London Calls Berlin Envoy For Report

Possible Protest With France Being Considered

BIRMINGHAM, England, Mar. 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain declared tonight "the tremendous events which have taken place in Europe this week have thrown everything else into the background."

LONDON, Mar. 17 (AP)—Britain today instructed her ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, to return to London to report on the reich's absorption of Bohemia-Moravia and Slovakia.

It had been disclosed earlier that Britain and France were consulting on a possible protest over dissolution of the Czecho-Slovak republic.

British Prime Minister Chamberlain yesterday expressed his bitter regret of Germany's imperialism in taking 10,000,000 Slavs under her protection. He had founded his hopes for peace on the belief Hitler wanted to rule in Europe only over Germanic peoples.

Asked today if Britain had protested to Berlin, Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, answered a question in parliament.

Chamberlain, speaking in Birmingham at 8 p. m. (C.S.T.), was expected to reflect a hardening of British attitude in an important declaration of foreign policy and to meet opposition clamor for his resignation or scrapping of his conciliation program.

AIRLINE MEETING MAY BE DELAYED

Possibility, that the projected meeting in Washington, D. C., on the proposed north-south airline from San Antonio to Denver originally scheduled for March 27 may be postponed was seen today by J. H. Greene, chairman of the inter-city committee.

Now I don't care for snakes and not a great deal for motifs, so I began to wonder if there was really much to this Pat fellow after all. Of course, I knew he was Irish down to the last hangnail, and I do like the Irish. And I figured that maybe Pat's day wasn't so much other than that the people from old Erin just celebrated it with the same fervor and whole-heartedness—God bless 'em—that they were into a fight.

Seeks Italy's Attitude On Czech Affair

ROME, Mar. 17 (AP)—United States Ambassador William Phillips today sought an indication of official Italian reaction to German seizure of most of Czecho-Slovakia and Italy's intentions.

Phillips made his inquiries in a call on Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister.

What the savvy learned was not disclosed.

A speeding up of Italy's campaign to gain advantages from France in Tunisia, French North African protectorate, the Suez Canal, and Djibouti, French Somaliland railway terminus linking Italian Ethiopia to the sea, was expected in some diplomatic circles to be a sequel to Germany's gains.

Although diplomats took the view only Premier Mussolini could give an authoritative sign of Italy's intentions, Giovanni Ansaldo, who often reflects Count Ciano's mind, wrote in the newspaper Il Telegrafo of Leghorn "the day must come when we shall strike in earnest."

FIRST LADY FORGOT HER ANNIVERSARY

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 17 (AP)—Laughing jovially, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt admitted at a press conference here this morning she had forgotten today is her wedding anniversary.

However, a short time later, she was reminded by a long distance telephone call from Washington, presumably from the president.

Decree Rule Is Sought By Daladier

France Turns To The Bolstering Of Defenses

PARIS, Mar. 17 (AP)—Premier Daladier introduced a bill in the chamber of deputies tonight demanding unprecedented decree powers, pleading that "it is vital for the nation to act with the same rapidity as dictators."

PARIS, Mar. 17 (AP)—Premier Daladier called on parliament today for a free hand to govern France by decree until November 30 to bolster the nation's defenses in view of the collapse of Czecho-Slovakia.

The bill to strengthen France against any menace from expanding Germany contained only the one article authorizing decree powers for the period of more than eight months.

It was approved by the cabinet and sent to the chamber of deputies.

The chamber began debate on the situation arising from Germany's bloodless conquest of Czecho-Slovakia, once part of France's collective security structure.

A vote of confidence conferring the full powers asked by the Daladier government was expected to conclude the debate.

Communist Deputy Gabriel Perri started the foreign policy debate with an attack on the government for yielding to Germany's expansion in central Europe.

Despite the hostility of a strong communist and socialist bloc, however, the government counted on its normally small—but steady—conservative majority to push the bill through the lower house tomorrow.

The senate was called for a session Sunday to rush the measure to adoption.

The cabinet also approved a government statement on the central European situation to be delivered in the chamber of deputies in foreign policy debates starting this afternoon.

The cabinet communique said severely "the bill would confer on the government the powers necessary to consolidate and increase the strength of France."

Political sources said the measure would permit Daladier to govern by decree for a limited period and was drafted for the express purpose of stepping up "industrial mobilization."

As to whether March 17 is his birthday or the date of his death, there seems to be conflicting evidence. Anyway, it's St. Patrick's Day, and the true lover of old Erin will remember it by the wearin' of the green.

ARREST-SUICIDE WAVE FOLLOWS NAZI SEIZURE

PRAGUE, Mar. 17 (AP)—Reports of arrests and suicides among anti-Nazis and Jews increased today as non-Jews began taking over administration of Jewish-owned stores in the former Czech republic.

The secret police were making a systematic clean-up of "undesirable elements." Although no official figures were available, one estimate was that about 800 had been jailed.

The arrest of 47 welfare agency workers brought a collapse to efforts to assist refugees from the country. Among those jailed was Adla Smolkova, who had worked closely since Munich with English and American groups.

Lists of those trying to flee Prague were seized, among them the names of 200 Jews. Wealthy, they had agreed to provide for emigration of 200 less fortunate colleagues, and themselves planned to go to San Domingo.

Beginning today—under the new anti-semitic restrictions—Jewish-owned stores were being taken over by administrators until they can be sold to non-Jews.

Jewish doctors and lawyers no longer can practice here. Foreign legations were closing down, but the American legation said it had not yet received instructions.

Hitler Ends Trip Across New Holdings

VIENNA, Mar. 17 (AP)—Adolf Hitler arrived at Vienna at 5 p. m. today after a two-day journey through his new protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia. A special train brought him from Brunn, Moravia.

He was cheered by thousands as he entered the Hotel Imperial 15 minutes later.

He went immediately to his room on the first floor while the crowd shouted repeatedly "seig heil"—"hail victory" and "we want to see our fuhrer!"

Then he appeared on a balcony and gave the Nazi salute.

Earlier, the first Nazi military parades in Adolf Hitler's new Bohemian-Moravian protectorate were held at noon today in Prague and Brunn (Brno) with the Fuehrer himself reviewing his troops in Brunn.

Brunn was alive with red, white and black swastika banners.

Hitler reviewed the Nazi division in the city's main square and later was received at the city hall where the German mayor and members of the city's German administration welcomed him.

Behind him Hitler left secret police engaged in a clean up of "undesirable elements," arresting Czech leaders, social welfare groups and others in the proud old city which, until Tuesday, was the capital of the Czecho-Slovak republic.

Dr. Emil Hacha, president of the republic, last night with "complete trust" in Hitler, took the responsibility for placing "the destiny of the Czech nation and Czech state in the hands of the fuhrer of the German nation."

Nazi 'Wanton Lawlessness' Is Assailed

Formal Statement Issued With Approval Of Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17 (AP)—The United States government expressed today its "condemnation" of Germany's "wanton lawlessness" and "arbitrary force" in occupying Czecho-Slovakia.

With the approval of President Roosevelt, Acting Secretary of State Welles issued a formal statement in which he spoke of Germany's absorption of most of Czecho-Slovakia as a "temporary extinguishment of the liberties of a free and independent people with whom, from the day when the republic of Czecho-Slovakia attained its independence, the people of the United States have maintained specially close and friendly relations."

Welles declared: "It is manifest that acts of wanton lawlessness and of arbitrary force are threatening world peace, and the very structure of modern civilization."

The acting secretary of state made his statement after conferring with the president and said it had received the chief executive's approval.

"This government," he said, "founded upon and dedicated to the principles of human liberty and of democracy, cannot refrain from making known this country's condemnation of the acts of Germany."

Earlier, the president told a press conference European developments demonstrated the need for a revision of the American neutrality act, at this session of congress.

