How To Do It

Do you want practical suggestions on how to build a silo, a milk house, a poultry house, a potato-storage house, or how to make a fireless cooker, or other farm conveniences? Are you seeking ideas on how to prepare vegetables for the table, how to care for food in the home, how to bake bread and other appetizing foods in an efficient and economical manner? Is there some practical question about your corn or wheat or cotton or other crops, or about your poultry or livestock, to which you are seeking an answer? The answers to thousands of such questions and practical suggestions for doing thousands of things about the farm and home are contained in bulletins and circulars, which can be obtained upon application to Mr. T. O. Walton, Director of Extension Service College Station, Texas.

President Harding's proposed commission to investigate the coal situation will perform its chief service in drawing a salary. Every man in the United States who knows anything about coal knows the situation. We know that certain millions of tons can be produced every year. We know that if all the coal miners work six days in the week that more coal would be produced than the country needs. We know that there are more coal mines than are needed. We know that this situation came about because of the extraordinary demand for coal during the war. So if Mr. Harding and the government will keep their hands off the coal question the situation would clear up. The coal shortage today is not due to a lack of coal, but to a lack of cars to haul the coal. If the railroad strike was settled, cars repaired and trains permitted to run, notwithstanding the strike in certain parts of the coal fields there would be enough coal to go around. Mr. Harding's coal commission instead of remaining in session one year can find out all that is necessary to be known in forty-eight hours. We got our fill of commissions during and after the war. Commissions, regulations and price fixing were chiefly noted in disturbing the channels of legitimate commerce, labor and human enterprise.—The Memphis Commercial Appeal.

"We must have low cost transportation to foreign markets, and that transportation must not be controlled by Great Britain or any other foreign country, if our farmers and manufacturers of surplus products are to prosper in competition with the producers of other countries, who need markets now as never before."—James E. Smith, St. Louis, president Mississippi Valley association.

"The truth is that the public uses too much credit. It is a common saying that more men are ruined by having too much credit than too little. The tendency to extend every kind of business upon a basis of borrowed capital employed results in instability. The inevitable fluctuations of trade are given an exaggerated effect."—George E. Roberts, president National City Bank, New York.

Washington, Aug. 20.—The interstate commerce commission this afternoon made a report to the United States senate on the condition of railroad motive power, indicating that 50 per cent of the country's locomotives are showing defects of various kinds as a result of the eight weeks' strike of railroad shopmen.

"While we are not in a position to make a report regarding the condition of all locomotives," said the commission's report, "and the extent to which the requirements as to inspection and repairs are not being complied with currently, there are indications as to conditions generally and certain deductions and conclusions may be drawn from the conditions disclosed by the work of our inspectors during the month of July. At 1,717 different points they made personal inspections of 4,085 locomotives. Of these 2,456 disclosed defects of varied character, and more or less seriously, 189 were found to be in such condition that they were not safe to operate and notices were served upon the carriers requiring them to be withdrawn from service. Of the others, 992 were found to have defects less serious in character, but in need of prompt attention. In 1,295 cases, defects, though not such as to give cause for immediate concern, were such as in accordance with sound practice should have attention."

The report pointed out that the defects found in locomotives did not necessarily indicate their unsafety, and that in a good many cases the repairs necessary were trifling. Its inspectors, the commission said, are dealing with the varied situation, "in that manner which is deemed likely to accomplish the best practical results."

Orient's Request is Unfair

The Orient's recent request by the officials of that railroad that all counties through which their road runs, reduce their tax from the present valuation of $9,000 per mile to $100.00 per mile is one of the most unfair requests ever made. It is utterly unreasonable and unjust. It is one of the most preposterous and dogmatic requests ever made to county officials by an individual corporation. Where is the justification for such? Are big interests—corporations to be shown "special privileges?" When a common citizen fails or refuses to pay their property tax, what is to be done? Said property is advertised and is sold under due process of the law, the tax is paid. It matters not how poor the individual, his tax must be paid or his property is sold. Then why make an exception in the case of a large corporation?—Big Lake News.

Theodor's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.

Best Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of Theodor's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver."

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Reporter: How about parking Texas & Pacific right of way town? There's a chance for a leader to build an enduring monument to his or her name. Take up this movement, and put it in.

Press in Dallas News: You're anything that would add more appearance of your town. Many a time has S. P. rolled into town on a train and been greeted by a big sign setting forth what all towns had accomplished and what could accomplish if S. P. and a thousand patriots would just be there and become citizens with the Chamber of Commerce and the real estate promoters. But always found that the bottom of the sign was cluttered up with a patch of weeds which only partially hid old signs, old boots, old bottles and a dead cat or so. A little furrow in the patch would be some down holes that would give a dynamite to live in and a dirty, chill joint or so. Dirt and dust seemed to be the calling card of town. One day S. P. was on a train that pulled in Bryan, Lee Roundtree. They had a neat little sign by the right of way, and the backs of some of the stores were toward the railroad were more than the front of some others has seen. It was a delightful sight to the tired eyes of the traveler. There wasn't any sign that said Bryan and had a place that they could be proud of without feeling like a cheat. They didn't need any sign. S. P. doesn't want to leave a false impression. Lee Roundtree didn't do it. He wanted until the work was all done before he moved to Bryan. Then he came over and got him a paper so he could brag about it.

Learning the Value of Dairy Products

Occasionally we hear of some persons expressing the fear that the dairy industry, with all the boasting it is getting, will soon be overdone. To such persons we call attention to the following Government statistics:

There were 100,000 more dairy cows in the United States in 1921 than there were in 1920.

The production of milk in 1920 was 80,658,000,000 pounds and in 1921 it was 98,862,000,000 pounds.

This increase in production was taken care of by an increase in consumption.

In 1921 the per capita daily consumption of milk was 1.08 pints, the largest on record.

