Kitty's Korner

by
Kitty Montgomery

Well, we finally got our first Equal Rights letter. The salutation reads Gentlepeople. Now, really, isn't that carrying it a bit far? I still prefer Dear Sir, or even a "Hey You," to gentleperson. If there is a gentle person around a newspaper office, I've never been aware of it, and if there is a woman's libber who prefers Gentleperson to Dear Sir, she needs to have her head examined. Good grief! If we really must do away with sex in salutations, how about "Greetings" or "Hi." To Whom It May Concern, "Attention" "Please Note," etc., etc. or even Dear Madam and/or Sir. Anything, just anything beats "Gentleperson." Maybe I just got the letter before the deadline and it struck me the wrong way, but I am pretty well sure I'll never in this world get used to opening mail with a "Gentlepeople" salutation.

Why in the name of heaven do we get on our soap-boxes over such silly insignificant issues, when there are so many important things to be concerned about?

On page five this week, you'll find an article written by Kay McMullan and reprinted from the "Battalion," the Texas A & M newspaper. Kay is a student at A & M and is majoring in journalism. We are sort of proud of her, she wrote the "Lion's Roar" for us when she was in high school here, and did a fine job. As far as we know, she is the first of our high school reporters to continue with journalism in college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMullan, Jr.

This is the first paper of the new year. In my ten years at this desk, it is the first paper to begin the year without a holiday tragedy of some kind and that has to be some kind of record. As of New Year's Eve afternoon, we had no reports of accidents, death or injury.

It may make dull reading, but then good news always does, more's the pity.

Ozona Fire Dept. Turns In Busy Year

The Ozona Volunteer Fire Department had a busy year in 1974, especially during the extremely dry weather of the spring and summer. Fire chief W. D. Haire announced this week that the department made 84 calls during the year.

In-county grass fires topped the yearly totals with thirty-four calls answered while out-of-county grass fires numbered ten. Car and truck fires accounted for 12 of the calls; house and building fires numbered nine each. There were seven assistance calls and three false alarms.

Total truck time for the year was 103.20 hours. In- and out-of-county grass fires accounted for 37.30 and 31.30 hours respectively; buildings took 9.30 hours; house fires, 7.50; cars and trucks, 6.02; assistance, 10.45; and false alarms, .50.

Hot, drought stricken July was plagued with seventeen fires, most of which were grass fires. There were twelve fires in February, ten each in April and June, eight in January, seven in March, and five in October. August was responsible for four fires, May, September and December had a total of three each, and November had two.

Man hours for the year totaled 1367.25 with 31,965 gallons of water used.

In the eighty-four fires reported, only one injury occurred.

Interest On GI & FFA Home Loans Reduced

The reduction from 9.5 to 9 percent in the maximum allowable interest rates on GI and FFA home loans could mean as much as $9.90 per month savings to the average veteran home buyer, A. A. Hunter, Director of the Houston VA Regional Office, commented today.

Over the 30 year life of the average $27,500 GI loan, the total saving from the .5 percent reduction would be as much as $3,564, Hunter pointed out.

The reduction, effective November 25, was announced concurrently with Housing and Urban Development on November 22. The new 9 percent rate resulted from the second reduction this year and it followed four successive increases which took the rate from 8.25 percent in January to 9.5 percent as of August 14 where it remained until the current reduction.

THE LARGE SPRUCE TREE which has been a landmark for years on the Ozona High School campus was ruined by the weight of the ice during the ice storm last week. Many trees in town were ruined or severely damaged by the freak storm. Oak and evergreen trees seemed to suffer the most damage. Telephone service was interrupted and out of service for two days and electricity was off in most parts of town intermittently during the storm.

Aliens Reminded To Register

Joe F. Staley of the San Antonio Immigration and Naturalization Service has again reminded all aliens to report their addresses during January. Cards with which to make the reports are available at Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service throughout the country. The reports must be submitted to one of those offices.

Parents or guardians submit reports for alien children under 14 years of age.

