MRS. COOLIDGE COMMON SENSE CHILDREN AND CANARY BIRDS; POLITE GOV. MOODY REAL FLYING AUG. 1.

Mrs. Coolidge, in South Dakota, sees women of all kinds, young girls and grandmothers, wearing knickerbockers. Mrs. Coolidge respects them and probably admires their common sense, but she will not wear knickerbockers. Rubber boots when she goes fishing and a skirt of reasonable length—never mind if it gets wet.

Clothes, as Carlyle shows in "Sartor Resartus," make all the difference between a king in his grandeur and a "featherless biped."

Two hundred and seven Americans reported incomes of $1,000,000 a year or more in 1925.

In 1924 only seventy-five reported incomes of a million dollars or over.

Once a man owning a million was a wonder. Now 207 have a million or more. INCOME and some have fifty millions of income and a good deal more through corporation ownership.

And the billion a year income will arrive before earth's phase of industrial feudalism shall pass.

Mrs. Freeman, the unhappy mother whose husband was killed by an automobile, killed herself and her five children when told they must go to an orphan asylum. "Better dead than without a mother," said the poor woman, and went with them.

She was careful to protect two canary birds, putting them where the deadly gas could not reach them. "She knew that canary birds have a value; somebody would buy them and treat them kindly. She knew that children have no value; that she could not be sure that strangers in an asylum would treat them kindly."

Visiting New York City with a party of distinguished Texans, welcomed and looked up to, literally and in other ways, Governor Moody listens and thinks.

He hears that New York City is the biggest American factory town, turning out five and a half billion dollars worth of products a year. Governor Moody is too polite to mention the fact that any State he has seen on his way East, including New York, could be tucked away in Texas and not attract much attention. Texas alone, intensively cultivated, could feed every one of the 1,900,000,000 human beings on earth and have room left to raise cotton.

While Byrd was flying east across the Atlantic, and two young Army men went across the Pacific at 110 miles an hour, our interesting visitor, the comet Pons-Winnecke, was leaving the earth behind, passing through various constellations at the rate of 66,500 miles an hour. Shall we try to create, when released from service on this earth, make some such journey? That would be more interesting than going into the ground to stay there.

THE VERY DRYS plan a dry ticket in 1928, if neither party supplies them with a candidate dry enough.

It would be enlightening to nominate at least one independent dry. The result would be instructive. Few candidates dare defy the dry, few would want an out and out dry nomination.

At this moment of flying enthusiasm, one word of caution is necessary, and expert fliers remind you of it.

Don't go up "just to know how it feels" unless you know the pilot and the machine.

There are unsafe machines, plenty of them, including many bought second-hand from the United States Government. There are unskillful pilots and others skillful, but reckless.

Flying dangerously bad weather, bad pilots and unsafe machines, flying is now safe. But BE CAREFUL.

Beginning on August 1, air passenger service from the Atlantic to the Pacific is promised, the trip to take thirty hours.

First will come a straight line air trip from San Francisco to Chicago, with transfers to Los Angeles and Seattle. Then a San Francisco to New York line, with the same transfers. Passenger

Ask Use Roads To Drive Stock

Sheep & Goat Men Try For Law To Condemn Part Of Roadways

A law permitting condemnation of part of the public highways and roadways for use in driving livestock to shipping points is sought by the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas in a resolution adopted at the twelfth annual convention of that body in Kerrville last week.

The resolution calls on Governor Moody to submit legislation to that end to a special session of the legislature if a special session be called before the next regular session.

Nearly all public highways now are fenced and laned, the resolution pointed out, and in most cases are very narrow. This condition makes it almost impossible to drive livestock over the roads without great injury and loss. Many of the livestock producers of the state live at a great distance from railroads and it is necessary to drive livestock over the public roads to get them to shipping points. The heavy traffic on roads today, coupled with the narrow, fenced highways, makes this a hazardous procedure for the producers, it was pointed out.

Sheepmen To Oppose Double-Deck Rate

Boost, Kincaid Says

The Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas will oppose to its utmost the plan of railroads to make double deck rates on sheep and goats 10 per cent higher than cattle. T. A. Kincaid told members at the annual convention in Kerrville. "There is no fairness in the plan to tax us simply because we can load sheep and goats into double deck cars," he said. "They would make us pay 10 per cent more on the 22,000 pound minimum rate than they would ask for cattle shipments. We intend to protect our rights and insist that there be no discrimination."