In 1920, even date of June 1, there were 21,882,000 pounds of butter in storage and in 1921 only 12,973,000 pounds as against a five-year average of 17,328,000 pounds.

The American public is just beginning to appreciate the health value of milk, cheese and butter. A more thorough education on the subject of dairy products will greatly increase the consumption. If the consumption of dairy products was doubled in the United States, we would have a healthier, stronger and longer-lived people.

There is no danger of overdoing the production end of the dairy industry if the selling end is properly taken care of. What this country needs is more good cows and fewer scrubs to make dairying pay.—Farm and Ranch.

The Methodist church is not the only church they will be missed in, but all of the churches for they were workers wherever they were and proved themselves Christians on all occasions. Miscellaneous shower was given them at their home Tuesday evening. They received many nice and useful gifts. They are leaving many true friends behind, but Garden City's loss is Sterling City's gain.

Building Roads

Hank Ford's somewhat entertaining paper plays up the engineering work of Uncle Sam's bureau of public works in Washington and excitedly praises one of the boys there who has invented a machine to spy out road material and decide whether it will last five years, ten years or 25 years.

What is needed, however, is a machine, or somebody, to show lean and hungry contractors how to build roads such as the old Romans used to build, some of which are still in use over parts of western Europe after 2000 years of sundry and various traffic poundings.—Fort Worth Press.

Escaped Lunatic Gets Work as Strikebreaker

Where are the railroads getting their strikebreakers? President Loree, of the Delaware & Hudson, says they are being recruited at the rate of 5,000 a day. Where some of them are coming from may be indicated by the following paragraph published in the Sioux Falls (S. D.) Press of August 10:

"John Yancey, escaped from the home for feeble minded at Redfield, who was found in Sioux Falls Tuesday, working at a local roundhouse as a strikebreaker, has been taken back to the institution by a representative sent here yesterday by the Redfield authorities."

Hunters To Aid Law Enforcement

Austin, Texas, Aug. 28.—Concerted efforts will be made by Texas sportsmen on Sept. 1 to prevent thoughtless hunters shooting quails and other birds on which the season will still be closed, according to many letters received by State Game Commissioner W. W. Boyd from prominent men throughout Texas.

Heretofore, when dove hunting commenced as usual on Sept. 1, many quails, a good many songbirds and quite a few wild turkeys and ducks have been killed by hunters. During the last year, however, many hunting clubs and local game protective associations have been organized through the State, in each case the officers advising Commissioner Boyd that members all intend preventing promiscuous shooting of protected birds during fall and winter.

Commissioner Boyd is highly gratified at the sentiment which has grown up in the State. In conversation with newspaper men at Austin today he stated that many sportsmen had told him that in their districts they were locating all the best places for hunting and would be there early and late during the first few days of open dove season, both for their own legitimate hunting and for the purpose of detecting illegal quail shooting.

Commissioner Boyd has instructed his deputies throughout the State to file charges against all violators and to make special efforts during the first two weeks of September, at which time there is a considerable migratory movement of wild fowl in Texas.

During the last few days, according to reports received at the Game Commission, there has been quite a rush to secure hunting licenses, particularly by resident Texans who wish to hunt in counties other than that in which they live.

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas it has pleased the Almighty to remove from this earth by death, the father of our beloved Endeavorer, Ella Brown. He was a very prominent and well liked man, maintaining under all circumstances a character untarnished and a reputation above reproach. Therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death we, the members of Big Spring Christian Endeavor, have sustained the loss of a friend, whose fellowship it was a pleasure for one to enjoy; that we bear willing testimony to his unquestionable purity and stainless life; that we offer his bereaved family and mourning friends, over whom sorrow has hung its sable mantle our heartfelt condolence, and pray that infinite goodness may bring speedy relief to their burdened hearts and inspire them with the consolation that hope in futurity and faith in God gives even in the shadow of the tomb.

May it be further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes of the Christian Endeavor and a copy sent to Ella.

President Makes Tardy Move to Protect Public

An indication of the condition of railroad equipment is given by Joseph S. Meyers, commissioner of labor of Texas, who recently made the following statement:

"The order issued yesterday by President Harding to the Interstate Commerce Commission to resume enforcing the national safety appliance law is a tardy step in the right direction.

"For more than a month federal safety appliance inspectors have been allowed a 'vacation' and no attention given to the use of dangerous railroad equipment.

"Deputies of the state department of labor have made many reports concerning this matter, since the strike began July 1. The striking railroad men have had every law, federal and state, invoked against them, and now it appears the railroad companies are to be required to obey the law that means so much to the safety of the traveling public."

Memories and Resolutions

Our Heavenly Father saw fit to call to his Home on High the father of our beloved Endeavorers Joe and Mack Earley, on August 25, 1922. While we bow in humble submission to His Divine Will, we can not refrain from expressing our sorrow.

Be it resolved that we, the members of the Christian Endeavor, extend to the bereaved ones our sincere sympathy and commend them to God whom we all serve, for that consolation, which alone can comfort in the time of need.

Farewell dear father, sweetly rest, Weary with years and worn with pain; Farewell, till in some happy place We shall behold thy face again.

"Thine ours to miss thee, all our years and tender memories of thee keep. Thine to the Lord to rest, forso, He giveth His beloved sleep.

Weep not that his tolls are over, Weep not that his race is run, God grant that we may rest as calmly, When our work like his is done.

'Till there we yield with gladness, Our father to Him to keep, And rejoice in the sweet assurance He giveth his beloved one sleep.

Peaceful by thy silent slumber, Peaceful in thy grave so low; Thou wilt join no more in number, Thou no more our sorrows know, Yet again we hope to meet thee

When the day of life is fled, And in heaven with joy to greet thee Where no farewell tears are shed.

