Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

Tonight 62 youngsters will receive their high school diplomas from Ozona High School. This is a record graduating class, and they will need all they help they can get from former graduates.

When our son finished high school two years ago, one of the most valuable gifts he received was a letter from an uncle. We reprint it below as a gift to the thoughtful graduate.

Dear Nephew:
If I may offer a little unsolicited advice, it would be that you shouldn't be discouraged or perplexed at this stage if you don't know precisely what field of endeavor you wish to pursue--what you want to be or what you want to do with your life. Very few young people do know for sure, as they are just finishing high school. So unless you already have a very specific goal in mind now, try to take a broad, general curriculum the first couple of years in college to provide a solid foundation from which you could specialize in any one of a number of different directions during your third and fourth years. That way you keep your options open so that when your goals begin to shape themselves, you don't find yourself boxed in for lack of several required subjects you should have taken the first year or two.

I probably ought to stop here, but I must add just a couple of more things. One, I hope you will continue to apply yourself and really learn. There have always been some people who have just drifted through college because they had family they knew would support them indefinitely, and it was just a four-year social lark. But I think that sooner or later those people regret the fact that they did that, because even though the money may continue to flow in, they finally realize they are not contributors to our society, and if they are not around, no one would really miss them. Today there seems to be even more distractions to divert college students from applying themselves, and many of them seem to get diverted whether they have an outside source of income or not. I know those kids are going to regret their actions, and soon, when they have to support themselves and maybe a family, and they find in the cold reality of the marketplace that they have nothing to offer--they can't produce. So they wind up with the menial, low-paying jobs, or nothing at all.

The companies with good salaries to offer don't care what fraternities you belonged to, nor how many letters you won--except for demonstrated leadership ability, which is important--but they are mainly

Nursing Wing Plans Are Returned Again

The Crockett County Commissioners Court met in regular monthly session Monday and spent much of the time on routine business. Members of the hospital board met with the court and the architect for the nursing home wing to the hospital after lunch.

Current plans for the wing were reviewed and discussed. The plans were returned with instruction to cut out one of the day-rooms and a few minor changes.

Last month the court accepted a set of plans, but the hospital board asked that the laundry area be enlarged so they were re-drawn.

Mrs. Tom Mitchell of the hospital board and Jack Williams of the commissioners court were appointed to approve the final plans. They are to be presented to the court next week for final approval.

In the morning session, the court reviewed the proposed rules and regulations for the new hunting season and accepted them. However, the judge was instructed to recommend that tags be issued for turkey and javalina.

The court organized as a Board of Equalization and all county tax renditions were reviewed. Tax experts from the firm of Prichard and Abbott appeared before the court and discussed tax values. It was revealed that new pipelines in the county will increase tax valuations some 2-million dollars.

Ozona Butane's low bid of $387 was accepted for an air conditioner for the Sheriff's office.

A plat for the new Country Club Estates Development was presented and approved.

Dorris Haire appeared on behalf of the Fire Department and requested that the county provide new first aid equipment for the school of instruction that will be held soon. The request was granted.

County Judge Troy Williams reported that a reduced summer youth program will employ eleven low income youths for nine weeks this summer. Mrs. Ray V-ladez will be in charge of the program.

The court approved an L. V. N. school for the local hospital. The school will begin in August and last 12 months. Mrs. Mary Ford of Sonora will conduct the school. She is a registered nurse. Those wishing to take the course should apply at the hospital.

Others meeting with the court were hospital administrator Tommy Kirklen and board members Mrs. Gene Lilly, Bob Childress and Dick Webster.

One Fatality And One Injury In Auto Wreck

A twenty-year-old Illinois woman was killed and a passenger in her car seriously injured 31 miles west of Ozona on Hwy. 290 Saturday morning in an automobile accident.

Front Brings Rain And Cooler Weather To Area

After several days of near 100 degree weather, a cool front moved into the area early Saturday morning, setting off thunderstorms and dropping temperatures by 20 degrees.

