PRIVATE ENTERPRISE PROVES WORTH

"We need not worry about the social reforms which may or may not be necessary in the post-war period," wrote Thurman Arnold in the Saturday Evening Post, recently.

"Out of the necessity of making our system of free enterprise so efficient that it can win this war of production, we shall also be making it so efficient that it can produce prosperity for all in the peace that is to come."

Those are memorable words. In some minds there seems to be a feeling of defeatism so far as our free enterprise system is concerned.

Government in wartime, controls our economic life. But government, of itself, produces nothing.

Free enterprise in manufacture

SENATE REPUDIATES ECONOMY MEASURES

Some time ago, the House of Representatives made heavy cuts in a number of important appropriation bills. None of these bills were war measures, and the House was widely praised for its action.

The average citizen, who has been told time and again that maximum economy by everyone is vital in this war period, has a right to complain.

Free enterprise in transportation carries the incredible load which war imposes—and at the same time carries the load necessary to the maintenance of civilian life.

So it goes, in every field of activity from the raising of food to the manufacture of battleships, never in the history of the world has an economic system performed so brilliantly as the free enterprise system is now performing for the United Nations.

The American people have willingly accepted drastic limitations on their freedom. They have accepted those limitations for one reason and only one reason: to make a military victory certain so that maximum freedom for all may exist in the future.

A CLEAR DISTINCTION

In commenting on Attorney General Biddle's opinion ordering the deportation of Harry Bridges, on the grounds that he has been a member of Communist groups, the New York Times said: "There is a perfectly clear and easily made distinction between the activities of Communists on the Russian front and the activities of Communists in the United States."

"Why, David—are you trying to say you want me to be co-owner on your War Savings Bonds from now on?"

HITLER'S NIGHTMARE

In the last war the Kaiser was afraid of American manpower. In this war, Hitler is even more afraid of American industrial power, according to reports from the American correspondents who were interned in Germany after Pearl Harbor and who were recently exchanged for Axis citizens.

Of all the obstacles in his drive for world conquest, Hitler fears most American war production—and no amount of propaganda can dispel that fear from the minds of the German people.

And they know that no nation can match the industrial genius of America. They and Hitler fear our mass production techniques, our engineering skill, our ingenuity and enterprise.

Today they realize that our gigantic assembly lines have stopped turning out automobiles, radios, and a thousand and one peacetime products.

The job is far from finished. There is a lot of hard work ahead; we dare not let up for a moment. But we're off to a good start, and we're going strong.

THEY SHALL HAVE BOMBS

An American listening post heard a Japanese broadcast from China, and this was the threat in attempted counteraction of the recent American bombing of Tokyo and other cities of Japan.

But, no matter. What, we of the Pacific Coast inquire, are they waiting for? Don't misunderstand us; we have no craving to be bombed by warplanes adorned with the sun emblem—but neither have we any fear.

Back of the bluff of the Japanese there is fear; and we recognize it, and the Japs know well that we do. Be patient only a little while longer, barbarians; you shall have bombs in such quantity as you never imagined in the utmost of nightmare.

CAN DEFICITS BURN?

Tests by Army engineers show that deep red is the safest color for blackouts. Then the treasury surely has nothing to worry about.

Ten Years From Now... We've been having money arguments at our house! Not the usual kind, however, because it's been about too much money, rather than about too little. Bill, who's 16 and getting a pay envelope for the first time in his life, brought the problem to a head the other evening when he came home and sat down in the porch swing beside me and began to count his bills.

"SOFT" DEMOCRACY?

Hitler spent years pounding into German youth the hard, inscrutable Fascist doctrines of sacrifice and service to the state. He revived the old German mythological deities and set them up as symbols of his superstate. He established an economic dictatorship to control capital and labor.

THE GOVERNMENT AND INFLATION

Inflation is caused when public purchasing power goes up at a time when the supply of goods available for public consumption goes down. That rule is almost universally agreed to by economists.

That is one of the most compelling reasons for maximum retrenchment in Federal non-war spending. Business and individuals must tighten their belts in order to pay for war and prevent inflation.

took a courageous step in the right direction when it drastically reduced six major appropriation bills. That policy must be continued and intensified if disastrous economic consequences are to be avoided.

DOING THE IMPOSSIBLE

Now it's an army of 8,000,000 men by the end of next year and a seven-ocean navy. Since Pearl Harbor $72,603,000,000 have been appropriated for weapons and equipment that will beat the Axis.

But when the first war schedule was announced after Pearl Harbor it seemed so impossibly huge that the Axis called it propaganda and said that for all our manufacturing skill and great resources, we couldn't do it.