Welles said questions with regard to United States diplomatic relations with the old Czecho-Slovak government are now under consideration.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, he said, would have an announcement to make, probably tomorrow, with regard to the trade agreement with Czecho-Slovakia.

Welles declared he had nothing as yet to say on the question of Czecho-Slovakia's debts to the United States.

Welles' strong statement was issued, he said, despite the fact that this government has received no communication from any foreign government regarding what has taken place in central Europe.

The president, at his press conference, told one newsman that he believed revision of the neutrality law could be worked out in conferences instead of his recommendation for changes being put in the form of a message to Capitol Hill.

German Expansion Shakes Markets

NEW YORK, Mar. 17 (AP)—Growing nervousness in money circles over the German expansion in Europe was apparent today in heavy bursts of selling in security markets and action of foreign currencies.

In Wall street, many stocks fell $1 to $2. A fresh wave of selling followed Under Secretary of State Welles' expression of "condemnation" of German "lawlessness."

United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, American Telephone and Douglas Aircraft at one time were down $3 to more than $4.

Governor Of Michigan Dies

LANSING, Mich., Mar. 17 (AP)—The mantle of the late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald descended today on Lieut. Gov. Loren D. Dickinson, who will be 80 years old on April 15.

Dickinson—like his predecessor, a republican—arithmetically succeeded to the governorship of Michigan when a heart attack ended the career of the 54-year-old Fitzgerald last night.

Fitzgerald rose in a quarter of a century from an unimportant clerkship in the state's service to be elected governor twice. He began his second two-year term last Jan. 1.

The administration of Frank Murphy, now United States attorney-general, was succeeded between Fitzgerald's two terms by a democratic, defeated Fitzgerald for re-election at the end of the republican's first term, and in turn lost to Fitzgerald when he sought to retain the governorship.

Edith Gay, chamber of commerce secretary, was admitted to the Big Spring hospital Friday for examination and treatment. She has been quite ill for several days. Joyce Nolan is serving as the chamber secretary during Miss Gay's absence.

How To Live Happily Ever After

On What Finances Should I Marry?

This is the sixth and last of a series answering some questions most frequently asked by persons contemplating marriage.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW AP Feature Service Writer When the man in the case gets around to considering matrimony in the cold light of expenses, he's likely to need the advice of David F. Jordan, New York University professor who whips up budgets just for the fun of it.

Professor Jordan says there are two financial factors to be considered before the wedding day: Salary and savings.

The salary needed depends on living costs in the section of the country in which the couple will live. Professor Jordan says, so he chops the country into three categories and comes out with these statistics:

In Rural Areas, $25 Forty dollars a week is a minimum salary requirement "to maintain any decent standard of living" in New York City, he holds. In no other city, he says with feeling, is there such a pull on the purse string. "If you've got any money in your pocket in New York, it's hard to keep it there."

Jordan's not so discouraging about other cities. Thirty dollars a week he sets as a minimum in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and the other big cities. In smaller towns and rural areas, he feels, two can live comfortably on $25 a week.

Jordan disagrees with the man who thinks he ought to have $1,000 in the bank before he sets the wedding date. Savings, he says, should not be reckoned in terms of set figures, but of salary. If a prospective bridegroom has three months' salary laid aside, he's fairly well prepared for accidents, illnesses

Budgets For Home Planners

Here are two sample budgets taken from David F. Jordan's book on "Managing Personal Finances." One is for a salary of about $25 a week, the other for one of about $50 a week:

"If a prospective bridegroom has three months' salary laid aside, he's fairly well prepared."

and other emergencies which may come up before the couple has had time to save more.

Savings, Of Course Savings are an integral part of all the budgets Jordan has computed for his personal finance course at N.Y.U. He recommends savings of 10 per cent of incomes

Jordan thinks 5 per cent of an income is enough to spend on insurance premiums in a year—and not even that much in the first five years of married life. Since he reckons insurance as part of savings, that means couples in the lower income brackets will have to decide what part of their 5-to-8 per cent savings allowance to invest in insurance, and what part to bank as savings.

Jordan's answer to the question, "Should wives work?" is an enthusiastic "yes." He thinks the woman who works does more with her money. She's more efficient, just as a busy woman gets more done than the one with time on her hands. And the extra expense which a job implies—traveling, lunches, etc.—doesn't amount to more than 5 per cent of her wages.

U. S. CAMERAMAN REPORTED KILLED

BUCHAREST, Mar. 17 (AP)—The United States legation received reports today that Peter Lisauk, 19-year old American cameraman, and was killed Tuesday while trying to photograph fighting in Chust, capital of Carpatho-Ukraine.

Refugees from the region, which was Czecho-Slovakia's eastern outpost, told the legation Lisauk was killed during a battle between Czech gendarmes and Ukrainians before Hungary annexed Carpatho-Ukraine.

Lisauk was employed by his father's film company (Dolpro Film company) of New York City.

Meanwhile frontier reports that lawless elements were plundering Rumanian communities on the Carpatho-Ukraine side of the border caused Bucharest authorities to urge the Hungarian army of occupation to send troops into those villages as quickly as possible.

Weather Blamed For Slack Trade

NEW YORK, Mar. 17 (AP)—The spring rise in retail trade lost some momentum during the past week but merchants regarded unfavorable weather as a primary factor in the slow down. Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"With snow and rain hindering the expansion of spring buying, retail trade had difficulty in bettering its total of the preceding week," asserted the firm's survey.

"Men's and women's apparel was most severely affected, a number of stores reporting sales in these departments were below the corresponding week of 1938 despite the earlier date of Easter this year."

Mrs. Reid, a jovial and enthusiastic person, was impressed very much by Big Spring and its people, and in leaving here has addressed a farewell note to The Herald, which is reproduced below:

"In leaving Big Spring I wish to express to the ministers of God and the charming people of Big Spring that I have had the honor and pleasure of knowing, in my darkest hour of misery, when I was so far away from my loved ones.

"I am so grateful to Dr. Hall for his untiring efforts, and the wonderful success he has achieved in sending me home well—I will not be crippled. A word of the nurses—they are swell."

For Pure Defiance Of The Law Of Gravity, Watch A Waitress Work

By MARY WHEALEY Everybody knows about the law of gravity, or so I thought, and I have even heard people expound learnedly on the subject but somehow it has escaped the notice of most waitresses. Maybe they know about it and just don't care but everytime they clear a table they prove the falsity of the law.

Sometimes I get so winded from holding my breath that I wheeze like an asthma victim watching them park service for three on one arm while they gesticulate with the other. Coffee cups, saucers, glasses, plates, platters, the slippery little butter dishes, and ash trays are piled in a leaning tower of Pisa effect and then, most of all, they hold this position until the customer makes up his mind about the last course.

Once when I was a freshman in school and going through my bit of blissing, I had to wait tables in a dormitory for a week. When they figured my breakage at the end of the time the school authorities cut that part out of the routine announcing that upper classmen could think up something less expensive. I guess I hadn't learned the secret these girls know or maybe it was that old gravity idea that made me falter. When I started to the kitchen with my stack, I had no confidence in my ability to disprove the scientific fact.

However, that may be, I hope nobody explains the science of the thing to the girls that wait on me three times a day because it might cause them to lose that remarkable acrobatic feat of leaning up to the elbows and yet never spilling a drop or breaking a dish. Anyway it would ruin part of my mealtime fun because I got so fascinated I forgot to eat—and that's a high degree of fascination.

CARNETT CELEBRATES FOURTH ANNIVERSARY IN B'SPRING BY OPENING OF NEW QUARTERS

House Drops Debate And Adjourns

AUSTIN, Mar. 11 (AP)—The house, subject to sudden and astonishing changes of form in the past few days of pension debate, dropped its taxation squabble last night and did another unlooked-for thing—adjourned until Monday.

Observers felt countless hours of wrangling had simmered down to an expected vote today, but the ball was empty.

