R. E. Stallings, proprietor of the Elite Confectionery, has sold this popular and long established busyness to H. D. Hilliard and B. T. Merriwether, and the new management took charge last Monday.

The new proprietors are well and favorably known in this city, where Mr. Hilliard holds the position of head time-keeper in the superintencnt's office of the Rio Grande division of the T. & P. Mr. Merriwether resigned his position to take over the active management of the business, but Mr. Hilliard will continue his present position with the railroad. #### If Not Binding Why Place It on Ballot ?

The present gubernatorial camaign in Texas has developed strange teachings. I am amazed at ministers and professors advising honorable, conscientious men to break a pledge that they have given. How they can square such a purpose with Christianity, with morality or with citizenship is more than I can understand.

Now, mind you, I am not saying that any one of them is lackling in these things. I am tired of seeing personalities in political campaigns and would not indulge in such. But since when has it become the duty of a man standing in a pulpit and representing the cause of the great Gallileean to tell the young manhood of our country and the young womanhood, just beginning to vote, that a political pledge of honor need not be binding.

If a primary pledge is not binding: if it is all right to disregard it, why is it placed on a ballot?

No intelligent voter in Texas went to the polls at the first or the second primary without knowing that Mrs. Ferguson was on the ticket as one of the candidates. Her name was there in bold print and all the charges that have been made against her or her husband had been made before that time. Nevertheless, the citizen gave his pledge to support the nominee; he could not have participated in the election without giving that pledge.

These facts being true, there are but two paths to take now: One 75 to live up to the pledge made and the other is to violate it. The excuse can not be made that something has arisen since the primary to fustify scratching the name of the nominee. As I have said before, there are no new charges.

During the last twenty years I have participated in a number of political contests. I have been associated with men who would do mighty near anything to win an election. I never indorsed crooked work in politics myself. You can't be dishonest on election day and honest the rest of the year.

There is one thing, however, that never heard the ward politician, or the gangster, who would almost shoot a man to make him vote his way, publicly or privately advocate; that is to disregard a pledge. Of course, there were some of them who would do it. Maybe I would do it myself. But I would deny it; I wouldn't let the world know my word wasn't good.

It has remained, so far as I recollect, for certain preachers and teachers of Texas to bring repudiainto our politics. They are the ones who are telling their congregations in some instances and their audiences in other instances to go to the polls on the 4th day of November and violate their primary pledge.

I do not say that a preacher has no right to take part in politics; I think that he has; I think that it is his duty to vote and to work for his choice. But I do say that he has no right to stand in the pulpit or out of is not binding. No man has that

If Jim Ferguson should be as bad as his enemies claim, it would not hurt the morals of Texas for his noble, Christian wife to be Governor. But it will hurt the morals of Texas if preachers continue to tell thefr congregations to go to the polis on election day and disregard a pledge that they have taken.

Modart is an especially light, flexible corset, made from the finest materials, so designed that it not only gives a general slenderizing effect, but actually to duces the figure. It has a closed back because a dosed back corset gives the extreme flat hip and backline.

Modart is a front fastening corser which make it easy to adjust. It gives support where support is needed and by cupping under the body "flays-put" and does not restrict the waist.

Monday and Tuesday October 27th and 28th

All the World Loves a Lover

Beau Brummel the famous dandy who scorned the friendship of princes and set the fashion for kings. A great lover who won the hearts of all women-except the one he loved.

You Can't Afford to Miss It

The insolent, the infinitely witty, the superbly handsome, most picturesque figure in the social history of England.

The man who went farthest in impressing his stamp on the satorial styles and customs of his fellow men!

Yes, the Beau who was dandy, arbiter of fashions, and wrecker of fair ladies' hearts. He comes here in the screen adaption of the famous Clyde Fitch play-the same play immortalized by Richard Mansfield.

John Barrymore, a superb figure himself, was chosen to play the title role in this splendid Warner Brothers' Classic of the Screen. He plays the role of the Beau who attracted attention by his insolence and held it by his scandal.

Don't miss seeing this impersonation of a great personality who insulted princes, had three hairdressers at one time to fix his hair, fought off the army of admiring women after bits of his heart, had the soles of his shoes polished, who became a dandy because of a broken