Today our factories are turning out these planes and tanks and ships so fast that in many instances they are actually ahead of schedule. Proof of that is given in stories written by the newspaper men who made a tour through several of the country's close-guarded war plants.

Liberty ships are now being built in 100 days and less, instead of the original estimate of 200. A factory manufacturing machine guns has doubled its production since February.

In almost every instance war planes are being produced faster today than most people thought possible only a short time ago. Big as the original schedules were, they are actually being exceeded.

One hundred fifty bicycles are being built from the materials needed to produce one medium-priced automobile.

Humble Oil Co. Goes All-Out In Rubber Drive

Over 1,000 Dealers In Texas Cooperate In Salvage Campaign

HOUSTON—More than 1,000 Humble service stations and dealers in Texas opened their doors Monday morning to receive scrap rubber in co-operation with the nationwide rubber salvage campaign announced by President Roosevelt on Friday, June 12, and undertaken by the nation's petroleum industry.

One cent a pound is being paid for any and all scrap rubber brought to the stations.

Reclaimable rubber which is acceptable includes all kinds of rubber except battery boxes and parts thereof, and tire beads. All metal, wood, and leather should be removed from such articles as leathery shoes and baby buggy tires.

The scrap rubber will be sold to the government for $25 a ton and the profit of $5 a ton, as well as the entire proceeds from scrap rubber donated, will be divided equally between USO, Red Cross, and Army and Navy Relief Funds.

Humble last Friday organized its entire field forces into a coordinated scrap rubber gathering force. Each of its five sales districts in Texas has been divided, with the district manager handling half and his assistant handling the other half. All bulk agents are supplying trucks to haul the scrap rubber from the service stations to central dumps.

The company will hang a large banner at each of its outlets to remind passersby that the station is a receiving center and to urge that scrap rubber be brought in for sale. A special portion of the company's regular advertising in daily and weekly newspapers will also carry the message under the heading: "Your Rubber Scrap will Bounce a Jap."

Cooperation with civic clubs and other organizations in every community is being sought during the two-week drive to gather every available pound of rubber in a effort to "recover the miles in scrap rubber piles."

The United States will produce 352,000 tons of magnesium in 1943, according to present indications—an enormous increase over the 2,400 tons produced in 1938.

Texas farm cash income climbed to $49,199,000 during April, according to University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports. This is 60 per cent above April, 1941, levels.

In addition to washing, soap can be used for an almost endless number of useful purposes, one of which is to locate leaks in gas-pipe joints. The suspected joint is plastered with suds and if gas bubbles through, there's your leak.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, June 15—"PATCH AND PRAY"—That's what Bill Batt, chairman of the Requirements committee of WPB, says American industry has to begin doing to keep existing machinery and equipment at work. Batt, one of the most outspoken of all officials in the early days of the war program, emphasizes that war production demands have created a real shortage of materials—not merely a temporary dislocation—and one which will grow more and more serious. "I can see times when even a shipway may stand idle for lack of steel, and an ammunition line may slow down for lack of copper and brass," he said. That means continuing, deeper bits into materials and goods that consumers ordinarily would be using, so the "patch and pray" watchword applies not only to industry operators, but also to householders, automobile drivers, people who run lawn mowers or hair dryers or hay balers or laundries or typewriters . . . in short, people!

BITS O' BUSINESS—The steady drop in the nation's department store sales curve has been bolstered with the June 7 week showing a 7 per cent rise over 1941, and the figures for the four-week period ending then being just even with the comparable time last year . . . Looks as though price ceilings have sand-bagged living costs, at least temporarily. The Bureau of Labor Statistics shows an average price increase of only one-tenth of one per cent for 900 items, between May 2 and May 30 . . . There was a press announcement of a report to be made to Government officials on possibilities of retreading tires with thiokol, a plastic compound developed by Dow Chemical company and worked over and tested by many experts in the auto, rubber and chemical industries . . . But all the experts still insist no laboratory miracles can change the basically grim rubber situation, and the requirement that we use every precaution and skill to make the rubber we now have go as far as possible!

