Parents who get angry when their child is stopped for a traffic violation doing their children the best possible disservice. It may ruffle some feathers, but being the parent of a teen-age boy with a car, I feel that I have a right and duty to speak out on this subject.

I have always been of the opinion that if my son violates a rule, he should suffer the consequences. Any attitude on my part is unthinkable. When I mentioned to a local officer that I expected him to see that my teen-ager drove carefully and did not violate the law, I placed in him when I gave him a car, I thought he would faint from surprise.

Any time my son gets a ticket for a traffic violation, I will not only have to deal with it, he will have to deal with me. I will have to contend with my mother to get him the keys to the car and take them away just as fast as I can.

I don't care one little bit if "so-and-so" did it and got a ticket, nor do I care for that overworked cop "everybody does it." I know that kids will be kids and get into trouble, but I also know that an automobile is not a place to do it. This may sound a little hard-hearted, but I love my child and I don't want him killed or maimed for life as the result of a reckless impulse in driving, and I would be badly if negligence on his part hurt someone else, a not out and able to watch over him every time he gets in his car, so I don't mind the law to help in this area.

I believe we have seen the results of our nation's campaign of parents upholding child no matter whether he is right or wrong. It obviously has not worked out to the benefit of our child or parent. A lack of discipline is bad, but the law of disrespect for law enforcement officers is worse.

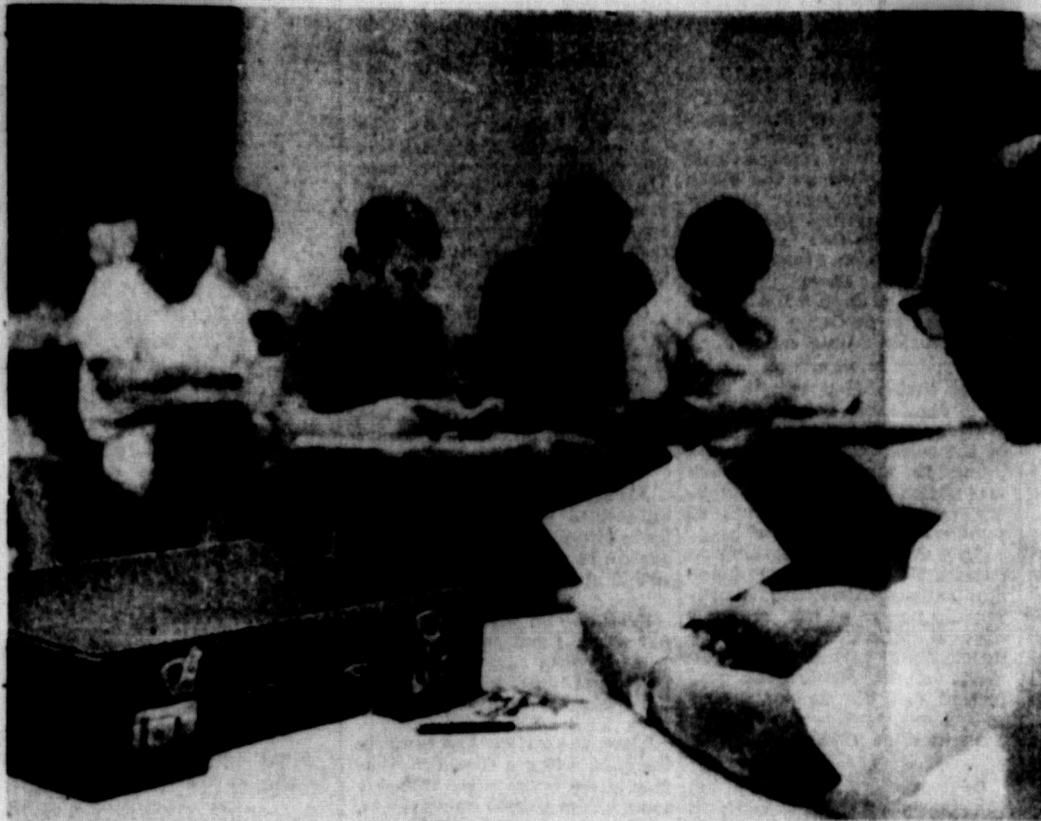

I believe our law enforcement officers are fair and unbiased and I do not believe that they would give a kid a ticket for a traffic violation simply because they don't like him or have a grudge against him, and that discipline will not be tolerated at my house.

