Test Indicates Ellenburger Oil In Gulf-Williams

Sixth Ellenburger oil producer and 3/4-mile northwest extension to that pay has been assured on the south side of the Holt Ranch multiphase field of Crockett County with the swabbing of 30 barrels of new oil, and eight barrels of formation water in four hours, at Gulf Oil Corp. No. 4 T. D. Williams, et al. in 34-OP-GC&SF, 8 1/2 miles north of Ozona.

Recovery was from open hole between 7,871-901 feet. It then swabbed four barrels of new oil and four barrels of formation water in four hours. All the load plus 41 barrels of new oil and 12 barrels of formation water has been recovered to date.

Summer Library Use Gratifying, Says Librarian

A check with librarian Mildred North this week indicated that summer library activities had been more than worthwhile, with around 200 books circulated weekly all summer long.

Miss North said that children and teen-agers averaged checking out around 150 books a week, with adults accounting for the other 50 or 60 books circulated weekly. She left that "Storytime," a project sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, was responsible for the interest in books by children between the ages of 4 and 10.

Sorority members held a story hour each Saturday morning, taking turns reading to the younger group of children.

Women were responsible for most of the adult circulation, but Miss North said the turn out of male readers had been most gratifying. Most women preferred mystery fiction and best sellers, she said, while men favored history, such as factual accounts of the old west, western novels and mystery fiction.

The library will be open until school begins on the summer schedule and beginning Monday, August 28, library hours will be each Monday and Thursday night from 7 until 9 p. m. During week days the library will be open daily from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. Miss North said the library will be open to the public during school hours and suggested the adult reading room for a nice quiet place to "get away from it all" for an hour or two.

Circulation to the younger children will be closed the 19th in order to return children's books to the elementary libraries before school begins.

Miss North said that many new books had been donated recently and a great many had been given to the library as memorials. The library has received quite a large collection of hard-back mystery novels, but she said there is always room for more with the large circulation.

Miss North expects an even larger circulation of books to the public after school begins and urges everyone to enjoy the library.

Hospital Rates Hiked; Co. Hires Maintenance Man

Upon recommendation of the Hospital Board and the administrator, Lee Rheubottom, room rental rates were ordered raised by the Commissioners Court in meeting this week.

The new rates for patient occupancy will be $17 for a semi-private room and $20 for a private room. Mr. Rheubottom informed the court that the new rates are still below those charged in similar hospitals in area towns.

The Commissioners employed Dudley McCary as the county's building maintenance man. He will be in charge of repairs and maintenance of all buildings owned by the county.

Purchase of two new rescuators for use of the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department was authorized by the court. The new types are much simpler and much less expensive than the old type now in use by the department, the court was told, and are just as effective. Firemen will be schooled in use of the new rescuators and they will be kept with department equipment for use in emergencies.

The court made further examination of the proposed new budget for next year which will be considered at a public hearing as soon as it is in final form.

Production From Canyon Shown In West Re-Entry

Flowing tests of the Canyon sand continued through perforations at 7,484 to 7,356 feet, after injection of 3,000 gallons of mud acid and 30,000 gallons of fracture fluid, in Adobe Oil Co., Midland, (formerly Texota Oil Co.) No. 1-A W. E. West, section 22, block AB, GC&SF survey, former discovery of the North Ozona Ellenburger pool in Crockett County, 12 miles north of Ozona.

It flowed 18 barrels of fluid 75 per cent oil, on latest 24-hour test through 17-64-inch choke.

The wildcard originally was drilled by Brandywine Oil Co. Midland, and completed July 24, 1964, flowing 265 barrels of 40.4 gravity oil daily through 11-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,086 to 8,099 feet, after treatment with 750 gallons of acid. Gas-oil ratio was 975-1.

Texota re-entered the operation, tested a little oil through perforations at 3,953 to 3,998 feet, after injection of 1,000 gallons of acid, and then turned the operation to Adobe for tests of the Canyon.

Work on the first segment of Interstate 10 highway contracted for construction in Crockett county has begun by clearing crews of M. C. Winters, Inc., of Johnson City, successful bidder on the two million dollar contract.