SHOWMANSHIP — Mindful that even the most trustingly patriotic soul likes to see what he's buying with his war bonds and stamps, government departments are staging some eye-filling spectacles of Uncle Sam's mechanical might around the country. Ace number is "Army War Show" which just opened in Baltimore and will play 14 major cities for the Army Emergency Relief Fund. It's organized along the lines of an Army task force, with some 1,200 officers and men participating, and features a "battle" involving tanks, jeeps and other power equipment. Meanwhile the Treasury department is experimenting with a "Jeep Caravan" booked to visit 17 cities in Ohio this month. In addition to playing their roles in the local celebrations aimed at promoting the sale of war bonds and stamps in their "home state" of Ohio—they being made by Willys-Overland at Toledo—the modern blitz buggies will be open to inspection by the populace. TIPS ON THE TIMES—Extension of gas rationing nationwide is still a much-mooted topic, but Washington observers say the WPB, without saying so officially, feels that if people would voluntarily cut down car driving by 50 per cent, nation-wide gas rationing probably wouldn't be necessary . . . Bicycles, frozen since early April, will be thawed out for retail sale soon, but only to purchasers proving qualifications on a rationing basis; the OPA has set rigid ceilings on the "War Model" lightweight bikes, only type now allowed to be manufactured. Some 10,000 have been released lately, but strictly to war plant workers. Farm labor shortage and power equipment pinch may mean a big comeback for professional threshermen in middle west. Illinois once had 18,000 of these, but in recent years individual farm ownership of combines and other machinery has reduced their ranks to about 6,000. * * *

THINGS TO WATCH FOR — More seamless hose. Total shipments of women's hosiery in April were about a million dozen pairs more than in April, 1941, though full-fashioned shipments fell off by fourth; huge increases in the seamless type more than made up for it . . . Single-thickness soap wrappers—with a vinyl resin coating making the waxed inner paper unnecessary . . . Less cane sugars in candies, more use of molasses and corn syrup; one new confection, a "yam-jum nougat," uses sweet potato for 30 per cent of its sweetening.

SHERIFF, ASSESSOR and COLLECTOR OF TAXES

Crockett County

For An Honest, Efficient and Intelligent Administration

I would like to call the attention of the voters of Crockett County to the fact that I am earnestly seeking the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector in 1942.

Having lived in this county for 12 years and a neighboring county for 24 years I feel that I know the kind of a man the people of this county want for a sheriff—a man that knows what is going on in the office, carries out the duties of that office, and minds his own business.

I was born in Sutton County, lived there twenty-four years, finished high school there in 1925, and graduated from A & M College in 1930. Since that time I have lived in Ozona and worked in different firms until 1934 at which time I went in business for myself. Since 1934 I have been a property owner and tax payer in Crockett County and am interested in making Ozona an outstanding place to live.

Being a graduate of A & M College I think I am capable of performing the office work in an efficient manner, and with the cooperation of the Commissioners (Political Advertisement paid for by Candidate).

Court and the people of the county I am sure I can handle the outside duties just as efficiently.

There has been a question asked by some people and whispered by others, as to whether, in the event that I am elected, I will run the sheriff's office or be the figurehead of a kinsman combination. In answer to this question I will say that if I didn't think I am capable of running the office I never would have announced for it. If I need deputies I will get them from the rank and file of the people and not from family ties.

In the event that I am elected the motto of the sheriff's office will be "Courteous accommodation and service any time or place," and at no time will I use the authority that goes with the office to abuse or mistreat any person, regardless of race, but will enforce the law as correctly as possible to the best of my ability.

I think that my record is pretty well known among the people of this county and it is upon this record and the above qualifications that I am earnestly soliciting your support and consideration in the Democratic Primary of July, 1942.

WTCC Revives Drive For Passage Fiscal Control Bill

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce this week is organizing its 150 Public Affairs committees to again work for passage of the Humphrey bill for reducing state governmental costs by modernizing and streamlining the state's administrative machinery. A news letter signed by President J. Thos. Davis and J. D. Hamlin, chairman of the WTCC's public expenditure committee, has gone out asking for renewals of endorsements given by more than 100 organizations to the program inaugurated in 1940 and carried to the 47th legislature.

The campaign will be pointed at passage by the 48th legislature of the fiscal control bill by Rep. Joe Humphrey, of Abilene, embodying the WTCC plan. The bill was offered at the last session and passed the House by a large vote but died in the senate. It set up machinery for centralizing financial control and management in the governor, a governor's cabinet and the legislature. It created a department of finance and control with budget, purchasing and personnel divisions. It vested pre-auditing functions in the comptroller and gave the legislature control over post-auditing.

Rep. Humphrey said he will reintroduce his bill on the first day of the session opening next January. He asserted that "there is no better time than during this war period to modernize our state administrative organization for more efficiency and economy." WTCC officials said the Public Affairs committees will at once start contacting their own legislators, laying the program before them and soliciting support of Humphrey's bill.

Deferred Grazing Improves Reserve Of Preferred Grasses

COLLEGE STATION — The controlling idea of deferred grazing is to reserve a small pasture ungrazed from the start of young grass until seed maturity, says Robert R. Lancaster, pasture specialist of the A. and M. College Extension Service. Very little forage is lost by deferred grazing unless rodents are numerous.