The proposed 2-1-3 per cent tax on retail sales, gas, light and telephone bills and an increase of 25 to 33 1-3 per cent in natural resources levies, reported favorably by the constitutional amendments committee after weeks of hearings, came back strong yesterday after a surprising setback by net income tax advocates.

The income tax proposed went by the boards under a 90 to 90 vote and a motion to strike out the revolving clause of the constitutional amendment went down, 88 to 52.

Proposals to increase oil and sulphur taxes over the amount recommended by the constitutional amendments committee were pending at adjournment.

MRS. FD STANDS BY CENSURE OF D.A.R.

MARLINGEN, Mar. 11 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who resigned from a national women's organization because of the organization's treatment of Marian Anderson, negro concert star, reiterated her stand here last night. In a question-and-answer session after her lecture, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked concerning her attitude toward the concert star.

"My attitude is that I invited her to sing in the White House a few years ago, before she became widely known," she replied.

The concert singer was refused permission to sing in Constitution Hall in Washington.

Mrs. Roosevelt left for San Antonio where she will lecture to night.

Saturday will be a day of double importance to Carnett Radio Sales—it marks the observance of the fourth anniversary of the institution in Big Spring and the formal opening in new quarters at 211 Main street.

In addition Carnett will be displaying several new lines which makes his firm an entry into the household appliance field. Besides his complete line of Philco Radios and Maytag washers, Carnett has added the General Electric and the Philco Conservador refrigerator lines. The latter is an entirely new product. Also added to the Carnett supply are Enterprise quality gas vacuum cleaners.

A new feature will be the "Bargain Basement," a department that is to be developed this season. The radio sales and service units, stocking parts, tubes and accessories for all types of radios, is still a part of Carnett's store.

In addition to his Big Spring store, Carnett has stores at Midland, opened in July 1936, and at Lamar, opened March 1938. The local store was opened here March 15, 1935 when Carnett came here from Lubbock.

Personnel of the store follows: D. H. Carnett, owner and manager; J. W. Joiner, sales manager; J. G. Hendrix, salesman; Bob Lloyd, service manager; Eddie Savage, radio technician; E. E. Holland, service man; Mrs. Trilby Johnston, accountant; Marie Griffin, cashier and bookkeeper; and Mrs. Edith Bishop, stenographer.

Two Face Robbery Charges As Man Reports $50 Loss

STANTON, Mar. 11 (SpI)—Robbery charges have been filed against two Odessa men, Jack Burns, day laborer, and Frank Holly, taxi-driver, who were taken into custody after Dan Roberts, also of Odessa, reported loss of approximately $50.

Roberts was found Sunday afternoon unconscious in a country lane near here by M. M. Nance and Irvin Graham, farmers. On regaining consciousness, he told officers that he hired a taxi in Odessa, later decided to drive to Midland. He told officers another man was with the driver, and Roberts said he had drinks with the two men. He decided to drive on to Big Spring, he related, but lost consciousness near Stanton.

Martin officers arrested Burns and Holly at Odessa, and they were arraigned here before Justice of the Peace Lynn White. Holly waived examining trial and was released under $1,000 bond. Burns is being held in default of bail of the same amount. The charges will be placed before the grand jury when it meets May 22.

CHURCH OF NAZARENE TO HOLD REVIVAL

The Church of God, corner of 10th and Main streets, begin their spring revival tonight, with the Rev. Leslie L. Gaylord of McAllen as the evangelist. This meeting is to continue until the 26th. Services are to begin each evening at 7:30, and each morning at 10 a. m. Special singing and music will be a feature of these meetings. If you enjoy spiritual singing and gospel preaching attend these services.

JUDGE NAMED IN NEW INDICTMENT

NEW YORK, Mar. 11 (AP)—A second indictment, containing three counts of conspiracy, was returned today against former Federal Judge Martin T. Manton by the same federal grand jury which indicted him several weeks ago.

The counts charged conspiracy to obstruct justice, conspiracy to deprive the United States of the impartial services of a judicial officer and conspiracy to bribe a judicial officer.

The indictment named William J. Fallon, described as business agent for Manton, as the intermediary in the collection of $67,000, allegedly paid by Almon B. Hall and L. C. Hall, brothers and chicken raisers of Wallingford, Conn., to influence Judge Manton's decision in a patent infringement action involving a method of incubating chicks from eggs.

OVER THE LEFT SHOULDER of F.D.R., you'd glimpse his gadget-littered desk on which stand 5 donkeys, 5 pigs, nautical doodads, a rooster, fish, a 1937 almanac and writing pen.

Actor, War Veteran, Entertainer Would Like Some Audiences Here

English born Ben Scovell in his more than 69 years has entertained and edified audiences around the world.

Thursday afternoon he arrived here from Abilene, ready to do the same thing to audiences in Big Spring. He hasn't made definite arrangements, but he was sure he would find some audiences; for he carried a brief case full of blue ribbon references from churchmen, civic leaders and officials of veterans' organizations.

He has appeared recently in Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Corsicana and numerous other Texas points. He appeared before a Legion group at Sweetwater just before coming here.

"Actor, war veteran, entertainer, and cheerio," by his own description, Scovell has plenty to tell. He has served in two wars; has been a tentmate of Rudyard Kipling; has known practically every stage actor of note in his time; and has visited every continent at least twice.

It was while serving as a war correspondent for the London Chronicle and Graphic in the Boer war that he shared a tent with Kipling. His most vivid recollection of Kipling is that the poet had a "damnable smelly pipe" which Scovell threw away one night. But Kipling retrieved it the next morning.

In 1914 Scovell came from England to Canada to join the famous Princess Pat's Canadian Light Infantry. Of an original 10,000 men in that unit only nine lived through the war. The other is Al Beattie, employee of the Oklahoma City park system.

Scovell was wounded at Vemy Ridge in 1917. When he left the hospital he was sent to the United States to entertain soldiers in the camps of the south.

The slender, grey headed man walks with a limp, but it isn't from a war wound. He broke a hip in Schenectady, N. Y., last summer and hospital attendants told him he would never walk again. He has conquered their predictions.

This isn't his first trip to West Texas. He recalls playing in these parts in "The Last Of His Race" back in 1907.

While here, Scovell would like to present "The Fool," and "The Sign Of The Cross," dramatic readings of a religious character. He has many letters lauding his work in this particular field.

He is moving westward, eventually will be in Los Angeles, where two sons live.

CONSIDER ENLARGING MARSHALL FORD DAM

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11 (AP)—Increasing the height of the Marshall Ford dam on the Colorado river in Texas today was reported under "sympathetic consideration" by federal authorities.

Rep. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) said he was confident Secretary Ickes would ask the budget bureau for $5,000,000 needed to begin increasing the height of the dam.

Originally planned for 190 feet at a cost of $13,000,000, an increase to a height of 265 feet, making the total cost of the dam $28,000,000, was urged. The 190-foot structure is to be completed this year.

The $5,000,000 "would carry on construction at top speed during the 1940 fiscal year beginning July 1," Johnson said.

The additional height, the house appropriations committee has been

Sales Methods Discussed By Insurance Man

Big Spring life underwriters virtually "went to school" for a period Thursday evening, as they listened to a lecture on insurance sales methods from R. Barney Shields, manager of the Dallas branch of the Great National company, and vice president of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters.

Shields was another of a group of speakers touring the state under auspices of the state organization to assist local underwriter groups. He talked following a dinner at the Crawford hotel.

His topic was "Today's Selling Problem," and he got down to practical cases for the insurance man, detailing methods of presenting life insurance to a prospect, of answering objections and of clinching sales.

He argued that people have no objections to life insurance itself, but sometimes do object to the seller's interview, and also sometimes fail to see how life insurance would hold their particular cases. It is the first task of the salesman to overcome these objectives, Shields said.