The contract for construction of 8.748 miles on Interstate 10 was awarded recently by the State Highway Department to the Johnson City firm on the low bid of

Teen Trio Help Sheriff Roundup Wanted Hippies

Three alert teenagers, two Ozona boys and a visitor, played detective successfully and were largely responsible for the jailing of a group of questionable characters here Thursday night.

It all began when Gregory Stuart, Philip Perner and Philip's cousin, John Allen, noticed a weird looking vehicle, with some most peculiar slogans and signs painted boldly all over it, stopped at the red light. On closer inspection, they discovered five even more peculiar looking characters on the inside. The long haired group told the local youths they were looking for a church in order to get money for gasoline to get on down the road.

Becoming suspicious, the three boys followed the group at a discreet distance and observed them trying to enter the back of the Methodist Church. However, when they spied the local sleuths, they quickly made off and were at James Motor Co. when their trail was again picked up by the amateur detectives.

Taking up station at the Dairy King, the local boys saw the group drive to the Church of Christ, where one of them went in. After waiting a bit, the boys saw him come out with something that looked, according to Stuart, like a check and off they went.

After a hurried conference, Stuart, Perner and Allen, decided that the out-of-towners were definitely up to no good and decided to investigate and see if anything was missing from the church. They found no signs that anything was missing from the church, but they also ascertained that no check had been written at the church to get the young bunch of $2,543,640.03 submitted by Winters on the project. Contract work will include grading, structures, flexible base, asphaltic concrete paving and signs on the stretch of 4-lane highway.

The county's first section of super highway will be from a point 6.6 miles east of Ozona to the Crockett-Sutton county line, a distance of 8.748 miles. The section of IS 10 from the Sutton-Crockett county line to Sonora is presently under construction and when that contract and that now beginning in Crockett county are complete, 20 miles of the highway will be completed between Ozona and Sonora.

The point 6.6 miles east of Ozona is at the intersection of U. S. 290 and the Taylor Box road. The contract to Winters, Inc., will include the construction of an overpass to take the Taylor Box road over IS 10, together with the access roads.

The contractor has begun the work of clearing and grubbing the right of way in preparation for the beginning of the actual grading work, W. F. Dixon, Resident Engineer with the State Highway Department office here, announced. He said that this work will require two or three weeks, after which the contractor is expected to begin moving in heavy machinery and crews of workers.

Mr. Dixon also announced a pre-construction conference with the contractors to be held at 10 o'clock Friday morning of this week at the highway engineer's office.

At these pre-construction conferences, highway engineering staff men and the contractors work out detailed planning for the construction project, including detours, handling and routing of traffic, availability of materials and other matters so that a clear understanding is reached between interested parties.

The contract calls for completion of the stretch of highway in 275 working days, according to J. A. Snell, District Highway Engineer at San Angelo, who has overall supervision of highway construction work in this district.

Grade Schoolers To Be Enrolled On Opening Day

Elementary grade school pupils in both the North and South elementary schools will be enrolled Monday morning, August 28, the opening day of school, and will attend a full day of classes that day, Foy Moody, principal of the North Elementary school, and M. A. Barber of South Elementary, announced this week.

Pupils will report to their classes at 8:15 a. m. for enrollment and class assignment.

Parents who have children to enroll in the first grade were reminded that a child is eligible for the first grade if he is 6 years old before October 1, 1967. Likewise, a child must have reached his 5th birthday before October 1 to be eligible for kindergarten enrollment.

All kindergarten enrollees must have birth certificates, as well as first graders who did not attend kindergarten in Ozona last year.

LICENSE TO LOOT

The word passed quickly. The Detroit looters realized instantly that it would take hours to recall off-duty police not scheduled for early Sunday morning duty.

In Newark, New Jersey, a moving van moved slowly through the riot-torn streets stopped before a furniture store. The back doors were opened, chains were uncoiled and attached to the iron gratings protecting the display windows. The truck latched forward tearing the gratings from the building front. Quickly the plate glass windows were smashed and men systematically filled the moving van with furniture and drove away, unmolested.

