Four-Way Tie In District 5AA Due For Break-Up Friday Night

The Ozona High School Lions made history here Friday night with a 47-8 win over a weak Crane team, running their district record to 2-1. Presently District 5-AA is a toss-up with four teams tied for the lead, Ozona, Big Lake, Coahoma and McCamey. This four-way tie will be broken tomorrow night with the Lions almost a sure bet to retain their share of the lead with a win over cellar dwelling Stanton. Big Lake will be favored over Crane, but a return to the line-up of Crane's highly touted Ricky Andregg, quarterback who has been on the injured list, might spell disaster for the Owls. Coahoma, the only team to beat the Lions so far in district play, will be favored over McCamey, but the McCamey crew is capable of pulling an upset, so the results will not really be known until the final whistle blows.

The sale will be at Producers Livestock Auction Co., starting at 11 a.m. Offered will be 125 three-year-old bulls, 200 2 1/2-year-olds and 75 yearling bulls—all big-boned, rugged, top quality, Lemley says. Many herd sire prospects are included in the sale.

"With 400 bulls, there are bound to be many bargains," Mr. Lemley said. Those desiring information may phone Mr. Lemley at 653-1709, San Angelo.

Abductor Of Arizona Group Is Sought Here

Local officers were joined by area lawmen in a search for an alleged kidnapper late Monday afternoon, following a complaint from three young men and a girl from Prescott, Ariz.

The young people appeared at the office of Sheriff Billy Mills around 6 p.m. Monday and related the story that set off the search for an armed man, around 25 years of age, dressed in a U. S. Navy type pea jacket and togs.

The Arizona youngsters told officers that they picked up a man of the above description in Prescott and were going to drive him to the edge of town so he could catch a ride. They said he pulled a gun and ordered them to drive on. According to their story, he had them drive down Hwy 163 several miles south of Ozona where he got out of the car and left them.

Roadblocks were set up and an all-out manhunt was undertaken in an effort to apprehend the suspect. However, by mid-afternoon Tuesday when planes and a helicopter failed to turn up any sign after a thorough search of the area south of town it was decided that the suspect had escaped.

OUCH, THAT SMARTED! This little fellow was first in line at the Monday afternoon free Tb skin test program, sponsored by the Ozona Woman's Forum at the Ozona Primary School. Dr. James C. Everett donated his time to giving the tests. The testing went on through the afternoon. Results of the tests will be read at the same place this afternoon.

Cubs, Junior Varsity Sweep Pair From Iraan

The Cubs and the Lion junior varsity smashed their Iraan opponents in a double header here last Thursday night. Both teams have an open date tonight before closing out the season next Thursday night in Iraan.

Richard Gonzales was the big gun in the Cub win which turned out 34-0 in Ozona's favor. He scored four touchdowns.

Gonzales scored in the first quarter on a 65-yard run and in the second on a 3-yard pass play from quarterback Ronnie Pearl, who also passed to Romaldo Cervantez for the extra points.

Gonzales scored two touchdowns in the third stanza, one on a 6-yard plunge and another on a 22 yard run.

Ronnie Pearl scored in the fourth period on a 3-yard keeper play and then passed to R-

Crockett Voters Favor Fisher, Governor Smith, In Lively Vote

IN PRAISE OF OZONA YOUTH

Another word of praise for the youth of Ozona comes this week from Big Spring in the form of a letter to the editor.

Ozona parents and students alike should receive a glow of good feeling at this report of good conduct on the part of Ozona youth and adults alike in a brief stop in a Big Spring filling station.

The letter is as follows:

Dear Editor:

Last Friday night following the Ozona-Coahoma football game, several Ozona school buses and cars stopped in our service station for gas.

The night attendants on duty told us the next morning that they had never seen such a considerate, well-mannered group of people. They said the young people who wanted change for the vending mach-

Crockett County voters cast a total of 842 ballots in Tuesday's General Election, giving the nod to all Democratic Party candidates and voting for four of the seven proposed amendments to the Texas constitution.

Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator Lloyd Benson polled 507 votes to Republican George Bush's 296.

The county went for the incumbent congressman O. C. Fisher 638 to 179 for his opponent, Dick Gill.

Governor Preston Smith had the closest race in the county, polling 510 votes to Republican Paul Eggers' 312.

In the other contested races, the Democrats took the county by a ratio of 5 to 1. Polling the most votes were Leta Powell, District and County Clerk, at the local level and Hilray B. Doran, Jr., Representative, at the state level.

