

FD PREPARES TO CARRY FIGHT TO THE PEOPLE

Stores Stocked For Record Fall Turnover

Big Spring merchants are stocking heavily against what they believe will be the "biggest" autumn business since the boom-peak of 1929.

A survey of representative firms in the several lines of trade Saturday showed that most establishments are going into the fall season with heaviest stocks in years. To this already bulky supply of goods, many are adding to the reserve daily.

Wider range of choices and higher-quality are notable in the offerings of stores of all lines.

This is particularly true of semi-luxury items, and of articles on which the demand has been light since advent of the depression in 1929.

This is further true in the furniture and furnishings stores. They are carrying and regularly turning out suits now which would have caught nothing but store-room dust two and three years ago. The quality is definitely higher. Anticipating a heavy market on all types of furniture, dealers have, as one expressed it, stocked "up to my neck."

In clothing stores, stocks are larger but represent no such great increase as in some other lines. Their seasonal stock pretty well cares for the rush but they have provided for what they believe will show another percentage gain in fall volume. Marked difference in lines is the rating of more and more quality items.

Dry goods and department stores have their available space taxed for the most part. With the summer trade holding about even with last summer, the early fall buying in September had indicated further gains for these businesses. More than any other class of business, perhaps, they will feel the effects of a long season of harvesting the current cotton crop.

Drug stores, too, are looking forward to increased business in the next three months. Their quality lines of merchandise are coming more and more into demand, and advent of autumn finds these stores stocked to care for almost any need.

Jewelry and other, so-called luxury lines of business anticipate gains ranging from 10 to 30 per cent. This gain is not so much in the number of anticipated customers, but in the type of purchases. Stocks here are heaviest in years, and some are even buying ahead for the Christmas rush.

First of the increased autumn business began to make itself felt Saturday, and merchants were priming for a record rush which they expect to attain full force by Oct. 1.

Crop Outturn Beginning To Gather Speed

Ginning Expected To Be In Full Blast In Two Weeks

Aided by a warm autumn sun, old King Cotton began to deliver the goods here last week.

By Saturday evening he had sent enough cotton to market here to turn the season's total ginnings for the five Big Spring gins to 528 bales.

Although the total stood about a week behind the figures for last year, the 359 bales ginned here for the week was well ahead of the 244 ginned for the same period a year ago.

MAJOR SPEECH IS PLANNED DURING WESTERN TRIP

Remains Silent On Black-Klan Controversy, But Renews His Indictment Of Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt faced westward tonight with fight in his eyes.

He prepared tentatively for at least one major speech on his journey across the continent, then packed his bags, arranging for a few days at his Hyde Park home before taking to the road.

A clear indication of what may be expected in the back platform appearances, the numerous short talks and the speech that mark his trail across the country had already been given in his Constitution Day speech.

In that he had renewed his indictment of the supreme court, urged that the country be loyal to the constitution and "not to its misinterpreters," warned that danger of dictatorship walked arm in arm with laggard social reform.

Even as he spoke, making no mention of the raging controversy over charges that Hugo L. Black, his newly named associate justice of the supreme court, was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, new statements in that words combat were in the making.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, a democrat who has often had his fits with the new deal, said at Lynchburg he had no idea that anything could, or would, be done by anyone to remove Black from the court.

"It is now a waste of time to be talking about it," Glass said.

"My vote against the confirmation of Senator Black for the supreme court reflects then and now by judgment of the utter unfitness of his nomination, regardless of the Ku Klux Klan charges."

From Senator Lister Hill (D-Tenn.) came a statement saying judgment should be withheld until Black spoke.

"The first responsibility of nomination rests with the president making them," he said.

"If a fair hearing discloses that Justice Black is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, he should resign from the supreme court or, in fairness to the president and the senate, make a statement repudiating the principles of the Klan."

"If he fails to do so I think congress should take action on the ground of concealment of a material fact."

But from Senators Pepper and Andrews (Fla.), Russell (D-Ga.) and Schwartz (D-Wyo.) came statements praising Black and saying the charges originated with confirmed enemies of the administration.

Whatever Mr. Roosevelt's feelings on the subject, he said no word as he worked over the final details of his itinerary for the western trip, though in his last night's speech he had said with some emphasis strong words about intolerance of all sorts.

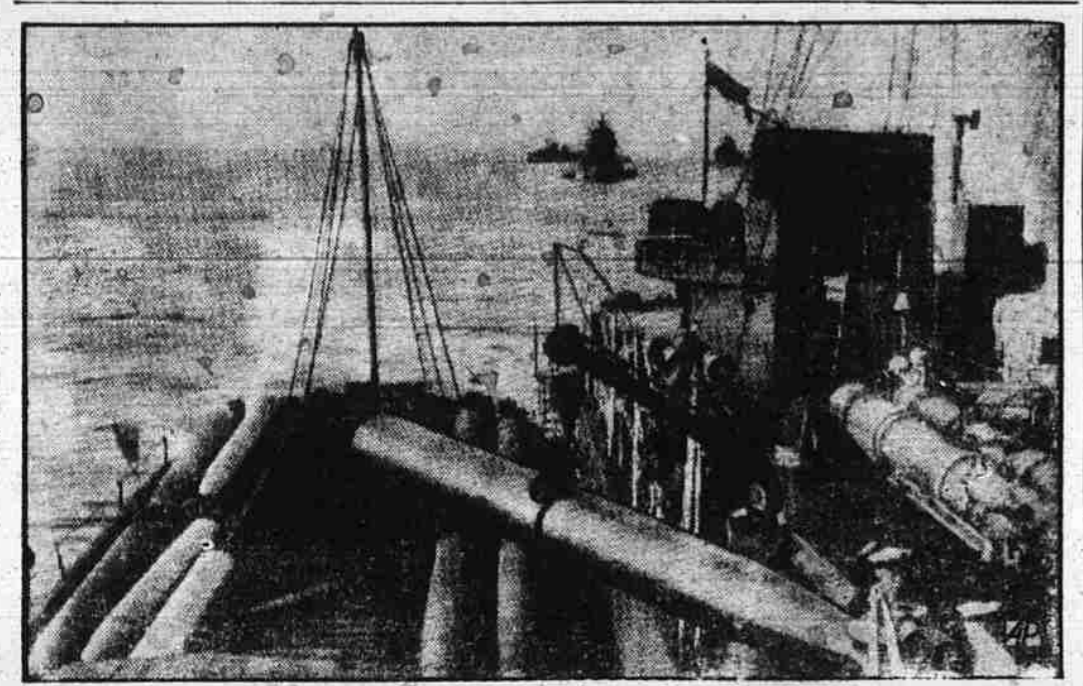

The final plans for the trip to the Pacific Coast will be worked out at Hyde Park. He leaves there Wednesday. Thus far the stops that have been tentatively set down are at Bonneville, Fort Peck and Grand Coulee Dams, the Bremerton navy yard and Yellowstone National Park. He will spend two nights and a day in Seattle, visiting his daughter, Mrs. John Baettiger.

Tentatively, the major speech of the trip has been set down for Bonneville. But already ceremonies are being arranged for some of the other stops.

Too, the route will take Mr. Roosevelt across the home states of several of the senators who opposed the court plan.

Italy Spurns New Sea Patrol Offer

TORPEDOES LOADED FOR ENGLISH ARMADA

Just before the first contingent of destroyers to reinforce the vast Mediterranean Anglo-French piracy patrol sped from France, this picture was made showing torpedoes being hoisted

Piracy Crisis Is Nearer A Showdown

Spanish Aid Again Becomes Menace To Peace

LONDON, Sept. 18 (AP)—European powers moved nearer a showdown in the Mediterranean crisis tonight as Italy received coldly a fresh invitation to join the "anti-piracy" patrol.

Volunteers To Spain
A new turn in the question of foreign intervention in the Spanish civil war was indicated by reports fresh Italian volunteers were being enrolled. European capitals saw increasing dangers to the general peace arising from that conflict.

Perils at sea were illustrated anew by the attempt of an unidentified airplane to bomb the British destroyer Fearless off Gijon, government port of northern Spain. The destroyer was not hit, but London officials said they believed the attack was due merely to mistaken identity. The plane might have belonged to either Spanish faction.

Great Britain and France gave Italy another chance to join the nine-power patrol to crush attackers of merchant shipping in the Mediterranean. Again Rome indicated refusal.

RENO-BOUND

Marcelle Edwards, wife No. 4 of Playboy Tommy Manville, is shown as she boarded a plane at Newark, N. J., bound for Reno and a divorce. The trip west followed a conference with Manville at which the blonde fencer arranged a cash settlement with the ex-show-girl.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

Big Spring is to be congratulated on the sound position of its city finances. Few municipalities have been able to command such a low rate of interest on a bond issue as did Big Spring last week in marketing the $50,000 hospital site block for the equivalent of little under 3 3/4 per cent. The actual offer was four per cent with $1,061 premium. Contrast this with the six per cent necessary to float issues a few years ago, and you are convinced that it pays to have splendid municipal credit.

Marketing of the bonds at the attractive figure was only one of the important news developments coming from the city during the week. In fact, most of the important local news came from that source. For instance, the commissioners voted the tax rate at $1.80. This represented a 10 per cent increase, due to the new bond issue, but actually there was no hike for interest and sinking fund purposes. The additional levy is for the improvement program in street and water departments. Looking ahead, the move is a very wise one. Big Spring is bound to grow, and the city facilities must grow with the population.

Also of interest was the approval of a $33,000 park project, entailing something like $2,000 of city funds. Some people are opposed to park expenditures, some of the city's best spent funds have been on the development of the city park—recognized throughout West Texas as a model municipal recreational system.

The city's expenditure for the work is reduced further by a $500 anonymous donation through the chamber of commerce. This donation is earmarked for amphitheatre development, a thing which will further make the park a community center. Although the person who made the gift prefers to be unknown, he or she is deserving of high praise for giving to project which will long endure.

Introduction of a malodorous into the gas mains is a significant step. This precautionary measure, required by the state, can easily be the means of saving lives and property. There can now be no mistaking the odor of escaping gas, doubt about the existence of dangerous accumulations obvious as the gas company's warnings may have seemed. Advice to call the company to check for leaks when the odor warns, is a good one, for many people still

Tax Arguments To Be Renewed As Solons Convene Sept. 27

Allred Says 15 Million In New Revenue Needed, Others Say No

AUSTIN, Sept. 18 (AP)—In eight more days the legislature will resume an argument interrupted four months ago. It is of tremendous importance in Texas.

In a special session called to begin Sept. 27, the lawmakers again will seek an answer to a question that plagued it in the regular meeting terminated in May.

Does the state need to bolster its financial house at this time, and if so, where should the money come from?

It is a matter over which the membership apparently is as sharply divided as ever.

With reference to whether additional revenue should be raised or things allowed to rock along until business conditions are better, Governor James V. Allred has taken the first view in decided manner.

He holds at least $15,000,000 new money is needed.

Economics First
On the other hand, many members of the legislature have voiced opinions a huge deficit in the general revenue fund should be reduced by economies.

There also has been heard a great deal about the collection of delinquent taxes and the possibility of meeting all financial demands from that source.

Despite this, however, members are known to be grooming new and old taxing proposals for introduction.

Of the score or more of tax propositions which already have been mentioned, interest seems to center on those which would levy on retail sales and natural resources. Many persons think between these lines the chief battle will occur.

Tax On Luxuries?
Governor Allred has said he would veto a general retail sales tax, but some believe he might accept something not so sweeping, for example, a tax on "luxuries."

Those favoring higher taxes on natural resources may be expected to strike at crude oil, natural gas, sulphur, salt, fuller's earth and timber, and on most or all of these levies this group probably will have the support of the governor. At the last general session, the house of representatives voted to post the tax on crude oil from 2 3/4 cents per barrel to six cents, on natural gas from three per cent of value to four and on sulphur from $1.03 to $1.28 but these measures met death in the senate.

27 TRAFFIC FINES
Debate of the corporate court Saturday showed that 27 traffic fines were assessed during the week in the total amount of $83. Of the number, 14 were for speeding and 13 for overtime parking.