Down the street a corner liquor store which had served the neighborhood for a quarter century was invaded. Before night's end a quiet, elderly couple who had no enemies in the town was wiped out. Every bottle in the building was carried out. Then the light fixtures hanging from the ceiling. Finally, the shelves themselves.

In midtown New York City, marauding youths stormed a fashionable men's clothing store on Fifth Avenue. The prize loot: men's sweaters priced in the $50 range. Who took them? Men wearing $50 sweaters they had bought in the same store weeks earlier.

These were the looters. One might fill this entire newspaper with authenticated cases. In some instances the looters carried expensive transistor radios which had been professionally improved with a special attachment which permitted the owner to hear all police-band radio calls.

There comes to mind a disaster which struck many years ago when a river ran riot. It was an "Act of God." Not man. The National Guard was moved in, and the first order from the Governor's office was "looters will be shot on sight."

There was no exception. There were no conditions. Age, sex, color mattered not. From childhood it has always seemed that this was, indeed, the law of the land. For what crime could be more despicable than to carry off the property of those already the victims of disaster. And how much more despicable to cause the disaster and then loot!

No governor, to our knowledge, has issued any such order concerning looters. And until one governor does, and others follow suit, cities large and small in every one of the 50 States will be looted.

GUIDING LIGHT

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

With no Negro demonstrations riots to speak of, the news media has recently declared war on the Congress not declaring war on rats.

It all started when the House turned down a $40-million down payment on a rat eradication project. Columnists dusted off their encyclopedias, viewed with alarm, and vowed to expose the reactionaries who had been particeps criminis to alleged protection of rattus norvegicus. Only old bearded Uncle Sam, they reasoned, really knew how to kill 'em.

During debate a nose member embarrassed proponents a bit by reminding that there were already four federal agencies engaged in rat-killing, and he reckoned that if these agencies needed more to use on that war on rodents they could get it.

Three days after the House balked, Governor Rockefeller of New York threw a monkey wrench into the machinery by announcing he was setting aside $4 1/2-million a year on non-federal New York money for a total war on the rodents, looking to total elimination and eradication." The Federal money lovers thought that was when they needed to close close ranks and present a solid front. He was obviously out of step with "progress."

In Detroit the rat problem has been licked. That city's building code requires "rat walls" in all buildings that could harbor rats, and all modern techniques are employed in the battle. And — of all things — it was done with local money. "Perish the thought!" screamed the hand-out brigade.

It's stylish these days to go to Washington for money to pay for every conceivable local need. Besides, if means good jobs for local sponsors. Hence the attack on Congress for blocking the raiding party. Just you wait and see, they wanted. The people will never stand for this inexcusable conduct!

Admittedly the House action has made a lot of people unhappy. Harlem's notorious Negro agitator, Jesse Gray, brought a hundred ratty-looking gooks to the Capitol, strong-armed their way into the House gallery amid shouts of "We shall not be moved! We want a rat bill — not a riot bill!" But they were moved. Police had to drag 'em out, and sent eight to jail.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Forehand and two children, Bobby and Debbie, flew here in his Mooney plane from Madera, Calif., late last week for a few days visit with relatives. Mrs. Roy Miller, Bill's aunt, flew back with them for a two weeks vacation in California.

Bill Forehand was graduated from Ozona High School. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Forehand, former Ozonans. He is the Buick dealer in Madera.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie Lock left Saturday for a 2-weeks vacation in California. Their first stop will be Disneyland, as they will be accompanied by their grandchildren and daughter-in-law.

Common Sense On Slums

In proposing a domestic Marshall Plan to rid the nation of slums and slum problems, including guerrilla war in the streets of America Vice President Hubert Humphrey ignores human and economic realities. Disasters such as the terrible riot in Detroit cannot be stopped by vastly increasing public spending. Slums cannot be eliminated by federal expenditures, for buildings don't make slums; people make slums.