The first rainfall of the month fell on Ozona during the early morning hours, leaving a total of .57 of an inch of moisture.

The cool and cloudy weather prevailed at mid-week, and light mist fell at various times.

The rainfall brought the yearly total to 6.08 inches. In January, a total of 1.23 inches was recorded. February added 1.88 and a wet March saw 1.63 inches of rain fall, while April showers brought only .77 of an inch.

Nancy I. Finnegan of Chicago, Ill. was dead on arrival at Crockett County Hospital after she crashed into an unattended wrecked auto on a bridge, and a passenger in her car, Richard Beresford, 28, is in Shannon Hospital in San Angelo being treated for injuries suffered in the crash.

A minor three-car pile-up had occurred just moments before Miss Finnegan, traveling east in a 1961 Plymouth, hit the rear of a 1972 Ford which was involved in the first wreck.

The fatality was the second of the year for Crockett County. A one-vehicle wreck Tuesday around noon west of Ozona completely demolished a 1972 Chevrolet, but the driver only suffered a minor injury and a passenger was not injured.

Air Force Sgt. Clifford Taylor, 21, was returning to his base near Albuquerque when he lost control of the vehicle. He suffered a fractured clavical and was hospitalized. A passenger, Mary Stevens, of Albuquerque was not injured.

M. E. Nicholas returned to his home here last week from a Houston hospital.

Overlooked

Generally overlooked in the furor and excitement over the Watergate bugging and coverup are President Nixon's two major continuing programs for the nation: limiting spending and getting the budget in balance again while the country enjoys prosperity and working out new foreign relations policies in the economic and defense fields.

Though the sensations which almost daily develop in the Watergate affair are fascinating, and important, they are nevertheless not as important as where the nation is going, domestically and internationally.

Most Americans support the President in his refusal to sign money bills which will keep the government in the red, spending more than tax revenues, and forcing a tax increase. And most of them support his efforts to end the U.S. combat role in Asia and work out a new, long-range relationship with Europe.

These are the two major thrusts of 1973 and if an agreement can be reached on Cambodia, stopping the fighting there, and a trade war between Europe and the United States avoided, the President will have accomplished much in 1973, on both the domestic and foreign fronts.

Labor Moderation

One of the more encouraging signs for America, and hopes to avoid runaway inflation, is the exemplary manner in which so many U.S. labor unions this year have worked out new contracts calling for moderate pay increases—without resort to massive, disruptive strikes.

Steel workers and the steel industry gladdened the hearts of millions when they agreed to avoid strikes for years to come. More recently United Rubber Workers and Goodyear reached a three-year agreement which will avoid strikes in this industry, where labor militancy has been a recurring fact of life.

Rubber workers received increases in line with the Phase 2 standard of 5.5 per cent (of the now-dismantled Pay Board). Their acceptance of this increase is expected to influence negotiations in both the electrical and trucking industries.

Thus the nation is being spared the ordeal and economic calamity of massive, disruptive strikes thus far, in 1973, a luxury the nation can ill afford at this time—with the dollar currently weak and our international trade balance heavily in the red. It is a tribute to organized labor that so many of its leaders have put their country's interests first, which also happen to be their own interests, in the long run.

Armed Services Day

Saturday, May 19, is Armed Services Day. We should observe it properly.

In many cities and towns across the country, programs will include speeches, parades and other ceremonies. Altogether, there will be a general expression of public appreciation for the loyalty of our soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen.

We hope that the programs will not be perfunctory, that parades will not constitute the only accomplishments of the day. In the hearts and minds of all citizens should arise an acknowledgement of the debt we owe service men today and in the past, the confident prayer that, in case of peril in the future, other brave and courageous men and women will carry on to preserve our freedom.

On this day we should especially remember the men who gave their lives for our country. We should not overlook the wounded and disabled who will, in many cases, not be present in the parades. Let us also interest ourselves in the welfare of the wounded and in surviving orphans of soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice.

