

ROUGH RIDERS TO CLASH WITH TROJANS SATURDAY

We understand that Steer Stadium is to be made one of the most attractive in the state. It will be remembered that the athletic layout was purchased by the school board to give the Steers some place besides Dusty Diamond to carry on their athletic encounters. View-proof vines will be planted on the east side of the stadium. It is sincerely hoped by this writer that like the bean stalk that young Jack tried to wish on the country, the vines will climb in a heavenly direction, thereby relieving to a certain extent those customers who are such rabid football fans that they detest going through the formality of paying a ticket. That takes time and they might miss part of the game that way, so they hurry around to the East side and look through the holes in the wire fence. Those who have fooled around with fences much know it takes little or no effort to find a hole in one. If there had been some way to cash in on the free customers at the football games of the past year, there would be money enough to construct marble goalposts and robot ticket takers.

Basketball has grabbed the spotlight at the local high school. While intra-mural tournaments are progressing, the Steers are priming themselves for the initial contest of the season. At last accounts the game will be with Colorado Friday night over in Mitchell County. That was at last accounts, however.

District One grid teams will have two opportunities this year to back the jinx that District Two has been weaving over the pates of the boys up north for to these many years. While the Breckenridge Buckles are proving to be the Amarillo eleven that 1930 is just another year, and the Amarillo team is just another collection, the Ranger Bulldogs will be taking on the heavy and ambitious Pampa outfit. If our memory serves us faultlessly, the latter game is slated for today, or perhaps it is next Friday. History points out that a Panhandle aggregation has never been able to knock the feathers off an Oil Belt bird. Always, in the bi-district tussle, the District Two aggregation has come through with flying colors, and the District One has gone back home to start moulding another contender. Breckenridge has just emerged from two mighty encounters, however. Any team that plays Ranger and Cisco in a file and then steps out and takes on the champions of another sector, is having plenty of football competition. However, even with that handicap, and another one of the Sandies having the Bucs in their own back yard, the battling boys of S'owell would be likely to prove the annual theory—it takes a good team to win the District One title, but at least two good ones and a quartet of water boys to cop the bi-affair.

While the wise boys are selecting the all-district elevens, they might also point out the all-district football team. Ranger cops the honor in a center. It is the opinion of this humble scribbler that Ranger is the best football hamlet in the state. A comparison of gate receipts will show that Ranger probably leads the pack, and has a few dollars left over. Ranger hasn't put out a winning combination since 1926, yet today Ranger is a better football town than it was along about the time "Blair Cherry took his Bulldogs to the semi-finals. Win, lose or draw, each year the fans start pushing the doggies to the front rank, and they do their best to keep them there. The same spirit that prevails at Ranger is apparent at Cisco, also only not so much so. The worst year financially, Ranger had was in 1926. That year more money was taken in, but more than that was put out, and the thing ended $3,000 in the red. Since that time, good crowds have kept the Bulldogs in the front rank. Breckenridge, of course, has a great spirit now. But we believe if the Buckles were to follow the same path the Bulldogs have on the last four seasons, there wouldn't be that "here's another season-next-year" feeling that prevails in the Ranger stronghold.

Eastland is to build a new athletic field. Some of the businessmen, probably worn out climbing around the mountain where the other Maverick field was located have started a movement for a new corporation.

San Angelo can be commended for good crowds, also. The obituary have been struggling along for a number of years now. They have been called several times, but have never answered. Ever since Sam Iron Grimes' hair started falling out, the Bobens have been rapped and socked over the district. Yet at the Big Spring-San Angelo game a very good game was realized. Of course a great reaction of that can be credited to the fact that lots of people were curious to see the Steers in action this year.

The world has been saved. Blondo Cross has selected his all-district team. For some reason or another, he places Grimes at tackle. That settles this department to such an extent that he forget and gave the public has a clear eye without a word. The Great One also places White at Breckenridge at guard instead of Captain Thomas of Breckenridge in order to have the business department

California Eleven Leaves Los Angeles As Scrapping Irish Invades Stronghold

Rockne's Trick Stuff Pitted Against Power as Taught By Howard Jones To Mighty Men of Troy

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5 (AP)—As Notre Dame's rough, tough team neared Los Angeles today their Saturday opponents, the powerful University of Southern California eleven, ran away. The Californians were in full flight, but not from their adversaries on the football field. They fled from their friends and well wishers.