Gone But Not Forgotten

On Friday August 25, 1922 the Spirit of our beloved Mr. William Alexander Earley took its flight back to God who gave it.

Brother Earley was born Feb. 5, 1859 in the State of Mississippi where he spent 18 years of the early mornings of life. In the year 1869 he moved to Texas and at the age of 21 he professed faith in Christ and united with the Missionary Baptist church at Blanton, Hill County, Texas. In the year 1890 he was married to Miss L. A. Crawford. To this union 6 children were born, 3 boys and 3 girls. All of which were present at the going of the father.

Brother Earley and family moved from Fowler, Bosque County, Texas, to Big Spring on Nov. 28, 1913.

He leaves his life companion with six children and one brother and a host of friends to mourn his absence.

We would say to the bereaved wife and children who for the past seven weeks have spent many anxious hours at the bedside of the loved one who is gone to rest. As Jesus would say let not your hearts be troubled. Ye believe in God, believe also in me for in my father's house are many mansions. If it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you and if I go I will come again and receive you unto myself. That where I am there ye may be also.

Companions dear, the hours draw nigh.

The sentence speeds—to die, to die So long in mystic union held.

So close with strong embrace compelled.

Keep thou that hope to light thy gloom till the last trumpet rends the tomb and I with hovering wings elate the bursting of the bonds shall wait, and breathe the welcome of the sky, no more to part—no more to die.

Your friend,
W. D. Green.

William A. Earley Dead

William A. Earley, one of our respected and esteemed citizens, was claimed by death at 4:20 o'clock Friday August 25th. He had been ill about seven weeks and though everything possible was done to overcome his malady it proved unavailing and his soul took its flight to that Home on High.

Deceased, who was aged seventy-two years, six months and seventeen days, had made his home in Big Spring the past seven years and was respected and esteemed by everyone who knew him. He was a faithful husband, a kind and indulgent father and a man who believed in treating his fellowman as he would like to be treated. Many hearts are saddened by the death of this good man.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence at 208 Benton street at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and the remains were laid to rest in Mt. Olive cemetery.

Deceased is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters of this city and two sons by a former marriage: Joe, Garland J. and Mack Earley and Misses Caroline, Lucy and Pearl Earley of this city and O. C. Earley of Ft. Cobb Okla., and Robert E. Earley of Supply, Okla.; and a brother at Crosbyton, Texas, and to those who mourn for one dearly beloved is extended the heartfelt sympathy of our entire citizenship.

Strongheart, the wolf-dog, isn't a mere actor, but a killer, as primitive as a lean pack-leader that ever prowled in wilds, when he leaps to the call of the girl!

Though the drama of human and drama of wild beasts surges the drama of emotion, thrill and amazement as few other pictures can give.

"Bootlegging" in Alien Immigrants

Estimates of from one hundred to three hundred thousand aliens with no right to be in this country have been made by Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor and Director Burns of the Department of Justice Investigation Bureau.

These aliens slip into this country either from Cuba, landing on the Florida coast, and making their way north and west, or they come in over the Canadian or Mexican border. Without an absolutely prohibitively expensive border patrol it seems impossible to prevent smuggling of either liquor or aliens, but much can be done to prevent the latter, according to Secretary Davis, if Congress is willing to enact a compulsory registration law.

Representations have been made to the Cuban government, with the hope that it can aid in preventing the influx of the forty some thousand Chinese now supposed to be on the island awaiting a chance to enter this country. If, however, international agreements prove ineffective in preventing our immigration laws from being violated, Secretary Davis believes that a compulsory registration law for aliens would make smuggling unprofitable. It is not impossible. He is also of the opinion that it would speedily rid this country of many of its worst aliens, and take from jails, workhouses and almshouses many a native-born citizen who has no right here and send him to his native land, there to be for, not at the expense of the taxpayer.

A restaurant patronized by a crowd was burned, together with a general warning issued by residents of Electra as the result of a demonstration by a mob during which an effort was made to lynch John Lowe, a negro, who was caught in a room at a hotel with a white woman. Apprehensions of negroes have been making their way to Electra.

Al Vaughan returned from Crownking, Ariz., where he had for some time with his wife and children for the benefit of the latter. Mrs. Vaughan and baby will turn home until Christmas.

We have been unable to locate exact hour that H. H. H. stage his wheelbarrow parade for the benefit of the latter. The stage, next Monday, to be a wagger made on the seasonal of Ben Allen.

Strong Cast and Remarkable Dog in "The Silent Call"

A story of the High Sierras with all the grandeur and primitive emotions of that region, "The Silent Call" has been announced as the feature attraction at the R. and R. Lyric Monday and Tuesday September 4th and 5th. It is the first Laurence Trimble-Jane Murfin production, presented by H. O. Davis and distributed by Associated First National Pictures, Inc. One of the features of interest is the fact that the cast of principals consists of seven men, one girl, and Strongheart, the most intelligent police dog in the entire world, whose performance in this photoplay will doubtless make him the most beloved animal on the screen or stage.

Throughout the dramatic incidents of the plot that involve the human characters of the story, runs the thread of the life of Strongheart; the cross pull between the wolf and the dog natures in him, his final mastery of the former and his vindication in the eyes of all, because of his heroism in rescuing the hero and the heroine from the real danger that confronts them. It is the dog who first realizes the love between Moran and Betty Houston, played respectively by John Bowers and Kathryn McGuire, and who wreaks vengeance on the villain Brent, portrayed by William Dyer. It is Strongheart, too, who finally brings the parted lovers together to happiness.