Joe F. Staley urges all alien to report before the end of January, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious penalties.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stevenson, and son, Luke McClanahan, of Miami, Tx., are here this week visiting Mrs. Stevenson's mother, Mrs. Charles E. Davidson, Jr.

Record Rainfall In 1974

What began as one of the driest years in Ozona's history, closed out as recording the heaviest rainfall of any year since the Stockman began recording annual rainfall in 1931. Total rainfall for the year just past, 1974, amounted to a record 40.26 inches, a record 16.12 inches for the two-month period with up to 24 inches reported in the western part of the county, which suffered heavy flood damage.

At the end of June, 1974, the official rainfall stood at 6.69 inches and the area was in the grip of drought. The rains came in August and September, a total of 16.12 inches for the two-month period with up to 24 inches reported in the western part of the county, which suffered heavy flood damage.

October turned in a respectable 3.22 inches of rainfall with 1.50 inches recorded in November. Drizzle early in December amounted to .03 of an inch and last week's ice storm amounted to 1 inch of rainfall.

Scarecrows Scare Eagles?

Two or three scarecrows strategically placed in pastures where ewes or nannies are lambing and kidding may serve as a deterrent to eagle predation, according to Armer Earwood, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association. Earwood stresses that there has been no research work along this line; however, Bob Ramsey, well-known trapper and wildlife biologist in the Hill Country area, states that it worked like a charm on his ranch. In 1972 and 1973 Ramsey placed scarecrows in strategic areas in his lambing and kidding pastures. He put a white or khaki shirt and old Levis on the figure, stuffed it full of hay, put a straw hat on the "head" and placed it where it would be easily visible from the air. He also tied small aluminum pie pans to limbs near the scarecrow, with the idea that the eagle would note the shining objects and come back. Then when he saw the human-appearing form, he would take off.

Mr. Ramsey was quick to say that he had no idea how this would work on anyone else's ranch, but in the past two years he had had no losses to eagles, and in 1971 he had a real bad eagle problem. Earwood advises producers that there is no guarantee that this will work, but anything that might help discourage predation of lambs and kids would certainly be welcome and should be looked into.

Holiday Business For Ozona Merchants Unusually Good

The Ozona business community ended the year with increased sales for the most part and counted the past year one of the healthiest economic periods ever. Although most merchants interviewed expressed a cautious attitude for coming months, optimism prevailed in the business community. Increased activity in Crockett County oilfields is one good economic indicator for Ozona, plus interstate highway construction which will continue well in to 1975. Home and business construction is also at a high pitch and should continue to boost the economy well into spring of 1975.

The general feeling was that most Ozonans shopped at home this year, accounting for the increased holiday business. Most stores carried larger inventories and merchandise became more available to retailers during the final months of the year, with a few exceptions.

A check with Lu Ingram of Mae-Lu's revealed a great increase in sales over sales of 1973. Mrs. Ingram attributed the increase to a larger inventory and receiving 100 percent deliveries in merchandise, which was unusual she said.

Nick Nicholas at Baker Jewelers said that his business was much better than expected and topped the previous year's sales. He said the store had experienced no shortage in the gift lines carried. He also said that people seemed to spend more freely, but expressed concern about the coming year.

Ozona Butane Co. was one January S.S. Visit Set

Harold Tabor, social security representative for the San Angelo Social Security Office, has scheduled his January visit to Ozona. He will be at the County Courthouse on Wednesday, January 22 from 10:30 a. m. to 12:00 noon.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. Residents of Ozona may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise 2058."

OHS Band members participated in regional tryouts instead of district tryouts as reported in last week's Stockman. The information received by the Stockman office was incorrect.

of the few to report poor holiday business. Charlie Applewhite said people did not buy large appliances for gifts this year and he believed business was down from the previous year.

Brown Furniture reported a booming holiday business which topped that of 1973. Increased gift items was a factor, plus a full line of stereos, radios and television sets. J. D. Brown, owner, said the store had had problems in deliveries in some areas, citing carpets, candles, etc.; however, he said receiving merchandise in general had been no great problem.