Long before Coach Knute Rockne led his Indiana stalwarts out of Tucson, Ariz., on the last lap of their long trail, Coach Howard Jones slipped his Trojans out of their stronghold and away to a hotel in an unidentified city. However, announcement that final practice of the home team will be held on a Pasadena field gave a hint as to the city in which Jones and his men sought sanctuary from handshakers and back slappers.

Whether the Notre Dame wonder team could round out its second successful season without a defeat rested on the lap of the football gods and the mighty men of Troy.

Strategy
As the Notre Dame players sped toward the battleground, their heads were filled with "trick stuff," Rockne's famous strategy. Southern California is not so crafty but Coach Jones believes in power with a capital "P." A full day away, the railbirds thought the struggle might develop into a battle of giants employing different tactics. Should the Commanders from their conning towers on the bench elect to pit cunning against brawn, the resulting maneuvers may be as interesting as the $8,000 prospective customers effect.

The field tomorrow afternoon will be cluttered up with great backs, there being no lack of bad carriers and interferences on either team. And the blocking backs of Rockne and Jones will know they have been in a game when it is over. Each coach believes that a man on the ground will not contribute much to his team's defense and the order is "knock 'em all down."

Injuries
The spectre of injury haunted each squad. Larry Mullins, South Pasadena boy anxious to show the home folk that he can hold his own with the Trojan band, may be thwarted by bursts from taking his place in the Notre Dame backfield. Ralph Wilcox, Southern California end, may play a while, but will not be up to par as a result of a November injury.

Old man percentage will be playing with the Trojans and Notre Dame's best defensive warrior may be necessary to block him out of the play. The Southlanders have won 13 straight games and by the law of averages are due to lose.

Three of the four games between Notre Dame and Southern California have been won by Notre Dame, each by a single point. This one may be as close either way.

34 Golfers In Frisco Tourney

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Thirty-four of the original 143 entrants in the $7,500 San Francisco open golf tournament turned out today to cut the field down to eight quarter-finalists.

Vic Owen of San Pedro, Ed Gayer of Chicago and Hutt Martin of Reno were set to start the day's activities by competing in a qualifying list of thirty-two. Each scored 151 in yesterday's qualifying rounds.

Two rounds of match play, each consisting of eighteen holes, were the main features of today's card. Outstanding matches on the schedule found the medalist, Harry Cooper of Chicago opposing Will Fred Cox of New York; Horton Smith of New York meeting Fred Morrison of Alhambra, Calif.; and Tommy Armour of Detroit facing Alvin Ewing of Chicago. Cooper led the field with a 138 for yesterday's 26 holes.

Football War Nearing Close

Four Games To Bring Eastern Battle To An End

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—A four-gun salute to the 1930 Eastern football war will be fired tomorrow, leaving only the final rumble of the Army-Navy fray a week later to end the season.

Colgate and New York University meet in a benefit game. Carnegie Tech and Washington and Jefferson were originally scheduled to meet a week ago. Navy meets Pennsylvania at Philadelphia while Western Maryland, the East's lone undefeated team, tackles Maryland at Baltimore in the fourth.

Navy and Penn both have poor records and injuries are liable to hamper both teams. The Midshipmen, with a good first team but few reserves, now find that Joe Tachiri and possibly Lou Kirm, two of their most effective backs, will be missing. It seems probable that any injured players will be saved in the Penn game so that the Navy can send its best team against the Army.

HOLLYWOOD—Julia Faye has an unusual ambition to get into the act and stay there.

Well, not exactly, but she wants to be "typed" definitely as an actress of certain character roles.

And the Julia Faye who has been in the picture business for several years is the same who during 14 years in pictures has built a reputation for versatility scarcely to be equaled.

