THE FABULOUS TOAD.

31 GERMAN PARTIES.
MR. ROSENWALD'S GIFTS.
PICTURES AND VOICE.

A horned toad, known to newspaper readers as Rip Van Winkle, is supposed to have lived more than thirty years in a corner stone without any water or food.

The toad has been seen by many, including the President. Some believe the yarn. The President has not committed himself. When the toad was placed on the President's desk neither said a word.

Now the toad's owner heightens interest, saying that in his dark, airless corner-stone the toad sat next to a Bible, and that noble book enabled him to hold out. Many will believe that. It is a credulous human race.

In a few days Germany will elect a new President, and thirty-one different parties will fight for the seats. These include two Catholics, two Socialists, two Nationalists, three Communists, and three Anti-Semitic parties.

In America we have only two parties that count and our people can hardly keep track of them. Not ten in a hundred could tell what either wants or plans.

Fortunate the country with little political excitement. It is quiet, because it is doing well.

The success of the individual is often the good fortune of the many. Julius Rosenwald, who began with a public school education, courage and the desire to help others, has established a fund for the benefit of humanity, recently adding $2,000,000 to other gifts, now in excess of $25,000,000.

Mr. Rosenwald gives the money to trustees for the public benefit, and imposes only one condition, that "all the money shall be spent, principal and interest, within twenty-five years of Mr. Rosenwald's death."

Moving picture enthusiasts will soon have sound with their pictures. Actors will talk and sing on the screen and news reels will enable crowds to see and HEAR what happens.

Moving picture actors will need good voices as well as beautiful teeth, faces, legs and hair.

Scarcely the actor without a good voice will be a moving picture actor no longer.

William Fox and his "Movietone" aided by Walter S. Gifford, of the telephone company, and Mr. Bloom, of the Western Electric, have convinced the moving picture industry that moving pictures in future will require "sound and fury."

Various changes will come, actors with good voices will be imported to Hollywood or moving picture studios will be transferred to places where good voices can be found.

New York State has signed a check for $33,723,734, the biggest ever drawn by the richest State. The best part of it is that the money will be spent for public schools.

Not long ago every State spent more for prisons than for public schools, and nothing at all for public libraries. There is progress.

Art objects, from the Bronze Age and pottery made by Philistines are dug up in Palestine.

It is impossible to realize what it meant to the human race when the ancients discovered, probably by accident, how to get copper from ore, and went traveling over the earth in search of it.

LIONS TO HAVE CHARTER NIGHT MEET JUNE 18

Ladies To Be Invited; Visiting Speakers Banquet

CONTEST IS PLAN

Clubs To Be Divided Into Teams To Increase Attendance

"Charter Night," one of the most important affairs in the life of a Lions Club, will be observed by Ozona Lions Monday night, June 18, it was decided by the club at its regular luncheon at the Hotel Ozona Monday noon.

The "Charter Night" committee, appointed at the previous meeting was instructed to arrange a program and get things in readiness for the meeting. This committee is composed of Otho Drake, Dr. G. Miller and E. E. Lumpkin. Work has already started on the program and other details are being worked out.

The Club members present Monday voted to extend an invitation to Lions Clubs in nearby towns to send delegations to the Ozona "Charter Night" banquet, and a number of out-of-town celebrities will be invited to be present for the affair.

"Charter Night" will also be "Ladies Night" the club voting to have the "ladies" present on this occasion. The program will begin at 9 o'clock. A banquet will be served and an elaborate program arranged, including a variety of musical numbers and addresses by local and out-of-town speakers.

The charter for the International Lions Clubs for the Ozona club will be presented by District Governor Rosenquest during the "Charter Night" program. Approximately 100 plates are expected to be laid for the banquet.

A contest to increase attendance at the weekly luncheons of the local club was discussed at the Monday meeting and a committee to divide the teams and work out details of the contest was appointed by President Fulmer. This committee is composed of Nelson Hawkins, chairman, Bright Baggett and W. D. Barton. It is planned to have the losing side in the attendance and new member contest treat the winners to a banquet. The committee is to report with its plans at the next meeting when the contest will be launched.

With several business matters up for attention, the program was cut short at the Monday meeting, although the few numbers rendered were greatly enjoyed. Acting upon President Fulmer's suggestion that Lion talent be employed as much as possible in the programs, the program committee headed by Otho Drake, called on the Lion president for a solo number, and he sang a cowboy ditty that made a big hit with the club. Mrs. Fulmer accompanied her husband at the piano and also gave a piano solo, responding to the club's demands with an encore.