South Texas Lumber Co. reported very good holiday business and up over the previous year. Most gift items sold were Buck knives, calculators, small appliances and home power tools. Harold Shaw said the store was experiencing trouble getting merchandise in some areas. He attributed the increased sales to the fact that more people shopped at home.

Oscar Kost reported a record year of sales at Ozona Boot & Saddlery, "one of the best yet," he said. The store carries

NEARING COMPLETION ON THE OUTSIDE is the nursing wing to the Crockett County Hospital. Work continues on the inside of the facility and at the present time is on schedule. Hopefully, the facility will be completed in early spring of this year. Bids on furnishings are being taken now.

THE LAST OF THE PECAN CROP -- The ice storm brought pecans and limbs down in the park last week, and tourists and residents were busy harvesting what remained of the pecans Tuesday. By mid-afternoon trees and park grounds were swept clean. Note young harvester in tree in foreground.

1974 IN PERSPECTIVE

To paraphrase Dickens, 1974 was the "best of times and the worst of times." It was a year which swept one President from office in disgrace and ended with both a President and a Vice President unelected by the people in power.

The economy continued its nosedive, with hundreds of thousands in the auto industry alone left jobless and the U.S. in the grip of a full-blown recession. Even the most optimistic of the Nation's economists predict that the double-digit inflation plaguing the country will be around for months to come.

Some comfort for the nation could be found, however, in the fact that soaring inflation is a world-wide phenomenon and, indeed, a number of industrial countries are in considerably worse shape than the United States on this score. Another small plus on the ledger was the lifting of a 40-year ban on the private owning and trading of gold, a move which hopefully will help restore confidence in the country's economy.

Motorists began the year by waiting in long lines for fuel in many parts of the country. Although long-term solutions to the Nation's energy shortage are still being sought, the Federal Energy Administration promises, in the short run at least, that there will be no shortage of liquid heating fuel for homes this winter — and no lines at the service station ala last year.

Lowered speed limits as a result of that shortage also contributed to one happy statistic in 1974: The National Safety Council estimates that some 9,300 fewer persons will die on the Nation's highways this year than died last year. Through October, 38,170 had been killed, compared to 47,520 for the same time last year.

Warclouds appear to be gathering again over the Middle East at year-end, abetted by the shocking "official" recognition of the murderous Palestine Liberation Organization by both the United Nations and Arab States. At home, however, Americans can be humbly grateful that none of our sons lost his life in 1974 on the battlefield.

The United States and the Soviet Union continued to eye each other warily during 1974, while striking new agreements for closer economic and cultural ties. While seasoned observers warned of the dangers of detente, President Ford proceeded to strike a tentative agreement at Vladivostok, putting a so-called "ceiling" on the number of strategic weapons in the arsenals of each country. Military experts in this country, however, appear convinced that the new SALT agreement heavily favors the USSR.

While 1974 will not be remembered fondly by many Americans — including those hit hardest by a sick economy — in world perspective it wasn't that bad either. We did end yet another year as a stable, free country having the oldest living Constitution in the world. And for that alone, each of us should be thankful.

PARENTS: REVOLT!

It is high time for parents throughout the nation to duplicate the outraged indignation of those in Kanawha County in West Virginia, and to remove slanted, biased, racist, amoral and illiterate textbooks from the public schools. It is becoming abundantly evident that textbook manufacturers have abandoned all sense of responsibility for anything they print and sell, for a profit, to the public schools throughout the country.

Example: Syndicated columnist Alice Widener reports an incident involving her granddaughter, age 15, in a Los Angeles county public school. Among her tenth grade English class assignments: "Ballad of the Land by Langston Hughes. Description by Alice Widener: "A racist, one-sided, hate-filled diatribe in illiterate English against landlords and our judicial system."

Another assignment for study in the same tenth grade class: an "in depth" homework essay based on This is My Living Room. Verbatim quotes: "My two girls are fourteen and sixteen year [sic] old. Both of them want to go on dates but I won't let them. I know what the boys will do, what they want to get out of a girl."

"Ellen Jean, the oldest, is a right good-looking girl but sassy and you can't hardly do anything with her. She started to paint her face at school, so I took her out."