During that time she has played every conceivable role from ladies maids to queens and girls women from Russian peasant girls to callous inmates of reform schools.

A NEW JULIA

But the talkies have ended all that, she contends. She made her microphone debut as the sophisticated Marcia Towne, society woman in "Dynamite" and it is roles of that type she intends to play from now on.

Such parts, she believes, will not limit opportunities for characterization, as each portrayal of the type can be made different.

Versatility, the aim of most players who loudly if vainly cry for new and different roles, Miss Faye has found a drawback. Never having been associated with any particular type of part, she has not been called to mind by directors casting for such particular types.

Often her roles have come to her because some other actress was not available. Then they would say, "Let Julia do it"—and as likely as not were surprised later that they had not thought of her first.

VALUE OF "RUT"

If the script calls for a peppy youngster they think of Clara Bow or Alice White; for a quieter sort of sweetness, of Loretta Young or Mary Brian or Marian Nixon; for a comedienne, or Louie Fazenda or Polly Moran, or some other definitely associated with those roles.

Another damage this versatility has wrought to Julia Faye is, in fact, following: Going into a movie house and seeing a film with Julia Faye in the cast, they may enjoy her work.

But the next time they see a Julia Faye picture they will be unable to find her—because for the sake of versatility she has donned a high wig or a crown or some indisputable costume and is unrecognizable.

WILD BEAUTY

by MATEL HOWE FARNHAM

SYNOPSIS: When David Frost runs away and marries Fanny Freiburg, vivacious daughter of a poor German music teacher, David's mother is furious.

Mrs. Frost is leader of the proud Frost-Brownbeck clan, aristocrats of the little town of Cloughbarre, Pennsylvania. To her Fanny is not quite a "lady." To gain happiness for Fanny, David moves from his mother's home to a small cottage, resigns from his uncle's bank and gets another job.

A daughter, Sheila, is born to Fanny and David. Little squabbles over money matters, inevitable with their poverty, are all that mar their happiness. Bob Daniels, married unhappily to Lella, a wealthy cousin of David's, spends much time with Fanny. When he leaves to go overseas in the World War, he reveals to Fanny for the first time that he loves her. Amelia, David's sister, marries Clark Smith, a war correspondent.

Chapter 5 THE ENEMY STRIKES

CLARK SMITH was the son of a Washington patent lawyer of national reputation and of greater social importance (outside of Cloughbarre) than the Frosts and the Brownbecks. He was a young man with much charm, real strength of character and every promise of making good in his chosen career.

But because Clark's parents were living apart, Mrs. Frost vigorously opposed the marriage, and felt that she had been stabbed in the back when her brother and David, after mature deliberation, set her objection aside.

Now that Amelia had left her, Mrs. Frost decided David and Fanny must come back. Now she could never bear that big house, ghostly with memories, David looked white and drawn—with Fanny's cooking, no wonder—she would be far better off. And as for Fanny—well, Fanny knew that David had certain definite obligations when she married him. What obligation could be more binding to a son than his widowed mother?

The first blow fell about three weeks after Amelia's wedding. Things had been going better in the house resperped and ordered that new bathroom put in if she'd known Amelia was going to be married. I can't have her stinking herself to pay for your clothes—or let Amelia ask Clark to pay."

Fanny winked back her tears, glad of the growing twilight. She suspected that David did not altogether believe her story, but she did not dare make sure.

It wasn't fair of David—it was frightfully unfair—to think that she would tell lies about big things, or about things that really mattered. Just because, once or twice, she had told a few little fibs about bills to keep David from worrying. Or had she fibbed to David because she was afraid of him?

David loved her; he was impatient at times, but he was always sorry afterward, and he was never cutting or sarcastic except in fun. It was his silence, his habit of withdrawing into himself that frightened her.

Her own anger were quick but soon ended—an occasional boiling over and letting off steam that cleared the atmosphere and left no drugs. David took his anger hard, as he took life hard. When he was offended it was as if a chattering came and dwelt in his place. A stranger in David's dear image sat opposite her at table, talked to her, kissed her goodbye; a stranger who was devastatingly polite, devastatingly considerate. He might stay for hours or days—and then some morning Fanny would wake forlornly to find she had been forgotten—the hated chattering was gone and her darling David back.