People—Too Many

A growing number of states have begun to discourage tourists. Florida is having water problems from too many new residents, moving in too fast. California has long had similar fast-growth problems, as have Arizona and parts of Texas.

The latest bit is a printed card from Oregon, quoting the Governor, which reads: "On behalf of the citizens of the great state of Oregon, I cordially invite you to visit . . . Washington, California, Idaho or Nevada, or Afghanistan."

In short, many feel a further population influx will ruin their communities and states. That, of course, would be an American tragedy. Yet the U.S. population continues to grow, not as fast as a few years ago, but still too fast.

The land available to Americans remains the same; as the population grows, the time will soon come, if not already here, when all of us begin to grow poorer yearly because there are too many people for the kind of life we have always lived in this wonderful country.

"DON'T LEAVE THIS PORCH"

Washington News Letter

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

An old saying has it that "the Good Lord always takes care of drunks, the sailors, and the United States."

But what will happen if our luck runs out?

In the view of some observers, an example of flirtation with grave national danger occurred in the House last week when by a margin of 219 to 180 an overt move was made to hodge the President's hands in the quelling of Communist cease-fire violations in Southeast Asia. The House action, if sustained, would prohibit any form of U.S. combat activities "in, over or from the shores" of Cambodia, not even in self-defense should any Americans be fired upon.

The Paris agreement called for cessation of hostile actions by Hanoi in Cambodia, but in direct and open violation of that agreement, thousands of Communist troops and a vast tonnage of military equipment have been moved into Cambodia, evidently in preparation for later thrusts against South Vietnam.

At the request of Cambodia and in accordance with our commitment to help implement and enforce the cease-fire agreement, B-52's and other bombers were unleashed against Hanoi's invaders.

This punishment caused Hanoi to agree on the high-level meeting, set for May 17 with Dr. Kissinger, hopefully to work out a cease-fire in Cambodia.

But it is feared the House declaration last week may play havoc with the forthcoming talks. Many fear the real danger in the House vote will be the message to Hanoi that the Congress is squarely against interference with future Communist violations and plans for further aggression.

Hanoi was reportedly convinced anti-war protesters in this country would not stand for any more U.S. bombing, even for peace-keeping purposes. The House capitulation marked the first show of weakness in support of U.S. policies in the struggle to achieve an honorable peace in Vietnam.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Mrs. Montgomery: Congratulations on your comments in "Kitty's Corner" on Watergate! I have never heard it said better!

I also admire your factual reporting, and please don't ever feel envious of the national media reporters. You tell it like it is and they tell it like someone told them they heard it was provided it doesn't get on some tender Kennedy pedal digit, or that of some other fair haired individual who can do no wrong. You should be able to sleep at night while they should be pacing the floor nursing guilty consciences.

Keep up the good work! Sincerely, Elton McGinnis, Drawer No. 677, Eldorado, Texas 76906 --0--

Senator Tower Reports

Now that it appears relatively certain that all Americans captured by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong during the recent Indochina war are returned and integrated back into our way of life, it seems to me that a new look into this matter is in order. We've heard all types of reports of mistreatment, torture and misuse of our prisoners of war in press stories, but I have a feeling that the public has not yet had the full picture of what went on.

Another aspect of this whole question of treatment of war prisoners that bothers me is this: what was the real effect on the captives of visits to Hanoi by American civilians and other outsiders. We've had sketchy reports, but I'm convinced that we need an in-depth study of these so-called "peace" visits to the capital of a hostile country during times of conflict. Is it possible that we need to pass new legislation with regard to such acts in the future? For these reasons, and others, I have this week introduced in the United States Senate a resolution to authorize the Armed Services Committee to make a special investigation into the whole matter of POW treatment in Indochina. I am deeply concerned that the full story of their captivity will not otherwise become a matter of public record, and I feel that it certainly should be.

Only when the public is apprised of the gruesome treatment of our men in Indochina will the American people fully appreciate their ordeal, their bravery.