"I seen her passing notes to Elbert. I seen her get out of his car one night. She said she was going to the picture show by herself. She's a born liar and sassy. Like as not he's had her. Like as not she's got a baby starting in her belly right now. She's a sassy b... h girl and don't take after her ma or me. Sometimes I wonder if she's mine... She'll end up a Birmingham w... e." (In the school textbook, all obscene words are spelled out.)

Mrs. Widener decided to write a newspaper column about her family experience. "However," she reports, "I could not quote the objectionable material in my column because no family newspaper would print it."

When material in school textbooks cannot be printed in newspapers, it is time to call a halt. The books should be returned to the manufacturers as unfit for human consumption, and the same demand should be made as it would be for a food manufacturer; total cash refund to the taxpayers for return of the polluted material.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Lyndell Williams TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

LIBERTY LINES Wonder Where the Yellow Went? By Robert M. Bartell

AUSTIN, Tex.—The men who will preside over the 1975 legislative session are busy preparing for action-packed days ahead.

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake, expected to be elected Speaker of the House of Representatives when the session convenes January 14, has more advance work to do than his Senate counterpart, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Clayton is just beginning the job of lining up the standing committees which process legislation. Obviously, the House will be operating under largely new leadership on the major committees.

The opposite will be the case in the Senate. Hobby has indicated he plans no shakeups in committee chairmanships there. Sen. Don Adams of Jasper will become chairman of the Senate administration panel, succeeding Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon who was elected to Congress.

Resignation of Sen. Jim Wallace as intergovernmental relations chairman to accept a judgeship appointment created another vacancy. Sen. John Traeger is vice chairman of the committee.

Both Hobby and Clayton rate these measures high on the priority agenda.

School finance reform, constitutional revision and proposals to create a state utilities regulatory commission.

Their ideas on the latter two vary widely, however. Hobby has advocated naming an elected citizens convention to draft a proposed new constitution, in the wake of the legislature's failure to agree on a revision plan during a 1974 convention.

Clayton would like to see the legislature make another try during 1975 at rewriting the constitution before handing over the job to others.

While Hobby has endorsed creation of an elected commission to regulate telephone and electrical services and rates, Clayton displays little enthusiasm for the proposal.

As Speaker, however, Clayton says he would not try to dictate House policy on the issue.

HOME INSURANCE UP — Homeowners insurance rates are going up too—an average of 13.3 per cent statewide.

The State Board of Insurance, which already had ordered an average 8.8 per cent auto coverage rate boost, followed up with the finding that homeowners policies must cost more effective January 20.

Insurance firms are expected to receive $25 million in additional revenues from the building policies at new prices.

Actually, rates vary by territories on extended coverage and homeowners policies. State wide fire insurance rates will go up 3.8 per cent for private homes and decrease 2.4 per cent for other types of buildings.

Board Chairman Joe Christie noted that policy holders can "shop for bargains" with companies offering discounted rates of from 10 to 30 per cent below the uniform state level.

RECESSION COULD COME —Some indicators point to a critical period ahead for the Texas economy, the Texas Industrial Commission director's year-end report warns. Unemployment in Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Liberty Lobby News Service)—A former legal counsel for the Export-Import Bank claims the gold in Fort Knox is gone.

That could be considered a pretty tall story. But public credibility in our government is so low that Dr. Peter David Beter, the man making the charge, has been able to convince a lot of people there is some merit to his allegations.

He stirred up such a fuss that there was an investigation of Fort Knox. About 100 Congressmen, reporters and other skeptics went there and were shown a fleeting view of the vaults which supposedly contained some of the taxpayers' gold.

But it appears this quick peek at our national treasure has done more to stir up questions than answer them. In fact, Dr. Beter's questions have aroused the interest of so many people even the Secretary of the Treasury, William E. Simon, had something to say about it.

The Secretary has now admitted that of the 147 million ounces of gold supposedly in Fort Knox, 123 million ounces are of a debased and inferior quality not acceptable on the market.

