge Farm Bureau's Attack On Wool And Lamb Promotion Program In September Referendum

Negative Vote Would Destroy Industry's Gains

With every segment of the sheep industry "up in arms", the American Farm Bureau has been challenged to an all-out battle in its unprecedented attempt to scuttle the sheepman's self-help program of promotion and advertising. In a united effort, sheep organizations from throughout the country were represented at a meeting in San Francisco August 15. Harold Joesdal of Casper, Wyoming, president of the National Wool Growers Association, and Lester Stratton, of Wentworth, S. Dakota, president of the National Lamb Feeders Association, jointly announced at the meeting that the sheep industry wants its promotion program to continue, and that the individual sheep producers should decide for themselves in the forthcoming national referendum in September. This is what we want without any misleading interference from a major farm organization, the sheepmen said. Sheepmen for years have fought for a program of promotion and advertising. The promotion program is a part of the National Wool Act adopted by Congress and approved by the Administration. The Act requires a referendum among sheep producers to determine if they want one cent a pound of wool and five cents for each 100 pounds of lamb sold deducted from their wool incentive payments to finance this program. More than 71% of those voting in the 1955 referendum favored the promotion program for lamb and wool.

"It's time the Farm Bureau stopped pulling the wool over the sheepmen's eyes," Joesdal said. "We do not resent honest criticism of anything in this country of ours, but we most certainly object to one large general farm organization conducting an all out campaign of opposition to the sheepman's promotion program. The two sheep producers, representing thousands of sheepmen, said the promotion and advertising program is conducted by its own organization, the American Sheep Producers Council, and is supported." Football Season Ticket Options Expire Saturday

Reserved Seats Go On Sale To General Public Monday

Season ticket holders of reserved seats at the Ozona Lions home football games were given final notice this week that options on tickets for the coming year must be exercised by Saturday. All reserved seats not claimed by Monday August 24 will go on sale to the public on a first come first served basis beginning Monday morning. Response by option holders has been good so far but a good number of fine seats apparently will be left for the public Monday. Officials stated that the possibility that some last year's seat holders had not been notified by mail did exist and asked that any seat holder from last year call the office or go by if they have not been notified. Fans desiring season reserved seats but who did not have them last year may begin buying seats Monday morning at the office in the Ozona High School. Reserved seats are priced the same as general admission seats and are not more expensive. They offer the fan the assurance of a good seat near friends at every game and assure the school of a good turnout for each contest. A plan to admit service enlisted personnel at reduced rates is under consideration but the plan will not apply to reserved seats. A reason reserved seat for five home games will cost $5.

Two-a-Day Sessions On Tap For Squad Until Schools Open

By Ernie Boyd

Twenty-nine Ozona High School grid hopefuls began a two-a-day practice grind last Monday when they reported to Coaches Fred Hickman and Sonny Cleere at the Lion Field house. The two a day sessions beginning at 8:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. are scheduled to miss the summer day's heat. Several of the twenty-nine candidates who reported Monday checked in their uniforms before Wednesday but the same number joined the squad so that Wednesday's count was the same as Monday's. A number of other candidates are expected to join the squad from now until school starts. The 1959 squad reported in possibly the best condition of any squad in Lion history and got down to hard work right away with a heavy contact session staged Tuesday night under the lights. Even though a number of green candidates will be filling key positions this fall Lion Coaches were guardedly pleased at the way the new team is shaping up. (Continued on Last Page)

Strange Antics Of Overtaken Pickup Is Puzzle To Ranchman

T. A. Kincaid, Jr., ranching south of Ozona, is still trying to puzzle out the strange antics of his new ranch pickup. While he and Mrs. Kincaid were absent from the ranch recently, a passing seismograph crew found the pickup, which had been left in the garage, turned on its side in a bar ditch beside the road about a half mile from the ranch headquarters. They righted the pickup where it was found and left for the site of their work. Returning in the afternoon, the seismograph crew noticed the pickup was gone from where they had left it. It had been driven back into the garage and there Mr. Kincaid found it on his return — definitely showing signs of having been overturned — about $300 worth of sign. And he still hasn't found out who "borrowed" the pickup.