A. H. Priest, traffic expert for the association, is now in Los Angeles, Calif., attending hearings on application of the carriers to make the double deck car rate 10 per cent higher.

The State Association also is objecting to a proposal of the National Wool Growers' Association for a uniform scale of rates for application through territory west of the Mississippi River which would materially increase Texas rates under 600 miles which were recently reduced and made effective June 1. Another proposal, according to Priest, in a telegram to Kincaid, is to divide the State and group West Texas with higher rated territories. "Uniformity seems to be end sought. Endangering stocker cattle rates into markets," Priest wired Kincaid. "Present 20,000 stoker minimum, free bedding in Texas, and other favorable adjustments secured."

He said the commission is dealing comprehensively with the subject, affording a splendid opportunity to secure adjustment of the many inconsistencies now present in rate structure.

Miss Mary Childress entertained a number of her friends with a watermelon feast after the picture show Saturday night. The guests gathered on the lawn and were served there.

Paint Rock.

The convention was declared one of the most enjoyable in many years and convention visitors were loud in their praises of the hospitality of Kerrville people. Excellent entertainment was furnished by the city throughout the three days meeting and the visitors received every courtesy and attention from residents.

The association's treasury now shows a balance of nearly $10,000, more than $5,000 in dues having been collected during the convention. Over 100 new members were signed up at Kerrville.

Mexicans Make Merry In Quarantine Area; Sheriff Chains 'Em

If they were quarantined in the law must surely be quarantined out.

Thus reasoned some of the pleasure bent swains of "Little Mexico" Friday night after the county had clamped a quarantine over that section of town. Satisfied of their immunity, a group of frolicsome young fellows proceeded to "throw a heap big drunk" and make merry in general.

Sheriff Augustine, however, invaded the quarantined area and ordered the merrymaking stopped. "But he can't put us in jail," the revelers reasoned. "We're quarantined and can't go beyond the line."

And they proceeded to boo the sheriff and use unladylike language. Whereupon, Sheriff Augustine had an idea that they hadn't figured on his having—he snapped manacles on their ankles, led them to an open expanse and chained them to a post, where they remained until late the following day before they were released. So far no further trouble had been encountered by officers.

Oil Interest In South Crockett

Big Companies Get Protective Acreage Near Blakeney Test

Considerable interest is being manifested by oil men in the southern part of Crockett County as a result of the gasser brought in recently on the O. O. Owens land just across the line in Val Verde County and the test to be spudded soon by J. F. McManmon on the Crockett County ranch of Joe Blakeney near the Val Verde County line has attracted the attention of the major companies to that section.

The rig on the Blakeney ranch has almost been completed and the test is expected to be spudded in within the next few days. The test will be 15 miles north of the Owens gasser in Val Verde County and about 3 miles north of the Val Verde-Crockett County line in Crockett County. It is in Block Q3.

The importance of the test is evident from the interest being manifested by the big companies in the area.

Taylor Lauds Kincaid On His Tariff Stand

R. E. Taylor of Sonora, Chairman Mohair Standard Committee, has written the following letter to T. A. Kincaid on the latter's election for a fourth term as president of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas: Mr. T. A. Kincaid, President Sheep & Goat Raisers Assn.

Let me congratulate you on your re-election as president. I very much regret that I did not get to attend but one's duty to his family comes first. We were just preparing to start when the telephone rang and told me of the accident to my son at the Christoval ranch, and I had to hasten to his aid.

I am much pleased with the move that you have started to defend our rights on the tariff issue and also Mr. Garner, who is against us for his own political prestige in Washington. Let us maintain what we now have if we possibly can. We are up against a fight.

Yours,
R. E. Taylor

Disease Outbreak Is Under Control

Officials Take Prompt Action To Prevent Further Spread

With a strict quarantine being maintained around the entire suburb, enforced by a corps of guards furnished by the sheriff's department under authority of the Commissioners Court, the situation arising from the outbreak of contagious disease in Lima, Mexican suburb to the town of Ozona, seemed well in hand this week.