Several claims have been made with entire justification for "The Silent Call." It brings as never before to the silver sheet the limitless beauty of the Sierras. In the dog, Strongheart, will be found perhaps the greatest animal actor ever seen on screen or stage, absolutely natural in his performance, great of heart and powerful of strength. In addition to the meritorious characterizations of the other members of the cast, which includes John Bowers, William Dyer, James Mason, and other well-known players, this picture gives the first dramatic opportunity to its heroine, Kathryn McGuire, the latest Sennett luminary to graduate from the ranks of bathing beauties and short-reel comedienne into the portrayal of more serious, dramatic roles.

"The Silent Call" was adapted to the screen by Jane Murfin from the story and novel "The Cross Pull," by Hal G. Everts, and directed by Laurence Trimble.

The constitution of the United States is our basic law. That makes it very important of course, but what makes it far more important is the fact that, notwithstanding its brevity and conciseness, it contains the great principles of government as they were discovered and worked out by six thousand years of bitter, tragic effort on the part of humanity. In that constitution is the philosophy of Greece, with the blunders which led to her downfall eliminated. In that constitution is the judicial system of Rome, with the mistakes and extremes expurgated. In that constitution is the English bill of rights, with religious intolerance expurgated. In that constitution are the experiences, whether successful or unsuccessful, or unfortunate, of all the great republics and democracies preceding the United States. In that constitution is the wisdom of a thousand sages, with the dreams left out. In that constitution is the learning of all past ages, condensed, assorted and refined.—Houston Chronicle.

Farm For Sale
108 acres, 8 miles northwest of Garden City—40 acres can be irrigated—have plenty of water; school on the place; telephone; good community; good crop. Priced to sell. See McREA at Gooch Cash Grocery. 49-2tpd

Mayor E. R. Cockrell of Fort Worth knows what irrigation has done for Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, and California. He knows of valley lands in these states which sold for 75 cents an acre and later sold for $60 and $100 an acre "through the voice of irrigation." There are lands in California that once sold for 75 cents an acre that are worth $1,000 an acre today. Water did it.—Wichita Falls Record-News.

The Bugaboo of Seniority

At this writing the settlement of the railway strike seems to hinge on "seniority." In railway circles this term describes the system by which men advance according to their time in service. The next oldest man, in point of employment, is promoted to a desirable vacancy. The next oldest man is not always the best fitted, and thus railroading has suffered from a system which was originally intended to bring about fairness in such matters.

In the strike, however, it takes on a new meaning. Railway managers decreed that strikers lost all their rights; if they returned to work they should return as new employes. Managers said it was not fair to discharge or supersede men who had come in to help in an emergency. The strikers, on their side, said they would never return until the rule of seniority was restored giving all the strikers all of their previous rights. Each side stood stubbornly for its respective contention until President Harding asked them to settle the strike, leaving the matter of seniority in abeyance for the present.

The fair mind will see the force of both positions, because the fair mind will assume that everything is straight all down the line. But the facts dispose of seniority as a strike problem. The so-called strike breakers brought in by the railroads are not mechanics and quit their jobs as soon as peace is declared. The railroads are paying more than twice the usual wages to their strike breakers. Any railroad manager will tell you that he has more trouble with his strike breakers than with his regular men. One railroad has had two strikes among its strike breakers—but it was not reported in the newspapers.

When the strike is settled, wages will go back to the previous scale. That is, the strike breakers will be cut from the $10 they are now receiving, to about $4. Of course, they will not stand for it. They are not seeking steady jobs. They are not, as a rule, of the class that has families to support. They are the mercenary troops, so to speak, the mobile army of labor trouble, and most of them are in the employ of agencies that are in that kind of business.

It is quite plain, therefore, that once the regular men go back to work the problem of seniority is automatically solved, as far as the strike breakers are concerned. They are not interested in orderly industrial procedure. They will not be there to contest their "rights." They will be scattered among their various tenderloins waiting for the next strike to break out, and some of them will be employed as agents in various industries to provoke strikes and thus make business for the strike-breaking agencies.

But, even so, the real problem of seniority will remain. And it is this problem which will continue to face the railroad men until it is settled right. It can only be settled right where the basic wage is just, where men can earn a decent livelihood whatever their degree of employment. Which is only to say once more that our industrial difficulties are patiently waiting their solution in an order of justice and humanity which shall permeate every kind of work.

A. D. Estes returned this week from Hico, Cisco, Abilene and other points. Think Houston says he has been off on speech making tour for Jim Ferguson, but we hate to believe our old friend would do such a menial thing. Uncle Ben says that Martin County has the best crops he saw anywhere on his trip except that of Howard, our neighbor to the east. He says we have much better crops than those down there who said they had good rains the first of July. In other words in all the territory he covered, including some fifteen counties, he comes back to us with the report that Martin is the best of the bunch. This is indeed encouraging, when you remember that he was in counties where $100 per acre land was common.—Stanton Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Austin returned last Friday from an extended auto tour through the Plains country and Mr. Austin informed us that we could tell the readers of The Herald that old Howard County had the best crops he saw on the entire trip. North of Lubbock the crops are going to be very short and the wheat crop this year was indeed small. Mrs. Austin stated that while she could not boast about Howard County's roads as a whole, they are, with the exception of the roads in Potter County, the best they traveled over. The continued dry weather is playing havoc with all roads in West Texas.

In a communication from C. T. Holloway at Corpus Christi he states: "You can tell Howard County folks that the cotton crop for this season is about over in the Corpus Christi section. Dry weather cut the crop very short. About six weeks ago prospects looked good for one half to three quarters of a bale per acre—yes farms promised a bale to the acre—but they are only getting a bale to about six to ten acres."

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Smith of Shreveport, La., enroute home from an auto trip thru New Mexico and Arizona spent a short time with old friends here Wednesday evening. They stated that in all their travels since they left Shreveport they did not find crops as good as they are in Howard County except in districts where the crops are under irrigation. Mr. and Mrs. Smith stated they were hungry for West Texas and hoped to be able to return here at some future date. Mr. Smith was in the oil business while here, first with the McCarley Oil Association and later as field manager for the Uranian Oil Association, which company made a deep test in Borden County.