Killed As Car Overtakes

Westbrook Oil Worker Victim Of Mishap East Of Here

Joe MacDonald Grisham, 36-year-old Magnolia oil company employe at Westbrook, was killed almost instantly Saturday at 5:30 p. m. when his car plunged over a curve in the overpass 15 miles east of here.

Justice of Peace Joe A. Faucett said that Grisham had sustained a broken neck. Grisham was en route from Coahoma to his home when he lost control of his car and overturned as it careened from the sweeping curve on the north side.

Two Killed In Plane Crash

Manager Of Odessa Airport Is One Of Victims

ODESSA, Sept. 18 (AP)—Lee R. Seary, about 35, manager of the Odessa airport, and Don Bell, about 32, were killed late today in an airplane accident near here.

The two men were flying in a pusher type ship, used by Seary as an instruction ship. Witnesses said the engine apparently stalled at an altitude of approximately 1,000 feet. After the ship had dived rapidly the pilot seemed to regain control for a dead stick landing but it had fallen so near the earth it panicked and was demolished.

Authorities tonight were seeking relatives of Seary, who formerly

LITTLE DIONNES DRIVE NAILS; IT'S FOR EDUCATION'S SAKE

CALLANDER, Ont., Sept. 18 (Canadian Press)—Driving nails into planks is just fun for the Dionne quintuplets today. They probably will be surprised when they grow up and Dr. Allan Roy Dufos tells them it was all part of their education.

"Pre-kindergarten education," Dr. Dufos tells, and he has the word of the continent's foremost child psychologists and teachers that it all will help in the proper development of the famous babies.

READY TO TAKE TAX PAYMENTS OCT. 1

Taxpayers will find at least two of the three local tax gathering agencies ready to accept payments on 1937 taxes October 1 when the tax obligations become due.

City of Big Spring and the independent school district announced Saturday that their rolls would be ready to accept payments on any payments on that date. The city has completed its roll and is preparing to fill in tax receipts on the current list.

The county may not be ready with a complete roll on October 1 but the office of the tax collector indicated that its rolls would be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

STORM MOVES TO THE NORTHEAST

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 18 (AP)—The weather bureau tonight ordered southeast storm warning hoisted east of New Orleans to Carrabelle, Fla., and warning flags lowered west of Morgan City, La., to Coprus Christi, Tex., as a moderate tropical disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico continued to move northeastward.

The weather bureau issued an advisory stating that the disturbance which formed early yesterday in the western Gulf of Mexico was central at 6 p. m. about 195 miles south of New Orleans.

LAD IS INJURED

Thomas Lee, small son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Porter, sustained bruises about his leg Saturday evening when he collided with a car on a downtown street.

Farm Parleys Are Slated

AAA Official, Extension Service Men To Be Here

Three meetings of consequence to farmers were announced Saturday by County Agent O. P. Griffin. The first of the three is on Thursday when Gary Barnes, assistant administrator for the AAA, confers with the county committee on matters concerning compliance work on the current federal farm program.

Saturday at 2 p. m., E. R. Eudy, dairy cattle and trench silo specialist for the state extension service will lead in a trench silo demonstration, probably to be held at the U. S. experiment farm. Eudy conducted demonstrations here last year.

Third and most important of the series is scheduled for October 8 when E. A. Miller, extension service agronomist, Roy Saunders, cotton breeder for Texas experiment stations, and E. C. Martin, district agent, come here for a discussion of the Texas cotton situation.

Griffin said that he was anxious that this meeting, scheduled for 9:30 a. m. in the district court room, draw a large attendance. The meeting is a vital one, he said, especially for cotton growers, bankers and merchants.

The agent added that "anyone in Big Spring affected by cotton—and that about includes everyone—should take part in the session."

More Marines At Shanghai

New Detachment To Reinforce Guards At Settlement

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19 (Sunday, AP)—The transport Chaumont, arrived here today off Wootens, in the Yangtze Estuary above Shanghai, with 1,435 United States marines.

The marine detachment brought American forces in the Shanghai war sector to 2,700 men, and will reinforce United States guards who have patrolled a section of the International Settlement without relief since the Sino-Japanese conflict broke out in Shanghai five weeks ago.

Japanese anti-aircraft shells, fired at Chinese bombers, endangered the United States flagship Augusta and other foreign warships on Shanghai's waterfront during repeated Chinese air-raids last night and early today.

Shanghai burst over the International Settlement, bringing new terror to Americans and other foreigners. Four Chinese were killed and fourteen wounded.

AMARILLO FAIR TO OPEN ON MONDAY

AMARILLO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Prize products of agriculture, industry, and art along with noted beef and dairy herds, tonight began moving into Amarillo for the crystal celebration of the Tri-State fair, which begins Monday.

Foremost breeders have brought herds here from Oregon, Wisconsin, Illinois and Colorado.

The exposition serves the Panhandle of Texas, eastern New Mexico and western Oklahoma, but exhibits have been entered from far beyond that jurisdiction, especially for the livestock show and the agricultural displays.

ADVANCE IN NORTH

PEIPING, Sept. 18 (AP)—A Japanese aviator returned from the front southwest of Peiping today to report he had seen an armored train flying Japan's flag stem into Kaopientien, 56 miles from here on the Peiping-Hankow railway.

That apparently marked the greatest advance of the offensive Japan's powerful mechanized forces are driving Peiping, main Chinese base about 90 miles below Peiping.

Japanese dispatches said the Chinese had been thrown into full disorderly retreat toward Peiping.

The left wing of the Japanese drive was reported approaching Tinghsing, on the railway 10 miles below Kaopientien, threatening to cut the retreat of thousands of Chinese. Japanese accounts described the battle as a series of almost uninterrupted Japanese gains, in spite of desperate Chinese stands at some points.

Sonja Henie Flashes Skates And Charm In A Gay Romance At Ritz Theatre

Tyrone Power With Her In New Hit, 'Thin Ice'

One of the few athletes who ever made good as an actress, Miss Sonja Henie reappears on a local screen today with her much publicized boy friend, Tyrone Power, in "Thin Ice." The 20th Century-Fox production makes its appearance at the Ritz theatre through Monday.

The story is a gay, romantic one of love and adventure and helped along by its supporting stars, Leah Ray, who appeared with Miss Henie in her other picture, "One In A Million," Arthur Treacher, Raymond Walburn, Joan Davy, Sig Rumann, Alan Hale and George Givot.

As was the case in her debut, Miss Henie shows her dazzling skill with the ice skates. Many sport followers will remember the little European girl who copped every worthwhile skating event in her division in two Olympics. She's back in all her splendor.

The story gets off to a fast start when a young prince, portrayed by Power, goes into an Alpine winter resort to escape business affairs. There he accidentally meets Miss Henie while skiing, and introduces himself as a newspaper reporter.

The village discovers that Tyrone is a prince, however, through an agent who has come to the resort in an attempt to close an affair with the prince's kingdom.

Tyrone fails to see him, and the agent is forced to resort to trickery to close the deal.

This he does with assistance from Miss Henie's uncle.

His work is favorable to the kingdom and Tyrone's people, however, and every thing works toward a happy ending.

Musical numbers include "My Secret Love Affair," "Over Night" and "My Sweet Hill Billy."

Also included are three skating numbers in which Miss Henie takes the lead. One of the numbers is a Prince Igor Russian Ballet.

FILM WORK IS A PLEASURE

Texas U.-Tech Grid Clash Saturday To Be Broadcast By KBST; Austin Game Will Come By Remote Hookup

KBST goes into big-time football broadcasting on Saturday of this week, joining a hook-up of Texas stations in presenting over the air the grid melee between Texas university and Texas Tech at Austin. It will be the first football broadcast for the local station, since it has been in operation only since last December, but other similar programs are planned for this fall.

Account of the game will come by remote control from Texas Memorial stadium from Austin, picked up through the local facilities and offered to West Texas listeners. The remote hookup represents a great widening of KBST's services to its listeners.

The Longhorn-Matador game promises to be an action-packed affair, and what takes place will be described in accurate and exciting fashion by radio announcers.

The Kelly Kids will return to Big Spring Wednesday night to play again for the KBST Barn Dance. The boys' appearance will be their third over the local station, and their second on the Barn Dance feature. They furnished music for

Marxes Spend A Day At The Racetrack

—And Elsewhere, In Farce Comedy, Booked At Queen

You can have your cake and eat it, too. At least, that seems to be the motto of the Marx brothers who are coming back to town in "A Day At The Races." The picture opens at the Queen theatre Sunday and continues through the following day.

The three brothers are having their fun and their troubles and have gotten by with it and, as far as the American picture-going public is concerned it is hoped that they go on having it.

Never were they any madder than they are in "A Day At The Races." The picture races through a story built around the brothers' association with a race track but the audience barely sees a race.

The spotlight is turned on all or part of the brothers in most of the scenes and do they go to town. Allen Jones has a moment or two making love to Maureen O'Sullivan and opening up his vocal cords.

Chico, as was, is the Italian. His Dago role, of course, includes a piano selection and evidently he hasn't forgotten a note and that one finger is still located beside the other three.

Harpo is Harpo which is as far as one need go. He glowers and he groans and he does a better job of talking than he ever did before but he still winds up behind the eight ball.

Hospital Notes

Both events coming on October 5 offer neighboring cities and their high school band and pep squad units opportunity to receive a $130 cash award.

JUDGE DECIDES WIFE EXCHANGE SATISFACTORY

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 18 (AP)—District Judge Cullen W. Briggs decided today there had been no collusion between two couples who Sept. 7 married each other's spouses a few hours after the wives had obtained divorce decrees.

Judge Briggs dismissed court contempt proceedings and granted final divorces to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fahrnthold and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Mays.

The couples had been cited by the judge to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court in connection with the marriage of Mays to Mrs. Fahrnthold and of Fahrnthold to Mrs. Mays.

Judge Briggs refused to sign the divorce decrees after he learned of the remarriages and called the hearing to determine if there had been collusion in securing the divorces.

The Mayses now live at San Antonio and the Fahrntholds at Tom Ball.

Dorothy and Dick LeFevre also have returned to the school in Abilene for more work on their degrees. Neil Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clifton, enters Texas Tech for his first year this year, having graduated from the Foran high school last year. James Thompson and Sonie, Huestes will not enter school until the next year when James plans to attend the University of California and Sonie will study at Texas University in Austin. John Camp Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Camp Adams, will have one more year after this to complete his degree in business administration and federal accounting at Texas Tech. Arnold Bradham enters into his second year at the same college.

S. O. Crumbly, brother of Mrs. G. V. Wash, who has made his home here with her sister through the summer, left Saturday for Howard Payne college where he will be a senior. S. O. is taking a ministerial course and plans to further his course in Louisville, Ky., upon completion of his four years at Howard Payne. During the summer months S. O. has been an active worker in the Baptist church, filling the pulpit on several occasions during the absence of the local pastor, A. Short.

Friday afternoon Minister Hobbs taught the Bible study at the Church of Christ, taken from first part of the chapter of Galatians 2. The lesson will continue through the third chapter next Friday afternoon. Minister Hobbs urges everyone in Forsan to attend. Sunday evening services will be held at 7:45, with the sermon text, "By Grace Are You Saved Through Faith" Eph. 2:8.

Mrs. J. M. Jones of Burkburnett is visiting her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Nichols.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Heatherington and children are expected to return Sunday from their vacation trip to Fort Worth and Dallas and Strawn where they visited Mrs. Heatherington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Harrison.

THE SPORTS PARADE

BY HANK HART

Any number of reasons can be given as to why the Longhorns suffered a loss in their season's opener to the Wink team but best explanation as to why the locals did not win is because they did not have the material.

Murphy and Brandon are building and they seemed very pleased at the way things came out although they would have liked the score the other way around. Mistakes were made, surely, but those will be ironed out.

Sixty-minute men who played were Clyde Smith, Homer Adams, Dopey Anderson, Weldon Bigony, Charles Ray Settles and Howard Hart. All showed up well defensively and most of them came out of the game sans injuries. Anderson and Settles twisted his foot but the squad as a whole felt good.

One of the featured events of the evening was the show the Wink band and pep squad put on during the half. Marching in almost perfect harmony, the 62 members of the band and 80 pep squad girls went through formations that would have done credit to any military organization.