Two cases of typhoid fever and four of smallpox, with one patient entirely recovered from the latter disease, constituted the present status of the outbreak. All of these cases have been segregated, quarantined and placed under competent supervision and no further spread of the disease is expected.

At a special session of the commissioners court last Friday, Dr. G. L. Coates was appointed county health officer to take charge of the present emergency and was authorized to place quarantine over the Mexican quarter and to establish and maintain a supply station and camps for those held in quarantine. Sheriff Augustine was instructed to co-operate with the health officer, to furnish deputies and guards etc. to assist in maintaining a strict quarantine. The county clerk was also instructed to notify Governor Moody and the State Health Department, that they might take whatever action they deem necessary.

The smallpox cases have been isolated in the Mexican club house and the school house has been used as a clearing house, where others have been vaccinated, issued supplies, etc.

New Mexico Dipping Requirements Given

Dipping requirements of the Sheep Sanitary Board of the state of New Mexico are outlined in a circular letter just received by N. W. Graham, secretary of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas, furnished by J. H. Rasco, chief scabies inspector of the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission.

The requirements of the New Mexico board provide that on and after November 15, 1927, persons intending to ship sheep or goats into the state of New Mexico shall give notice to the secretary of the Sheep Sanitary Board by registered letter or telegram or by delivery in person 48 hours before day of entry, stating the number and kind of animals to be imported.

Permission to enter the sheep or goats will then be issued by the secretary provided they are accompanied by a certificate of an authorized inspector of the state of origin or of an inspector of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry certifying that the animals have been dipped within ten days prior to day of entry and are free from scabies or exposure thereto. Or that sheep or goats be routed to a dipping vat where the Sanitary board can have one of its inspectors supervise dipping for scabies.

A furnace is being installed in the Roy Henderson home.

Dr. D. A. Harrison and his son, D. A. Harrison and Theo Pease are visiting in Ozona. Dr. Harrison is a former resident of Ozona.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith are spending a few days visiting in San Antonio and Galveston.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan McDonald have returned to their home in Canyon after a brief visit with Mrs. McDonald's relatives. They contemplate returning to Ozona to make their home.

Mrs. Rusty Smith underwent an operation for appendicitis at a hospital in Stephenville, the home of her parents, the first of the week. Mr. Smith left Sunday to be with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pierce, Jr., returned from San Antonio Saturday, after a short visit in that city.

$125,000 YEAR PROVIDED FOR TARIFF FIGHT

Sheep & Goat Men To Provide Fund To Elect Tariff Man

$3,000.00 IN CASH

Fund To Be Used For Campaign In 15th District

Provision for a fund which it is declared will amount to approximately $125,000 a year to be used in "the promotion and maintenance of a just and equitable protective tariff on wool and mohair and on all other products of the farm and ranch" was made in a resolution adopted by the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at the Kerrville convention.

The resolution recommended the creation of a permanent tariff fund from a tax of an amount equal to 1/2 of 1 per cent on all payments to producers by warehouse commission firms at San Angelo, Del Rio, Kerrville, Mertzon, Menard, Sanderson, Barnhart, Uvalde, Big Springs, Brackettville, Camp Wood and all other concentration points.

Such a fund would amount to approximately $125,000 a year, according to Roger Gillis, chairman of the committee which drew up the resolution.

Under the plan recommended in the resolution, the fund would be placed in the hands of the treasurer of the association and expended under the direction of the executive committee.

"Whereas we recognize the protective tariff as a most important factor in the present prosperity of the wool and mohair industry," the resolution read, "and we pledge our continued support to the Southern Tariff Association and all other agencies and individuals in their efforts to maintain the present tariff duty on farm and ranch products."

A draft for $3,000 made up by the executive committee was enclosed in a letter written by Mr. Gillis to J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff Association at Washington. In the letter Mr. Gillis explained that the association expected the tariff organization to use the money "in the 15th district to elect a tariff man."

Highway Dept. Orders Signs Removed From Road Right-Of-Way

Advertising signs placed within the right-of-way of state highways must go under the recent ruling of the attorney general, and under authority of this ruling, division engineers of the department are sending out notices to owners of signs asking that they be removed.