NO TREAT FOR THE KIDDIES

Answer to the first question of protocol to affect millions of Americans — that of how to treat Russia's Khrushchev — seem to be firming up.

It will be recalled that Vice President Nixon's first words on his return were to urge his fellow citizens to be nice to Mr. K since the Russians had been hospitable to the Nixon party. (It will also be remembered that Khrush was engaged in a tirade against America and in which he was ridiculing the Vice President at the very moment the visitors landed.)

In Washington few hats are being thrown in the air, and even the State Department liberals who moved in to sell the visit to the White House soon after taps sounded over the Arlington hills for secretary Dulles, are warning us not to expect too much from the Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchange. Actually, about the least we can expect is to provide the Kremlin leader with the very thing Mr. Dulles warned against — "the greatest triumph of his career."

Senior Senate Republican Styles Bridges expresses the hope that our not-very-welcome visitor "will not be misled by that segment of our population which has often in the past demonstrated toward Russia and the Communist world as a whole and Khrushchev in particular, gullibility, complacency or fear". Others, including Connecticut's Senator Thomas Dodd and Minnesota's Rep. Walter Judd have been equally outspoken and the growing anxiety of our lawmakers to abandon Washington before Khrush discovers it seems certain to hasten adjournment regardless of unfinished business.

In fact, the fear of Congress that someone may be fool enough to invite the Butcher of Budapest to address a joint session (just as Dag Hammarskjold has invited him to address the UN) is infecting public figures across the nation wherever the Khrushchev caravan may turn up. Public reaction, originally that of curiosity, appears to be hardening into one of repugnance, and it could well be that the Khrushchev appearances in American cities — outside of Washington, where the flub-dub is highly organized and the sidewalk stooges recruited from Government offices — may go virtually unnoted.

Americans will, by and large, resist any unsmooth impulses involving eggs or other farm products. But they might be very, very cool — and home-loving.

Rep. George H. Fallon of Maryland, chairman of the House Public Works Committee, says the vote of the Ways and Means Committee to boost the Federal gas tax one cent a gallon "preserves the pay-as-you-go concept" of the Federal highway program.

If people can go just as much while paying still more for gas, Mr. Fallon will be right. If not, he and his cohorts will think of something else. After all, we've got to have these new highways — whether there is any traffic for them or not.

Neither Secretary Herter Nor Other Speakers at the Inter-American Foreign Ministers' Conference in Santiago, Chile, have mentioned Castro by name while decrying "tension" and military interference in the Caribbean. Mr. Herter proposed that a special Caribbean peace committee study the problem and report to the 11th Inter-American Conference in Quito, Ecuador, next February.

That ought to old Fidel! "If you haven't got charity in your heart, you have the worst kind of heart trouble." — Bob Hope.

New Trespass Law To Be Effective Oct. 14 Is Tough On Poachers

Austin — A new trespass law will be effective in Texas October 14, it has been announced by the cabinet secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. The law which is covered in HB 23, will become effective without the signature of the governor.

It provides penalties of up to 30 days in jail and a $500 fine and forfeiture of hunting or fishing licenses for a period of three years, upon conviction.

The law makes it illegal for any person to hunt, fish or camp on the natural property of another person without the consent of the owner or the person in authority.

The law is enforceable to any game animal and private may be made without a warrant.

"The trespass problem is a major one in the protection of wildlife," the secretary said. "Persons who climb fences to illegally hunt on the property of others don't usually regard either the season or the bag limit. As a result, prosecutions have been heavy.

"Under the new law, however, enforcement of the trespass law is the work of peace enforcement officers, which preclude the game warden. Now when the game warden finds a poacher the only thing he can do is to notify the landowner. The landowner then can make a complaint and cause the arrest to be made by a peace officer."