Hence, the charges that the citizenry has been robbed of their gold are looking more scary every day.

By definition, marketable gold is pure gold... that is, 24 karat, or 99 2/3 percent pure or better. If it is less pure, it is not salable at the quoted price. That doesn't mean it isn't worth anything... it means it is not worth as much as gold that is at least .995 fine.

Liberty Lobby has on file a copy of a document Simon recently sent to the president of an Ohio manufacturing company. This document clearly states that our government holds in trust for the taxpayers a grand total of 267 million ounces of gold... but only 18 percent of the gold is pure enough to be sold on the international market.

Later, Simon mysteriously said that all of the gold in Fort Knox is "inferior to other U.S. gold."

The question is, just what has happened to our gold? The Treasury has been carrying 267 million ounces of pure gold on its balance sheet for years. Now, Secretary Simon admits we don't have it!

What's going on? Where is the gold? Has it evaporated into thin air? Has it been stolen? Dr. Beter says David Rockefeller moved it to Holland—secretly.

Someone owes an explanation. Ask your Congressman about the lack of glitter in Fort Knox.

"This court will not require claimant to submit to such odds." One case involved a man who was unable to hold a job because he drank too much whiskey. In seeking social security payments, he claimed he could not change his habits. But a court turned him down, concluding that he could control his "disability" if he tried hard enough.

Washington News Letter by Congressman O. C. Fisher

Watergate watchers, including some seasoned lawyers, are at this point assuming all six defendants in the current cover-up trial will be convicted, although it is said there's an outside chance for a hung jury as related to one or more of the six.

In case of conviction, legal experts think odds are that it would be reversed on appeal due to over-publicity in the District of Columbia and possible misconduct of the presiding judge, John Sirica.

Much of the case has been built around the testimony of former White House counsel John Dean who, it is said, "tried to talk his way out of going to prison."

His plea of guilty and light punishment proved to be little more than "a rap on the knuckles." Trying to cash in on his publicity, the press reports Dean is now seeking a publisher for a Watergate book he is writing.

A New York jury which tried John Mitchell and Maurice Stans on a Watergate-connected charge, and acquitted them, evidently were not sold on Dean's credibility. He was a government star witness in that trial.

THE NATIONAL TATTLER, a weekly publication of some stature, recently carried this gossip item about the former White House counsel:

"Is John Dean's marriage coming apart? The Washington 'in' crowd say that blonde Mrs. Dean, who sat loyally behind him during the televised Watergate committee hearings, is fed up by John's complete preoccupation with his legal troubles, which seem endless.

"Not long ago she told a friend: 'John's purpose in life is to destroy President Nixon. He simply hasn't got any time for me.' But, as the old saying goes, maybe it will all come out in the wash.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"Compulsory" Surgery Suffering from a hyperthyroid condition, Doris began to collect disability payments under the Social Security Act. But after a brief period, the government decided to pay no more.

"She isn't that sick," a government spokesman explained in a court hearing. "All she needs is a minor operation, which she refuses to have. That isn't our fault."

"I just don't like surgery," countered Doris. "They can't make such a thing compulsory."

However, the court agreed with the government that the payments could indeed be terminated. The court said Doris could not be classified as "disabled" when it was within her own power to get well.

The justification for the ruling was that the operation which Doris needed was relatively safe. Why, say the courts, should the government bear the consequences of a person's unusual squeamishness?

The greater the risk, however, the greater the right of the ailing person to refuse surgery without losing his benefits. He may also refuse surgery on the ground that it is not likely to help him. Thus: A truck driver was disabled by a severe back problem. Here too the government wanted him to undergo corrective surgery rather than collect disability payments.

But this time, the operation was both painful and dangerous—and the chance of success was no more than 50%. Ruling against the government, the judge said:

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

After the severe cold, icy days of last week you may think it is too early to begin planning and planting for this year's garden.

Beginning another new year you should be on the alert to take advantage of warm sunny days between cold snaps. You may need to mulch, or protect tender plants during a severe cold spell. Keep empty pots and containers handy along with plastic, cardboard and burlap to cover with. Too, if a hard freeze is predicted, plants will be less likely to be damaged if you water dry soil before the freeze.