A. F. Meursand, division engineer for this district, has sent out circular letters to owners of signs along highways of the district, some of them residents of Ozona, advising that the signs must be removed after August 1.

The attorney general has ruled that the right-of-way of the state highways is the property of the State of Texas, the letter points out, and that it is to be used for right-of-way purposes only. Acting under this authority, the State Highway Commission has passed an order and instructed the division engineers to see that all signs, except those of the State Highway Department, be removed from within the limits of the right-of-way.

Little H. P. Vaughn, Jr., was bruised painfully but not seriously hurt when he fell out of the car in front of his home and the car was allowed to back into a steep ditch causing the wheels to pass over his shoulders. It was at first thought that a rib was broken but was later discovered to be a mistake. The softness of the dirt was the probable cause of the lightness of the injury.

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Published Every Thursday Morning at Ozona, Texas, County Seat of Crockett County by

W. EVART WHITE EDITOR and PUBLISHER

Entered at the Post Office at Ozona, Texas, as Second Class Mail Matter under Act of Congress, March 3rd, 1879.

Ozona, Texas, Thursday, July 28, 1927.

Prompt action on the part of officials probably prevented a serious spread of contagious disease as a result of the outbreak in the Mexican suburb of Ozona. A called session of the Commissioners Court Friday resulted in a clear-cut plan of action to prevent further spread and as a result the situation is now virtually under control and there is little need for uneasiness.

The threat, however, has convinced Ozona people of several things. One is that this town and county needs a health officer all the time, not one who serves only when an epidemic is in progress, but one who is on the job all the time to prevent such an outbreak. In the absence of a health officer, there is no one official responsible for the health sanitation of the community and sanitary conditions escape the notice of the untrained eye until disease invades the community, and then it may be too late.

Crockett County is plenty able to employ and pay a health officer a nominal salary. There are many duties that a health officer must perform and these duties often cut a wide swath in his time. He should not, then, be expected to donate his services to this cause, for a physician in most communities does more than his share of charity at best.

To be elected for a fourth term as president of one of the largest organizations in the state is an honor that is accorded few men. T. A. Kincaid was the unanimous choice of the membership of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association at the Kerrville convention last week for a fourth term as head of that organization. Mr. Kincaid has served the organization well in the last three years and his faithful and efficient service has won the gratitude and respect of the entire membership of nearly 1500 producers. His record has been one of constructive work through his tenure of office and no doubt he will be offered the office as long as he will consent to serve.

Heart Disease Leads In Texas Deaths With 4,538 Pneumonia 2nd

Statistics compiled by the bureau of vital statistics of the state department of health for the year 1926, show that of the 205 "official ways to die," that heart disease heads the list, with 4,538 deaths charged to this cause. Other leading causes of death last year in Texas are: pneumonia, 4,143; tuberculosis, 3,743; chronic nephritis, 2,125; cerebral hemiplexy, 2,043; cancer, 1,934; diarrhea and enteritis, 2,141; influenza, 1,479.

The peak in the age periods at which most deaths occurred due to heart disease, is shown to be well past middle life, while 29 to 25 years is the age period at which the largest number died from tuberculosis. Children under 2 years of age are shown as having more fatalities from attacks of diarrhea, enteritis, and pneumonia.

More deaths from cancer of the stomach and liver are shown than from cancer of any other organs of the body. Deaths from cancer of the female genital organs are listed as 257; cancer of the breast. The age period at which most deaths occurred from cancer is 60 to 65 years, while one death reported as due to cancer was of a 117, and cancer of the skin, 15, child between the ages of 1 month and 1 year.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

RESULTS ARE WHAT COUNT

Discussion has been going on recently in the press about George Bernard Shaw's remark that a woman ought to be a mother in order to be a good teacher.

This remark was made opposing the tendencies in many places to have only unmarried teachers.

Many educators have expressed themselves upon one side or the other of this question.

After all it is merely a point of view.

One side looks at the question as to whether a woman can do a good job of teaching or not.

The other side looks at the question as to whether the woman ought to have the place or not with the salary attached.

In many places of business a job is looked upon as a sort of special privilege and certain classes are favored in giving jobs out, such as world war veterans, old people, unmarried people and so on.

