Former Balmorhea Principal To Head Elementary School

R. H. Garner to Succeed W. S. Chapman As Principal Here

R. H. Garner, principal of the Balmorhea High School during the past school year, has been elected to the position as principal of the Ozona Junior High School during the 1941-42 term, it was announced this week by Supt. C. S. Denham.

Mr. Garner's home is in Abilene, where he has resided for several years. He was graduated from the Quana, Texas, High School and received a Bachelor of Science degree in education from Abilene Christian College. During the 1939-40 term he taught arithmetic in the Junior High grades at Munday, Texas.

Mr. Garner is married and he and Mrs. Garner will move here in the fall and occupy an apartment in the old Baggett home, which is to be renovated this summer and turned into a duplex apartment for the use of married members of the faculty. Mr. and Mrs. Garner have no children.

California Educator Brief Visitor Here

Dr. and Mrs. Claude C. Crawford of Los Angeles, Cal., both natives Texans, stopped off in Ozona a few days this week for a visit with Dr. Crawford's aunt, Mrs. Minnie Crumley, and cousin, Mrs. Rex Russell. Dr. Crawford has been touring the United States studying schools and educational policies gathering material for a textbook which he has been writing while on sabbatical leave from his position as professor of education at the University of Southern California.

Dr. Crawford is a graduate of the University of Texas and taught in that institution during the summer of 1936. On their homeward journey, Dr. and Mrs. Crawford have just completed an eight-day visit of observation of the educational institutions of Cuba.

Democracy Study Features Program For Graduation

Thirteen Grads Take Part In Unusual Exercises Here

"Learning the Ways of Democracy" was the interesting topic at the panel discussion which marked the unusual program presented by members of the 1941 graduating class of Ozona High School in the auditorium last Thursday evening.

Members of the class, under the leadership of the valedictorian, Bobby Lemmons, asked and answered questions about the past and future of democracy, about its advantages and the obligations it imposes on the individual.

Members of the class receiving the coveted diplomas were Robert D. Lemmons, valedictorian; George B. Armentrout, salutatorian; Frances Bean, Joe Chapman, Will Milton Colquitt, Jesse Leroy Hancock, Virginia Marie Hays, Harold B. Keeton, Sybil Geneva Luther, Helen Marie Mayes, Marjorie Ross, Noble Elton Smith and Vernon Donald Wilson.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the College of Mines at El Paso, delivered the address to the graduates. Judge Charles E. Davidson, officiating in a ceremony in which he has had a part since the first graduating class from the local high school, presented diplomas to the thirteen graduates.

Bill Friend is in a San Angelo hospital under treatment of physicians. He became ill at the ranch early in the week.

$5,000,000 Fire Sweeps Philadelphia

Fire swept through three city blocks of the Port Richmond section of Philadelphia, taking property toll of approximately $5,000,000 in homes and factories. A wall of water stopped the fire just short of Cramps shipyards, where large naval construction contracts are under way. Photo shows firemen fighting the blaze.

Grocers Top Out In Opening Round Of Softball Wars

Four Games Weekly On Official Schedule For Summer

Grocerymen proved superior on the softball field in the two opening games of the official 1941 summer league schedule Monday and Tuesday nights. In the season opener the Williams Grocers nosed out the West Texas Utilities Kilowatts and Tuesday night the Cooke Market Barbecuers successfully opposed the Humble Oilers.

And thus opened the new softball wars. Games are slated four nights a week, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights, with single games played on each of these nights.

Tonight's battle has all the makings of a real dramatic encounter. Opposing teams will be the Grocers, both winners in their opening rounds and each battling for leadership in the early stages of the league struggle. It will be Williams vs. Cooke, and let the flies fall where they will. Friday night it will be the first round losers, Utilities and Humble.

The official schedule for the first half of the split season is as follows:

- May 19—Williams vs. Utilities.
- May 20—Humble vs. Cooke.
- May 22—Williams vs. Cooke.
- May 23—Utilities vs. Humble.

New Textbooks To Be Furnished For 12-Grade System

Coincident with the change from the eleven to the twelve-grade system in the Ozona Public Schools with the opening of the new term next September, a number of new textbooks will make their appearance in the grades, Supt. C. S. Denham announced this week.

The school will receive new textbooks in the field of literature in the ninth, eleventh and twelfth grades. New textbooks in spelling and arithmetic will be furnished pupils of the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. These textbooks are designed for use in schools having the twelve-grade system.

Boys Outnumber Girls In Ozona By Three, Annual Report Of School Year Reveals

Some interesting facts and figures came to light with completion of the annual report of the 1940-41 session of the Ozona Public Schools, compiled this week by Supt. C. S. Denham and mailed to the State Department of Education.

