Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

I never dreamed the response to my plea for empty cigarette packages would be so great. Yesterday at noon I had over the 600 mark and I am sure we will have a thousand by send-off time (next week).

Smokers and non-smokers alike have been doing their share and I am just overwhelmed.

I can't begin to list all the contributors, but Burt Adkins brought the biggest number at one time, 101. He had picked them up at the drive-in movie. He told me we ever had a drive for empty beer bottles to let him have more empty beer bottles to use at the movie. This is just further proof that Ozona, "Biggest Little Town in the World," has the biggest-hearted people in the world living within.

Property valuations for tax purposes in Crockett County are going to be raised this year. This is because the school needs more money and under the present system, the county government cannot allot a larger portion of tax collections to the school. This is the first reason we got for the raise. Then another county official says the county also needs more money to balance its budget because of the estimated dollar drop in valuations for this year.

The entire thing is too complicated for me, as I get a different answer to the question every time I ask. I will have to go along with those who advocate an independent school district. Then an elected official came down at a meeting once a month and makes more money than a teacher who works in the classroom five days a week for nine months and is a definite lack of reality.

— K K —

Good grief! If this heat and humidity continues, I'm going to be forced to move to Alaska. I can never remember such miserably hot days in June, to say nothing of the days. If this is the portent, we are going to have a dreadfully uncomfortable summer. We have no effective cooling in our house. It's always worked for us before, but the ten days it's cooler to get it off and open all the doors and windows.

— K K —

I had forgotten how Little Leagueers chew bubble gum. The big leaguers chew tobacco. However, I remembered it when I got home Friday night after taking the team pictures. I didn't get out of the car. My foot was stuck to the accelerator and the other to the brake pedal. Oh well.

— K K —

Anyway, in spite of the fact that I am a lousy photographer, the pictures turned out fine. I have several sets of all the teams with the exception of Flying W. Someone came in and bought every last one of them. They are for sale at a price of 25c each as long as they last. I might even be persuaded to print some of the Ranchers if there is anyone who just can't have one.

— K K —

Have you seen those horrible one-minute commercials on television put out by the American Cancer Society? They are most upsetting to a citizen.

Perner Injured When Truck Hits Cow In Highway

A 1968 Dodge pickup, driven by Paul Perner, III, collided with a black cow in the middle of State 163 about 15 miles south of Ozona at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, sending Perner to the hospital with multiple abrasions.

The pickup was a total wreck. So was the cow.

After hitting the cow, the pickup, traveling north, swerved to the right, sheered off a guard post, overturned and landed on the right of way fence. Perner was thrown from the vehicle and skidded along the highway, inflicting painful abrasions on his body. He was given emergency treatment in the Crockett County hospital and then transferred to a San Angelo hospital for further treatment. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Perner of Ozona.

Another vehicle-beast collision on the same highway, but nine miles farther south, at 4:30 a. m. Monday morning resulted in no injuries but about $350 damage to a 1969 Ford driven by O. L. Prymell, Jr., of Levelland.

Prymell was traveling south when a deer jumped in front of his car. The car hit the deer but Prymell was able to bring it to a stop without further damage. He was not injured. The deer was the only casualty.

Both accidents were investigated by Highway Patrolman Orvil Perry.

Night Swimming Mondays-Fridays At North Pool

Beginning July 7, the North pool will be open each Monday and Friday night from 7:30 until 9 o'clock. Night swimming hours will continue through July. The pool is open daily from 2 until 6 p. m.

Jim Williams, who has been hired to teach physical education in the Ozona School system, recently took over management of the pool from Foy Moody, who opened the pool early this month.

Williams moved here last week with his wife and two daughters, ages 3 and 1, from Canyon. He taught physical education and coached football there for the past four years. He attended McMurry college in Abilene before going to Central State University in Edmond, Okla., where he received his degree and was a member of the football team. Williams will also coach the Ozona High School B team during football season.

Plans Are Shaped For Country Club Annual Tournament

Plans are underway at the Ozona country club for the annual club tournament which will be held Friday, July 4.