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,000 feet up in the San Juans: a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6408 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment — and they're going stronger than ever! Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscle and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need. No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck! Wool Man Eloquenty Pleads Cause
Wool And Lamb Advertising And Promotion
In Urging 'Yes' Vote In Referendum

Sheep men know by now the Farm Bureau is flooding sheep producers with false and distorted propaganda in an effort to defeat the referendum to extend the wool man's promotion and advertising program. This year's referendum is the U. S. Farm Bureau's last effort to control the industry and to keep sheepmen from running their business. The Farm Bureau "fact sheet" is a completely misleading sheet. Sheepmen have declined since 1894. Sheep ranchers are no longer breeding sheep to market of a drouth and ewes are being kept on the ranch-breeding animals, thereby increasing the total sheep population which is exactly what was intended when the Wool Act of 1937 was passed. A sheep man spends about $30 annually for promoting advertising his product. The wool producers of synthetic fibers spend annually about $44. Can a sheep producer believe the Farm Bureau's "No" vote in the referendum at the sheep man's advertisement organization, the American Wool Producers Council. Every member, every officer, state director and director is a sheep man and that is his major business. Every cent of the sheep man's money spent for advertising is first approved and then by a board of sheep men, Texas sheep man, Walter Edens, a former president of the Texas S & GRA is president of the ASPC and also a director of the Wool Board as is E. S. Mayer, Sr., of San Antonio. So, don't let anyone mislead you by saying that sheep men do not control their own production. More U. S. citizens are eating lamb now than ever before. The market is being widened from the old New England and California areas. Even in Houston, Texas, because of an ASPC promotion program, lamb can be found the year round in all the leading super markets and is being consumed. USDA preliminary reports say that wool consumption during the first one-third of 1958 is up 40 percent over the same period in 1957. Crockett county sheep men know that 1958 wool is not staying in the warehouses. Every sheep man in the U. S. knows that he received a substantial check to add to his wool income. That is not the best way but it is the only way that is available to him now. Defeat of the Sec. 706 referendum this September means that the Wool Act will not again be extended by Congress and when the wool producer gets 30 cents a pound for his product, that will be ALL he gets. No other agricultural commodity in the U. S. has ever voted a tax on itself before as the wool men have — and it goes without saying that no other commodity group has as good a chance to help itself as the wool men. The tide has turned and those of us close to the ASPC, its directors, should know more about what is best for us than the Farm Bureau that does not have a single man on its Texas or National Board of Directors who makes his living by raising sheep. I am writing this knowing that you are as aware of all that is being done as I am but the main purpose is to urge you to support the referendum in the columns of The Stockman by using your very great ability to write and put over a point. The referendum will be held all during the month of September. A sheep raiser can go to the ASPC office and vote any working day during the month. Let's urge him to vote "yes" and keep the only organization alive that will help him to stay in business. If the ASPC is defeated who will provide funds to see that the recent importation of 30,000 lambs from Australia does not reach 3,000,000 head? Thanks for listening. Sincerely, T. A. Kincaid, Jr.

Make It Yourself With Wool Week Proclaimed In Tex. By Gov. Daniel

Austin, August 27 — Monday begins "Make It Yourself With Wool Week". In a statement issued today, Governor Price Daniel proclaimed the week to call attention to the benefits of sewing with wool and to encourage girls to enter the Texas "Make It Yourself With Wool" Contest. Wool has no equal in the production of many types of garments, the governor said, asking people of the state "to join in this effort to encourage greater use and appreciation of wool." Stressing the importance of the wool growing industry to the Texas economy, the governor called upon civic leaders, educators and retailers to take part in the observance of "Make It Yourself With Wool Week." "Wool Sewing Festivals" planned for next week by many retailers will tie in with the contest, which is the largest educational home sewing event in the country. Approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the contest provides incentive for many young girls to learn valuable home sewing techniques while at the same time discovering how easy it is to sew with wool. The contest is open to girls between the ages of 14 and 22. To qualify, girls may submit either a wool dress, suit or coat which they have made themselves. Valuable awards include scholarships, sewing machines, and for two grand prize winners a trip to the fashion capitals of Europe. In Texas the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest is under the direction of Mrs. S. M. Harvick, Box 247, Ozona. Girls may write to her for information. Hospitalman Petty Officer, 2C Herman Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Carroll of Ozona, is home on a 28-day leave for a visit with his family. Carroll is stationed at the San Diego Naval Base as a pharmacist at the Balboa Naval Hospital.