He stressed the need for the underwriter to understand the prospect's own problem, and to present an insurance program of a standardized presentation, whereby most ordinary objections can be overcome. A question and answer discussion developed many topics of sales problems.

Announcement was made by R. W. Ogden that Sam R. Hay, president of the state underwriters, would visit the local group at the next meeting, on April 12.

Popular little Rat Ramsey, the Chillicothe lad who has played part of two seasons in the WT-NM league circuit and who was on the Big Spring roster for a time, may get back into baseball within the very near future. Ramsey, who has been wintering here, has been offered a contract with Panama City of the Alabama-Florida league, has been asked to report there by April 1. Ramsey is working now but the urge to get back into the swim is almost overwhelming.

The A-F circuit is a hefty Class D circuit composed of Troy, Dothan and Greenville, Alabama cities, and Tallahassee, Andalusia and Panama City, all of Florida.

Rat could never get started in the professional game here but there is little doubt as to his ability. When in semi-pro ball here with the Codden Oilers he was hitting close to .400. His aggressiveness made him an outstanding ball player.

The fine hand of Dell Morgan, former Texas Tech grid mentor who assumed a coaching position with Auburn university about five years ago, played a major part in attracting Ramsey to Sam Browne, a mogul of the Panama City club, who contracted Ramsey.

Lamesa may try to land Jerry Varrelman, who started the season with Big Spring last year. Since that city will have no working connections and since Jerry has expressed a desire to return to this sector, it should be very easy for Johnny Lane, Lamesa's business manager, and the Oregonians to get together. Johnny has been trying to contact the little catcher since the league meeting in Lubbock.

Varrelman is best remembered here because of a ninth inning home run he clubbed in a Baron-Lubbock game, a hit that sent the game into extra innings after the locals had apparently been hopelessly beaten and a hit that carried a record distance over the left field wall. Distance of the blow, which must have been 400 feet, was never bettered here.

Jack Wiley, a veteran player who has been out of the game since 1932, has placed his application with Milton Price, WT-NM league president, for an umpiring job in the circuit.

Holley was offered an arbitring post in the Cotton States loop back in 1932 but decided to go into business. The family may see three or four new men-in-blue this year. Our old friend, Buster Capps, considered the best of the lot last season, will be back.

Douglas Jones, probably the best golfer to ever represent Big Spring in the competitive game and a boy who sacked up championships in no less than six invitational tournaments in 1938, may desert the game entirely the coming season. Jones is thinking seriously of going to school.

SPORTS SPARKS A&M Will Be Tough On Diamond

By WILLIAM E. RIVES
DALLAS, Mar. 10 (AP)—Tip, lurch and crystal ball department: Don't sell the Texas Aggies short in the coming Southwest conference baseball season. They lost only one game last season and the schedule favors them. The Aggies should give the Texas Longhorns quite a tussle. Texas Christian university's campus must not seem the same without Kl Aldrich. The big All-America football center has left school to take a position with a Corpus Christi oil man.

It's just one laugh after another at the Fort Worth Cubs' baseball training camp. The Panthers are badly in need of outfielders. First off, Harvey Lawson, supposedly an outfielder, reported losing a first baseman's suit. Then Otto Patrick, bought as an outfielder, didn't move to the outfield with the rest of the fly chasers. It turned out he was a second baseman. Some fun... The San Antonio Gophers association already is looking forward to next year's Texas Open. This winter's meet was so successful, there was a balance of more than $2,000 to help finance the next one.

Charley Engle, clowning little shortstop who has played with half the Texas league clubs, had so much fun practicing with the St. Louis Browns in San Antonio he forgot to report to the Rayns, L.A., club of the Evangeline league. It's only the manager! The Rayns club owner had to send Cholly a wire reminding him he was manager and would he mind reporting for work? The boys were waiting...

Almost every day the remarkable record of some little-known Texas athletic team comes to light. Latest is the Chico high school girls volleyball team, which won 28 of 40 matches... Dutch Meyer, T.C.U. grid coach, will serve on the staff of coaching schools in seven states... Leading feminine fencer is Paula Murchison, T.C.U. freshman. She holds the Southwestern fette championship... Softball gets a more popular each year. At Houston 113 teams will play this summer in the recreation department's race. More than 80 teams were denied entrance... Texas university, with Adolph Kiefer and Ralph Flanagan, will be hard to beat in national collegiate swim championships at Ann Arbor, Mich. Next weekend.

Track and field workouts are progressing at the local high school under Alton Bostick, the senior athlete who is helping with the program until other coaches can find time to devote to the sport.

Several of the boys now are reporting for spring football work, including D. R. Cartman and Johnny Miller, are expected to don track suits sometime next week.

Coach Pat Murphy expects to have several entries in the district meet in Sweetwater April 8.

Scribe Looks For Grissom, Gomez To Open The 1939 World Series

By GAYLE TALBOT

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 10 (AP)—I think the Cincinnati Reds have just about sewed up the 1939 National league pennant with their purchase of Bill Werber, fleet and sure-handed third-baseman from the Philadelphia Athletics.

So do the Reds. They were a happy bunch around their hotel last night, and even Manager Bill McKechnie admitted he was "very pleased" with the deal.

Werber set the Cincinnati treasury back $25,000, and that for a player no club in the American league needed at the waiver price.

They're all well fixed at that spot. With Werber plugging the hole at third the Reds will be a tough outfit. They finished only six games out of first place last year. Though his batting fell off in the latter stages of the 1938 race, Werber still is a grand fielder after six years in the big time, and that's all the Reds want. He still has much of the speed that made him the American league's leading base-stealer three times within four years.

Frankly, it will be okay with us if he doesn't hit over .300," said a club official.

The deal solves McKechnie's last big worry. Now he can quit trying to make a third-sacker out of Lonnie Frey and send him back to scrap it out at second base with Ed Jost, the fine looking kid from Kansas City.

From what I've seen of the Reds in the last 10 days, I'm ready to climb out on that long limb and pick them this time.

I watched Lefty Grissom hold the Yankees to one dinky single for five innings the other day, and can guarantee he is ready. Paul Derringer, who had to carry the load last year, with some spectacular assistance from Johnny Vander Meer and Bucky Walters, gas-

ed rapturously at Grissom's pitching and said: "My, my, it looks like we might go places."

Another thing that sways me toward the Reds is their magnificent confidence in themselves.

Harry Craft, the team's center fielder has been doing a remarkable job of fielding in exhibition games, and Ival Goodman, its home run hero, is punishing the ball. Yes, all things considered, I look for the batteries in the opening game of the 1939 series to be a couple of southpaws named Gomez and Grissom.

Local Men In 8th Place In Pistol Shoot

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 10—J. F. Woody and L. F. McCasland, Big Spring, Tex., finished eighth in two man team matches in the finals of the National Midwinter Pistol matches here Wednesday, scoring 557 of a possible 600 points. The Texans were competing against a field of 25 teams. In individual shooting, McCasland won nine medals in 18 matches. A total of 188 entries competed. In last week's preliminary matches at Coral Gables, McCasland captured four first places in tyro shooting.

BARONS TO OPEN SEASON WITH MIDLAND APRIL 25

Lamesa Pilot To Be Named Tonight

140 Game Schedule Is Adopted; Play To Close Labor Day

With the WT-NM baseball league assured of eight clubs, a schedule of 140 games, 10 more than last year, automatically has been adopted according to information received from league headquarters in Dallas. The season will open Tuesday, April 25, close Labor Day, Sept. 4.

Big Spring's initial opponent will be Midland. The two teams will probably open in Midland, will return here April 27 for the Barons first home game. Last year Midland opened the season in Baron park.

The league's schedule will be released within the next ten days. Park construction in Abilene and Amarillo was well underway while construction of the Lamesa plant is scheduled to get underway immediately. Johnny Lane is directing plans there. Pampa is already equipped with a plant and has had lights for the past two years.