If a man can do the business, or a woman either, what difference does it make whether he or she is married or not or young or old?

What most people want in business is results. Who attains them or how they are attained is a matter of indifference so long as it is done honestly.

I remember once that a presiding elder in the Methodist church

Mrs. Walter Childress and daughter, Miss Margaret Childress, spent the week-end in San Angelo.

Rob Miller is recovering from an operation for appendicitis performed in a Temple hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Robison were in Temple last week for medical attention.

J. J. North and son Carl, and Wayne West left Wednesday morning for New Mexico to visit relatives of Mr. North.

Allen Robinson and Clay Adams left Saturday for Cheyenne, Wyo., where they expect to see the big rodeo.

Mr. and Mrs. George Montgomery of Comanche are in Ozona visiting with relatives. They plan to make their home here in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Friend have returned from Carlsbad, N. M. where they went through the famous caverns.

Renew Your Health by Purification

Any physician will tell you that "Perfect Purification of the System is Nature's Foundation of Perfect Health." Why not rid yourself of chronic ailments that are undermining your vitality? Purify your entire system by taking a thorough course of Calotabs,—once or twice a week for several weeks—and see how Nature rewards you with health. Calotabs are the greatest of all system purifiers. Get a family pack, containing full directions. Only $1.00. At any drug store. (Adv.)

In considering an applicant for the job, common sense tells us to consider his ability to perform the duties of that business and not his ability in some other direction. A president of the United States or the mayor of a city should be selected because he is capable of performing the duties of his office and whether he was a good hand shaker and baby kisser or not has nothing to do with the case, in reality, although in politics it has much to do with it.

gave as his reason for sending a man to a certain place the following:

"If I send that man it will kill the place and if I don't send him it will kill him, so between the two I will send him and save the man."

This is a good example of care for the individual ranking above care for his work. Every man must be judged by the kind of work he does and not by whether he is deserving of the job or not.

The other side of civil service is to select men competent for the position, and not to give the positions out to certain groups of men

THE LEADING CHARACTERS

EDISON FORBES, a young resident of Scottsdale, goes on a little joy ride with another young fellow. Some liquor is consumed. They are stopped suddenly by the sight of a booze truck driven by SCOOTS LIBBEY, a worthless character, who has smashed his machine into another car, killing its lone occupant, a woman. Forbes and Libbey quit the scene hurriedly, leaving the former alone to face a constable who reasons that Eddie, with the scent of whiskey about him, must be connected in some way with the accident. Accordingly, Forbes is arrested.

CHAPTER III
A doubting wife

It was his own wife, Patsy Jane Forbes, who first gave expression in his hearing to the doubt of Edison's story—a doubt which hung over the community like miasma from a swamp in the succeeding days. Scoots Libbey was not captured the night of the tragedy. He slipped through the telephone dragnet. No one had seen him; nor was trace of him found thereafter. Edison spent the night in the county jail. He was formally charged next morning, with manslaughter for causing the death of Mrs. Maria Knowles, the collision victim. Bail was arranged and he was released. He stopped at the ice and coal office of Sam Hilton, where he was employed as office manager, to explain his tardiness before going home.

He found that news of his arrest was before him. Hilton, a grim, narrow-faced man of sixty, prayed at each Wednesday evening's prayer-meeting for the confusion of booze and its supporters. He felt, to bolster up his prayers with what he considered good works, that he must discharge Edison. And he did so.

Forbes went on home. In the little white painted house which they rented on Scottsdale's second best street, Patsy Jane cried over her husband and petted him. The jail breakfast had not been palatable; she made coffee and cooked eggs and bacon. With the boyish smile and frank simplicity which were his chiefest charms, Eddie told her the story of the previous evening.

"Now you go ahead and walk over me, Pat," he concluded. "For I certainly deserve it. I've acted like a fool and lost my job, all on account of a bottle of hooch. But before you start I want to tell you that I'm done, through, completed, finis! No more booze for mine. I am off the stuff for life. When I saw what it did last night it opened my eyes, I can tell you. Oh, I know I've said all this before. But this time I mean it. I'm done; that's all."

"You didn't say who was with you, Eddie," was her comment.