It is my opinion that when parents raise Cain with their child gets reprimanded for a traffic violation, they are giving that child a license to get out and drive as recklessly as possible and get by with as much as possible. I hope parents who read this will take the spirit in which it is written and give it a little thought. Don't wait until your child is touched by tragedy before you come to the realization that law enforcement officers are only trying to make the streets safe for everyone, not giving a grudge against your youngsters when they stop for a traffic violation.

The June number didn't long, as had been expected and summer weather is to have set in with a vengeance. I am convinced "Hell," no matter where located underground, somewhere south of Ozona.

A steady hot wind from the south has been blowing for three days and it's hard to imagine where else it could be coming from. (Continued on Last Page)

LEARNING TO DRIVE, these Ozona High School teenagers are digging in on the paper work and question and answer session with instructor Rip Sewell. OHS football coach and history teacher, in one of the largest driver education classes here in recent years. The case on the professor's desk contains the drivers ed kit used in various demonstrations and examples.

51 Teenagers Enrolled In Driver Ed. Course

Driver's Education classes started the first Monday after school was out last month and 51 students, freshmen and sophomores, are in the midst of a busy schedule of classroom studies under the instruction of Coach Rip Sewell.

The students are divided into two classes in order that the 30 hours of required classroom instruction may be covered thoroughly before the written examination which will be held Monday at 9:00 a. m. A student must take and pass the state written examination in order to qualify for a beginner's license and learner's permit. This is necessary in order that students may begin behind-the-wheel instruction.

Classroom study covers a driver's text book and the driver's handbook published by the state of Texas. The driver's education course is given annually in an endeavor to establish good driving theories, attitudes and a complete knowledge of good driving rules. With successful completion of driver's education, a youngster is eligible to get his driver's license at age 16 in the State of Texas, otherwise the age is 18. Although students may take the driving part of the program at age 15, they must wait until they are 16 years of age before taking the state driving test.

Red Cross Sends $100 To Lubbock Relief

The Crockett County Chapter of the American Red Cross recently sent a check in the amount of $100 for tornado relief to the tornado ravaged city of Lubbock.

The 1970 drive is still incomplete and funds are considerably below the annual quota. Those who have not been contacted this year are urged to make their donation at the Water District office.

To continue work with service men and their families in the county and the many other services offered by the local chapter, it is extremely important that the quota be met.

Air Force Major Critically Hurt In Auto Mishap

An Air Force Major was critically injured around 7:30 Thursday evening when he lost control of the vehicle he was driving about five miles east of Ozona where IS 10 goes into Hwy. 290.

Major Jack D. Wichard remained unconscious yesterday at Kelly AFB hospital where he is suffering from brain concussion, broken arms and numerous other injuries.

The accident occurred when Major Wichard lost control of the late model pickup he was driving at high speed. The vehicle careened across the highway, crashed into a utility pole, veered back across the highway, throwing the occupant out onto the pavement and traveling 235 yards before coming to a stop in a pasture.

Coach expects all students to complete the course by August 1.

Freak Accident Takes Life Of Ozonan's Brother

Highway patrolman John Harris received word Thursday evening of the death of his brother, Billy Ray Harris, 43, in a freak accident in Colorado. Mr. Harris and his wife were on vacation from their home in Fort Worth and he was crushed when a car he was working on fell on him. Although the car was blocked up, heavy rains caused the ground to give way under the vehicle and Harris was killed instantly.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 p. m. Saturday in Fort Worth. Other survivors include his wife, of Fort Worth; another brother; four sisters and his mother, Mrs. Anne Harris of Brownwood.

VFW Organization Meeting Set Here For Friday Night

The State Commander and Junior Vice Commander are expected to be here for the meeting, Albers said. All veterans of foreign wars are urged to be present.

