Search For Lost Plane Centered at Ozona Airport

Ozona's Municipal Airport has been the focal point for a search for a missing aircraft piloted by John Tatum of Pecos since early Thursday morning. Tatum left a San Antonio airport in his blue and white Piper Comanche Tuesday afternoon and has not been heard from since.

Bulletin—Wreckage of the plane with the pilot's body pinned inside was found Tuesday in rough country 26 miles west of Sanderson.

After a check of all airports in the state failed to reveal news of the craft, Group 16 of the Civil Air Patrol set up a radio watch at the Ozona airport late Wednesday. By daybreak Thursday, eight aircraft had been deployed to search the air route between San Antonio and Pecos. Since Tatum did not file a flight plan upon leaving the San Antonio airport, the search was widened during the week.

The first few days of the search were concentrated between here and Pecos with the last few days search covering the area between here and San Antonio. Planes from all over the state joined in the search Saturday and Sunday.

In a personal interview with the Stockman late Sunday, Joe Johnson, Commander of Group 16, CAP, said during the search they had checked out dozens of ground leads but that all had been negative. He said the mission here would be closed down temporarily at sundown. However, he said that the patrol was by no means abandoning the search and would be waiting new leads. Commander Johnson specifically asked that any hunter, rancher or anyone who thought they might have any information in regard to the missing plane get in touch with him at the Estor County Courthouse in Odessa. He said this might be done by calling the local sheriff's department where radio contact could be established immediately or by telephoning. He expressed his appreciation to everyone who had contributed their help during the mission.

After the luncheon, a style show was presented featuring the younger set wearing woolen garments handmade and knitted. Models were Kay and Cliff McMullan, Gail and Rick Hunnicutt, Leanne Arledge and Jennifer Marley.

U.S. Geological Survey Field Party Here For Topographic Map Work

Eleven field parties of the U. S. Geological Survey are based at Ozona, Sonora and Iraan and engaged in surveying operations for the preparation of new topographic maps of approximately 3000 square miles. The area lies west of mapping accomplished recently in the vicinity of Sonora. The new area has never been mapped by the Geological Survey and extends roughly from a line at Sonora to a line west of Iraan and when complete and published it will become a part of the standard topographic atlas of the United States.

Included in the crew working out of Ozona are Ferrell L. Gregg, the Project Engineer; Thomas C. Burger, Project Supervisor; William Chirnside, James G. Devitt, Charles F. Dickinson, William N. Runnels, Tom W. Stovall. Three additional are working for Sonora, Messrs. Kenneth D. Cox, Project Supervisor, Joe Palagay and Charles R. Hughes. Several parties will be working from Iraan. Temporary field offices have been established in the Miller Shopping Center in Ozona and in downtown Sonora where the crews will make their headquarters while completing the six-months job.

The finished topographic maps are published in rectangular sheets called quadrangles. They show roads, trails, houses, political boundaries and other man-made features as well as lakes, ponds, stream courses and their water features.

In addition, these maps depict the shape and slope of the land surface, its hills and valleys and give its altitude above sea level. Quadrangle maps of adjacent areas can be joined to show any desired area such as a city, a county or a school district.

Topographic maps serve as a basis for the study and solution of many problems relating to activities that are affected by the character and relief of the earth's surface.

One of the principal uses in the oil company application is in the building of area and county sub-surface maps. Elevations and configurations on the topographic map are used as base material on the sub-surface maps by oil companies to plot formation lows and highs. ## Thompson Home Threatened As Gas Line Breaks

Mrs. Roy Thompson narrowly escaped being badly when in moving her kitchen range for the purpose of cleaning behind it, the connection broke and escaping gas was ignited from the pilot lights.

The flame caught her hair and robe on fire but she had the presence of mind to smother the flames with a damp cup towel and then call the fire department. Dousing the blaze with water, she managed to contain it until the firemen arrived upon the scene and cut off the gas.

Most of the damage was confined to the kitchen with smoke and water damage. The wall behind the stove was scorched, but did not catch fire.

Firemen were called to Crockett Heights Thursday afternoon to extinguish a flaming auto. However, the blaze was out when they arrived.

