ulance service will no longer be available in Ozona after Jan. 15, 1960, Ken Cody, owner of the Funeral Home here, announced this week.

Cody, in announcing his decision to discontinue the service, said the decision was based on economic necessity. Ambulance service, he said, is a losing service and he as an individual can no longer afford the expenses incurred in maintaining the ambulance service.

An advertisement in this issue of The Stockman, Mr. Cody makes an explanation of the necessity he faced in deciding to drop out of his service to the community.

For over five years," Mr. Cody pointed out, "the income from our ambulance service has barely been sufficient to pay only the insurance necessary to operate an ambulance. There has not been sufficient money left to defray the cost of equipment and the cost of maintaining it properly.

Mr. Cody points out that he has presented the matter to the attention of the Commissioners and promises full cooperation to that body in any attempt to get about half of the few dollars we do make, left me no alternative." By Ernie Boyd

The Thanksgiving holiday season brought a near record number of Ozona and Crockett county college students home to visit parents and friends. In the case of many of the students it was the first trip home of the school year while for others it was none the less welcome.

For freshmen and sophomores the trip home was one long looked forward to, while for the Juniors and Seniors it was an enjoyed experience even if it were not quite so exciting.

Deer hunts, renewal of old friendships, Thanksgiving dinner, and a stay, even if short, at home were the principal activities of the students who, now returned, look forward to Christmas.

Home from Texas University were: Becky Davidson, Mills Tandy, Scotty Moore, Mary Jo Ward, June McMullan, Donald McCaleb, Carol Friend, and Norris Pogue. Texas Tech had the following students home for the holidays: Jerry Jacobs, Jim Brown, Jonathan and Jim Burton, Kenneth Deland, Ann Baggett and Clayton Friend.

Bobby Sutton and friend, John Roberts of Scotts Bluff Nebraska, Carolyn Mayfield and Stanley Williams were home from Baylor. Texas A&M students, Carl Conklin, Bob Martinez and Earl Deland were home. From Sul Ross were, Chris Hagelstein, Erby Chandler, Shirley Harris, and Tomas Lopez.

Others seen during the weekend were Frances Childress of Trinity, Alma Ingham and Mr. and Mrs. Benney Friend of Southwest Texas State, Kent Babb, Jake and Alleane Young of Texas Western, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Reeves of Odessa College, Joe Clayton of S. M. U., Billy Bob Holden and Owen Wagner of San Angelo College and Mark White of New Mexico A&M.

"I was able to take over 2,000 persons to visit these historic places," he said. "Many hours were spent in studying Ephesus and Athens. I took a plane load to military and dependents to Jerusalem and Bethlehem."

Chaplain Posey will show slides of scenes in Jerusalem and Bethlehem and will show color slides of places where Paul lived and visited on his missionary journey, and answer questions on his travels and experiences.

Lions Open Cage Season Fri. Night Against Del Rio

Lack of Experience Is Plague Of Coaches In New Season

By Ernie Boyd

The Ozona Lions will open their 1959-60 basketball season Friday night when they tip off against the Del Rio Wildcats in Davidson Gym at 8 p. m.

A B game will precede the main attraction of the night starting about 6:30 p. m.

Coach Brooks Dozier will be beginning his second year as basketball coach for the Lions and will have but two of last year's first seven players returning for action this season.

In order to fill the gaps left by graduation, a number of last year's strong B team must come through in a big way this season and even then the Lions will be an unseasoned team.

The Lions will be banking on such reserves as Muggins Good, and Roy Killingsworth who had a little varsity time last season and on such B teamers as Jimmy Freeman, Mark Baggett, and Wayne Albers.

The two returning Lion regulars from last season are Johnny Jones, a senior guard and Jim Williams a senior post man. In a squad meeting last week the two senior regulars were named as co-captains for the coming season and will carry out the duties of captain for the rest of the season.

Coach Dozier has about twelve boys he plans to carry on the first squad and it is very likely that some of the reserves will crack into the starting lineup during the course of the year.

In addition to the seven named, Phillip Carnes, Dickie Flannigan, (Continued on Last Page)

Girls Cagers See First Action In Barnhart Friday

Second Year of Sport Finds Coach Power's Short Handed

By Ernie Boyd

The Ozona High School girls basketball team will start its season in Barnhart Friday night as they face the always strong Barnhart girls in the season opener.