1970 Hunting Season Changes Aired At Meet

Parks and Wildlife representatives and local game warden Raymond Davee held a public hearing in the district courtroom June 1, for the purpose of gathering information concerning proposed hunting, fishing and trapping regulations for Crockett County.

As a result of the action taken by the Texas Legislature, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission is responsible for the setting of seasons, bag limits, and means and methods of taking the wildlife resources in the county.

Several important changes proposed in the State's game laws that are of local interest and affect Crockett County are as follows: Change the open season for deer from the second Saturday in November through January 1 to the Saturday nearest November 15 through the first Sunday in January. This would establish a standard 51-day season every year.

Outlaw rimfire ammunition or .22 caliber jet or rocket guns in the taking or shooting of, or in attempting to take or shoot wild deer, wild elk, wild antelope, wild aoudad sheep, or wild desert bighorn sheep.

Open the archery season in all counties under regulatory authority which do not have an archery season now.

Outlaw shooting of fur-bearing animals from a boat on public waters.

Institute any sex turkey season in Bandera, Crockett, Edwards, Gillespie, Kendall, Kerr, Kimble, McCulloch, Menard, Real, Schleicher, Sutton and Val Verde Counties in the Edwards Plateau District.

Dr. Jim Everett To Begin Medical Practice In Ozona After July 1st

Dr. Jim Everett, who is this month completing his internship at the R. E. Thomson Memorial Hospital in El Paso, will move to Ozona around July 1 to begin the general practice of medicine and surgery in Ozona.

This announcement was made by Dr. J. B. Bram of Eldorado, president of Medica Diversified, a corporation which manages the Eldorado Medical Center and is presently operating the Crockett County Hospital under a management agreement with the county through its commissioners court.

Water Use Up As Hot Weather Descends Here

With hot, dry weather continuing, water consumption is expected to jump to a record high when water district workers begin reading water meters today. With no appreciable amount of rainfall since the middle of May, residents have been busy almost daily watering lawns and gardens.

Water consumption in May of this year was up 13 million gallons over that of the same period last year. Consumers used 21,000,000 gallons of water in May of 1969 and 34,000,000 in May of this year. Water usage usually peaks in July or August each year and rainfall is the big factor.

Camping Ends, Little League Play Resumes

After a week off for camp, Little League play resumed Monday night with Flying W Ranchers holding onto their second-half lead with a 7-5 win over the B&B Grocers, while first-half champions Moore Oil lost a 4-2 decision to Ozona Oil.

In the first game of the night, Flying W got 7 runs for 7 hits with Vince Huffman and Johnny Castro getting two hits each to lead the attack. Vaden Aldridge and Jim Tankersley had a hit each for B&B. Winning pitcher was Ray Vargas and the loser was Aldridge.

As to plans for the hospital operation, Mr. Barfield said that both the county and the corporation are exploring plans for finalizing a contract under which the corporation would assume operation of the entire medical center here without expense to the county except for incidental building maintenance. Envisioned in the plan is the construction of a 35-bed addition to the hospital as a nursing home. The County Commissioners have agreed that the county can go to a maximum of $150,000 for such addition and plans are being studied with a view to coming up with a definite building program.

Dr. Everett, who is married and has three children, received his masters degree from East Texas State at Commerce and his medical degree from the University of Texas Medical School at Galveston. Dr. Everett has been filling in for a physician on vacation at Clarksville the past two weeks but has returned to El Paso to complete the last two weeks of his internship there.

Mrs. Everett was reported in Ozona this week arranging for a place to live. Meanwhile, the county is making certain repairs and refinishing of the doctor's office in the medical building until recently used by Dr. Carlisle.

Danny Barfield of Eldorado, attorney for Medica Diversified, was in Ozona yesterday and reported that the corporation is in touch with a couple of other doctors but is not in position as yet to announce plans of another physician to move here. Too, the corporation is presently waiting on a final decision by Dr. Ralph Simon as to whether or not he plans to stay here, Mr. Barfield said.