The Texas Tech atmosphere could plainly be seen in that pepery sparkling Wildcat bunch. They take their pre-game calisthenics in much the same fashion as do the Red Raiders and are suited out in the same fashion that Pete Cawthon outfits his team in. And why not? Coach Lacey Turner was drilled by the old Dutchman.

All eyes turn to Eastland and the featured battle with the Mavericks this weekend. The game will open the season locally and fans should turn out well for the affair.

E. R. Grady boys were also treated roughly in their debut Friday night, losing to the Brownwood Lions, 13-0. Big Spring is rated on

FIGHTING HERD LOSES TO WILDCATS IN OPENER, 13-2

Gaping Weaknesses Shown In Defense

WILDCATS IN MIDSEASON FORM AS THEY SCORE TWICE, BIGONY SHINES FOR LOCALS

By HANK HART
If Ringmaster Pat Murphy had taken the time to look into the crystal or spent an hour or two more in reading his horoscope he could have seen any number of things; but as it was the Big Spring high school Steers took a 13-2 licking at the hands of a Wink eleven Friday night on the Wink gridiron, spotlighted their weaknesses to the mentors, the rest of the squad and the estimated 2,000 people on hand, and learned a lesson or two as to how this 1937 game of football is played.

First of all, the coach, had he been able to do these things, could have seen that the season's opener wasn't an opener at all—for the inspired Wink bunch. Wherever they played throughout the summer hasn't been brought to our knowledge yet but they were in mid-season form at the opening whistle.

Secondly, Murphy didn't know he was playing the regional kingpins of 1937 of that section of the state. The class B schools of northwest Texas had just as well concede the championships this season to Lacy Turner's crew. If they don't cop the bunting in November, then the wrong schools are playing Class B.

Thirdly, if Murphy could have realized that two future little Texas Tech stars, Johnny Hodgett and Charles Webb, were still in high school, he might have built his defense to stop this pair of aces from "going to town" as it was he didn't and they did.

Fourthly, if he could have found two Weldon Bigonys and put them in the guard slots and at the same time, retained the Big Spring captain as the line backer, the ending wouldn't have been so sad.

That just about covers the whole situation. Looked Fair
The locals made anything but a bad showing. Murphy may go places yet despite the fact that he hasn't the best of material to work with.

He has a slow starting ball club that may hit its stride later in the season. If it does, this old Oil Belt may get a package yet.
The center of the Big Spring will lead like a sieve. When the Wink secondary got tired of sleeping through the line they simply went around end.

The Herd was still on its feet at the final gun, however. Murphy and his assistant, Carmen Brandon, can be handed a bouquet for the condition they had the boys in.

The Longhorns tallied on the seventh play of the game when the Wink center made a bad pass-back to Hodgett and the ball went over the goal line. Stage was set for the break when Big Spring received the kickoff on their own 35-yard line, were held for downs and Bigony punted down to the opponent's 18-yard marker.

The Herd had bogged down in a

Detroit Splits Two With A's

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18 (AP)—Detroit and the Athletics divided a doubleheader today, the A's winning the second game, 5 to 4, when Relief Pitcher Ed Smith stopped a Detroit rally in the ninth. Detroit won the first game, 5 to 2, behind Tommy Bridges' effective pitching.

The loss in the nightcap proved costly in their pennant chase with the New York Yankees. The Yanks won both ends of a doubleheader in Yankee Stadium to go 12 full games in front of the pack with only 17 games left on their schedule.

The Tigers and the New Yorkers will hook up for a two game series for their final meeting of the year. Today's first game saw Tommy Bridges coast to his 14th victory of the year as he held the A's to eight hits and struck out seven.

Detroit got away to a two run lead in the second game but Roxie Lawson, trying for his 19th victory of the season, could not hold the Athletics and went down to his sixth defeat of the year.

Lawson left the game in the seventh inning in favor of a pinch hitter after giving up three runs in the sixth frame.

SENS WIN TWO FROM BROWNS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—Washington won both ends of a doubleheader from St. Louis today, taking the nightcap 10 to 3 after winning the opener, 6 to 2.

A Simmons hit a home run in the first game with one on to help Ray Phebus along to his second victory of the year and drove in four runs in the nightcap with three singles in the aftermath to lead the parade off three St. Louis pitchers.

The twin loss was the 97th and 98th losses of the year for the hapless Browns.

Snead Retains Lead With 142 At Cleveland

Horton Smith Trails, Guldahl 3 Strikes Off Pace

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 18 (AP)—"Blammin' Sam" Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., retained the lead in the Western Open golf championship today with a 36-hole total of 142, adding a two over par 74 today to his par-shattering 68 of yesterday. Horton Smith of Chicago was in second place with 143.

A "picture shot" on the 15th "hill hole" gave Snead a one stroke edge over the club at the half way mark.

Snead, whose clubs blew out and cold all day, lost a stroke to packed the hill hole, which wrecked Denny Shut, two time P. G. A. champion, in this same tourney in 1932. Denny needed a seven, but Snead came out of it with a five, with a grand recovery from a three-foot ditch after his attempt to clear a clump of trees failed, the ball falling into the rock-strewn ravine.

On Snead's heels as the field of 68, composed of the 64 low scorers and ties, started the 36-hole stretch was Horton Smith of Chicago, the erstwhile "Joplin ghost," who turned in a 71 today for a 143 total. Smith's effort was the only one which bettered or matched par today, a heavy wind whipping across the course to send the scores soaring. Scores of 161 got into the finals.

Knotted at 145 were Ralph Guldahl, the defending Western Open and National Open champion, and Ky Laffoon, the Cherokee Indian, both from Chicago, both turned in scores of 73 today, after matching par with 72's in the first round.

Paul Runyan, from White Plains, N. Y., and Dick Metz, of Chicago, making his first start since automobile accident injuries put him on the shelf last spring, were tied at 146.

Greer To Hurl For Ft. Worth

Cats To Try For Third Victory Over Tulsa Today In Baliwik

By the Associated Press
Knotted at two triumphs each for the four teams left scrapping in the Texas League's Shagbessy playoff, finalists will be determined at Fort Worth and Oklahoma City Sunday afternoon.

Fort Worth tries to turn back Tulsa, last year's Dixie champions, and San Antonio makes its last effort to head off the full-season leaders, Oklahoma City Indians.

Ed (Bear Tracks) Greer, the gangling right-hander who stopped Tulsa in the second game, probably will take the hill for the Panthers. Either Lahl or Ivy Stein would be Manager Bruce Connaater's likely mound choice.

San Antonio probably will depend upon Kimberlin to put them into the titular playoff. Oklahoma City will ask workhorse Ash Hillin, the league's leading twirler with 32 triumphs, to turn back the erratic Missions.

The championship series is due to start Tuesday.

TECH WHIPS ARIZONA STATE

Raiders Score 6-0 Victory In Opener

LUBBOCK, Sept. 18 (AP)—A blocked punt, a recovery and a 30-yard dash across the pay line was the difference between a 6 to 0 victory and a scoreless tie for Texas Tech's Red Raiders in their season debut with Arizona State of Flagstaff here this afternoon before 4,200 sizzling fans.

Otherwise, in a slow game during which the Arizonans had to take frequent times out to catch their breaths, the Techs found themselves battering away at a stubborn opposition that would "give" in midfield but suddenly tighten in deep water. Outplayed and outgained in every department, the Lumberjacks nevertheless proved too big a hurdle for straightaway touchdown plans, to the considerable surprise of the Red Raiders and their followers who had anticipated an easier time.

Deep Into Territory
The Jacks showed their teeth in the first quarter, standing off the attack of Tech's first stringers with apparent ease, and going to town themselves in an offensive way to reach Tech's 5-yard line on the strength of a 55-yard drive initiated by a 25-yard pass from Roger Hightower to Dan Brashear. There the Tech line tightened and staved off a touchdown.

Hightower, Brashear and Chapman were Arizona State's offensive backfield threats, while the ends, Schanz and Rogers, and Center Fred Smith looked good on the defensive.

Work and more of it is in store for the Raiders early in the coming week, since they invade Austin Saturday to play the University of Texas in their second game.

Tech drove nearly 60 yards in the second period, reaching the Arizona 12 before fumbling and losing the ball. Early in the third, after being held in their own territory and kicking out, Hightower, Jack quarterback, tried one of his numerous third-down quick kicks. It was blocked and batted down on the Arizona 30. At full speed, Captain Red Ramsey of Tech scooped it up and ran to the goal line unmolested. Tom Neely's attempt to convert from placement was blocked by the charging Arizona line.

The game rambled on, each side threatening but never coming too close. Tech missed an opportunity to score late in the third period when a drive was again halted by a fumble on the Arizona 16. Elmer Tarbox and Ed Smith had done some nice ball toting in the 75-yard drive, aided by a 15-yard penalty.

In the fourth period, Tech drove from its own 30 to Arizona's 4, where the Raiders were stopped cold. Two passes labeled touchdown failed by narrow margins to connect.

Hightower, Brashear and Chapman were Arizona State's offensive backfield threats, while the ends, Schanz and Rogers, and Center Fred Smith looked good on the defensive.

Work and more of it is in store for the Raiders early in the coming week, since they invade Austin Saturday to play the University of Texas in their second game.

FORSAN CONTINENTAL OILERS TO FINISH SEASON TODAY

Forbesmen Do Fadeout In Lubbock

Field Hubs On Parris Play At 3 P. M. Today

FORSAN, Sept. 18.—If the Forasan Continental Oils hope to frown on the only team they haven't scored a victory over this season, Lefty Maxie Beard is going to have to pitch a lot of ball today.

It will be the Coahoma south-paw's job to tame the mighty Lubbock Hubs when the two outfits meet at 3 p. m. on Parris Field in the season's fadeout for both teams. The Hubs, in their only encounter with the team from south Howard county, worked on the pitchers and made away with a 4-2 victory. Only Beard, who relieved Bill Brown after four innings, was able to throttle the enemy bats and Manager Marion Forbes will send him to the hill again in the final bid.

Pitching selection for the Lubbockans is expected to be Lefty Jerry Blanchard who had little trouble in silencing Forasan bats his last time out.

Harv Smith will still be on the sidelines but Forbes can plug that third base slot with Aubrey Harlow who has been borrowed from the Coahoma Bulldogs.

The remainder of the team will probably line up the same as it has in the past with the exception of Tommy Hutto who will probably go along to fill in at first base.

Steers

horns nest, however, by scoring that two points. The Wildcat offense opened up with a dazzling exhibition of running and sidestepping on the part of Hodgett and Webb and five minutes later had crossed the goal line. A touchdown surge was made by Hodgett, who raced off right tackle 32 yards for a touchdown. His running mate, Webb, found a hole in the line for the extra point.

Score Again
That's what it stood at the end of the first half despite the fact that the Wink outfit played around in the locals' territory most of the time.

Back they came at that point to begin knocking at the Herd's door again and for the second time they were admitted. Charles Ray Settles saved one possible score when he recovered Hodgett's fumble inside the Big Spring 20-yard marker but the Wildcat quarterback made up for that miscue by ramming the ball back down into Steer territory after Bigony had punted out.

Along with Webb he drove it down the Longhorns' three yard line on a pair of beautiful tackle smashes. Webb leaped through a hole in the center of the line for the six points. At this point, however, Howard Hart twisted through the interference to flip Don Ezzell behind the line of scrimmage in a try for extra point.

Webb and Hodgett continued to dominate the field after that clinching touchdown but Bigony began to get some help defensively when they managed to throw the Wildcat offense off balance for the remaining periods.

Dopey Anderson controlled his troubles admirably to share defensive starring honors with the captain while Red Womack, entering the game in the fourth quarter, carried the ball but five times but was the Herd's biggest ground gainer. He picked up 22 yards.

One Sided
A look at the statistics shows plainly the superiority of the Chase B eleven. They made 13 first downs to eight for the locals, completed 245 yards from scrimmage while the Steers could total only 77, and completed four of seven passes for a total of 43 yards. Big Spring tried eight aerial heaves, making good two for 22 yards.

Wink was penalized six times for a total of 30 yards while the locals received one five-yard offside penalty.