Believing some one had stolen the car he notified the officers, and a campaign to head off the thieves was being made when the car was located near the Burton-Lingo Co., where Mr. Scott had left it.

Mrs. M. Broughton residing north of Big Spring brought to the Chamber of Commerce this week one of the largest hen eggs this writer ever saw. This egg measures 8 3/4 inches in circumference the long way and 6 3/4 inches in circumference. This egg was almost as large as a turkey egg but Mrs. Broughton states it was just a common ordinary member of the chicken family that laid it.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Jones returned Monday from an auto trip to Corpus Christi where they enjoyed a delightful two weeks' visit. Mr. Jones stated that it was cool and delightful during their stay there. He also reports crops in Howard County superior to those anywhere along the line between here and Corpus.

Two valuable guns and other articles, including a hack saw, were stolen from the Stokes-Hughes Company Saturday night, supposedly by the same bunch that broke into Gary & Son's store, as the hack saw was used in cutting the bars in the basement window at the store of Gary & Son.

Earl Smith brought to the office of the Chamber of Commerce the champion small hen egg and this midget is now on display in the show window.

NOVEL USE FOR GRAMOPHONE
 Machine Can Be Used to Tell Fortunes if One is Tired of Listening to Music.

You can have all kinds of fun with a gramophone. It can become, for example, a most amusing fortune-teller. Prepare a cardboard disc, just the size of the turn-table, with a hole in its center for the pin. This can be done by placing a record on a sheet of cardboard, marking a pencil line round it, and cutting out with a pair of scissors. Onto the disc paste a paper circle marked off round the edge into two divisions about two inches wide, in each of which have been written predictions, humorous or otherwise. The disc is placed on the turn-table, and a strip of cardboard about eight inches long and one inch wide is prepared. A hole rather larger than the diameter of the center pin is made at one end. This is slipped over the pin, and the other end is bent down to form a support for the slip so that it will stand clear of the disc. An arrow is drawn upon it to act as a pointer. Set the machine in motion and invite the company to consult the oracle. They do this by pressing the brake of the gramophone. The division on the disc opposite which the arrow on the fixed slip stops gives the "fortune" of the victim.

ONE OF OLDEST TRADITIONS
 Picturesque Legend of the Slaughter of St. Ursula and the Eleven Thousand Virgins.

The legend of St. Ursula is one of the most picturesque of ancient traditions. It relates that she was the daughter of the Briton, Theonotus, and was desired in marriage by a heathen prince named Holofernes. She consented on the condition that he become a Christian, and allowed her three years in which to make a pilgrimage. He consented, and Ursula set out accompanied by 11,000 virgins. They journeyed up the Rhine as far as Basle and thence, by foot, to Rome, where they were joined, for their return march, by the pope and a retinue of clergy. When they reached Cologne, on the return trip, they were attacked by a horde of wild Hunnish barbarians, and all were slain, although Attila, the leader of the Huns, attempted to save the life of Ursula that she might become his wife. She fell, however, pierced with an arrow, which has become her attribute in pictorial representations. As soon as the massacre was over angels appeared, in number equal to the slaughtered virgins, and put the barbarians to flight. Soon after a church was erected among the graves in honor of St. Ursula.

"Vapor Cure" for Whooping Cough. In Devonshire, England, the peasantry treat the patient on a sheep's "forme." A forme is the imprint that a sheep makes on the grass by lying in one place all night. When the animal gets up in the morning, a sort of vapor rises from the warm ground underneath into the cold air of the early dawn. The sufferer is taken out into the meadow where the sheep are at day-break, laid face downward on the forme, and has then to breathe this vapor in, not merely through the nostrils, but with open mouth. He must breathe it until the ground is cold and there is no more vapor to be sucked into his lungs. This takes about five minutes. Then the patient goes back to bed, and in a few hours his cough has left him—or at least so say the Devon folk.

Beautiful "Diamond Beetle." One of the most beautiful of all insects is the "diamond beetle" of Brazil. According to the recent investigations of an American naturalist, who has lately visited that country, the sparkling colors of this beetle, which blazes with extraordinary brilliance in the sunshine, originate in an entirely different way from the hues of butterflies. The scales of the diamond beetle appear to consist of two layers, separated by an exceedingly thin interspace, and the light falling upon them experiences the effect of interference, so that the resulting colors correspond with those of thin plates or of the soap bubble.

Nature's Linemen. The downy woodpecker, the hairy woodpecker and the flicker all seem possessed with a mania for killing destructive wood-boring larvae, says the American Forestry Magazine. Better equipped than a telephone lineman for climbing; supported by a spurred tail; provided with hooked claws for clinging to the bark; hammer-headed, chisel-beaked, and armed with a tremendously long, strong, lance-pointed, barbed, extensible tongue, the woodpecker drifts through the wood directly into the spot where the borer lies hidden, pushes in the tip of his barbed tongue, spears the victim and whips it quickly into his open beak.

Drama in Crimean Gulch. "How did you come to mob that show?" "They advertised 'Ten Nights in a Barroom.'" answered Cactus Joe, "and the stage flicker wasn't nothin' but sarsaparilla."