Deferred grazing leaves ample reserve of the best grasses, which otherwise might be grazed too heavily. So, it is better to leave all grasses undisturbed on 25 per cent of an area than leaving an equal amount of less desirable types over the whole area. Deferred grazing increases height, vigor and density of grass, which suppresses weeds, Lancaster explains. It also increases the depth and volume of roots, and reserve plant food is stored for vigorous regrowth the next season. More vegetation catches and holds more water, an important thing on western ranges.

Grass reduces evaporation by its shade, litter and dew, and checks air currents near the ground. Strong grass growth produces more seed stems, more seed head per stem, more seed per head, and seed of greater viability and potency for survival. It protects young, tender seedling from drying winds and intensive heat. It provides a fertile, moist, humus mulch for seedlings.

"A natural thrifty range of fairly uniform type may not warrant the expense and trouble of deferment," Lancaster says. "Properly stocked, however, it would retain all of the advantages of a deferred pasture and supply 12 months of ample grazing, and a 25 per cent ungrazed reserve for revegetation. During the growing season of three months stock could not consume more than 20 per cent of available forage, thus deferring underfoot 55 per cent for adequate grazing the remaining nine months."

A WEEK OF THE WAR

SUMMARIZING INFORMATION ON THE IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS OF THE WEEK MADE AVAILABLE THROUGH MONDAY OF THIS WEEK

The Office of Price Administration fixed July 1, 2 and 3 as the dates for motorists in the Eastern States and the District of Columbia to register their new gasoline ration books. The permanent rationing system in the East becomes effective July 15, and the unit value of existing ration cards was doubled to six gallons to carry motorists to this date. The OPA said motorists who hold A or B cards and have used all the units on them will not be able to get any more gasoline for the next 30 days unless they show need to a Local Rationing Board.

Rubber And Oil
President Roosevelt ordered an intensive drive this week and next to collect from homes, offices, farms and factories all articles of rubber that have been or can be discarded. The scrap rubber is being collected by the nation's filling stations, transported to central collection points by petroleum industry trucks and sold to the Rubber Recovery Corporation. Filling stations are paying a cent a pound for the rubber. Under Secretary of War Patterson reported Army and Navy crude rubber requirements during the 21 months after April 1, 1942, will be 800,000 tons, compared with the present U. S. reserve of 600,000 tons. He said he hoped the difference would be made up by the synthetic production program.

Commerce Secretary Jones said the RFC will finance the construction of a 24-inch pipeline from Longview, Tex., to Salem, Ill., at an estimated cost of $35 million. The pipeline will be completed December 1 and will have a capacity of 300,000 barrels a day. It will require 125,000 tons of steel, the WFB said, but will not interfere with steel deliveries for Army, Navy and Maritime Commission needs. Mr. Jones said necessary personnel to construct and operate the line will be furnished by the industry.

Civilian Supply

The WFB limited the use of steel in the manufacture of baby carriages and prohibited the use of any other metal, except gold and silver, in such manufacture. The board placed similar restrictions on production of liturgical articles such as crucifixes, chalices and candlesticks. Deliveries of welding rods and electrodes were restricted to orders with high preference ratings, or to specified Government agencies and accredited schools of welding. The board prohibited use of any but low-alloy steels in manufacture of chisels, hammers, punches and other tools, and prohibited, after September 1, production of mattresses or pads containing iron or steel.

Office of War Information Established

President Roosevelt created an Office of War Information, headed by Elmer Davis, writer and radio commentator, who was given authority to direct all the war information functions of the Government. The new agency will consolidate the functions and duties of the Office of Facts and Figures, the Office of Government Reports, the Foreign Information Service and the Office of the Coordinator of Information, and certain activities of the Division of Information in the Office for Emergency Management.

Foreign Relations

The White House announced the President and Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov reached "full understanding with regard to the urgent tasks of opening a second European front in 1942" at discussions held in Washington from May 29 to June 4. In addition, the President and Mr. Molotov discussed measures for speeding U. S. war aid to the Soviet Union and the fundamental problems of post-war cooperation to safeguard peace and security to the freedom loving peoples. Both sides state with satisfaction the unity of their views on all these questions," the announcement said. The State Department reported the U. S. and the Soviet Union have signed a Lend-Lease agreement similar to those between the U. S. and Britain and China.

The President announced the U. S. and Britain have established a combined production and resources board to bring together "the production programs of the United States and the United Kingdom into a single integrated program, adjusted to the strategic requirements of the war... and to all relevant production factors." Mr. Roosevelt also announced this country and Britain have established a combined food board to investigate and formulate plans on any question, common to both countries, "relating to the supply, production, transportation, disposal, allocation or distribution, in or to any part of the world, of foods, agricultural materials from which foods are derived, and equipment and non-food materials ancillary to the production of such foods."