Starting lineups: Big Spring—Adams, lb; Wheat, lt; Callahan, lg; Hart, c; Lusk, rg; Smith, rt; Anderson, re; Williams, qp; Settles, hb; Bigony, hb; Cunningham, fb.

Wink—Pugh, lb; Denby, lt; Bal, lg; Mays, c; D. Ezzell, rg; Chambers, rt; B. Ezzell, re; Hodgett, qb; Don Ezzell, hb; Callahan.

Mrs. Obie Bristow Defeats Mrs. H. Stalcup In Women's Meet

After posting a 97 as her qualifying score Friday afternoon, Mrs. Obie Bristow gathered her clubs together Saturday and staged the major upset of the women's city golf tournament by ousting Mrs. Harry Stalcup, three and two, to qualify for the finals where today she will meet Mrs. Gordon Phillips, defending champion, in the 18-hole finale over the country club's course.

Mrs. Phillips slid into the final round as a result of a default by Mrs. T. Jarbo, medalist.

Championship round is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. Finals in the first flight were played Saturday with Mrs. J. V. Robb winning over Mrs. E. V. Spence, 5 and 3. Qualifiers and their scores included: Mrs. Jarbo 80, Mrs. Stalcup 86, Mrs. Phillips 87, Mrs. Bristow 97, Mrs. E. O. Ellington 107, Mrs. Robb 107, Mrs. Spence 108, Mrs. M. H. Bennett 109, Mrs. Adolf Swartz 111, Mrs. Carl Blomsheld 112, Mrs. J. G. Staples 119.

Rassle-Royal Features Card At Athletic Club Tuesday Night

Tuesday will be a good chance for the pug who have taken beatings at the hands of Sailor Watkins and Jack Hagen to gain revenge.

The two will be thrown into the ring of the Big Spring athletic club along with four other carpet baggers in a rassle royal on the regular groan and moan night.

Horrors! they can team up, you know. But it will still be four to two which should afford some protection for the fan fare that will be sitting and standing around the ring waiting for the souvenirs.

It shouldn't last long. The first two thrown will go to the dressing room and wait until the next two are thrown. In that way the main event opponents shall be decided by the two who can remain the longest inside the ropes without having their shoulders nailed to the mat.

The quartet who will come down to the ring in a body to match Hagen and Watkins will be Gus Johnson, Cyclone Mackay, Tarzan Krause and Otto Ludwig.

This Ludwig, incidentally, is none other than Otto Ludwig who recently changed his name without apparent reason.

Two of the bouts on Friday night's card went all the way and nothing was settled until Krause and Mackay took the ring for the main event.

Mackay had Tarzan in a bad way but was disqualified because he was using illegal tactics.

Supporting actors on the card were Sailor Watkins in the semi-windup and Hagen who couldn't argue Ludwig-Lowig out of the decision in the opener.

COLLINS HELPS CHI TO WIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—Tex Carleton's six-hit pitching and a 12-hit assault which included home runs by Joe Marty and Ripper Collins, gave the Cubs a 9 to 3 victory over Philadelphia and a sweep of their two-game series today.

The Bruins drove out a total of 12 base hits off Clyde Passeau while Tex Carleton, winning his 14th victory, was stingy in allowing only six base hits.

Leo Norris homered for the Phillies with the sacks empty in the fifth frame.

New World Records

DROHOBYCZ, Poland, Sept. 18 (AP)—Stanislawa Walasiewicz (Stella Walsh) today claimed three new world records for women track and field athletes.

She was clocked in 9.8 seconds for the 80 meters, 30.8 seconds for 100 yards and broad-jumped 6.25 meters, 40 feet, 6 1/2 inches.

The listed marks Miss Walsh claims to have bettered were: 80 meters, 9.8 seconds, by Miss Walsh and Z. Kuobrova of Czechoslovakia; 100 yards, 11 seconds by Burke, South Africa; and broad jump, 5.98 meters, 19 feet, 7 3/4 inches by Hitomi, Japan.

CARDS LOSE TO BEES IN TENTH

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Cardinals overcame a big Boston lead, tying the score in the ninth inning today, but the Bees tallied in the first extra session on Al Fletcher's single and Bobby Reis' double to win, 8 to 7.

The Red Birds clouted the offerings of four Bee twirlers for a total of 14 base hits but the quartet scattered them until the ninth when Joe Medwick and Mike Ryba combined to give the Missourians their two runs.

Gene Moore batted out a home run for the Bees in the second inning.

NEW PIPELINE OUTLET FOR GAINES, YOAKUM POOLS

Activity Still Centers On North Part Of Permian Basin; Tests Indicate Extensions, New Pools

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 18—The north part of the Permian Basin continued in the spotlight in West Texas this week with announced plans for a second pipe line outlet for the Wasson field in northwestern Gaines county and the Bennett pool in southeastern Yoakum and the staking of two more locations in southwestern Yoakum county, one spudding. New wells in Dawson, Hockley and Cochran counties promising extensions or new pools were testing after shooting or acidizing.

The search for Ordovician production, so far obtained only in Reagan and Crane counties, was given impetus on the east side of the Basin by the staking of Humble No. 1 Lewis & Wardlaw in western Tom Green county, 15 miles west and slightly south of San Angelo. It will be 1,980 from the south, 650 feet from the east line of section 5-17-H&T.C.

Following surveying and unloading of pipe by Hubble at Hobbs, N. M., and Seagraves, Tex., for a scheduled 6-inch welded line from Hobbs to the Wasson pool in Gaines, thence northeast to the Bennett pool in Yoakum, it was reported that Continental plans to build a 6-inch line from the Bennett to the Wasson, thence westward to connect at Hobbs with one of three major pipe lines to the Gulf, probably Atlantic's Continental has no pipe line system in New Mexico and West Texas. Later, it was rumored that laying of Continental's proposed line was in doubt.

Test Is Shot
The Texas Co. No. 1 Walker, third southwestern Yoakum county wildcat bidding for production and the most southwesterly of four recently drilled, plugged back from 5,180 to 5,362 feet, bridged the hole at 5,097 and was shot with 200 quarts from 5,017-97 feet. It had 400 feet of fluid in the hole, some of it water, after swabbing 32 barrels of oil in 12 hours. The first oil was logged from 5,075-81 feet and 27 barrels of oil were swabbed in 24 hours before a small amount of water was struck. Location is 600 feet out of the southeast corner of section 794-D-John H. Gibson, three miles north of the Gaines county line and seven miles east of the New Mexico boundary.

American Liberty spudded No. 1 Clawwater, 600 feet out of the southwest corner of section 766-D-John H. Gibson, 1.4 miles northeast of Denver No. 1 Whittenberg, a producer only 8-14 miles northwest of the Wasson pool in Gaines county. It was announced that J. W. Murchison and others would drill a west offset to the Denver well, a location originally reported as Rapp Bros. No. 1 C. A. Elliott, Skelly and Sun, staked No. 1 James Kiser, 600 feet out of the north-

Encounters Water
Anthony & Rice and Illinois No. 1 Brownfield, southeastern Terry county wildcat, struck water at 5,250 feet and had 3,000 feet of sulphur water in the hole when drilled to 5,325 feet in lime. It is in the center of the north half of section 54-K-pst. R. L. Foree No. 1 Poole, northwestern Terry county wildcat, of the northeast quarter of section 54-D-1-pst had had no oil shows in drilling to 5,374 feet.

Phillips No. 1 Wasson, west offset set to Carter-Continental No. 3 Wasson, opener of the Wasson pool in Gaines county and in the southeast corner of section 53-AX-pst flowed 1,006 barrels of oil in 24 hours for completion at 4,980 feet. It was given a two-stage acid treatment of 4,000 gallons.

Phillips-TTO No. 1 Brand, 1 3/4 miles northwest of the Wasson discovery and in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 56-AX-pst, recovered 40 barrels of oil and seven barrels of sulphur water in seven hours, leaving 600 feet of fluid in the hole, most of it sulphur water. It was bottomed at 5,031 feet.

Amerada No. 1 Smith, one mile south of Amerada No. 1 R. A. Cox recent half mile south extension to the Wasson field, was abandoned at 3,187 feet after topping the anhydrite loop at 2,145 feet. It was in the northeast corner of section 32-3-CCSD&RNG.

2,000 Feet Of Oil In Hole, After A 330-Quart Shot

Decision on the showing of W. & E. No. 1 Willecox estate, northern outpost in the Harding pool which is located seven miles southwest of Big Spring, is expected within the week.

Saturday it was cleaning out 100 feet off bottom with approximately 1,000 feet of oil in the hole, following a 330-quart shot Wednesday. The test flowed following the shot, then bridged 200 feet off bottom. It is bottomed at 3,237 feet in lime and is reported structurally higher than any of the tests in the small pool which indicates heavier production from the showing of the Moore Bros. No. 1 Harding. Location of the No. 1 Willecox is 660 feet from the west line and 2,317 feet from the north lines of section 20-3-Is, T&P.

Makes Flow
Interest in the newest pool of Howard county centered on the Magnolia No. 1 M. H. O'Daniel, 33 feet out of the northeast corner of section 24-30-Is, T&P. Shut in because of a technically attached tender, the well flowed 209 barrels in two hours, then bridged 500 feet off bottom. It had been cleaned to 165 feet Friday. Its flow after opening was slightly stronger than its initial test, but less than an hour following a shot two weeks ago.

Magnolia No. 2 O'Daniel, south offset, 90 feet from the north and 70 feet from the west line of section 34-30-Is, T&P, had drilled to 120 feet, while Ajax was digging pits for its No. 1 Snyder in the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 28-30-Is. A seventh test for the Snyder pool was in prospect as Shell made preparations to move in on its location as a south offset to the Moore Bros. No. 2 TXL in section 33-30-Is, T&P, Iron Mountain No. 1 Snyder, 330

Friday Death Date Of Race Wagering
Texas Law Outlawing Betting Effective Then

AUSTIN, Sept. 18 (AP)—Legal horse race betting in Texas, dead to nearly all practical purposes the past three months, will have its official demise Friday.

Its doom was sealed on that day last June when Gov. James V. Allred's "immortal 16" members of the senate succeeded by the barest possible margin in bringing a repeal bill to a vote.

The bill is not technically effective until September 24, or 90 days after adjournment of the session, because it failed of a two-thirds vote in the upper chamber. The state's largest tracks, however, never held summer meets.

The life of racing was a little more than four years. It became legal Sept. 1, 1932, through a rider to a biennial ap. opration bill.

Operation of the tracks and the betting there were not altogether to blame for this brief span. Governor Allred, merchants and others claimed track betting had given rise to a gambling mania, particularly wagering at horse race bookies shops.

The return of racing to Texas after a 25-year absence was due in large measure to the efforts of the late W. T. Waggoner, then owner of Arlington Downs. Since the senate voted for repeal, Mr. Waggoner's sons have disposed of most of their race horses. They have given no indication they will seek to make the sport legal again.

6th Pay Level Discovered In Hawley Area

Test Gets Showing At Lower Horizon, The King Sand

ABLENE, Sept. 18—The sixth producing horizon for the Jones county Hawley field, 15 miles north of Abilene, was believed discovered this weekend when the Ungren & Frazier No. 2-E Henry Dorsey estate drilled into King sand.

Topping oil saturation at 2,350 feet, more than 100 feet below the prolific Lower Hope lime, the well began filling in deepening to 2,353 feet, where it was shut down for underreaming of six-inch casing.

Oil rose to within 150 feet of the top before operators killed the well with water in order to lower casing, set at about 2,200 feet.

A southwest outpost to the field, the test found no saturation in the Lower Hope, hitherto the deepest zone of the field and the one yielding heaviest flush production. Showings had been obtained previously in the King sand by two outpost tests, but both later developed water.

May Open New Area
The No. 2-E Dorsey is located 250 feet from the north line and 500 feet west of the No. 1-E Dorsey in section 3, Manuel Bueno survey No. 197.

Owners believed production from the new sand may spread to the southwest and open several hundred acres to development in the area. The field was discovered in 1935 by Ungren & Frazier.

The same company's No. 1-H Dorsey, north offset to a recent half-mile west extension to the field, was being treated with acid after topping Upper Hope lime at 1,555 feet and filling with oil. The No. 1-G Dorsey which extended the field made 900 barrels on gauge last month. Location is in James Bartlett survey No. 198.

