Red Cross Roll Call Enrollment Climbs To $485

Final Canvass Next Week Expected To Reach 600 Goal

With two or three committee reports not yet turned in and additional canvassing set for next week, Crockett County stands a good chance to go "over the top" in the 1941 annual Red Cross Roll Call drive which opened in whirlwind fashion Wednesday of last week with a record opening-day enrollment.

Reports from Miss Mildred North, Roll Call Chairman, yesterday indicated that the annual drive had produced a total of $485.60, which represents a membership enrollment of 426.

Ed Vitela, chairman of the Latin-American committee, has not reported on results of the campaign in that sector. Reports also were lacking from a committee in charge of solicitation among ranchmen.

A wind-up campaign will be launched next week, Miss North announced, with the object of giving every person in the community an opportunity to enroll as a member of the Red Cross. Persons who have not yet been solicited are asked to see some member of the committee of workers, if possible, and take a $1 membership. The Crockett County chapter has been assigned a quota of 600 memberships and if that goal is to be reached, it will require the cooperation of nearly every person in the community.

A 100 percent enrollment in the Powell Oil field community is in prospect, the chairman reported. The committee from that area turned in 34 memberships and a total of $38.10 in money, with several more to come.

45 Ranchmen Yet To Complete AAA Program For '41

Deadline For Completing Conservation Work Nov. 30

With the deadline a little more than a week away, forty-five Crockett County ranch operators have not yet turned in completion reports on work done under the AAA range program, according to a compilation made by Miss Betty Bratcher, secretary of the Crockett County association.

All work under the 1941 program must be completed by November 30. Miss Bratcher has pointed out, and notification of such completion made to the local AAA office. Inspection and final approval of work done may be made after Dec. 1.

Work that has been done should be reported to the office not later than Nov. 30 in order to qualify for payment under this year's program, and work that has been planned for this year should be rushed to completion before the deadline, the secretary advised.

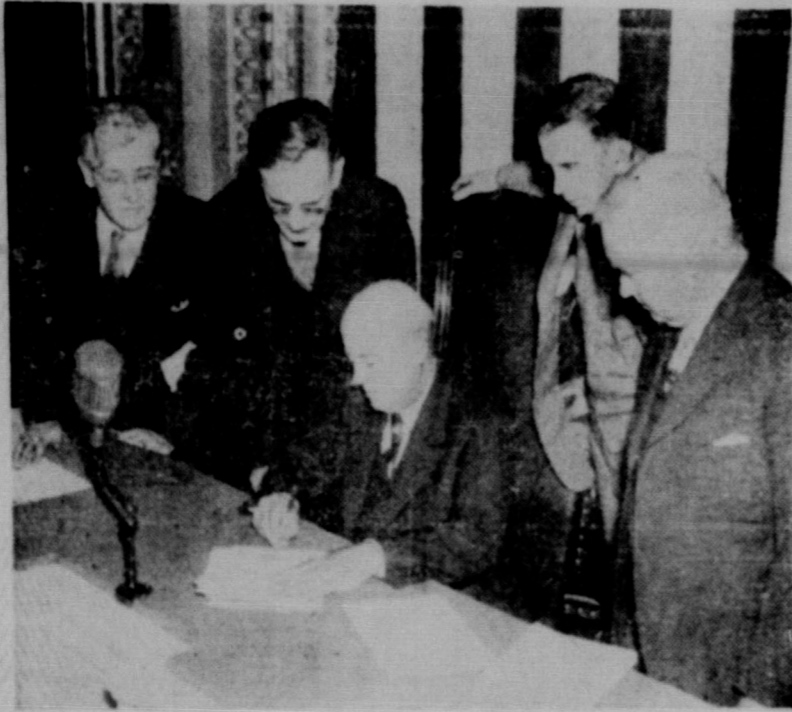

Lighthouse Subject For Christmas Seals

NEW YORK, Nov. 19—The lighthouse is the main subject of the 35th annual Christmas Seal of the National Tuberculosis Association, which will be placed on sale throughout the country on Nov. 24. The campaign will continue until Christmas Day.

Against the blue winter sky, which forms the background of the design, the double-barred cross, in red, the emblem of the National Association, is spot-lighted by the lighthouse beacon. In the foreground is shown the snow-covered keeper's house, an upturned boat and an evergreen tree.

Stevan Dohanos, a native of Lorain, Ohio, a well known muralist and illustrator, is the artist of this year's Seal.

Speaker Rayburn Signs War-Zone Act

Speaker of the house, Sam Rayburn, is shown signing neutrality act revision measure shortly after it had passed the house with the amendment allowing armed U. S. merchant ships to enter war zones. The bill passed by a vote of 212 to 194, after one of the fiercest undercover battles for votes ever waged in congress. Those who were for and against the bill got together at the signing. Begin Moving In Equipment For Road Job

Public Construction Co. May Begin 21-Mile Project This Week

First of equipment for use in construction of 21 miles of paving on Highway 163 south from Ozona was being moved in on the job here this week by the Public Construction Co. of Denton, successful bidder on the paving project which is to be financed by $104,000 of bonds reissued from the 1930 issue for highway construction in this county.

Work on the 21 miles of paving was scheduled to get under way this week. The Public Construction Co. was low bidder on the project with its bid of $95,981.97. Specifications call for 21 miles of re-grading, drainage structures, caliche base and asphalt treatment from Ozona south. One hundred working days are allowed the contractors for completion of the work.

Engineering work on behalf of the county is being done by Julian Montgomery of Austin. Plans and specifications have been approved by the State Highway Department and as soon as the road is completed the re-issued bonds will be eligible for 100 per cent state aid.

Appointment Of Sheriff Is Made To End Of Term

Commissioners Correct Action; Nightwatchman Employed

Correcting a misunderstanding arising out of limitation placed upon the appointment of Mrs. W. S. Willis to succeed her late husband as sheriff, the Crockett County Commissioners Court in its sessions last week clarified the language of its original order making the appointment and specified her appointment for the balance of Sheriff Willis' unexpired term.