Trophies will be given to first and second place winners in each flight.

High school and junior high school and ladies golfers will tee off Friday morning and the men will play Friday afternoon.

There will be a hamburger supper Friday night for all club members, following the presentation of trophies.

Work Progresses On New Wing for Methodist Church

Foundation work was completed this week for the new wing for the Methodist Church. The contract for the $67,194.40 construction was awarded to the Oscar Wagner Construction Co. of San Angelo and work got underway May 15. The annex will contain 2,800 square feet of floor-space. Architect is Jack McDermott of San Angelo.

When the church was built in 1948, the plans included the wing. However, the majority of the church membership decided that the additional space could be left off in the interest of economy and the building was completed without the little chapel wing.

The new addition will contain a small chapel, a pastor's study, a secretarial office and two Sunday school rooms. Projected completion date is October 1.

Wagner is the general contractor, but the plumbing and air conditioning contract was awarded to Ozona Butane Co. and the electrical work will be done by Ozona Electric Co.

Members of the church had been making plans to add the annex for the past few years, but Dr. R. F. Curl, former pastor, appointed a building committee and solicited pledges from the membership to really get the project underway.

Approximately $62,000 has been pledged to the building fund by church members. Total cost, including furnishings, is estimated at $77,194.40. Broken down the total includes $62,798.50 for general construction, $4,395.90 for the architect, and an estimated $10,000 for furnishings. (Continued on Last Page)

First Section Interstate 10 In Crockett County Open To Traffic

Approximately 20 miles of Interstate 10 east of Ozona, in Crockett and Sutton counties, was opened to traffic for the first time this week.

The segment opened to traffic is from the intersection of Taylor Box road, eight miles east of Ozona, to the intersection of the Sonora caverns road, 28 miles east of Ozona. The twenty miles of interstate highway was built under two separate contracts. Total cost of the two contracts covering the twenty miles was approximately 8.5 million dollars.

The Crockett county section of 8.5 miles was built by M. C. Winters Construction Co. and the approximate 12 miles in Sutton county was built by R. N. Adams Construction Co. Adams has the contract and is now building the additional distance of approximately 11 miles to the Sonora city limits.

Traffic has been routed to the 20 miles of Interstate just this side of Taylor Box road overpass and continues a smooth 20 miles to the Caverns road, with exits to ranch roads in the area at intervals.

When completed there will be 53 miles of Interstate 10 in Crockett County. W. F. Dixon, resident engineer for the State Highway Department, said Mr. Dixon's office is presently completing plans for a section of the super highway, perhaps the next to be built in this county when federal funds again become available from just west of Ozona to the Pandale road intersection.

No estimate is available as to probable completion date for the 11-mile section of Interstate 10 now under construction from the caverns road to Sonora, but it is probable the road will be open from Taylor Box road east of Ozona to Sonora before the year's end. Few new interstate contracts have been let in recent months because of the scaling down of available federal funds for the interstate program.

The Interstate 10 section through Crockett county is a part of an 849-mile Interstate link across the state of Texas from El Paso to Orange, through San Antonio, Houston and Beaumont. Approximately 283 miles of Interstate 10 is now under construction in the Texas panhandle. (Continued on Last Page)

Ozona Oilers Driving For LL 2nd Half Title

With the Little League season drawing to a close, Ozona Oil has a firm claim on the second half championship with a two-game lead over Flying W Ranchers, winners of the first half. Should the Oilers win their game tonight over Moore Oil, they will wrap up the prize for the final half and play the Ranchers next Monday night for the season championship.

In the event the Oilers lose their game tonight and the regularly scheduled game Monday night and the Ranchers manage to pick up two wins, the two teams would be tied for the second half championship and the play-off would be held next Thursday night.

Moore Oil is in third position and the B&B Grocers occupy the cellar, having yet to win a game this half of play.

Flying W defeated Moore Oil 9-7 Thursday night, but came from behind to do it. They were behind 6-1 in the fourth inning, tied the game in the fifth inning and wrapped it up in the sixth. Home runs by Gene Castro, Mike Mosley and Richard Sanchez contributed to the Ranchers win. Mosley was the winning pitcher and Ronald Perry the loser.

