Especially For You An Editorial

To commemorate Crockett County's 50th Anniversary and to honor its leading founder, Judge Davidson, The Stockman is publishing a special historical edition scheduled to go to the press the latter part of July.

Having dedicated ourselves to this task, which is one of no small undertaking, we seek the cooperation of every citizen in our effort to assemble all available reading material as well as pictures clearly depicting early day activities of interest and importance.

Our purpose is to utilize this opportunity of making a valuable contribution to the historical annals of Crockett County. As a goal, we have set an accurate and complete outline of the county's origin, growth and development, its resources, its economic and social life over the span of fifty years.

Into the news columns, we plan to inject stories on the backgrounds and individual histories of the first families of Crockett, meaning those families who pioneered their way to its foundation and those actively enveloped in its affairs during the first ten years following organization.

There will be narratives and feature articles dealing with outstanding events and noteworthy accomplishments by groups and individuals. It should be a pleasure and a privilege for our early settlers and succeeding members of their families to receive and retain this word and picture portrayal of the past.

Obviously, we need their cooperation in securing pertinent information essential for the representation of facts and news highlights planned for this edition. So far, many have responded to our continuous appeals for biographical sketches and the like. There are others who have been more or less apathetic in their attitude. We ask this group to close up the breach.

As far as it is humanly possible, we aim to include everyone who has a rightful place in this resume of Crockett's past, in our news columns. We want to avoid any aftermath of wounded feelings or piqued sensitiveness on the part of some who may feel that they have been neglected and left out of the picture, so to speak.

Citizens of Crockett County, our Historical Edition will be of you and for you. You can help to make it a success and elaborate publication of factual value and enlivened by news items of real interest, a paper that will recall to the minds of the old-timers vivid memories of the "Good Old Days" and stir the present generation to a full appreciation of its rich heritage of tangible and intangible possessions to be nurtured and safeguarded in days to come.

Basiliso Ramirez Sent This Week To Fill Draft Quota

Basiliso Ramirez, young Ozona Mexican, left early Wednesday morning by bus for El Paso to answer the U. S. Army's call from this county for one selectee to report June 18 for induction.

Two other Ozonans, John D. Whitley, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Whitley and J. T. Casbeer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Casbeer, volunteered last week for the U. S. Army Air Corps in San Antonio and are at Kelly Field temporarily awaiting assignment.

Two additional men, replacements for previous draft calls where the men sent failed to pass tests of the recruiting office, are to be sent this month by the local board. Harry W. Journeay, a local registrant now living at Big Spring, is next on the list, and Raul Gonzales, local Mexican, will be called up with Journeay for induction to complete this month's quota.

Cemetery Assn. Meets Success In Cleanup Day

Officers, Committees Relected At Business Meet Of Groups

Splendid cooperation was secured and much progress made toward cleaning up overgrown weeds and grasses in the Cedar Hill Cemetery here last Saturday when Cemetery Day was observed under sponsorship of the local Cemetery Association.

At a business meeting held at the burial plot Saturday morning, Mrs. Floyd Henderson was re-elected chairman of the association and Mrs. A. C. Hoover was retained as secretary-treasurer. A standing advisory committee composed of W. R. Baggett, N. W. Graham and A. C. Hoover, was also re-elected.

A committee to draw up amendments to the rules of the association was named by the president and another committee which will soon begin a canvass of owners of lots in the cemetery who have not yet made payment for the plots in an effort to collect amounts thus due. This course was decided upon by the group as a move in fairness to owners of plots who have paid for them, it was explained.

The clean-up campaign was sparked by a group of men employed by the association to clean up the alleys and drives in the grounds and several lot owners employed workmen to clean these plots. Considerable progress was made, but there is still much to be done to make the burial ground presentable, since the rapid growth of weeds and grass as a result of recent frequent rains has made it impossible for the caretaker to keep them down.

Leo Baucom has been employed as caretaker for the cemetery during the summer months, succeeding Dean Phillips, who resigned to enlist in the U. S. Army Air Corps. Mr. Baucom will resume his position as caretaker for the Mexican school building at the opening of the new school term in September and it will be necessary for the association to employ another man at that time, Mrs. Henderson explained.

Attending the business session of the association Saturday morning were Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. J. V. Blaylock, Mrs. O. W. Smith, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Scott Peters, Mrs. J. C. Montgomery, Mrs. Joe Graham, Mrs. A. C. Hoover, Will Baggett, and N. W. Graham. On behalf of members of the association, Mrs. Henderson expressed appreciation to those who cooperated in the day's undertaking and asked that those who have not yet cleaned their lots and who are able to do so to have them cleaned as soon as possible.

Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Davidson left this week with their daughter, Mrs. Mark Garver, for Bethlehem, Pa., Mrs. Garver's home. Mrs. Garver has been visiting her parents here for the past three weeks.

Son Of Crockett Co. Commissioner, Ill At Temple, Is Improved

At the point of death for several days in a Temple hospital, where he is being treated for a rare type of infection, Jim Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Black of near Big Lake, showed noticeable improvement yesterday and attending physicians now have hopes of his recovery, according to word from his bedside yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Schneeman returned last night from Temple and reported young Black much improved. Chas. Black, the boy's father, is Crockett County commissioner from the northern section of the county.

$248 Raised To Date In U. S. O. Fund Campaign

Scott Peters Is Head Of Drive For Local Quota Of $400

A hurried canvass through the business section to include business houses of the city, made by Scott Peters, Crockett County chairman, netted a total of $248.50 toward this county's quota in the nationwide United Service Organization drive for funds to finance recreation and welfare work near military training bases and in defense production centers.