I feel it equally important that the world be informed of the hypocrisy with which the North Vietnamese treated the prisoner of war question. Many of us are aware of the Hanoi Hilton tours conducted for the benefit of the foreign visitors, many of them from our own country. But was this camp typical of those in North Vietnam? Was the condition of the prisoners in this camp typical as well? I do not believe we have at present the full picture of what prison life was like in North Vietnam or in other communist prison camps. We have been given staged pictures and staged events by the other side. Behind these, however, lie the beatings, the pain, the anguish inflicted by a cruel and barbarous captor who portrays himself as a liberator from a nation of peace and freedom-loving people.

I would envision the special investigation by the Armed Services Committee looking into perhaps three specific areas. These would include the extent to which the enemy violated the terms and provisions of the Geneva Convention on the treatment of prisoners of war; the effect of visits by American civilians and other non-North Vietnamese on the treatment of said prisoners; and the effect of prior survival and other training on the stamina and the will to resist of the prisoners. Of course, the Committee would not necessarily be limited to these three specific subjects. It should be left free to look into any other relevant subject matter directly or indirectly related to the confinement of POW's. The Committee then would be able to make whatever report or reports it deems advisable, and recommendations for possible legislation.

I am not among those in public office who have flatly ruled out possible future aid to the Vietnamese people, but I am at present opposed to any aid to the North Vietnamese. I feel that we simply do not have enough answers to make a proper judgment on the matter. Perhaps the investigation called for by my resolution will shed some more light on it. I get the feeling that most Texans, and a majority of other Americans, now oppose aid in any form to the North Vietnamese. Perhaps a thorough study of treatment of our prisoners of war will help us make a better judgment on the future of our actions in this area.

I have had personal visits with several of our returning prisoners of war from Indochina, and I have nothing but the highest admiration for them. As a whole, they strike me as the finest of our men who answer the call of their country. Almost without fail, I have heard them time and again say they would do it again if their country calls on them.

These past few years have been trying times for our country. There have been some, a very minor but vocal group, thankfully, who questioned some of the very basic structures of our American way of life. Much of this dissent grew out of the war in Vietnam and its many complicated side effects.

Now this long and controversial conflict is behind us, hopefully for all time. But there remains some very pointed and yet unanswered questions about the treatment of our prisoners of war.

A large crowd was on hand Monday afternoon to hear Dr. Barton H. Warnock, chairman of the biology department at Sul Ross State University, lecture on landscaping with native plants and shrubs.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

We are still not having cotton weather, or the time when the ground temperature reaches 70 degrees. This is usually in early May when seed can germinate and the roots can grow deep. So if you haven't planted your warm weather annuals, do so as soon as possible (zinnias, nasturtiums and salvia).

Now that azaleas have finished blooming, they should be fertilized, but do not overdo it. They can be burned easily by excessive amounts, especially during dry periods. Keep well watered. Also, prune and fertilize spring flowering shrubs like forsythia, spiraea, viburnum and deutzia to force good wood for next year's bloom.

Keep daylilies well-watered now that they are coming into bloom. Though the flowers stay open only one day, there will be a new fresh beautiful bloom next morning. There are early, mid-season and late blooming varieties which furnish flowers for several months. It seems less care is required for them, and no insects or diseases have bothered.

Another popular perennial and a favorite flower is the gloriosa daisy. They prefer full sun, but will tolerate partial shade and are easy to grow in any except soggy soils.

Laundry Techniques For Modern-Day Fabrics

Color washday blues--when graying and yellowing strike. Homemakers in a lather can turn to thorough cleaning, Mrs. Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, advised.

"Overall grayness is due to using insufficient detergent over a period of time--allowing soil to settle back on clothes."

"Yellowing, on the other hand, usually results from a build-up of body oils."

"Thorough cleaning can eliminate both--following these laundering procedures:

Sort clothes properly, washing whites only with other whites, for example.

Mix different-sized items. A variety of sizes in a washer load can improve cleaning efficiency, thus reducing chances for discoloration.