The Armed Forces

The Senate completed Congressional action on legislation to raise the base pay of members of the Armed Forces to $50 a month, retroactive to June 1. The House passed and returned to the Senate a bill authorizing a basic allowance of $50 a month for dependents of members of the Armed Forces, $28 to be paid by the Government and $22 to be withheld from pay. The War Department reported arrangements have been completed for voluntary transfer to U. S. Armed Forces of American citizens serving with Canadian armed forces.

The President asked Congress to appropriate $40 billion for the fiscal cal 1943 Army Supply Bill, including approximately $11 billion for the Air Forces, $10 billion for Ordnance, $7 billion for Quartermaster and transportation services, $4 billion for Army pay, $3 billion for the Signal Corps, and $3 billion for the Corps of Engineers. The Senate passed and returned to the House an appropriation bill providing $650 million in cash and $2 billion in contract authorizations for the Navy Department. The House passed and returned to the Senate a bill authorizing the Navy to acquire a total of 200 lighter-than-air craft, an increase from 72 specified in the Senate legislation.

The War Department announced that previous flying experience has been eliminated as a necessary qualification for glider pilot candidates. Applicants must be between 18 and 36. Those without prior flying experience will receive five weeks instruction in light power-driven airplanes. The Department said applicants for WAAC commissions will not be accepted if they have persons who are dependent on their pay.

The War Front

The Navy announced the Japanese "have made landings on a small scale on Attu Island, at the extreme tip of the Aleutian Archipelago and... Japanese ships have been reported in the Harbor of Kiska in the Rat group." Continuing Army and Navy aircraft attacks have forced the enemy to retire from the populated regions of the islands, the Navy said. Despite unfavorable weather conditions, the War Department announced arrival of additional units of the U. S. Army, including Negro troops, in the British Isles. Results of the Coral Sea battle showed U. S. Naval Task Forces and land-based bombers sank one enemy aircraft carrier, three heavy cruisers, one light cruiser, two destroyers, several transports and small vessels; severely damaged and probably sank a cruiser and a destroyer; seriously damaged 20 additional vessels and shot down more than 100 enemy planes. U. S. losses were the aircraft carrier Lexington, the destroyer Sims and the tanker Neosho. In the battle of Midway Island two of the largest enemy aircraft carriers were sunk, two other medium-sized carriers were sunk and at least 250 Japanese planes were destroyed, the Navy said.

Capt. Woodrow Wilson, son of Lee Wilson of Ozona, and Mrs. Wilson visited here Sunday and Monday. Capt. Wilson is on his way to West Point where he is to be an instructor in civil engineering at the Academy.

New Comforts and Conveniences Predicted For The Post-War World

NEW YORK, N. Y. (IPS) — What kind of world will Americans live in after the war is won? Today in industrial research laboratories throughout the country scientists are working on developments that will radically change living habits in the future. Industry will be able to produce these new things when it turns from armament production, and there will be hardly any field that will not be affected by the flood of new discoveries.

Some of the most noticeable changes will be in airplanes and automobiles.

The new fuel that goes far beyond the 100-octane standard will mean that engineers will be able to design very efficient small, high speed motors. Powerful small planes are expected to be built at a much lower cost, and this may bring an era of civilian flying in which the air will rival the road as a means of private travel.

The post-war automobile is still pretty much a matter of speculation, but no doubt it will be vastly different from the ones in use today. Plastics may be used for many parts, for industrial research laboratories have developed plastics which can be hit with a sledge hammer without denting. Advances in air-cooled airplane engines may result in an air-cooled automobile motor.

Housing is another field in which there will be great improvements, according to present indications. The prediction is that in the future homes will weigh about one-third what they do now. Walls will not be so thick, and many new materials will be used in building. Houses will be quickly put together and taken apart, so that they can be moved easily.

New industries created out of war conditions are expected to continue to operate on a large scale.

One steel company gives cigars and cigarettes to departments establishing production records. Workers decided to pool their winnings and send them to buddies in the services. Last month's production record means 10,000 packages of cigarettes for fighting ex-steel workers.

Along with the ones already established, they will supply this country's own needs in all fields to a greater extent than ever before, and raise living standards higher than they have been at any time in the past.

Down In Texas

By EDMUNDS TRAVIS

Texas is living up to its reputation for unusual political developments. A few weeks ago it seemed likely that nearly all incumbents of important offices would be retained this year without contests. Now, nearly every candidate for a State office has opposition and there are spirited contests in four Congressional districts.