Notes From The County Agent's Office

By Pete W. Jacoby

Farm operators have until September 30 to claim a refund of the federal tax on all gasoline used on the farm, according to Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist.

The refund applies to the three cents per gallon federal tax on gasoline which was purchased from July 1, 1955 through June 30, 1956. Those who filed a claim for refund in 1955 will receive form 2240 through the mail. Others who wish to make a claim should ask the Internal Revenue Service to send them one or they are available at the county agent's office.

Claims made after September 30 will not be paid and no more than one claim can be filed for the twelve months period. Farmers who file claims should keep sufficient records to certify the accuracy of the refund claimed. The records should show the purchase dates, the gallons bought and the gallons used on the farm during the twelve months period. Also the gasoline used by custom operators doing toscum work for the farmer should be recorded and can be included in the claim for refund, Prater notes.

At $20 per rat per year and $5 per mouse, it doesn't take long for our damage losses to really pile up. It's easy to see how it would pay to get rid of these pests, says J. E. Poole, assistant district leader in the Rodent Control Service at Texas A&M.

Rats and mice destroy and contaminate more than they eat. They spread disease and filth, and one of the most common diseases attributed to rats is Typhus. Rats have fleas which carry the disease organism and these fleas sometimes get on man.

One good way to fight rat and mouse populations on your farm is to use anticoagulant baits. You must be extra careful with this poison, though, because it affects all warm-blooded animals.

Anticoagulants prevent the clotting of blood which causes internal hemorrhages and death. It takes 5 to 15 days for the poison to take effect, but the pests keep eating it till it's too late. They never suspect they are in trouble.

The purpose of swimming and boating is to have fun and relaxation, not to drown yourself as over 1100 rural residents of the U. S. do every year.

The large majority of these drownings could be prevented by observing simple safety rules, says Edwin H. Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. When you are boating, observe ten simple precautions and come back alive — not much of a hindrance to your pleasure considering you have your life to lose.

Cooper lists ten rules for water safety. Always find out how many passengers a boat can safely carry, and never exceed this number. Always carry an extra paddle in the boat, in case one is broken or lost. Before leaving shore, be certain you ask an informed person about hazards in the lake or stream, such as location of swift water, whirlpools or hidden obstructions. Always wear shoes and clothing that can be removed easily in case the boat sinks or capsizes. Have a life preserver for each person in the boat, particularly non-swimmers.

When using a motor, make sure it is the proper size or horsepower for your particular boat. Be as cautious when steering a boat as you would when steering a car, and learn and observe the rules of the water such as speed limits, yielding right of way and forbidden zones. Don't stand in a boat unless necessary and then be careful of your balance. Always wear clothing that will protect you from sunburn, since sunlight is intensified by reflection off the water. And lastly, never go boating when warnings of high winds or severe weather have been issued. Cooper says.

These are simple rules, but their observance could save your life, Cooper concludes.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From State Capitol

By Vern Sanford

Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas — None of the money raising bills that failed to pass the Legislature during the past seven months were put away to gather dust.

They'll be on parade again if a fourth special session is held to raise money to increase public school teachers' salaries.

Gov. Price Daniel has said he will call the session if the public demands it. Texas State Teachers Association has its campaign rolling to create this demand.

TSTA's goal is a program that would cost $63,000,000 over a two-year period. Of this, $56,000,000 would go for a $405 increase in annual base pay for teachers.