In spite of the fact that there was no organized campaign on her behalf, Bernice Jones, outgoing county judge, received 103 write-in votes.

Troy Williams, who defeated Judge Jones in the Democratic Primary, polled a total of 619 votes.

The two proposed amendments which created the most interest in the county were Number 2, having to do with liquor by the drink, and Number 3, assessing land for tax purposes based on its capability to produce. Voters in the county went against Number 2 472 to 291, and for Number 3 by a count of 467 to 284.

All boxes were in and the official count recorded before 8:00 p.m. Voting was heaviest just before the polls closed at 7 o'clock. The total vote was unusually heavy for an off year election.

County and most state offices were really decided in Crockett county in the May Democratic Primary. Out of 24 offices, local, district and state, the Republicans fielded only 9 candidates to a full ticket of 24 for the Democrats.

The annual homecoming dance will be held at the Civic Center Saturday with music furnished by a local rock group. The dance is for high school students and their dates and graduates of Ozona High School and their dates. The dance will be held from 8:00 p.m. until 12 midnight.

Homecoming Queen Crowned Fri. Night

Homecoming week has generated a great deal of excitement among Ozona High School students this week and the senior class has broken all previous records with their sales of mums for the homecoming game Friday night.

Highlight of the week is the traditional homecoming game which is the final home game for the Ozona Lions. The 1970 Lion Football sweetheart will be crowned during the game. She will be selected by vote of the squad.

Candidates for football sweetheart are Tonya Blanton, Georganne Janes and Suzy Tankersley. The three nominees were selected by the team Monday afternoon. The one receiving the most votes in a second election by team members this week will be the football queen and will be crowned at halftime tomorrow night. The three girls will be escorted onto the field by the three captains. Identity of the queen will not be known until her name is announced from the press box by the announcer.

NOW TO WORK!

The elections are over. Democrats, Republicans and Independents will be happy or unhappy, as the case may be, in the various areas of our great country. But now that the turmoil of elections are over, the big tasks are still ahead; all of the problems and the issues raised in the election process are still before us, and must be solved, one way or the other. And the solving of these great problems is not a matter to be left simply to those elected to office; this is a responsibility which falls upon the shoulders of all Americans, in every walk of life.

For many years it was assumed that our environment—the soil, the water, and the atmosphere—could absorb any load put upon it. Now it is obvious that Mother Nature has not been able to carry the extra stresses caused by our booming population increase—and that help must be given. The answers to this very real problem are not going to be found overnight—nor can we leave it to our politicians to solve.

Rising crime, endangering the lives and property of the people, is still with us; and although government does bear a large responsibility for the protection of its citizens, here, too, the role of each citizen can and should play a major part. It is within the power of each of us to help, in some way—and this we should do.

In many other areas—whether it is in regard to inflation, or better education, or better schools, or better health, what the individual citizen does or does not do will, in the long run, determine our future. To call upon "government" to do all is a grave error; because history shows that bigger and bigger government means less and less individual freedom. But more individual freedom calls for an equivalent proportion of more individual responsibility—and that is the goal all of us should have.

WHAT'S NEW?

A certain group of professional rabble-rousers today are commonly referred to as the "new" left. But there is much evidence to indicate that there is nothing very new about their behavior or their ideas. Consider this quotation:

"Among the students of the universities and the higher technical schools were young men and women in slovenly attire, who called in question and ridiculed the generally received convictions and respectable conventionalities of social life, and who talked of reorganizing society on strictly scientific principles. They reversed the traditional order of things even in trivial matters of appearance, the males allowing the hair to grow long and the female adepts cutting it short... Their appearance, manners and conversation were apt to shock ordinary people, but to this they were profoundly indifferent, for they had raised themselves above the level or so-called public opinion, despised Philistine respectability, and rather liked to scandalize people still under the influence of what they considered antiquated prejudices.

"Among the antiquated institutions which had to be abolished as obstructions to real progress, were religion and family life, private property and centralized administration. Religion was to be replaced by the exact sciences, family life by free love, private property by collectivism and centralized administration by a federation of independent communes."

Is the above a definition of the Hippies and Yuppies of 1970? According to one of our informants, this is the description of the Nihilists, so named by the Russian novelist Ivan Sergeevich Turgenev in "Fathers and Sons"—written in 1862!