Mr. Henning Is Right
 Having failed to break down the too few immigration restrictions with pleas to sympathy, the timeworn appeal to selfish interest is being attempted through powerful business institutions. The increase in production has brought a scarcity of labor in some quarters, and corresponding demands for higher wages. The suggestion therefore is made to repeal the three per cent law to permit the hordes from Southeastern Europe to enter. The interests constantly at work on behalf of the undesirable aliens believe that powerful manufacturers have more influence with Congress than have the great mass of real Americans who are seldom aroused from their state of inarticulate unobtrusiveness. They hope by waving the flag of cheap labor before influential manufacturers that Congress may be induced to open wide again the doors. E. J. Henning, assistant secretary of commerce, who has been most active in safeguarding the country against the undesirables, in an address in New York, gave voice to some facts regarding the cheap labor fallacy which deserve general attention. "If you have labor that will do fairly well for a year or two or five, but thereafter goes on the shelf, into the poo-house, the home for feeble-minded, the jail, the cost of that individual to the community will be greater than any asset he may have produced," said Mr. Henning. "When you talk of filling the country with cheap labor, largely because it is mentally not capable of reaching a high stage, you are overloading your business, you are putting on an overhead that you cannot shake off for centuries to come, because the same people will reproduce their like. "The cheapest labor in the world is the labor that is educated to the equivalent of a high school, has learned a trade, that is patriotic, and that has citizenship in the country. The man who is married and owns a home and is rearing a family, and who takes an active part in government, will ultimately be your cheapest labor, instead of the ignorant, illiterate labor which big business often says we need in this country to compete with the world."—Dearborn Independent.

Baptist Notes

We had two splendid services last Sunday when Rev. King of El Paso preached for us at the morning hour and again at 8 in the evening.

Rev. King is a forceful speaker, losing sight of self in the presentation of his subject, and making his hearers realize that he is the bearer of a great message. The sermons should be indeed helpful to all who heard. At the evening service there was a very happy profession, and in the morning, one addition to the church by letter.

The attendance at Sunday School is improving as summer draws to a close. Be on hand next Sunday, boys and girls, and bring the grown folks with you. Let's battle successfully against hot weather conditions, and build up our S. S. Fine work is being done in the different departments and promotion day will be at hand before long.

On next Sunday Mr. Mannel of the Y. M. C. A. is to preach for us, and a cordial welcome awaits all who will come and worship with us.

It seemed so nice to have Mrs. Reagan back with us for two weeks recently. In fact, we can hardly yet realize that she is not one of our number. For many more years than most of us have been here she has been a faithful and devoted member of the church and S. S. Helping wherever most needed and leading others into the work, surmounting obstacles and discouragements and maintaining always a tranquil, hopeful spirit she has accomplished untold good, and left an impress which can never be effaced. Church letters were recently granted for her and Misses Lucille and Helen and we are indeed sorry to have to give them up. We will hope that they may some time come to live among us again.

Quite a good crowd of the ladies attended the Missionary meeting last Monday at the home of Mrs. Holmes. The subject was Industrial Foreign Missions. Mrs. Gary had charge of the programme which was well arranged and very interesting. And every one given a part on the programme was present and prepared. Rev. King of El Paso, was present by special invitation and made a fine talk setting forth some of the things in church work accomplished by the W. M. U. since its organization and inspiring us to carry on in a noble way. Another special feature was the singing of two very appropriate and beautiful songs by the Junior girls, led by Mrs. McNew. We were so glad to have the Juniors with us and trust that in years to come they will realize their responsibility as women of the church. Last month the young ladies of Mrs. Stokes' class had the programme and each one did well in presenting her topic and impressed upon us our duty to the foreigners in our midst. On one or two former occasions the ladies of Mrs. Reagan's class had been responsible for the meeting and their programmes are helpful indeed. Thus it is that all department and classes are branches of the great body—the church—and all are happy when helping on the work. During the social hour at the close of the afternoon refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by Mesdames Holmes, Travis Reed, and B. N. Ralph.

Methodist Notes

This can't be!—but it is! our visitor of last week back again. And you "want to hear some more!" That's fine. "Begin where I left off!" It was church time, I think. And now wasn't Bro. Hardy's sermon all I claimed for it, and more? And wasn't the solo, "Thy Kingdom Come," by Miss Vivian Johnson, a perfectly beautiful prelude?

At the evening hour, also, we listened to an excellent sermon and a treat we have not enjoyed for a long, long time, a vocal selection by male voices, Messrs. Wynn, Leeper, and Manuel. It was a beautiful and inspiring number, thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

On Monday afternoon the Big 4 Circle met at the "Y" for our monthly social session. About 60 were present and every one had a good time. Punch was served on entrance. Our program committee gave us several good things from the Voice—Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Davis, taking part. The Misses Shive sang a duet, and Edith Dow Cordell gave a reading. Mrs. Stripling gave a brief memorial sketch of our beloved Miss Belle H. Bennett, whose loss is keenly felt throughout our Southern Methodism. At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Mason and her corps of efficient helpers served us with ice cold watermelon, a most appropriate treat for an August afternoon.

Last Sunday we had BSI present, and we look for at least 375 at Sunday school this Sunday. The offering goes on our Centenary pledge. We know our loyal members—even the youngest—will remember to bring an added offering at this time. Let us each "lay by in store for the Sabbath" an amount fitting for missions. Don't forget. What is it you say? "Haven't heard what I promised to tell of Mrs. Morris' class of Susanna Wesley?" Why, we can't put all that in now. It is their class history. It will be in next week—but I can tell you this much, it is a record-breaker. You wait and see. What is it you say "Willing to accept my word for it, and want to join right now?" That's splendid. Meet a new pupil, Susanna, "Mrs. Willing-to-be Taught." Give her a warm welcome and insist she bring her husband next Sunday.

Business meeting of the Auxiliary Monday at 4 at the church. Be on hand.

The Boy Scouts came home from their camp down on the McIntire ranch last Friday morning tired but feeling fine. The boys are all agreed that they never have had a better camp. All the boys are loud in their praise of their leaders, C. J. Shultz and Wilbur Matthews. Likewise the leaders are just as loud in their praise of the boys, declaring that there are no better boys in the world than our Big Spring Boy Scouts.