This would bring teachers' base pay up to $3,610 a year. Hale-Aik-Committee recommended a minimum of $3,800 a year plus a number of other school improvements that would have totaled some $200,000,000 for a two-year period. But TSTA decided that getting that big a tax bill would be too tough. For the time being, the 70,000-member teacher lobby will settle for a package one-third this size with emphasis on the item it wants most — pay raises.

Time most discussed for the new special session is the politically crucial month of January. This will give the teachers, scattered in summer, time to get organized. It also is the month for poll tax paying, with Jan. 31 as the deadline. (Governor Daniel said, "January or February would be the time.")

Next year, for the first time, January will be the month for candidates for office to make their announcements. New law makes

Feb. 1 the deadline for filing for state primaries.

There's talk that Governor Daniel will announce for a third term if teacher raises are turned down. On this the governor says, "I'm not closing any doors."

Privately, many legislators are glum at the prospect of being boxed in by another round of tax-and-spend pressures, particularly right before their campaigns begin. They expect to get a lot of static anyway, from the tax measure they've already voted.

But few will oppose teachers openly. As one said, "If you're against teacher raises, they'll say you're against good schools and little kids and motherhood — it's suicide."

Watch for new Laws — Scores of new laws passed during the regular Legislative session ending in May go into effect this month.

From here on, anyone convicted of four moving traffic violations within 12 months will be classed a "habitual violator", subject to drivers license suspension for any period up to a year. Same rule applies to anyone convicted of 7 or more violations committed within a 24-hour period.

New, tightened laws are in effect on the waterways, too. Now against the law are: operating a boat or skiing while under the influence of liquor, skiing at night and "reckless or negligent" boating and skiing.

Now required by law are: a life preserver for every passenger on a boat and a lighting system, according to size, for every boat. Boat registration fees will not be required until next April.

Another new law makes taking a ride in someone else's car without his permission a felony offense. Previously, it was hard to get more than a misdemeanor conviction for car stealing.

Ranchers and farmers will be required to fence land along state and U. S. highways to prevent cattle from roaming on the road. Law does not apply to farm-to-market roads.

Retail merchants no longer may advertise goods at "wholesale" prices. Only firms that sell only to retailers may claim wholesale selling.

Other new laws won't be noticed until later. For example, the new "stick with the party" law requires that a poll tax holder have his receipt stamped "Republican" or "Democrat" the first time he participates in a primary or convention. From then on, in effect, he's stuck with the party stamp on his tax receipt — until he gets a new poll tax.

A new program to inspect for cattle disease at live stock auctions was authorized, but is expected to be very small scale for the first two years, at least. It was given only a fraction of the money supporters said was necessary.

Hope for Highway Funds—Texas highway builders are holding their breath over a threatened halt of the huge federal road building program.

Continuation of the interstate road building, now going full steam in Texas, hinges on Congress' finding a way to get more money for the highway trust fund. Federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost of these projects.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said the Highway Department is "proceeding on confidence that something will be done by Congress to avert such an economic blow."

Most Texas officials, including Governor Daniel, are opposing getting the money through in the federal gasoline tax, commended by the President.

SPORT TO THE PEOPLE

HOUSE PASSED THE Land-Offin Labor Reform Bill capping off what was the hectic two-week Congressional period in at least a decade. The bill passed in the House under record-breaking applause and seeming to vibrate the heavy tramping of lobbyists, had an atmosphere of the past few days that was described as combining fanatical elements of a football game, a circus and a high-pressure salesmen about as temperate as a convention of witches; and the description is extended when you should have followed the footsteps of the past postal and Western Union men said communications to Congress on the labor issue "was perhaps the longest of all time" in number, and it only with the public mind some years ago when McArthur was recalled by then-President Truman.

Western Union hired 25 extra boys to make constant the two House Office boys, and 20 additional new boys to route and direct Congressional wires. Although no official count has been made, a man said messengers delivered "from 5,000 telegrams per day during the last two weeks." This in the mail, which hit an all-time high for any issue since the veteran House postal boys. Morning mail the past few days totaled a record 40 bags (pounds each) per day. Besides deluge, 24 of these bags were a "heavy" mail.