Crockett Gains Discovery; Gas Field Extended

An unidentified discovery, possibly Clearfork, was indicated in Crockett County with the recovery of three feet of high gravity oil and the flowing of gas at the maximum rate of 2.9 million cubic feet, decreasing to 1.62 million cubic feet daily, on a drillstem test at Chambers & Kennedy, Midland, No. 1 Amacker, in 35-31-H&TC, 1 1/2 miles west-southwest and the same distance west-northwest of lower Leonard multipay field, seven miles south of McCamey.

Tool was open three hours on the test taken between 4,460-97 feet. Flowing pressure was 211 pounds; 30-minute initial and final shut-in pressures were 2,270 and 2,167 pounds, respectively.

Drilling continued below 4,570 feet in dolomite on a 6,500-foot contract.

NO CHRISTMAS TREES

Inflation and scarcity has hit the Christmas tree sources, according to Coon Chandler, Ozona dealer, who has for the past number of years trucked Christmas trees from New Mexico and Colorado forests. Prices of trees at the source had skyrocketed to such an extent that Chandler felt it would be uneconomical to attempt to bring them here for sale.

THINGS CHANGE, PEOPLE TOO

Since politics nowadays is largely the fine art of projecting a powerful or even overwhelming personality, it is only natural that there should be much discussion of one of the foremost practitioners of this art — Bobby Kennedy.

The junior Senator from Boston, Virginia and New York is, without a question, a phenomenon, with a fantastic following among teenagers. But puzzling to some political observers is the manner in which his managers go out of their way to pack the Senator's audiences with these enthusiastic moppets. Some say it is for theatrical effect, and is used with the same kind of showmanship that has been employed by press agents for Frank Sinatra and the Beatles. Others say that isn't so at all, that Bobby is well aware that these kids will be old enough to vote in a few years, and just when he will doubtless be making the Big Try for the Big Job.

If the latter school of thought is correct, we think he ought to talk to a few parents. That is, parents outside the Kennedy family. They'd probably tell him that there is nothing as unpredictable and as fickle as a teen-ager. As proof they might show him some of those Davy Crockett coonskin caps that were the rage only a few short years ago. Or some of those Batman items that were much in evidence only a few weeks ago.

Indeed, at the risk of being burned at the stake by furious teen-agers, we wonder if records by the Beatles will be selling as well next year as they are at present.

However, as the saying goes, "that's show business," and since Bobby is using show-biz techniques he may lose some of his audience by the time that audience can do him any good. Dubious observers say this is likely to happen for another reason. They point out that despite that unruly, boyish mop of hair and those flashing teeth, Bobby is 47 years old. Will today's youthful admirers love him in December as they do now in say, October?

Or will the moppets of 1972 be hootin' and hollerin' for someone else with another kind of hairdo? It might be, you know, that shaved heads will be the vogue in 1972.

Further than which, these are times which call for a political leader, not a cheer-

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor and friends, Maine is a beautiful country and the people are quite friendly. They have really made us feel at home, however, we have really missed all our friends and are still homesick for Ozona and Texas. Guess our roots grew deeper than we thought during our eight years in Ozona.

We anxiously await the Stockman each week and read it line for line. Makes us feel that we are there with you. We are hoping Uncle Sam will see fit to send us back to Texas soon.

The weather here has been lovely, not at all what we had expected. It seems strange to see on the news casts that much of the country is having snow and bad weather. We had snow for about an hour last week, but it melted as soon as it hit the ground. However, we are prepared with fur-lined boots, coats and gloves. We even have a teflon shovel, snow doesn't stick to it.

If any of you ever get up this way, make it a point to get by to see us.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Max Morris Janet and Diana
Mr. Morris, former senior officer at the Ozona border patrol station, was transferred to Houlton, Maine, a few months ago. We enjoyed hearing from them and felt that many of you would also.

New Power Lines To Connect WTU And CP-L System

Work has been started on the construction of an 81-mile extension of West Texas Utilities Company's 138,000-volt transmission system that will connect the Company's new $10 million San Angelo Power Station to the 138,000-volt transmission system of Central Power & Light Company at the Sutton - Val Verde county line.

"When placed in operation in May, 1967," states R. W. Hardy, WTU president, "the new interconnection of the two systems will provide additional transmission line facilities for the exchange of large blocks of electric power during peak load periods or in a case of emergency if additional power should be needed on short notice."