The court in its original appointment specified it for a period ending January 1, 1942, or until her successor could be qualified. By its action at the recent meeting, the court wiped off this limitation and made the appointment for the balance of the present term of elected county officials, or until January 1, 1943.

The court also employed a night-watchman for the city of Ozona, agreeing to pay a monthly salary to such an officer in the sum of $75 a month. Roscoe Coates has been appointed to this office and will begin his duties next Monday night.

Hunters Meeting Success In Deer Search In County

Two Youngsters Bring In Meat; Pharr Gets Big Blacktail

Crockett County nimrods took to the hills and canyons with the opening of the deer and turkey seasons last Sunday morning and indications are that most of them are meeting with success in their search for game.

Unusually good range conditions resulting from this year's bountiful rainfall have made for more deer and, judging from reports of the kill to date, the animals are fatter than they have been in years.

Two boys of Ozona, one 12 and one 15, made the older hunters burn with envy when they brought home the meat with the season's opening. Dick Lee McDonald, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald, was among the first local hunter to bring in a buck. He bagged an 8-pointer on the Davidson ranch south of Ozona on the opening day of the season.

Henry Patrick, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patrick, is another proud juvenile hunter. He, too, brought down an 8-point buck in an opening-day hunt. Young Patrick's father was on a hunt in the Big Bend area and Henry and his mother went on a little hunt nearer home. You're right—the father came home empty handed.

Claude Pharr has exhibited the largest deer so far this season, a huge 12-point blacktail bagged west of the Pecos.

Four From Latin American Troop To Scouter Meet

Four representatives of the Ozona Latin-American Boy Scout Troop No. 63, two troop committeemen and two Star Scouts, attended the final session of the Ranch District Scouter training school, an outdoor session held in Junction recently.

Chon Fuanos and Celestino Fuentes, both Star Scouts, and Sam Martinez and Andres Tijerina composed the delegation to the Junction meeting. The group enjoyed a barbecue supper after engaging in various activities, including map making, tracking and pacing. The local Latin-American troop was the first to receive the membership award offered by the Concho Valley Council for increased enrollment. Andres Tijerina, troop committeeman, was the only Ozona Scouter to receive a certificate from the Training School, the first five sessions of which were held in Sonora.

Big Pep Rally And Bonfire On Eve Final Game

A giant pep rally and bonfire across the street from the high school campus last night tapped off the Ozona High School championship-bound Lions for their final District 7B melee this afternoon on Fair Park field in Eldorado against the downtrodden but still fighting Eldorado Eagles.

A pep rally, with the band as leader, preceded the lighting of the big bonfire. A snake-dance through the business streets followed the bonfire.

Divided Turkey Day Observance Prospect Here

Traditional Thanksgiving Favored In Ozona's Plans

There will be divided observance of Thanksgiving Day in Ozona again this year as last, when the state observed a double Thanksgiving, but this time it will be football—a championship team playing its final district game—that will account for the first observance.

With most of the rest of Texas, Ozona will observe the traditional last Thursday as Thanksgiving—schools granting the customary week-end holiday beginning Nov. 27, and many football fans having laid plans to see the Texas A&M and Texas University football game on Kyle Field at College Station.

Except for the bank and postoffice, there will be no general observance of today as Thanksgiving, but the occasion will be virtually a half holiday, nevertheless, for most of the town will move out in the afternoon to accompany the football team to Eldorado for the game starting at 2:30.

Mrs. Hillery Phillips, and Mrs. Arthur Allen were in San Angelo Saturday.

Lions Ready For Final Test Today Against Eldorado

Championship Decider Called For 2:30 On Eagle Field

Teammates and fans alike were holding breaths last night and doing all in their power to shoo away the flu bugs from that powerhouse in the Ozona High School Lions line, Wayne West, Jr., whose illness from a slight cold yesterday was the only thing standing in the way of an announcement of 100 per cent readiness on the part of the Lions for the District 7B finale and undisputed championship decider for the locals, scheduled on the Eldorado field this afternoon.

The 220-pound tackle, who has made his presence known to enemy teams in no uncertain terms throughout this season, was reported to be running temperature around 100 yesterday, and was ordered to bed. If his condition is only a cold, he may be able to play tomorrow, but Coach Patterson was fearful that it was the beginning of an attack of flu, which would definitely put him out of the Eldorado fracas.

Stanley Lemmons, out with an attack of flu since the Sonora game, was able to come out for practice early this week and will be in the line-up the coach announced. All of the other boys are in good condition and drilled for a determined drive for the championship in this final district game today.

High School pupils are to be given a half holiday today and grade pupils whose parents request will be excused for the half day. Team members will leave this morning at 9 o'clock to be on hand well ahead of game time.

The game has been scheduled to start at 2:30. Ozona is expected to be practically emptied for the afternoon as fans follow the team for this crucial battle, in which a win for the Lions will clinch them the 7B title and a chance for the bi-district championship. If the Lions win today, they will meet either Bronte or Lakeview Wednesday of next week to decide the bi-district championship. The Lakeview and Bronte teams are tied and the district committee will pick the winner some time this week.

Although, statistically, the Eagles should be a set-up for the Lions, Coach Patterson and his squad are not discounting the fact that the Eagles are going to offer strong opposition for them. They (Continued On Page Eight)

SAVAGES—TWO KINDS...

The most horrible time that this old earth ever experienced was the Reptilian Age, a couple of hundred million years ago. That was when the earth was ruled by the dinosaurs, armored lizards so vast and terrible that they dominate all other forms of life.

WITH REASON, TOO...

Single blessedness may have some advantages, but there's nothing like a wife and children to blame for getting behind in your work.

STICK TO YOUR JOB!

Democracy Begins At Home

Defense is a big word. It conjures up pictures of sprawling industrial plants working night and day; of great, gray ships moving silently through far-away oceans;

Yes, it's a big word and it seems a far cry from Defense of your home—and of mine. Yet actually defense is being built by the work of individual men and women, each of whom depends on his home for health and comfort and morale.