WAS MUCH of the mail in content. Like all Congressmen I received expressions of support (and against) each five labor reform bills that were considered as possible vehicle for House action — and the basis of my public statements and letters to constituents, some of the mail coming to me during the past two weeks described me variously as being "a tool of labor" ... a labor ... on the fence ... a union-busting Congressman ... hired by the U. S. Chamber and the NAM ... a man of no courage ... Hoffa's friend ... an apologist for management," etc. I was not alone, as most of my colleagues reported themselves as being derided for favoring the "other side" by irate senders of letters and telegrams representing all shades of opinion. (To keep the picture in perspective, it must be said that most of the letters and telegrams sent were sincere, inspired by the convictions of those who originated them, and were not unkind).

It was not just some "mean mail" that Congressmen had to contend with, either.

Lobbyists in Washington normally move about discreetly to attempt to influence legislation, handling it by letter writing, social contacts and the like. But the deluge descended upon us during the labor reform battle with all the subtleties of a swinging blackjack, and none of the many groups accosting us in the halls of Congress had a monopoly on emotion, pressure or misrepresentation. Several tense situations developed in the outer offices of Congressmen, as competing groups lobbying for varied bills waited their turn to see the Member, and occupied themselves by glaring across the room at their foes. Verbal outbursts were reported in several Capitol Hill offices, and during the debate in the House one reporter wrote that "you couldn't throw a stone in the visitor's gallery without hitting someone from labor or management." Keen, intense interest in major legislation is understandable, but I regretted to see such emotion on all sides. It was not an atmosphere conducive to objective, thoughtful action.

FROM THE OUTSET I stated my intention to vote for a strong, fair and constructive Labor Reform bill and I think my vote carried out that pledge. It is my opinion that the great majority of the people of my District, representing all walks of life, demanded nothing less. I feel I have remained consistent in reflecting the attitudes and opinions of the people I am honored to represent. I have never advocated being punitive to either labor or management, and trust that time and events will prove my vote was cast in the constructive spirit for the greatest good of the greatest number of Americans. The great tragedy of the situation is the unfair abuse that has been heaped upon the head of honest labor by the actions of Jimmy Hoffa and a sordid few of his type. I am thoroughly convinced most labor unions are clean, and that their membership deplores violence and dishonesty. I hope the ill-feeling created toward laboring men in the public mind as a result of the recent bitter struggle will soon be stilled.

After all, union members are your friends and neighbors, nothing else. They work at their jobs, pay taxes, take part in community and civic affairs, trade with local merchants, raise children live their lives just like everyone else. Please do not blame them all for the actions of an undesirable few.

NORMALLY SOME 25 to 30 Members of the 436-man House (435 usually, but with one more since the admission of Alaska to Statehood, until Representatives are reappointed after the next census) have pressing personal or family problems that will prevent their being on hand to vote on an issue. Sometimes, absenteeism runs higher. But on the Labor Reform matter, 430 of the 436 Members were present and voting on the first big test vote Thursday.

Just what the ultimate labor reform legislation results will be is unknown. The House bill now goes to Conference Committee, made up of selected House and Senate members, to attempt to work out a reconciliation between it and the Senate's measure.

MONDAY MORNING as I started to work, I told my wife something like this: "The bitterness, confusion and tension of this labor reform struggle should come to a climax this week. But it will be rough all week, just the last one was: telephone calls in the middle of the night, 16-hour work days, charges and counter charges. Please try to keep the children quiet when I get home at night, and understand the strain I am under." She nodded her head, in the affirmative. "Fine. I'll understand your labor problems if you will understand my labor problems." (We are, you see, "expecting" in January.)

FHA Reduces Employee Force As Drouth Break Lightens Work Load

Farmers Home Administration will operate its program in Texas this year with 117 fewer employees than it had a year ago at this time according to a statement this week from Walter T. McKay, the agency's State Director. Since the break of the drought, the agency, statewide, has reduced its force by more than 27 per cent and has discontinued 7 of its field offices on a full-time basis.

