Construction Begins On 3.49 Mile Segment Highway 163

Work began Monday on a 3.49-mile section of Highway 163 from a point 11 miles south of Ozona to .8 of a mile from the intersection of 163 and RM 1973. Allan Construction Co., of San Antonio, is the contractor on the project. Allan Construction was the low bidder when bids were received May 27 at the Texas Highway Department in Austin. A pre-construction conference was held in the office of W. F. Dixon, resident engineer, State Highway Department, in Ozona last Thursday with representatives of the Allan Construction Co., the Department of Public Safety and the Highway Department present. The purpose of the conference is to secure closer cooperation between the contractor, the DPS and the Highway Department engineering personnel concerning the traveling public through the project while it is under construction. A review and discussion of all signs and barricades called for by the governing specifications and plans was held. Leslie Massey of Allan Construction Co. told the group that his plans called for immediate erection of the barricades, with clearing of the right of way to begin June 29. A structure crew will begin their work on or about July 12, with the earth-work crew to begin their operations around July 20. The base and surfacing operations will follow as progress develops. Due to construction procedures, the traveling public will encounter short detours and delays in their travel, Dixon said. These will be kept at a minimum, however, the engineer said, and the public is requested to cooperate by complying with all warning signs and respecting all barricades.

Board Approves Unification Of Ozona Elementary Schools

To comply with requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1965, the Board of Trustees of Crockett County Consolidated Common School District approved in a recent meeting the unification of the system's elementary schools.

The unification plan was initiated following the March visit by officials from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and a return visit in May. Under the terms of the unification plan, the two present elementary school plants will divide pupils according to grades and the names of the schools will be changed. Beginning with the 1970-71 school year, all pupils in grades, kindergarten, first and second will attend the South Elementary school, henceforth to be known as the Ozona Primary School.

Classes will be available for children from ages 3 through 12 and children in this age bracket from the entire community are cordially invited to attend the classes. Mrs. Jim Williams will be the school director. Teachers in the various age groups will be as follows: Nursery, Mrs. Jim Davee and Miss Patti Schroeder. Kindergarten, Mrs. Bill Ivy and Miss Lou Cox. Grades 1 and 2, Mrs. Wayne Gooch and Mrs. W. O. Reeves. Grades 3 and 4, Mrs. Richard Armistead and Mrs. J. C. Schroeder. Grades 5 and 6, Mrs. John Richey and Mrs. John Berkley. Mrs. Jim Dudley will be in charge of refreshments.

It was not necessary to make any changes in the Ozona Junior High School nor the Ozona High School, Board officials said. HEW officials who visited the Ozona schools to check on civil rights compliance, were highly complimentary of the system's operation and the planned changes as outlined in the school board's action has been approved by HEW.

Premature Dynamite Explosion Injures Water Dept. Workers

Juan Castellanos is recovering from facial injuries suffered last week when a shot of dynamite was detonated prematurely. Castellanos, an employee of the Crockett County Water District for the past ten years, was rushed to a Sonora hospital last week when he was injured while shooting a rock ditch with dynamite. Joe Reblez, who was standing directly over the charge of dynamite when it exploded, miraculously escaped injury. He was tossed straight up and out of the ditch and landed on his feet. A package of cigarettes in his shirt pocket was blown apart but Reblez was unhurt. Lupe Fierro, standing near the ditch, received painful but minor injuries from small pebbles which peppered his neck. The men got their signals mixed and the detonator went off before the shot was properly covered. Three other employees, who were near to the blast as Castellanos, miraculously escaped injury.

The master plans call for restoration and addition of facilities such as visitors centers, archaeological excavations and marking of paths for visitors. The visitors center pictured above is built of native stone with shake roof and heavy beams. The building is in the shape of a cross with a center section extending to form a porch. The center reception room is flanked on the left by a room which will ultimately be used as a museum, displaying artifacts and historical data relating to the frontier fort. The rooms on the right contain offices for administrative personnel and service facilities, rest rooms, etc.