Ozona Oil smashed B&B in the second game 11-1. The game was called after the fourth inning on the 10-run rule. Ronaldo Cervantez was the winner and Steve Brooks took the loss.

Thursday night the Ranchers had a chance to tie the Oilers, but behind the pitching of Pete Martinez they only managed 2 runs while the Oilers drove in 6. Mosley took the loss. In the second game the hapless B&B team took a 16-2 beating at the hands of the Moore Oilers. Donald Higginbottom was the winning pitcher and Brooks took the loss. (Continued on Last Page)

Firemen Sponsor Carnival Shows June 30-July 6

The Borderland Shows, carnival aggregation familiar to Ozonans through many successive years of showing here, will make their annual stand here the week of June 30 through July 6.

As in previous years, the Carnival will show here under auspices of the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department. The Department will share in a percentage of the proceeds as a benefit to its entertainment fund.

The Borderland Shows will pitch their array of shows, rides and concessions on the county lot south of the Little League park. The usual number of rides and concessions stands will be in operation with at least one new feature this year, a wax museum which, show authorities say, has been attracting widespread interest in stands in other cities.

Ozonans Simmer In Record Heat

A record summer heat wave for this time of year was broken early Tuesday morning when cool air and clouds moved into the area. For nearly ten days prior, the temperature soared to above 100 degrees daily.

High humidity added to the discomfort of residents and hot days were followed by stifling hot nights. Evaporative coolers, which are widely used in this area, were practically useless due to the excess humidity.

Possibilities of showers and a cooler weekend depend on a stationary front in the Texas panhandle.

21 Ozona Boys, Girls Compete In Stockton Relays

Twenty-one Ozona boys and girls entered the Fort Stockton summer program relays there last Saturday. There were divisions for youths of all ages. The Ozona group consisted of junior high school and high school youngsters.

David Pagan, Ozona high school junior, placed first in the discus and fourth in the shot put. Gerald Huff, freshman, placed fifth in the 220 yard dash and fourth in the high jump. Chuck Womack, sophomore, got a fifth in the pole vault and a sixth in the high jump. Curtis Weant, junior, placed fourth in the 440-yd dash. The relay team of Huff, Timmy Evans, David Sewell and Stanley Flanagan, won a sixth place in the intermediate boys relay. The four will be freshmen this fall. Greg Thompson, the only junior high school boy, entered the junior events.

THE NOBLE EXPERIMENT

We are nearing the bicentennial of our nation's birth. It might do all of us good to read, or reread, the words of Thomas Jefferson in our Declaration of Independence. This document and the war that followed it led to the noble experiment that is our U. S. Constitution.

Although we honor the signing of the Declaration on the Fourth of July, the resolution was actually adopted on the second. The final adoption was on the Fourth. The names of the 56 signers were not revealed until six months after the event for fear of British reprisals. The lone dissenter was Pennsylvania's John Dickinson, who held out with the hope of reconciliation with the mother country.

One of the many acts of personal courage foretelling the determination of the colonials was that of Delaware's Caesar Rodney, who rode eighty miles to Philadelphia to cast his vote. Rodney was dying of cancer and had been bedridden.

John Adams, who had deferred to Jefferson in the writing of the document, wrote to his beloved wife, Abigail, on July 3, 1776: "Yesterday the greatest question was decided which ever was debated in America, and a greater perhaps never was, nor will be, decided among men. A resolution was passed without one dissenting colony, that these United Colonies are, and of a right ought to be, free and independent States."

And then they marched to war. Thirteen pitiful little colonies armed with a pipe dream. Thirteen stars on a field of blue against the mighty Union Jack. But they had their dream of freedom and independence. They had a cause to further. They had a grievance with King George. When it was over they had the embryo of a nation.