One of the queer twists taken by the figures revealed the neck and neck race between boys and girls in the Ozona system as to numbers. The report from the local system as of January 10, showed a total enrollment of 491 pupils, 246 of them boys and 245 girls. Of this enrollment, 404 were in the elementary grades, and of the number 203 were boys and 201 girls, giving the boys a net advantage of three in numerical

Mrs. Horton presided at the concluding business sessions, when dates for the fall district conference in Sweetwater were tentatively set for October 17 and 18. Host club will be the Sweetwater Music Study Club.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Tandy was presented with a past president's pin by district board members and clubs of the district. The presentation was made by Mrs. S. E. Hittson of Cisco.

Club Women Aid In Natl. Defense With Diet List

Committees Push Educational Drive For Improving Health

Striking at the root of a national defense problem, physical condition of its man power through proper nutrition, clubwomen of Texas have volunteered their services in promoting better nutrition in this state.

A nutrition committee representing the various clubs over the state have attacked the problem of malnutrition through an educational campaign to acquaint the public with the minimum standards necessary for health. Mrs. A. C. Hoover is chairman of the local committee composed of Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Carl Colwick and Mrs. A. E. Deland. Local club committees are aiding by publicizing the diet recommended by state and national nutrition committees.

According to information in the hands of government officials, an estimated 45,000,000 Americans are undernourished. Of the men called up by the Selective Service plan for military training, 50 per cent have been rejected on grounds of physical unfitness, many directly traceable to malnutrition.

"The problem of malnutrition isn't so much one of economic status as of education in proper diets and nutrition habits," the committee declares. The recommended daily diet for health as prepared by the state and national committees is as follows:

One quart milk, 1 egg, 1/2 cup green or yellow vegetables, 1/2 cup potatoes, 1/2 cup other vegetables, 1/2 cup citrus or tomatoes, 1/2 cup other fruits, 1/2 cup whole grain products. Bread and butter at every meal. Some sweets. Dried peas and beans 3 times per week. 6 to 8 glasses of water.

117 Ranchers To Participate In Range Program

Maximum Earnings For Compliance To Be $140,419

With the passing of the deadline for filing applications for participation in the 1941 range conservation program of the AAA on May 1, a report of participation of Crockett County ranchers in this year's program compiled at the local AAA offices shows a total of 117 ranchers in this county signed up.

Allotments made for range improvement work on these 117 ranches provide a maximum of $140,419 which can be earned if the entire group carry out approved projects for 100 per cent of their allotments, the report compiled by Miss Kathryn Goodwin, clerk in the office of the County Agent C. J. Zandt shows.

A total of 1,666,538 acres of Crockett County land are signed up for participation in the 1941 program.

Work on the 1941 program was started December 1, and a large number of operators in this county have already started on the work for this year, some of them having already completed their allotments.

Little change was made in this year's program from last. The fight on bitterweed, one of the greatest menaces to the livestock industry in some sections, received approval of AAA heads, but payment can be earned in combatting this pest only in connection with deferred grazing. Pulling, chopping or mowing the noxious weed can be done as a supplemental practice to deferred grazing.

If the present experiments with arsenic pentoxide poisoning of the weed prove successful, and reports of experiments to date indicate a highly successful method of combatting it, it is possible that such a method may be generally adopted and come in for direct participation in next year's program.

As in past years, eradication of prickly pear leads other range improvement practices in this county. Eradication of lechuguilla, cedar and mesquite, earthen tanks, rock header dams and water well drilling are other practices carried out extensively in this county. Artificial reseeding is another practice with which some experimented last year and may follow again, the government allowing 15 cents a pound for grass seeds sown.

Moisture Store Is Increased By Week-End Falls

Half Inch Here Saturday Night; Floods In Angelo Area

Even the lugubrious news that crowds the ether waves and the front pages from war torn Europe and Africa can scarcely dim the smile of West Texas ranchmen who look forward this year to one of the best years since the booming twenties.

And rain is the principal factor that contributes to their feeling of satisfaction, for rain is the one essential to prosperity in West Texas. And rain has been most plentiful through the past winter and this spring.

Rains that come at just the "right" time have been the order this spring and another such fell over the territory Saturday night and early Sunday morning. The fall averaged around a half inch throughout the county, which was sufficient, with the already bountiful store of moisture in the ground, to keep grass and weeds growing at full speed and to continue the velvety green blanket which covers almost the entire state.

ARMS-PRODUCTION RACE

Hitler defies the United States, or any group of democratic nations, to produce arms in the quality and quantity to overcome Nazi superiority. President Roosevelt's answer is his order to "work the clock around" in our arms industries, concentrating on guns, planes, ships and tanks.

machinery was smashed under gigantic hammers and sold for scrap metal. The making of smokeless powder declined to a tiny fraction of previous output, and the industries involved turned to the making of goods and products for normal consumption.