Extension Looks
Operators were drilling plugs on the Ungren & Frazier and Ambassador Oil Corporation No. 1 S. A. Kelley, looking as a new quarter-mile north extension to the Guitart pool near Hawley.

The outpost found saturation in Cook sand at 2,001 and headed once in deepening to 2,069 feet, where it was bottomed. It will open another 80 to 160 acres to production on the north side of the field. Location, directly north of the pool discovery well drilled last October, is in the southeast corner of the southwest quarter of section 48-15-T&P survey.

A new record potential for the area established this week when the S. C. and W. L. Herring No. 2 H. C. Jackson, on the south edge of the Guitart pool, flowed 526 barrels in five hours and 40 minutes to establish a potential of 2,280 barrels daily. It is in section 45-15-T&P survey.

Felmont Corporation of Houston this week staked a new outpost five miles southeast of the Avoca pool on the A. D. Woodson fee, located 1,060 feet from the west and 330 feet from the south line of section 200-BBB&C survey.

Location
Five miles west of the Hawley field, S. C. and W. L. Herring and the Owens-Snebold corporation staked location for the No. 1 J. W. Grogan, projected 2,700-foot wildcat test half a mile southeast of the town of Truby. It will be in the north 160-acre tract in Longoria survey No. 258, offsetting the Truby school campus.

Operators may acidize the A. G. Swenson No. 1 Manly, southeast Jones county wildcat, after it picked up a good showing of oil in Upper Hope lime from 1,795 to 1,807 feet. The test is in the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 46-14-T&P survey on a 2,000-acre block which lies in Jones and Shackelford counties.

Shot Increases Flow
Five miles northeast of Abilene in Taylor county, the S. L. Davis et al No. 1 Edgar Linecum assured a new pool within half a mile of city property when it pumped eight barrels per hour on a short gauge. It was treated in sandy lime with 1,000 gallons of acid from 1,998 to 2,004 feet. Location is in

GIVEN SUSPENDED TERM ON CHARGE OF DRUNK DRIVING

E. D. Anderson entered a plea of guilty Friday afternoon in 70th district court to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Judge Charles Klapproth assessed the defendant a two year suspended sentence and suspended his driving license for a period of 10 days.

The case brought against Anderson cited that on May 28 he had driven his car several miles up the T. & P. tracks west of here, paralyzing the railroad's schedules west of here temporarily.

An attack case against Tel Bartlett was continued on motion of defendant for more time to interview witnesses. The case is due to be called in November.

section 21-BAL.
In Fisher county's Rotan area, the Magnolia No. 1 Smith, first thought to be a light well when it filled only 900 feet with oil in drilling pay from 3,497 to 3,513 feet, was shut with 40 quarts of nitro and acidized with 1,500 gallons to yield a 70-barrel hourly flow after two swab runs through tubing.

Operators were attempting to swab in the Tide Water No. 2 Smith after it had drilled the basal Noodle Creek dolomite with rotary. Both new wells are located in section 172-2H&T.C. survey.

Pictures Are Taken Of All Auto Crashes

Films Available If Litigation Results From Collisions

DALLAS, Sept. 18 (AP)—While amateur candid camera devotees are lying on the floor, bending over backwards and otherwise contorting themselves to get unusual shots on their photographic subjects, police and deputy sheriffs in four Texas cities are putting their picture talents to more practical use.

The current fever for taking pictures seems to have hit hardest in the Houston police department, which has organized a crash squad built around a camera. Sergeant H. N. Howard and his men devote their time, mainly to investigating serious traffic accidents in Houston. And where they go a little black box is sure to go too.

Members of the squad, when they reach the scene of a bad crash, whip out their cameras and snapshots from all angles. The indelible evidence of the films helps determine who was to blame and puts a halter on court witnesses inclined to exaggerate or discount what actually happened.

To make a thorough job of it, the Houston police include a brake-testing apparatus in their equipment.

TO VOTE ON TRUSTEE

Miss Anne Martin, county superintendent, announced Saturday that she would hold an unofficial election Wednesday from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. at the Midway school to determine sentiment for the selection of a successor to Neal Barnaby, resigned.

HUNG JURY

A hung jury resulted in the case tried Saturday before Justice of the Peace Joe Faucett in which Mrs. E. W. Wood brought action against Jack Nichols, et al., for forcible entry and detainer.

use of police cameras. At every major accident a camera in the hands of a squadman pops up. He is instructed to get a full, precise picture record of what happened, and the negatives are held for use in court. There are eight expert cameramen in Squad 70, which looks into accidents.

Corpus Christi is definitely camera-conscious, the Nueces county sheriff's department uses candid cameras on accidents. The films are developed in case of litigation. The police department occasionally hires a commercial photographer to snap the scene of a wreck, just in case a principal shows signs of disputing the obvious evidence.

Austin police and deputy sheriffs also use cameras in serious road crashes.

TEXAS' NON-STOP MYSTERY—

Blanton Case Ten Months Old, Still Remains Unsolved

What To Do--

If Your Date Stays Too Late

RAYMONDVILLE, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Blanton case, Texas non-stop mystery, is ten months old today—and still unsolved.

"What became of the Blantons?" This question was on every lip after the men disappeared. Today conjecture is: "Will the case ever be solved?" Many say it will not.

Here's the mystery plot, briefly: On Nov. 18, 1936, Luther Blanton, 57, and his son John, 24, vanished after they left their farm home near San Perita to hunt ducks on a lagoon, not far from their doorstep.

They were respected men, without known enemies.

Rumors are many as to their fate. From an official standpoint, Captain Bill McMurray of the Texas rangers, after weeks of investigation, concluded: "The men were either killed near the lagoon or taken away and killed."

The lake to which the Blantons were supposed to have gone is located on a section of the ranch set off as a state game preserve. A state official said residents had been warned by the state game warden in this vicinity not to hunt on the preserve without a permit.

The enigma called to the scene many peace officers, including two gun, hard-riding Texas rangers, Chaparral thickets and sand dunes for miles about were combed to no avail.

Bitter strife engendered from the case. Some citizens openly accused officers of laxity in their investigation. They threatened to start an investigation of their own.

Breaches between officials also were apparent. Pistol-toting and officer-impersonating charges were filed in two cases. Four officers instrumental in filing charges in one case were held in contempt of court.

Recently a court of inquiry, ordered by Governor James V. Allred, recessed, subject to call, without announcing whether definite progress had been made. The court itself had difficulty in functioning because of legalities. Its presiding officer was changed thrice.

Mrs. Blanton, a witness at the inquiry, said she was sure her husband and son were dead. She said she heard three shots fired in the direction of the lagoon shortly after the men left home.

She told reporters: "I never expected them to return alive, but I think the men I believe killed them will be known and I hope punished."

1. Be casual—not pointedly or dramatically—frank. Smilingly tell him to run along—that you need some beauty sleep.
2. Make him want to go home by taking a violent interest in his health.
3. As a last resort use the power of suggestion.

Margery Wilson, authority in New York City on problems of etiquette and social behavior, vouches for the effectiveness of the "subtle" approach.

The reason Point No. 2 often works, she says, is that it intrigues a man to have someone interested enough in his welfare to forego the pleasure of his company.

The power of suggestion idea is an old trick of the business man: A. Put your hands on the arms of your chair—allows up—as if you were about ready to rise.

B. Get up and walk around.

C. It is just as important, says Miss Wilson, to know what not to do. For instance, do not talk the young man point blank that you wish him to leave. Do not keep looking at a clock, or watch. Do not ask any member of the family to suggest that you had better retire.

Legless From Shell Explosion In War, West Texan Drives Own Car

Bob Fletcher of Fort Hancock, Texas, was in Big Spring Saturday evening, en route from Lamesa to his home where he had purchased a large consignment of milo maize, which he intends to use in his feed and grain business at Fort Hancock. While here he was guest of his friend, Joe Ogden.

Mr. Fletcher, a veteran of the World War attached to the field artillery of the Thirty-Sixth division, saw active service in France, and a lot of it. In the battle of the Champagne-Marne in October, 1918, he lost both legs when a .77 field artillery shell of the German army exploded while he was on a reconnoiter into the German lines on this front. In company with another member of the reconnoiter party (which he believed later was a German spy disguised in the U. S. army uniform) Fletcher was in search of a German machine gun nest. Without warning the shell fell between his legs as he lay on the ground and exploded, severing both legs slightly above the knees. Fletcher said the intense heat from the explosion seared the flesh and kept him from bleeding to death. It was about thirty-six hours before he got medical attention. The fact that he did not lose much blood and also that he was in a shell-hole protecting him from the weather, Fletcher said, were the main reasons he did not lose his life.

Although without his legs, Fletcher is able to drive his own car (a Chrysler touring) which has adjustable pedals on the clutch and brake pedals. He left late Saturday evening, expecting to reach Pecos to spend the night before returning to Fort Hancock.

Fight Carnival On This Week

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The nearest thing to a pugilistic "world war" since the gay nineties will be put on Thursday night at the Polo Grounds. Promoter Mike Jacobs will produce his "carnival of champions" as the climax event of the outdoor boxing season in New York.

Three world championships will be at stake on the same evening for the first time in fight history. New Orleans furnished the nearest parallel, in 1892, when on successive nights Jack McAuliffe knocked out Billy Myer in defense of the lightweight title, and, as a grand climax, Jim Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan in the first glove fight for the heavyweight championship.

Two survivors of that famous carnival, Skelly and McAuliffe, will be ring-side guests at next week's all-star show to see Sixto Escobar, Lou Ambers and Barney Ross, respective holders of the world bantamweight, lightweight and welterweight crowns, meet the challenge of Harry Jeffra of Baltimore, Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico, and Ceferino Garcia of the Philippines.

A fourth major attraction involves Marcel Thill of France, holder of the European middleweight title, versus Fred Apostoli of San Francisco. By official edict, however, this has been stripped of title significance. The recognized world 160-pound titleholder in this country is Freddie Steele of Tacoma, Wash. All four bouts will be over the championship distance of 15 rounds, and are expected to draw a crowd of 50,000 and attract gross gate receipts of $250,000.

The eight principals have been guaranteed close to $200,000.

Girl Meets Strange Death

SYDNEY (UP)—Poison carried on the feet of scurrying rats is believed to have caused the death of 10-year-old Grace Jennings after she had eaten part of a cornucopia in a barn on her parents' farm near here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Peak were guests of her mother, Mrs. Mary Ezell, here Friday evening. They were en route from their home in Denver, Colo., to Houston on business.

Rev. Carl Schlomach, Brownwood, was here Saturday for a conference with the Baptist district missionary, Rev. J. J. Strickland.

DISTRICT GRID TEAMS FAIL TO IMPRESS

Off Belt football teams made a dismal showing over the weekend as the entire league did little better than break even in their clash with non-conference foes.

Three of the teams lost to outside opponents while a fourth, Eastland, dropped their opening conference game to Brownwood, 13-0.

The Breckenridge Buckaroos suffered a surprise licking at the hands of the Paschal gridgers, Fort Worth, falling 14-7, a loss prestige as a title contender.

The Big Spring Steers fell by the wayside, 13-2, at the hands of Class B Wink while Cleo suffered the most overwhelming loss in dropping its opener to Lubbock. The Lobos were trampled, 40-0.

Stephenville, newest member of the district, won a one-sided game from Weatherford, 47-0, while Sweetwater was edging another Class B team 31-0. Their victories were the "tyder gridgers."

San Angelo's Bobcats scored the greatest triumph of the entire loop by coming from behind twice to defeat Thomas Jefferson, San Antonio, 19-13.

According to reports the Bobcats looked anything but impressive, however, although the Taylormen had the ball on the Mustang yard line when the final whistle blew.

Next week the entire district, with the exception of Brownwood and Eastland, swing into title competition.

SAYS TEXAS CRUDE PRODUCTION MUST BE REDUCED

AUSTIN, Sept. 18 (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, said today Texas' allowable oil production for October must be reduced 7,000 barrels a day to bring the state within the U. S. bureau of mines' estimate of 1,490,300.