The first seed, flower and nursery catalogues are beginning to arrive, so let them help you make your plans for the spring, summer and fall months ahead.

I'm sure all of you were saddened after the severe damage by the heavy ice storm last week, to many of the beautiful and sturdy live oaks and other trees in our city. Some can be pruned and will recover their shapes in a few years, while others were split so badly they will have to be replaced. This damage happens so seldom, I would still advise the planting of live oaks rather than some of the other fast growing deciduous trees. Evergreens used with restraint contribute year-round form and color, and create a background for seasonal changes of deciduous plants. In many gardens evergreens are grouped into accenting masses of forms that define a garden pattern for the winter scene. Usually they should make up about one-tenth of the planting in home yard landscaping, perhaps a bit less for a small property. The other nine-tenths of the plantings give seasonal interest and color in flowers, fruits, twigs and form. Unless you buy balled and burlapped plants, all trees and shrubs should be planted between now and early March.

Feed pansies monthly during the winter with a liquid or soluble complete fertilizer.

Young Deer Absent From Hill Country

Biologists monitoring the deer harvest in the Texas Hill Country say they are finding very few yearling deer among the kill this year.

Donnie Harmel, a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist stationed in Kerrville, said a check of locker plants indicates that most of the deer being killed this year are older bucks with poor-quality antlers.

Harmel said that the number of deer killed this year seems to be down, and he blames this on generally poor hunting conditions.

"Range conditions are excellent, and the deer aren't moving. Hunters who are putting out corn to concentrate deer are finding that the deer are eating acorns instead," he said.

Biologists believe the dry winter last year accounted for a high mortality of the 1973 fawn crop, resulting in the low yearling numbers this year. A second explanation, they say, could be that due to poor antler growing conditions this year, the bucks just didn't grow antlers and hunters are passing them up, hoping for a trophy quality animal.

"This is the sorriest year for antlers I have ever seen," said Harmel. He said that a survey of 24-year-old bucks in Real County revealed that 95 percent of them were spikes.

Modern technology has made a great fiber--wool--even greater. Traditional features of wool have been preserved, and today's wool garments offer great versatility. Wool is comfortable to wear because of its elasticity, insulation features, and ability to absorb moisture. It also resists static electricity and wrinkling.

Recent developments have produced wool with permanent creasing, shrink-proof wools, feather-weight wools, bonded wools, and machine washable wools. These new products have greater color quality and resistance to staining.

The weight of the fabric determines whether wool will be warm or cool to wear. When buying wool, check the label required by the Wool Bureau: --Pure wool: the product is 100 per cent wool.

--Wool blend: fabric is predominately wool, but has other fibers blended in. --Superwash: garment is 100 per cent pure wool and can be washed and dried without shrinkage.

All these labels may be found on both knitted and woven fabrics.

When washing wool by hand or by machine, carefully follow directions on each garment's label. Wool releases soil easily so the machine should be set on a gentle cycle. If the item is machine dried, remove it just as it dries.

St. John wasn't his last name—that was French and usually mispronounced. But around Cape Cod, he was known simply as St. John, after his home town in Canada.

His appearance seemed far from saintly. Yet it never seemed awkward calling him that. He loved people. He loved the sea. He loved hard work. Most importantly, he loved his church and God. And his enthusiasm was contagious—somehow you felt better after you'd been with St. John.

It's refreshing and exciting to run into someone who tries hard to put his religion into living and working.

Remember that. Sunday and every day. Then folks might feel that same excitement when they run into you and me. That's something to strive for.

Rodeo, An American Sport

By—Kay McMullan

Many of you may wonder whether rodeo is an art or a sport. If you will take the time to ask any rodeo lover this question, he will quickly tell you that "Rodeo is America's No. 1 Sport!"

Rodeo takes skill, practice, concentration and time just as football, tennis, baseball, basketball and others. In professional ranks, rodeo is widespread and exhibits some of the highest paid competitors of any sport.