It was difficult and it took time, but from this noble experiment came a new giant. It isn't over yet. It will take all of us working together. The founders of the nation were men unaccustomed to cooperation. Their interests and occupations were as dissimilar as some of the differences that separate us today. But they managed to unite through the qualities and goals they held in common. There was honorable compromise, and debate with a minimum of emotion. We must equal their courage if we are to continue to enjoy the blessings gained through their sacrifice.

side. You are blocking the sun." A great image deflating indeed.

The late Winston Churchill was master of the put-down. He punctured socialism in fine style with this comment: "It is a socialist idea that making profits is a vice; I consider the real vice is making losses."

A more recent example of the put-down involved Gov. Louis Nunn of Kentucky. Horse breeders had given a $70,000 thoroughbred to the Republican governors. Another faction, to show their resentment of the gift, gave the governors a $70 mule named Hope.

In accepting the "gift" the governor made the following brief speech: "When I look at the face of this mule, a somewhat sad, forlorn animal, I shall think of the sadness that dwells on the faces and within the hearts of the poor people of our state. When I look at the back of this mule, I think of the tremendous burden of responsibility we bear off these people. . . . And as this mule walks away and I see his rear quart-I shall always be mindful of the conduct and behavior of some of those who made this presentation."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

Cigarette smoking and lung cancer got top billing in the House last week. A bill was approved which, if finally enacted, will require the following insertion on each pack: "Warning: the Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health and may cause lung cancer or other diseases."

The recent death of movie star, Robert Taylor, who lamented that he had been a three-pack-a-day smoker, adds to a long list of cancer victims who belatedly regretted they had ever indulged in the smoking habit.

Cigarette business is big business, and Americans have a way of doing what they want to do. In fact, last year a total of 527.8 billion cigarettes were consumed in this country, and 53.9 billion were exported.

Like Russian Roulette, an habitual cigarette smoker never knows when his number may be called. He can always be brave and take his chances — and the odds are he will win. That is, less than 1 out of 10 male smokers develop lung cancer. Last year smoking contributed to 75,000 deaths from this form of malignancy and respiratory disease. In addition, cigarettes are related to one-third of all deaths of men between the ages of 35 and 65.

Here is a government-documented statistic which is interesting: The average man of 25 who has never smoked cigarettes has a life expectancy of 73.4 years. The average man of 25 who is an habitual smoker has a life expectancy of 65.6 years. Thus, the average non-smoker at 25 will, on an average, live 8 years longer than he would had he become a regular smoker in early life!

Well, it can't be said there has not been ample warning. Nearly 6 years ago the Surgeon General concluded that "cigarette smoking is causally related to lung cancer" and that the death rate from coronary artery disease, the foremost killer in America, is 70% higher for cigarette smokers. And much research since that time has confirmed these findings of the lethal consequences from smoking.

WASHINGTON AND Small Business

BY C. WILSON HARDEN
An End to Blockade

There is now a brand new ball game. . . .

The discovery of vast new oil reserves in northern Alaska should have a profound influence on our national life. Large sums of tax money have long been poured out to keep the demands and pressure also been thrown around America because of the importance of the Venezuela oil field.

A great deal of the American policy has been taking over where Britain left off to protect access to the oil fields of the Mid-East. Obviously, in the event of another worldwide military involvement, a nation shut off from this source of oil would be in dire straits.

This was long the keynote of the British policy and in fact many observers believe it was the basic cause of World War I. British monopolists, controlling the mid-east oil reserves, discriminated against the economy of Imperial Germany with the result that friction flared into flames. It has largely been forgotten that before the war broke out, the Kaiser had made a state visit to Turkey to further the German dream of a Berlin-to-Baghdad railroad.

The wily sheikhs of the desert, feeling they had the world's big oil reserve locked up, have long played it cozy. . . .

Nasser of Egypt also got into the National Federation of Independent Business the game through control of the Suez Canal, vital for shipments of this oil. . . .

Thus, in order to protect American access to this oil, billions in foreign aid have been poured out to keep the demands and pressure large sums of tax money have also been thrown around America because of the importance of the Venezuela oil field.

In addition, through large purchases and other maneuvers the United States has been subjected to international banding up to stop, in an international emergency, the seizure of the oil fields by hostile forces.