Fanny was guiltless in the matter of the bridesmaid's dress and knew she ought to have it out with her husband. But she loved him too entirely to be able to punish him.

The second blow fell long before the bridesmaid's dress was paid for. Fanny awakened one week day morning to find the sunshine pouring in and the clock striking eight.

"David darling, we've slept right through the alarm. It's eight—we must rush."

"No hurry—I didn't set the alarm."

"You didn't? But why?"

"If you must know I lost my job three days ago."

"And you didn't tell me?"

"I didn't want you to worry. I thought I'd land another, perhaps a better one, before I told you."

Fanny laid her cheek against David's, kissed him over and over. David suffered the cares but did not return it.

"A fine man you married," he said bitterly.

"Darling, don't be silly. Just because that wretch Jim Tuttle is jealous of you."

"I'm certain Jim hadn't a thing to do with it—he was too surprised. It was Mr. Tuttle."

"The hypocrite! What excuse did he give?"

"None at all. He wrote me a formal note enclosing a month's salary in lieu of notice, and then went out of town."

When Fanny had given Sheila her breakfast and started the coffee she came back and sat on the edge of the bed. David had not moved. "Darling, has it occurred to you that your uncle may be back of this?"

"Yes. At least he's got the town sewed up so that I'll have to go back to the bank or starve."

"Nonsense. It's terribly flattering of course, the trouble your uncle takes to force you to come back, but because his horizon is limited is no reason why ours should be. There are thousands of towns outside of Cloughbarre where they're looking for men of your ability."

"My ability? After four years I worked up to about the wage a day laborer starts with. Plasterers and plumbers and painters make double—and have no trouble holding down their jobs."

"Poor lamb, you're morbid. You know as well as I do that you've been discriminated against here. Mr. Tuttle never paid you what you were worth because he knew there wasn't any other place in town open to you. With a wife and baby on your hands, naturally you haven't felt free to strike out and yobur uncle's counting on. Now it's up to us to show him what's in us."

Movement To Petition For Public Kindergarten Under Way

P.T.A.s, Child Study Clubs To Be Sponsors Free Institution Needed, Say Teachers and Mothers

INTEREST among mothers of children under the scholastic age down to and including five years, is being aroused on the subject of a public kindergarten in this city.

Many of the younger mothers, who cannot afford to send their children to private institutions, feel that they enter the first grade under a handicap when forced to compete with youngsters who have had earlier training.

The Child Study Club, the P.T.A.s throughout the city and other women's organizations will sponsor the movement to establish such a school.

This movement first appeared in the meeting of the South Ward Parent-Teacher's association meeting yesterday afternoon.

The body of women, one of the best organized and most progressive in the city, was read a letter from Miss Grace Montague, field secretary in Texas of the National Kindergarten Association.

In her letter she stated that it is necessary only to petition the School Board with the signatures of parents of twenty-five or more children under the scholastic age down to and including five years, residing within the school district.

Following is the petition: To the Honorable Board of Trustees, City or Town of County District State of Texas.

We, the undersigned parents or guardians of 25 or more children under the scholastic age down to and including five years, residing within said district, respectfully petition your Honorable Board to establish and maintain a kindergarten in School for the training of our said children.

Miss Montague's letter follows: May I speak to your group through this letter regarding a means of economy and a method of bringing about a more widespread practice of the Golden Rule? I am sure that all feel the need of these at the present time.

The Hot-Toast Test Is Your Personal Margarine Test

Take a piece of hot toast and spread liberally with Nucoa. Notice how the good, wholesome elements of this delicacy begin to register on the taste buds.

The Hot-Toast Test will prove to you that Nucoa is unlike any other margarine.

The makers of Nucoa believe that quality margarine should be a food delicacy and not a cheap commercial article.

Therefore Nucoa comes to the housewife with a uniform, rich, sweet flavor quite unlike that of ordinary margarine.