Ozona will be starting its second year in the femmie sport but Coach Jean Powers will not find herself much better off than was her counterpart at the start of last season.

The Ozona girls team was loaded with seniors last year and some of the regulars who were underclassmen last season did not return to action this year leaving Miss Powers with only three returning regulars from last year and only six from last year's squad.

Regulars missing from last year's team are seniors Frances Childress and Diane Phillips and Soph Glenda Friend. Returning regulars are forwards Beverly Alford and Janie Lara and guard Don Nell Carnes.

Players out for the first time are: Robin Jones, Pauline Maness, Martha Moxley, Tommie Neel, Gail Johnigan Priscilla Spurgers all of whom are freshmen, and Janie Everett, Nancy Friend, and Mary Lou Zunker all juniors.

Following the game Friday night in Barnhart the Barnhart team will come to Ozona to return the game Tuesday night and then the Ozona team will start getting ready for the Rocksprings tourney in Rocksprings Dec. 10, 11, and 12th.

Sanderson Rancher Declared Ineligible For Mexican Workers

Dallas — Russell Wayne Ewing, of Sanderson, has been declared ineligible for further contracting of Mexican National agricultural workers.

The decision was announced here today by Ed McDonald, Regional Director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Employment Security in Dallas.

McDonald said the decision was taken in a joint action between Melquides Garcia, Consul of Mexico, and D. M. Philis, Department of Labor Representative, subsequent to a hearing on the case which was held in Del Rio, Texas, last month.

The decision was based on physical assault of a Mexican worker under contract of Ewing, in violation of the Migrant Labor Agreement between the United States and Mexico. The Agreement provides that in certain cases of physical mistreatment or abuse determinations of ineligibility for further contracting may be made.

Mr. Ewing was notified of the final determination to make him ineligible on November 30.

THEY DESERVE THANKS NOT ABUSE

Many conscientious senators and representatives in Congress and state legislatures who have in the past voted for measures they deemed fair to labor, now find themselves in an embarrassing position. Labor leaders had labeled them "friends of labor," not just fair-minded representatives of the people, and union members were urged to vote for them. In other words they were put in the position of being union dominated.

Since the last session of Congress when many of the "friends of labor" voted for legislation to control racketeering within the unions, to protect the public and union members alike, many labor bosses turned on them. Because of their votes, terms such as "treason to labor", "gutless wonders" and "shift in loyalty" were hurled at them.

Instead of being "gutless wonders", the representatives of all the people in standing up for a measure to help correct abuses which the Senate Rackets Committee brought to light, showed they had backbone as well as guts, and that they are not the tools of any group. Unions go too far when they abuse public representatives for doing their best to serve all the people instead of taking orders to serve a special group. Only by independent voters and public officials, can representative government survive.

Early For Christmas Campaign Is Led By Postmaster In An Effort To Last Minute Pile Up Of Mail Volume

Postmaster Floyd Hokit this week announced his annual "Mail Christmas" campaign, and plans for insuring delivery of Christmas gifts and Christmas Eve.

"Cooperation," he said, is a key factor in moving mail on time in recent years. I am hopeful that it will be better this year."

The postmaster urged patrons of the Post Office to start mailing Christmas packages now. Packages should be mailed as early as possible.

It is also the week to prepare your out-of-town Christmas cards," he said.

Hokit gave these pointers on mailing of packages, sturdy corrugated mailing boxes, plenty of heavy brown paper and be sure each package is tied with a string. Cartons containing gift packages should be wrapped with tissue or old newspaper to cushion the contents.

His article is of unusual length, check with the post office because there are restrictions on size and weight.

It is also important to make sure your package bears the correct mailing address and your return address. If you are sending a package to a large city be sure to include the addressee's name. Including the zone number in the address always insure delivery in large cities. One number also should be on Christmas cards and mail to cities with postal zones.

Address should be on the package, and it should be written or lettered. A transparent cellophane tape over the address will prevent defacing in transit. It is also a good idea," the postmaster said, "to include the return address on the inside of the package in case the address should become illegible."