Dwarfing all other fights in public interest is the battle of the three ex-governors — W. Lee O'Daniel, Dan Moody and James V. Allred—for the United States Senate seat now held by O'Daniel. Not only is each contestant a former chief executive of the State, but each has had an outstandingly successful political career, and each is regarded as invincible by thousands of devoted partisans.

O'Daniel, oldest in point of years, is youngest of the three as a figure in Texas public life. He entered the political arena little more than four years ago. But he has won three Statewide campaigns against strong opponents, and never had to enter a "run-off."

That last is a distinction neither of his opponents can claim, remarkable as are their vote-getting records. Indeed, since the double primary system was adopted in Texas, O'Daniel alone has twice been chosen governor without a second primary.

Dan Moody shares with O'Daniel the distinction of unvarying success at the polls. He was Texas' youngest governor, inaugurated at the age of 33. Before his elevation to the governorship he had served two years as county attorney of Williamson county, three years as district attorney of Travis and Williamson counties, and two years as attorney general.

For the last eleven years, Moody has practiced law in Austin with marked success. He now seeks office for the first time since his retirement from the governorship.

Allred was never defeated but once, and that by a narrow margin. After serving as assistant district attorney and, later, district attorney of Wichita county, he made an unsuccessful race for attorney general against Claude Pollard, who was seeking a second term. In 1930, he defeated Pollard's successor, R. L. Bobbitt; was re-elected in 1932; elected governor in 1934 and re-elected two years later. On leaving the governorship, he be-

SUGAR RATIONER TRICKS WOMAN INTO GIVING HER ACTUAL WEIGHT

KEWAUNEE, Wis.—When one buxom lady refused to give her weight at Luxemburg's recent sugar rationing registration, the registrar used a little practical psychology.

"Well, I'll have to put something down," he said. "I'll make it 210."

"It's not 210," the lady declared coldly. "It's only 205."

came a Federal district judge by appointment of President Roosevelt and served in that capacity until this month, when he resigned to run for the senate.

Youngest of the three candidates, Allred has had more years in office than either of the others. He is 43 years old; Moody is 49; O'Daniel, 51.

Theoretically, this should be the "battle of the century" in Texas politics. But he who would predict so much must be a bold prophet. An immensely greater battle is holding the attention of the people. No one can say how much—or how little—interest will be shown in the strife of the three ex-governors.

Neither can anyone forecast the outcome, although there are not lacking those who attempt it. All three ex-governors are famous campaigners, but none has ever campaigned under conditions at all comparable to those now existing. Tactics which might be successful in normal times may turn out badly now; arguments which might prove attractive under other conditions, may now be ignored or prove boomerangs.

Excepting two States with small quotas, which have completed their contributions, Texas is out in front in the current drive to finance the United Service Organizations. Harry C. Wiess, State chairman announced at the close of last week that $705,000 of a quota of $1,110,000 had been raised. Delaware and New Mexico have completed their quotas. Texas leads all the other States.

Due in part to the efforts of the thousands of citizens who are active workers in the drive, the good showing of Texas is also an indication of this State's intense interest in war activities and its determination to do everything possible to aid in winning the war.

COWBOYS RIDE HERD ON ARMY SUPPLY DEPOT

PUEBLO, Colo.—Western cowboys are riding herd on something far more valuable than steers these days on the plains near Pueblo.

They are serving as mounted guards at the huge army ordnance depot near here and Maj. Harold Horse of Kansas City, who at 29 is the youngest ordnance depot commander in the nation, says they are far more satisfactory than automobile patrolmen.

Besides their greater maneuverability, the cowboy guards can patrol the miles of arroyo-etched prairies without using precious tires or gasoline.

The Pueblo cowboy guards, officials say, are the first ever used to guard a modern war plant.

The bronzed guards wear old-fashioned six-shooters strapped to their hips and carry lassos on their saddles. They say they are ready for anything—but so far they have not run up against any thing tougher than prairie rattlesnakes. They shoot them just for practice.

Russia's Rubber Plant Tested In North America

PULLMAN, Wash.—Two varieties of rubber-bearing plants brought into the limelight by the present shortage will be tested this summer by the agricultural experiment station at Wash. State College.

The latest variety to arrive at the station for testing out is the Russian rubber-bearing dandelion, Taraxacum kok-saghyz, flown to this country from Russia. It is being distributed by the Department of Agriculture to 20 co-operating experiment stations in northern U. S.

Kok-saghyz, unlike some of the other plants under test, produces rubber in one year. Should the plant prove to be productive in Washington State, large quantities of the seed will be available next year.

Side Glances on Texas History

WHEN DID CANNIBALISM START AMONG TEXAS KARANKAWAS?

The reputation of man-eaters has followed the Karankawa Indians throughout Texas history and literature, but, according to Alvar Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, who in 1528 accompanied the second expedition from the Old World to reach the shores of Texas, it appears that they picked up the habit of eating human flesh after—not before—the coming of the white man.