Insofar as the employees who lost their jobs, McKay said that in practically every case the training and experience they gained during their employment with Farmers Home Administration enabled them to step into jobs with banks, FCA's and other private and cooperative credit institutions — many of them at salaries better than they had with the Government.

In connection with the services available to farm families, there will be no change according to McKay. He said that during the past three years more than 12,000 farmers and ranchers paid their loans in full to Farmers Home Administration, and for the most part had reached or regained a position where private and cooperative sources can now handle their credit needs.

Farmers Home Administration will continue to make loans to eligible applicants for farm and home operating expenses; for the purchase of livestock and equipment needed to put their farm programs on a sound basis and to finance farm real estate purchases and improvements.

A Summary of Vacation News From The Teenage Set
By Sally Baggett

Last week I said it was eight days 'til school started, — it was eighteen. This time it's only 12 days!

The football boys started work-out Monday! Are they glad? Well you might say they have mixed emotions. For instance the boys who have been at the ranch or at work all summer now have a good excuse to come in — but it still doesn't do them much good because Coach makes them work harder and by the time they are through practice it's late and they are too tired to go with their girl. Welp! You can't win for losing!

Friday night the "fisherettes" had a fish fry to finish off the season's catch. Who are the "fisherettes"? Why June Bunger, Alleane Young, Anne Davidson, Camille Adams, Linda Millsbaugh, Diane Phillips, Susie Chandler, Janet North and Francis Childress. Their leader, "The Fisher," Mr. George Bunger! For Mr. Bunger's patience they gave him a new rod and reel. (Actually June misplaced his old one.)

Camille Adams and Diane Phillips have become Globe-trotters. They are in New York City with Diane's parents.

Anyone for the "Cotton Eyed Joe"? If you were at the Youth Club dance Saturday night you would automatically moan and start running! It seems someone had an abundance of energy — That's right, Jakey Young?

Johnny Childress is one big smile! He has a new car, at least for him it's new!

Thursday morning a coke party was given for Sherry Shepperson by Dorothy and Charlotte Montgomery. We had lots of fun, we being, Sherry, Susie, Francis, June, Janet, Nonie Conklin, Pat Clark, Glenda Friend, Sandra Whitaker, Don Nell Carnes, Alleane Young, Diane, Linda, Peggy Harvick, Camille and Sally. We drank cokes and gossiped about the usual boys, clothing and bridge.

It appears that B. B. Ingham and Nancy Friend are really getting friendly. You never see one without the other.

Joe McMullan has changed directions on us! Instead of going to Big Lake he is going to San Angelo and not to see his brother. It couldn't be because of Vickie could it, Joe?

Another twosome seems to be coming on between Tommy Stokes and Linda Millsbaugh.

The boys aren't the only ones returning to civilization! If you'll look real hard you'll see the girls. Judy Black, Pam Perner, Glenda Friend, and Pam Jones are back in town and ready for school to start.

Attention all horn - blowers! Warm up your lips 'cause Monday we start band!

Cheer-up boys, instead of passing a football you could be fixing windmills.

ported by sheepmen for sheepmen. We are making an honest attempt to sell our products through promotion and advertising — something which other business in America have been doing for years, Josendal said. We think it is a sound program, and we know it is successful, as successful as any program could be in the short time it has been in operation.

We believe the Farm Bureau's position is intellectually dishonest, the sheepmen said, referring to a leaflet put out by the Farm Bureau to all its state organizations. With an obvious disregard for all the facts, Josendal said, the Farm Bureau leaflet says per capita consumption of lamb is down, wool prices went down, and wool consumption went down.

The sheep industry spokesmen declared that the United States is leading the way out of a world wide textile depression. In the first third of 1959 wool consumption has increased 39.5 percent over 1958, and that the average farm price of wool has increased 27.4 percent in the last six months. As for lamb, they pointed out, it is simple arithmetic to figure out that per capita consumption of lamb will go down if the rate of population increase is greater than the production of lamb.