Misses Dixie Davidson and Floy Friend then sang two duet numbers, Miss Davidson playing the accompaniment. At the end of the business session, the club voted to give Lioness Davidson a "bouquet of wildflowers" on the occasion of her marriage next week as a token of appreciation for her service to the club. Otho Drake was appointed by the president to "pick the flowers" for the gift.

A meeting of the board of directors of the club will be held some time this week to thrash out several matters of business that are before the organization.

Misses Wanda and Gussie Watson have returned from Baylor College at Belton to spend the summer vacation months with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Watson. Miss Wanda Watson was graduated from Baylor with the 1928 class, Mr. and Mrs. Watson attending the graduating exercises last week.

Miss Emma Phillips Becomes Bride Of Clay Adams At Pretty Church Wedding

Church Is Packed For Occasion; Reception Held Afterward

Miss Emma Lou Phillips, daughter of Mrs. S. B. Phillips, became the bride of Clay Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Adams, at a beautiful wedding solemnized Wednesday evening at the Methodist Church. Rev. J. H. Meredith, Methodist pastor, performed the ceremony at 8:30 p. m. in the presence of a crowd which filled every available seat in the church.

The church was beautifully decorated with red roses and baskets of gladioli on the altar. A canopy of green dotted with red roses hung over the altar. The arch, from which hung a big white bell, was also decorated with roses. Just back of the arch stood two clusters of electric lights representing candles and candelabras with long tapers burned at the outer edges of the altar.

The bride came in on the arm of her brother, Arthur Phillips, who gave her in marriage. She was beautiful in a gown of white brocade satin with a long, tight bodice and a long tiered skirt of maline. Her veil was of lace fashioned like a cap and flowing from her forehead to a long train, with the head piece decorated with strands of pearls. She wore white satin slippers and carried an arm bouquet of white roses and carnations made in the shape of a pillow and with an orchid showing in the center. It was hung with pendants of lilies of the valley.

Miss Dimple Fox of Lampasas was maid of honor and Mrs. Nelson Hawkins of Ozona matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. W. H. Baker of San Angelo, Miss Bennie Polk of San Augustine, Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Mrs. Warren Clayton, and Miss Hester Bunker. Miss Fox wore a beautiful gown of peach colored taffeta, bouffant style, a shoulder bouquet of pastel shades and gold slippers. Mrs. Hawkins wore a green taffeta dress with ruffles of maline, shoulder bouquet of pink and green slippers.

Mrs. Baker wore a dress of peach chiffon, basque style, ruffled skirt and trimmed in cream lace. Miss Polk was dressed in green chiffon with a girde of flowers and wore silver slippers. Mrs. Arthur Phillips wore green chiffon, bouffant style, trimmed with cream lace. She wore peach colored slippers. Mrs. Clayton was attired in a gown of pale pink taffeta with a big corsage of powder blue with long streamers. She wore powder blue slippers.

Miss Bunker wore a dress of lavender taffeta, made basque style, the skirt being composed of scalloped of the same material to resemble flower petals. She wore lavender slippers to match.

Mrs. W. J. Grimmer played the wedding march and during the ceremony, Miss Floy Friend played softly on the violin, Mrs. Grimmer accompanying on the piano. Miss Bennie Polk sang "I Love You Truly," Mrs. Grimmer was dressed in green chiffon, while Miss Friend was attired in pink georgette trimmed with rhinestones.

Lela Mae Phillips, dressed in peach georgette, and Effie Mae Petriny, in a dress of green georgette, were the flower girls, strewn rose petals in the bridal path. Little Priscilla Jean Baker acted as ring bearer. She was dressed in pink taffeta trimmed with maline and decorated with rhinestones.

The groom came in with Boyd Clayton as best man. Warren Clayton and Sherman Taylor were ushers. They all wore boutonnières of white gardenias.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the Phillips' home with members of the bridal party in the receiving line. The bride's mother, attired in rose beige, headed the receiving line. Mrs. Warren Clayton presided over the wedding cake and Mrs. Albert Bailey and Mrs. Evert White at the punch bowl, with Miss Beulah Baggett assisting.

The bride's going-away outfit was of dark blue georgette, heavily trimmed with black iridescent beads. Her hat was of light blue with touches of rose. She wore a tan sport coat and dark shoes.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a honeymoon trip to Colorado after which they will return to make their home here.

SANTA RITA IS VICTIM OF HARD HITTING GIANTS

Locals Win 3rd Straight Victory On Home Diamond 7 to 4

FIFTEEN ERRORS

Santa Rita Makes 11, Ozona 4; Game For Sunday Not Secured

Santa Rita's diamond aggregation waded into an ocean of trouble here Sunday afternoon when they invaded the haunts of the Ozona Giants, the big boys taking the heavy end of a 7 to 4 count from the invading oil town hussies.