"Each month," he said, "about 900 new wells are brought into production. Each month about 1,000 wells are depleted, making a net gain of 800. This, of course, means allowable production must be reduced as only so much oil can be consumed."

The shooting occurred when deputies were called to the hotel to arrest a man creating a disturbance with a pistol.

COALITION IS SUGGESTED BY SEN. VANDENBERG TO COMBAT THE 'ROOSEVELT PARTY'

RAY CITY, Mich., Sept. 18 (AP)—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich) called tonight for a union of hearts and hands regardless of previous party lines as the only form for successful opposition to what he termed "the Roosevelt party."

In an address prepared for delivery at a statewide republican rally here, Michigan's senior senator proposed, in effect, a coalition of anti-New Deal democrats and republicans.

"A realignment is inevitable," Senator Vandenberg said. "Indeed, it already obviously exists. Then he continued: 'Republicans and democrats—in and out of congress—have been in repeated coalition against a new party (the Roosevelt-Farley-La Follette party) for the preservation of great American fundamentals...'

Vandenberg said this coalition was responsible for the defeat of President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization bill.

"Our republican task at the moment," Vandenberg said, "is to ceaselessly assert national problems; to take frank counsel of our own errors, as well as of our sterling achievements in the past; to win the renewed confidence of those citizens who, regardless of party, still think more of their country than of themselves; and to put republicanism in the strongest possible position to make maximum contribution in 1938 and 1940 to the re-creation of sound, solvent, truly liberal government, and to the restoration of effectual authority for law and order under an unbroken constitution of the United States."

Outlining the path he believed his party should take, Vandenberg said it should veer neither to "the extreme right" of "blind and often suicidal conservatism" nor to "the extreme left" of "irresponsible revolutionary" too frequently inspired by alien impulse and ideals.

C-C Managers To Meet Here

B'Spring Awarded 1938 Meeting Of New Association

Big Spring was awarded the first annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Managers Association of West Texas at the conclusion of the organization meeting Saturday at Sweetwater.

J. H. Greene, manager of the Big Spring chamber, said that the board of directors advised him that the meeting would be held here sometime about the middle of April, 1938.

William A. Wilson, Olney chamber of commerce manager, who is largely responsible for the calling of the organization meeting, was elected first president of the group.

Board members chosen were: Reeves, Pampa; Ben Smith, Pecos; A. J. Payne, Slaton; George Barber, Sweetwater, and Carl Elmer, Colorado.

Highlight of the parley was an address by H. W. Stanley of the Dallas chamber of commerce on "What Business Expects of a Chamber of Commerce."

Battleship Texas Starts Second Quarter-Century Navy Service

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—The battleship Texas began this summer its second quarter-century of service for the United States navy, rated as the second oldest vessel of its type flying the Stars and Stripes.

It was on May 18, 1912, that Claudia Lyon, daughter of the republican national committeeman of Texas, smashed a bottle on the prow of the vessel as it slid down the ways in the navy yard at Newport News, Va., in the first launching ceremony to be filmed with movie cameras.

The Texas is 565 feet long, has a beam of 95 feet, a draft of 8 feet and displacement of 28,367 tons. It cost $26,630,000.

Ex-Doughboys Scout Work Converge On Manhattan

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP)—The doughboys took possession of New York tonight.

The roar of reunion rose louder and louder over the normal quiet of riveting machines and electric trains as the troops of the American Legion moved in for their annual meeting.

Drums rolled, bugles shrilled, bells clanged and cannon boomed out notice that the army again was here after twenty years.

There were no quiet streets. Legionnaires were on all the streets.

There were legionnaires arriving on automobiles and trains. There were legionnaires coming in on boats. There were legionnaires coming in on airplanes.

The invasion began early this week, but the tumult and the shouting did not rise until Detroit's '40 and '57 crashed last night.

Police were everywhere, in twos and threes and sometimes sixes, trying to bring order out of the confused traffic.

American flags, legion banners and bunting of red, white and blue fluttered from the facades of stores and office buildings.

Before Sunday dawn, legion officials estimated 50,000 visitors would be cramping hotels and lodging places for the convention which ends Thursday.

Police quoted the governor as saying the project would complete the highway in New Mexico, would cost $400,000 and would be of the "highest type construction."

VOTE ON ANDREWS BONDS DELAYED

Decision of the Andrews county $20,000 bond issue, proposed as a means of financing the right-of-way for the county for the Andrews-Big Spring road, has been delayed until Oct. 23.

County officials said that the vote on the bonds, originally scheduled for Saturday, was postponed due to technical questions on notices for the election.

Miss Archer L. Coker To Wed

8 o'Clock Service To Be Read By Pastor At Midland

Monday morning at 8 o'clock Miss Evelyn Archer and Lonnie Coker will recite their marriage vows in Midland, with the pastor of the First Baptist church of that city officiating.

The couple will be attended by Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Dickerson of Big Spring, and brothers, Leonard Coker and Jack Archer.

The bride will be dressed in a wine velvet frock with gold trim and wine accessories. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Archer of Ackerly and has been making her home in Big Spring for the past year, during which time she lived with her sister, Mrs. O. J. Watts of 1307 Scurry. She has been employed in the time payment office of the Montgomery Ward company.

The bridegroom is a son of M. D. Coker of this city. He came to Big Spring three years ago from Chillicothe. He and his twin brother are owners and operators of the Twina cafe.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home at 702 Eleventh Place.

Announcement of the wedding to be made recently at a meeting of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority, of which club Miss Archer is a member.

Highlight of the program for the week at Big Spring High School was selection of new pep squad members to join with last year members in forming an organization which will meet with all requirements of a full-fledged cheering group, to be sponsored by Miss Ruth Fowler. Traditional school colors of black and gold will be featured in black wrap-around skirts and gold blouses made cowboy style to be worn by the members of the squad, while the leaders will be dressed in slacks of black corduroy and gold cowboy shirts. Leaders elected were Miss Jocile Tompkins, Miss Marguerite Reed and Miss Emily Stalcup.

The organization meets each afternoon following classes, for their practice hours and at which time a program for the football season is mapped out. Each member is required to make passing grades in all school subjects in order to remain in the squad, which is made up of a limited number.

Newly elected members are: Janice Gilmore, Marie Gray, Rosemary Lassiter, Barbara Collins, Joyce Glen Croff, Ruby Hise, Kathleen Underwood, Jen Etta Dodge, Betty Womack, Rosalie Rice, Annabelle Edwards, Patsy Stalcup, Gretchen Hodges, Geneva Langley, Josephine Mittel, Tommy McCrary, Maurice Bledsoe, Virginia Comber, Billie Mae Fahrenkamp, Sara Lamun, Sis Smith, Violet Rowe, Florence McNew, Gloria Conley, Margaret Jackson, Stella Robinson

READING AND WRITING

By JOHN SELBY

"HOW TO LOSE FRIENDS AND ALIENATE PEOPLE" by Irving Trassler; (Stackpole; $1.49). There came to this desk, the other day a treatise by Prof. Irving Trassler entitled "How to Lose Friends and Alienate People." This treatise was balm to our aching soul, for it proved that at least one other person in the world thought about the famous Dale Carnegie book as we did.

That Mr. Carnegie's rehash of elementary psychological "principles" fills a want one may guess from the fact that by the time this is printed, the book will have sold 525,000 copies at least. We doubt that Mr. Trassler's book will sell 25,000, even though the publisher has humorously marked it down from $2 to $1.49. This, too, proves something about the American mentality which you'll have to put into words for yourself. We are (also) too discouraged right now.

Mr. Trassler's book is very funny. It must not, however, be read straight through. Chapters recur and time out between chapters will keep these from seeming monotonous. Mr. Trassler has even made the jacket of his book funny. He guarantees to "teach you how to antagonize anyone, anywhere, any time without the aid of bad breath or dandruff." He will "decrease your influence and enable you to get twice as much accomplished as before." He also can replace tit-tat-toe at lectures, and replace pains in your neck with aches in your side.

Or, as Thomas Lowell didn't write in a testimonial on the same jacket: "What I think of Irving D. Trassler could be printed in anything but Braille—and then it would be too hot to touch.... The best teacher of how to make yourself disliked is the author of this book, a man who's more unpopular than a clean story at a theological seminary.

He started out with just a course in tap dancing and hair waving, but gradually the students demanded to be taught the secret of unpopularity.... He— and so on. "How to Make a Poor First Impression" is especially funny, and those who recall Mr. Carnegie's success at soothing the postal clerk will like it more than "just average."

Wedding Ceremony Of August 15 Is Announced Here

Announcement has been made of the marriage of August 15 of Mrs. Neta Mae Pharis to Jeff Davis, which was solemnized in Colorado with Rev. Haley, pastor of the Christian church in that city officiating.

Mrs. Davis is on the staff of nurses at Hall & Bennett hospital, a place she has held for the past seven months. She came to Big Spring from San Angelo where she was in training at the Shannon hospital. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pharis of Coleman.

Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Stanton. He attended school in Stanton and is at present engaged in the oil business here. The couple are making their home at 411 Lancaster.

Mrs. Maude Woods is spending the weekend in Brownwood with relatives.

Nationally Known Artists To Be Featured On Fall Programs

Concerts that will feature nationally known artists as well as those younger ones which critics have acclaimed "stars of tomorrow" will be sponsored by the Music Study Club of this city as a special feature of the club's work during this year beginning in October and continuing through March according to an announcement made by the club president, Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, recently.

Each concert sponsored by the club in connection with Robert Hollingshead, Hollywood musical director, will offer a different group of performers, all of the highest type with programs that will meet the taste of a varied audience.

Long in need of such cultural programs, Big Spring is fortunate in securing an offering that has been arranged on a financial basis enabling the smaller cities to hear these artists without leaving home to do so. It is through the willingness of the more famous artists to cooperate with those on the first rung of the ladder of fame in arranging such entertaining programs for the benefit of music lovers in the smaller communities.

Dates for the performances have been set for October 17, November 3, January 19, February 9 and March 7.

First concert of the series presents the handsome tenor voice, Ish-t-Opi, baritone singer and interpreter of Indian lore, who appeared here last year and was enthusiastically received. A graduate of two universities, possessing a pleasing personality, an excellent voice combined with a thorough knowledge of the music of his people, his concerts are an inspiration to all who hear him.

In addition to his singing, the tenor also executes native dances. During a recent tour abroad he gave a special request program before the Court of St. James and also appeared at the Froendero in Paris. Numerous events in his life have added to the intriguing background of this accomplished Indian singer.

The November concert brings Sylvain Noack, concert violinist, and Raymond McFeeters, pianist, composer and accompanist. Noack, former concert master and assistant conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra, is an outstanding violinist on the Pacific coast. A native of Holland, at 17 he became first violin of the famous "Concertgebouw Orchestra" in Amsterdam. He was brought to this country to become master of the Boston Symphony orchestra and met with signal success in the major cities of the nation where he appeared as soloist. His fellow artist and assistant, McFeeters, presents programs appealing to a wide variety of tastes. He has appeared with artists of international reputation and has gained an enormous reputation and has gained an

Report Shows Appreciation Of Fine Arts Becomes Larger Each Year

Over 250 Pupils Already Enrolled In Classes; Many Studios Have Not Yet Opened For Registration

All traces of the depression are wiped completely out of sight, it is interesting to know that people are devoting their time and effort toward a higher standard of living and appreciation of the finer objects in life.

Big Spring citizens follow the general trend, and it is interesting to know that over 250 pupils of this city are enrolled in some form of Fine Arts. This number is only a small part of the enrollment when completed. The past week was first week of enrollment in many of the studios and other studios are not opened to registration as yet.

Fairview H.D. Club Sees Demonstration Of Dressing Bed

Complete dressing of the bed was demonstrated by Miss Lora Farnsworth, county demonstration agent, at a meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration club held recently in the home of Mrs. Willard, Smith.

A business discussion was held presided over by Mrs. J. G. Hammock, after which Mrs. W. H. Ward conducted a recreation hour. In her demonstration Miss Farnsworth stressed the value and importance of light weight bed covers.