"No, I didn't, Pat," he replied. "I'm not going to tell anyone."

She looked at him in surprise. "But at the trial you'll have to, won't you?"

"Not if I don't want to; and I don't."

"But why?"
"Well, it's like this," he began shame faced and flushing. He was about to confess a determination to do a generous thing, and it embarrassed him. "The fellow who was with me wasn't one of my particular cronies, Pat. He has a good job. He doesn't take a drink once in six months."
"I didn't intend to go to Burley last night. I was headed home after getting a balance on the month's business. But there was a smell of spring in the air. It was moonlight. I was tired out; I've been working extra hard for six or eight weeks. This fellow drove along and the idea popped into my head from nowhere to go hunt a drink. When he offered me a lift I put it up to him. He—well he sort of acted on impulse the way I did. The first thing we knew, we were on our way to Burley."

"I know, Eddie." The wife shook with tender impatience the hand which she was fondling. "But he's free, white and twenty-one, isn't he? Why, you may have to go to jail unless you tell. Or he does."
He smiled tolerantly. "Oh, no, I won't. But he must come forward of his own accord. He has a good job; he stands high here. It would be awfully hard on his people. And really, I'm to blame—"

Patsy Jane let go his hand. "Oh indeed!" she commented coldly. "He does stand high, does he? And of course your being under arrest and losing your job isn't hard on me! You owe something at home, don't you?"

But he shook his head stubbornly. "I can't do it, Pat. I've thought it all over. In a way I'm responsible for that woman's death. If I hadn't persuaded Libbey to break into a case at Burley, he might not have gotten drunk. Don't you see? And if, when this chap offered me a ride, I had asked him to take me home he would have done it. That is all there would have been to it. But I didn't. It's like pushing over a line of dominoes. I gave the shove and it's up to me to stand the gaff alone."

"Unless, of course, he offers to help. That'll be different."
He could feel her stiffening with resentment and something else. She rose and began clearing away the dishes. "It—it almost looks as though there had been something dishonorable," she murmured.

He knew what she meant, and flushed. They had been married only a year. Nance was one of the first to call after they were settled in the little white house. There was a good-humored air of "let bygones be by-gones" on the surface, but, seemingly, a lurking imp of malice beneath. She showed open favor for her old sweetheart at parties and dances. She came and went as she pleased. She had her own car. Its powerful motor was frequently heard roaring at unconventional hours along Scottsdale's quiet streets. It might look, thought Eddie, moodily, after he had kissed his wife goodbye and started downtown, that he had been out riding with Nance last night and was concealing the fact. Well, if Patsy Jane was silly enough to believe that, let her. He would keep silent as to who his companion was. That was the only square, decent thing to do. Of course, if that companion chose to come forward voluntarily, the complications would be smoothed out.

He had left the block in which his home was situated when he met a small boy on a bicycle. The boy dismounted, handed him a plain white envelope on which was typewritten only Forbes' name, and rode off again. He tore it open curiously. There was a half sheet of paper inside. There were a few words, also in typewriting, upon it. He read:

"For God's sake, Eddie, stand by me. If you tell about last night I will be disgraced. It will break my people's hearts." There was neither salutation nor signature.

He tore the note into small pieces as he walked along and allowed them to sift into the new grass. He was contemptuous, but the appeal strengthened his determination to protect the weak youth. "If I don't do it, he'll just about go to the dogs," thought Eddie.

Calm Days—Hot! Sultry! Stifling!

There is nothing more satisfying than a glass of Iced Tea Properly Prepared. Its cool-soothing-invigorating. People use it where it is really hot. Ceylon, India and Japan produce the majority of the consumed amount.

SEAL Brand Orange Pekoe is a mixture of choice black teas which will appeal to all lovers of fine tea, and especially to those liking the flavor of Ceylon and India Teas. There is none better than Seal Brand. Its flavor is distinctive. Its taste is mild and mellow, with a curious elusive fragrance not found elsewhere.

It is put up in muslin tea bags and each bag produces Five cups of tea. Expensive! Well, rather, according to weight. Three ounces sell for 56c—20 tea balls, but it makes 100 cups of real tea. Ask your neighbor, she knows.