Readin' Responsibility
Ritin' Respect
Rithmetic Reverence

Everyone is familiar with the old song "School Days" and its reference to the "three R's." One can hardly dispute the importance of Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic, but what of the other "R's" — Responsibility, Respect, Reverence — to name a few. Reverence with regard to this great and wonderful land that we have inherited, Responsibility in being a citizen of so great a nation and Respect for its laws and for the rights and feelings of other citizens are basic requirements of us all if we are to maintain the freedoms we all hold so dearly. With the end of School Days we can let down a little in the practice of Readin', 'Ritin' and 'Rithmetic, but to let down in the practice of Responsibility, Respect and Reverence is detrimental to the whole of society and the deterioration of our nation.

LIBERTY AND JUSTICE FOR ALL

Our priceless heritage embodied in the flag of the United States, is as alive today as it was when written for the ages in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution. It stands for all the world to see and for all Americans to cherish. Jefferson, and Hamilton, we, too, have a privilege, a right, and a duty. While we may disagree as to the methods, we should not disagree as to the goal — that of preserving the greatest democratic society the world has ever known. Our flag is a symbol, not of sentiment, but of history, the history of men and women willing to live and die for it. Surely this willingness is with us still, because daily we experience more of the blessings that are ours — ours because we are Americans.

It was announced this week by Mrs. R. A. Harrell of Ozona, chairman of the Crockett County Historical Survey Committee.

The markers, to be placed in the cemetery will honor Sam T. Smith and Pharis Hurst.

Recorded 1970

The inscription on the Pharis Hurst marker reads as follows:

PHARIS HURST

The marking of graves of outstanding pioneer Texans is one part of the general marking program of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Among the graves that have been recognized are those of former Texas governors and statesmen, heroes of the Texas Revolution, veterans of every major war in which the United States has fought, frontier doctors, school teachers, buffalo hunters, and ordinary citizens who were in the vanguard of settlers who migrated to Texas in the early 19th century.

The name and location of these markers will appear in the next edition of the "Guide to Official Texas Historical Markers." As of 1970, the Survey Committee had erected more than 5,000 markers throughout the state.

Sheriff Foils Another Jail Break Attempt

An attempted jailbreak was foiled by Sheriff Billy Mills about 11 o'clock Sunday night. Sheriff Mills heard some unusual sounds in the jail cell above his apartment and upon investigation he found that two out of state prisoners had carved a hole large enough to squeeze through in the inside wall of the jail and were working on pushing the rocks out of the outside wall.

This is the second time within a month that prisoners have broken through the wall to escape. The first try was successful, but the prisoner was picked up later the same day in Junction.

One of the two men involved in the attempted break Sunday night, John Henry Dixon of Pineville, La. had broken out of jail at Leesville three days before the escape try here.

The other man, Daniel J. St. Onge of Providence, R. I. was being held on a warrant from California.

The Spirit of '70

People sometimes make cynical remarks about flag-waving. But it sure is flag-burning.

Our belief in this nation is something far deeper than mere patriotism. It is the expression of honor and respect for the institutions and blessings we possess as Americans.

One of these institutions is a church independent of state control. One of these blessings is the right to worship according to the dictates of conscience.

Of course, there are some earnest, well-meaning people who don't give a nickel for the Church - or to it either. Even their right not to worship is equally guaranteed by our Constitution.

That kind of freedom is hard to come by. It was hard to come by in 1776. In our opinion, it is best understood and most firmly preserved by those who love God for it.

1970 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

IN FADED CLIPPINGS

Newspapering has its own peculiar trials and tribulations, as its own rewards, too, that can't quite be matched in any other field of endeavor. One of our rewards is the ability to bring to the people of the community vital information—what is for sale, how much it costs, and how it can be bought. It is no idle boast that the cornerstone of our enterprise system is our free and independent press. It is true that the conduct of government by the people is dependent upon the newspaper for information on government and legal transactions, candidates and issues, so that the people can make wise decisions based upon accurate information.

Commercial advertising, in turn, enables us to gather information about people, places and things—known and unknown. Then we have the privilege to express our opinions and thoughts on all manner of things under the heading of Editorials.