Incidentally, Sunday's victory was the third straight for the locals on their own ground. Sonora was the first victim on home soil, that victory avenging a sound drubbing which the Giants had suffered the previous Sunday on Sonora soil. The Iraan Oilers furnished the second choice morsel for the Giants a week from last Sunday and then came the Santa Rita squad.

Who will take a stand against the hard hitting Giants next Sunday had not been decided the middle of the week. Efforts were being made to get a game with Sanderson and several other teams, with the hope of getting a return game here during the rodeo three weeks distant. While they are still on their winning streak the locals are anxious to get a contest for Sunday and with their play improving each week, they expect to be able to take on some fast organizations during the rodeo.

Although Giant batsmen pounded the visiting hurlers heavily, their seven runs were for the most part the result of miscues on the part of the visitors, Santa Rita being credited with eleven errors, giving Ozona but one earned run. Two of the four runs made by the visitors, however, were also the result of errors, the Giants having four miscues chalked up for them. Ozona sluggers got eleven safeties while the visitors got seven.

Lockhart, Ozona's third sacker and relief pitcher, started in the box and allowed two hits and struck out three men in six innings. King, ace moundman for Ozona, went into the box in the seventh and struck out five opposing batsmen in three innings.

The Play-by-Play:
First Inning
SANTA RITA—Cooper walked, stole second, Pitzer fled to right and Cooper was out at third, right to second to third. Brannon was out, first to pitcher. Non runs, no hits, no errors.

OZONA—F. Russell fanned. C. Russell was out, second to first. Cobb walked. King was out, second to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
SANTA RITA—Graham was out, short to first. Shelton singled to right, stole second and third. Mates was hit by a pitched ball, stole second. Shelton was caught off third and was out, catcher to third. Mates was safe a moment later when third let the catcher's throw get away. Johnson fled to second. No runs, one hit, one error.

OZONA—Bob Weaver was out, to first unassisted. R. Russell fled to left. Lockhart singled to left. J. R. Weaver singled to right. Kyle was out pitcher to first. No runs, two hits, no errors.

$2000 Worth Of Liquor Is Seized By Officers

Approximately $2,000 worth of liquor was seized by Texas Rangers and Del Rio officers about twelve miles from Ozona on the Del Rio road Tuesday night following a chase after liquor laden automobile from Del Rio.

Three Mexicans who are said to have been in a car ahead of the liquor car were arrested by the officers. The Mexicans were stopped on the road by the officers and while they were searching the car another car stopped behind the Mexicans' car. After searching the Mexicans' car and finding nothing, the officers went to the other car and found the liquor but nobody was in the car. The car and liquor were seized.

OZONA BAPTISTS WILL ERECT NEW CHURCH BLDG.

General Opinion Is The Present Is Best Time To Launch Move

NAME COMMITTEE

Active Work Toward Goal Expected To Start In Few Weeks

At the morning service Sunday the Baptist Church voted without a dissenting voice to enter into a building program for a new and modern building. This action came as the climax to the service which was given over to the discussion of the need for a new building and the advisability of building now.

The pastor, Rev. M. M. Fulmer, spoke first, clearly outlining the need for a larger and more modern plant, and challenging the people to follow the leadership of the Lord and build now. The pastor then called upon the congregation to express itself on the matter and many fine talks were made the spirit of each one being that now is the time to build, and with the help of God it can be done. Robert Cooke perhaps voiced the feeling of the entire crowd when he said very simply, "Where He leads me I will follow."

Rev. Fulmer stated that prior to the meeting he had talked personally with many of the members and had found the most enthusiastic response and hearty good will toward the undertaking. "Not a single one approached was opposed to it," he said.

A Building Committee of seven was appointed at the regular business meeting in the afternoon. This committee is headed by Ira Carson, local ranchman, who is eminently qualified for this responsible position. He is to be assisted by A. C. Hoover, Mrs. Laura Hoover, Ray Dunlap, J. T. Keeton, F. A. Gray and Mrs. S. L. Butler. Others will be added to this committee as needed. This committee is representative of the varied interests of the church and can be depended on to do the work, the pastor said. At a meeting of the committee Monday night plans for the proposed building were discussed and committees appointed to get in touch with the denominational architectural agency as well as nearby architects. Work on the building will be in as soon as plans can be agreed on, blue prints drawn and contracts let.

The new church will be modern in every way, with departments for the different grades in the Sunday School and BYPU. When completed it will be an attractive improvement to the churches Ozona now has.