So, you see, back of the flood of armaments that are being turned out in America today—back, too, of the training camps and our growing army—are the homes of the nation—yours and mine and millions of others in towns and cities and country places from coast to coast.

This is as it should be, because, in the last analysis, it's the homes of the country we're arming to defend. If we thought they were perfectly safe today there'd be no reason for spending all this time and effort...

Meanwhile, the job of the great majority of the women of the country is to make these homes havens of refuge in a troubled world. To keep them cheerful... comfortable... congenial and to see that each one is a little democracy—a place where the family lives together in freedom yet with respect for the rights of each individual.

It is possible, they say, to have the greatest, best equipped army in the world and still lose our traditional American freedoms of speech... worship... and enterprise. But not if we women keep such freedoms alive and active and respected within our own domain... our home!

Government... can curb abuses in the field of labor as it curbs abuses in other fields—by penalizing those abuses and making them illegal... It can punish union leaders, as it punishes ordinary mortals, for conspiring to restrain trade. It can, by proper legislation, enormously reduce labor racketeering. All that is required is the courage to act.—The New York Times.

'GOOD POLITICS' VS. 'GOOD GOVERNMENT'

The fact that government non-defense spending is holding to depression levels at a time when employment and national income are approaching record highs, is a biting reflection on Congress.

It will be remembered that Secretary Morgenthau said some months ago that the normal cost of government could be cut by $1,000,000,000 a year.

The difference between government non-defense economy and continued prodigality, may prove to be the difference between a solvent and a bankrupt government in the future.

Down In Texas

By EDMUNDS TRAVIS

Jesse James, Treasurer

In the early 1900's, John James was a Santa Fe yardmaster at Temple. By way of a joke, his fellow workers called him "Jesse."

When Jesse James was five years old, his father gave up railroad work for farming, settling near Milano. There were ten James children when the father died, and Jesse, still a boy, put in toilsome years on the farm before entering the drug business at Thorn-dale.

Because he bears the name of the Missouri desperado—to whom he is in no way related—Jesse James of Texas is in for no end of joking as the custodian of more money than the Missourian ever imagined. But Jesse can stand the jibes.

Who Started "Dust Bowl?"

Albert Law, editor of the Dalhart Texan, has been on the trail of the man who coined the expression "Dust Bowl." He wants to walk him tired through flourishing crops, set him down to the best steak dinner he ever ate, then see if he can originate a term that will really describe the Panhandle.

Maybe the man has been found. Ennis Helm, former free lance, claims that he was the first to describe the great mid-western area swept by dust storms as "The dismal dust bowl."

Some Panhandle folk may think Helm's dilemma a case of poetic justice, and let it go at that. But Law's word is out. If the Oklahoma prisoner is really the author of the opprobrious appellation—not repeated here because it's a fighting term in the Panhandle—he may get the walk and dinner, even if he has to take them under the watchful eyes of a couple of husky guards.

Where Good Teeth Grow

Speaking of the Panhandle, it is now a matter of scientific record that the best teeth are grown in Deaf Smith County. Dr. Edward Taylor of Austin reported to the American Dental convention at Houston that not a single carious tooth or filling was found in the course of examinations of the teeth of 43 Deaf Smith natives, ranging in age from two years to "past middle age."

Climate, soil products, water and milk found in the county are responsible, it is believed. If the news spreads the whole Panhandle section may become a haven for people who want to keep their natural teeth as long as possible.

CROSS-ROAD...

Organized labor in America is "no longer in swaddling clothes." In those words Secretary of Labor Perkins recently stated a fact that labor leaders would do well to recognize. For labor has grown up. And the time has come for it to act as though it has.

Today labor is big business. Every year it collects half a billion dollars, possibly more, from its members. What happens to this money few people know; often even the people who pay it can not learn how it's spent.

Right now American labor stands at the cross-road. Union terrorism, instances of corruption in the affairs of various locals, unjustified labor wars, needless strikes—the time has come to stop them, and labor, if it's wise, will stop them now.

Side Glances on Texas History

By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

McINTIRE GOES AFTER ADVENTURE IN TEXAS

In 1902 old Jim McIntire of Kansas City published the reminiscences of a man who, he wrote in the introduction, had "seen as much lawless life and had perhaps as many hair-raising adventures as any man living." He had chased Indians and outlaws, had himself been chased across three states, had run gambling-houses and saloons, had shot up towns, and had been marshal and deputy sheriff in frontier settlements. And it all came from reading dime novels.

The reminiscences were McIntire's own and were entitled "Early Days in Texas." The volume is one of a score of valuable first-hand commentaries on old-time cowboy life available in the extensive Texas Collection of the University of Texas Library.

Early in life McIntire "developed an ambition to be a cowboy and see life on the plains as portrayed by the dime novels I had been reading," he wrote in his book. So he left his Ohio home, came to Texas, became a cowboy, and impatiently awaited adventures comparable to those related in the little yellow-backed books, which had meant as much in his early life as western movies often mean in the lives of boys today.

HE MEETS THE INDIANS

McIntire came to Texas late in the 1860's and immediately got work on a ranch near Jacksboro—"right in the heart of the Indian country, surrounded by hostile Kiowas and Comanches." His boss was a man named J. C. Loving, and "Loving's ranch," he wrote, "was the outpost of civilization and was the first ranch the Indians had to pass in going from the Reservation to the settlements."

This he quickly discovered. On March 17, 1869, the men on the ranch gathered to eat dinner before going out on a general roundup—when suddenly, right in the midst of the meal, a shot rang out near the corral. Some thirty-five Indians had appeared. "In an instant everything was excitement," McIntire wrote; "there it was that I got my first taste of Indian fighting, and I plunged into the thickest of it."