The new interconnection will be of mutual benefit to the customers of both investor-owned companies and is a part of the company's continuing policy of planning and building ahead for the future growth and development of the West Texas area."

Central Power & Light Company is now clearing the right-of-way through Val Verde County from Del Rio north to the point of interconnection and is scheduled to start construction soon on some 64 miles of 138,000-volt transmission line that will connect two high voltage transmission systems.

Already in operation are two 69,000-volt transmission lines which have been used for a number of years for the exchange of electric power between the two companies. One starts at McCamey going through Iraan and on to an interconnection at the Crockett - Val Verde county line south of Ozona. The other runs from Big Lake through Ozona and Sonora to another interconnection at the Sutton-Edwards county line southeast of Sonora.

WTU's segment of the new line will start at the switching station of the San Angelo Power Station and will run almost due south, passing Christoval on the east. It will continue on south, running east of Eldorado and on to Sonora, where a new 138,69 KV substation will be built. From the new substation the line will run due south to the Sutton - Val Verde county line.

The first 61 miles from the San Angelo Power Station to Sonora will be built by the R. S. Goodman Construction Company of Denison, and the contract for the remaining 20 miles will be awarded in the near future.

The contract calls for the new line to be H-frame construction with X-braces and two overhead shield wires and 477 MCM aluminum conductor, steel reinforced. Each structure will have from 60 to 65-foot poles with round spar arms. It will require about 700 structures to complete the 81 miles of line.

EDITORIAL

By Patsy Walker

What is that old student council spirit? How do we know whether we have it? How does it affect a school?

The best school is one in which the student council works actively in cooperation with the student body, the faculty, the administration, and the community for the betterment of the school; but the effectiveness of the council is felt first of all in spirit.

This spirit is a feeling that you as a group can solve just about any problem. It's a feeling of confidence and pride in your group. It's an air of optimism; after all you'll achieve just about what you think you can.

This spirit is manifested always when each person does his very best, no matter how great or small the job. When progress is slow, it is remembering that great roads, bridges, and buildings are built one step at a time. If the student council spirit exists, you can improve communications, work for and get material benefits, give leadership training, and can succeed in just about any area in which the council has the power to operate.

You will need that old spirit. Do your best to get it!

A TURKEY'S VIEW OF THANKSGIVING

By Connie Bradford

"Well, here it is Thanksgiving again. This time of year is so nerve-racking! You wait and hide and hide and wait, scared to death every time you see a man walk up! It's been like this every year since my great grandparents came over on the Mayflower. Darn those Indians — if they hadn't been such hogs we wouldn't have to be going through this today. On Thanksgiving, every family in the United States thinks they have to have turkey, just because of some old tradition! Don't they think we'd like to enjoy Thanksgiving too? But no, we can't, we're too worried that we're going to be enjoyed for Thanksgiving dinner.

I remember last year when I was just a little poult. I didn't have anything to worry about then. A turkey has to weigh at least 15 pounds before he's even considered for Thanksgiving dinner. I only weighed three and a half pounds, but poor Mother, God rest her soul, they finally got her. It was horrible! I heard the men talking later, though. They said she was the best turkey they'd ever eaten, so I guess all was not lost.

I'm just the right size now 17 1/2 lbs. That's what worries me! Why did I have to go and eat all those goodies the men were handing out? I should've known it was a trick to fatten me up!

And it's too late to diet, so I guess when they come for death face to face, like a man. But I'd sure like to be around to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner, too!

ACHIEVEMENT TESTS SLATED FOR NEXT WEEK

Wednesday morning, students will go to their first period class, and testing will begin second period, 9:15, in the assigned testing rooms. After the two tests are completed, students will return to their regular class schedule, beginning with fourth period.

The room assignments for the achievement tests are as follows:

DRAPEY DOLDRUMS
DAMPEN HOLIDAYS

This is the time of year when friendly folks give much time and effort toward planning holiday pleasures. Stores are gaily decorated and colored lights brighten the evening streets. Everyone is thinking of the gift-giving season ahead.

In all this fun and preparation, however, one of the best and most practical presents of all is often overlooked. Holiday plans often omit a shot in the arm for household fabrics.