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Published Every Thursday Morning at Ozona, Texas, County Seat of Crockett County

Ozona, Texas, Thursday, June 7, 1923.

The regular summer epidemic of advertising grafters has struck Ozona, two serious cases going the rounds in the past two weeks. These fellows get the itch-foot as soon as the sap begins to rise and they lay out an itinerary that includes all the small towns in a given area.

They breeze into the town with the air of a Packard salesman and "high pressure" the small town for a hundred or so dollars before anybody knows just what is happening. They sell advertising on anything (except where it will do the advertiser some good). They sell advertising on menus, hotel cards, laundry shirt boards, calendars, programs, anything where a semblance of value can rest and they sell it high.

They offer somebody something for nothing, in other words if a cafe needs a menu (or whether it needs it or not for that matter) they offer him a new and a fancier one, all free for nothing. Naturally the cafe man tells him to pass it over. Then the "high pressure" man goes out to the merchants and tells them that this cafe man wants a new menu card but can't afford one, is absolutely destitute and unless the merchant takes advertising space on the new card he will have to go on using the old disgraceful one.

And what's more he tells each business man that the cafe man in question "especially urged him to call on that particular business firm and even reserved the advertising space for him." In other words, the "high pressure" method is to hang the responsibility on the local man for whom the card, program or menu is being worked up—to make the merchant feel that he is doing the local man a favor by taking advertising space on the card.

Go talk to the cafe man before you buy space on these cards. He will tell you that the only thing he had to do with it was to accept something offered to him for nothing. He didn't even furnish the salesman with a list of prospects—prospects are what you just naturally can't hide from those birds.

The Stockman job printing department usually gets a printing job out of these graft schemes—that is, if we bid low enough, otherwise the grafter will take it to some second rate shop in a big town where prices and the quality of work are about the same—low. Frankly, if we could refuse to do this work and keep these fellows out of town, we would not hesitate to do so. But the only way to keep them out of town is to refuse to fall in with their tin-horn graft schemes. If some local business or institution wants something in the line of the grafter, and hasn't the money to buy it, it would be a lot less expensive for the business men of the town to chip in a few pennies, and buy it for him without any advertising on it—it would look a lot better and would be much better advertising for the merchant to be off rather than on it.

Rear Admiral Plunkett and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt have lately prophesied that the United States soon is to be involved in another great war. Their prophecies are probably of no greater value than are those of an amateur weather forecaster, however.

But just the same they should prompt intelligent people to do a little thinking about the cost of war in these piping times of peace. The cost of the World War to this country has been figured about $30,000,000 a day. Another war would probably cost more. Then, too, the cost in life makes cheap the cost in money.

Let the intelligent people, however place merely the $30,000,000 a day item in one pan of the scales and put in the other pan the things that can be bought with that sum to improve conditions in this country. Throw into the other pan, for example, miles of good roads, thousands of dollars worth of new equipment for hundreds of country schools, lower taxes, and dozens of other items.

After the scales have been balanced, the cost of war in peace time achievements will be more clear.

The horned toad found sealed in a cornerstone, and still alive after 31 years' imprisonment, was taken to New York. It probably would feel quite at home in some of our modern apartments!

No doubt many presidential hopefuls are now doomed to be either also-rans or running mates!

An exhaustive search throughout Angora failed to reveal a single Angora Cat. That seems strange, except to people who have tried looking for the chicken in a restaurant chicken salad.

A fire in New Jersey recently halted a lecture. Wonder if this bit of news hasn't set some college students thing?

SYNOPSIS

Palmyra Tree, aboard the yacht, Rainbow, discovers a stowaway. She is disappointed in his mild appearance and tells him so. Obeying his command to glance at the door, she sees a huge, fierce, copper-hued man with a ten inch knife between his lips. The stowaway, Burke, and the brown man, Olive, go up on deck and tell stories of adventure which are not believed.

Palmyra decides she loves Van. The night the engagement is announced the Rainbow hits a reef. John Thurston rescues both Van and Palmyra—but Palmyra thinks Van saved her.

A sail is sighted after three days on an island. It is Ponape Burke, the stowaway! Burke has to put her ashore on an island, as a Japanese man-of-war is sighted and it would be dangerous to have her aboard. Olive swims to the island and joins Palmyra. She is in fear of the brown man. Now read on—

She must make the leaf noticeable. Nothing else at hand, she drew off one of her wet stockings. She smiled drearly. Silken hosiery where hosiery was unknown. That should attract attention.

With the stocking she bound a fragment of coral to the leaf. Then gazing apprehensively about, she began to crawl forward. She must not try to get too far. And at that slightest sound she must drop the missile before Olive could see.