True enough when Panfilo de Narvaez and his men were shipwrecked on the Texas coast and all save Cabeza de Vaca and three others were ultimately lost, the Karankawas even then were "blood-thirsty, brutish, hostile to the whites," but "as Cabeza de Vaca specifically states that he saw no native cannibalism in all his progress, one must conclude that the practice arose in later times."

These quotations are taken from Morris Bishop's "The Odyssey of Cabeza de Vaca," a copy of which is found in the University of Texas Library's extensive Texas collection.

SAVAGE HORROR AT SPANISH CANNIBALISM

On the contrary, the hunger of the Spaniards drove some of them to commit the sin of eating their brothers, a fact that filled the Indians with anger. The Indians had taken the party—which at the time numbered about 80—into their settlements on Bad Luck Island, or San Luis Island, southwest of Galveston, Bishop wrote. Four of the Spaniards were sent to try to make their way to Panuco to meet the remainder of the expedition.

"The remaining Spaniards and their Indian hosts readily recognized that they could not all remain in one place," Bishop went on. "When the castaways' strength permitted, they were divided into groups and quartered upon the various Indian settlements along the island. As one reads the account of the natives' barely-won struggle to keep themselves alive, one honors them for their acceptance of this intolerable burden, eighty hungry, helpless, useless men. The weather turned so cold and stormy that the Indians could not fish nor pull their roots in the submerged fields. Hunger and cold assailed Christian and pagan; the pagan suffered, but without complaint; the Christian's hunger drove him mad. The Indians, coming to visit a refuge of five Spaniards at a little distance, discovered an evil sight. Five bodies lay there; and the flesh of four bodies had been eaten."

"The Indians returned to the main camp, furious with anger. Their good-will changed to threats and blows. 'Had they known it in season to have done so, doubtless they would have destroyed any survivor.' Their indignation was due, probably, to the proof that the Spaniards had succumbed to a temptation which they were trained to resist till death. Hunger was the very condition of their lives... After any spell of bad luck familiar on Bad Luck Island there would be starved bodies to be lightly covered over with sand. A dim sense of social welfare forbade the natives to learn the taste of their fellows."

Importance Of Birth Certificate Stressed By Health Officer

AUSTIN—Are you a citizen of the United States? Can you prove it?

The easiest and sometimes the only way you can definitely prove native-born citizenship is by a birth certificate showing that your birth is on record at the State Department of Health.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, this week re-emphasized the importance of every American citizen being in possession of his birth certificate and outlined the simple procedure for obtaining this vital record.

"Requests for certified copies should be made direct to the State Health Department, Bureau of Vital Statistics," Dr. Cox said. "There is no charge except the 50 cents necessary to pay for making a search of the records and a photostatic copy if the record is on file."

Birth certificates are doubly important in the national emergency, serving as proof of citizenship which is necessary for entrance to our armed forces or for employment in any national defense industry. A record of birth is also useful in establishing the time and place of birth as well as parentage and can be of great assistance in the settlement of estates and other legal matters.

"American people are beginning to realize the importance of birth records since our entry into the war," Dr. Cox declared. "In the month of March alone, the Bureau of Vital Statistics received 19,810 requests for copies of birth records; and in April and May, the requests have continued to increase steadily."

The bump of benevolence is situated at the very top of most men's heads; as far away from the pocketbook as possible.

The first of the month generally produces those who insist on bringing sordid financial matters into the conversation.

We often wonder why we struggle so hard to make a living, when it's so easy to take a lead pencil and the back of an envelope and get rich raising chickens.

SYMBOL OF PATRIOTISM

MINUTE MAN FLIES HIGH.—This is the new Minute Man War Bond Flag, designed by the Treasury Department for firms and organizations which attain more than 90 percent participation in War Savings Bonds purchases by their employees or members through a systematic purchase plan. The Minute Man is emblazoned in white on a blue background, surrounded by thirteen stars, representing the Nation's thirteen founding States. When companies, labor unions, and other organizations top the 90-percent figure, they will receive a special Minute Man Certificate of Award signed by Secretary Morgenthau, the State Administrator, and the State Chairman of the War Savings Staff, the Treasury Department announced. This certificate entitles the recipient to fly the flag, which is being manufactured in various sizes and is sold by licensed suppliers at a nominal price.

NEWS OF OUR FIGHTING MEN

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Montgomery have received a letter from their son, Eugene Montgomery, announcing his safe landing in New Caledonia, a French island some 800 miles east of the Australian mainland. Gene is with a U. S. Field Artillery unit.