Use Christmas stickers

or seals, place them where they will not conflict with the address. Then, before you drop the package in the mail, be sure you have firmly affixed the proper postage."

The Postmaster reminded that the entire Christmas mailing period is primarily a battle against time. A delay now will contribute to a serious pile-up, particularly in the larger post offices, as the holiday approaches.

All packages going to distant cities should be in the post office by December 10. Other mail should be sent on its way as soon as possible, and all local mail should be in the post office no more than a week or ten days later. This kind of cooperation would mean that all Christmas mail would be delivered on or before Christmas Eve, the Postmaster explained.

Try to mail local Christmas cards at least 8 to 10 days before Christmas. The earlier the better.

AMBULANCE SERVICE TO BE DISCONTINUED IN OZONA

Dear Fellow Citizens:

It is with a feeling of sadness that I must announce that I am forced to discontinue ambulance service as of January 15, 1960.

The decision to discontinue this service to our friends has not been an easy one to make, and it is not being made on a spur of the moment.

For over FIVE years the income from our ambulance service has barely been sufficient to pay only the insurance necessary to operate an ambulance. There has not been sufficient money left to defray the cost of equipment and the cost of maintaining it properly, and I have never wanted my friends to ride in an ambulance of mine that was not in perfect mechanical condition.

I am no longer able to provide this vital service to this community as an individual, regardless of how badly I want to continue. The small volume of calls, mostly to the local hospital, the failure to collect about half of the few calls we do make, and the inflated cost of equipment and repairs has left me no alternative other than to take my and your problem to the Commissioner's Court. Since I do not have a union to appeal to nor is there any government subsidy available for ambulance service, I have asked the Commissioner's Court to see that this necessary service is continued by means as it best sees fit.

The problem of funeral homes providing ambulance service in other Texas localities as been present for many years, and many of them have been forced to make the same decision I am having to make. The governing officials in these other localities have been able to realize that ambulance service is a necessity for the health and welfare of their citizens, and I have full confidence that our Commissioner's Court will find a means of continuing ambulance service to the citizens of Crockett County.

I have pledged full cooperation to the Commissioner's Court in working toward a solution of the problem of continuing ambulance service, and I again pledge that I will do all in my power to help them in every way possible because I would be the last person to say that the service should be discontinued.

Thank you, friends, for understanding that my decision is not one of choice but one of necessity.

The funeral home will continue to operate as it has in the past, and we will continue to provide our own funeral coach service to or from any point.

Sincerely,

said that the difference between an expert fisherman and a beginner lies in one's ability to choose a river, stream or lake. Because there definitely are choice spots—and he who chooses them lands the lunkers.

where the fish lie. That's what the pros say. "And to do the learning is when you are at its worst."

For instance, when a stream or river is very low and clear, bottom obstructions, rocks, ledges, and pool areas become evidence of a mental note of these factors.

In many instances, by using po-tasses you actually can spot and locate weed beds and areas where fish gather. There are two other "handies," a compass and a waterscope. A compass helps locate spring water, a tube with one end, also is used to locate weed-bed areas and to the wise . . . time spent in charting the favorite river really pays off in fishing later on.

He said that he who wishes to catch more and larger fish means "across stream fishermen use this method successfully. Why wouldn't they with other fishermen? It does. They suggest a constant retrieve and a constant retrieve to maintain a tight line. They point out that spinners, small plugs and nymphs catch larger fish than do floaters. Your water and fish up for more and bigger fish. Emphasize.

Whether how shallow the water is ample concealment in weeds or lily pads, says one tipster. He adds: Often fish lurk quite far back and do not see lures cast at the edge of weeds or pads. In such instances a silent cast is not effective. Don't be afraid to let your lure drop with a loud splash.

There always is danger of a hang-up. That's when a heavier leader line comes in handy. There is no reason for not attaching a leader to a spinning line—just so long as it is short enough not to enter the pool. It sure does add a safety factor . . . and makes it a little easier to change lures.

It's well to know the depth of the water in which you are fishing. Next time you fish in deep water let your lure down slowly until it reaches the bottom. Then when you cast out start your count when the lure hits the water. Allow the lure to sink freely. But start your retrieve with a short, hard, hook-setting motion the moment your count indicates bottom depth. Many times the lure is picked up by a curious fish on its downward float — and he may still have it in his mouth.