Only the Lamesa manager is yet unnamed but that matter will be attended to in a meeting of fans in that city. Charley Bryan, a regular on last year's Lubbock pitching staff, apparently has the inside track for the nomination although Jodie Tate, operator at Wink last year, has been mentioned as a possibility.

Tate apparently was slated for the Pampa pilot's post but a later dispatch reveals that Grover Seitz will manage the Pampa team. Neal Rabe, Amarillo; Fletcher Withers, Abilene; Jimmy Kerr, Midland; and Tony Rego, Big Spring, are other managerial appointees. The post at Lubbock will remain open until the future of Hack Miller, 1938 leader and now trying out with Shreveport of the Texas league, has been decided.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS—

White Sox And Cubs Plan For Initial Spring Duel

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES—Chicago's city rivals, the Cubs and White Sox, lined up virtually at full power today in an effort to get the jump in their exhibition series opener. Only rookies assigned to start for the Sox were catcher Ken Sylvestri and first baseman Merv Connors, while the Cubs called on shortstop Steve Mesmer and pitcher Newel Kimball.

ROLFE IN UNIFORM AFTER ACCEPTING YANK TERMS
BRADENTON, Fla.—The New York Yankees were a united family today with third baseman Red Rolfe signed and in uniform for the exhibition against the Boston Bees. The last New York holdout came to terms yesterday, reportedly at the club's figure of $15,000, a raise of $1,500 over last year.

WEBB A REGULAR AS LARY FALLS TO SHOW UP
NEW ORLEANS—Manager Oscar Vitt of the Cleveland Indians seems convinced Jimmy Webb is the answer to his shortstop problem. With holdout Lyn Lary officially unheard from by the club, Vitt said he believed Webb superior against major league pitching might show him adequate at the plate.

REDS HELP DETROIT OPEN SPRING CARD
TAMPA, Fla.—Cheered by their feat of holding the New York Yankees for two runs in 20 innings, one of the runs a homer by Wee Ferrell which won yesterday's game 1-0, the Cincinnati Reds helped the Detroit Tigers open their exhibition program today.

ALDERHOLT APPROVED BY WASHINGTON OFFICIALS
ORLANDO, Fla.—President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators put his approving stamp on young Morris Alderholt today, just about making it unanimous. The second baseman from Wake Forest college already has been praised by Manager Bucky Harris and even Buddy Myer, whose job Alderholt is trying to get.

BACK TO CALIFORNIA
SAN DIEGO—Here to open their exhibition against the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast league, the Pittsburgh Pirates indicated they probably would be back in California to train next spring.

LAVAGETTO MAY GO TO ST. LOUIS CARDS
CLEARWATER, Fla.—Taking advantage of an open date in their exhibition schedule, the Brooklyn Dodgers went deep sea fishing today—but left a lot of confusion behind. There were well substantiated rumors a trade was being cooked up which would send third baseman Cookie Lavagetto to the St. Louis Cardinals for Don Guttridge. And pitchers Van Mungo and Wayne Lamaster developed sore arms.

PROTHRO READY TO WEED OUT PHILLY ROSTER
SAN ANTONIO—While preparing for their fourth exhibition game with the St. Louis Browns, who won all three previous contests, the Philadelphia Phils pondered the disclosure of the new manager, Doc Prothro, that he was ready to weed out the roster and would ask waivers on a half dozen veterans.

BOSSOX MEET ST. LOUIS CARDINALS TODAY
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Elated by their 10-inning triumph over the Boston Bees yesterday, the Boston Red Sox hoped to make it two straight against National league teams today in a game with the St. Louis Cardinals.

FERRY SAYS HARRY GUMBERT WILL OPEN
BATON ROUGE, La.—Bill Ferry set some kind of a long distance record today by announcing his starting pitcher for the National league opener against the Brooklyn Dodgers April 18 would be Harry Gumbert.

Bruins Trimmed
EUGENE, Ore., Mar. 10 (AP)—Victors in the first game of the series, University of Oregon's basketball players will be shooting for the Pacific Coast conference championship tonight in the second contest of the playoff with University of California. Oregon won last night, 54-45.

Nuggets, Phillips Are Favorites In Denver S'finals

NEW YORK, Mar. 10 (AP)—Two California teams led the charge for the National A.A.U. basketball championship into the semi-final stages today.

One of them swept into the next-to-last round after delivering the most hair-raising overthrow in this 32nd renewal of basketball's "world series," in which 48 teams from all corners of the nation have bumped into defeat since Sunday.

Two teams from the powerful Missouri Valley A.A.U. league, the Champion Denver Nuggets and the Seattle West Okla., Phillips, are left to battle with the San Francisco Olympic club, northern California A.A.U. champion, in the second encounter.

The outfit from the movie colony deposited on the tournament's cutting room floor the title dreams of the Oklahoma City Parks, one of the select threesome of pre-meet favorites, by winning 44-36 in the quarterfinals.

The Phillips fought down a thrilling challenge by the Colorado Springs Antlers for a 28-24 upgrade victory. Denver outclassed the Seattle West Okla. Alpines, 38 to 21.

The San Francisco Olympics dealt the Chicago Harmonics a 46-19 shelling.

Gatesville Is 39-21 Winner Over Courtney

WACO, Mar. 10 (AP)—Gatesville and Bullard, two favorites in the state high school girls basketball tournament here, are paired to play tonight.

Mesquite, which emerged from yesterday's games as another strong contender, is paired with Meadow. Other pairings are Itasca vs. Rising Star and Abbott vs. Beattie.

Winners, as the tourney went into the second round, were Mesquite over Ireland, 14-11; Gatesville over Courtney, 39-21; Bullard over Ropesville, 33-19; and Abbott over Ben Arnold, 32-27.

In other first-round matches, Rising Star defeated Whitehouse, 34-22; Meadow beat La Poyner, 33-11, and Beattie won from Brock, 36-23. The Van Horn quint, beset by motor troubles, failed to arrive, and forfeited to Itasca.

Yesterday's losers play in the consolation today.

Feldman Lasts Less Than Heat With Champion

ST. LOUIS, Mar. 10 (AP)—Harvesting Henry Armstrong is doing right well in keeping a "new" axiom of champions rolling along—that the child who sticks its fingers in the fire the second time gets burned plenty.

Moving swiftly and surely like a mowing machine, the lightweight took just two minutes and 12 seconds to reap challenger Lew Feldman of Brooklyn here last night, proving he's a believer in heavyweight champion Joe Louis' treatment—"knock 'em but in the first round."

A year ago, hammerin' Henry needed five rounds to knock out the war-worn Brooklyn lightweight.

Last night the champion drove in with sharp jabs, then smashed a powerful right to the chin that dropped Feldman. Getting up at the count of nine, the Brooklyn fighter ran into a flurry of punches that sent him dazed against the ropes. He was counted out in a semi-sitting position.

Lightweights Davis, Farber In Garden Go

Friends Counting On Brooklynite To Slug His Way To Top

By DREW MIDDLETON
NEW YORK, Mar. 10 (AP)—The noisy streets of this town are always killed with kids. Kids playing stick or handball or shinny. Kids that grow up to be great lawyers or violinists or gunners. Kids that occasionally develop into great athletes. Al Davis, the lightweight, is one of the latter. Before he is through he may be one of the greatest.

Tonight he fights Al Farber, another New York boy, at Madison Square Garden.

We went over to see Davis in Brownville where he lives. It is a very tough section of Brooklyn where, as a kid, you have to fight or get out. Al must have had a thousand fights then. The fellows with whom he fought and shot traps and snatched apples from the corner fruit stand are his friends now. Follows called "Joe the Crowderhead" and "One-Eye Paulie."

They call Al "Bummy."

