Ranchers Meet To Discuss '39 Range Program

Dist. Field Man To Be Here For Conference With Operators

A county-wide meeting of ranchmen with members of the local soil conservation board will be held sometime within the next ten days or two weeks for the purpose of discussing the 1939 range improvement program of the government and to make plans for participation of ranchers in this county. It was announced this week by C. J. Van Zandt, county agent.

Date for the meeting will be set at the convenience of J. W. Doak of A. and M. college, field man for the range program, who has consented to attend a local meeting and explain the 1939 set-up, the agent announced. Mr. Doak will be asked to advise the date that will be most convenient to him and as soon as this is learned the date will be announced to local ranchers.

All ranch operators and land owners are invited to this meeting. A thorough explanation of all phases of the new program will be given by Mr. Doak and any further questions in the minds of operators will be answered. One of the changes made in the new program is a provision that only ranch operators may make application for benefits under the 1939 program, whereas in previous years either operator or land owner might apply. Water well drilling, first withdrawn from the 1939 program, has been reinstated and payment will be made for this practice.

ONE THING and THEN ANOTHER

By FRED GIPSON

PORT ARANSAS — Lately, I find myself becoming extremely anti-social. The ways of mankind irritate me. I'm tired of meeting people on the street, the same people on the same streets.

People say: "How are you today?" It's the same tone of voice they used yesterday and the day before and the day before that.

Like a parrot, I say: "Fine, thank you, just fine! How are you?"

Which are the very same lying words I said yesterday and the day before and the day before that.

The way I feel now, that's all a lot of farce and front and people endure the monotonous falsity of it, only because they're fearful of going against the set order of things or are just too confoundedly lazy to think up something different to say.

And I'm mighty tired of it all. I'm even tired of shaving the same face every morning in the same bathroom. But it's when I meet people and they say so indifferently, "How are you today?" that I have to chew hard on my thumb awhile to keep from telling the truth. I want to say:

"I'm irritated today. I didn't sleep last night. Stomach ulcers, I think. And if I don't have them, I will, what with worrying about the way the government's robbed me on this income tax business. Besides, that's a revolting necktie you're wearing, and I don't like the way your wife's always going around with her petticoat showing. It's sloppy and unlady-like, if you ask me.

"Also, if you're interested, I could tell you plenty more that's wrong with me. But, of course, you're not. You just ask me because everybody else does the same thing. And I just answered you because everybody else answers such questions. And I really don't care any more than a bull bat about your well-being, either. Which only goes to prove that we're both

Angelo College Group Presents Varied Program

Ozona n s Entertained With Drama, Music By Collegians

Headed by their college president, Dr. W. H. Elkins, a group of students from San Angelo college, including members of the Thespian club, a dramatic organization, and the college choral club, presented a varied program of drama and music before an appreciative Ozona audience in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening.

In a pre-program curtain talk, Dr. Elkins, named president of the San Angelo institution a few months ago, told of the progress that is being made at the college and the aims and ambitions of its faculty. He asked for the cooperation of all West Texans in promoting this West Texas institution.

Three one-act plays and several musical numbers by a quartet of students constituted the evening's program. Plays presented included "No Room for Understanding," a tragedy written and directed by Miss Clarice Rein, student at the college, who also played a part in the production, "Farewell Cruel World," a comedy of youth by William A. Kimball, and "But This Is Different," a comedy drama also written by Miss Rein and presented in its premiere showing before the Ozona audience.

Mr. and Mrs. Nat Read, who have spent the winter with Madden Read on the ranch returned yesterday to their home in Arizona.

Ancient Circular Announcing a 1900 "Singing Skewl" Church Benefit For Ozona Brings Memories to Old Timers

Fond memories were brought back to minds of many old timers of Ozona recently when an ancient circular from the year 1900, printed in type and language to simulate the old English spelling, was dug out from among an old timer's souvenirs and displayed to a group at a meeting of the Methodist Missionary society.

The circular was borrowed from among the keepsakes of Mrs. George Harrell by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alvin Harrell, and displayed at the society meeting. The circular announced "Ye Olde Folk Singing Skewl will practice at ye domicile of ye townsman, Doctor Clayton. Ax ye way from John Young in ye village of Ozona."

Continuing its instructions for those who would attend the evening's festivities, the circular directed: "Ye people wille cum at earlie handle lite, by 7 hours past noon

$145,000 In Govt. Checks Received By Ranchers Here

Few Checks Held Back To Make Total Of $155,000

Government checks amounting to approximately $145,000, representing payments to Crockett county ranch operators for range improvement practices carried out during the year 1938 under provisions of the AAA range program, were received this week in the office of County Agent C. J. Van Zandt.

A few of the checks due ranchers of this county for their 1938 range improvement work, were withheld by the government agency through some clerical delay, an additional $10,000 being expected to bring total payments in this county for the 1938 program to $155,000.