Indeed one of the lessons of the Detroit tragedy is that anti-poverty programs don't constitute insurance for American cities against the ravages of rioters, looters and arsonists. Detroit had king-size anti-poverty programs in operation when the rioting broke out. Street revolutionaries, who destroyed approximately half a billion dollars worth of property, were not inhibited in their terrorism by government handouts.

Unfortunately, the liberals still rely on public spending as a cure-all. Like the Bourbon kings of old, they learn nothing and forget nothing. After the initial shock of the rioting, they are back at the old stand, calling for more public spending to prevent further outbreaks. The New York Times, for example, speaks of "the urban poor condemned to the slums." It sees huge outlays of cash as the avenue to municipal peace.

These are fallacies. In the first place, no American is "condemned" to a slum. He may live in one, but he can escape by hard work. No country in the world offers such economic opportunity or social mobility for people on the bottom sill of life. The history of America is the history of hard-working people who get ahead. Generations of Americans have started with nothing, and made a comfortable place for themselves in their communities.

Why is it one group of Americans in today's cities seem to be stalled? It is not a lack of opportunity. Never before has there been so much free education. Jobs are abundant. But education and job opportunities are useless if there is no will to learn and no desire to work, if government teaches one that it is entitled to an endless variety of handouts and special privileges. This is what Big Government has been preaching in recent years. This is the philosophy of the liberals.

It is not surprising, therefore, that one group now apparently believes that it has no obligation to pull itself up by its own bootstraps, that this is a duty of government or social assistance agencies. And as government, in the last analysis, really is unable to uplift a people to the level of self-reliant citizens, the handout-happy people become resentful and bitter. They feed on the emotional diet dished out by communists and fellow-travelers.

The liberal doctrine of social "revolution" in a few years has been translated into an imagined right to riot and loot. Those who have been taught that they are poor because Society let them down are now rapidly gaining the idea that they don't have to pay for goods — that all they need do is throw a brick through a plateglass window and reach in and grab a color TV set.

The classical definition of this situation in Anarchy. Civilized societies have to arm themselves against this situation — literally as well as in terms of political understanding. Thus the first step for restoration of decency in America's cities is a massive strengthening of the law enforcement agencies and the laws under which they operate.

Before the blight of slums can be removed, slum-dwellers must acquire a new outlook. They must regain the respect for law that has been eroded in recent years. The best way to rebuild such respect is by full and prompt prosecution of promoters of insurrection such as Stokely Carmichael, former head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee. Carmichael showed is true colors when he surfaced in Havana, threatened vengeance against the of the United States described Chinese Dictator Mao as his "idol."

Carmichael and posties of urban riots must be understood that economic advances be made within work of law and respect for law and hard work are re the hearts of dis tizens then — and — will it be post- minate slums.

Recipe of the Week From Kitty's Kitchen

Beer-Braised Round of Beef

- 2-pound slice of top round steak
1/4 teas. salt
1/4 teas. pepper
2 tbs. flour
3 tbs. butter or margerine
1 clove of garlic crushed
1 large onion sliced thin
1/2 cups of beer
1/2 cup of water
1 sprig parsley
1 sprig thyme
1 stalk celery cut in 3 or 4 pieces
1 bay leaf

Cooking with beer, as so much of the Flemish cooking is done is almost always a highly successful way to add flavor to a dish, even for people who strongly dislike beer alone.

Mix salt, pepper and flour and pound it into the meat as you would for Swiss steak. Heat 1lbs. of the butter in a heavy skillet and brown the meat quickly on both sides. Remove it to a shallow casserole. Add remaining butter to the skillet and lightly saute the onion and garlic. Stir in the beer and water and bring to a boil. Pour over the meat in casserole, add parsley, thyme, celery and bay leaf, cover, and bake in a 275 degree oven about 1 1/2 hours, or until tender. (Use aluminum foil to make a cover.)