We women played an important role in the peace movement. Remember? We realized, probably more keenly than men, the bitterness of war, and we dreamed a great dream of well being and abundance.

We worked out many of the elements of that dream here in America, too, before the period of world unrest which saw European dictatorships grow daily more powerful as they batted on economic unrest in their own states.

American industry was called upon to forge the weapons that would make our freedom strong. At first it was on the basis of "business as usual" plus defense.

The defense accomplishments of industry to date will go down in the annals of history as living evidence of the potentialities of a free people. It is not the way that American men and women would wish to prove the value of their free institutions.

American women will remember this march of events as times move ahead. They know that there will be trying times and sacrifices ahead for all of us.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

It's always the SORE thumb that sticks out...

Odd, isn't it—the way everybody notices the sore thumb?

It's the same way with the retailing of beer. Everybody knows about the one undesirable place...everybody seems to forget about the thousands of worthwhile retailers who operate clean, decent, law-abiding establishments.

To protect the good name of beer, we of the beer industry want the few... but noticeable... "black sheep" retailers eliminated.

That's not all. Such retailers endanger an industry that brings important economic benefits to the community. Right here in Texas beer provides employment for 31,165 persons, supports an annual payroll of $22,076,182 and contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in state taxes.

This state, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for materials, equipment, and services—from more than 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways—by (1) patronizing only the law-abiding places where beer is sold and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

DUVAL TAKES A DIG AT FENIMORE COOPER

One of the memorable things about John C. Duval's "Adventures of Big-Foot Wallace," which ranks among the most popular books on Texas ever written, is its ridicule of James Fenimore Cooper and similarly well-known chroniclers of frontier life.

Duval's objection was that Cooper, whose "The Last of the Mohicans" is still a favorite today, was hopelessly ignorant of the actual conditions of life in the West. So in his biography of Wallace, several early editions of which are in the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library, he introduced a writer of his own creation who is one of the most comic characters in all Texas literature.

This "Mr. Author"—a scholarly individual with a stove-pipe hat, an umbrella, and an unshaken faith in the reliability of Cooper's Western lore—was himself writing a novel about a noble Indian of the best Cooper tradition, Hopi-Tuki-likahaj by name, who, among other things, "never says two words without beginning. 'Brother, listen.' The title of the book was 'The Wayworn Wanderer of the Western Wilds."

COOPER'S INDIANS RIDICULED

The story of "Mr. Author's" friendship with Wallace is a history of his gradual disillusionment. It begins the first night they are together, when the little stranger learns, greatly to his amazement and dismay, that the old Indian-hunter's opinion of Cooper's Indian characters is scarcely a complimentary one.

In the first place, Wallace didn't care for their dress, their bearing or their conversation; and in addition he recalled that they "never laugh nor steal horses, while I have found Indians to be uncommonly fond of a joke, especially of a certain kind, and the most ardent and expert thieves that ever went unhung."

Now Mr. Author, who was at least open-minded, began immediately to consider the possibility of revising the portion of his book which was already written. He was determined to change it if necessary, for the "Wayworn Wanderer," he declared, "is not intended for a sensation novel, and its scenes and characters must be true to nature."

Another part of the little man's "Cooper code" was that "the nights are always serene and clear, the stars twinkle overhead, the turf is green and soft, and everything is pleasant and agreeable." But one night passed in a puddle of water during a roaring Texas norther dispelled this illusion and brought from him a voluntary confession that "I'm losing confidence in Mr. Cooper rapidly."

COOPER A HUMBAG

The last straws were two experiences with animals—a buck deer and a band of ferocious Mexican hogs; from each he barely escaped with his life. Of the deer—Cooper's "timid, innocent animal that is startled by its own shadow in the sun"—Mr. Author observed, "I never saw so furious a beast in all my born days." And when, while the hogs slashed at his legs with their tusks, Wallace reminded him of Cooper's observations on animal nature he exploded, "Oh, brother Cooper, I say! Cooper is an unmitigated humbug" and soon thereafter he took his leave, determined, insofar as Cooper was concerned, that "he has imposed on the world long enough."

"I parted with our little author at San Antonio," Duval had Wallace say in concluding the story of the strange friendship, "and he promised me faithfully to send me a copy of his book as soon as it was published; but I never got it, nor do I know to this day whether or not he has ever exposed, as he threatened to do, the 'humbageries' of Mr. Cooper, in his great novel of the 'Wayworn Wanderer of the Western Wilds.'"