The object of the attack, it turned out, was the herd of ranch horses, which the men managed to get into the corral just as the fighting began. Then, McIntire went on, "Mrs. Loving's sister-in-law, loaded guns for me, and I took a position under a big oak tree in the yard, firing at the approaching Indians as fast as she could load the guns. . . . Bullets were flying thick and fast around me, as the greater part of their fire was directed at me and Mr. Loving, who were between the Indians and the corral where all the horses were."

A WOMAN'S PLACE

"The coolest one of the whole party was Mrs. White, who loaded guns and handed them out to me just as if that were her regular business," he remembered in after years. "Her three little children were in the house, but not even a thought of the danger they were in affected her nerves."

Gradually the Indians lost ground, primarily because they were out-numbered; and at last only two remained within rifle range. Then Mrs. White, McIntire wrote, "thought they might be dislodged by a big old-fashioned foreign-made gun which shot a very large bullet. She handed this out to me saying, 'Here is a big gun; try them two setting on their horses.' I laid down, taking careful aim, and fired high." They got away.

Thus, after half an hour, McIntire's first Indian fight was ended. Though one of his comrades was fatally wounded, he himself was untouched. But he was off to a good and satisfying start on his dime-novel career.

100 YEARS AGO IN TEXAS

"Gen. Post Office.—We have learned with much pleasure that the business of this office, under the law passed at the last session has been conducted with more economy than at any previous period, and the receipts have more than doubled those of any preceding year. This office, however, continues to be a burden of expense to the Republic. This appropriation of fifty thousand dollars in promissory notes last year, has been found too small by nearly forty thousand dollars. The whole expenses of the department having been about one hundred and thirty thousand dollars, promissory notes, and the receipts are not above the appropriation, amounting to forty thousand dollars.

"Most of the contracts have been taken at less than eight dollars a mile, and the contracts for the coming year, it is believed, will be still less. We understand the Secretary of State estimates the current expenses of the next year over, and above the receipts for postage, etc., at seventeen thousand dollars, par funds."

"This paper will, in the course of two weeks, be much enlarged and improved. A large quantity of type for this office is expected to arrive from Houston, today or to-morrow; and a large supply of paper has been ordered, and may be expected by the next boat from New Orleans."—The Texas Centinel (Austin), Nov. 11, 1841."

An actor decided to give up his career and become a doctor, and in a short while he was achieving a great deal of success.

One day he was performing an operation for appendicitis, and, as usual, the operating theatre was filled with students.

The operation was performed so successfully that, as the end, the students broke into loud applause.

The old actor spirit returned and the surgeon, after bowing his appreciation, hurried back—and removed the patient's tonsils as an encore. Canadian Doctor.

We are being invaded again around our place. Every year at this time we are invaded. The conquering hordes consist of red-capped city gents, who arrive sometimes as much as a week ahead of the opening of the deer and turkey hunting season, filled with high ambitions for blood and trophy and loaded down with enough guns and ammunition to start a young war.

Back home these hunters have left sad-eyed wives and wondering children to make their way in this world as best they can. But who can be bothered about wife and child when out yonder in the brush is an old buck with a set of horns the size of a rocking chair and a wary old gobbler with a beard so long that it drags the ground?

Any one of these city gents knows there is game like that in these woods, because he saw it there last year. Of course, he failed to get it then, but that was because just at the moment he sighted the old buck, the hunter happened to have his pants down, picking off a particularly voracious swarm of cattle ticks that were sucking his blood as second choice. If it hadn't been for that, the hunter would have got that old buck.

And when that old gobbler took out up that long slope in a sweeping trot last year, the hunter just happened to hang his foot under a root at the moment he was about to fire and fell on his face.

But of course this hunter's had time to think things over since last year. He sees now where he made his mistake. He's got it all figured out just how he aims to do different this year. He's worried friends and acquaintances for weeks about how he aims to outwit this game.

So he takes to the woods the first morning. He draws deep, snorting breaths of keen, chill air. His clear eyes sweep to the high bald ridges and down to where the sun has set fire to the tips of autumn-painted brush sticking up out of the early morning fog in the canyons. Gun in hand, he steps briskly forth—a man, a hunter!

All day long he toils up one long slope after another. Briars and brush claw the hide from his hands. The sun gets higher and hotter. He's stuffy and sweaty in his flannel hunting jacket. But he can't afford to remove it. Last year, he took off a fine coat and hung in on a bush, meaning to return for it later, and for all he knows that coat is still hanging there. He never could find that bush again.

His feet swell. His legs ache. He's thirsty for water and he's not sure he knows the way back to camp.

Then out jumps the buck! A real old mossy-horn!

Quick as an eyelash the hunter makes his calculations. That buck will take to the brush to the left. Or he'll take to the brush to the right. Or he'll go straight ahead! Or—well, he's certain that old buck won't go straight up!

So he crouches to swing his gun up for the one perfect shot. A prickly pear stabs him in the seat. He jumps and squalls. The half-raised gun blasts a spurt of white dust from a limestone rock a few feet ahead. And the old buck has escaped, scaring up a flock of long-bearded old gobblers that with roar of wing action are showing him a short cut out of the country.

By this time next year, however, the hunter will have figured out where he made his mistake this year, and be back, ready to do it all over again.

State In Throes Of Flu Epidemic

AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—Fulfilling a prediction made several months ago by the State Department of Health, an epidemic of influenza in Texas is represented by the 1392 cases reported for the week just ending, according to Doctor Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. This total is 6 times greater than that shown for the same week, in the preceding 7 years.

"Neglecting proper treatment of influenza, or allowing the patient to be up too soon may have disastrous results," Doctor Cox warned, "since persons suffering from influenza are particularly susceptible to other infections."

Doctor Cox emphasized the importance of guarding against "flu"; drinking plenty of water, eating simple, nourishing foods, outdoor exercise, plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room, and sensible dress according to the weather were stressed as best precautions.

"Pneumonia, frequently resulting from influenza, is a very dangerous complication," Dr. Cox stated, and advised that a patient go to bed immediately upon the first appearance of a cold and place himself under competent medical care.

Defense bonds were awarded as prizes at the Bethany County, Mo., fair this year instead of cash.