Don't overload. "Articles should move freely through the washer," Mrs. Culp said.

"The manufacturer's use and care booklet lists guidelines concerning proper load size."

Use the right temperatures. "Water temperature is critical for good results. Generally, warmer water temperatures are more effective in removing soil and stains."

"To achieve the best temperatures for white and color-fast cottons and linens, set the water heater's temperature control at 160 degrees F., allowing a range of 140-160 degrees F."

"Also, know the heater's capacity--and don't wash too many loads of laundry in succession than it can handle," the specialist added.

Follow garment care instructions. "Check permanent care labels found on ready-made garments and accompanying tags on yard goods for specific laundering instructions and water temperatures."

Use correct amount of detergent.

"When measuring detergent, proportion it to soil on clothes and water hardness.

"Since underuse can cause graying and yellowing, use enough detergent to remove soil and oils from laundry--and prevent redeposition during the wash cycle."

Utilize appropriate wash cycle time recommended by the manufacturer.

Use chlorine bleach only when fabrics and colors permit.

Pre-soak in cases of excessively dirty or grimy clothes.

"To pre-soak, use soap, detergent or a specific pre-soak product in water, making sure it is thoroughly dissolved before adding clothes."

Next: How to "cure" grays and yellows produced by water conditions or chemical combinations, such as chlorine bleach on certain finishes and fibers.

DPS Seeking Male Female Recruits

Major E. K. Browning, Jr., Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety's 49 County West Texas Region, announced today that an intensive effort is being made to recruit men and women for a school to begin at the Department's Academy in Austin, June 26, 1973.

Major Browning stated this is the first time since the Department was created in 1935 that applications are being accepted from women for the position of Patrolman.

Major Browning said the Department has been successful in recruiting persons from minority groups to the position of Patrolman. Efforts to recruit from these groups are continuing for this school.

All persons making application for the position of Patrolman must be between 20 and 35 years of age, between 68 inches and 76 inches of height, must weigh not less than two pounds nor more than 34 pounds per inch of height and visual acuity no worse than 20/40 correctable to 20/20. A person must be of good moral character, excellent physical condition and must have a minimum of 30 semester hours of college credit.

Persons selected as recruits will be assigned to Austin for an 18-week training school beginning June 26, at the Homer Garrison, Jr. Law Enforcement Academy. Successful graduates will be assigned to either the Highway Patrol Service, License and Weight Service, Motor Vehicle Inspection Service or the Driver License Service, according to the needs of the DPS and consideration of personal preference.

The salary during training will be $600 per month. Room and board while at the Academy will be approximately $55 per month.

When a person is commissioned as a Patrolman, his salary will increase to $743 per month. Patrolmen also receive longevity pay after five years of service, a monthly uniform cleaning allowance and travel expenses when away from their home stations.

Recruits must furnish their own uniforms which consist of khaki shirts and pants, black shoes, belt and tie. When commissioned as a Patrolman, uniform, vehicles, weapons, ammunition and related equipment are furnished.

Group life and hospitalization are paid for the employee, and dependent coverage is available at reasonable rates. Patrolmen participate in the Employees Retirement System of Texas, as well as Social Security. Vacation, holidays and sick leave are provided.

Browning said interested men and women should contact any DPS office or Patrolman for an application. After completing the application, it should be presented to the DPS office either in Midland, Abilene, San Angelo, or

El Paso for the examinations. Browning urged persons interested in attending the June 26 school to contact the Department immediately. --0-- WANTED- Experienced yard man-one day a week Ph. 392-2304 10-1c

THE LONER

You wonder how it got there... a sapling far from the forest. And grew... alone, untended, little-noticed. And flourished to stand like a sentinel against the horizon.

Maybe a tree understands, as sometimes man does not, the secret of God. We are never alone!

What we need He has provided. What we are to become He has designed. The beauty and majesty and grace that can emanate from one object, one creature, He has envisioned and made real... for all to share.

There is no loner.