As captain of the kitchen and director of the cats Wafford Hardy, the genial cook, deserves honorable mention. He proved himself to be not only a good cook but a real scout. As soon as the boys were in camp Mr. McIntire came down, and in his good natured way made the boys welcome and offered his assistance in any way to make their stay a real pleasure. The boys vote him a real scout also. The boys are planning a big program for the winter. Let's get back of them and boost for our boys. The scout room at the "Y" will be fitted up next Friday evening with games and books that boys like.

On Monday the ladies of the Methodist church met in their monthly social meeting in the auditorium. About fifty were present and enjoyed a good time.

Wednesday September 6th we will entertain our mothers. We have a fine program arranged and Ladies of the Eastern Star are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served by the boys. We will commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

Law and the Layman

The American Bar Association, in convention assembled, has made many recommendations, doubtless all wise, looking towards judicial reform. Chief Justice Taft, whose world-wide reputation as a jurist suffers not at all from his able exposition of needed legal changes, has outlined through this association to the legal profession of the country, the things which he believes should be done to make our judicial system better.

All of which is well, very well; but perhaps not well enough. Did it ever occur to a lawyer, do you suppose, to ask a layman for his ideas of judicial reform?

It probably did not. The "legal mind" can not think as the layman thinks, and yet law is for the layman.

If you have a case of any sort it is put on a docket. When it is reached, you must be there to defend or prosecute it. If they say tomorrow and you come tomorrow and bring fifty witnesses tomorrow, and the court isn't ready for you, you wait. The witnesses wait. If courts ran to schedule and the schedule ran out once in a while, and the court did nothing but hold its hands, more money would be saved than under the present rule, which is to keep the court busy, though hundreds of witnesses, lawyers, complainants, and defendants wait around and lose money.

If you are sued . . . and any one can sue you for anything, whether you owe it or not . . . you must defend the suit. You must pay your lawyers; lawyers have to live. If it costs you a hundred, a thousand, or fifty thousand dollars, you must pay it. If you win the unjust suit, you are told you have justice; but your bank account doesn't show it.

What we need is not reform of the law from within, so much as reform from without; what the law needs is the layman's point of view, which is that speed and absence of expense are both parts of true justice; that no decision, no matter how correct, is truly just if it has cost much money and time to obtain.

What's New in Music

Trombitis, or "Hot Lips," is a common malady among cornetists and trumpeters. It is also the pet name of Henry Busse, first trumpet of the Whitemans, who with Henry Lang and Lou Davis have composed a Blues Fox Trot by name, "Hot Lips." The Whitemans play it on a September Victor Record—a sad-eyed, romantic fox trot in which Busse's instrument is prominent. In fact they say "He does about everything with it but crawl into it." "Bring Back My Honey Man" which the Virginians play on the same record is also in the blues tempo, with a rolling rocking rhythm, slow enough to shape your steps easily.

Representative of the most modern developments of the American dance orchestra are two numbers by Paul Whiteman and his Orchestra and Club Royal Orchestra on a September Victor Record. As examples of skillful and ingenious scoring "My Rambler Rose"—a medley fox trot from the "Ziegfeld Follies," played by the Whitemans, and "Dancing Fool," a fox trot by Club Royal, must be considered as advances upon what has already been done.

The Benson Orchestra of Chicago has its own way with two fox trots that may be wild in spots, but then—"Oogie Oogie Wa Wa" and "Deedle Deedle Dum" are full of fly-swatters at the traps, a solemn crepe-hanger of a sax tube, cascades and freshets of piano-tone.

The Tariff and Wages

The wage of the cotton factory has always been low. It is at the very bottom of the wage scale of the industries of the country. There is talk for tariff in behalf of the cotton "interests." Senator La Follette, in a recent speech, discussed profits made by the cotton manufacturers.

The profits of the Amoskeag people rose from $761,967 in 1910 to $5,052,681 in 1918. In 1920 the Beacon company earned 100 per cent on its outstanding preferred stock.

The Dartmouth mill paid 32 per cent on its common stock and put more than two and a half millions into surplus. The Tecumseh mills earned 100 per cent with another hundred in quick assets. And so it goes.

Raising of wages is not in the policy of the people in charge of the tariff bill—save in their writings and speeches.—Cleveland Press.

There is only one thing to do and that is to grin and "carry on." Things have been worse and could be far worse than they are at present. If the shopmen win the strike we all win—if not we all lose. The present hearing before the Labor Board of the maintenance of way men's request for an increase in wages will have quite a bearing on the strike.

Lloyd Winston of Cisco after a few days' visit in this city left Saturday for his home.

Hearing for Maintenance Men Important.—Grable

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 27.—The hearing of the wage increase pleas of approximately 400,000 maintenance of way men tomorrow by the United States night by E. F. Grable, head of the Railroad Labor Board was declared to trackmen, to be one of the most important matters which has ever come before the board.

"The maintenance of way employees," he said, "have remained at work since July 1 under the expectation and actual assurance by the original framers of the transportation act that they would be able to secure a living wage under provisions of the existing law. The proceedings tomorrow will determine this point.

"Ever since the board was established I have endeavored to secure a decision which will practically apply the living wage principle to our members, or, in other words, which would permit them to live in modest comfort and decency. Up to this time the Labor Board has not indicated its acceptance of the living wage principle, either as a principle or concretely in the rates of pay awarded.

"What makes this the most important case that has ever come before the board therefore is that in the course of the proceedings the board must face and, I think, accept the principle of the living wage if it is to follow out the intent of the law and its decisions are to be equitable and just and meet the human needs of the railway workers."