Texas Automobile Sales Still Active

AUSTIN—Texas is still selling more automobiles in 1941 than it did in 1940, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Though dropping 16 per cent behind March sales, passenger car registration in 18 representative counties last month totaled 8,808 cars—up 40.9 per cent from April a year ago. For the year to date, sales are running 30.2 per cent ahead of 1940.

The cost of the Texas State government is now nearly five times what it was twenty years ago, although the State's population is only 38 per cent more.

The producer's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, comments on it as follows, "This picture carries a message of inspiring truth and is deeply encouraging."

Pasteur Treatment Effective Control Of Rabies Menace

AUSTIN — Reports from the Pasteur Institute of the Texas State Department of Health indicate that positive examinations of animals for rabies (hydrophobia) during the first four months of 1941 were statistically less than for the same period for the past two years, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer.

The Pasteur Institute reports that 164 animals have been shown to have had rabies since the first of the year, out of 474 examinations. During 1940, 1,488 examinations were made, revealing 394 positive cases of rabies in animals and 1,094 negative. This was a decrease from 1939's cumulative 1,975 cases, of which 583 were found to be positive and 1,392 negative.

Rabies in man is rare but highly fatal unless Pasteur treatment is promptly instituted. It is significant that one death in 1939 and one death in 1940 were reported from rabies in Texas, so successful was the Pasteur treatment in the cases of persons bitten by the rabid animals.

Rabies in man usually results from the bite of infected dogs, though rabies may be spread by calves, sheep, squirrels, skunks, and horses. As a precaution against the spread of rabies, Dr. Cox advises penning up all dogs suspected of having rabies and keeping the animals under observation for at least ten days, but not destroying the animal. This holds true for other animals similarly suspected of rabies.

If a dog dies within the observation period, arrangements should be made to send the head of the animal to the Pasteur Institute, Austin, Texas, for rabies examination. The family physician or local health officer can make arrangements to shipping the head of the animal.

Promptly after rabies has been established in animals, persons who have been bitten should begin treatment to prevent development of symptoms. Treatment should be begun before laboratory examination has been made in case a person has been bitten in the face or on the hands, or has received extensive wounds," Dr. Cox advises.

Save us, Our Father, from docile servitude to things that can never satisfy our true nature. Help us to give ourselves to Christ in whose friendship and service we shall realize our highest happiness and usefulness. Amen.

"Vanity of vanities; all vanity."
Ecc. 1:2.

"Reverence God and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man." Ecc. 12:13.

"Oh, I do want to be happy," said a young mother to a wise and sympathetic friend. "I have tried so hard to find my place in life, and it looks as if I have failed. Nothing has brought the peace that I have longed for."

This young woman speaks for many of us. We seek happiness through costly automobiles, palatial houses, beautiful clothes, extensive trips and the veneer of education. We try to satisfy our yearnings through "keeping up with the Joneses" or in going a little beyond them, only to find at last that material things within themselves do not fill up the need that we feel, and we say with the ancient writer, "vanity of vanities; all is vanity."

Then we turn aside to some person whose simple way of living is in sharp contrast to the luxury that we allow ourselves. We see a love for flowers, a care for little children, and an awe before the Supreme Being whose handiwork is all around us. We see an open mind, a humility of spirit, and an attentive ear. Here is one who has found the true happiness.

We must come to see that man is more than body; in reality, man is a spirit. And material things can never satisfy the spirit that is man. As St. Augustine said, "Thou hast made us for Thyself, O God, and our hearts are forever restless until they rest in Thee." This brings us to the deepest

A WARNING to Ranchmen!!

It has come to my attention that certain persons are going about the ranches of Crockett County representing themselves as agents for Mike Couch, seeking to buy dead wool, sacks, cattle and other things.

I am hereby notifying all persons that I have no representatives in the field, and unless you have previously been notified by me in person, you may be certain that anyone thus representing themselves are imposters, probably planning to steal something from your ranch, and should be escorted from the pasture. Registrants Warned To Keep Local Board Informed On Address

Warning to all registrants under the Selective Service Act that they must notify their local boards promptly of any change of address, or become liable to severe penalties, was given today by General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director.

It is the duty of every registrant to keep his local board advised at all times of the address at which mail will reach him without delay, General Page pointed out. Any registrant who fails to conform to the Selective Service Act and Regulations, he said, is liable to punishment "by imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

General Page stated that so far most cases of delinquency have been found to have been due to ignorance of the law or carelessness on the part of registrants. It is the policy of the Selective Service System, he said, and of the Department of Justice which is charged with the enforcement of the Act, to be lenient in cases where it is apparent there has been no willful intent to violate the law. Nevertheless, he stressed, investigation of such cases is taking up much valuable time of local boards and of the Department of Justice agents which should be devoted to urgent work for national defense.