The government checks are being distributed among 117 ranchers who participated in the 1938 program. Prickly pear eradication and tank building led all other practices with Crockett county ranchers during past year in the range improvement program of the government. There was some participation in other approved practices, including cedar and lechuguilla eradication, deferred grazing and contour ridging.

Dangers Of Kite Flying Cited By Power Officials

The approach of kite-flying day's has prompted the West Texas Utilities company to invite youngsters hereabouts to notify the local office in order to prevent possible accidents resulting from entangled kite strings in electric line wires.

"We remember when we used to fly kites," said Arthur Mitchell, local manager for the company, "and we're willing to do the work when it comes to rescuing a kite from light and power poles or lines."

He urged that boys notify the local office in event their kites become entangled so that an experienced pole-climber can help get it down.

"The safest thing," he said, "is not to fly kites near the lines due to the danger of contact with current. We are anxious to prevent possible tragedy from interfering with the fun of flying a kite."

He urged parents to cooperate by insisting that dry, clean string always be used for kites and kitesails instead of damp string or wire which, he said, "is a dangerous practice."

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Morris of Greenville spent the weekend here visiting their daughter, Miss Mildred Morris, public school music teacher in Ozona schools.

NEEDED PUBLICITY

Two bills have been introduced into the Texas Legislature which deserve the careful consideration of the House and Senate and which are of interest to every citizen of Texas. They are designed to give publicity to the expenditures of all tax-raising political bodies...

The publication of financial statements, in detail, will cost the counties and cities some money, of course, but such publicity will save the taxpayers far more than the mere cost of publication. Without question, there is the possibility of both graft and waste in the handling of tax money under the present system.

True, the cities and counties publish once a year, or maybe once each two years, an auditor's statement regarding the finances, but these statements are so lacking in detail and so involved that the average taxpayer can not make heads nor tails of them.

DANGEROUS TRADE REGULATION

Two bills now before the Texas Legislature with the support of powerful paid lobbyists should be given the careful attention not only of the law-makers but of the consumers of this state. They are paraded under the misleading names of "fair trade practices" act and "anti-discrimination" act, and are fostered by groups of manufacturers and distributors who conceal their real purposes by appealing to the public's sense of fairness without giving the people all the facts involved.

The so-called fair trade practices act is similar to laws now operating in many other states, and its major function is to authorize manufacturers to fix the minimum resale price of their products. The obvious purpose of the law is to stop "loss leader" selling of merchandise, a practice that has become general, and in which most retail merchants engage.

If for no other reason, this measure is highly objectionable because it would throw into the discard the anti-trust laws enacted under the leadership of James Stephen Hogg for the protection of the people against monopolies; but there are many other objections to it. It is an additional step toward regimentation of the country's retail business establishments, and the regimentation in this instance would not be under the direction of the government but by fiat of the country's manufacturers.

The anti-discrimination act, which is misleading in its very title as well as in its provisions, would prohibit the sale of merchandise at less than cost plus 6 per cent for overhead. It is an approach to price fixing from a slightly different angle, but with the same result. It would throw every retail dealer's business wide open for public scrutiny, in the first place, reversing the rule that the innocence of an accused party is presumed until he is proved guilty, and making the burden of proof upon the accused dealer himself.

It would prevent current merchandising methods by which retailers sell some articles at cost or below—usually of staple character—in order to induce patrons to visit their stores and buy other wares. It would penalize the small merchant because he would be consistently undersold by the large concerns, particularly the big chains, whose large buying power gives them a much lower basic cost.

Texas people should tell their legislators to let business alone, or, at least, refrain from doing anything that will further interfere with it or that will result in higher living costs to the consumers of the state. These trade laws are among the most dangerous bits of legislation that Texas legislature has yet toyed with.

AN EDUCATIONAL NEED

A common criticism of the public schools is that they do not teach pupils to read and speak the English language correctly. Insofar as that is true, it is partly due to the fact so many children come from homes where the correct use of words is not understood or observed, and they find it difficult to learn a new way of speaking.

Children are especially sensitive to the accusation of being "stuck up" with which they are often met by their familiar out-of-school associates when they pronounce words differently from the common usage of their environments, or use the correct word among people who consistently use the wrong word.

Now the same charge is being made against great universities, notably Harvard and Trinity, that they do not turn out graduates proficient enough to read and write their mother-tongue correctly.

This is a serious matter, especially for those who have to make their own way in the world. As between two candidates for a job or for promotion, the choice will always go to the one who speaks better English, all else being uses of language as the classic example: "If I had of knew what I'd ought to have knowed I'd never of did what I done."