At the least of our joys is that of passing on to our friends and sundry items which hopefully, may serve to inspire, cheer, prompt a chuckle or a smile. We never cease to be amazed—and gratified—at the appearance of an old, faded clipping from some cherished hiding-place; an old Bible, a scrapbook or a diary—even a cookbook.

A message found in such an ancient clipping, of unknown origin, seems most appropriate at this time of year. Many of our youth have left school to embark upon the road of life. Do you remember it?

May you have . . .
Enough happiness to keep you sweet,
Enough trials to keep you strong,
Enough sorrow to keep you human,
Enough hope to keep you happy,
Enough failure to keep you humble,
Enough success to keep you eager,
Enough friends to give you comfort,
Enough wealth to meet your needs,
Enough faith to banish depression,
Enough determination to make each day better than the last.

ONWARD—THE AMERICAN WAY

THE SPIRIT OF LIBERTY

"The name of America must always exalt the just pride of patriotism." What better words than these to commemorate the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence!

From the lips of George Washington came many admonitions and statements of faith that all of us would do well to recall on this Fourth of July when our nation is fraught with dissension. As for example: "While we are contending for our own liberty, we should be very cautious not to violate rights in conscience in others . . ."

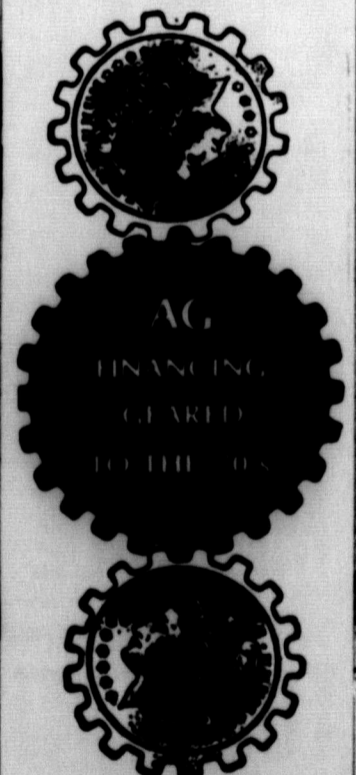

And to those who resort to violence to force their viewpoints upon others, or to voice their displeasure by destroying property, we commend these words of General Washington: "The very idea of the power and the right of the people to establish government presupposed the duty of every individual to obey the established government. . ."

FORMER PEGGY HARVICK WINS BIG IN ART SHOW IN MINN.

Mrs. D. L. Walton of Shakopee, Minn., the former Peggy Harvick, daughter of Martin Harvick of Ozona, recently hit the "big time" in the art world when she sold a painting at a recent exhibition for $150, top price of the show. The painting, an oil, won first place in oils when it was shown in San Antonio while she was a resident there.

She also won second with another painting, a ship scene, which she painted as a gift for her father.

Jeff Fussell of New Orleans spent the weekend visiting his mother Mrs. J. A. Fussell and his father, Dr. J. A. Fussell, who is in Memorial Hospital in San Angelo.

New Monthly Newspaper Features Oldtime News

Publication of a new monthly newspaper, reporting news 70 to 170 years old, has been announced by the publishers, Western Horizons, Inc. of San Angelo.

Called the Pioneer News-Observer, it is designed to recreate the heritage and struggles, the humor and excitement of our western ancestry, say the publishers.

Editor and one of four co-owners of the monthly is Eimer Kelton, well-known writer of western and historical fiction and associate editor of the West Texas Livestock Weekly, headquartered in San Angelo. Kelton has written many novels, one of which was named best western novel of 1957.

Managing editor Jerry Lackey, present editor and publisher of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Magazine, is a co-owner along with Kelton, E. R. Talley of San Angelo, president of Western Horizons and Forrest Salter of Kerrville, vice president. Lackey is author of two books. Salter is publisher of the Kerrville Mountain Sun.

The new publication will concern itself with news stories taken from old newspapers and periodicals written in the period of 1801 to 1901.