Al and Farber struck up a rivalry. Farber comes from the East Side and he has just as many neighbors pulling for him as Davis has. It is a lucrative rivalry. They packed St. Nicholas arena a month ago for a closely fought battle that Davis won and they probably will pack the Garden tonight.

Over at Biecker's pool hall where Davis trains, they were talking bets. Not for much. Two dollars, a dollar, even four bits. They don't have much money over there and a lot of the fans are saving for their trip to the garden.

It'll be a sad Saturday in Brownville if the kid gets licked.

PERU DEFEATS WARRENSBURG

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 10 (AP)—Teams from the East and Far West battle a couple of midwesterners tonight for a shot at the national intercollegiate basketball championship.

Crippled San Diego (Calif.) State drew the Peru (Neb.) Teachers, a band of speedsters who unceremoniously dumped the two-time champion Warrensburg (Mo.) Teachers last night.

Glenville (W. Va.) State, which overthrew second seeded Wayne university of Detroit in the second round, goes against the slow, deliberate Southwestern (Kas.) collegians.

All semi-finalists except Southwestern exemplify the liberal scoring offense.

Yesterday's results: Glenville 52, St. Ambrose 42; San Diego 49, Manchester, Ind., College 11; Southwestern 53, Marysville (Mo.) 37; Peru 45, Warrensburg 31.

TECH BOARD CAN REPEAT ACTION

On the heels of a ruling by Attorney General Gerald C. Mann that Clifford B. Jones' selection as president of Texas Technological college was illegal and void there have come many predictions that the board of directors, at their next meeting in Houston on March 20, will reaffirm the election of last November.

There are reasons to believe that this action will be taken, and thus the ruling of Wednesday by the attorney general becomes of no great official import. Sources in Lubbock point out that the disagreement over the election of Jones (three members of the directors asked the attorney general for the ruling) dates back to past differences, in which a minority bloc frequently was overruled. The majority was for Jones once will be again. Certainly he is not a member of the board of directors now, and would be legally eligible for the presidency.

On the basis of precedent, however, there can be nothing amiss in Mann's ruling. He said in referring to the appointment of a board member: "Public duty might triumph in a particular case, but such might not be the case this time and the next. Would we be willing for similar boards and governing bodies in any and all instances to fill appointive offices and places of employment by appointment of their own members? Will public policy permit us to sanction and recognize this practice as an approved method of obtaining appointments?"

THE STAG GAME

Ireland, On St. Patrick's Day, Seems As Far As Ever Before From A Peaceful Union

William McGaffin, who went to Dublin and Belfast for a first-hand picture, tells here the situation in Ireland this St. Patrick's Day.

By WILLIAM MCGAFFIN AP Feature Service Writer

DUBLIN—Sure an' it's St. Patrick's day again—and the Protestant North and Catholic South of Ireland seem as far apart as ever as they pay homage to the saint each sect claims as its patron.

Curious as to just what are the chances for union of the two sections which are separated by political, economic and religious barriers, I visited Dublin and Belfast to sound out laymen and leaders.

I came away with the impression that generally there is little hope of them burying the shillalah in our time—unless there's a war.

De Valera An Exception An important exception to this view is taken by 55-year-old Eamon de Valera, the tall, friendly-voiced, New York-born prime minister—or taoiseach, as they call him—of the 26 southern counties that have cut loose from Britain.

But even de Valera, who for 20 years has worked unceasingly to make his dream of a united Eire (Gaelic for "Ireland") come true, hedged when I asked him if he were optimistic about the present chances. He said there was "no particular reason at present to be either unduly optimistic or pessimistic."

In Belfast I asked mild-mannered, 68-year-old J. M. Andrews, the deputy premier who was running the government in the absence of explosive-tongued Lord Craigavon, if there were any circumstances in which northern Ireland (or Ulster as it is called in the six northern counties still associated with Britain) would consider union with the south.

The gray-haired executive could not "visualize such a possibility, the difference in outlook between the two races in Ireland being so fundamental."

Advertisement for Brooks and Little Attorneys-at-Law, State Nat'l Bank Bldg., Phone 293.

Here's the map of Ireland, showing how its territory is divided between two stubborn factions. The three counties of Donegal, Cavan and Monaghan, though part of Ulster, geographically, throw in their lot with the people of Eire.

has come down from the 17th century total. De Valera and Lord Craigavon are both determined men who have bolstered their determination by thumping successes at the polls in the past year.

De Valera also improved southern Ireland's economic position considerably by signing the trade treaty with Britain last April 25, ending a five-year economic war which had been especially disastrous for the farmers.

Northern Ireland ended the year with 94,783 out of her 1,279,753 people wholly or partially unemployed. Britain, however, is known to be giving her assistance to offset "losses under the Anglo-southern Ireland trade pact."

On the credit side the north lists the benefits from the Anglo-American trade treaty "already apparent in our linen industry."

In affairs political, several other significant things have cropped up in the last year. The New Constitution First, there is the new constitution which went into effect in southern Ireland at the turn of the year and the new president, Dr. Douglas Hyde, who was elected unanimously in May.

Nihilism East of the Rhine

There have been those who have believed that a free hand for Germany in eastern Europe would mean the efficient organization of that great complex of states held between the Rhine and the Russian frontier.

Ever since the war and the breaking up of the Austro-Hungarian empire, nationalist and militarist publicists have been accustomed to speak of the "Balkanization" of eastern Europe, and some have looked to Germany to bring greater amount of order into this territory.

On the belief that Nazi Germany is first of all a legitimate government and, secondly, represents a conservative and integrated order of society, much of the western world has gone wide astray.

As any one who reads "Mein Kampf" carefully, following its main threads through the miasma of disorganized material, must see Nazism does not represent an organized state at all. It is nothing more or less than the kernel of a movement which will theoretically come to rest nowhere until it has established the supremacy of the Teutonic and allied races over the earth, reducing the rest to vassalage.

Such phrases as "The union of all Germans within the Reich" are totally misleading as descriptions of Nazi policy. They have become more and more misleading since the conquest of Austria.

For it now appears that Hitler lays claim to the whole territory of the former Austro-Hungarian empire, in which non-Germans outnumber Germans in the ratio of four to one.

Hitler's attitude toward the Austro-Hungarian monarchy is made crystal clear in his book. He believes that this territory consists of inferior Slavs, Magyars, and other not quite white people who should be ruled by the "Herrenvolk"—the Germans.

It is not possible to see, first, that he really means this and, second, how he intends to accomplish it. He intends to accomplish it by the pulverization, the atomization, of the existing states to the point where they will be utterly helpless and can be enslaved and plundered.

There was Czecho-Slovakia; a well organized, on the whole prosperous, well governed, liberal state, its finances in excellent order, its defenses admirable, its people enjoying the freedoms of western civilization, its education progressive, its population industrious and peaceable.

Since last September this state has been pulverized. The lopping off of the Sudetenland was accomplished with the collaboration of Britain and France on the theory that the Sudetens should "go home to the Reich"—a Reich to which they had never in all history belonged.

The lopping off of Slovakia can hardly thus be explained. It is the result of a systematically engineered coup d'etat, effected by a complete travesty of the democratic process, by revolutionary agents, treasonable Slovaks and unexampled high-pressure propaganda in a country where the press has been silenced in advance by Nazi threat.

An independent Slovakia is a monstrosity! It is incapable of living by itself as a state, and will simply become a vassal. What is left of a progressive state—Bohemia and Moravia—is now an island completely surrounded by Germany. These, too, will be pulverized.

When this is accomplished Poland is cut off from Hungary, and will be, probably, the next state to be smashed.

Germany will claim the provinces of Pomerania, Poman and Bialia as being German. These are the "Sudetenlands" of Poland. They are not German and they never have been German, as far as the population is concerned.