The early schools gave first attention to the "Three R's"—Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic." The schoolmasters of those older days recognized that a child who went forth into the world solidly grounded in those elements of education carried with him the keys with which to unlock every other door of knowledge through which he might seek to enter.

Two widespread influences are at work today to improve the language of the masses of the people. They are the talking pictures and the radio. But any lasting knowledge of the elements of education must begin in the lowest grades of the schools.—Kerrville Times.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By John Craddock

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—BUSINESS—Lumbermen are feeling happier. The commerce department expects a 20 per cent increase in demand for lumber in the first quarter, and sales for all child who went to school in 1937 volume of 25,000,000,000 feet—end to end enough to reach to the moon and back 10 times. About 22,000 retail lumber dealers stand to share this increase, which undoubtedly is attributable to the continued boom in residential construction. Lumbermen, it is learned, are still trying to get more sales out of the mid-western stores, here last week, confided that fountain sales now comprise 20 to 25 per cent of their total dollar sales. They look for a 10 per cent sales gain this spring in drug items. A prominent New York department store executive told friends in western Pennsylvania last week he is very optimistic about the future of retail trade and has unbounded confidence in the ability of this country to combine great social reforms with great economic recovery. Possibly for him, facing the rosy prospect of selling to World's Fair visitors this summer, these superlatives are conservative.

WASHINGTON—Official concern expressed over industry's dependence upon distant sources for vital raw materials, gave significance to two recent news developments. The Senate Military Affairs committee approved a bill to spend $100,000,000 to acquire stocks of raw materials needed in time of national emergency. The list included manganese, vital to steel manufacturing. Because U. S. manganese deposits are low grade compared to those of Russia, India, Africa and Brazil, we have depended chiefly upon supplies from these sources which might be shut off by foreign emergencies. Manganese is also obtained from nearby Cuba, however, where deposits are similar to those of the U. S. Solution of one of America's hottest defense problems was seen as being a step nearer, therefore, when Langbourne M. Williams, Jr., president of Freeport Sulphur company, reported its subsidiary, Cuban-American Manganese Corporation, had been successful in reducing costs to the point that it is now able to compete with foreign producers despite current low world price.

FACE-LIFTING—A new attack in the trade-at-home battle which small towns throughout the country have been waging to maintain their position as retail centers is being advocated by merchants' associations and chambers of commerce these days. To meet the competition of stores in larger towns, brought nearer to rural shoppers by the auto and finer roads, Main Streets are sprucing up with unified modernization of store fronts for whole business sections. Metropolitan glamor is being brought to many a county courthouse square. A striking example of this sort of 'united front' modernization of business districts is in Manhasset, N. Y. A complete block of 11 stores was given a "face-lifting" with new fronts of vitrolite structural glass in harmonizing design. Restrictions were drawn up regarding exterior signs and awnings. Within a few days, increased sales were reported by all the stores.

LENT—For business men in certain fields, the six and a half weeks Lenten period between Ash Wednesday and Easter, which this year began February 22, is admittedly the best time to make money. Fish markets, for instance, have found that their sales jump 30 per cent. Large fisheries step up their promotion budgets. This year the salmon-packing industry is offering a $5,000 prize to the grocer with the best displays featuring canned salmon. Macaroni manufacturers prepare all year for Lent because one-fifth of the estimated 555,000,000 pounds of macaroni products used annually is sold then. Bakeries do a thriving business in hot cross buns, which, by the way, were first eaten by the ancient Greeks at public sacrifices. The cross represents the four quarters of the moon.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—A new process that de-inks old magazines, newspapers, and posters so that paper can be used over again to make newsprint . . . A machine to test the attractiveness of various shades of wall paper: when the tint you like appears, your wall paper problem is solved . . . Increased meat production in the next two or three years and, therefore, gradually decreasing prices . . . An electric piano with all the tones of an organ that any pianist can play . . . A new process for treating dress fabrics said to prevent the formation of perspiration odors . . . Opening of automobile shows this year about three weeks earlier to give dealers a longer fall selling season . . . A new preservative which eliminate the operations of drying and curing during haying, enabling hay to be stored in ordinary silos and expected to eliminate all losses due to weather.

HEADLINES IN NEW YORK—Job placement by U. S. Employment Service in January 46 per cent higher than in 1938 month . . . Spring buying revives in wholesale markets; concentrated demand for coats, suits and accessories likely to bring serious delivery difficulties, manufacturers say . . . International Harvester Company 1938 sales were $282,361,250, compared with $351,927,767 in 1937 . . . Raw silk prices reach two-year peak; may mean boost in cost of women's full-fashioned hosiery . . . Texas Corporation plans to issue $40-

000,000 in bonds to develop its business here and abroad.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—Battle Creek teachers were a bit startled to learn that ninety pupils of the fifth and sixth grade eleven and twelve years old, did not know the name of the president of the United States. Out of 1,060 students given a written test, 418 could not name the governor of Michigan.