But when we feel alone, then, more than ever, we are drawn to God and His Church. In faith, in friendship with others who believe, in service to those who need our affection and care—we discover how deeply and satisfyingly we belong.

Appliances Most Wanted Gift

Beauty machines, or personal care appliances, make excellent graduation gifts. "That special graduate would probably enjoy receiving and using one of many such electric appliances, hair dryer, hair setter, makeup mirror, shave cream dispenser and styling comb/dryer," says Lillian Cochran.

The home management specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, discussed several selection factors for each personal appliance. "Hair dryers are available in either portable or salon styles. Although the salon style requires more storage space, it usually provides faster drying time.

"Look for models featuring a bonnet or hood large enough to fit over rollers, a long hose and cord to allow convenient movements, and a variety of heat settings. Also, controls should be easily accessible and the motor quiet." Miss Cochran noted.

A second beauty machine, the hair setter, is especially handy for "perking up" a hair-do between shampoos and giving quick sets.

"Desirable features include an adequate supply of rollers, in several sizes, and a signal light indicating the unit is on and the rollers ready.

"Most provide a carrying case for portability, while some feature optional misting to prevent hair from drying out."

Popular makeup mirrors provide good light and sight for applying makeup, the specialist continued.

"Some models offer natural daylight and artificial light, as well as a magnifying mirror for closeups. Generally, diffused lights reduce glare, and a carrying case or wall mount adds convenience."

Another personal care appliance, the shave cream dispenser, provides hot, moist lather at a touch of the finger.

"Choose a dispenser which fits all aerosol shaving cream cans, and has an on-off switch with temperature control for added convenience. Waterproof and shock resistant housing ensures safety," she added.

The specialist pointed out that a styling comb/dryer dries and styles hair at the same time, making it a favorite among longer-haired men and women.

"Select a lightweight model with an easy-grip handle and a wide range of temperatures.

"Additional comb and brush attachments are often desired, as are rechargeable batteries or long cords for convenience.

"When selecting a gift, consider the graduate's individual needs, and remember that all electrical appliances should have an Underwriter's Laboratories (UL) Seal of Approval. This seal indicates the appliance passed certain safety tests," the specialist concluded.

ly looking for a good strong academic record in the kinds of courses that are meaningful in their business.

The last thing I would suggest, since you didn't ask me for any advice in the first place is to try to find out all you can about the kind or kinds of work you think you're interested in. Find out where the demand is for such persons, and consider if those are places where you would like to live. Does it mean working for someone else, or going into business on your own? And, how does that compare with your personal desires? Is it indoor work or outdoors or both, and how does that fit with your preferences? In other words, your college years and the decisions you make may determine whether you spend your lifetime doing something you enjoy or doing something that's a drudge. And the amount of money you make and the enjoyment you get out of it does not necessarily go hand in hand. A lot of men make good money, but detest their occupation. Many others make far less, but enjoy every minute of what they are doing. So it's worth spending some time thinking about while you can still influence it.

Didn't mean to preach a sermon. Best of luck to you and congratulations again.

Your Friend,
Uncle George
And congratulations and the best of luck to all 62 of our 1973 graduating class.

Fryer Prices May Go Down

Fryer prices may slim down in the next few weeks. According to Mrs. Gwendolyn Glyatt, consumer marketing specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, supplies of fryer chickens on the rise will allow more stores to offer them as specials.

"Frozen turkeys are available in some stores at prices you can't afford to overlook," she added.

"Pork is a bit more available in general, best values include quarter loins sliced, shoulder roasts and steaks, and liver.

"Meat prices continue at about the same level as for the past couple of weeks, with some stores featuring mature and baby beef cuts at special prices.

"Other best beef values appear in chuch steaks and roasts, round steaks, ground beef and stew meat.

The specialist pointed to adverse weather conditions for interrupting the usual, orderly market of some crops, adding that most produce counters "offer a wide variety of good quality products" in spite of this.

"Generally onion prices are 'way high." However a few stores feature them at very attractive prices."