EUGENE SLATER
Methodist Minister

... Choose you this day whom ye will serve . . . As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord." Joshua 24:15 (Read Joshua 24).

A father was talking to his minister about his son. "I am very hopeful that my son will choose the right kind of girl for his wife," he said. "Your son's choice will depend largely upon the training and the ideals that you have already given him," the minister replied, "and I am sure that you have done the very best that you could."

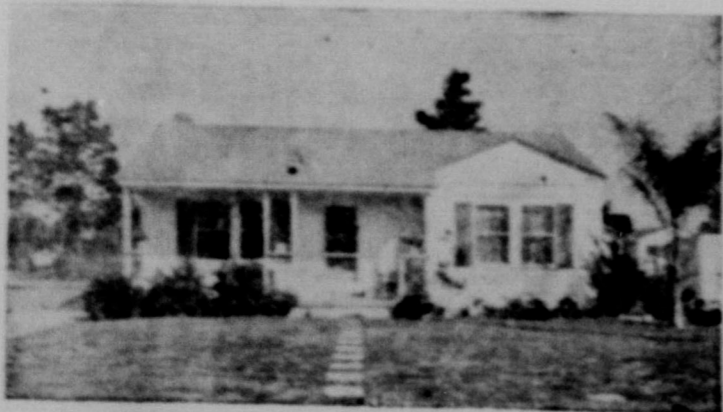

Every parent feels his kinship with this father. The matter of marriage is only one of a number of life relations about which every good parent is vitally concerned as he thinks of his children. There is the choice of a vocation, the choice of friends, the choice of books, and the choice of a church and religion. We are anxious that our boys and girls choose wisely in all of these things because their happiness and usefulness depend largely on their decisions.

Although we cannot make our children's choices for them, we can surround them with a love and loyalty to the Highest that will help them to choose well as they come to the great moments in their lives. We can give them living examples of wise and noble fatherhood; we can make motherhood a most beautiful experience. We can introduce our children to the classics in the realm of music and literature. We can live out the meaning of Christian brotherhood before our children. We can teach them to trust God through our own faith in the Christ-like God. In all of these ways we shall be helping our children to form tastes, habits, appreciations, attitudes and purposes that will determine their life choices.

After we have done all that we have known to do, we will disappoint us in some decisions that he makes; a girl will cause us concern as she neglects the church that her parents love and in which they serve. And if it pains us to see those who are our own turn away from the high road, how much more does it pain Him who carries in His heart an infinite interest for even the least of us! Still He does not give His children up. He continues to seek and to save that one which has gone off the course. So must we! With love and wisdom and with a patience that is created out of our friendship with Him we must bring our friends and loved ones back to the high road of thought, action, and purpose.

Prayer: Give us of Thy Spirit, Our Father, that we may fill our children's lives with the best things. So shall they be able to make wise and good choices when they face their high moments. And even though they turn aside from the Way, still give us of Thy Spirit that with true love and patience we may bring them once more onto Thyself. Amen.

MAN'S MOST SACRED TRUST
 By Adele Keeton

The most sacred trust reposed in man by his Creator is life itself. Life as here alluded to means the thoughts he has, the words he utters, and the deeds he does. Resolved into one word, it means his influence. Every thought, word and deed affects someone to a greater or lesser degree. There is not a moment of his life that this is not the case. The great struggle for life is a struggle with self. On one side is our selves; on the other is God and humanity. The battle is against evil desires, wicked impulses, pernicious habits and idleness. These wild beasts that slink around in the night and lurk in the shadows and obscure corners may be repulsed, but they come back again; and their number increases with each succeeding visit. They must be given such treatment the next time as will make them indisposed to make any further visits. They become more persistent with each succeeding call. They are easier to dispose of at the beginning than ever again. Everyone who will be honest with himself will have to admit, after a close self-examination, that practically all his unhappiness comes about because of his desire to do things he should not do or to possess things he should not possess. The right influence can come only from a right life. An evil life is an awful tragedy. He who lives it not only ends it by long-drawn-out suicide, but his influence is such that he is in effect a murderer, because his life does not stop with himself. His influence produces discord, sorrow, suffering, and perhaps death that he never knows until the record of eternity is read. Some one has said, "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself."

Editor's Musings

Emerson wrote, "The only gift is a portion of thyself."
 Different people have different things to give. Some have time, energy, skill, or ideas. Others have some special talent. All of us can give away appreciation, interest, understanding, or encouragement which require no money expenditure unless for a postage stamp or telephone call. To be successful at giving away one must act fast while the impulse is fresh. We also must remember that little gifts are just as important and as appreciated, as big ones. Simple appreciation, for example, is one of the most acceptable forms of giving away. Most people crave spontaneous, human, friendly appreciation, and are often inspired and encouraged by a kindly word from someone.
 Many "givers away" give only because they want something in return or elaborate praise and thanks, while others give because of the joy that they get from giving. Some times the "gifts," whatever they be, seem to go without appreciation, but in the long run they give a satisfaction that cannot be equaled by any amount of thanks or praise, however great they may be.

OZONA, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1941

NUMBER 10

Rev. Eugene Slater Addresses Ozona Student Body

A meeting of the OHS student body was called Monday, Nov. 17, 1941. The meeting was opened by Mr. Denham's making a few announcements concerning the P-TA meeting Monday afternoon and the Ozona vs. Eldorado game Thursday at 2:30 at Eldorado. He announced that high school would be turned out at noon.
 After being introduced by Mr. Denham, Rev. Eugene Slater made a brief talk to the students on "Lessons from the Game of Football." These lessons were compared with the lessons that people must learn in life. The first thing brought out was cooperation. He said that the main reason for the world condition today is due to the fact that people do not cooperate with each other and can't get along. The second point was that too many times out causes a penalty. This is applicable in school life too. The next point was no use having a lot of alibies. He stated, we must learn to accept our defeats without alibies and overcome our mistakes. The next point was a sense of humor is needed. The last but very important point was there is a goal ahead. The thing in life is to set a goal and strive to reach it.
 Thus the meeting was closed by Mr. Denham by urging the students to do their best on the six weeks' exams which are being given this week.