This county's quota has been fixed at a little over $400 and the additional subscriptions needed are expected to be secured in another day's canvass. Mr. Peters plans to enlist the aid of volunteers. (Continued on Last Page)

200 Guest Attend— Gala Outdoor Party Given By Joe Oberkamps Observing Their Silver Wedding Anniversary

Twenty-five years ago Joe Oberkamps and Alma Chapman stood in the living room of a little home in San Angelo that had been prepared for their occupancy and were married. They had eloped from Ozona and the only guests at the wedding were Mr. Oberkamps' father, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oberkamps.

Monday night of this week, more than 200 friends from Ozona and widely scattered points in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona gathered at the Oberkamps home here to honor them on the twenty-fifth anniversary of that quiet wedding in San Angelo.

It was one of the gala occasions in Ozona's social life, one of the largest single gatherings of its kind in the town's history, beginning with dinner served buffet

Dick Lee McDonald, Unconscious 22 Days, Reported Improving

Dick Lee McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald, who has been in a San Angelo hospital in an unconscious condition since May 28, following injuries suffered when a horse fell with him here, was reported yesterday to be improved.

The child now is in a semi-conscious condition, it was reported, and, although still unable to talk or rouse to full consciousness, seems to recognize members of his family and laughs at jokes.

A brain specialist, summoned last week for consultation, expressed opinion that the condition resulting from the shock of the fall would clear in time and the child would recover.

Drillers Make Fast Progress On Water Well

New Supply May Be On Test By End Of Week Crew Reports

J. C. Crowder, San Antonio drilling operator, yesterday reported rapid progress being made in drilling the new water well atop the water works hill under contract award by the board of directors of the Crockett County Water Control and Improvement District.

The new well, a 13-inch hole, is being drilled in the hope of striking water in sufficient quantity to justify installation of a modern electrically operated centrifugal pump capable of pumping sufficient water from one well for Ozona's needs.

Drillers had reached a depth of nearly 300 feet Wednesday afternoon, and expected to reach the level of the known water vein by the end of this week. Water is expected to be encountered at a depth of 420 feet.

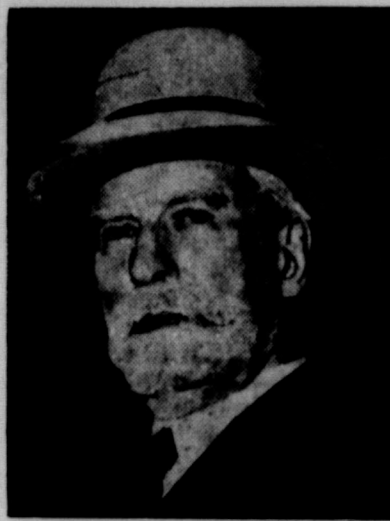

Drillers will test the water supply when it is reached and if it is found of sufficient volume, the well will be cased and the new pumping equipment purchased and installed as soon as possible.

The new well is being drilled just south of the big half million gallon storage tank from which the city's water supply comes. The directors of the Water Control District plan to sink a second well, to be located near the one now being drilled, with a view to installing modern equipment for each and abandoning the small wells now in use and the antiquated pumping equipment being used to raise the water.

Local Board To Register Second Draft Eligibles

Texas Expects To Register 65,000 Youths On July 1st

State Director of Selective Service, General J. Watt Page, in announcing the second registration of young men eligible for military training on July 1, said today that local boards and their assistants would handle the registration in most sections of the State.

General Page added, however, that additional assistance will be required in some of the densely populated sections, and that all local boards are authorized to enlist and accept, if necessary, any volunteer assistance in handling their registration problems. He said:

"Most of the local organizations, as well as individuals, who assisted in the first registration last October have volunteered their services for the second registration. Texas has been fortunate in the patriotic response of both organizations and individuals in this connection."

Members of the Crockett County Local Board have made arrangements for the registration of the newly arrived 21's at the offices of the board in the courthouse. Between 25 and 50 registrants are expected to come forward in this county. The board expects to be able to handle the registration, but may ask for volunteer assistance in covering the long hours assigned for the task.

General Page emphasized that "all local boards are authorized to make their own arrangements for registration, and permission or approval from state headquarters in this instance will not be necessary." Many of the counties having more than one local board will arrange for joint registration at some central point, he said. Other counties having more than one local board, but each board having

Angelo Telephone Emploees Provide Rotary Program

Interesting Facts Of System's Operation Are Presented

Interesting facts concerning the operation of the nation wide telephone system and the local systems were brought out in a program presented by executives and employes of the San Angelo Telephone Co. before the Rotary Club Tuesday noon.

M. L. Beam, cashier of the telephone company at San Angelo, John E. Robbins, supervisor of operators, a Miss Tally and Miss Haggerty, long distance operators in the San Angelo Telephone exchange, Mrs. M. L. Rynnion, manager of the local branch, and Mrs. Ben Butler, operator here were guests of the club and took part in the interesting program.

Mr. Robbins, acting as master of ceremonies, presented the facts which the public usually is interested in learning through a system of questions fired at the operators. Mrs. Butler, Miss Haggerty and Miss Talley.

Zest was added to the interviews when Rotarians were given a chance to compete for miniature telephones offered as prizes for the person guessing nearest to the time consumed in each interview. Dr. G. L. Nesrsta and C. J. Van Zandt were winners.

In her interview, Mrs. Butler revealed that an average of 2200 calls a day go through the Ozona exchange. The local exchange has approximately 450 subscribers she said. The daily calls average about six to a subscriber, a little over the national average. A maximum of 30 subscribers may talk at once, she said.

Softball Play Resumed After Field Worked

Schedule Extended 2 Weeks By Delay; Cookies Lead

After a lull of two weeks during which a coating of new dirt was spread on the playing field, between rains, Ozona's softball hostilities broke out again Monday night, and the first half schedule was picked up as of that date. The eight games postponed because of work on the field will be tacked to the end of the present official schedule, extending the first half by two weeks.

The Cooke Barbecuers and the Utilities Kilowatts broke the ice after the lull, the Cookies taking the bout in short order. Tuesday night's battle was between the Williams Grocers and the Humble Oilers, the former crossing enough tallies for a win.