The Safety Sensation of 1939!

THE NEW

Firestone CHAMPION

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD . . .

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

Huge "Eye" For McDonald Observatory, Five Years In Making, Installed; Will Enable Scientists To Probe Mystic Space

Millionth of Inch Accuracy Obtained In 2 1/2-Ton Glass

ALPINE, March 1.—Installation of the huge two and one-half ton, 82-inch lens for the University of Texas' McDonald Observatory will be completed this week and the second largest finished telescope in the world will be ready for use. The giant lens arrived here last Tuesday and was carefully transported by truck 32 miles to the top of Mount Locke, 6,791-foot high Observatory site.

The lens is one-foot thick and accurate to one-millionth of an inch. Scientists predict it will place the University of Texas and University of Chicago astronomers in a position to probe the mysteries of outer space more accurately than any efforts heretofore.

Second in size only to the Mount Wilson Observatory lens, the McDonald Observatory glass has been in the progress of manufacture and polishing since December 31, 1933.

When the mirror rests securely in its steel cradle inside the dome, fulfilled will be the desires of the late W. J. McDonald, Paris, Texas, banker and amateur scientist, who willed on his death, in 1926, a $1,000,000 estate to the University of Texas to finance the "erecting and equipping of an astronomical observatory to be kept and used in connection with and as a part of the University of the study and promotion of the study of astronomical science."

In 1932 the University of Texas mansion which will be made available for construction and maintenance of the observatory. The late President Harry Yandell Benedict, himself an astronomer and mathematician, and President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, in April, 1932, began negotiations that resulted in an arrangement that allowed the University of Texas to plunge immediately into construction with Chicago, under a 30-year contract, providing the staff for both the McDonald and Chicago's Yerkes Observatory.

In size competition, the McDonald Observatory telescope, an instrument working on the reflection principle instead of the better-known refractor type, is outstripped only by the 100-inch lens at Mount Wilson Observatory and the 200-inch eye being prepared for the Mount Palomar Observatory, both in California. Competition between telescopes is eliminated by the cooperative plan under which astronomers pool their resources, each new instrument being used as a supplement to existing apparatus.

Dr. Otto Struve, the McDonald Observatory director, is also director of the Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis.

After the University Board of Regents accept the Texas observatory from the contractors, Warner and Swasey Company, Cleveland, it will be used primarily as a laboratory for delving into one of the newer phases of astronomy—astrophysics. Photography of stars which are one million times fainter than the faintest star the unaided eye can see will be one of the main projects carried on at the Observatory.

One of the first celestial hunts to be conducted, Dr. Struve has announced, will be an attempt to find more about the mysterious "white dwarfs" of the universe. The matter composing these stars is compressed to such an extent that one cubic inch weighs several tons.

"The wealth of scientific information emerged from a series of law suits able to humanity through the use of the 82-inch telescope is practically unlimited," Dr. Struve said today.

fools for ever stopping and talking in the first place!"

You can imagine what that would lead to on the day that both my thumbs are chewed off and there's nothing left to keep me from saying what's on my mind. Mob violence and a hanging, that's what it would mean.

So, today, to keep from getting my neck stretched and my body mutilated, I slip out away from organized and conventionalized and monotonized society and hie myself to the lonely sands of Mustang island, far south of the last vestige of human habitations. And here I sit, my back braced against a sand dune, my bare toes digging into the sand, my mind completely inactive, just sitting and listening to the soothing sounds of the pounding surf.

And the sands crawl by, whispering of many and strange secrets that they are constantly burying and uncovering, as the winds shift the dunes from one place to another, building up around a live-oak here until only the topmost twigs are out, dragging the last supporting grain of sand from under the roots of another, leaving it to fall and wither and die.

But though the sands whisper and murmur constantly, they don't ever say: "How are you today?" The sands don't give a damn how I am, or where I am, or why I am. They'll bury me, if I sit here long enough. (And I sometimes think it would be a good idea to sit that long.) But they won't annoy me with any false show of interest.

Nor will the huge sand crabs that dig holes the size of a skunk's den under the roots of the tall sea grass waving from the sand dunes. Nor will the little fiddler crabs that honeycomb every foot of damp shore sand and pattern its surface with their light footprints.

They're interested in me, yes. But it's genuine interest. I might be an enemy. Better still, I might sit here until I die and they could make several meals off my dissatisfied carcass.

They scramble by. Some travel backwards. Some travel forward. Some travel sideways. It doesn't matter to a crab how he travels. They all wave a wicked claw in greeting or warning, however you like to interpret the gesture. Then they go right on about their business and don't say one foolish word. I like sand crabs.