Echoes From The Library
 by Florence Luther

Stalin speaks for himself in "Stalin's Kampf," as Hitler did in "Mein Kampf."
 No man's personal and social credo is more important to the world today than that of the Dictator of Russia, Joseph Stalin. At one end of the imperialist German-Soviet axis is Hitler's "Mein Kampf." Before the advent of this new "Kampf" there has been nothing at the other end but scattered statements, tedious reports and colored interpretations of the mind, the aims, the political philosophy and tactics of Stalin. Now he speaks for himself.
 Here is the blueprint of Communist ambitions all over the world, the statement of world aims which explains Finland and Poland, the stronger alliances and the seemingly morale diplomacy of Russia. Here are Stalin's aims in relation to American labor, and his ideas of the means of achieving world revolution.
 This compilation is an effort to make Stalin speak for himself.

CHECK UP ON YOUR MANNERS

Good manners aren't so much a matter of what one does, as how he does it. There is an old saying which goes, "Politeness is to do and say the kindest thing in the kindest way."
 From the way some of the pupils run up and down the stairs and slide and push in the halls, one might think that these students were already two days behind and trying to catch up. This manner of rushing certainly doesn't demonstrate good manners.
 A visitor at assembly could not get a very good opinion of the students from their conduct there. When someone comes in, everyone turns around and looks to see who it is. After all, what difference does it make who comes in. The boys sit around with their feet over their head which really looks terrible. Another good thing to remember when going to assembly is to park your chewing gum outside.
 Manners are like new clothes. We can't enjoy them unless we wear them and the longer we wear them, the more natural they become.
 As for petting in public, it just isn't done. One doesn't have to have his hands on a girl all the time to show that he likes her. This is done altogether too much in OHS. It is considered very ill-mannered by all authorities. One should watch his behavior no matter how he feels.

Appreciation Expressed

The members of each family in high school take this opportunity to thank Mr. Scott Peters, vice-president of the Ozona National Bank, for the 1941 editions of the Texas Almanac that were issued to them by that concern. In acknowledging this courtesy, the boys and girls want to express not only their own appreciation but also that of the adult members of their families.

Beat Eldorado As Written By A Lion

"Seven in a row" is a familiar phrase going around in our "Old Alma Mater" of Ozona High School. Our next game will be at Eldorado the 20th day of November at 2:30 o'clock. The Eldorado Eagles have a good ball club even though they lost to Rocksprings last Armistice. The main reason for this loss was due to a "shake up" in the backfield and line. However, the Eldorado boys should have become accustomed to their new positions by the day we meet them on the Eagle field in Eldorado. Our boys are all in good spirits and ready to get a crack at those Eagles. We are not over confident, but we think we can beat them by playing straight, hard football. I think it was in the year 1935 when Ozona took a defeat from Eldorado to the tune of 66-0. Ozona is out for revenge this year, probably not in such big numbers, but just enough to be on the heavy side of the score. Let's all look forward to a big game next Thursday when Ozona marches for her eighth straight victory of the season.

Capt. Williams Led Team In 7th Victory

Byron (Mustard) Williams, 150 pound right end for the Ozona Lions, led his team in the seventh victory of the year; the opponents this time were the Sonora Bronchos. As Byron is a Senior, this is his last year of high school football. He has lettered the three previous years and will probably letter again this year. Although he couldn't have done it without the other ten players. Byron made both the pointers for the Lions in this game. Though Byron's interest is mainly football, he doesn't neglect his school work and other activities for this sport. When football season is over, "Mustard" may be seen working just as hard to do his part in making a winning basketball team; he has two years in basketball. In other words, he is an all round athlete.

THE WISE OLD OWL
 By RUSSELL and COATES

When did rough and tough football players start wearing fingernail polish, Billy? That's Billy McWilliams, of course, folks!
 Bill really has many admirers. To read his letters, you might think that he "does all right."
 Billy, Mary, Bud and Ethel are certainly showing their talents nowadays. They all sing in the Christmas Cantata Choir. My, my, how touching!
 Sis and Marvin Porter get along O.K., especially when trying to duck Mildred and Melba.
 Where were you going in such a hurry, Sug? That is, on Wednesday. Could it have been a N. F.? Maybe!
 Billy's slipping! Mary leaves for the week-end and he doesn't even know that she's gone.
 My, but you had to hurry home after H. E. Club meeting, Joyce. What for?
 We really enjoyed Betty Dudley's music at H. E. Club. Come again! sometime, we really appreciate you.
 Vera was walking on Thursday night. What's wrong, doesn't he have a car?
 Either Chappo has reformed or he does what he used to do in public, in private. Come on, Chappo, give us a break.
 Arthur Byrd, if you don't quit talking and using your head (?) a little more, you're going to lose Joyce. Please be careful.
 Virgil comes to school one day, dates that night, and is back in bed the next day. Quite a character, aren't you?
 Now, which was more afraid of the "cops," you or Joyce? My guess is Joyce.
 Paula, did we see you at the show Saturday night? If it were you, you certainly weren't alone!
 James, who gets your lessons? You or Billy Sparkman? Come, come, now—the truth!
 Louise McLaughlin stays at home every night! If it were not so small, I could laugh up my sleeve.
 Well, Wayne, how's hunting? Do be careful or you might lose a toenail.
 Bill, why are you going to the ranch Friday eve? Surely not to "clean up" for relatives. Could be!
 Mary V. is already through with her dress. Nice to know that she can sew, eh boys? (Bet she can cook, too.)
 Lulla-Belle—"O" well, it suits you, Lila, why don't you like it?
 Miss Kinney had a "soldier-escort" to the football game on Tuesday. Who said that school teachers are old maids?