To relieve this situation, and also to protect registrants who do not willfully attempt to violate the law, General Page has asked all local boards to use every means of investigation at their disposal and to wait a reasonable length of time before reporting apparent cases of delinquency to the Department of Justice.

In this connection, General Page said that the voluntary assistance of local and state police officials may be used in finding a registrant who has failed to respond to notification. He said:

"If, after a reasonable effort on the part of the local board, with the assistance of the local or state police, the whereabouts of the delinquent registrant cannot be ascertained, and nothing has been heard from him in response to notification, the local board then should report the delinquent to the United States attorney."

Debate Decisions Fail To Decide Argued Question

AUSTIN — University of Texas officials of the Interscholastic League are now willing to admit that "nobody ever wins an argument."

Compiling results of the recent state high school debate meet held on this campus, league officials found that for the first time in its history, state debate decisions just about add up to a tie.

Of the 14 teams competing in the state finals, judges' decisions went to seven negative squads, seven affirmatives. More than that, the 94 judges' votes counted exactly 47 decision on each side of the question.

Debate topic was increased natural resources taxes for Texas.

LIVESTOCK SHIPMENTS OFF

AUSTIN, May 21—Carload shipments of Texas-grown livestock for March dropped to 4,571 from the March, 1940, total of 5,564, University of Texas Bureau of Business Research officials report.

Hogs showed the only increase—from 907 cars to 1,026.

Movement of cattle totaled 2,363 cars, calves 790 and sheep 392.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, May 19—ANNIVERSARY—Almost exactly a year ago—May 16, to be exact—President Roosevelt told Congress of how the turn of world affairs had made the speedy armament of the nation a prime necessity for its continued existence in a chaotic world. Obviously it's not in the nation's interest, in many cases, to detail actual results of this year of defense driving; and no one denies that some inefficiencies, disputes, and even obstinacies, have kept that 12 months from being 100 per cent as productive as it might have been... yet, all in all, the record indicates that no other nation has ever done so much in so short a time. Furthermore, most of the year has been devoted to getting ready to produce, and the actual production pace will be stepping up vastly faster from here on, as more and more assembly lines swing into action.

EVEN so, the high spots show: A year ago, military aircraft production was 450 planes a month; last month the industry set a new record of 1,427, and by October the output is expected to be around 2,600 monthly. This year 115 merchant ships will be delivered, against 53 in 1940. More significant is growth of facilities: Year ago, there were only 83 privately-owned shipways in the country, and 37 others which could be readily rehabilitated; now there are 234 available or well under construction, and 50 more planned, and Navy yards and shipbuilding companies are at work on a total of $5,000,000,000 worth of fighting ships, cargo vessels, tankers and other merchantmen. Tank builders are keeping abreast of a tough schedule, with 12-tonners already at assembly-line stage and three companies having finished their "pilot" versions of the 28-ton job. And the general report on guns and ammunition of all types is "ahead of schedule."

CONSERVATION — The speed with which aluminum has "gone off to defend its country" has required real ingenuity of many civilian users to adjust their operations to a supply of civilian metal greatly diminished by priorities.

In thrifty New England, though, the problem seems in one way to solve itself. Michael A. Connor, motor vehicle commissioner of Connecticut, which adopted permanent aluminum license plates in 1937, says the 220,000 pounds of the metal in the plates of the state's 400,000 cars actually conserve metal. He points out that the generally tight metals situation makes it highly unlikely that the state, even if it wished, could change over now to steel tags, for these would require 450,000 pounds of steel each year. Only a little more than 35,000 pounds of aluminum will be needed for new license tags this year. Steel plates Connecticut formerly used cost 17 cents in 1936. Aluminum plates cost 22 cents in 1937, but most of them are still in use.

AXIS POLITICAL ARM — The charge that German and Italian-dominated airlines in Latin-America are an arm of the Axis air force on political missions in this Hemisphere is made by C. V. Whitney, chairman of the board of Pan American Airways. He has learned, he says, that every Fascist pilot is committed to spread Axis political gospel, and says it is an open commercial secret that many of the Axis airlines are highly unprofitable enterprises, kept afloat only by subsidies from Berlin and Rome. Mr. Whitney, one of the founders of Pan American, says that up to the beginning of 1941, nine Axis-controlled airlines were still operating without hindrance over strategic routes of South America. These planes, he adds, fly a total of 21,762 miles and are linked directly with Berlin and Rome by the Italian transatlantic airline, LATI, which regularly crosses the South Atlantic to the Coast of Brazil.