The so-called Polish Corridor was always a land predominantly populated by Poles. Since 1918 it has become almost wholly populated by Poles.

But Germany may also claim the former Austrian provinces of Poland, to which, ethnically, she has not a shred of claim.

Old Home Week Murder

By Phoebe Atwood Taylor

Chapter 15 DISAPPEARANCE

"You don't mean it," Aunt Sara said. "You can't mean it, Assey." "I do," Assey assured her firmly. "You think I'm joking? My own think I'd try to be funny, under the circumstances?"

"But I simply can't believe it," Sara shook her head as she poured out another cup of tea. Jeff was having a nap after the excitement of the day, Zeb was still at the store, and Jane and Elliot had not yet returned from the hollow. She and Assey were out under the maples in the front yard.

"Dear me, I do wish Jeff hadn't insisted on our staying to that ball game. I've never understood baseball, but it gives me such an appetite, and I'll spoil my dinner entirely to gorge myself now. No, Assey, to get back to Slade, I don't think you're joking, but I do feel that your conclusion's wrong."

"I have hunted Mike Slade," Assey said, "for six hours. All I know is his best pants are out on his bed. His Old Home Week badge is sitting on a copy of Karl Marx, and his brand new buckskin shoes are out. An' the rest of his wardrobe, what there is of it, is sort of strewn around casual."

"Where's his pocketbook? Gone?" Assey laughed. "Bort of a middle class touch. He's hidden that in an empty sardine tin an' stuck it in his ice box. Anyway, Mike Slade hasn't been any place he's supposed to go, today. He hasn't been home, his milk's on the doorstep. He hasn't been to his studio. No one's seen him since last night. Those are—"

"The facts in the case, to coin a phrase," Sara said. Assey didn't let her sarcasm bother him. "They are. An' his shotgun ain't around, an' he has two empty cartons in his book case, an' the labels on 'em say deer ball an' buckshot. You can figure it out any way you please. You can figure that he killed Mary Randall an' exited in haste, or you can figure that the person who got Mary also got him. There you are."

"I never thought of that," Sara said. "The possibility that he might be harmed. That must be it. I'd never believe he had anything to do with Mary. Assey, what are we going to do? Don't you think we'd just better let Billingsgate go, and let the thing be made public? After all, suppose someone else is killed? We've no right not to let people know of danger, if there is any!"

"The humanitarian aspect," Assey said, "is sort of muddled. It'd be too bad if anything happened to anyone else, but after all, the fellow can't keep up any massacre on a large scale. An' if we let Billingsgate down, pop goes your whole town. Workin' on the greatest good for the greatest number theory, Billingsgate an' its finances are the most important."

"But I don't understand any of this. Why, if someone, actually did threaten him, why didn't he come to us last night? He knew about things, everything but Mary Randall."

Assey chose a bachelor button with care, and drew it through the lapel of his coat. "That's what makes me think he's all right. Fraps he thought that by coming straight to us, he might give somethin' away. Fraps he figured if he could make it without takin' any risks, like movin' in, he might get further into understandin' things. As I get it, some one did somethin' to him after I left the fire last night. Probably some sort of warning, like the shotgun Saturday. He warned right back, as loud an' obvious as he could, that he was ready to meet all comers. N'en I think, he decided to lay low. He may have some idea of his own that he's working out. From the little I saw of Slade, I know he wouldn't take any risks, like movin' in, past lighted windows. No, I gave him credit. An' at the same time, I don't entirely write him off the list as innocent, either—"

"Car's coming," Sara said. "Let's talk about the governors, all three of 'em—no matter, it's your cousin Weston. Did you hear his speech today? It was good, in spite of the fact that he sounded a little like the late Mr. Coolidge—Hullo, Wes, are you exhausted?"

"I'm a little tired," Weston said, "but it's gone all right so far, hasn't it?"

"It's a triumph of organization," Sara said, "and I mean that sincerely, Weston. Everyone had a grand time today—what's that you've got?"

"It's the strangest thing ever. A note from Slade. I just found it in my mail box, in front of the house. I don't often look into that box, I get my mail at the post office, but the note was up. It says, 'Dear Maybaw, I was called away suddenly. Back soon, Slade.' Now, what do you make of that?"

"It is genuine!" Sara asked. "Let me—why, it looks like his writing. Well, I've a note from him in my desk, and I'll bring it out." As far as they could tell, the handwriting on the two sheets of paper was identical.

"Same kind of paper, too," Assey said. "Same kind of ink. I'll give 'em to Lane, to make sure."

"What do you make of this?" Weston demanded. "What's he found out?" "Nothin' I know of," Assey said. "This is all Slade's own brain wave. What do you think?" "A bunch of thistles!" "I don't think he possibly could have had anything to do with Mary Randall," Weston said slowly. "He's a fighter, but he wouldn't fight that way. He'd rather shoot you full of words. And he wouldn't have left any notes for me. What I think is, he's been scared off. He's had a funny life, and his past is shady, and what I think is, he recognized someone, some visitor,

I seen him cavortin' around with a shotgun, as he was last night, promisin' death an' destruction to the person who had any such ideas, I think I'd hesitate. That man's a born fighter. I think he'd scare me off."

Sara got up from her chair and walked over to the garden. "I always thought I was rather bright," she said plaintively. "But I don't understand any of this. Why, if someone, actually did threaten him, why didn't he come to us last night? He knew about things, everything but Mary Randall."

Stone, and all the fine Irish names and the gay characters that fit those names.

There are a few things Irish on the dubious side, of course. I never saw a wild Irish rose, and it sounds attractive enough, but there is an old adage about thorns. Definitely more doubtful is Irish stew, even sometimes after you've eaten it.

About the only thing altogether unpleasant about Ireland is a shillalah—if that's the way you spell that finely-turned bulge. Did you ever encounter a mad Irishman who was brandishing a shillalah? Don't!

But I can forget the stew and the shillalah today, and think about collies and ballads and shamrocks. And St. Patrick. I find he was a real, thorough-going chap after all, and what's good enough for Ireland is good enough for me.

IOOF And Rebekah Groups To Attend Ft. Worth Meet

Big Spring I. O. O. F. and Rebekah members were laying plans Friday for a trip to Fort Worth over the weekend to participate in the grand lodge meeting opening there Sunday evening.

The local canon No. 23 is to have a prominent part on the program when it serves as official escort for M. M. Madison, Sweetwater and a member of the Big Spring canon, in its installation as grand master Tuesday afternoon.

Hugh Dubberly has been named representative of the I. O. O. F. lodge and W. A. Mayes as his alternate. Ruth Wilson may serve as the Rebekah representative in event Mrs. Josie McDaniel is unable to go. Others planning on making the Fort Worth trip are J. Hollis Lloyd, Perry Holmes, T. F. McKinney, J. F. "Nando" Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Gully and Della Herrington.

GARAGE NOT DAMAGED

The Herald erred Thursday in reporting destruction by fire of a garage at 904 Scurry street. The structure, just rebuilt after an earlier fire, was not damaged Wednesday afternoon, when some scrap lumber near by caught fire.

Mrs. J. L. Hudson returned Friday evening from Dallas where she has been visiting with her daughter, Margie, a student in the Hockaday school.

Rector Writes A Diary For Smoked Ham

There recently appeared in a popular newspaper column a rare bit of writing by none other than the internationally famous George Rector. It seems that a certain tender extra mild smoked ham wanted a diary written and secured Rector to do the job. Here is how the diary appeared. Incidentally, it shows what can happen. Both from a gastronomical and economy point of view, when one of these popular tender, extra mild, certified smoked hams comes into your home life:—

1st Day. Was purchased by a housewife of her favorite dealer who accommodatingly cut 2 thick steaks out of my middle. Boy, those folks certainly know their stuff. They had one of the steaks for dinner tonight. Saving the other for Saturday. I heard 'em say.