OHS Observes Education Week

Twenty-one years ago national organizations interested in education set aside a week to be known as American Educational Week.
 This week, which is now observed from Nov. 9 to 15, is now more important than it ever was before, because there is a greater need to build a stronger America through education.
 The program for the week, friends of education are informed and its enemies exposed.
 The schoolhouse is a symbol of the democratic way of life, and its educational program is planned to teach five fundamental principles of democracy. LOYALTY and DEVOTION to the United States is the first of these principles; the second one is the DEVELOPMENT of an understanding toward life toward life; TOLERANCE in a world darkened by prejudice and hatred is the third; the fourth is DIGNITY, hastened by training each person for his own best interests and abilities rather than for a tool of the state; and last is RESPONSIBILITY for citizenship in a time of crisis and in a fiercely competitive world.
 To the schools has been given the task of showing that God has given this notion a destiny, and that destiny is to be the light to a world of broken people whose souls have been trodden to the ground by an overpowering oppressor.
 Schools are the training ground of democratic citizenship.

H. E. Club Meet At President's Home

The H. E. Club met Nov. 13 at 7 o'clock in the Pris Baker's home. The president Adele Keeton called the meeting to order. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Ethel Mayes. The roll was then called, and everyone answered by her hobby or showing a part of it. Some of the hobbies were collecting of rattle snake rattlers, pictures, salt and pepper shakers, vases, post cards, and tea towels, and music. The meeting was then turned over to the program chairman, Ethel Mayes. Vera McCaleb gave a talk on "Music As A Hobby" and played "I Don't Want to Set the World On Fire." Adele Keeton gave a talk on "Family Hobbies." Vera McCaleb, Mary V. Graham, and Thelma Seals told of their trip to San Angelo. Gem Ella Dudley moved that the meeting adjourn. The motion was seconded by Joyce West. Betty Dudley played several popular pieces.
 Refreshments of cookies, sandwiches, pickles, potato chips, olives and hot tea were served to the members of the club.

Junior High Glee Club Presents Program

The Ozona Junior High School Glee Club made their first appearance of the year in a well-presented program, Nov. 13. The girls, directed by Miss Rebecca Anderson, opened the program by singing their theme song, "Just Singing Along" by More; then followed "The Island of Koo-Koo" by Louis Breau and "Italian Street Song" by Victor Herbert. The main feature of the program was "Any Bonds Today" written by Irving Berlin. This song is the defense theme song of the Federal Government. It is the first time in history that our government has owned a hit number.
 The audience joined the Glee Club in the singing of "God Bless America," "America," "America the Beautiful" and closed with the "Star Spangled Banner."
 In regard to the defense savings stamps drive, the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades reported one hundred per cent groups. The Sophomore and Junior Classes reported one hundred per cent for the Junior Red Cross in High School. All of the grades in grade school reported one hundred per cent.
 The assembly was concluded by a few announcements concerning the Eldorado-Ozona football game and the reading of a letter from Howard Lemmons.

Editor Of Time Magazine Pleads For Chinese Aid

Henry R. Luce, 9 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, has written to each Time subscriber in a plea for aid for China. Since the Ozona High School Library receives this magazine, such a letter came to the office. The editor is asking this group to show the people of China, overnight, that the people of America are aware of their existence. He does not ask that we build tanks or airplanes overnight, but that, overnight, we make friendship real.
 He speaks of a strange discrepancy. For four years the Chinese have been fighting and suffering untold misery. During this time, although the American government has sent oil and steel to Japan, we have sent to China—practically nothing at all. But in spite of all this, the Chinese believe that we are their friends. This belief has existed not for four years but for forty years. They believe in our ideals of liberty and humanity and have incorporated many of our own hopes and aspirations into their Republic. Now, this same Republic is battling for its life. Luce asks if our friendship with the Chinese people is mere words.
 Mr. Luce has recently been to China. He has seen the suffering and the fortitude with which it is being faced. He has seen what it means to operate on the wounded without anaesthetic because there is no money to buy either. He knows what it means to see children starving because there is no money to buy vitamins. And, he writes he knows that in all the world there is no greater need than the need of China for help today.
 This year an effort is being made by Americans to raise an American relief fund for China—the money to be distributed by Americans who know China. Civic leaders in nearly every state have undertaken to make this appeal. They are working not by house-to-house canvass or highly organized "drives," but they are appealing to individuals.
 At least $5,000,000 is desperately needed. Half of this money has been contributed, but Mr. Luce says that time is pressing and the other $2,500,000 which is the minimum required must be raised.
 This editor is appealing to everyone to review the desperate suffering and the urgent needs of the Chinese people. He asked that all ponder how vastly important for the future can be genuine friendship between the people of America and the people of China.
 To quote him, "this will be the greatest single thing which can be done by private charity in 1941 towards the redemption of our world through sacrifice and friendship."

OWENS-MAYES

HEARD—
That Gen. Ella has a bad case of T. B. I don't get the connection, but someone said that it was caused by a double feature.
That Margaret can have "Boo-Boo" back if she will let Sis borrow Bill. Say, what is this a boy-goose affair?
Mary and Billy arguing over whose time it was to write. It was rather a one-sided affair because Mary won.
Claudia scheming a way to catch a really "cute" boy last Monday night. You weren't jealous, or were you?
That someone left Rozelle breathless. You and "Flossie" are going entirely too much "gading" about.
Stanley doesn't like the new telephones. We wonder why?
Coach sending Wayne B. to get L. B. out of the ink well.
Congratulations to the Junior Class for their joining national defense one hundred per cent.
That Cecil's trips to Big Lake have ceased. Was there a quarrel, Cecil?

SEEN—
Jack and Vera writing notes in geometry class. You shouldn't do that. It keeps Dick in suspense until he gets some of them.
Some very red faces on a few girls in OHS. Basil, you should know better than to drive around with your lights off.
Billy wandering around like a lost sheep over the week-end. Mary, you shouldn't run off and leave him.
Jimmy slapping the back of his neck. Was the touch of "her" fingers all that bad?