The Nihilists were the early forerunners of those who would later be known as the Marxist-Leninists—or the modern-day Leninoids, as described in Eugene Methvin's "Riot Makers." Methvin refers to the Leninoid as the "whole array of people who use the techniques of Lenin without his ideology... the opportunists... the compulsive revolutionaries... the philosopher-thugs... who enjoy disorder and violence because these are signs of the approaching Kingdom Come."

History is very largely an account of the struggle between those who would build and preserve a civilized society, and those who would destroy. Today we seem to have more than the normal share of Nihilists, or Leninoids. But none of it is really new.

NO WAY TO TIE IT DOWN

AN INVITATION TO INFLATION

Tying social security benefit increases to the Department of Labor's consumer price index would be the biggest invitation to inflation since they gave away balloons at the circus.

The consumer price index is a measure of average price levels. Automatically increasing benefits, as approved by the House of Representatives, would perpetually stimulate and institutionalize inflation. Social security recipients would be among those who would suffer the most.

The Senate should reject this idea. It would be like measuring a foot with a 12-inch rubber band.

DRUGS ARE DANGEROUS

Very few days pass without a news item that somewhere another victim has died from either the overdose or misuse of drugs. Leaving aside, for the moment, moral and legal implications, a very good rule for the intelligent person to follow is: "All drugs are dangerous; and some drugs are much more dangerous than others."

A similar rule followed by hunters, sportsmen and shooting hobbyists has, over the years, saved an untold number of lives. That rule is: "Every gun is a loaded gun." By treating every gun as a loaded gun, nobody gets shot and killed. It's the "empty" gun that takes lives.

By the same token, by treating every drug as a dangerous drug, lives can be saved. Common, every-day sugar and common salt are more harmful to more people than aspirin—unquestionably one of the safest, most widely used and most beneficial drugs available. But if you look on the back of each little Bayer box, you will find careful instructions as to dosage, followed by the words: "WARNING: Keep this and all medicines out of children's reach; in case of accidental overdose, contact a physician immediately," which is simply to say that too much of a good thing can be harmful.

On the other hand, some drugs are very dangerous, and should never be taken for any reason. One such drug is LSD. Last summer a Philadelphia medical student, age 24, worked with mental patients under the influence of LSD. Presumably he knew something about the drug, and limits of human tolerance. But one Saturday he took one of the LSD pills as an experiment, to test his own reactions. Sunday morning he was taken to the hospital, violently ill. He died Sunday night. His cause of death is known, because his wife knew what happened. But no one knows how many other victims have been killed by LSD, because there is no medical test to detect the presence of the drug in a corpse. At last report, coroners were still unable to say, for sure, what killed singer Janis Joplin; guesses included heroin, marijuana, or LSD, or a combination of them. Such drugs are not only dangerous, but deadly.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS

Who's Smoking Opium, Now?
States upon another new, costly and unending program to halt the production of opium. The answer is swift and certain punishment with drastic penalties for those who smuggle and sell narcotics in this country, whether the raw material originates in Turkey, or Red China.

And while he never, according to the best of records, got around to pinpointing the exact location of this exotic place, it is possible he may have been referring to Washington, D.C.

Congressman H. R. Gross of Iowa as a very special realist is not a seeker of Shangri La, but apparently he wonders at times if he is not in one. He reports the following:

"It is almost impossible to believe by the word circulating in Washington that the U.S. Government is giving serious consideration to paying Turkish farmers not to produce opium poppies."

"This deal, designed to cut down on the supply of narcotics being imported to this country would cost U.S. taxpayers millions of dollars to compensate Turkish farmers alone, and Turkey is not the only country that grows, or is capable of growing opium poppies."

"The answer to this problem is not to embargo the United States."

AS HEARD BY HEARD

Here, once again, is the sap-headed move to solve another problem simply by opening the doors to the U.S. Treasury. When will those in power learn that it takes more than money to solve the problems that beset us?

It is to be hoped that the alarm sounded by the Iowa Congressman will suffice to nip this scheme in the bud.

After all, the American taxpayer has paid billions to get farmers not to plant wheat, or not to plant cotton.

But this would be mere pin money if these taxpayers were assessed to pay all over the world for not raising opium.

The idea, to be sure, is plenty weird.

On the other hand, nothing is too weird for Washington.

Annual Chamber Hunting Contest Rules Announced

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce has announced its annual hunting contest will take place again this year.

Lists of hunting leases are presently being made up and will be available on request at the chamber office.