Four wins and only one loss put the Cooke Barbecuers far in the lead, but the Williams and Humble crews, all even at two won and two lost each, are not too far behind. The Utilities gang, off to a slow start at the beginning are tailending with one win and four losses. The standings and percentages are as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cooke	4	1	.800
Humble	2	2	.500
Williams	2	2	.500
Utilities	1	4	.200

An appeal by team managers for a full quota of players at each of the four-nights-a-week play periods was issued following the resumption of play. All players who want to take part in the games are urged to be on hand each Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Miss Noma V. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Miller, is home for the summer vacation months. She has been attending George Pepperdine College in Los Angeles.

HOW NOT TO PAY...

There has been much discussion of how to finance the defense program. Equally important is the subject of how not to finance defense.

There is a small, uninformed group which still feels that the easy way out is simply for the government to issue more money—to turn the printing presses loose, and to pay as we go with crisp new currency. That would be the most ruinous course this country could take.

There are others who still believe the government can follow its old policy of forcing more and more Federal securities on the banks. But this, long enough continued, breeds still another kind of inflation—credit inflation—which in the long run can be disastrous to a country.

What it all comes down to is that that part of the defense program which cannot be financed out of current government revenue, must be financed by borrowing directly from the people. That is why the Treasury is issuing special defense bonds now—and why the nation's banks, without profit to themselves, are doing everything in their power to encourage their purchase.

THIS BUSINESS OF Living

We "Buildd Better Than We Knew"

We started late in this race for preparedness. The dictators had been arming for years when our government placed its first contract for defense material with American Industry last spring. We've made amazing progress since then but experts say that we have only begun turning out tanks and planes and ships and guns in the vast quantities that we can eventually achieve.

But viewing the thing from another angle, it seems as if we've been preparing for this emergency ever since we became an industrial nation.

Today, America is a country of 130 million people occupying 1-20 of the surface of the earth. But that isn't the measure of our strength. We've developed our resources and built up an industrial system that is frankly the envy of the aggressor countries. Just look at some of the things we have!

We produce 2-3 of the world's oil, 1-3 of its lumber, 1-3 of its coal, 1-3 of its hydroelectric power, 1-3 of its pig iron, nearly 1-3 of its aluminum, and 2-5 of its copper—all of them needed for defense production.

Then consider that we have 1-3 of all the railroads in the world—nearly 1/2 of all the radios—1/2 of all the telephones, and nearly 3-4 of all the automobiles—to mention just a few of the things which our industrial system has produced.

The figures, which are nothing less than staggering, mean that we had a kind of head start on the rest of the world and that even if we did begin late on this last lap of preparedness we shall be able to overtake and finally surpass the defense production of the dictator countries.

Besides we have one other great advantage. We are a nation of free men and women working together in a system of free private enterprise. We work because we have ambition and ideals not because someone tells us we must or threatens us with punishment if we don't. And we work according to our own ideas of how things should be done, making changes whenever they seem desirable and bringing about improvements all the time we work to express ourselves and to earn the rewards offered by a system like ours.

For two decades after the last war we hoped for peace and let our great reservoirs of man power—with our natural resources and, above all, with our traditional love of freedom for every man, woman and child within our borders, we have the groundwork for an output of defense material such as the world has never seen. Since we first declared our independence over a century and a half ago, we have been building "better than we knew"; getting ready to make this the "arsenal of democracy" at a time when free men everywhere must make a determined stand for human liberty.

"GERONIMO"...

Shortly before 47 members of the 51st parachute battalion at Ft. Benning, Ga., were selected to begin training in mass jumping, a movie called Geronimo was exhibited at the post exchange. For some reason which nobody seems able to explain the jumpers made Geronimo their rally cry. Now each man shouts the word lustily as he dives out into space. The original 47 parachutists have been augmented by several hundred, and training has advanced to the point where an entire company will jump at one time.—From Collier's.

Defense Savings Head Urges Texas Support Of Sales

The Stockman is in receipt this week of the following letter from Frank Schofield, state administrator of the Defense Savings Staff of Texas, appealing to the people of Texas for support of the Defense Savings bonds sales.

Austin, Texas June 2, 1941

Dear Mr. News Editor: Following the President's talk on Tuesday, I have come to the conclusion that it is my duty to call on the citizens of Texas to double their efforts to aid America, and we must have an all-out purchase of defense bonds and savings stamps.

We are going to have a big bill to pay in order to protect this land we love so well—and it will be worth every cent it costs to know that our country and those we love are safe. And when I stop and think that our Government thought far enough ahead to make plans to borrow money from us that it could pay back with interest, I swell with pride. The United States Government could have just imposed higher and higher taxes on us—money to be paid in and nothing received in return but protection. Protection would have been a lot, but instead we are lending our money and will get it back with interest. When you buy one of these bonds, you are buying confidence in your country, your family, your neighbor and yourself. You are making money for yourself, and, by lending it to the Government, you are making it work for your country.

I could think of no more fitting memorial to those who gave their lives in the last war than to ask that all Texans do their bit now toward preparing defenses which we hope will protect us and save the lives of our native sons.

Sincerely yours, FRANK SCOFIELD, State Administrator, Defense Savings Staff of Texas.

NO GAS-RATIONING...

Secretary Ickes, the national petroleum administrator, has greatly modified his original suggestion that the nation should go on a regime of "gasless Sundays" because of a shortage of petroleum—due to lack of tanker—on the eastern seaboard. The present plan, which emphasizes the most rapid possible construction of new transportation facilities from the oil-producing areas of the West to the industrial East, now envisages a probable rationing of gasoline in the Atlantic States, but not elsewhere. This is the part of wisdom. There is no reason why, in view of plentiful supplies of gasoline everywhere else in the United States, a national rationing program should be undertaken, merely because one-tenth of the geographical area of the country is temporarily short of supplies due to transportation.—Kansas City Star.