According to Arthur Kyle of Kyle Kleeners drapes and slipcovers have been receiving a steady build-up of grease and dust. This dulls their appearance and may make your home look drab at the one special time you want to show it off.

Mr. Kyle suggests that a quick trip in for cleaning will refresh these household fabrics and give them renewed sparkle. Colors will be brighter and your spirits will be lighter. Your friends will marvel at your ability to lead such an active life and still keep your home shining.

When A Man Gives Thanks...

When a man gives thanks he is recognizing how small a part he himself has contributed to this world's abundance.

When a man gives thanks he is expressing his affection for and his dependence on those who constantly share the experiences of his life.

When a man gives thanks he is laying aside his discontentments to rejoice in the more numerous and more meaningful satisfactions that have marked each passing day.

When a man gives thanks he is escaping from the webs of pride, greed and self-addition that could otherwise imprison his soul.

When a man gives thanks he is meeting God on God's own ground. For God is God! And we are His children.

When a man gives thanks he is discovering his greater need. For all that God has provided is but the threshold to all that God promises.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Veteran Pension Recipients To Get Questionnaires

Income questionnaires which determine the amount of pension a veteran or his dependents receive from the Veterans Administration will be included in the November payments this year, P. J. Mims, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Houston said today.

Recipients of VA pensions are required to return the income questionnaire before January 31, 1967, in order that their pensions may be continued. Pensions vary according to the amount of income a veteran has from other sources.

VA pensions go to persons who have become totally disabled from other than service-incurred causes.

The questionnaires also go to parents of deceased veterans who are receiving dependency and indemnity compensation.

The VA asks that the forms be returned as soon as possible and that care be taken to see that the card does not become folded or mutilated. It is to be used in automatic machines that require the card to be flat and intact.

By A. R. Rutherford

Dueling was once the most popular sport in America and for about a hundred years it was the accepted method for settling arguments. Two of the most famous Americans to duel on the field of honor were Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr. Hamilton was mortally wounded. Finally in the nineteenth century, a foolish argument between two members of Congress ended the sport of dueling. Congressmen Graves and Cilley had a heated argument and challenged each other. Cilley was killed, and public opinion was so outraged over such a senseless murder that Congress passed a law that banned dueling.

ers use the material as aids in plotting roads, towns and striking features on oil feature maps.

Outside the oil industry, the problems may involve mineral or water resources prospecting and mining, engineering construction of all kinds, location of industrial sites, urban planning, military requirements and recreation.

Although any one mapping operation may be partially related to a particular development program or specific need, the topographic work is done essentially because these maps have a general purpose value and because it is sound economy to have them on hand for any specific planning that future developments or investigations might require.

The most modern engineering methods available are employed in the preparation of these maps. Aerial photography and precise photogrammetric instruments are used as part of the basic mapping process but field surveys are still required at two stages. The first of these is to establish control points, that is elevations above sea level and also geographic positions. The second is to check the accuracy of the map as drawn from the photographs and to complete the classification and identification of buildings, roads, streams, boundaries, and other features. The control surveys and photo identification work is under way in this area.

Thousands of topographic maps are published by the Geological Survey and millions of copies are distributed annually. Most of the Quadrangle maps are sold for 50¢ per copy and may be ordered from the Geological Survey headquarters located at the Denver Federal Center, Denver, Colo. Available without charge are state indexes showing areas covered by published maps, a folder describing maps, and a brochure entitled "The Geological Survey."

Copies of the aerial photos and geodetic control lists used for this mapping are available at nominal charge from the Region Office in Denver, Colorado.

Landowners in the area will be contacted and it will be appreciated if you can assist the field parties engaged on these surveys, Mr. Gregg said.

Mrs. George Montgomery joined Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Montgomery of Fort Stockton in San Angelo Monday, where they left for Ft. Worth to spend this week.

The Ozona Woman's Forum will meet at the Civic Center December 6 with the entertainment committee as hostesses. Mrs. Sherman Taylor will be guest day speaker.

Since cigarette manufacturers have had to put a warning on every package that their product might wreck your health, I think it only fair that after every one of these bubbly beer commercials the brewer should have to warn that his product might wreck your life and cause great harm to your loved ones.