To enter the contest, hunter's must have bagged their kill in Crockett County and have registered the deer with tag at Ozona Trading Post, Cooke's Market or Ozona Body Works. The contest is limited to one prize per hunter and one prize per deer.

Prize for the deer with the most points, counted from the brow up, is a Winchester 30-30 Caliber Model I 94 Lone Star Commemorative, Gold Trimmed rifle.

Prize for the deer with the widest rack measured at the beam is a Coleman camp heater, 3500 BTU. For the heaviest field dressed deer a Coleman camp heater will also be given.

Drawing for another heater will be held during the Chamber of Commerce banquet February 17, from names registered during hunting season at various places of business in Ozona.

TWO OF A KIND

Now there are two "snaggletooths" in the family. What fun Jerry had trying to duplicate his own toothless grin!

I smiled, remembering his first "jack-o'-lantern" and how he had howled with fright at the eerie smile of the funny-faced vegetable. Jim and I had to work hard to convince him that "jack-o'-lanterns" were fun. Now, just a few years later, the "jack-o'-pumpkin" is one of his special delights.

Now easy it is to shape the attitudes of a little child. It seems to Jim and me that Jerry is like a sponge, soaking up thoughts and ideas from the things we do and say. His points of view reflect our own.

That's why we know how important it is for all of us to go to church every Sunday. It was there we learned the love for God that enriches our every day. We want this dominion and joy to become a part of Jerry's life, too.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Worm and jig fishing have grown in popularity during the last several years, but there are many anglers who still like to use top-water lures for bass.

Today there is a lake especially built for topwater users. It is Amistad—created by a dam across the Rio Grande 18 miles north of Del Rio. There you can fish either in Texas or Old Mexico.

This is one of the fine new lakes which is a product of the International Boundary Commission.

Lure Lots of Lures
Much of the area cannot be fished with lures that run very deep. That is if you expect to get the lures back.

This lake covers thousands of acres of mesquite, catclaw, huisache and black brush, to say nothing of yucca, prickly pear and other tough vegetation. When you hang a lure in stuff like that it stays and you might as well forget it.

Amistad has come along fast as a bass lake. This mainly because at the lower end where Devil's River flows into it, there already were two older lakes—Walk Lake and Devil's Lake.

Both had been stocked with bass for years. When the new overlapping Lake Amistad formed, encompassing both of them, those bass were already man-size.

In addition, the Parks and Wildlife Department has been stocking Amistad ever since the dam was started and those bass are now catchable size.

Buoys Aid Boaters
Amistad also has other unusual features for a Texas impoundment. It is a lake where the previous stream beds all are marked with buoys. This makes it possible for a boater to keep on course either in going upstream or going downstream. Also, they help in locating and pinpointing good coves and inlets. Not only do these buoys mark the stream, but they also serve as boundary markers between the United States and Mexico.

Another feature of Amistad is its beautiful high-walled canyons in the upper reaches. Amistad now is only about two-thirds filled, but when it reaches conservation level, it will have some 300 feet of water around those canyon walls.

Since these walls have been standing for a million years more or less, they have become weathered, split and eroded resulting in many chasms where fish can hide.

Pictographs Visible
On some of these walls, Indian pictographs can still be seen. Many other landmarks of its ancient history, however, have been covered. Fortunately, these areas were fully explored by archeologists before the dam was completed and the artifacts were removed.

There are two main access points on the Texas side of the lake—Diablo East and Rough Canyon. Both of these have quality concessions, but they are very crowded. To get down to a launching spot it is necessary to wait in line on most any day.

National Park Service, which is administering the area, says it is without funds to complete other launching sites at this time. Unless new money is forthcoming, it will be several years before more can be built.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper were in San Angelo Tuesday night to attend a dinner in honor of J. P. Burden, who is retiring after serving the City of San Angelo for 45 years as an engineer.

YOUNG MUSICIAN IS GRAND-DAUGHTER OF OZONA PAIR
Lucy Gill, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bohannon, of Ozona, is performing with the San Angelo Symphony Orchestra this season.

Lucy plays the French horn and is an accomplished musician at the age of 16 years.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club By Mrs. Bailey Post

In the southwest this is a busy month. Preparations for the fall planting of trees and shrubs are underway. Though garden work now lets up somewhat, there is always need to look after bulbs and other plants in storage or the greenhouse, care for equipment, bring notebooks up to date and catch up on garden reading.