The gulls and terns fly overhead. The gulls fly with their beaks pointed straight out. The terns fly with their bills pointed down. They scream at the strange creature sitting here in the sand. But they don't light down and start trying to make conversation. We've got nothing in common, and they know it. They don't care about my personal well-being, and they don't mind my knowing they don't care. They're just being themselves and ignoring all else.

Sometimes, it's mighty satisfying to a man to be ignored completely like this.

Sometimes, I think I'd make a mighty good beachcomber, anyhow.

Sometimes I'm just naturally a soursop and people get on my nerves.

This is one of those times.

RANCH TALK

By SUNSHINE MATTHEWS

From Headquarters of

Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association

Mars McLean, who ranches near Junction, sold 168 coming yearlings and two's at 7 1/2 and 8 1/2 cents to C. B. McMillan of Mason. They were reported to have been sold without shrink or cut.

M. B. McVay, Eden banker and one of the promoters of Eden's annual ram sale, has one of the first lamb crop stories for 1939. McVay says that five of his registered ewes gave birth to nine lambs last week.

Dee Jones of Roswell, N. M., has contracted his 1939 calves, the unborn crop, to a northern feeder at 1 1/2 cents a pound. He is said to have an unusually good herd of ewes. Rumors went the rounds of the ranch country last week to the effect that a Panhandle ranchman had sold his unborn calf crop at that same figure.

Charlie Gray & Sons, in the Brady country, contracted a string of around 400 coming yearlings some time ago at 9 and 10 cents a pound for May 1 delivery.

Bryan Yeager of Brownwood, who operates the Merriwether Ranch near Alpine, sold 3,000 yearling ewes at $5.50 out of the wool. Reports the last of the week were that a large string of yearling ewes had been bought from several ranchmen at Fort Stockton at $6.50 a head in the wool.

June 16 and 17 have been claimed at Spur for the Spur Roundup, to be held with the Young Men's Business club as sponsor. The rodeo is an all-amateur affair and will be held on the old roundup site on the Spur Ranch. George Sloan has been named chairman of the rodeo board.

New Braunfels business men will be hosts at their annual good will fiesta on March 8 and 9, entertaining with a two-day short course, livestock show and barbecue. The affair is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Speakers for the short course will include W. R. Nesbitt, animal husbandry specialist of A. and M. college; George P. McCarthy, poultry expert from A. and M.; L. L. Johnson, state director of 4-H clubs; F. E. Lichte, A. and M. cotton specialist; Walter Dillard, Jr., of New Braunfels Textile Mills, and Walter Cardwell of the Luling Foundation Farm.

A baby beef show and auction sale will feature the second day and the celebration will climax with a free barbecue. Approximately 3,000 farmers and ranchmen are expected for the event.

A. R. Eggeling is chairman of recreation and entertainment for the two days.

Three representatives from the Crow and Cheyenne Indian reservations in Montana were in Uvalde for a week recently and bought 1,500 head of yearlings from various ranches in that section.

Pierce A. Hoggett has been named central chairman of the new Kerr County Boys Fat Stock Show, recently made a permanent organization. Adam Wilson is vice chairman and Monroe Kensing is secretary-treasurer. Success of the fourth annual stock show this year at Kerrville was said to have justified further expansion and permanent organization. Regular standing committees were appointed at a meeting of business men, ranchmen, and representatives of the sponsoring group, the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Marvin Skaggs of Junction, whose Angoras topped the recent Kimble County livestock show, plans to take ten or fifteen goats to the Angora show at Lampasas July 19, 20 and 21. Six or eight of the goats will be his show flock and the balance will be sold.

D. O. Dickerson of Roosevelt says that not over ten per cent of the kid crop in his country is on the ground.

Blackstone Smith of Junction describes the Angora as the "poor man's friend"—and says the goat eats up, while the sheep eats down. Mr. Smith says he never has to feed his goats and kids them on the open range. He watches the weather for shearing time and waits for a warm temperature so that he will avoid having to keep

The First Methodist church of San Angelo has pledged a contribution of $1 per month to the community house project here.

Mrs. Tom Owens led the day's program. Scripture lesson was by Mrs. George Montgomery and Mrs. Welton Bunker discussed the topic "Religion Released." Mrs. Mary Flowers gave an interesting talk on "Expanding Horizons in the Local Church." Prayer was offered by Mrs. E. B. Baggett.

Mack Yates, San Saba ranchman, who runs about 5,000 head of goats, has just purchased 400 mutton kids from Oliver Flowers of Menard at $3.50 in the hair.

Irvin Geistweidt, who ranches six miles from Mason, sold to a Boerne man 55 top cows at $75 a head and sold Owen Brothers of San Saba 700 mixed kids at $3.35 around.

Cecil Walston and Bill Murchison of Menard will receive 200 cows and take over a grass lease from J. M. Weekly of Frio county on March 1. The deal was made through Walter Thompson of Pearsall and Johnnie Fuller of Mason.