Rodeo officially enrolled in college in August 1949 with the birth of the National Inter-collegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) here at TAMU. The first national student president was a TAMU student Charles Rankin. A&M produced another national official when Nick Burnham was student president last year. Membership for this constantly growing association numbered 2,286 students for the 1972-73 season.

The purpose of forming this association, according to the NIRA rule book, is "to promote college rodeo on a national scale as an organized, standard sport representing an educational institution on individual campuses throughout the nation."

Member cowboys and cowgirls travel at their own expense to compete in these NIRA shows and since the inter-collegiate rodeo season, unlike other collegiate sports, runs from September through June, the member schools are put into regions to furnish travel ease and less interference with academics.

As a result, the United States is divided into 10 regions. TAMU is in the Southern Region which takes in the eastern half of Texas and lower Louisiana. The other regions are as follows: Southwestern (western half of Texas, southern Oklahoma, New Mexico), West Coast (California, Arizona, Nevada), Big Sky (Montana), Central Plains (Kansas, Nebraska, Northern Oklahoma), Central Rocky Mountain (Wyoming, Colorado), Great Plains (North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan) Northwest (Washington, Oregon, northern Idaho), Ozark (Arkansas, top portion of Louisiana, Missouri, Tennessee and everything east of these) and Rocky Mountain (Utah, Idaho).

As stated in the by-laws of the NIRA, to be eligible to rodeo in NIRA approved rodeos, a student must be carrying at least 12 hours of college work and maintain a C average.

There are nine approved events for these college rodeos. The women's events are break-away roping, barrel race and goat tying. The men's events are bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, team roping and steer wrestling.

At the end of the season, the top two from each region in each of the nine events, the all-around standings and the team standings are qualified to go to the College National Finals Rodeo (CNFR). This is based on a point system where an individual tallies up points earned in his best five rodeos.

A person may qualify for the CNFR as an individual or as part of a team. The teams consist of six men and three women. The CNFR held in Bozeman, Montana for the last four years takes place each June. The awards at the finals range from scholarships to belt buckles and from boots to trophy saddles.

The TAMU Men's Rodeo Team won the Southern Region championship last year by beating their biggest rival, Sam Houston State University, by some 300 points. This victory is similar to winning the Southwest Conference in football and is something of which to be proud.

The winning men's team consists of the following cowboys listed with their respective events: Doug Adams--Bull riding and saddle bronc, Terry Chapman--bull riding and saddle bronc, Jerry Hayes--calf roping and steer wrestling, Les Mason--bareback bronc and saddle bronc, Tim Roberts--steer wrestling and Mark Tillman--calf roping.

This team traveled to Bozeman last summer and participated in the CNFR held at Montana State University on June 22-27. A total of 57 colleges and universities were represented at the CNFR by teams and individuals. 232 students entered.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight satin silk organza. The traditional fitted bodice featured rose of Chantilly lace accented with Venise lace ribbon insertion, a ring neckline in matching lace and ribbon, lace cap sleeves edged in lace ruffling. The bouffant bishop sleeves featured lace cuffs with ruffled edges. The soft A-line gown skirt featured matching lace and ribbon insertion above a Chantilly lace flounce at the hemline. A trim of satin ribbon and lace accented the empire waist. Her full lace-edged mantilla veil was held by a matching lace camelot, which framed her face. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Charlene Strickland of Coleman. Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Martin, sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. David Huff of Coleman and Mrs. Robert Tabb of Tyler were bridesmaids.

The bride's attendants wore long A-line green velvet gowns and carried colonial bouquets of green velvet and white cushion mums.

18-Year-Olds Must Register With S.S. Board

Young men are again reminded of their obligation to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday. If, for any reason, a young man has failed to register he should do so immediately to escape the penalty of Federal law.

The draft has ended and can begin again only after the Congress grants authority for induction--but the requirement to register with Selective Service is still a part of Federal law.

Registrars are available at all County Courthouses, National Guard armories, and in most High Schools, to assist young men in completing their registration obligation. The Selective Service Area Office in San Angelo, located in the 7 W. Twohig Bldg., is also open 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, to assist young men with registration and other Selective Service matters.