Side Glances on Texas History

By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

AN INTRODUCTION TO COMANCHE ETHICS

There's an old belief that if you stand up for what you think are your rights you can make your way in the world under any conditions. In the Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library is evidence to back it up—to prove, for instance, that it was possible to get on even with the Comanches, possibly the fiercest of the North American Indians, if you only knew the trick.

The evidence is in J. W. Wilbarger's voluminous "Indian Depredations in Texas," which contains some of the most dramatic tales in all Southwestern literature. It's the story of Mrs. Rachel Plummer, who lived among the quarrelsome Comanches for eight-month months and eventually earned a place of respect among them, though at the cost of long misery and suffering.

Mrs. Plummer was among the settlers who came to Texas from Illinois in 1833 and established on the banks of the Navasota River a fortress which they called Parker's Fort after their leader, Elder John Parker. And she was present on May 19, 1836, when the fort witnessed an Indian raid which was to become famous in frontier history.

THE PARKER'S FORT RAID

Early that May morning, some five hundred Indians, mostly Comanches and Kiowas, suddenly invaded the settlement. They swept into the fort, murdered five of its inhabitants, and carried another five off into captivity. Mrs. Plummer, together with her son, John, and her better-remembered kinswoman, Cynthia Ann Parker, who was then but a girl of nine years, was among those taken alive. When the various tribes later parted company, Mrs. Plummer, separated from the other captives, fell to the lot of a Comanche warrior and his squaw, who, during the coming months, taught her all the fabled terrors and rigors of Indian captivity. She was carried into the snow-covered Rocky Mountains of New Mexico and there, with little clothing and frequently no footwear, was required to dress buffalo hides by day and tend horses by night, often while suffering seriously from frostbite. She was despised, abused, and apparently destined to a future of servile futility.

After a year of such service, which she found she could do nothing to escape, she was passed on as personal servant and companion to a brutal old woman, under whom her life was even more miserable than it had been before.

SHE LEARNS HER LESSON

By this time, however, Mrs. Plummer later told, she was so deep in despair that she quickly resolved no longer to be tormented by the old squaw, who held her in the greatest contempt. So one day, when the old woman began to beat her with a club, she snatched it from her and knocked her down in a rage.

As the incident had passed in full view of a number of Comanche warriors who, typically, were lolling about in the shade and telling tales, the unexpected turn of events brought them all rushing excitedly upon her. Quite naturally, Wilbarger wrote, "she fully expected to be killed." Instead, however, she met the warm approval of the warriors, who, thinking it all a huge joke, patted her gleefully on the back.

And thus, from personal experience, Mrs. Plummer learned the old "stand-up-for-your-rights" lesson, and she learned it well. In a short time she was an established favorite in the camp—"the Fighting Squaw," they called her—and remained so until she was ransomed at last, eighteen months after her capture, and returned to her people.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, June 16—BAL- LAST—Prices, one of the famous "three P's" of the defense drive, (others being Production and priorities), are getting concentrated attention now as Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply works to prevent threatened ballooning on several fronts. Notable was Price Administrator Leon Henderson's request to five auto makers to withdraw recently announced price increases "to aid in resisting inflation." At the same time, Standard Oil of Ohio postponed indefinitely, at OPACS' request, a scheduled half-cent advance in gasoline price. And Washington expected legislation giving OPACS additional power to punish violators of its orders would be introduced soon. Meanwhile, on the general cost-of-living scene, surveys in 33 large cities by the Bureau of Labor Statistics show a steady advance. The overall index was 3.1 per cent higher at the end of May than a year ago. This index is based on the prices of 198 goods and services bought by wage-earners and lower-salaried clerical workers.

ARMY COMFORT — Uncle Sam's new army probably will rate as the safest and most comfortable military organization in history, a check of recent equipment orders shows. Not that the boys in training are being coddled. But a humanized War Department, mindful of World War experience, is seeing to it that the comfort motif embraces even kitchen police duty. Spuds are being peeled by a streamlined machine. Even the blue K. P. dungarees are gone; replaced by outfits of natty white twill. The old broad-toed blucher shoes that turned Army marches into "hunion derbies" has been redesigned in line with the avowed preference of 85 per cent of American males for rubber heels. A new model helmet that replaces the "inverted wash basin" of 1917, not only sits easier on the head but covers more of neck and jaws. Summer-weight uniforms and even shorts are innovations for American soldiers, and new jackets have such popular civilian features as the "bellows" or "action" back. There's even less saluting. It's now saved mostly for formal occasions. BITS O' BUSINESS — Fears of transportation difficulties, plus the oil-rationing threat, have boosted buying of hard coal, and given extraordinary potency to the annual sales argument to "buy winter coal now"—for one 10-cent price advance is already in effect, others may come along monthly. Similarly, in the east, the threat of oil rationing is making coal-burning householders less eager to switch to oil heat—sales of coal automatic stokers for home furnaces were up 53 per cent in April over year ago. Nation's department store sales slowed a little from usual "advancing" rate, showing 7 per cent gain over 1940 for week ending June 7. Extra pay, but without vacations, is being increasingly accepted as partial solution of defense labor-shortage problem. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau has enlisted three outside tax experts to study federal-state-municipal tax relations in the interest of eliminating tax duplications; says he "wouldn't know a better time than the present" to work on clearing up this perennial headache.

AIR EDUCATION — Army and Navy air experts have for some time sought ways and means of getting something concrete done about aviation education for American boys between 10 and 18 years of age. Their object: to reduce the "serious" shortage faced by the air corps in U. S. pilots. A privately-sponsored organization, Air Youth of America, jumped into the breach recently with the backing of such men as Cornelius V. Whitney, chairman of the board of Pan American Airways, and Winthrop Rockefeller. Boys and young men began flocking to the group's "model plane meetings" and success seems assured. Now, according to Whitney, the Air Youth program is about to be spread to Latin America, where youngsters of the other American republics will be provided with basic instruction in aviation. The program will get under way within the next few months.