Brady has better than 55 entries to date for the first annual colt show there, which is to be held March 1 with the annual 4-H club and FFA livestock show. Among late entries are four colts and fillies entered by J. E. Jones & Son of Eldorado, nine colts and fillies by J. M. Treadwell of Menard and ten colts, fillies and stallions by Sheen Bros. of Mertzon.

Bean Robertson and his brother of Mineral Wells sold 2500 head of coming yearling steers and full aged yearlings at 9 cents a pound for immediate delivery. The cattle are at Palo Pinto.

Otho Drake of San Angelo has contracted 2,000 coming yearling wethers in Glascock county from Mrs. Henry Currie at 6 cents a pound out of the wool.

Prevailing asking price for yearling ewes, according to reports from over the ranch country, is $6 to $6.50 out of the wool. Ranchmen are asking $5.50 a head for muttons out of the wool, one buyer said.

Total sales value of the meat animals passing through the Union Stock Yards at San Antonio has increased from $5,739,000 in 1933 to $11,677,000 in 1938. Last year's gain, one and a quarter million, was achieved in spite of the generally lower price level on slaughter cattle and pigs, San Antonio, consequently, mounted from tenth to eighth place as a cattle market.

BUSBY REVIVAL CLOSES

The twentieth annual gospel meeting conducted by Evangelist Horace W. Busby of Fort Worth at the Ozona Church of Christ came to a close with services at the church Tuesday evening. Unusual interest was manifested in this year's revival and good crowds were on hand for each of the daily services.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Adams were here from their ranch near Pumpville early this week.

OWENS TO SHOW SHEEP IN SAN ANGELO SHOW

Jeff Owens left this week for San Angelo with 12 head of registered rams and ewes from the registered Rambouillet flocks of J. W. Owens & Sons ranch in Crockett county for showing in the San Angelo livestock show starting Friday.

WRITE YOUR LEGISLATORS - "NO PRICE-FIXING"

SORRY LADIES— NO BARGAINS TODAY—IT'S AGAINST THE LAW—NOW THAT THE FAIR (?) TRADE AND ANTI-DISCRIMINATION LAWS HAVE BEEN PASSED BY YOUR LEGISLATURE!

Texas Legislators Are Ready to Pass Price-Fixing Laws

THE FAIR (?) TRADE LAW
Gives manufacturers power by law to fix prices YOU PAY for his products. It does NOT provide higher wages or better prices for farmer-producers. YOUR COST OF LIVING will be determined by men who live in New York, Boston and elsewhere if this law passes.

THE ANTI-DISCRIMINATION LAW
Prohibits sale of any item at less than leveled cost PLUS SIX PER CENT. Goodbye sales and bargains if this one passes.

PROTESTS FROM FARMS AND KITCHENS.
THE NATIONAL GRANGE says: "Therefore, be it resolved, that the National Grange urges immediate repeal of the Miller-Tydings Act and re-enactment of STATE GRANGES that they move to secure repeal of equivalent state laws commonly called STATE 'FAIR TRADE ACTS.'"

THE AMERICAN HOME ECONOMICS ASSOCIATION says: "... continue opposition to legislation for resale price maintenance and other forms of price-fixing."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAYS:
"When prices are privately managed at levels above those for which would be determined by free competition, everybody pays."
—An editorial:
"The best way to judge such laws is to see how they have worked in states where they operate."
"In New York, for instance, a survey by B. H. Macy & Co. showed that prices of necessities had been raised 1.5 per cent; Haver, 11.5; Drugs, 15.5; books, 17.5; miscellaneous items, 10 per cent."

EDITOR'S MUSINGS

The New Staff
Finale

A part of the heritage of the United States and the citizens thereof is freedom of the press. We, who have studied newspaper construction for the past year, realize the vast importance of such a liberty.

Maybe you have wondered sometime who wrote what, so in this week's paper all articles by seniors are signed.

How is it possible to thank a sponsor? The sponsor is the one who takes the digs, originates the ideas, hears the complaints, suggest remedies, and holds the Press club together. To Miss Terry, sponsor of the Lion's Roar, we extend our humblest and heartiest appreciation.

Miles Pierce, the editor for the coming year was announced Wednesday, at the Press club banquet. He is the person who will hold the reins of power and responsibility in the Press club; he is the leader. One of the advantages of leadership is that it brings to the top all the creative ability that one possesses.

We, the senior members of the Press Club, have come to the end of our membership. There were certain ideals and dreams for the Press club which we held when we took charge; some were realized; others are still just ideals and dreams.

A WISH FOR THE BEST

By Ora Louise Cox
This is the last editorial that I shall ever write for the school paper of O. H. S., for next week a new Press club staff will edit our Lion's Roar.