The discovery of oil 300 miles north of Fairbanks, with an estimated capacity of between 10 and 15 billion barrels now known to be in the nation's back yard.

Hence, there is no longer a need for the American government to be spending U. S. dollars to appease a lot of people. . . .

Neither should there be a reason for the U. S. to be involved in the age old dispute in the Mid East. . . .

In fact, a reasonable attitude toward Nasser could now be along these lines: "The Suez Canal is quite a good asset. Why not go jump in it?"

Sensing The News

By Thurman Sensing

Executive V. P. Southern States Industrial Council

The Negroes and the Indians

A news item that has received considerable attention recently, if not support, is the demand by certain Negroes who are officers in various rights organizations, that the Negro people be paid tremendous sums of money for the "injustices" visited out to them by white people over the last several hundred years.

These claimants started in various churches of the land by invading their pews and interrupting their services and demanding $500 million in reparations.

Then, apparently one of them divided $500 million by the Negro population of the country, 20 million, and found out that was only $25 apiece. They then decided this was by no means enough and, taking over the reins at the bankers' convention in New York, upped their demand to $6 billion, $300,000 each if equably distributed.

This amount also would last for very long, but after all, if the $6 billion request is acceded to, what's to keep them from demanding $6 billion or $600 billion or any other amount they want?

As a matter of fact, the Negroes are going at this proposition backwards, but they need it the same amount as that gained by the intelligent Negro in this country who went to Africa some time back, studied the situation among the natives very carefully, and returned to the United States saying: "Thank God, my ancestors were sold into slavery."

Actually, the Negroes in this country are not only much better off than if they had remained in their native jungles the last three or four hundred years, they are much better off than most all people of any race or any color in any part of the world.

Then, too, the Negroes should realize they have no claim to any reparation whatsoever. If the economy of the whole world is to be turned upside down by demands for imagined past injustices, then we should have a strange world indeed. The one thing that is clear is they, like everyone else, have a claim to only what they have earned, no more and no less.

As a matter of fact, if the Negroes have a claim for $500 million or $6 billion or whatever amount, what about the claim of the American Indians? After all, this was their country until the white man came and seized it for himself.

Which is remindful of a recent poll taken on an Indian reservation. The poll revealed that 60% of the Indians thought we should get out of Viet Nam, and 95% of the Indians thought we should get out of the United States! Surely the American Indians have a much clearer claim to all of America and everything in it than any others involved.

But there is another view to this. One of the interesting transactions in the history of America was the purchase of Manhattan Island for the equivalent of $24.00 in beads and trinkets. We have smiled at that over the years and have considered it an outstanding example of how the white people flim-flammed the Indians. As a matter of fact, though, $24.00 was perhaps all Manhattan Island was worth at that time. If the white man had never come to the shores of America, $24.00 would perhaps still be a good price for Manhattan Island. The billions of dollars worth of property now located on that plot of ground was placed there by the hard work, the energy and the ambition of those who built it.

Are the lands of the world to be owned by those who occupied them first? If so, the Bantus would own most of Africa; the Indians would own North and South America; the Aborigines would own Australia; the Maoris would own New Zealand and the islands of the South Pacific; the Orientals would own the Far East; and perhaps Europe would be owned by these Caucasians.

If that were the case, what values would these various lands have now? What progress would have been made in the world?

Or should the land be owned by those who had the energy, know-how and ambition to create the values that are there?

Or — what is value what is progress? Like the little boy who asked his grandfather if he would help him write a school paper. The grandfather replied he would be glad to and asked, "What is the subject?" The little boy said, "We are supposed to show that we are much better off than the Indians were when they owned the country." The grandfather then said: "Let's think about that a moment. When the Indians owned the country all the men had to do was hunt and fish, the women did all the work, and there were no taxes to pay. No," he said "I'm sorry but I can't help you write an article with a subject like that."

HURRY UP and RELAX

Highways, superhighways, turnpikes, freeways, expressways—they crisscross America, leading in every imaginable direction. And, they get you there so fast, you are past the right exit before you know it. We live in such a speed-oriented world that, when we are not working, we feel we must "hurry up and relax." At times we even feel guilty when we are not busy about something.