2nd Day. Was pulled together again and baked in pineapple juice, browned and decorated, and served hot. Rest of day peaceful, except for those buzzards who kept snaking to the icebox to cut silver off me on the q.

3rd Day. There's no rest around this joint. Dragged me out at 8 a. m. to make sandwiches for the school lunch boxes, and at 10 p. m. to make sandwiches for hungry skaters.

4th Day. Co-starred today with a bunch of spuds in making a ham-and-scalloped potato casserole.

5th Day. Mildly entertained the bridge club today, and was I there! In a molded ham salad, and quite the hit.

6th Day. The end is in sight. They are throwing a big party tonight, and with all the talk that's going on about the cold platters, hors d'oeuvres and the like, I can see my finish.

7th Day. Hurray! One more fling! What's left of me, bone and all, goes into making some real, old-fashioned navy bean soup. Well, that's a worthy finish even for a certified smoked ham. Signing off.

L&L Triumphs Over Blatz

L&L Housing swept three games in their Class A bowling league match with Blatz Beer Thursday evening at the Casadena Alleys.

Ward Hall, the city's leading bowler who has been in a slump for the past two weeks, slipped out an average of 196 to pace the drive.

Clyde West's 196 average was outstanding for the losers.

SABIN OUSTED IN BERMUDA'S NET TOURNAY

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Mar. 17 (AP)—The "Wayne Sabin boom" is in a state of collapse today, for the national indoor singles champion of the United States has been eliminated decisively from the Bermuda tennis championships.

Edwood Cooke, the methodical Oregonian, turned the trick yesterday in a semi-final match. The score was 6-2, 7-5, 6-0.

Bobby Riggs, the talented Chicagoan, filled the other half of the final round by defeating Frank Guernsey of Rice Institute, the United States intercollegiate champion, 6-4, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2.

Two Hot Teams Best Ball Foes

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Mar. 17 (AP)—The two hottest teams in the national amateur-professional best ball golf tournament collided today in a match which promised to turn into a record scoring spree.

Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., called upon all the skill of his amateur partner, Frank Ford of Charleston, S. C., to help combat Marvin Stahl of Lansing, Mich., and Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich.

Stahl and Harbert upset the 1938 winners in the first round yesterday.

They defeated Frank Moore of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Bobby Dunkelberger of High Point, N. C., on the 19th hole.

Finishing their round to card a best ball 61, Picard and Ford outclassed Paul Bell of Torrington, Conn., and Mel Alexander of New York 4 and 5. Picard scored a 62.

TALBOT INJURED

MARSHALL, Mar. 17 (AP)—The Marshall club of the East Texas baseball league began workouts today minus the services of infielder Jack Talbot.

Talbot, with McAllen in the Valley league last year, received a nose injury when he was hit by a ball in a pre-season workout.

FRAMED BY THE ARID DESERT for which it is being built, the Bartlett dam on the Verde river in Arizona will provide a supplemental irrigation supply for the Salt River valley irrigation project. The dam, seemingly lower than the cactus on the right, is actually to be 270 feet high—the highest of its type in the world. Multiple arches will permit the piling-up of 200,000 acre-feet of water in a great reservoir from which water supply can be taken as needed. The dam is being constructed by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

JUNIA JOHNSON A CANDIDATE FOR A.C.C. DEGREE

ABILENE, Mar. 17 (AP)—Junia Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Johnson of Big Spring is one of the 73 Abilene Christian College seniors who have applied for degrees from the college this spring.

This student has majored in education, receiving a bachelor of science degree. The graduation exercises will be held May 28 and 29 in Sewell auditorium.

BULGARIAN STUDES PROTEST HITLER'S NEW SEIZURES

SOFIA, Bulgaria, March 17 (AP)—Several thousand Sofia university students were chased by mounted police from the street in front of the former Czechoslovak legation today after they demonstrated noisily against the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

The demonstration occurred just as German diplomatic officials arrived at the legation to take over Czech affairs.

The students reassembled near the parliament building and continued their protests.

(Bulgaria was Germany's ally in the World War.)

BURNS ARE FATAL

DE LEON, Mar. 17 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here today for Mrs. W. B. Ash, 56, who died in a Gorman hospital yesterday from burns received when her clothing caught fire.

Mrs. Ash's husband said he was awakened by a noise shortly after retiring Wednesday night and found his wife, her clothing ablaze, on the floor of their living room. The floral outline of her kimono had been burned into her flesh.

She was the mother of several children, including Vernon Ash of San Angelo.

QUALITY, AGE AND PRICE—WHAT MORE CAN YOU ASK?

HE LOVES HIS UNCLE SAM

NEW YORK, Mar. 17 (AP)—Internal Revenue Collector Almon G. Raquin wants to meet this man—

He received a letter from a Brooklynite. Out dropped a $10 check and a note.

The note explained the writer hadn't made enough to be taxed—but he was enclosing $5 from himself and $5 from his wife for Uncle Sam—because he believed everyone should pay something to support the government.

FT. WORTH NEGRO'S NAME DRAWN FOR JURY SERVICE

FORT WORTH, Mar. 17 (AP)—Watson Barton today appeared destined to be the first negro to serve on a Tarrant county grand jury.

He was named to the panel yesterday, and a check of poll tax lists showed him to be a qualified voter.

His appointment came after the jury commission was instructed by District Judge Willis McGregor to select a negro.

The jury will be impaneled early in April.

CONTRACTOR DIES IN AUTO MISHAP

LAREDO, Mar. 17 (AP)—Paul A. Noser, 21, McAllen contractor, was killed in an automobile accident on highway 83, eight miles south of Laredo, about midnight last night.

Noser's wife suffered cuts but her condition was not serious.

The couple was en route from McAllen to Laredo when a rear tire of their automobile blew out. The machine went into a ditch and overturned, pinning Noser beneath.

Noser was a native of Noser's Hill, near St. Louis, Mo., and went to McAllen five years ago. Besides his widow he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed A. Noser. The body will be returned to McAllen for burial.

PREPAREDNESS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Mar. 17 (AP)—Courthouse elevator operator Jim Kelly was concerned by apparent youth of the girl who asked her way to divorce court.

Why did she want a divorce? She didn't—yet.

"I'm engaged and expect to get married soon. I just want to see what I'll have to go through with when I do get my divorce."

Record Field In Exposition Track Show

FORT WORTH, Mar. 17 (AP)—Leading off with high school preliminaries this afternoon, the mightiest Southwestern Exposition track and field meet in history will be contested at Louis J. Wortham field the next two days.

Indicating the rapid growth of interest in the running, jumping and throwing sports in the South-west, no less than 1,100 young athletes are due to take part. They come from every section of Texas and Oklahoma. Entry records have been smashed in every division.

Some 600 high school lads will test their prowess in the preliminaries this afternoon. They come from 88 high schools.

Teams in the other divisions, university, college, junior college and prep-freshman will not report until Saturday morning.

There is reason to believe records will fall right and left this year. No less than four all-meet records went by the boards last year as well as many divisional marks. The carnage may be worse this season.

Several of the 1938 all-meet record breakers are back. They include Harold Cagle of Oklahoma Baptist who did 49.5 in the college quarter mile; Haine Rideout of North Texas who did 4:30.2 in the mile; Wayne Rideout of the Eagles, who set a mark of 1:57.5 in the half mile and Jim Bone of North Texas who pole vaulted 13 feet 1 inch. Cagle is also running dashes this year and will bid in the special 100-meter. He's been clocked at 9.6 in the century.

CAPITOL IS WORTH 50 MILLION, IF GOVT. TAXED SELF

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17 (AP)—Senators learned with surprise today that the District of Columbia tax assessor has the capitol on his books—valued at $50,000,000.

The assessor, Fred D. Allen, explained to a senate committee he listed the capitol only because "we have so many calls about what the government would have to pay if it paid taxes."