As this year draws nearer and nearer to a close, I realize that I shall be unable to make up for all the minutes I have lost during my high school career, and this thought brings regret. I wish that high school students could realize that the last four years that they spend in public schools are too costly to lose or to waste.

So—remember that one profits by living each day to the best of his ability; and, in conclusion, here is a wish that life or fate—Call it what you wish—will bring each of my schoolmates the things for which he strives.

Thirty Prospects Report For Spring Grid Training

Lions to Have Strong Line and Backfield For 1939 Season

By Walter Escue

The Ozona Lions began their spring grid preparation with about thirty hopeful candidates reporting. Returning from last year's grid machine are nine lettermen who will probably form the nucleus of the year's team. Another letterman, Harold Keeton, giant tackle who lettered in 1937 but was ineligible last year, is also on the list.

The prospects for the coming season are extremely good. Coach White can place a letterman at every position on the forward wall with the exception of one end post. In the backfield, he has Capt. Jim Dudley, a two-year letterman, and Howard Lemmons, hard-going 3-year letterman.

Volley Ball Games Won By Sonora Girls

The Sonora volley ball team came to Ozona Thursday night of last week to play the Ozona team. Four games were played. Sonora won all but the third game. The scores were 7 to 15 in the first game, 11 to 15 in the second, 15 to 12 in the third and 9-15 in the fourth.

The girls have had an invitation to take part in the Eldorado tournament to be held there Mar. 19. Eldorado is offering seven big trophies, and six small gold balls to the six best all tournament girls.

A Final Edition Is Finished

By JEFF FUSSELL

For the Seniors, the time has come to say good-bye; we are leaving the Press Club; the new members will formally take charge of next week's paper. Possibly this is a rather sad time, but more likely should rejoice for the Press club, because new blood and new ideas will improve it.

I, personally, should like to express my appreciation for the splendid cooperation and profitable associations that I have had and felt during my year as editor; I hope that I have been able to drive some pillars on which next year's Press club can safely build.

The Juniors and Sophomores are in the saddle; we are sure that they will ride well.

ADVICE TO YOUNG LOVERS By Schneemann-Kirby

"Sucker—Chump" For all those whom this may concern, especially those on the threshold of romance, let us take you into our deep emotions.

We are about to set before you some very important rules and points you must consider before advancing on the long, bumpy road to love.

Rule 1—Trust: This breaks up more happy couples than anything else. Trust should be extended to the parents who so love you.

Rule 2—Gifts: Gifts are just a means of betrayal. They should be given from the heart or returned or better never accepted.

Rule 3—Outsiders: The old proverb, "The whole hog or none," should be applied here. It only takes two to make a pair. Three (or four) is a crowd.

Rule 4—Kind Deeds: The meaner you treat them, the better they love you. You can't get to their heart by kind deeds.

Rule 5—Jealousy (green-eyed monster): If you see your love with another party, absolutely ignore it, for after all what is "it" going with them for but to make you jealous—you hope.

Rule 6—Romantic Inclinations: Test your love in the daylight; don't let moonlight nights and romantic songs have too big effect. Let a noon day sun and a full stomach do just as well.

Rule 7—Conspicuousness: Don't be too conspicuous; but beware of back street drives.

Rule 8—Pictures: Don't ever give your love (you hope) your picture, because you can never tell how many more pictures there are on top of it in the bottom drawer or basements.

Rule 9—Steady Dates: You may be a bright angel but brighter angels have fallen. Be-

Bill C., you really go for blondes, don't you, but you shouldn't be so bashful.

Bobby, I wouldn't let a little fish beat my time.

There are some little children who like to play marbles for keeps. Now, children, I don't want that to happen again.

There were some girls and boys who like to do some tall talking to those guys Saturday. I wonder who those guys were. Well, it was none other than the cops.

You know, I told you about some girls walking last week? Well, they had the habit again Saturday. Phillip and J. K., who were your girl friends Friday night?

Roy, you shouldn't lose your temper so fast. See, you caused some trouble.

I wonder how many horns, etc., were taped up Saturday night. Girls, you should be ashamed of yourselves.

Oleta, you seemed to be very happy last weekend. It wasn't because "that certain boy" was here, was it?

Joe C., you shouldn't take these girls riding if you are going to scare them to death.

Phillip Schneemann will not be able to attend the University of Texas. He was there for only three days and nearly got married.

Some of these girls are really keeping late hours, and they are not kept for studying purposes. Several were riding in an old Ford Friday night.

Billie Gene, we saw an old friend in Austin over the weekend. I bet you wish you were along, or do you?

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS

Collected by Posey Baggett
GRADE SCHOOL REPORTERS: Edith Lou Piner, Patsy Schwalbe, Jonel Oden, Joe Perry and Joyce West.