Goal Achieved For Mohair Contributions Care For Christmas Plants

The drive for voluntary contributions from Texas Mohair producers to help finance a state mohair referendum next spring has been completed, reports James T. Hunt of Sonora, president of the Mohair Council of America.

"Our goal of $10,000 has been achieved. In fact, contributions totaling more than $13,000 have been received from growers in more than 45 communities in some 40 counties," Hunt declared. "We are extremely encouraged by the large number of growers who dug deep into their pockets to help us get funds needed to hold the referendum. We are grateful to them for this outstanding effort and we believe the referendum in April will be most successful in view of this financial support," Hunt added.

According to Hunt, contributions totaled $13,023.37 at the close of business on Christmas Eve, with several additional contributions expected based on pledges given when the drive started in early November. Hunt said contributions ranged from $1 to as much as $300, and several checks were received from growers who no longer have Angora goats.

The mohair referendum, to be conducted under authority of the Texas Commodity Referendum Law, will provide for a state commodity board composed of 12 mohair producers elected by growers who would annually determine the amount of deduction from producers mohair sales. The deduction would not exceed 2 1/2 cents a pound. Funds collected through the deduction would be used to finance future mohair promotion, advertising, market and product development programs. Past promotion and market development programs carried out by the Mohair Council have been financed since 1967 by deductions of 1 1/2 cents per pound from grower incentive payments. No incentive payments have been made on mohair since marketing year 1971 because mohair prices have been substantially above the support level, thus the Council has not received any deduction funds for promotion work for nearly three years but has had to use funds from its reserve, Hunt explained.

"Flowering pot plants are great to receive or give during the holiday season. And with a little extra care, they can give lasting pleasure," points out Welch.

If you received a pot plant for Christmas, give it the special care it deserves. Dr. William Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service offers a few tips on caring for these living Christmas gifts.

"Poinsettias, chrysanthemums, azaleas and most other flowering pot plants will last much longer if kept in a cool location away from drafts," says the landscape horticulturist.

"Never place them where heating vents or other heat sources can blow or reflect directly on them."

"Water is extremely important. Since your flowering plant has probably been growing in a greenhouse where it has had all the water it could use, it will wilt quickly when deprived of sufficient moisture. So keep the soil fairly moist to the touch. This usually requires water about every other day," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Overwatering is also a possibility, but if the plant's container drains well, this should not be a problem.

"Be sure the plant gets light," emphasizes Welch. "Artificial lighting is helpful, but most plants will remain attractive longer if placed near a window or other source of natural light. However, don't place the plant in direct sunshine or too near glass."

What about transplanting these flowering plants?

"Many species are not well suited for garden use," says the specialist. Most florist type azaleas are difficult to grow and are best enjoyed for their flowering period and discarded. Gloxinias, cyclamen and poinsettias are not good landscape plants for this of Texas. Poinsettias need a long, warm growing season to flower outside and could be transplanted in South and parts of East Texas.

Chrysanthemums will perform satisfactorily but the holiday season is not a good time to plant them outside.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO USE MORE COLOR

One of the biggest trends in the home furnishing field in the last few years is the amazing increase in the use of color--as homes are decorated more colorfully now than at any time in history.

Actually, in recent years, all the so-called rules of color combinations have been left behind. Do you remember when it was wrong to mix reds and pinks, or greens and blues? Now, of course, these are among the most popular combinations used.

More and more, we see more and more colors in decorating--and more color combinations. This is a major trend and is likely to continue stronger than ever.

Just as all TV and telephone used to be without color, and now they are seen in all different colors, so a variety of colors is shown in all furnishings in the home, as never before.

If you still prefer the so-called neutral colors such as greys, blacks or whites for your major colors, be sure to use a bright splash of color now and then in a room on some accessories and furniture to keep your room from being drab.

If you would like some assistance in choosing major colors or simply accent pieces, please stop in. There's no obligation, and we'll be glad to help you bring more color and life to your home.