Too, there is the fall clean-up that should be completed this month. Clean gutters and drains of fallen leaves that may prevent their functions and do not permit leaves to lie for long periods in masses on the lawn. Drain garden pools before frost.

Proceed with basic soil-improvement work until frost. The surface of ground turned over in the fall should be left rough so that the maximum benefit of winter rains is received.

Hardwood cuttings of most all kinds of deciduous trees and shrubs may be made this month, tied in bundles and buried in sand in a cold frame or out doors. In early spring they are taken from the sand and planted out of doors in places where you want them.

Evergreens, such as yews, English ivy, hollies, junipers, and many others may be rooted by inserting cuttings in a propagating bunch where they will not freeze. Take cuttings before really severe freezing weather. Another way of rooting is to weight down a limb or branch and cover well with soil. When rooted in the spring, cut from main plant and place where it is to grow.

Bluebonnets are coming up thick since the recent rains, but if it remains dry, they should be watered to keep them growing.

A dormant spray used this month will kill many of the eggs and larvae that winter over and around the base of plants and in the leaves.

Mulch semi-hardy plants and shrubs with leaves, straw or green clippings.

Mrs. J. M. Baggett is in Plainview with her daughter, Mrs. N. E. (Posey) Smith, who is recovering from surgery performed Friday.

OZONANS' UNCLE DIES IN DELEON, SERVICES TODAY
Funeral services for Herbert Kittle, uncle of Mrs. James Dockery and Bud Meinecke of Ozona, will be held today at 2:00 p. m. in Comanche.

Mr. Kittle, a frequent visitor in Ozona, was found dead at his home in DeLeon Tuesday. He apparently died in his sleep of a heart attack.

Early Mailing Of Christmas Packages Urged

Postmaster Floyd Hokit reminded patrons of the necessity of mailing overseas packages early to insure Christmas delivery. He also stressed the importance of using special services such as airmail, special delivery, special handling, etc. during the holiday season.

Suggested mailing deadlines for Christmas delivery overseas is November 7 for surface mail, from now through November 21 for SAM parcels and through November 28 for PAL parcels. Airmail packages will arrive at their destination on time if mailed by December 12.

When mailing packages, it is very important to make all addresses clear and legible, Hokit said, and pack parcels well and tie with string, he added. Also, an address label should be included on the inside of the package.

Zip codes must be used on all packages and should be used in the return address as well. Zip code directories are available in the post office lobby.

For domestic mail, parcels to distant states should be mailed by Dec. 1 and cards by Dec. 10 for Christmas delivery. Suggested mailing for local and nearby parcels is Dec. 11 and for cards Dec. 15.

The local post office will offer holiday weekend service with dates to be announced later. Assistance in mailing instructions and obtaining zip codes may be had by contacting the post office.

Sound Trucks: A Blessing or a Curse?

One bystander, a blaring sound truck is a form of noise pollution, fouling the public air. To another, the same truck is a faithful exercise in the right of free speech.

Which view is correct? With increasing frequency, our courts are called upon to decide.

They begin with the proposition that freedom of speech is not absolute, unlimited right. In certain instances, the sound truck may be the only practical means for communication of opinion. The right of free speech is worthless in the absence of a meaningful method of its expression.

Another city passed an ordinance saying that sound trucks could be used, provided the chief of police first gave his permission. However, the ordinance said nothing at all about any guidelines on which the chief's approval or disapproval should be based.

Here, too, when the ordinance was challenged in a test case, the court saw danger to freedom of speech, especially in the realm of politics.

"The sound truck has become an accepted method of political campaigning," said the court. "Must a candidate for governor or Congress depend on the whim or caprice of the chief of police in order to use his sound truck for campaigning?"

Holding the ordinance invalid, the court said the power to prevent speech, just like the right to speak, must be kept within reasonable limits.

KENT STATE AND THE GRAND JURY

JOHN J. SYNON

When I read of the report made by the special grand jury on the Kent State affair I was nonplussed.

Long ago, I had learned not to expect clear, unambiguous words from any official body or elected individual: clear words, flat out, four square. And here they were: Kent State officials, the grand jury said, have yielded to students and faculty members "to the extent that it (the administration) no longer runs the university." The report said major responsibility for the disaster rests clearly with the university administration.

So simple. And so palpably evident to every concerned, thoughtful person - yet, so long in coming. Clear words.