There is little justice in the government guaranteeing the railroads a profit of 6 per cent on the investment. We are wholly at a loss to understand why the government should guarantee any profit on any kind of business. All business enterprises should be guaranteed protection in the legitimate pursuit of profits, and that is as far as the government should do. It is true that the socialists teach absolute government control over all public utilities, but they have never, so far as we know, advocated the guaranteeing of profits on privately managed utilities. Between a government that guarantees profits to monopolies and a government run by socialists the plain people of America want neither.—Rusk County News.

Poultry Will Need Protection

Many farmers have taken up poultry as a side line. Many others have increased the size of their flocks. During the summer months poultry has not been in need of very much shelter. They have been very comfortable roosting in old sheds and even in trees. Winter is now approaching. If you expect to have your chickens pay for their feed this winter, you will have to provide comfortable quarters for them. If you have not already done so, it is time you were making your plans and getting busy.

Plans for poultry houses can readily be secured from the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, Department of Agriculture, Washington, or from the A. & M. College, College Station, Texas. When you build, make your poultry house a permanent structure. The better it is, the more economical it will prove to be in the long run.—Farm and Ranch.

What Can You Do?

At best, man is an egotistic creature. We all think we can do a lot of things that we can't and some of us waste much valuable time worrying about the things we can't do. But the first and foremost failure is the fellow who tries to do everything, and never learns to do anything well.

We all recall Switzer's doctor who thought he was a good automobile mechanic and eventually was spending more time mending cars than people. When a good doctor came along he took the practice of the community, and when a regular automobile mechanic opened up a garage he got the automobile business, and the old doctor was left without a job.

Andrew Carnegie attributed his success to his ability to select men to do certain things better than he could do them himself. Henry Ford is an outstanding example of a successful man who has hired men to do things, while he was stuck to the task of planning things for these experts to do.

The man that makes a success is the one that finds something that he can do and learns to do it better than anybody else. His services are always in demand.

Dr. Frank Crane, the great philosopher whose inspirational sermonettes are read by millions every day, has written a wonderful sketch on "What I Can Do." It has food for thought for all of us. He says:

"As I begin to take stock of the years and their attainments I have become more and more conscious of the many things I cannot do.

"I can write passably enough to make a living and can make a fair speech. That is about all.

"I cannot dance, sing a song, or play a piano.

"I cannot run a race on foot or excel in wrestling or jumping or athletic exercises.

"I cannot manage any piece of machinery from a tack hammer to a locomotive.

"I cannot add a column of figures correctly and never hope to be able to do so.

"I cannot tame wild animals, break a horse or train a dog.

"When I go to lay a book on the table I am never certain that it will not fall off.

"I love chess and games of cards, but play them all poorly.

"When in Italy I used to buy a one lira ticket in the national lottery every day for a period of some months and never won a solitary prize.

"I cannot fix a clock or hang wallpaper, or paint a picture or put up a stove pipe with any degree of success.

"I was never able to become popular in a club, party, church or community, so that I was never elected to anything in my life, except to some position no one else wanted.

"I am wholly deficient in the power of competition.

"I am fond of women, but have never been popular among them so that I could really call myself a ladies man.

"When I was young I had as many ambitions as there are divisions of human activity. At different times I thought I would be a lawyer, a physician, a botanist, an entomologist, a Greek scholar, a professor of modern languages, a writer of novels and plays, a wit, a politician, and a preacher.

"One by one I have taken in my sails. By infinite experimentation I have discovered that there are but a few simple things that I can do.

"The world has assisted me in making this discovery by the very simple method of paying me for what I can do and ignoring me for what I cannot do.

"I suppose everybody, in a way, undergoes this process of coming to himself. And the man who arrives is to be congratulated, even if he finds out that the one big thing other people are willing to pay him for doing is laying brick or trimming whiskers.

"I sometimes wonder how many people really find their pigeonhole.

"Emerson said: 'Few men find themselves before they die.'"

Uncle John's

WHO KNOWS BUT WHAT A GRAPEFRUIT IS JUST A LEMON THAT SAW IT'S CHANCE AND MADE GOOD

All Ready But The Horses

In the Name of Justice

There is but one object in the wide dissemination of such luridly fantastic stories of violence in Fort Worth as have been fed to the public since the union garment workers withdrew from the factory of the Miller Manufacturing Company.

That object is to further the drive of the Open Shop Association to destroy unionism in this city.

That Fort Worth as a whole is discredited in the eyes of Texas by such malicious propaganda is of no concern to the open shoppers. They are to be classed with Mr. Mapother, president of the L&N railway, whose deft was "Michigan Hell—we're out to bust the unions," when he was begged to adopt Henry Ford methods to keep his railroad running and thus supply Michigan with coal.

Little if any less ridiculous than the stories of mob violence which have been circulated is the spectacle of a bunch of long-faced union haters getting together—for the second time in a few months—and passing ponderous resolutions taking these stories at face value and urging that maintenance of law and order in Fort Worth be placed in the hands of Texas Rangers.

What brand of citizenship is this? Certainly it's not the brand that will make the Greater Fort Worth visioned by right-thinking people a reality. It's not the brand that will maintain industrial peace in this city.

It's merely another demonstration of the brand of citizenship that takes counsel of prejudice rather than common sense, and is out for more profits at any cost to the people at large.

Violence? You hear no outcries against it unless a slur on unionism can be brought in. There have been lynchings, whippings, tar and feather parties, and many other varieties of mob disorder—but never a "law and order" meeting and never a resolution unless blame could be fixed in some way on the unions.

Every person who takes the law into his own hands in any manner should be punished. The unionist or union sympathizer who lays violent hands on a strikebreaker should pay the penalty the law prescribes. Man or woman—makes no difference.

But in the name of justice and for the protection of this city's good name, let's have an end of hypocrisy and lying and two-faced assumption of fake virtue in dealing with labor troubles in Fort Worth—Fort Worth Press.