NOT COMPLACENT — Most strongly-worded warning yet given public as to need for being ready and willing to crimp on standard of living in order to help defense is that of W. L. Batt, deputy director of production division of OPM. He stated "very simply" his opinion that "we cannot produce the vast quantities of fighting equipment that must be produced, and at the same time preserve our standard of living in terms of automobiles and electric conveniences and leisure hours." He pleaded for hustling ahead on all fronts—managerial, labor, governmental—to get things done, let wage, tax, jurisdictional and all other adjustments be worked out afterwards, so that quibbling over them wouldn't delay defense work. Finally, he said we must "beware of self-congratulations, and we must avoid the complacent notion that all is going well."

BITS O' BUSINESS — Nation's department store sales still up and up, 16 per cent ahead of last year for last four weeks. Railroad freight traffic up-jumped to new high for the year, and highest for any May week since 1930. Department of Labor figures show general cost of living went up one per cent from mid-March to mid-April (seems as though it was more, doesn't it?). General wages have been rising faster, though, producing a net gain of 19 per cent in purchasing power, according to some statistics. April residential building was highest since July of 1929.

Mark Twain Letters Added To Library

AUSTIN — Eleven original Mark Twain letters have been added to the University of Texas Library here.

Dated from 1866 to 1889, ten of the letters were written to Twain's "first, oldest and dearest friend," Will Bowen, who grew up with Twain in Hannibal, Mo., and later moved to Austin.

The collection was given the University by Bowen's daughter, Mrs. Louis Knox of Charleston, S. C.

Eight towns have served as the capital of Texas since its declaration of independence in 1836, University of Texas records show. They are San Felipe, Washington on the Brazos, Harrisburg, Galveston, Valasco, Columbia, Houston and Austin.

The average Texas oil well has to produce nearly three months out of the year to pay its owner's taxes and the land-owner's royalty.

Texas Folk Songs Being Recorded By University Bureau

AUSTIN — The University of Texas is busy discovering some "new" tunes, although you may never hear them on the hit parade.

Old-fashioned folk songs like "Missouri Girls," "I Went Out A-Sparkin'," "Oh Lord, I Wish I Was a Single Girl Again," have been recorded by the University's new bureau of research in folk materials, under the direction of William A. Owens.

Purpose of the bureau is to preserve the "real" Texas songs, Owens says. Bureau services are available on request to any Texas community.

The three new songs came from Southeast Texas, as did "Brother Green"—actually a "yankie Civil War ballad" that somehow found its way South. Owens said that the folks who sing "Brother Green," aren't able to explain where it came from.

Around OUR PLACE
by Fred G. G. G.

Pecos Turner, a grizzled old-timer of these parts, pulled up his horse at the front gate the other day and lit down to rest his saddle while he swapped the time of day with me. We squatted on the hard gate. Pecos never stands; he sits in a saddle or squats on his heels. Sometimes you can get him to sit in a chair like other people, but not often.

He pulled a newspaper out of his hip pocket and poked a horny finger at a news item. "Read that," he ordered. "If that ain't a caution, now, I never seen one."

The article was to the effect that one Mamie Sell of Evansville, Ind., had brought suit for divorce and alimony against her husband on the grounds that he'd only given her fifty cents for spending money in all the four years they had been married. Mamie had won the suit, all their household goods, and was to receive $1,050 in alimony.

"And they call that justice!" Pecos snorted. "I'll be dogged if I see what this world's coming to, anyhow. They ought to put a county on the scalps of these rascal lawyers that go around breaking up homes in this country. When a man's worked and made enough to feed and dress his woman, what more has she got a right to? Give them money, and what do they do? Just go adding about the country blowing in! Crying shame, if you ask me."

"Women have got no more sense about the value of a dollar than a horse with the blind staggerers."

You take that broadbeamed filly my nephew, Joe, married. Went down town the other day. Seen some purple sox in a show window. Bought 'em. Brung 'em home. Couldn't find nothing she had to match 'em in color. Went back down town. Looked around. Blowed herself to a purple toothbrush. "Crazier than a bedbug in a hot skillet, that filly is. Can't cut a stick of wood, set a hen, milk a cow. Couldn't cook a pot of beans fit to eat. Wouldn't eat 'em if she could."

"But Joe, now. He thinks the sun rises and sets in that gal. Gives her money to blow around. Gives her an automobile to chase around in. Acts like she was good as a man."

"But he'll learn. I did. When I first got hitched, I threw my woman's shoes away, afraid she might leave. Six months later, I went out and hunted 'em up, but she'd done been around too long. Couldn't get her out of the house."

"She never seen four-bits, though, for the first ten years. I didn't have it. We started farming and housekeeping in a tent with a second-hand cookstove and a bushel of corn. Settled in the forks of the Llanos. Raised corn for bread. Shot wild hogs for meat. Et pepper grass and poke-weed for greens. Thought we was living in high clover."