Capt. Woodrow Wilson, son of Lee Wilson of Ozona, former football star and later coach at the United States Military Academy at West Point, is going back to West Point as an instructor in civil engineering. Captain Wilson, who by the way just recently acquired his two bars after an intensive training course at Camp Bullis, was an honor graduate from West Point and is an officer in the Army Engineering Corps. On a brief visit here last week, Captain Wilson says the new assignment would be a "crip" in peace times, but just now he would rather be in the thick of things.

Continuing the response to requests from boys in the service for addresses of their buddies, here are a few more addresses:

the more or less unknown in the race in which three former governors are giving it hot and heavy, will be in second place on the ballot, O'Daniel in third place and the fiery Dan Moody of Austin, also a former governor, in fourth position.

Governor Coke Stevenson's name will be first in the list of six candidates for the governor's office. The others as they will be found on the official ballot are Gene S. Porter of Bell County, Hope Wheeler of Tarrant county, Charles Laverne Somerville of Dallas County, Hal H. Collins of Palo Pinto County and Alex M. Ferguson of Grayson County.

Vernon Lemons of Ellis County heads the long list of candidates for lieutenant governor. Others in the race are Alton M. Mead of Cameron county, Boyce House of Tarrant county, John Lee Smith of Throckmorton county, Arthur R. Miller of Dallas county, Virgil E. Arnold of Harris county, J. Dixie Smith of Harris county, Harold Beck of Bowie county and Doss Hardin of Dallas county.

Clifford E. Butler of Harris county is first and George H. Shepard of Nolan county second in the two-way race for comptroller of public accounts. W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas county appears in first place in the five-man race for state treasurer, Jesse James of Travis county, incumbent, being in last position. Others between are Harry McKee, Travis county, Gordon Smith, Travis county, and Larry Mills, Dallas county.

Bascom Giles of Travis county, is opposed by Neil Day of Eastland county for commissioner of the general land office, and Jim F. Hair of Travis county appears first and Gerald Mann of Dallas county second in the slate for the attorney general's race.

Charles J. Tergerson of Harris county is opposing L. A. Woods, McLennan county, for state superintendent of public instruction. On the line-up for commissioner of agriculture, the local committee drew the names of the four candidates in the following order: J. E. McDonald of Ellis county, incumbent, W. W. King of Sabine county, W. N. Bill Cory of Tarrant county and Bailey B. Ragsdale of Houston county.

For railroad commissioner, Baker Saulsbury of Potter county leads off, followed by Ernest O. Thompson of Potter county and Lester Boone of Tarrant county. Although the committee is enjoined from finally closing the ballot until court action decides the issue in the race for the unexpired term of Jerry Sadler on the railroad commission, names of the eleven candidates announced for the place were drawn. Certification of names of these candidates is held up by court action instituted by James E. Kilday of Houston. The line-up as drawn by the local committee included Beauford H. Jester of Navarro county, Pat McGreal Armstrong of Bexar county, Pierce P. Brooks of Dallas county, Clem Fain of Polk county, Will D. Pace of Smith county, Karl L. Lovelady of Bosque county, C. E. McCormick of Cameron county, Richard B. Humphrey of Dallas county, James E. Kilday of Harris county, Bryan Pat Patterson of Bexar county and T. Leo Moore of Wichita county.

Unopposed for chief justice of the supreme court is James P. Alexander of McLennan county. Walter H. Strength of Harris county will oppose Harry N. Graves for the seat as judge of the court of criminal appeals. P. R. Price of El Paso county and Samuel K. Wasaff of El Paso county are candidates for the post of chief justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, 8th district.

Unopposed district, county and precinct incumbent candidates include W. C. Jackson for judge of the 112th judicial district; C. H. Gilmer of Rocksprings for representative, 86th district; Judge Chas. E. Davidson for county judge; George Russell for county and district clerk; Tom Casbeer, county treasurer; N. W. Graham, county attorney; W. P. Conklin, county surveyor; Rob Miller, commissioner precinct 1; Charles S. Black, commissioner precinct 2; J. W. Owens, commissioner precinct 3.

Salvage— (Continued from Page One) heels; drug sundries such as hot water bottles and rubber gloves; rubberized clothing, bathing caps, and a multitude of miscellaneous things like rubber mats, hose, jars rings, fly swatters, rubber stamps and pads, etc.

2. Remove all wood, iron, leather and cloth from the rubber article.

3. Take it to a filling station where you will be paid a penny a pound for this scrap rubber. The filling stations also will accept contributions.

The only kind of old rubber that is not acceptable is that in battery boxes.

Salvage officials emphasized that any profits resulting from this collection will be turned over to the U.S.O., Army Relief, Navy Relief and American Red Cross.