MORE SLANTED TV NEWS

Some of our readers may tire of our complaints about slanted tv national network news programs, but we think they are a disgrace and that they ought to be corrected. For example; anyone tuned into the boob tube right after the Cambodian move and tragedy at Kent State will know that the impression given was that all hell had broken loose at every campus in the land. Moos of "students" were shown in a mad binge of raiding, looting, burning, etc.

Now hear this: congressional and law enforcement investigating agencies are coming up with increasing evidence that large numbers of the bona-fide rioters are and were not students, but off-campus adults and professional agitators affiliated with radical, non-academic organizations. Thus the "co-ed student" shown raising her arms in hysteria over the body of a Kent State victim was, in fact, not a student but an out-of-state juvenile delinquent who had been the object of search by her parents and police for months.

Also hear this: a group of students at Washington College in Maryland, some of whom were against our Cambodian policy, suspected that the tv coverage of campus activities had been unfair to students by overstressing violence — and so they conducted a survey to find out. It was learned that out of 23 campuses polled, there was no violence, no lawlessness, no destruction at 21 of them. There were some protests — 13 seminars or lectures were reported, and 8 colleges had letter writing campaigns — but they were peaceful, within the law, and within the bonds of responsible, respectable academic behavior.

Only one of the colleges reported destruction of buildings or injuries to persons, and at another there was an attempt to do damage to a building. And only a handful of radicals were involved.

"We believe the facts speak for themselves," reported the Student Government Association. "Tv news broadcasts are listened to by large audiences and these audiences are getting a distorted view of college students. The vast majority of students are concerned citizens who are currently engaged in peaceful efforts to make their views known. Why must they provide such a distorted and unfair view?"

Wouldn't it be nice if the tv networks would declare a moratorium on all reports of violence, and take maybe a month or so to present news programs of what is really taking place on campus?

ON LEARNING ABOUT LIFE

On occasion we spot a ray of hope beaming from amidst the murky clouds of immorality, drugs, dropouts, and general alienation that seems to darken the lives of too many youths in our society. One sage has predicted that because of the permissive behavior of modern youths, they will, when they attain maturity, turn out to be among the most strict parental generations in recent history. We hope that this turns out to be the case; and there are some signs to indicate that maybe he is right.

In the March 23rd edition of the National Observer, there was a report on a visit to a so-called "commune" in the State of Washington. The reporter was greeted at the door of the most elaborate house in the commune by a very nude young man. They entered the living room for the in-

Network of Freedom

Probably no better argument was ever advanced for the maintenance of a free press in this country than the hassle over TV cigarette advertising.

There is perhaps nobody in the country who will stand up and seriously argue that cigarettes possess any merit . . . not even one who smokes three packs a day. But on the other hand, there has never been a law passed against them, and as long as the late lamentable experiment with Prohibition is remembered, there probably never will be such a law. After all, there is probably more alcoholism than lung cancer.

But that still does not condone cigarettes. Yet because in Washington there is a segment of the ruling clique that is opposed to cigarettes, pressure was put on the broadcast industry to run huge amounts of public service time for spots calling attention to the tobacco hazard. With the Federal Communications Commission, holding the power of life or death over a station, refusals were none. Thus, regardless of the merit of the issue, here was trotted out the use of naked power over a news media by the will of an influential clique.

Of course, at the same time, the stations have been running cigarette advertising. Thus, there has been the curious paradox of paid commercials being run, and unpaid commercials against cigarettes being run, in the same time period.

Thus, the nation has come to the time when a free, independent press is the most valuable asset a free people have. While, as already demonstrated, hurrahs can, and will, whip-saw the broadcast media around in any way it pleases, as long as a free press exists they can only go so far.

interview, where they were joined by the wife, also stark naked. During the discussion the young couple displayed the typical, and predictable, "anti-establishment" motivations. The claimed to be both anti-capitalist and anti-communist; they just don't want to live under any authority of any kind. But the most interesting—and we believe, significant—part of the reported conversation was the fact that many of the things that society has learned over the years to be best for all, are now being "discovered" by the commune residents. They confessed to the reporter that their experimental ventures into mate swapping and "group marriages" had failed. "Monogamy seems to create the least amount of tensions and provides more stability for raising children" is the way one resident put it. Now, isn't that a remarkable "discovery" for a college graduate!