Second Grade

At recess on Friday morning an airplane flew over the play ground. Miss Spain wanted us to see the airplane. The children wanted to go. We were in the reading group when the ladies came to take us to the landing field. The pilot was not there. But we all looked into the cabin.

On this ship was printed the name of the pilot, A. D. (Ab) Hatch, Fort Worth. On the tail of the ship and on one wing was the license number NC8476. It was a Stinson junior.

We enjoyed seeing the airplane, and thanks to the ladies and Miss Spain for allowing us to go.

Kerry Tandy received an autographed copy of Thirds on Parade from Cleo Allen Hibbs, the accompanist for Ho-Te-Ma-We.

Third Grade

We are going to make a picture show about boats. We drew the boats and painted them. Then we pasted them on a brown piece of paper. We are going to get some boxes and broom sticks. We are going to invite the second grade to see the picture show when we finish it.

February 22, was George Washington's birthday. He was the first President of the United States. We call him the father of our country.

Mrs. Deland gave the third grade some book markers. They surely are nice. I usually forget my home work on weekends, but now that I have a book marker I will not forget it.

The fifth grade writing contest ended Friday. The Golds' side won. Nan Tandy on the Golds' side got the most papers for the girls and Floyd Harrison for the boys.

Seventh Grade
The seventh grade pupils have just finished their six-weeks' test. They hope they all pass. They will receive our report cards.

The seventh grade girls played the seventh grade boys a game of volley ball. The boys were victorious.

SELF-IMPROVEMENT
 By Doris Bunger

"Blessed is the man who finds wisdom."
 School is a place for teachers to teach you something. It is also a place for you to learn how to teach yourself something.
 Self-improvement is its own reward.
 There are not many of us who have not felt a glow of satisfaction after having looked up the definition of a word we have run across in a newspaper or magazine. The same thing happens when we verify a statement, date, or place, which we are not sure about.
 This is an ever-changing world, and we never grow too old to learn.
 There is an old saying, "Manners begin in the home." For our own personal use, couldn't we say also that "Learning begins in the home?" Home is the greatest school of life. It is in the home that we first learn the habits of cooperation, self-reliance, and self-sacrifice, with no thought of personal gain. As we shall grow older, these same habits will be woven into our adult lives and we should still strive to learn for the sake of our own satisfaction.
 Self-improvement makes a solid foundation upon which wider knowledge of our times is based; bringing with it promises of a well-rounded mentality, peace and contentment.

THE VOICE OF EXPERIENCE
 By A. SENIOR

By Crystelle Carson
 They can get along without you. This is one sentence that is well worth remembering.
 If you are obliged to leave before the others do, it may be well to say good night quietly and to slip away without attracting the attention of the other guests. If, however, you are on very friendly terms with them all, it is pleasanter just to pause in the doorway to say, "Good night, everybody." Remember, it is not a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Battle Of Alamo To Be Reenacted At Fiesta Event

Army to Dramatize Historic Slaughter At San Antonio

Visitors to San Antonio's annual Fiesta de San Jacinto this year, April 17 through 22, will have the opportunity of witnessing a spectacle never before attempted during this most colorful of all Texas celebrations.

The spectacle, entitled "La Noche de los Militaires," or Alamo Spectacle, will be a re-enactment of the battle of the Alamo with all the theatrical realism of a movie production. It will be staged on Wednesday night, April 19, at Fort Sam Houston under the direction of Col. Joseph M. Swing, assistant chief of staff of the Second Provisional Division, Fort Sam Houston, as part of the army's participation in the annual fiesta extravaganza. Col. Swing has also been asked to act as grand marshal of the Battle of Flowers Parade, the high point of the week when the carnival spirit reigns throughout San Antonio.

The Alamo spectacle will retell the story of the Alamo's fall in action replete with the booming of cannon, the clash of swords and rattle of musketry. Travis, Bonham, Bowie, Crockett and other notable figures of the famous battle will be portrayed by picked army officers.

Scenes in the spectacle will include the arrival of David Crockett and his small force, followed by the arrival of Bowie and later of Capt. Juan Seguin, who warns Col. Travis of the approach of Santa Anna and his Mexican army. During the final battle scene, it is planned to use blank ammunition in .75 millimeter artillery guns for the cannon, and fireworks and blank rifle ammunition to carry out the effects of the fierce fighting. The sixth and final scene will portray Santa Anna's victory, and distant flames will simulate the burning of the bodies of the fallen defenders of the Alamo.

As a setting for the spectacle, the army will construct an exact replica of the Alamo and Alamo Plaza, just as it appeared in 1836 according to the most authentic sources. The show will take place in Christy Mathewson Baseball stadium at Fort Sam Houston and will climax an afternoon of entertainment at the Post in connection with "Texas Town," a typical frontier village consisting of 90