Mud and Rain Can't Daunt These Mothers

South Ward P.T.A. Gathers To Hear Children In Program

MOTHERS of children in the South Ward School showed their increasing interest in the work of their youngsters in that often mysterious and misunderstood realm of the school room yesterday when some two score of them troked through the mud and pouring rain to attend the South Ward Parent-Teachers Association meeting.

Not only that, but four new members were added to the growing roster of this organization. The new members are Mrs. Wofford Hardy, Mrs. Horace Jenkins, Mrs. Feiton Smith and Mrs. Harry Lees.

Mrs. Bernard Fisher, president, called the meeting to order and introduced the program for the day, which was given by the children.

"A Song and Smiles of Welcome," singing parts: Nada Ruth Buffington, Pauline Sanders, Billie Perry, Lillian McElhannon, Wofford Hardy, Cleo Davidson, I. C. Threat and Joe Hampton; speaking parts: Jack Burdock, John Billie Cary, Bennett Weaver, Earl Glazer, Mary Patterson, Geraldine Gaway, Evelyn Barnard.

"The Battle of the Colors," R.J. Fairies: John H. Lee, James Webb, Jack Rice; reen Faries Francis Smith, Nell Wallace, Mary Louise Robertson.

"Confessions," Ruth Thomas, Lonnie Mason, J. B. King, Chalmers Vogt, James Fallon, Carroll Kavanaugh and Don Thomas.

Following the program the business session was held. A letter from Miss Grace Montague, field secretary in Texas of the National Kindergarten Association, was read to the group.

Mrs. Fisher read an article by Dr. Garry C. Myers, Ph. D., head of the division of parental education of Cleveland College, Western Reserve University and expert in the realm of child psychology.

The Child's Report Card He wrote on the subject of the child's report card. His advice to parents of children who receive lower grades than their brothers or sisters was most commonsense.

He suggested that they not ridicule the slower child, but look into the reason for his slowness. Comparison of one child with another only crushes the slower child and faults the quicker child until he is filled with ideas of his own importance.

Mrs. Fisher then appointed a committee to fill in with either dirt or gravel, the holes around the playground equipment which catch

Many Enter Recipe Contest Mrs. Walter Douglass and Mrs. J. B. Delbridge Win Subscriptions to Herald for Best Recipes

WITHOUT A DOUBT we were highly gratified at the returns from last week's "turkey dressing" recipe contest.

Recipes have been pouring in all during the week and it seems as if the contestants would prefer to have a six month's subscription to the Daily Herald than $2 in money or that much in merchandise at a local store.

This week we have awarded the first prize of a six month's subscription to Mrs. Walter R. Douglass.

What! Turkey Hash Again? What do you do with your turkey when the first meal is finished?

How do you make it appetizing so that for days following the family still enjoys the remains of the noble bird?

Give us your recipes for turkey hash, for creamed turkeys, for any other clever and interesting way in which you tempt the appetites of your family and save the hard earned shekels.

We offer a six month's subscription to the Daily Herald for the best list of recipes and a three month's subscription for the second best list. Mail yours in now!

las for three simple and inexpensive recipes. They are within the ken of every young bride in both price and ease in making.

And to Mrs. J. B. Delbridge we have awarded the second prize of a three month's subscription. Her basic recipes and her "variations" show the touch of a "natural" cook.

Following are Mrs. Douglass' recipes:

Turkey Stuffing 3 cups of egg bread crumbs 3 cups of white bread crumbs 1 medium size onion Turkey broth

1-2 teaspoon sage Dash of black pepper Moisten the bread crumbs with the broth, minced onion, add sage and pepper. Stuff turkey and bake.

Bread Stuffing 3 quarts stale bread crumbs 1 tablespoon sage 1-2 cup chopped celery 3-4 cup turkey broth or butter 1-2 cup chopped onion 2 tablespoons chopped parsley Salt and pepper Combine crumbs, salt, pepper, sage and parsley. Meanwhile simmer onion gently in the broth (or butter) until tender. Then add seasoned bread crumbs. Stir and heat until crumbs are browned.