On the theory of sharing all: a female resident told of the utter and complete failure of the system. "True communal life just didn't work out," he said: "Everyone contributed according to his ability, all right; but those who had less ability seemed to have more needs." She noted that a worker would chop firewood to heat the house — and a drone would leave all the doors open.

On drugs; addicts with drugs invaded the commune a while back and didn't work at all. Now some of the residents will not even take aspirin or coffee, much less liquor.

Well, maybe from a coldly scientific view such "communal" life is instructional. We'll be ready to believe it when they begin to wear clothing when greeting guests at their door.

WHAT TEENAGERS WANT MOST

Wonder what young people want most from their parents these days? You are not alone. Recently a regional PTA asked the teachers in several Junior High and Senior High schools to request their pupils to write unsigned papers on the subject. "What are the things you wish your parents would do or not do?"

No guidelines were issued: No other questions were asked. The idea was to draw answers "straight off the top of the heads" of the young students. Some of the replies may come as a surprise. A count showed that the wishes expressed most often were:

- Be stricter.
- Be more dedicated to church work and church as a family.
- Be fun loving.
- Treat my friends like I were welcome.
- Try to understand me and my friends.
- Don't treat me like a child but depend on me more.
- Tell me right from wrong but don't be too harsh about it.
- Not fuss at me before the people.
- Not curse, not drink, no smoke.
- Answer simple questions without giving a lecture.
- Ask my opinion instead of demanding.
- Be trustworthy.
- Sometimes it takes me a long time to explain why I did something and I'm not victed before the trial begins.
- I would like my parents to be more thoughtful of another. Love one another. Love me.

church work and church as a family. Be fun loving. Treat my friends like I were welcome. Try to understand me and my friends. Don't treat me like a child but depend on me more. Tell me right from wrong but don't be too harsh about it. Not fuss at me before the people. Not curse, not drink, no smoke. Answer simple questions without giving a lecture. Ask my opinion instead of demanding. Be trustworthy. Sometimes it takes me a long time to explain why I did something and I'm not victed before the trial begins. I would like my parents to be more thoughtful of another. Love one another. Love me.

We are not told where a survey was held. But it is interesting, and significant, that the students should press the wish that parents "be stricter." This would appear to indicate that there called "permissive" some of the adult world is not tirely to the liking of young people. The replies are that these youths felt a need for more discipline, and with understanding — a healthy measure of self-discipline on the part of parents, too.

NOTICE OF HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT OR CONSTRUCTION

The Texas Highway Department is planning to proceed with the development of the proposed highway improvements on U. S. Highway 67 from the Pecos River East 17 miles to 0.9 mile East of the Crockett-Crane County Line. Since the Bureau of Public Roads has approved the route and design proposed for this project, the Highway Department will begin work on the next phase of engineering necessary for the development of this project.

The proposed project will provide for the construction of a two-lane facility and a grade separation at the AT&SF Railroad with U. S. 67 underpassing the railroad. The underpass structure will replace the existing underpass and provide a safer facility located approximately 200 feet west of the existing structure. The relocation of the underpass structure will require relocation of the U. S. 67 route for approximately 6000 feet on variable width right of way with a minimum of 150 feet.

Maps, drawings showing geometric design, and all other available data concerning the development of this project may be inspected at the Resident Engineer's office at Box 949, McCamey, Texas.

LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere. But be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshiping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

TIPS

For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club By Mrs. Bailey Post

Now is the ideal time to enjoy our leisure time in the early morning and late evening hours, either doing garden chores, entertaining or maybe just rocking and relaxing. Outdoor living becomes more popular each year it seems, all the more reason for planning patios, terraces and enclosed areas near the house.

