Thanksgiving Day! And believe it or not, we've much to be thankful for. Wars, we pray, are behind us. Now we are searching for solutions to economic difficulties which are troublesome, but certainly not beyond our grasp.

It is very much in the tradition of the Pilgrims that our nation has been built on the principles of individual liberty and competitive enterprise. Our leaders, including the Administration, the new Congress, businessmen, and heads of labor unions, should be giving thanks for the wisdom of our forefathers which preserved these principles and gave us a sound basis for planning the future. Today's problems, while serious, can be solved without resorting to war or economic catastrophe.

If our present day leaders are wise enough to take a page 13-R- TCRR. from the book of our forefathers, we can give thanks sincerely and without reservation. May it ever be so.

Last year, Ozona's lights were turned on during Christmas and again during the New Year holiday. There was no shortage of electricity here, but the curtailment came with the oil embargo and government urging that electrical lighting be cut back. #### Thanksgiving Holiday Being Observed Here

Ozona schools will be closed Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving holidays and classes will resume Monday, Dec. 2, at the regularly scheduled times.

Most businesses in Ozona will be closed Thursday for the holiday, but will re-open Friday, with the exception of all courthouse offices. Courthouse offices will be closed Thursday and Friday for the holiday.

A PAIR OF PILGRIMS will appear on patients' trays at the hospital today, Thanksgiving Day, thanks to Mrs. John Richey's sixth grade. The children spent some time on their artistic creations which are very well done and they should brighten any sick room, along with the thoughtfulness of the children.

THE GARDEN BOOTH was just one of the highlights of the Womans League Bazaar which was held Tuesday afternoon at the Civic Center. All kinds of plants and terrariums were offered for sale. Here, Mrs. Pleas Childress, III, and Mrs. Johnny Jones inspect one of the more colorful arrangements. All booths did a thriving business during the open hours and things were pretty well sold out by the 6 p.m. closing time.

Set in a shaded place until meals you'll find your favorite roots have absorbed enough moisture for safe planting in the garden without undue drying from the sun or strong winds. Plants with tender green leaves are best kept in a shady location for a few days before planting. This will get them hardened to the sunlight after having been in darkness during shipment, Dahlias should be cut back to 2 or 3 inches above the ground immediately after the tops are killed by frost, if left in the ground, mound plants with soil to prevent freezing.

If you have a small area and want an easy-to-care for garden, plan a mini-garden that will reflect your needs and personality. They can be appealing and a joy to care for. There are many small and dwarf plants to be used in narrow borders, along walks, corners, built-in flower boxes and many attractive containers Some gardens have been created on a do-it-yourself basis, while others have been professionally landscaped

Traditions

It must seem strange to people in other lands that we regard the turkey with so much affection. But that old gobbler stands for a great deal.

He evokes to most of us the triumph at Plymouth, when the faith of the Pilgrims sustained them against overwhelming odds. His wild forefathers were a star attraction at that first Thanksgiving dinner. Thanks were given to God for a harvest that meant the continuance

Turkeys are a tradition in America, a symbol. Like many symbols, they are easy to understand once you know the full story about them. There are many symbols and customs in the Church too, and sometimes they may seem strange. Yet they also become easily understandable once we have studied them. The Church today is one of the world's greatest sources of history. But it is moving along with historyfor even while the old customs are maintained, there are changing world.