We don't really like our foolish pace. We speak longingly of peace of mind and quietude, and we take tranquilizers by the ton. We search frantically . . . on vacations, on "lost weekends," on "fun activities" . . . but tranquility is hard to find.

Perhaps we are seeking too hard. Perhaps tranquility is not to be sought. Rather, isn't it what happens when you are at peace with yourself, no matter the circumstances?

You can be at peace with yourself only when you are at peace with God. He is the very center of your being, and His peace is freely given when you accept it.

Accept this great gift of God in the very best place of all—His Church.

TIPS For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club
By Mrs. Bailey Post

It takes care and not just a green thumb to have beautiful well-grown house plants. Failure to grow plants successfully can be traced usually to neglect when they are dependent on the grower for their needs.

Perhaps your first purchase was a piece of ivy to place in the window, and with success, you have become an enthusiastic grower of houseplants.

If your ivy died the first time, try again. I have good luck growing it in water. If planted in soil, do not keep too wet. Let soil feel dry before watering. Feed with liquid fertilizer once in a while.

All plants need the proper amount of water. When the plants have been potted in good soil with proper drainage, watering correctly is made easier. You may keep an even balance of moisture at all times if watering in the mornings, which allows drainage during the day and an even soil temperature at night. In mid-winter it is better to use water of room temperature.

To grow effectively indoors, plants need feeding once or twice a month, some once a week. Use a good commercial plant food according to directions. Let plants rest from the last week in November until the first week in January when there is so little sunlight.

Soil becomes packed and hard in spots, so it should be loosened from time to time. Be sure to notice for signs of insects and use the handy insecticide bombs. Red spider thrives in a dry atmosphere. Spraying with cold water should be repeated until infestation is over. Dusting sulphur or nicotine spray are other remedies.

Mealy bugs, a soft whitish insect that looks like a tiny piece of cotton, are one of the most difficult pests to kill. They are found in leaf joints of such plants as Coleus, Begonia and Gardenia. Apply alcohol by a cotton-wrapped pick to kill the bugs.

Select the best location for the right temperature and light requirements. Poor light may cause spindly growth of plants. Foliage plants usually require less light and sun than do the blooming plants. African violets prefer a north or east exposure in spring and summer, but require more light in the winter.

However, more light is not so important as an even temperature. They are grown successfully in many different ways. One person recommends watering from the bottom and never spray with water. I do both and it seems mine are in bloom most of the time. After spraying, I take off surplus water on leaves with a soft cloth or cleaner and do not place in the sun to dry.