Tips on Monofilament Line

As spin-fishing grows increasingly popular the use of monofilament line becomes more general. It is true that monofilament offers many advantages. But there are disadvantages too. Perhaps we should say "handicaps."

A knot points up its biggest weakness. In fact if you want to break monofilament line at a specific place, just tie a knot there and jerk. The line will break at that exact spot.

This brings up there two facts: 1. When you find a knot in your monofilament line, either untie it (which is almost impossible) or break the line, then and there. Otherwise some lunker will do the job for you . . . and you will lose a nice catch.

2. When you tie monofilament to a swivel (or direct to a lure) follow this tie-down tip and you keep knot.

First, run the end of the line through the eye of the swivel. Next, pull through about eight inches of line. Then, instead of tying a knot as you would with braided line, wrap the short length of line around the line proper — seven or eight times. Now comes the important part — run the end of the line through the loop that formed immediately above the eye of the swivel. All that's left to do is to pull slowly but firmly on the line itself and the wrapped-around portion will slide down the line to the swivel to form a vise-like grip.

Just be sure you pull the line tight and hard, and check to see that the swivel is firmly attached. If you have not pulled hard, then the end of the line may slip back through the loop. In that event you will have to repeat the entire operation. Until you learn the trick you may have to hold the tag end of the line to keep it from slipping through. However, after a few trials you'll find this tying method can be performed quickly. Also you'll discover that this is the safest and surest way to tie on a swivel or lure. Actually it's known as the clincher knot.

Finally, if you want to be doubly sure that the end of the line doesn't slip through — just strike a match and burn the tip of the line lightly. The monofilament will burn until a small but hard ball forms. This ball, on the end of the line, will keep the end from slipping through the loop. So, by burning the excess line you not only make a neater job, but a stronger one too.

A word of warning. Don't let any of the burning monofilament drip on your hands or clothes. It's hot as a poker!

A Fisherman's Prayer

What more fitting way to end this column than to repeat "A Fisherman's Prayer" which appeared originally in North Carolina's "Wildlife" magazine.

God grant that I may live to fish until my dying day.

And when it comes to my last cast, I then most humbly pray.

When in the Lord's safe landing net, I'm peacefully asleep.

That in His mercy I be judged, as good enough to

Lions Roar

AT NOVEMBER, 1621

That Thanksgiving has come and a few may wonder just why they were supposed to be celebrating. Most have learned the story of the Pilgrims from grade school but here is the story again. The Pilgrims were a branch of the Puritans and were proud of their tree. They were tall hats they had to take off when they attended a low Church. This was King James, who raised the Pilgrims. He demanded that they attend the same Church he did. At this is his side of the story, the Pilgrims became known as the King's Version.

Though the King insisted, the Pilgrims were very stiff-necked. Years of wearing truffles and collars, stubbornly determined they would probably still be wearing them if they had not left and gone to Leyden, a town in Holland noted for the discovery of electricity in a jar. Electricity was subsequently lost for a while, but was rediscovered, by Benjamin Franklin, when he decided to go fly a kite and did so after several years in Holland. The Pilgrims decided to set out for the New World. This journey was a long and perilous voyage across the Atlantic. Finally they sighted the rocky coast of Plymouth Rock because they named them of another rock with the same name in London. They had a small picket fence around it and made it a national shrine. After a short stay on Plymouth, which was windy and damp, the Pilgrims sought a more sheltered place to build a town. One went in one direction and another in another. This was the beginning of the two-party system. When the two parties met to hold the first town meeting, the first winter was cold, which was a distinct surprise to the Pilgrims. Indeed, they might not have survived but for the corn that was planted by friendly Indians. A curious quirk of history, it is since become illegal for white men to give Indians either corn or rye.

The next spring the crops were good and in the fall the Pilgrims celebrated their first Thanksgiving, which fell, that fall, on a Thursday. The friendly Indians were invited and the unfriendly Indians stayed in the background, muttering. Today Indians don't come to dinner anymore, just relatives.

These it should be noted, were the first Puritans. The last Puritan was a Spanish nun called Santa Anna.

Probably responsible for the bluenoses which became one of the Pilgrims' outstanding features.