Pecos paused, gazing out across the hills, a look of reminiscence in his faded blue eyes.

"You know," he continued, "that sure was fine land there in the forks of the Llanos. Raised water-melons there one year. Grewed so fast they drug the leaves off the vines, reaching for more room."

"Dried out the next year, though, had to pull out and leave. Got so dry that year a cow would find a spring of green grass. Bite it off. Stand over it and horn the balance of the cattle off till it grewed out long enough to bite again. It's a fact."

He jerked to his feet, gathered up his bridle reins. "Got to get along," he said. "The old woman's sending me to town for a bowl of goldfish. Can you tell me how a man can pack home a bowl of goldfish a-horseback? Course you can't. Nobody can. Women! Be dogged if they ain't a nuisance!"

Wall Colors Often Play Tricks; Caution In Selection Urged

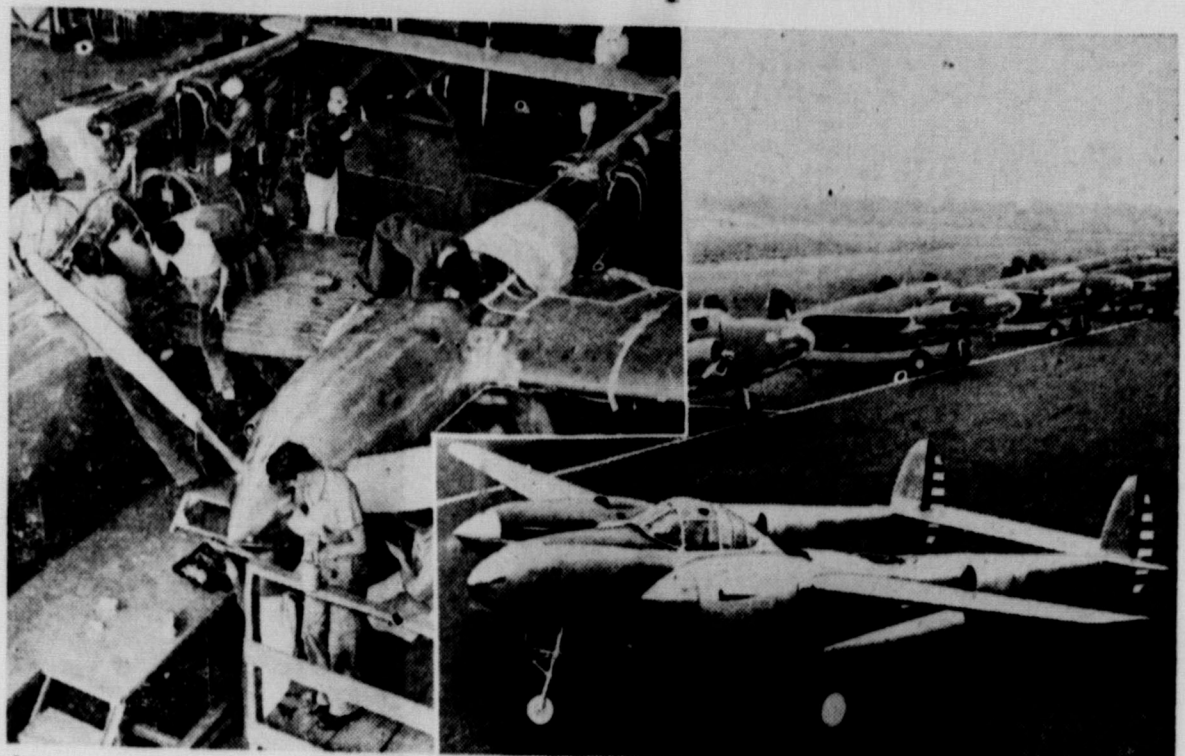

The color of wall materials in a house is largely a matter of personal taste.

Something of equal importance to favorite colors is the reflective value of the wall colors which influence the effectiveness of the house and sometimes even the comfort and well-being of the family, according to officials of the Federal Housing Administration.

Reflecting value means that while some colors make a room lighter others make it darker. A hundred-watt bulb might be bright enough to read by in a room with white or cream walls, while the same bulb in a room with red or blue walls might produce eye-strain.

An idea of the relation of color to light may be gained from these facts: White paper reflects as much as 80 per cent of the light in a room, but tinted with ivory, it drops to 78 per cent. Add a little tan and its reflecting value is lowered to 64 per cent in the scale. Bright sage green is 48 per cent.

Making America's Speediest Plane

Fights Polio

At the invitation of President Roosevelt to take treatment for polio, Higinio Morinigo Jr., son of the president of Paraguay, arrives at Miami airport with his mother and Maria Carmen Pena, four, en route to Warm Springs, Ga.

sky-blue 35 per cent, and dark blue-gray only 17 per cent.