Mosquito Control Urged To Prevent Spread Of Disease

AUSTIN, June 16 — "A marked saving in human lives and improved health conditions may be obtained in large measure by an educational program for the control of the mosquito," suggests Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"Malaria is transmitted to humans," he said, "by the bite of the Anopheles mosquito. This mosquito acquires the malaria parasites by biting a person who has these parasites in his blood. She (it is the female who transmits this disease) then bites a well person. The parasite enters the blood, grow, and multiply there. Poisons are formed and carried in the blood stream to all parts of the body. The person bitten by the carrier mosquito begins to shiver with chills, burn with fever, and to have a headache.

"Prevention of malaria should start with the protection of humans from the bite of the infected mosquito and continue through to the elimination of the mosquito.

"The protection of humans may be accomplished by screening all houses to prevent the entrance of mosquitoes. A 16-mesh wire screen should be placed over all openings. Be sure that all chimneys, cracks, and other openings are covered.

"The mosquito breeds in still water and the pools and grassy edges of running water, as well as in many places where water is allowed to collect or stand. The female then lays her eggs on the surface of the water, where they float, and in a few days hatch into 'wiggle-tails.' These live in the water and in time turn into mosquitoes. These changes must take place in the water and require twelve to fourteen days in summer to complete the cycle.

"In order to prevent the mosquito from breeding, destroy their shelters by removing all brush and weeds; and drain or otherwise control their breeding places in water by spraying the surface with oil or putting top-feeding minnows in waters where oil or drainage cannot be used. Such a campaign will be waged around dall military areas in Texas."

The Stockman Pulpit

By JAMES D. MOSS
Minister the Church of Christ

The essential happiness of man depends upon the performance of duty. There is no shorter way. We may evade our responsibilities, shirk our duties, snatch a few pleasures unlawfully; but this will not bring happiness.

This state of blessedness is best attained by losing one's self in service. The happy people are those who are busy. The man who has nothing to do is indeed miserable.

Jesus recognized these truths when He said: "Not every one that sayeth unto Me, Lord, Lord, shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father Who is in heaven." Matt. 7:21. Again, closely following in the Sermon on the Mount, "Whoever heareth these sayings of mine and doeth them, shall be likened to the wise man, etc."

The whole system of the Christian religion is a working religion. Of course based upon faith and prompted by a strong love for God and our fellow man. We believe in Christ and we love Him. This induces us to seek the assembly of the saints, on the first day of the week, to lift our voices in songs of praise, or offer a feeble petition. God is well pleased because this brings us near to Him. This fulfills commands He gave for the benefit of His creatures.

Again, this same power of faith and love will lead us, to minister to the sick, help those in need, "do good to all men" and "to keep ourselves unspotted from the world." All of this is doing His will.

Why should Christians be busy in the Lord's service? Not because God is a dictator and wants to make His people obey. Not because He is terrible and fierce. But this is the way of life; this is success; this will bring the greatest amount of good to His people. Obeying His will, will save men here and in the life to come.

Negro, Armed With Iron Tub Handle, Looking For Hitler

It would have been too bad for the little Berlin paperhanger with the trick mustache if he had been on the prowl in the colored settlement of Ozona Tuesday night.

Sheriff Willis, looking for a negro who had figured in a cutting bee a short time before, encountered another negro, bare-foot and talking something in the darkness. The darky was apparently a victim of two many nips and the sheriff hailed him.

The inebriated black looked the big sheriff over carefully and then relaxed. Sheriff Willis noted the fellow's armaments—the iron handle out of a wash tub, which he held with an improvised grip made of rags.

"I'm looking for Hitler," the man informed Sheriff Willis in response to the officer's questions. A laudable undertaking, the sheriff mused, but since little good could come of it at this distance, the negro was locked in the county jail for the rest of the night.

Novel Sales Plans Getting Results In Defense Bond Drive

AUSTIN, June 18—The County and local organization of the Defense Savings staff in Texas continue their work with many innovations that are getting excellent results. State Administrator, Frank Scofield, stated: "It is the initiative being displayed by the local committees over the state that is so encouraging to our office. Certainly no one man or small group could advance all the fine ideas that are proving so effective in this work in our state."

Chairman Lewell Lafferty of the Tarrant County committee reports that Craig Wood, winner of the American Open Golf Tournament recently held at Fort Worth's Colonial Club, displayed the fine American spirit of today by investing a substantial portion of his prize money in Defense Bonds. Appropriate radio, newsreel and newspaper publicity was given in the ceremony when Mr. Wood made his purchase.

In Mineola, superintendent of schools, Ben A. Copass, reported that Defense Bond and Stamp day was held recently in that city's schools. The children there purchased more than $2,000 worth of Defense securities on that day alone.

Jefferson County chairman, A. E. Weaver, reported that full hours radio program was put on one Sunday afternoon by that county's three radio stations under the direction of Beaumont Chairman R. F. DuBois. This program featured a patriotic address, a negro quartet, orchestra music and a cowboy band. Listeners were requested to phone in subscriptions, and about $30,000 was subscribed.

57 Army Chapels To Be Built To Serve Southwestern Area

FT. SAM HOUSTON (Spl.) June 18—Fifty-seven regimental chapels are soon to be erected at army posts and camps in Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona to serve the religious needs of the soldiers stationed there, according to Colonel Edwin V. Dunstan, constructing quartermaster, Eighth Construction Zone. The 57 chapels to be erected in the Eighth Construction Zone are slightly more than ten per cent of the 555 that will be built in the United States at an estimated cost of $13,000,000. The bulk of the construction will be handled under lump-sum contracts by the Construction Division of the office of the quartermaster general under the supervision of the zone constructing quartermasters.

Each chapel will be 95 feet, 7 inches long and 37 feet wide, and the construction will conform with other camp buildings.