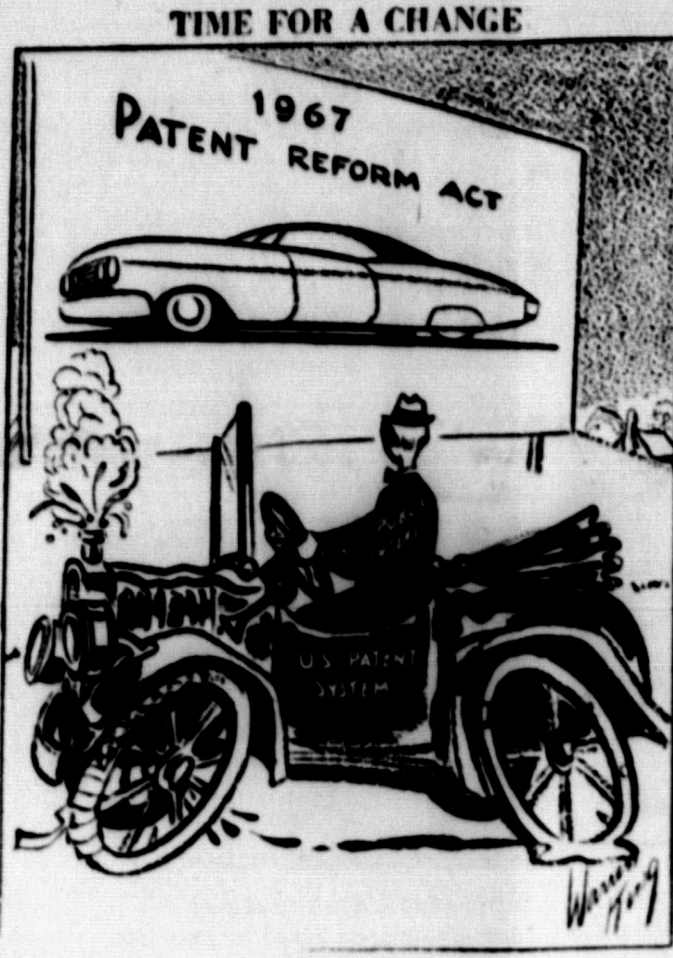

If you are interested in certain house plants and want detailed information on the culture and problems, ask for the excellent book, "All About House Plants," by Montague Free. You will find it in the library.

Three Ozona Cancer Workers Attend Meeting

Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. James Dockery and Mrs. Milton Nicholas were among the forty-four delegates attending the District Annual Meeting of the American Cancer Society in San Angelo last Thursday. The three Ozona women represented the newly formed unit here.

Dr. Jack Coughlin of San Angelo addressed the group. His topic was "We are beginning to win the battle against cancer." Dr. Coughlin called for a revolution in cancer control to create a cancer-free world. He challenged the volunteers to speed the conquest by getting more educational messages to the people by involving the vitality of youth with adult citizens on education committees, by reaching more "high risk" populations with information they can understand and helping them find treatment facilities, and by seeking out the cancer patients who need service, finding what help is available from the community and seeing that the patient receives the best that the American Cancer Society and the community can give them.

Curt Reimann of division headquarters in Austin discussed the Society's points for special emphasis for the coming year. A plans and evaluations session was held, during which state committee members, district directors and unit volunteers discussed and established broad cancer control objectives for the year.

Three delegates were named to the state board. Various special awards were presented, including presentation of twenty-year service awards to Mrs. Phillip Thompson of San Angelo and Dr. Charles F. Browne of Sonora.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert White spent the weekend in Odessa visiting their daughter, Mrs. Alex Oglivy, and her family.

New Pay Opened, Five New Tests Set In Crockett

A new pay and a confirmation were indicated and another project staked in Crockett County field after four confirmations were made to another recently segregated field.

King Resources Co., Midland, No. 1-A Continental-Harris, 11-3-WCRR, Ellenburger, dual opener, 1/2 mile west of the discovery and 1/2 mile west of the No. 1 Continental-Harris, 660 feet from the north and east lines of 10-3-WCRR. It is on an 80-acre lease.

The discovery was finished Feb. 25 from the Pennsylvania detrital for 192 barrels of 44.3 gravity oil, no water, through a 14-64-inch choke and perforations at 8,522-56 feet, and March 11 from the Fasselman for 122 barrels of 45.5 gravity oil, plus 338.4 barrels of water, through a 1/2-inch choke and perforations at 9,493 feet, it tested unsuccessfully through Ellenburger perforations at 9-385-9,449 feet.

B. W. Wiseman, Jr., and Petrofunds, Inc., Midland, filed applications to drill four outposts to the recently designated four-well Adams-Baggett Ranch (Canyon gas) field of southeast Crockett, 25 miles south-southeast of Ozona.

All the projects will be drilled to 5,200 feet with rotary, with operations to begin July 1. Elevation is estimated at 2,000 feet.

The No. 2-163 J. M. Baggett, 1/2 mile north of Wiseman's No. 1-163 Baggett, which was designated this week as the opener, is 1,800 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of 163-O-GH&SA.

The No. 2-158 J. M. Baggett, link well 1/4 mile south and 3/4 mile north is 660 feet from the north and west gauge. Reversed out was 13.4 barrels of oil, four barrels of mud and salt water-cut oil and three barrels of salt water. Flowing pressure was 367-1,096 pounds; 1 1/2-hour initial shut-in pressure, 3-382 pounds; and six-hour final shut-in pressure, 2,338 pounds.