Oyster Stuffing 6 cups of cracker crumbs 1-2 cup melted butter, Salt and pepper A few drops of onion juice 1 quart of oysters. Mix the ingredients in the order given and add oysters drained from their liquor. Bake in moderate oven until done.

Turkey Stuffings (Mrs. J. B. Delbridge, 403 W 5th St) It is truly an art to make a good dressing. A taste for interesting combinations, a choice of seasoning, a blending of ingredients and the proper proportion of liquid must form the basis for a perfect dressing. There is a special dressing for each kind of poultry. Turkey and chicken require a less highly flavored dressing than duck or goose, while guinea fowl needs still another variety.

Old fashioned bread dressing is the foundation for a number of good willings. The addition of celery, oysters, sausage, mushrooms, chestnuts or onions to the basic recipe, change it as the cook desires.

Sweetwater Housewife Suffered For 8 Months

SAYS THERE IS CERTAINLY A WONDERFUL DIFFERENCE IN THE WAY SHE FEELS NOW SINCE TAKING ARGOTANE GAINS DAILY.

"It is certainly wonderful the way Argotane took hold of my trouble after I had been suffering for the past eight months and my efforts to find relief failed completely until I commenced taking this medicine," said Mrs. Rufus Weather, who lives at 408 Northwest Tenth St., Sweetwater, Texas, the other day.

In relating further her experience with Argotane, she said, "Sometimes for weeks at a time I would be nervous and restless and unable to get a good night's rest, which was the result of long months of suffering. My stomach was in a bad condition all the time, and almost as soon as I would finish eating a meal I would get bilious and my food would get sour and gas would form so bad that I would be miserable for two or three hours. I would have terrible headaches. I did everything I could think of trying to get relief but in spite of it all I just kept on getting weaker and feeling more tired out, sluggish and run down all the time.

"It was a hard matter for me to make up my mind to take this Argotane, for I had been disappointed so many times I had about lost faith in all kinds of medicines. I finally made up my mind to get one bottle of Argotane and if I felt that it had helped me I would get more. To my great surprise, I commenced to feel better before I had taken the medicine a week. Well, to tell the truth, it has stopped my headaches and I feel so much better in every way I can hardly realize I am the same person I was a few weeks ago. Argotane is restoring my health and I am now as happy and grateful that I never use the opportunity to speak a good word for this great medicine. I am more than glad to give this story to my friends. Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drug Store."

Mellon Joins Hoover In Opposition To Retaining Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—It looks more than as though Mr. Taxpayer will have to pay one per cent more on this year's income than on the last.

President Hoover and Secretary Mellon see it that way. The president's opposition to continuance of the one per cent reduction on 1929 incomes went to congress yesterday's budget message. The secretary of the treasury supported those views today in his annual report. He repeated the forecast of a $180,000,000 deficit when the fiscal year ends next June.

PILES

Ended Without Cutting or Salves Thousands of Pile sufferers have learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves or cutting remove the cause.

Had circulation of the blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To end Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation and strengthen the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was the first to discover a real internal Pile remedy. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with the marvelous record of success in 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Dr. Leonhardt's prescription has a wonderful record of success right in this city and Collins Bros. invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID and guarantee to refund the purchase price if it does not end all Pile misery.—adv.

education according to many psychologists, the most valuable, and a year during which no parent in the community will question being able to afford sparing the child.

The kindergarten is the proper foundation for an education. It lessens retardation, unhappiness and delinquency; it inculcates healthful habits of thought, industry and an appreciation of the accomplishments and rights of others.

Won't you try to get a kindergarten opened in the public school of your community? Women's organizations in other places have succeeded in such efforts and the citizens are already beginning to realize how much they owe to them. I shall be very happy to furnish leaflets, loan posters and help by telling you how others have worked.

For your convenience I am enclosing a petition blank. Sometimes all that is necessary is to obtain signatures and present the petition to the school board. Yours very sincerely, GRACE MONTAGUE, Field Secretary.