Drain the liquid into a saucepan and thicken it a bit if you prefer. Pour back over the meat and heat another 5 minutes if the meat has cooled a bit. Serves 4 to 6.

happiness is a high hill

It had been a long climb. For various reasons, we were all glad to get to the top of the hill. Jackie rolled down, over and over, to the inviting creek at the bottom. Sally bolted off to climb the neighbor's fence and croon to the colts pastured there. Baby saw the buttercups and struggled to get down. Jack dreamed over the rich soil of the south forty, while I was drawn by the tall-spired church in the valley.

We're happy in the home we've built on that hill. We've a dog and a cat and swings for the children. Summers, we race down the hill to cool off in the creek. Winters, we get the sled out and take it singing down the slope.

The kitchen windows frame a lovely view of the valley and our church. On Sunday mornings, when its deep-throated bells call us clearly to worship, we go down the hill together to its doors. We enter reverently and joyfully, knowing that much of our happiness and security stems from God's love.

Wherever your church may be; in valley, on hill, or city street, you will find the same glorious opportunity to sustain and strengthen your faith.

Mad Rush Here — Talented Husband-Wife Team Pick Ozona Headquarters For Fashion Design And Commercial Art Work

If you are wondering what is going on behind the green curtains in the old Baker building, it is an energetic husband and wife team, Terry and Reg Manning, creating fashions, giving instruction and doing beautiful fashion layouts for newspapers, magazines and catalogs.

The Mannings were hard at work a few years ago in Dallas, climbing the ladder of success and keeping up with the furious pace of the city when they decided to get out and head for open country. They headed west.

They rented the building several months ago and Reg surrounded himself with bolts of beautiful material and brown paper, from which he sketches his own patterns, while Terry works away in a little office in the back which is cluttered with the paints, brushes and sketching materials so necessary to the commercial artist.

At present they are busy with a back to school promotion for a leading ladies wear store in San Angelo. They have done Christmas catalog for one of the leading department stores in Dallas for many years. For the very first time, incidentally, where Reg is advertising director before coming west.

They have been doing the designing for El Dorado Station and Charles Dickey's new free laneing in other design work.

Terry has been instructing in classes twice a week during the summer. She plans another schedule of classes when school begins and is looking forward to larger class.

The Mannings present a happy picture, with none of the worry and fatigue lines of big city advertising executives or fashion designers. Unlike a site as Ozona seems for their particular professions, they seem to fit well into the niche they have created for themselves. And, needless to say, they are quite an asset to Ozona.

Bill, 15, showed his mare to first place in the halter division and was 9th in western pleasure class. Chuck won 9th in showmanship and 8th in reining in the top-rated show. Mr. Bergfeld served as county agent here for several years before World War II.

I guess I could be wrong, but I thought the riots began before the National Guard was called out. Oh Well, guess they couldn't come right out and put the blame on the thugs that started it all. Wouldn't be sporting and might sound rather anti-civil rights. So much for that committee.

hippies on down the road. Stuart had taken the California license number down and decided they should report to the Sheriff. In no time at all Sheriff Billy Mills had five youths in custody and a check with California authorities confirmed suspicions that the car was a stolen vehicle. The nineteen-year-old driver of the vehicle admitted stealing the car. He picked up two teenage youths in Arizona and two more in El Paso.

The youth, Frank F. Duncan, who gave his address as Miami, Beach, Fla., was turned over to the FBI on charges of violating the Dyer Act, transporting a stolen vehicle across state lines. The car remains impounded here in custody of the sheriff.

Two of the youths were investigated by the F B I for having no draft cards, both with juvenile records, but all have been released. One, an 18-year-old French youth, who had a round-trip ticket from Paris, France, to New York City spoke no English. However, officers found his passport in order and discovered that after arriving in New York, he had visited Canada, the midwest and western states by hitchhiking rides. He is presently making his way back to New York and hitched a ride out of town with the other innocent hitch-hiker. He was delighted when the Sheriff's department brought in a young college girl student of French to explain to him in his native tongue what was going on.

Since the car was stolen July 8, the thief had been getting handouts at various churches along the way by use of a number of calling cards from churches, along with pictures of the pastors. An abundant supply of almost every denomination was found in his personal effects.

The three young "heros" were awarded a steak dinner for their efficiency by Sheriff Mills.