If there are no trees to provide shade, canopies over patios and other garden areas will reduce heat and glare. A lattice-work shelter covered with vines will add beauty and protection from the heat. Another protection is a sturdy framework of metal pipes, topped with heavy mesh to support an over head vine. Vines used in this area are wisteria, ivy, silver lace, morning glory, trumpet vine, jack bean and clematis.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

AS HEARD BY HEARD

Which Monopoly?
A great deal of a stir has been created in the Congress by what is known, among other names, as the "Falling Newspaper Act."

Basically, the purpose of the proposed bitterly contested legislation is to legalize situations whereby the publishers of two competing daily newspapers share certain facilities.

Originally, this plan started to share printing facilities, but in some cities this developed into a situation whereby the two competing publishers share advertising sales forces, and in some instances, even work out a division of profits.

One of the bad results of this situation has been the practice in some areas of adopting combination advertising rates. For example, if the city has a morning and evening newspaper, an advertiser can get a much lower rate by using the two papers in combination.

Often, it is charged, with some validity, that this practice exerts undue competitive pressure on suburban publishers. Obviously, if the nation is to continue its tradition of a free press, destructive competitive pressures are wrong.

But largely overlooked in the entire discussion of this matter is the fact that the mechanical unions in the printing industry exercise too much power.

Many gardens are using potted plants which can be moved in and out as they bloom and finish blooming. If the pots or cans are not placed in the soil up to their rims they will require more water perhaps each day. Be sure the containers have drainage holes and contain good soil. Plants that do well in pots or planters are roses, daylilies, hibiscus, copperplant, succulent, lantana, petunias, caladiums, chrysanthemums, bougainvillea, and small evergreens that stay attractive the year around.

It is run from this plate, but the unions require that the ad be set up in the shop, then dumped into the "hell box" for remelting back into type metal.

The union domination over wages, hours, apprenticeships, and other phases of printing a newspaper was the force that compelled many publishers to seek some sort of a joint printing establishment.

This situation has become especially severe today when modern technology, except for union restrictions and rules, would make it possible to substantially reduce the costs of printing a newspaper.

Yet the printing unions keep applying the pressure, which among other results, made it necessary within the past five years for four major respected New York City newspapers to close down. The fact that this also eliminated jobs for their members did not seem to concern the unions heads.

Thus, as the nation's independent businessmen have long held in their balloting through the National Federation of Independent Business, it is time that unions be placed under the antitrust laws. In a free economy, no one has the right to act in restraint of trade.

For example, a newspaper (National Federation of Independent Business)

Accurate and Complete RANCH RECORDS

Are More Important Today Than Ever

Government regulations and heavy tax programs are destined to be a part of the American way of doing business for a long time. For that reason, it is more important today that every business keep accurate records of its operations.

Easy To Keep - Complete Record - In 1 Volume

The ranch business is no exception. With the stiff federal taxes, you will want to take advantage of every saving item in your expense account and at the same time have clear and convincing records available for inspection by tax agents to prove up any item on your income tax return.

Contract Crockett For IS 10

Construction began this week on a 14.335 mile section of Interstate 10 in Sutton County east of Sonora but plans are indefinite regarding construction of portion of IS 10 in Sutton County, local Highway Department officials

However, right-of-way is being acquired for the section of the new super highway which will go through the city of Ozona.

Twenty miles of the big way was completed in 1969, starting at Taylor Road in Crockett County and ending at the Mans Road in Sutton County. This section is the part of the highway that has been constructed in Crockett County. Work started December 1966 with contract price $5,100,000 for the turnkey job.

Work which began in Sutton County will be the section to be completed that county while on one section, that from Box Road to the Sutton County line, has been completed in Crockett County.

Work recently started in Sutton County was one of the few sections where condemnation suits were filed. This factor contributed to the speeding up of letting plans and specifications and helped expedite necessary work in call for bids, according to a spokesman in the Highway Department.

Work in the Devil's River section in Sonora. Crockett County has a total of 22 people connected with the Highway Department engineering office, at that including office and personnel. W. F. Dixon is major resident engineer. Crockett County force is presently employed in plan sections of the highway to the west of Ozona. office in Ozona could not specify time construction will begin on IS this county.