Three new members were enrolled. Mrs. Victor Ewellen, Mrs. W. A. Miller and Mrs. Clarence Shive. The next hostess will be Mrs. W. H. Ward and the meeting will be the first Thursday in October. Present were Miss Ruth Stinson of Austin, Miss Vearina Stinson of Sweetwater, Mrs. Elsie Gilkerson of Stanton, Mrs. C. E. Shive, Mrs. Ed Martin of the B-Bar club, Mrs. G. W. BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Schermerhorn announce the birth of a daughter, Friday evening, September 17th, at Big Spring hospital. Mother and child are doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Scott of 106 West Third street, announce the arrival of a girl, Billie Jean, born September 13 and weighing 7 1/2 pounds.

Each phase of Fine Arts has its own purpose in developing character, grace, self poise, self expression, knowledge and appreciation of art. Among the phases taught in Big Spring are music, which includes piano, violin, piano accordion, etc.; expression; dance which includes tap, toe, ballet and acrobatic; personality singing and voice.

Instructors work in co-operation with the schools and some have studio rooms in the school buildings. Pupils are registered from ages of three years on up. Recitals and programs are given at the close of different terms displaying work accomplished by the teacher and pupil. These programs are usually given around the first of the year and during the spring months.

Coch Murphy Is Joined Here By His Family

Our Recreational Program

It has gone along without a great deal of fanfare, but Big Spring's park development steadily is assuming proportions whereby this city ranks second to none in West Texas in the matter of playground and recreational facilities. And they are facilities which serve to attract visitors in addition to providing worthwhile outlets for our own citizens.

The program was given new impetus last week when the city commission authorized a new extension of municipal park work, and provided for the purchase of the CCC barracks on Scenic Mountain. Both projects will fit in with a general recreational program for residents of Howard and neighboring counties.

Maintenance of the CCC buildings means that Big Spring has an attractive plant to offer church groups (named because they already have taken advantage of the setup) and similar organizations for their recreational and instructional gatherings. General assembly space, dormitory units and commissary buildings are offered, facilities which are not available in every town this size. Several church groups already have indicated they plan to hold general meetings at the Scenic Mountain site one and two times a year.

The new park development includes principally construction of an amphitheatre, which will serve as a community gathering place in the summer. Civic and fine arts programs may be presented for the benefit of the public, and such presentations will be encouraged with such facilities available. The outdoor "bowls" have proved worthwhile assets to many towns and cities, and the amphitheatre here promises to be an asset to Big Spring.

Other items in the park project include extension of the golf course and other recreational facilities already at hand. Visitors have commented that the playground setup at our municipal park is as complete as any to be found in West Texas. Expansion of that setup means an even bigger drawing card for Big Spring.

That the city is taking advantage of these facilities is seen in the new supervised recreation program being launched. Younger folk will have wholesome outdoor play, directed along lines to their benefit.

The whole undertaking is not proved burdensome in cost to Big Spring. It would be unwise to spend excessively on such an enterprise, but the program as it has been developed locally is worth far more than it has cost.

NEW YORK.—New York's most expensive aperitif, if you're interested, is the Hunting Horn, an astounding concoction of 20 ingredients and its cost $5. The only place in town where this is sold is the Piccadilly bar. However, the barman warns againer moer than three of these in succession. "After that," he explains, "you want to throw away your carbine and have at the enemy with bare hands."

Another highly explosive but innocent sounding drink is The Dove. It used to be a brisk seller, but I seldom hear one ordered any more. This weird refreshment once sent one of our better known novelists screaming into the night. Seizing a cab, he ordered the driver to light out for Montreal, Canada.

Late next day when they arrived, the novelist poked his head out the car and inquired where they were. "Montreal," snapped the hackee, who was beginning to wonder about his fare. "Ah," said the novelist, "I'm afraid we're a little off the course. I want to get to 14th street."

Jane Pickens says if you stand in the north lounge outside the Rainbow Room, and listen with a keen ear, you can hear the lions roar in Central Park zoo. Of course, she adds, you have to pick a day when they're in a roaring mood. The canny Scots have found a way to get around the matter of paying freightage on bottles returned from the U. S. The problem bobbed up when American barmen began returning empty bottles to Scotland, demanding the 3 cents promised on each bottle. This was okay, but the freight on the empty bottles threatened to bankrupt the firm. Finally the distillers decided to import an allotment of American coins, embedding the three cents in each bottle. With this came the request that the Americans keep the money and destroy the bottles. An odd arrangement—but it pays.

Changing over to more substantial fare, there is a seafood restaurant under the 6th avenue "L" which has large tanks of live fish. It attracts customers by permitting them to select their own fish. However, they aren't caught and killed on the spot. You simply point to the species preferred and they duplicate your choice from the ice box. There is another place nearby which serves only shell-food. Shrimp, crabs, lobsters, clams, muscles and all the favorite lobster 27 different ways. Most of the people who go there prefer them broiled.

WASHINGTON—These substitutes of self-sacrificing federal officials who stay on the job while high-priced, position await them on the outside will bear looking into.

There is no doubt that some are offered better positions; and when they stay on to "work" for the president through the election period or a session of congress, they lose money. But the losses are well balanced by personal benefits gained from their service for the government.

James Landis, chairman of the securities exchange commission, and Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, are the latest pair to quit the government to contest for bacon and eggs in the outside world. The government will miss them, and it has been stated that the hole left by McGrady in the labor department will be particularly hard to fill.

It should be written at once that both Landis and McGrady are the grandest sort of individuals. They are the kind you would like to have for friends for life. But Landis and McGrady cannot write in the honest privacy of their diaries that they served the federal government at a tragic sacrifice to their welfare.

The Rise of Mr. McGrady
Several months before McGrady's proposed departure became public knowledge, he had offers from outside concerns that easily topped his $9,000 salary as assistant secretary of labor. He stayed on at the president's request, so information here goes, because the president wanted him during the election and the troublesome labor period that followed. To that extent there was sacrifice on the part of McGrady.

But look at the whole McGrady picture, instead of just a part. He is 65. During 60 of those years not one man in a thousand outside of labor ranks could have told you McGrady was. For 15 years before his appointment as assistant secretary, he was an organizer and lobbyist in Washington for the American Federation of Labor. It was an important job, but not such a job as to cause private enterprises to rush to his side with fat offers. Those offers developed after he became assistant secretary and made a name for himself as a strike mediator.

Don't undercut this man McGrady. He is a bargain at whatever figure the Radio Corporation of America had to pay to get him as its labor relations man. But the offer came after his government service, not before.

The Rise of Mr. Landis
Much of the same can be said of Landis. He never had an extensive private practice; so he didn't give up a $50,000 a year law business to help the government out of a hole. He was so bright as a Harvard law student that Justice Brandeis chose him as his law clerk, a distinction that means something, even in these court-baiting days. But justices are allowed only $5,000 for office assistance, and that sum usually must include pay for a stenographer.

From that job Landis went back to Harvard as assistant professor of law. He made a rapid climb and was professor of legislation from 1933. The government invited him to help write the securities act. The government paid him $10,000 a year. That is more than teaching usually pays.

Chances are his successful trick in government service put him in line for dean of this law school, away ahead of the time he could have expected it if he had stayed in the classroom. Landis and McGrady are not the only ones who often have been pictured as sacrificing time and here for dear old government. But with few exceptions, the government got them because it paid more than they were getting before.

Neither pretentious nor elaborate, it is Grand National's biggest picture and credit for making it seem bigger belongs to the versatile Victor Schertzinger, who wrote the story, the songs, and directed.

Cagney dances, ably for one so long out of practice, and continues his casual, effective style of acting. Evelyn Trevor, who sings much better than she acts in this, her first picture, still apparently has what it takes. William Frawley and Mona Barrie are good. It's a laugh every time Bennett O. Rexan (Gene Lockhart) is addressed. He's "B.O." to the boys.

Swell Photography
"Big City" probably won't suffer at the box office for my low opinion of it. It's sentimental melodrama, with Lute Rainer and Spencer Tracy wasted, I think, in the lead roles. Directed by Frank Borzage, its love scenes have that old touch, and in some places the picture shows signs of transcending its hokey materials but seldom does. For popular sock-appeal the climax has 15 big sports names to side with hero Tracy in the big city taxi war, and it's a riotously satisfying ending.

The story has Tracy's wife, Rainer, being deported as an aftermath of the taxi fighting. Stretching credibility is the fact that although the wife is an expectant mother, she's on the boat. So one until after, she's on the boat. If he had, of course, the reporters would have had a "cause" and the dirty words couldn't have been done and there'd have been no picture. This would have been unfortunate, come to think of it, because Rainer has a more beautifully photographed than ever before and Tracy is good before your eyes!

OIL PRODUCTION
TOPEKA, Sept. 18 (AP)—The United States bureau of mines recommendation for October oil production in Kansas has been set at 199,000 barrels daily. E. E. Blincoe, chairman of the state corporation commission, said today.

The figure was a reduction of 1,000 barrels under the bureau's recommendation for September, but in excess of the allowable of 198,250 barrels finally fixed by the corporation commission for that month because, Blincoe said, of an excess of production over the allowable for August.

HOLLYWOOD.—The Twentieth Century studio people were annoyed and worried when Paramount's "Easy Living" beat them to the theaters—and they had cause to be.

But "Thin Ice" will do plenty for itself despite the similarity in story twist. It has, first of all, Sonja Henie, an cute and ingenious as in her first picture. It has Miss Henie's skating and some of the finest group work on ice ever seen on the screen. It also has Tyrone Power, who aside from being the real Henie heart interest proves again that he can act.

Remade For Sonja
"Easy Living" was about a girl who found herself living in style because people thought she was the friend of a wealthy Wall Street. "Thin Ice" is about a report that overheard with attentions because people think she is the friend of the prince. Both her rights are innocent of the situation. When the girl in the first picture married the Wall Street's son, Sonja in "Thin Ice" gets the prince.

"Thin Ice" was made before by its present parent as "My Lips Betray," starring Lillian Harvey, but it has been tailored anew to suit the Scandinavian ice queen. It is above average entertainment with Evelyn Trevor, who sings much better than she acts in this, her first picture, still apparently has what it takes. William Frawley and Mona Barrie are good. It's a laugh every time Bennett O. Rexan (Gene Lockhart) is addressed. He's "B.O." to the boys.

ENROLLMENT AT COLLEGES GOES TO HIGH MARK
CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—College enrollment figures are reaching new high peaks this fall.

From all sections of the country reports indicated today notable advances in the number of persons going for higher education.

Although the enrollment figures for many universities and colleges are not yet complete, experts at the federal office of education in Washington estimated this year's probable attendance at all institutions of higher learning would reach a total of 1,500,000, including 400,000 first year students, compared with 1,170,000 last year.

They figured that one out of every three boys and girls who finished high school last year, would be on a college campus this fall.

Philip Wadsworth DOUBLE WEDDING

CHAPTER XXI
As he dressed for dinner, in the bridal suite he now occupied alone—although the charade of "Mr. and Mrs. Banks" had been kept up all day, Charlie felt that things were going very well.

Irene was looking mad at Wadsworth. Wadsworth was taking her rage calmly and retaliating by making a public spectacle of his behavior with Felice. The more chummy he appeared with the blonde secretary, the more indignant Irene became, and the more indignant she became the chummer Wadsworth's behavior. Margit was overwhelmed by the whole adventure and, Charlie realized, so completely preoccupied that she seemed to have forgotten her business in New York.

A good sign, Charlie thought. Charlie made only one error in his summary of the situation. He had been afraid Keough would not accept the elaborate criminal record he had arranged with Roger Weed. But Keough had accepted it so wholeheartedly that Mr. Asquith had apparently disappeared from the hotel and a new bell boy had come into existence.

That means that Keough had managed to some degree with the management—but Charlie felt that if the worst came to the worst he could always explode his cannon. What he had failed to reckon with was the intensity of Keough's seething powers.

As he dressed, he decided to ring for a bell boy. He was pretty sure he would get Keough in his new disguise. He thought he ought to do something or other to increase Keough's suspicions of him and he looked around the room for a suitable activity. Finally he noticed that a corner of the wallpaper had curled up just above the baseboard. He took a key from his pocket and scraped at the plaster over the wallpaper. Presently he had a nice semi-circle of white dust on the dark red carpet. He stuck back the paper with a little water. Then he rang.