Designed to serve all faiths, each chapel will have a movable altar so constructed as to be adaptable for use by the several religious groups. A series of doors and panels in the altar will provide the essential requirements for each kind of service. Both pulpit and lectern are designed to serve particular needs, and like the altar both are movable. There are two chaplain's rooms, one on each side of the altar.

Forty Planes Visit Ozona From San Angelo Field

Ozonans are becoming accustomed to the drone of airplanes overhead, especially in the early morning, when fliers from the air training base in San Angelo are to be seen circling the city and making for the Crockett airport west of the city for practice landings and maneuvers.

A flight of around forty planes Wednesday morning, however, was a little out of the ordinary. The flight began in early morning and the planes were directed in and out by the flight commander for several hours. The commanders direct the fliers in practice flights by radio.

Rising Pecos River Prevents Location Of Proposed Bridge

A scheduled meeting between representatives of the Crockett and Pecos County commissioners court at the Pecos River to select a site and discuss plans for proposed joint construction of a bridge across the stream in the vicinity of Iraan was postponed last week because of high water in the Pecos.

The Crockett County court last week named a committee of members to meet with the Pecos group in the vicinity of the proposed site, with authority to act for this county in sharing the cost. The river is running bankful, and out of banks in some places, and the bridge discussion was postponed until the river gets back to normal. The proposed bridge will give an outlet from the Soma oil field on the Noelke ranch in this county.

U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Active

HOUSTON, June 18—The patriotic spirit of the youth of South Texas has been proven by the large number of enlistments in the U. S. Marine Corps since the establishment of the recruiting district of Houston. Since this recruiting district began operations last month the southern recruiting division of the Marine Corps has led the Eastern, Western, and Northern divisions by approximately 34 per cent, according to an announcement by Major F. R. Worthington, U. S. M. C. R., officer in charge of this recruiting district, 209 Scanlan Bldg., Houston.

This increase in enlistments has been prompted by the adjustment of the Marine Corps to meet the demands outlined in the national emergency program. The major change in the policy regarding enlistment in the Marine Corps has been the acceptance of young men seventeen years of age for general service. Prior to this time young men of this age were enlisted as drummers and trumpeters as they were needed.

"Ziegfeld Girl," With Host Of Stars, Hailed As Hollywood's Best Musical

Jan. Stewart, Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr, Lana Turner Star

Reviving the Golden Age of musicals, "Ziegfeld Girl" is acclaimed as topping the imposing list of lavish productions scheduled for 1941—also—as being Hollywood's most elaborate spectacle since "The Great Ziegfeld."

Showing at the Ozona Theatre Sunday and Monday, the picture combines an all-star cast, spectacular production numbers and magnificent sets, and brings together a galaxy of the most beautiful girls in America.

A strong dramatic story, written by William Anthony McGuire, long a friend of Florenz Ziegfeld and associated with him in many of his productions, is interwoven with the trio of scintillating production numbers, "You Stepped Out of a Dream," "Minnie from Trinidad," and "We Must Have Music," which furnish unexcelled highlights for the film, produced by Pandro S. Berman. Robert Z. Leonard, responsible for the success of the first Ziegfeld saga, "The Great Ziegfeld," again directed.

The picture tells the story of three girls—Susan Gallagher, Sandra Kolter and Sheila Regan—played by Judy Garland, Hedy Lamarr and Lana Turner respectively. It tells of their jump from obscurity to fame, and its effect on their lives. The dazzle and glamour of the Follies prove too much for Sheila, who in the end, ill and disillusioned, dies on the eve of Susan's success as the Follies' new star.

James Stewart plays Gilbert Young, her truck-driver sweetheart, who loses Sheila to the lure of the show and fascination of Geoffrey Collis, played by Ian Hunter. Tony Martin, as the singing star of the Follies, becomes infatuated with Sandra, who remains loyal to her husband, Frank (Philip Dorn), and who gives up her career as a Follies beauty for his love.

Jackie Cooper, as Sheila's young brother, Edward Everett Horton, as Noble Sage, Ziegfeld's press agent, Charles Winninger, old-time vaudevillean who surrounds the know-it-all by penning Broadway, together with his partner, Al Shean, in "Gallagher and Shean" number; Paul Kelly, Eve Arden, Dan Dyer, Jr., Fay Holden, Felix Bressart and Rose Hobart all appear in the star-studded cast.

Costumes by Adrian, delving in most imaginative, elaborate, and to the realm of fantasy, are the breathtaking ever to reach the screen. One worn by Miss Lamarr uses 600 yards of tulle, 40,000 pleats, and hundreds of thousands of sequins and sparkles, not to speak of clusters of costume jewels.

Columbia Professor Says National Debt Reach 100 Billions

AUSTIN, June 18—The United States will soon have a national debt of 100 billion dollars, according to a report by a Columbia University professor.

This is the viewpoint held by the state's treasury, who were addressed here recently by Rowell Magill, Columbia University professor of law and former under-secretary of the treasury. Magill spoke before the first Texas Lawyers Institute, meeting at the University of Texas campus.

The Columbia tax expert warned that the American public immediately faces taxation of four or more times that of last year, in addition to increasing governmental regulation and power to confiscate property and assets.

Magill was optimistic, however, concerning America's ability to conquer its "new taxation."

"We need not be unduly pessimistic about the future. We still have the resources, we still have the man power to make this a great nation."

WE HAVE WEPT

By Mary Scott Willour

Oh, we have wept together, Guinevere and I. Her man wore mail of metal; Mine, a striped tie. Centuries between us, Arthurs lived and died. But this we have in common; We both have loved and cried.

We have wept together, Guinevere and I. For love that shook our being And wrung our spirits dry. Sisters in our sadness, Kin in sorrow's sigh, We have wept together, Guinevere and I. —Good Housekeeping Magazine

Fish Planting In Guadalupe River Improves Fishing

AUSTIN, June 18—Many years ago it was believed that just any old body of water would support fish life. No one gave the matter much thought, but things are different today. Now it is known that fish, like human beings must have proper food and cover if they are to thrive and provide sport for anglers.

The Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission is giving increasing attention to lake and stream management within the means of the limited funds of the department. The latest development is the planting of several species of plants by the thousands in six miles of one of the parts of the Guadalupe River near Kerrville which is open to public fishing. Essentially, the Guadalupe is an excellent example of how overgrazing can affect fishing.

A few years ago the wildlife school of A. & M. College made a study of the Guadalupe River in cooperation with the Kerrville Chamber of Commerce and the Kerr County Wildlife Association. It was found that floods, caused by overgrazing of the watershed, was partially responsible for the decrease in the fish population of the Guadalupe. Later tests made by the aquatic biologists of the Game Department disclosed the fact that there was much more food around the plant life in the river than there was in the barren portions of the stream.

Last year a heavier than usual rainfall made the grass and other vegetation grow more abundantly on the range along the river and thus decreased the problem of overgrazing. This year's rains were equally as heavy, but there was no big flooding of the Guadalupe. The vegetation on the range held back the water in an appreciable amount.

The result of the lack of floods was more vegetation in the river to provide suitable forage pastures for aquatic insects, microscopic food and refuge fish for the more desirable game fishes. The vegetation grew rapidly. Fishing has been better in the Guadalupe this spring than it has been since 1932, when a big flood destroyed much of the vegetation in this clear cool stream in the Hill Country.

Getting the bait to sleep is hardest when she's about eight or nine old.

These business, steadily gaining, will hit the highest peak in its history during the next year. The majority of Texas business experts declare.

Aluminum Salvage Campaign Begun

The Office of Production Management has begun a salvage campaign to collect aluminum cooking utensils and other scrap metals. If successful it may be expanded to a nationwide "pickup" campaign, to begin about July 4. The photo shows three Richmond, Va., residents with their contribution to the "sample" salvage campaign.

Charlie Wiley went to the big city the other day. He caught a ride into town on a cattle truck and paid a visit to the zoo. He wanted to see all those strange animals people had been telling him about.

The first animals he saw were the foxes and raccoons. Charlie knew foxes and raccoons. He'd trapped them and chased them with hounds all his life. He knew the bobcats, too, and the coyotes and the great loafer wolves.

Charlie couldn't resist the urge to emit a chattering insult at the foxes. They took it up immediately rushing about the enclosure and barking angrily at him.

This disturbed the raccoons. They set up a quarrel. Charlie squatted a battling cry at them. They set up a quarrel. Charlie snarled at the bobcats, insulting them in their own language. He cut loose with the wailing, unworldly hunting call of the wolves.

The caged wolves went into a frenzy. The bobcats snarled and hissed. A nearby African lion became aroused and roared out his mighty challenge. This set the ball rolling.

Every creature in the zoo came alive to the threat of danger and let loose with all it had. The great Bengal tigers leaped at their bars, raging. Monkeys scampered to high perches and screamed with wrath and excitement. The bears roared. Parrots chattered and scolded. The elephants roared and moaned and blasted the air with ear-splitting trumpeting.

The total result was a bedlam of horrible sound that belted out in the safe and monotonous confinement of the other sights. It was more than they could stand. They screamed and fled to the dubious safety of their automobiles. They roared away, white of face, stopping at every opportunity to send in repeated alarms to the police, the constables of the zoo, the fire department and the city fathers.

Before any of these urgent and efficient bodies could arrive, Charlie had disappeared. He sat on a curbstone eating peanuts and getting a huge kick out of watching the police and fire engines clang by on their way to the zoo.

Charlie claims he's going back down there some time. He thinks the animals enjoyed his visit.

Charlie is a heartbreaker. He lives with his hounds in a cluttered-camp shack down on Wolf Branch, not so far away. Sometimes Charlie has to move out of his shack while the flood waters of the creek move in, but this isn't so very often.

The old heartbreaker had a girl once, way back yonder, but a milk can kept his romance from ever opening. It seems that this girl was milking a fresh cow one evening and was unable to drive the young and reckless calf out of the pen. Finally she became exasperated, grabbed the little animal by the hind legs, and dragged him out. The next evening she had the same trouble and solved it in the same manner. In a few days both the calf and the girl had become so used to this method that they continued to keep it up and thought no more about it.

But when Charlie came by the cowpen one day at milking time and saw the light of his life slinging a seven-month-old calf out the gate by the hind legs, the sight gave him such a shock that he could never go back.

"What chance," he asked me sadly one day, "would a skinny man like me have with a woman like that in the house?"

One large, four-engined bomber of the type American industry is now building for defense carries up to 11,000 gallons of gasoline when fully loaded for flight. This capacity is more than that of a standard railway tank car. And the gasoline used on a 24-hour mission is about equal to the amount an average automobile would require to make five trips around the world!

STAR LIFELINES

LANA TURNER

Lana Turner is one Hollywood star who made no effort to be one. Hollywood sought Lana. Now the screen's "Sweater Girl" becomes a Glorified Girl and joins the stellar line-up of talent in "Ziegfeld Girl," showing at the Ozona Theatre Sunday and Monday, in the most dramatic role of her career.

When Lana Turner came to Hollywood in 1935 it was because her mother needed the mild climate of Southern California, not because the daughter wanted to be an actress. Lana thought her career as a schoolgirl at Hollywood High School would lead to her goal as a fashion designer. Hollywood decided differently. All it took was an ice cream soda at the corner drug store to turn the trick. A friend of Mervyn LeRoy, happening to be there, took one look at the red-headed girl with her magnolia skin, gray-green eyes and curvaceous figure. He spoke to her, convinced her she should visit the director who was looking for a girl to play the murder victim in "They Won't Forget." Three days later, Lana Turner signed a screen contract.