Operator set 5 1/2-inch casing at 9,451 feet, on total depth of 9,452 feet, and was drilling out cement.

The firm will drill the No. 1 Marathon-Harris, a 9,100-foot Fasselman test, 3/4 mile southwest of the discovery and 1/2 mile west of the No. 1-A Continental-Harris, 660 feet from the north and east lines of 10-3-WCRR. It is on an 80-acre lease.

Everybody a Tycoon?

There seems to be a general public questioning of the effectiveness of a great deal of the money being spent purportedly for education.

This is evidenced by the voter refusals to pass many school bond issues. Unfortunately, many are turned down which perhaps deserved greater consideration by the voters.

For many years the thrust has been that all evils, economic, social, and moral can be solved by education. But little attention has been given to the proposition that perhaps there are some people who just cannot be educated.

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas recently raised a point. He stated a study of some 2,000 colleges showed that students or their parents pay about 40 per cent of their educational costs, with the rest coming from endowments and other sources.

But, he points out, if the student attends a publicly supported institution, he pays only one-fifth of the costs.

Thus, he says, "Many students today would rather riot than read, rather strike than study, rather fight the police than pursue an education that is more than 60 per cent free in the words of the famous musical (The King and I) it is a great 'pissmule' to me, and even more so for the parents."

There is a distinct possibility that too much emphasis has been placed on a college education, largely fanned by those who have a vested interest in the educational profession.

It is interesting to note that a current publication of the Labor Department seeks to place a monetary value on education at different levels. This report claims the average lifetime earnings of a college graduate is about $508,000 of a high school grad $361,000 and of a grade school product $247,000.

Thus the inference is that anyone, regardless of their aptitude, ability, or energy, can reach a higher level of income merely by going to college.

It would perhaps be just as logical to report in the same vein that corporation presidents earn more than mechanics. Therefore, the mechanic should throw down his tools and settle for nothing less than a corporation presidency.

Obviously, there is some difference between a Phi Beta Kappa in engineering and a youth who graduates with a C average majoring in contemporary poetry, interspersed with heavy participation in demonstrating, rioting, and other extra-curricular aspects.

Too often government bureaus use figures reminiscent of the anecdote about the government statistician who drowned wading in a river with an average depth of two feet.

Court Decision Invalidates Texas Law On Bond Vote

Texas Secretary of State Martin Dies, Jr., said today that the United States Supreme Court's decision in a Louisiana case last week has invalidated a Texas law which restricts voting in revenue bond elections to property owners.

By statute the Secretary of State is the chief election officers of Texas and is responsible for obtaining and maintaining uniformity in the application, operation and interpretation of the state's election laws.

On Monday of last week the United States Supreme Court struck down a Louisiana law which gave only property taxpayers the right to vote in elections called to approve the issuance of revenue bonds by a municipal utility, on the ground that it violated the equal protection clause of the Federal Constitution because it excluded otherwise qualified voters who were as substantially affected and directly interested in the matter voted upon as those who were permitted to vote.

The Texas Constitution contains a provision that only qualified electors who own property which has been duly rendered for taxation are eligible to vote in an election for the purpose of issuing bonds. The Supreme Court of Texas has interpreted this provision as applying to elections for issuing public utility bonds which are to be retired from revenues produced by the utility, as well as to elections for issuing bonds to be retired by levy of a property tax.

Secretary Dies said that the property ownership requirement could no longer be imposed in future elections for issuance of revenue bonds. He pointed out that the United States Supreme Court's decision applies only to revenue bond elections and that the court has not ruled on the validity of a property ownership requirement in a tax bond election.

Courthouse Annex Air Conditioning System Replaced

Replacement of the old air conditioning system at the courthouse annex with a new Lennox plant was recently finished here by Ozona Butane Co.

Installation and wiring for the two new compressors involved about a day and a half. The old heating system remains in use and some of the coils from the old air conditioning system were used in the replacement.

The old system was put in when the building was rebuilt in 1951 for use as a hospital. Breakdowns during the past few summers necessitated the installation of a new system.