Sheep population, since the promotion program began, has jumped 1,227,000 head in spite of a devastating drought in much of the West. Furthermore, all the lamb produced is eaten, there is no surplus problem.

Added to the Farm Bureau's incomplete recital of the facts, Josendal pointed out, is that they want to condemn the sheepmen's program of promotion because it is not voluntary but is a compulsory deduction from wool incentive payments.

First of all, he declared, the sheep industry has tried for years for years to develop a program based on voluntary contributions and every attempt failed. The principle employed in the Wool Referendum, which was first conducted in 1955, was the very same principle used in the 1958 corn referendum concerning acreage allotments. This same principle, based on a vote of the majority, is precisely the same principle as that upon which our democratic form of government is based. Wheat referendums, potato marketing agreements, school bond elections and many other phases of our modern society operate from this same principle.

It's a tragic shame that an organization like the Farm Bureau would lash out at a small industry that is trying to do something for itself, Stratton continued. They're always screaming for more self reliance in agriculture, then they try to sink a program that is doing just that, he said. How can we build up sound markets for lamb and if we don't promote and advertise, he declared.

Josendal said, that much as they disliked a clash with the national staff of such a powerful agricultural organization, that the livelihood of nearly 270,000 sheep owners is at stake and there is no other choice. This is a deplorable state of affairs, he said, but both the Wool Growers Association and the Lamb Feeders have a basic responsibility not only to their members but to Congress, through whose efforts we were given this opportunity. We did not ask for this fight, he concluded, but since it is forced on us we certainly intend to continue to represent the sheep industry of this nation.

Miss Galbraith, Former Student Here, To Marry In Portland, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Galbraith of Portland, Texas, former Ozonans, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Caroline Elizabeth, to L. B. Hudler, son of Mrs. Lois Hudler of Brownwood, Texas.

Miss Galbraith attended school in Ozona and was graduated from Daisetta High School. She also attended Southwestern Business College in Houston. Mr. Hudler is an architect in Corpus Christi where the couple will live.

The wedding will take place August 28 in the home of the bride's parents in Portland, Texas.

Football Practice —

Twelve seniors, eight junior, six sophomores, and three freshmen made up the Ozona squad Wednesday with a number of other lower classmen expected to join the session as soon as illness and late returns permit.

The 1959 Lion team shapes up as one of the largest groups of boys physically in recent years but a number of key men from last year's team are missing and the job of filling their shoes is going to be a big one.

Last year's offensive backfield was composed of David Sikes, Bobby Sutton, Billy Bob Holden, and Jim Freeman and of these only Freeman is returning.

Last year's winner of the best tackler and blocker award Diz Reeves, along with Johnny Cooper, Kenneth Deland and Jerry Jacobs will be missing.

Coach Sonny Cleere will have Dick Flanagan, who reported fourteen pounds lighter than last fall, B. B. Ingham, Tommy Porter, Wayne Albers, Joe McMullan, Bill Meinecke, Ronnie Beal, Deeny Holden, and Mark Baggett back from last year's squad plus, Ray Moxley, Tommy Fields, Buddy Anderson, Bill Semmler, Carl Montgomery, Penn Baggett, Pete Montgomery and a few others from which to mold a new line. Jim Williams an offensive end will play defense in the backfield and was not listed with the linemen.

Coach Pete Hickman has Bob Meinecke, who has been looking rather sharp, the fleet and promising Tony Parker, reserve quarterback Johnny Jones, and the returning starter from last year, Jim Freeman back from last year plus Jim Doran a letterman who has been shifted into the backfield from the line.

From the new men and reserves will come Phillip Carnes, a very promising athlete, Joe Friend and Muggins Good both of whom have played a good bit of defense. Brent Moore, Charlie Bingham, Darrell Rasberry, Richard Sikes, and a few others from which to find a backfield along with ample reserve and defensive ability.