In the yippy hullabaloo that followed release of the jury's findings, one of the Kent State collegiate "leaders" gave the report an added dimension. Jerry Persky, the wire services had it, screamed through his paint-streaked beard that: "They thought by killing four students in May it would be all over. It's just beginning."

Yippy Persky didn't say what is just beginning but it is reasonable to assume he meant campus chaos, campus anarchy. And until this landmark jury spoke as it did, indicted as it did, I would have felt sure the Yippy's implied threat would have been carried out. Now I am not so sure. Now I have hope that the good people of Ohio, through their clear-speaking jurymen, have determined enough is enough and if the Persky's of Kent State begin again their riotous, godless acts they will be clamped into jail. I hope that is so. And I hope their actions will inspire other grand juries, everywhere. God knows I hope so.

For we must, it is imperative that our constitutional structure be reinforced. After 35 consecutive years of hack appointments to the Federal Judiciary; after 35 years of congressional action by petty, grovelling, mean-minded legislators; and after 35 years of an executive branch that is so deeply enmeshed in marxist doctrine and actions, the President, himself, cannot root it out; after 35 depressing years of spiritual degeneration, our national fabric is rotting.

These people, our judges, our legislators, our Presidents, have demonstrated they cannot, even if they would, successfully grapple with this hydra. The answer must come from the people.

And whereas, once, that answer might have come through the ballot box, the "conspiracy" has so snared us, even the ballot is now sterile. That is so because of one-man-one-vote, a "democratic" device geared to the gut and not to the brain.

What is left us is the grand jury, the last living element of public conscience, a legal entity that goes back to medieval times. Blackstone called the concept, "24 good and lawful men." That is what is left to us, the grand jury, that and vigilanteism.

A week or so ago, Attorney General Mitchell referred to the possibility of the vigilantes riding again. His remark is worth remembering because, if the 25 indictments handed down by this Ohio grand jury are not prosecuted with dispatch, the tender hope born of its work will die. That being so, men-in-the-night may be with us again.

This caustic, somewhat acerbic man, Mitchell, also was reported to have said: "This country is going so far to the right you won't recognize it."

Who doubts it? But who wants it? Some do, one supposes, but such as wish for authoritarianism are as brainless as the streaked-beard yips. Ideology rides a closed circuit. Go either way, long enough, go left or go right, and you arrive at the same end, tyranny. And you can spell that with a capital T.

That is why such stress should be laid on this single, unexpected act of an Ohio grand jury. It is a call to us, it seems to me, a last warning bell. We will either return to constitutional government or this land of sovereign individuals will go aglimmering.

Do you doubt it? Then you have forgotten how Hitler came to power; you have missed the import of Attorney General Mitchell's words. It was fear of the Ultimate Left that induced the German people to vote for Hitler. And what they got was the Ultimate Right.

Tambunga scored in the fourth quarter for the Lions and David Sewell kicked the extra point. Gerald Huff ran the final Lion score in from the 7-yard line.

Jacoby Named Range Specialist

College Station—Pete W. (Bill) Jacoby, Jr. became area range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service with headquarters in the district office at Fort Stockton Nov. 1.

In making the announcement, Extension Director John E. Hutchison said Jacoby replaces Robert Steger who resigned several months ago to so similar work in New Mexico. His work will be with the county agricultural agents of Extension District 6 and those serving in the western counties of District 7.

Because of the ever-increasing importance of range improvement work, including brush and weed control and other practices of established value in the area, the appointment reflects the emphasis that Extension programs in this field are receiving, Hutchison said, in addition to his work with the county agricultural agents, Jacoby will also work with county program building committees, members of the headquarters staff and those in the Range Science Department and research units in the area in developing and expanding Extension educational programs for both adults and youth.

The new specialist is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jacoby of Ozona and during his youth was an outstanding 4-H Club member. Among his honors are the Gold Star, trip to National 4-H Congress and membership on the range management team which won state and national awards. He was also active in FFA work. He is a graduate of Ozona High School and attended Sul Ross State University before enrolling in Texas A&M where he received a B. S. degree in range management. He received an M. S. degree from the University of Wyoming in 1968 and has completed all work there for his PhD also in range management except final approval on his dissertation.

He was employed by the Range Science Department at A&M during his undergraduate days and as a graduate research assistant at the University of Wyoming. He has also worked for the U. S. Forest Service. He is a member of the American Society of Range Management and the Colorado-Wyoming Academy of Science. He is married to the former Patricia Guice. They have no children.