Maybe your Fair Maiden is bashful! Or maybe she isn't Fair?

Dear Blabby,
I am a really great guy. You know, like maybe I have what it takes. Girls go for me and I dig them, but my sorrow is that these squares don't go for my kind of jazz. How can I tell them that they are way out in left field, like maybe behind home plate?
"Don't Dig"

Dear Don't

Like man, learn English and tell them. These squares just don't dig the cool language.

Dear Blabby,
I would like for you to solve my problem. I have heard many different answers to this question. Who wrote William Shakespeare? Did Macbeth write it, or was it Julius Caesar?
English Student

Dear Student,
King Lear wrote William Shakespeare.

Dear Blabby,
I am in love with my American History teacher. I feel as if he is falling in love with me too. This is causing me to lose my self-respect. I hate to become a home-breaker at seventeen. What can I do?

Basketball —

Bob Meinecke, Van Miller, and Carl Montgomery comprise the first twelve even though there are now twenty-six boys competing for positions on the A or B team.

The game Friday night will represent one of the earliest games the Lions have played in a number of years and Coaches Dozier and H. O. Hoover have been hard at work for the past week and a half in an effort to get ready.

The Lions will have good uniform size but do not have any big boys, with Jim Williams' six-foot-inch being about the best the team one-inch being about the best the team can offer.

The starting lineup Friday night is expected to be composed of Johnny Jones and Muggins Good at guards, Jim Williams at the post and Jim Freeman and Wayne Albers at forwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lemmons and son were here from Dallas to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. Lemmons' mother, Mrs. Ben Lemmons.

Notes From The County Agent's Office

By Pete W. Jacoby

Pierce Miller, outstanding Crockett County 4-H Club member, is in Chicago this week attending the National 4-H Club Congress. Pierce is one of 31 4-H club boys and girls to the state to win the trip to the Congress as a state winner. The group left Dallas Friday morning by train after a send-off luncheon as guests of the First National Bank of Dallas.

While in Chicago, these young leaders will have a busy, exciting time. They will be guests of honor at many special activities, and will be hearing many outstanding speakers. They will be enjoying the tops in entertainment, eating elaborate meals, meeting delegates from all parts of the United States and Puerto Rico, and having interviews with representatives of press, radio and television.

As delegates to National 4-H Congress, these 4-H boys and girls will be representing over 106,000 club members in Texas. There are some two million members in the United States, and fifty-two foreign countries have organizations similar to 4-H.

Native shrubs of ornamental value are found in all parts of Texas. They add interest to farms and home grounds and save dollars, too.

Shrubs can be marked now and transplanted to the grounds during the winter, according to Sadie Hatfield, extension homestead improvement specialist of Texas A&M College. It's easy to spot shrubs which have attractive berries and bright fall leaves at this time of the year. It's also easy to select the evergreen shrubs you may be looking for.

Valuable native plants are often found growing in nearby pastures, old fields, canyons and breaks. Those found near your home will be especially well adapted to the soil and climate and will usually thrive when moved to the home grounds. They may take less care than introduced plants.

There are many possibilities. Examples are the ceniza and agarita, which grows in the southwestern area; native hollies, bayberry, cherry laurel and Indian Cherry in East Texas. Evergreen sumac or kiniknik, mountain laurel, Texas Madrona, Texas Arbutus, cedars, and Arizona Cypress are found growing wild in Central and West Texas.

Shrub hunting can be fun for the whole family. This is the time of the year to enjoy it.

Several 4-H club boys are being honored for their outstanding 4-H club work this week and next. Saturday evening in Fort Stockton, the District Gold Star Banquet will be held and will be attended by Bill Jacoby, 1959 Gold Star Winner and Pierce Miller, 1958 Gold Star Winner and 1959 Winner of the District Rutherford Achievement Award. Next Wednesday at Austin, three 4-H members will have a part on the program of the State Convention of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Assn. Pierce Miller will tell the association about his trip to National 4-H Congress; Bill Jacoby will give the association members some of the highlights of the State Range Camp which he attended this past summer, and Bill Williams will receive the State Range Management Award which he won this year. The Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers Association sponsors the State Sheep & Wool, and Range Management Awards which these boys won.