It is important to select a cheerful light tint with good reflection value for a room that is ordinarily very dark. On the other hand, if a house has so many doors and windows that there is usually a brilliant glare, a restful tone soothing to the eyes may be chosen.

Color can produce many amazing effects, for it not only can make a room lighter or darker but can actually make it seem cooler or warmer and even larger or smaller.

The light tints of blue, green, and gray, for instance, known as "receding colors," give a cool effect and seem to push the walls outward instead of bringing them closer as darker shades and warmer colors do.

CHILD INTERRUPTS HOLDUP

LOUISVILLE, NEB.—Hearing a lot of interesting noise, Richard Koterzine, 4, walked up to the Home State Bank and calmly stood by a car at the curb, curiously watching the proceedings. The bank was being held up by an armed bandit and the cashier was forced to withhold his gun fire for fear of hitting the child. The bandit escaped in the waiting car.

OPPORTUNITIES IN NAVY

Opportunities for men who desire to serve with the U. S. Navy during the present emergency, or for those who would like to make a career of the Service, are so great and so varied at present that they should not wait for special announcement regarding vacancies in any particular branch of the Navy, according to information furnished by the Naval Recruiting Service. Such men should call at or write to the nearest Navy Recruiting Station, stating their age, training, experience, and general qualifications, and they will be informed as to the branch of the Service which offers them the greatest opportunity.

New Use Found For Toothpicks

COLLEGE STATION—Agriculture scientists have found another use for toothpicks than decorating the lips of easy-mannered diners.

They have found that the tooth-clearing splinter is an aid in getting a higher survival of transplanted pecan trees the first year. Pecan growers have been having high losses because not enough new roots are formed the first year to support the top. The toothpicks are soaked in a growth-promoting substance and a hole bored in a pecan root is plugged with the treated toothpicks. This puts the "growth promoter" into the circulation system of the tree. Treated trees produce more new roots and make more rapid growth than untreated trees. More of them survive the critical first season, too.

Selectees Urged To Travel Light

"Travel light. Take nothing but essentials, and you'll save yourself a lot of inconvenience."

This is the advice given by General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service director, to men selected for military training who are preparing to leave for Army induction stations.

General Page said that one suitcase should be sufficient to carry everything a selectee would need until he is outfitted by the Army—"change of underwear and socks, shaving set including the type of razor he is accustomed to using, tooth brush and other toilet articles, and things like those."

"Put the mail in one suitcase," he advised, "and do not take along bags, boxes and loose articles, or you will be causing a lot of inconvenience for yourself and others while you are on your way to the induction station and afterwards."

NO TOMATOES?

When the Army recently called for bids on canned tomatoes, it found, according to Director of Purchases Nelson, of the OPM, "a lack of interest by canners." Some bids were in line with market prices, but others were so far out of line that no awards were made.

FRIGIDAIRE HOT-BOX

Awaking Wednesday mid-night to find her home filled with smoke, Miss Maybelle Taylor turned in a fire alarm.

But the electric refrigerator motor was found to be the source of the smoke. No blaze had developed and the only damage was to the motor, which had in some manner become shorted.

Progress Made On Crockett Co. 50th Anniversary Issue

Citizens, Business Interests Showing Splendid Cooperation

Indications now clearly point to the successful publication of The Stockman's special edition commemorating the 50th anniversary of Crockett County. It will be known as the "Golden Anniversary Historical Edition." Material of all kinds and descriptions is being rapidly assembled by the editorial staff while the whole hearted support of the business interests of Ozona and surrounding territory is being evinced with their orders for advertising space in the edition.

Already several sections of the big edition planned by the paper have been assembled and made ready for press. The reading material which has been made ready covers feature stories on Crockett County and Ozona together with a number of articles of statistical and historical value.

Old-timer pictures have been sent in and contributed by quite a number of individuals but there is still need for more and the management is anxious to secure the cooperation of every person having in his or her possession any snapshot or picture that carries back to pioneer or early days and is in good enough condition for reproduction. All originals obtained for purposes of publication will be returned to the owner immediately after the engravings are made.

The editorial staff concerned with the preparation of material for this edition is confronted with one serious problem, however, and that is securing data and pertinent information on the families of the early settlers. It will be difficult to compile a comprehensive presentation of pioneer days and life without the cooperation of family members of the early settlers and community leaders, and these individuals are asked to send in or bring in whatever information they may have or desire to give which will enable the editors to set up an interesting story on their respective family groups.

Business firms or individuals who wish advertising space in the historical edition are asked to reserve space as soon as possible.