Recipe of the Week From Kitty's Kitchen

You'll find the following an excellent summer dessert without the calories which accompany so many good desserts.

Pineapple Under a Cloud

- 1 fresh pineapple
- 1 peach, peeled and chopped
- 1/2 cup halved seedless white grapes
- 1/2 cup strawberries, halved
- 5 tablespoons sugar, divided
- 1 tablespoon orange liqueur
- 3 egg whites
- Colored sugar

Cut pineapple in half lengthwise, cutting through the leaves and keeping them intact. Cut around the underside of the core and around the skin to loosen the edible part of the fruit, being very careful not to cut through the shell (a serrated curved grapefruit knife works well.) Cut out the pineapple meat; core and dice it.

Combine diced pineapple with grapes and strawberries. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar and the orange liqueur; mix lightly and spoon into pineapple shells.

Beat egg whites until foamy, gradually beat in remaining 4 tablespoons sugar and beat until very stiff. Mound on top of fruit-filled shells, spreading meringue to sides of shells to prevent shrinking. Sprinkle lightly with colored sugar. Place shells on baking sheet, wrap aluminum foil around leaves to keep them from drying out and turning brown, and bake in 400-degree F. oven for 5 minutes, until meringue is golden. Remove foil from leaves, and serve at room temperature or chilled.

KEEPING CLEAR OF THE SHOALS

Washington News Letter

Congressman O. C. Fisher

PROSPECTS For Planned withdrawal of U. S. combat forces from Vietnam were enhanced by the move against enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia, in the view of a fact-finding group, of which I was a member, which conducted an on-the-spot study of the situation there.

Under White House auspices, our group included Governors Love of Colorado, Shafer of Pennsylvania, and McNair of South Carolina; Senators McIntyre of New Hampshire, Cannon of Nevada, and Tower of Texas; and four of us from the House: Bryce Harlow and Herb Klein, two top White House aides, accompanied us.

For 4 days we visited military headquarters of both U. S. and South Vietnamese operations, many hamlets in the Mekong River and delta area, and spent a day with troops in forward positions in Cambodia where mopping-up searches are being continued for more enemy military equipment.

The move against the sanctuaries has been a truly great success. Everywhere in Vietnam, far more so than in this country, the strike into Cambodia is considered a major military set-back for the Communists. At least 80% of the hundreds of tons of guns, ammo, medical supplies, and other equipment which has been captured was brought in via the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville— which is now closed for this purpose, and will not be reopened. Now the enemy must look to the Ho Chi Minh Trail which will be practically closed for months by the monsoon. Some 10,000 of the 40,000 Communist troops in Cambodia were killed or captured, and most of the survivors are in disarray after scrambling out of reach of allied troops.

From all of this, our group (which reported the findings directly to President Nixon upon our return) concluded:

1. As a result of the strike, the lives of many Americans will be saved.
2. The Vietnamization program of training and equipping Vietnamese troops to replace Americans, is proving to be very successful, enhanced by the victory in Cambodia.
3. Most of South Vietnam is now relatively free of Viet Cong (VC) domination. The vital Mekong River and delta which were virtually controlled by the VC two years ago are today securely in friendly hands. Most roads and waterways are now open, farm products are being marketed, local police and home Guard forces have been trained and equipped, and enemy defections are mounting. Some 38,000 left the Communies last year, and already this year 14,000 have switched from the VC to the South Vietnamese.
4. We are convinced the South Vietnamese will be fully capable, with some logistical support from us, to take over the entire combat role, in accordance with current plans.

Also there hasn't been a cloud in sight and while the humidity has been up, we have had no hint that it might rain ever.

Speaking of humidity, I've heard several people wonder out loud if the new lake at Del Rio has had anything to do with the excessively high humidity we suffered last summer and seem to be getting a good start at this summer.

Is it possible that a large body of water to the south of us can turn this usually dry arid country into a climate of high humidity? I wish that someone who knows about these things would come by and give me the facts about this suspicion. If it's true, I may be looking for work somewhere in the west where there is a good-sized desert.

Mrs. Lee Childress is spending the summer in Ingram at a resort lodge.