"When the boy came it was indeed Keough." "Charlie looked at his glasses. "Weak eyes?" "Keough used his disguised voice. "Very sensitive to light, sir." "Charlie nodded sympathetically. "I'd like a cocktail. What do you advise?"

The allegedly weak eyes were darting around the room from the umbrage of smoked lenses. Charlie watched them come to rest on the plaster dust and then moved to the dampened wallpaper. He observed Keough's frown, and the quaver in his voice as he said, "A daquiri would be nice, sir."

Keough was thinking just what Charlie had anticipated; that Charlie had worked loose a corner of the wallpaper, bored a hole in the plaster behind it, hidden something there, and put back the wallpaper. Charlie said, "Excellent, young man! A daquiri!"

Keough hurried out. What Charlie had failed to reckon on was the lengths to which Keough was prepared to go to meet emergencies.

Not that Keough sent out a call to the police for aid. Such a step was against the grain of his temperament. He wanted to land the continental criminal single-handed.

He had obtained his bell boy position with the help of Bailey by assuring the hotel manager that "certain people" had to be watched. He knew Charlie's trailer was full of guns. He knew Charlie's record abroad. He was now pretty sure that the Romanoff emeralds were hidden in the wall of the bridal suite. He was sure that Margit and Irene were in great danger. He decided that the best maneuver would be to clear the stage.

Hence, as soon as he had delivered Charlie's daquiri, he called Mrs. Keough and gave her a long list of instructions to be carried out immediately.

Thus it was that during and immediately after dinner a number of things occurred. At seven-thirty Felice received a telegram saying that her mother was dangerously ill and urging her to come to New York at once. At eight-two Wadsworth received a wire from a firm of New York engineers which asked him to be at their office at ten on the following morning to discuss the sale of his post-burning furnace. The telegram suggested that there might be a million dollars in it for Wadsworth.

At eight-thirty-six Margit was informed by wire that one of her most important clients had decided to go to the coronation after all and wanted thirty new dresses to be designed and made in the following ten days.

A fourth telegram instructed Irene to appear on the next day at the offices of a law firm where, according to the wire she would find she had inherited a large sum of money from a distant relative.

These telegrams were delivered to their recipients under their false names but since Margit had given to her assistant in New York the roster of their four several aliases, they assumed that Margit's assistant had divulged the facts in each case because of the importance of the messages. Later—all four wires were proven false. But for the moment—they sufficed.

Keough had affected this deluge of misfortune through the agency of his wife—and with the foreknowledge that there was a train leaving for New York at eleven o'clock that evening. Unfortunately his invention had run out before he had thought of an appeal strong enough to judge Mrs. Kensington Bly from the Prince James—but he felt that she was in no particular jeopardy in any case. The accuracy of his efforts was borne out by the facts. Dinner was no more than finished when Margit, Irene, Wadsworth and Felice began to inquire frantically about the next train back to the city. They made reservations. They packed.

And Charlie, faced by the sudden onslaught of departure, did not guess that Keough wanted to capture him alone and with the "goods." Since his romantic appointment with Irene had turned into a sort of public fiasco, and since he was stranded in upper New York state with his trailer, he announced that he would "drive back on the following day. Mrs. Bly invited herself to go back with him.

And everybody left. Nobody knew who to say to whom at the station. Irene solved his au-revoirs by not saying them to anybody. She was still sore at Wadsworth. She was also sore at Charlie. On their canoe ride in the afternoon, she had tried to persuade him to branch off into a second equipment with her. Not so much because she was rapturous about Charlie but because she was indignant about Wadsworth and felt cheated all around. Wadsworth made his farewells quite pointed. He shook hands with Charlie heartily while holding Felice's arm and looking at Irene. "Old man," he said, "you have opened for me the door to freedom."

Margit also was emotionally mixed. As she said goodbye to Charlie she really wanted to thank him. He was less the friend she had first imagined—and more the irresponsible boy. Besides that he was a darn good golfer—and nobody—in Margit's opinion—could be a good golfer and a total loss. She found herself saying somewhat philosophically—"You must come and see us in New York."

To that Charlie replied, "Come to see you! Hell! I'm going to marry your sister!" When Margit entered the drawing room on the train, which she was sharing with Felice and Irene, one of the bell boys was stowing their luggage. It surprised her considerably when he bent toward her ear. "Keep your doors locked," the bell boy whispered. "Watch every thing closely! I'll report if any mischief occurs. But I generally got my man." She was still more astonished when the bell boy handed her a revolver.

It was only after she had taken the gun and stared from it to the man in uniform that she suddenly understood. "Keough!" The train pulled out.

And now Keough's plans for capturing Charlie are nearing a climax. Can the artist escape his wily pursuer? Don't miss tomorrow's high-gesred installment. (To Be Continued) violate name as a composer. Ross Falder, mezzo-soprano, will be presented on the January program, along with Mae Gilbert Reese, pianist. Another of those "dreams do come true" girls, Miss Falder was discovered by a Chicago music critic who attended a Gilbert and Sullivan opera at College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in which the vocalist had a part. So entranced was he with her voice she sought her out and assisted her in receiving the best musical instruction. Three years of study have borne out his prediction of her ability and following this season's concert she will return to New York with an eye to an early appearance at the Metropolitan.

Her accompanist, Miss Reese, has a masculine style of playing which is quite a variance to her striking blonde beauty. A brilliant interpreter of Liszt and Chopin, whose compositions are always included in her programs, she never fails to bring her audience a new appreciation of those masters. Subtle phrasing, fine tone quality and careful pedaling mark all of her work.

A woman believed to be the world's greatest trumpet soloist in Grace Adams East, who will appear on the February concert. She recently appeared as guest soloist with the U. S. Navy band when they broadcast from Washington, D. C. A leading newspaper said of

PATTERN No. 523

Paint a picture with your crochet hook! This charming scene gives you a lake in the foreground containing the whole duck family while the background is a typical woods view. The whole is so attractive you'll want to make several of them, for they're as appropriate for living room and dining room as for the nursery, as well as so simple to make.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with block and space diagram to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need. To obtain this pattern, send for No. 523 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Needlework Department, P. O. Box 172, Station D, New York, N. Y. Expansion Program Is Planned For Canyon School

CANYON, Sept. 18 (AP)—A ten-year expansion program envisioned for West Texas State Teachers college by its authorities and the Texas teachers college board of regents was revealed here today by John E. Hill of Amarillo, a member of the board, and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of the college. The regent said similar plans for other teachers colleges would be coordinated with the local program and that the board would press for their realization within the stated period.

He announced the appointment of M. O. Gardner, Amarillo, as the architect in the local program. Serving with the Amarillo regent of the sub-committee for West Texas State are two other regents, A. H. Eubanks of McKinney and J. O. Jackson of Alpine.

West Texas State is completing, in some instances continuing, a three-year plan involving an expenditure of about $600,000. This plan includes PWA, WPA, and self-liquidating projects, with the state providing only a small portion of the total cost.

POSTAL MANAGER TO CALIFORNIA JOB

Five and one-half years' residence here as manager of the Big Spring office of the Postal Telegraph company was concluded Saturday night, as H. Hannah left to assume a position in California with the Southern Pacific railway system.

Hannah planned to spend two days in El Paso before going on to the west coast. He will be in the railway's communication service. Mrs. Hannah and their daughter, Jane Lee, now with relatives in Louisiana, will join him in a short time.

Hannah is succeeded here by A. G. Hargus, who comes to Big Spring from Bartlesville, Okla. Hargus already has assumed duties as local manager.

Committees On Tour Of Farm Belt

Pre-Legislation Trip Will Take Month And Half

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—A turn about the country to take a senate committee into 17 states within the next month and a half.

Committee members will study the farmers needs at first hand with a view to recommending new farm legislation at the next session of congress.

One group of five senators—Smitty (D-SC), Thomas (D-Okla), Bankhead (D-Ala), Ellender (D-La), and Moore (D-NJ)—will take the southern route through the cotton belt.

The second group—Senators McGill (D-Kan), Repe (D-Ia) and Frazier (R-ND)—will cross the northern states.

Both committees will join in four conferences at the end of their tours, at Oklahoma City, Memphis, Springfield, Ill., and Jefferson City, Mo. Those interested in farm legislation have been invited to present their views at the meetings in various towns. The itinerary for the southern tour is as follows: October 15, Louisville, Ky.; 18, Winston-Salem, N. C.; 19, Columbia, S. C.; 20, Atlanta, Ga.; 21, Montgomery, Ala.; 22, New Orleans; 25, Houston, Texas; 26, Dallas, Texas; 27, Oklahoma City; 28, Memphis; 29-30, Springfield, Ill.; Nov. 1, Jefferson City, Mo.

The western group will hold one of its hearings in Oklahoma City on October 28.

The fifth and final concert brings John DeBlais, a bass baritone, who is a newcomer to concert audiences. Flying his own amphibian plane several times a week from his summer home on Lake Champlain to Osca Seagle's camp in the Adirondack mountains for instructions after beginning his training in New York City under Ethel Cove Coja. Flying visits to friends led him to Homer Moore, well-known voice coach, under whom De Blais has perfected his repertoire.

Season tickets will go on sale during this week and because of the low price and the popularity of the series, those who wish to attend are urged to purchase their tickets as early as possible from the club members who will be in charge.

HUMBLE TO EXTEND PIPE LINE TO AVOCA FIELD

ABILENE, Sept. 18. (AP)—Humble Pipeline company's Cisco offices said today preparations have been started for construction of a four-inch line into the new Avoca field, northeastern Jones county. The line will be extended from Humble's present connection in the Bluff creek field in western Shackelford county. Actual connection in the new field probably will be made the first week in October.

Meanwhile, the Avoca field's fourth producer, Iron Mountain Oil company's No. 1 Jones and Stamey flowed 287 barrels in 30 minutes, according to the local railroad commission office's report yesterday, showed 3,477 barrels production in 24 hours on actual gauge.

"Matter," is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 19.

The Golden Text is: "Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourselves molten gods: I am the Lord your God" (Leviticus 19:4).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "O Lord our God, other lords beside thee have had dominion over us: but by thee only will we make mention of thy name" (Isaiah 26:13).
The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "That matter is substantial or has life and sensation, is one of the false beliefs of mortals, and exists only in a supposititious mortal consciousness. Hence, as we approach Spirit and Truth, we lose the consciousness of matter" (page 278).

Only $1,413 DELIVERED!

Look at all the things this modern car gives you:—110 H. P. V-12 engine power and smoothness...14 to 18 miles per gallon of gasoline...exclusive Lincoln-Zephyr safety construction with steel body and girder framework welded together in a single unit...low center of gravity...122-inch wheelbase and 133-inch springbase... lounge-chair riding comfort with all passengers cradled between the axles...amazingly easy steering and soft, silent gear shifting...extra powerful, low pedal-pressure brakes...sweeping visibility...advanced streamlining...unusually spacious luggage compartments.

—look at these statements by Lincoln-Zephyr owners:

"I think it is the easiest and most flexible car I have ever owned. I am perfectly delighted with it in every respect."

"In the Lincoln-Zephyr you have a wonderful car. The back seat rides as comfortably as the front seat and it is the easiest car to handle that I ever drove."

"I have owned a number of automobiles costing considerably more than the Lincoln-Zephyr, but have had none that I believe would compare with this car."

"My gasoline bill each month has shrunk tremendously. On a recent trip to Florida I averaged 18.5 miles to the gallon."

"I am not one to expect miracles... But when we drove the car at the speed of not more than 60 miles an hour, and got 19.2 miles per gallon, I rubbed my eyes and wondered."

"In the thirty thousand miles I have driven my Lincoln-Zephyr, I have had no accidents, no repairs, or trouble whatever. It is most economical to operate."

Banks Listen

—for good reports about their neighbors.

BANKS are interested in business men who are well spoken of because of fair dealings, courtesy, good service, quality products or fair prices, for these make a business grow and prosper. In time these business men will find use for new or increased borrowings from their bank and give useful employment to its loanable funds.

More than this, the good name which brings deserved success to those who render varied business services to the Community is the keystone of sound credit.

This bank hears many good words about its business neighbors. It deems them an essential element in the strength and safety of the loans which it has made to many of them to facilitate their business operations.