"In a tabloid format, our newspaper voice is aimed at events which shaped the west," said Lackey.

"There are many magazines published to give readers stories of the old west," he went on, "but as far as we could find out, ours is the only newspaper devoted solely to reporting news events of the old west in newspaper style."

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Although surveys of the National Federation of Independent Business reveal that the current wave of crime and lawlessness puts an especially heavy burden on the smaller business establishments, so far on the national scene not much of any consequence has been done to combat this problem.

As a matter of fact, the most widely publicized approach to crime was a proposal to stamp out the cookie jar bandits.

A former medical doctor, turned psychiatrist proposed in all seriousness that every child on reaching the age of six years be subjected by Federal law to a series of tests to uncover any latent criminal tests in the child's make-up.

As a matter of fact, the principal testing would be the Rorschach test in which the subject is asked to look at a series of various ink blots and tell what these blots suggest.

Thus, presumably if the imaginations of the six year old child identified an ink blot as suggesting an ice cream sundae, that child would be destined to grow up to be a pillar of society. If, on the other hand, the blot suggested a sub-machine gun to him, he, on reaching maturity would be on the FBI's list of the Big Ten.

Mrs. Ivy Mayfield is in Clinic Hospital in San Angelo undergoing medical tests.

Cookie Jar Bandits?
In the event a childish imagination put him in the latent criminal class, he would then be subjected to living the rest of his youth in a type of concentration camp while various unspecified "experts" would attempt to wean him away from his wicked ways.

It is quite interesting that the proposal was bucked over to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare where it was most hastily turned down as too ridiculous to consider.

But the mere fact that the proposal got that far is a commentary on current trends.

It does point up, however, the fact that perhaps the American people had better pay more attention to their government before it is too late.

After all, there are these unexplainable people with totally bizarre ideas relating to economics, to taxes, and to practically everything else, who keep popping up in Washington and getting some kind of an audience, and unless extreme vigilance is used, some of these ideas may get on the law books of the land.

In the meantime the nation's six-year olds can breathe a little easier.

Plundering Mother's cookie jar is not yet a Federal offense.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club
By Mrs. Bailey Post

The refreshing showers of last week and this were most welcome and of course, we hope they will continue throughout the summer. They make gardening so much earlier and more enjoyable.

One of the most attractive ways to display flowers or foliage plants in the summer is to plant or buy hanging baskets to place in convenient places or use as a focal point for an area. An open breeze-way, porch, trees, entrance way, attached brackets to wall or fence are ideal spots to use these hanging miniature gardens. These baskets can vary in size and many different materials may be used. Plastic stays moist longer than some, but the homemade interwoven wire and chicken wire baskets are quite satisfactory. Plants can be placed along the sides and soon cover the whole basket. They may be lined with peat moss or light weight plastic material with holes punched in the bottom for drainage. Plants may be placed in the peat moss lined baskets or a good mixed soil. These plants should be fed every two or three weeks to keep them healthy and growing and do not forget to water each day. Be sure the hangers of hooks, wire, chain or rope are firmly fastened to prevent them from blowing down in strong wind.

Mrs. Bill Cooper exhibits several unusual baskets in her most attractive and well-groomed garden. Bill is the handyman who made the wire baskets and the focal point of interest is an originally designed corner water fountain with a background of beautifully placed rocks and well-grown plants.

Some of the most popular plants used for baskets are ivy, fern, sedum, vinca, lantana, ivy geranium, petunia, shrimp plant, cascade mums, fuchsia, artillery plant, and others you may want to use.

It is now time to start dividing iris and spring blooming perennials. Order peonies iris and day lilies for fall delivery. Mulch peonies to keep the soil cool.

If snapdragons have grown tall and stringy, cut back to 8 or 10 inches and they will put on new growth for new blooms.

As the leaves brown on your spring flowering bulbs, they are ready to separate and transplant. Daffodils should be replanted every two or three years to avoid crowding and the blooms becoming smaller.

When fertilizing, check the moisture in the soil, for if there is a shortage, plants may be injured. If dry, water thoroughly and wait a day to apply fertilizer.