Virgil and Mildred Turner announced the birth of a six-pound, three-ounce baby daughter on February 8, 1921, in the mining town of Wallace, Idaho. They had already decided to give her an imposing string name. So the baby made her world debut as Julia Jean Mildred Frances Turner. She was affectionately known as

"Judy," and was teased by the neighborhood children as "Candy rots."

At the age of three, Lana with her mother and dad left Wallace for California and settled in San Francisco, where she attended the Convent of the Immaculate Conception. They were a happy family and Lana had a happy childhood. But when she was ten, Virgil Turner died a few days before Christmas. Then started a different routine. Lana found that hard work and sorrow over her father's death had weakened her mother's health. Mother and daughter bought a second-hand car and drove to Hollywood.

It was only a few weeks after their arrival that her chance came. Because Julia Jean Mildred Frances was too long for a marriage, Lana chose "Lana"—and for no other reason but that she liked the sound of it.

Two weeks after the preview of the film, letters flooded LeRoy's office inquiring as to the identity of the "sweater girl" in the picture. Quick to capitalize on the impression, LeRoy cast her in "The Adventures of Marco Polo," then in "The Great Garrick." When LeRoy went to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, he brought Lana with him. Her first role was with Mickey Rooney in "Love Finds Andy Hardy."

Then came roles in "Dramatic School," "Rich Man, Poor Girl," "These Glamour Girls," "Dancing Co-Ed," "Two Girls on Broadway" and "We Who Are Young"

FASHION HINTS

There is something new in our beloved old stand-by, the shirt-waist. Make it of checked taffeta. It is brisk, crisp and sophisticated. You can wear your "dress up accessories" or your most tailored ones.

This is their year — capes. I mean. Try a red one, dress length, or a big plaid with the new shoulder sleeve.

A must for summer is a dark sheer-dress or suit.

An Indian style, the new love of the young crowd is the broomstick skirt. It is any gathered skirt of bright calico and all wrinkled up. You starch it, wring hard, and holding as wrung twist around a broom handle, tying it on at both ends. It takes forever to dry but when it is, shake it out and you'll have a skirt with vertical wrinkles that look "rather like accordion pleating gone slightly mad."

Saddle stitching is back again in style in a big way. It is especially good way to accent pleats and tucks.

Covert is the most important suit fabric and beige the most important color.

Shoulder lines are smoother, rounder, but tailored neatly like a uniform. Hold those shoulders up, up!

Said application was duly transmitted to the General Land Office of the State of Texas and filed by J. H. Walker, Land Commissioner, on June 29, 1934.

The Plaintiff employed J. A. The Third tract, designated as Survey No. 3, for which said Surveyor filed Field Notes in Crockett County, Texas, on June 28, 1934, is described as follows:

"Beginning at the NE Corner of Survey No. 16 and the SW corner of Survey No. 18, GC&SF RR Co., Blk. 1;

The three sets of field notes above described, covering Surveys Nos. 1, 2, and 3, respectively, were filed by the Plaintiff in the General Land Office of the State of Texas on June 29, 1934.

By reason of the Application for Survey to Purchase and the Survey and Field Notes duly filed by the Plaintiff in Crockett County, Texas, and in the General Land Office in Austin, Texas, as above set out, the Plaintiff became and is entitled to purchase said land at its reasonable value, exclusive of any value that may be attributed to the minerals contained in said land, and this suit is brought under the authority of the Statutes of the State of Texas, now in effect, pertaining to such matters, of fixing the Plaintiff's right to purchase said land. The various Defendants named herein own or claim lands or interests in lands which border upon the areas covered by the three sets of Field Notes, hereinabove set out, and there is a conflict between the boundaries claimed by said Defendants and the boundaries set out by said Field Notes, so that Defendants are brought into this lawsuit, as required by the Statutes of the State of Texas, for the purpose of determining the correct boundaries of the areas that the Plaintiff has applied to purchase, and for the purpose of determining the existence of said areas as unsurveyed and unappropriated State School Land. The Plaintiff says that the Field Notes above set out correctly mark the boundaries of the unappropriated State School Land that the Plaintiff has applied to purchase and that he is entitled to a judgment against all of the Defendants herein, fixing the boundaries of State Lands in accordance with the field notes herein set out and decreeing that he, the Plaintiff, has the right to purchase said land from the State.

WHEREFORE, Some of the Defendants and the Attorney General of the State of Texas having been heretofore served herein, the Plaintiff asks that as to those Defendants who have not been served herein, Citations issue herein to all of the Defendants residing in Texas, and that Notices to serve non-residents issue herein, as required by law, and for Citation by Publication as to those Defendants who are non-residents of the State of Texas or whose residences are unknown, and to the unknown heirs, devisees, and personal representatives of such parties, and that upon final hearing hereof, the Plaintiff have a Judgment fixing the boundaries of the area of unsurveyed State School Land, in accordance with the several sets of field notes herein pleaded, and adjudging the right of the Plaintiff as against all of the Defendants to purchase said land from the State, for costs of Court, and for general and special relief.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, And have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Ozona, Texas, this, the 3rd day of June, A. D. 1941.

NAZI "PEACE" MOVES

The "concerted campaign" in the Paris newspapers urging mediation by the United States is of course inspired from Berlin. The journals in question have no independent existence and, besides, are censored by the Nazi rulers of occupied France. The purpose only may be guessed at; yet only two guesses are admissible. Either the purpose is to divide and confuse the American and British peoples, according to the well-known Nazi technic. Or it is actually to invite American mediation to bring hostilities to at least a temporary halt. If the latter is the true purpose, as it obviously well may be, the outcome is fairly evident. It is unlikely the Washington Government will make any move of the kind suggested without the approval of the British government. And the British government is unlikely to approve anything of the sort at this time. A peace effort at this time would find Germany victorious on all fronts, the British as universally on the defensive.—Detroit News.