Prisoners of War Accept Their Sorry Lot

Some of the several thousands of soldiers of the Chiang Kai-shek army captured by Japanese forces, are shown in picture at left carrying food for their breakfast. Seventh Victory Meet Held In Study Hall

Wednesday morning the usual victory meeting was held in the study hall after the Sonora game. The student body joined in singing the school song. Byron Williams, the captain, said that he was glad he beat Sonora but now he was ready to pick the Eldorado Eagles.

Tom Ed Montgomery said that he was a little worried the first half but the last half the boys really played good ball.
Coach Patterson stated that his boys played good ball and so did the Sonora Broncos, since they were out to beat Ozona.

Mr. Pingelton said that the band and pep squad were going to work hard and try to put on the best show of the season at Eldorado.

The meeting was closed by Mr. Denham, who urged everyone to have trash and boxes ready for the bonfire next Wednesday night before the Eldorado game.

Card Received From Ex OHS Student

The following card was received by Supt. Denham from a girl who once was an OHS student.

"Congratulations to the swell Ozona Lions Football team of '41. May your winning team lead you to victory through district, bi-district and even regional games. I surely do wish I could see the Ozona vs. Sonora game tomorrow. Good luck! A true OHS student with plenty of OHS spirit still for you.

Joy Coates Press Club Hostess

The Press Club met at the home of Joy Coates Nov. 17.

The president, Adele Keeton, called the meeting to order. Rozelle Pharr read the minutes of the last meeting and called the roll. Jack Sawyer, a new member, was welcomed into the Press Club. Old and new business was brought before the house and discussed.

Florence Luther gave a talk on "The Newspaper Lead". She said, "get attention at once. This attention is found in the lead." Claudia Everett made a talk on "Subjects." Miss Kirbie gave some suggestions on finding something to write for the paper. The next meeting will be at the home of Eddy Cooke. The motion to adjourn was made by Faye Lucas and second by Claudia Everett.

A Letter From An "Ex"

The following letter was received from Howard Lemmons, who is playing freshman football at Southern Methodist University. Congratulations Ozona Lions:

I want to congratulate every member of the team, the coaches, and the school as a whole for your stellar performance against Mason and the five preceding teams that you have defeated so far this season. You have compiled a record that never before has been achieved by an Ozona team as long as I can remember. Congratulations are certainly in order for you.

I am very confident that you will be the undisputed champions of your district and perhaps the bi-district champions. I do not know which team you will meet in the bi-district play-off at the record of this team, but I am certain that your opponents will know that they have been in a ball game by the time the final whistle has blown.

I hope you have conquered the Sonora Broncos and are ready to pick the Eldorado Eagles by the time this letter arrives.

Sincerely yours,
HOWARD LEMMONS

Woe is me—it is time for exams again. Each time, I promise myself that I shall study hard every day so I won't dread the finals, but it is no use because I never pay any attention.

This week has been all mixed up. I don't even know what day it is. Wednesday seemed like Monday and that made Friday come in the middle and two Saturdays in one week. The only consolation is that no week has more than seven days in it.

Down with Eldorado!

Deflated Texas To Try To Break A&M Jinx Nov. 27

Aggies Expect Stiff Battle Despite Texas Collapse

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 19.—It seems to make no difference which Thursday in November President F. D. Roosevelt or the governor at Texas may not make the official annual Thanksgiving the football teams of the University of Texas and Texas A&M College still stick to the last Thursday in the month as the day they tempt fate and try to shatter the tradition which says "you don't win on the other fellow's field."

On November 27, Texas Thanksgiving day, the Aggies and the Longhorns will again test that tradition which has been broken but never on each field since resumption of relations in 1913 but never has been broken on the previous fields of in the current season. This year that test has on the Aggie field and all tickets have been sold for the event.

Texas A&M has won three games in Austin, home of the University of Texas, seeking up wins in 1906, 1908 and in 1922 in the modern sense of home and home schools. The Longhorns won at College Station in 1929 in their only win here and in that one last week played a big part.

Even in the game at Aggie back fielded the ball behind the goal line and a Texas player possessed it for the touchdowns which won the game.

The Aggie 14-7 victory in Austin in 1922 was a well played game and no fling of breaks like the Texas win the next year.

So tough is the tradition to shatter in Austin that even Mr. Ripley would hardly believe that the Aggies have not only been defeated there regularly, 1922 excepted, but since the Memorial Stadium was first used for their battle in 1924, the Aggies have scored but ONE touchdown there and like the 1923 piece of luck, they made it when a Texas back fumbled and an Aggie senior playing out his final minute fell on it for the lone touchdown, but the extra point was missed and Texas won, 7-6.

Last year the Aggies had won 13 straight games, including the Sugar Bowl Classic of January 1940 and Texas had only a fair team. What happened? Texas won 7-0 making their touchdown in 38 seconds and the other 20 minutes and 2 seconds the Cadets battled even to tie the score, but tradition stood up and again the home town won.

This year the Longhorns, admittedly a good team despite Baylor and TCU setbacks, threaten to upset the tradition if any Longhorn team is to do it. Both teams play inspired ball against each other and any drop which may be shown from the statistics of scores of past games can be thrown into the ash can, for nothing but the players on the field have anything to say how things will turn out.

Bill Gray, Former Ozona Newsmen, To Chicago Position

Bill Gray, a former Ozona and for a time a member of the editorial staff of the Ozona Stockman, who has been livestock editor of the San Angelo Standard-Times since 1935, left San Angelo Sunday for Chicago where he has accepted a newly created position as director of public relations for the American Aberdeen-Angus Cattle Association.

Gray is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray of San Angelo and a nephew of Hugh Gray of Ozona. He went to the San Angelo paper in November, 1935, after working about a year for the Stockman. At the death of San Angelo he became livestock editor for that paper, and the multivocous work in that department attracted the attention of officials of the Aberdeen-Angus association and result of it his employment to direct publicity for that organization.

Mr. Gray's previous employment was in the Dallas County, Tex., but this was instead of 1935.