Within five or six yards the cover ended. Beyond in the moonlight lay a barren sand, foot trampled, a place in frequent visitation. She would have liked to go further. But the danger was tremendous, the gain uncertain. She paused breathlessly to listen. Then she flung the weighted leaf.

From out there a clink of sound reached back, brazen loud to her straining senses as a gong. It seemed impossible that Olive should not hear; should not spring grinning from the thicket; should not, unerringly as a dog, nose up, snatch that precious message, her only hope.

For an interval she hung on, waiting. Then, in the unexpect silence, body and mind collapsed. She dragged herself back to the waiting place, but she was unaware of it. The sand warmed her, the earth rocked her as in a cradle, but—she was asleep.

For ages she must have laid in torpor. Then, suddenly, she awoke. She was clasped tight in a pair of great arms; held close to a naked breast. No need for her to see that grinning face. It was the beast!

Desperately she put all her strength into a lunge. So unexpected this effort to get free that success was hers. Surprisingly, indeed, she flung herself quite clear of those arms—and fell, with a strangling gasp, into water that rose above her head.

When Palmyra Tree thus flung herself out of the arms of Olive, the brown man had been carrying her again down into the sea. The strong rescued her, yet she fought desperately. Ashore, she had been slow to trust those half seen figures about the fires. Having trusted, she could not bear to be snatched away before her appeal had been found.

The moon was gone in a down-pour of rain. Sky and sea and land had lost form—dissolved. And yet in this melting world something had remained solid, for presently the girl received a smart bump between the shoulders. Twisting, she found an unstable shape that, intuition, rather than sight, identified as a canoe.

Olive sat her on the canoe, steadied her there, pointed. His hand seemed to fade into nothingness. He raised her own arm so she could feel the direction. No need for Olive to thrust his face close to hers and make the sign of the scar. It was the pursuing Burke.

She had just been struggling to free herself of the brown man, yet now, when she saw that success would have thrown her at once into the hands of the white, she was aghast. For with Burke present his timid creatures ceased to offer any chance; it was again with Olive's clansmen she felt her hope to lie.

But there was the leaf letter! She strove to make Olive understand they must go back. She pointed landward, gesticulated.

It was inevitable he should think she continued in resistance. He took her firmly, laid her prone, made her grip the framework.

With the paddle, strong, noiseless, Olive drove the canoe out into the world of waters.

Relieved of her apprehension, she began to patch together the incidents of their flight, into a revealing film. When the wind had revived to let Ponape Burke beat back to the first island in pursuit of Olive—(could it really be little more than twenty-four hours since the white man imprisoned her there?)—he found the place abandoned. He had also found her supplies gone, a thing implying a boat and Olive's forgery of a boat's imprint on the sand, a counterfeit softened into verisimilitude by the placid tide.

Burke must either detect the fraud, or believe some vessel, almost certainly the Japanese gunboat, had sighted her distress signals. In that event, he was free to assume Olive had drowned in his effort to reach land, had arrived too late and then swum away, or had been taken off with the girl, presumably against his will.

She had no knowledge where Jaluit lay, or how far. But it was within reach; her only hope. As the former German base, there must yet be four or five white men and a dozen or so of Japs; and if this one of the two American mission centers was closed, still native Christians.

She so wanted to go to Jaluit that she could not fail to endow ing here there. Absurd though the this savage with the grace of taking, it gripped her till she could not, for the moment, but believe it true.

After all, though, what could it serve? She tried to rise for a view astern, but dared not stand. She saw no sail, yet knew her letter, the canoe theft, had made a chase certain. Their flying start would save them from other canoes but not from the swift Pigeon of Noah.

Now and then her companion himself would rouse to stand with ease on the jumping canoe and scan the sea for an enemy.

In one of these wakeful intervals she made, interrogatively, the sign of the scar which had come, in the conversations, to signify the white man. Passing at once from his Buddha-like repose into the animation of discourse, Olive pointed to the sun and then to a spot considerably further along in its line of march. Pursuit, it seemed, must be expected, but not as yet.

Now followed a long pantomime at times unintelligible. The brown man, in his explanation, was hampered by the limit of action possible in a canoe. His story included himself and Burke, the island, the knife, what seemed to be a gun, the canoe, the Pigeon of Noah. Much of it, as it came, was meaningless because she did not grasp other parts upon which the meaning depended.

There was a point which baffled her, where Olive went through the motions of binding hands and feet and forced something crosswise, into his mouth. At first she thought he himself had been tied and gagged, then it must have been Burke. But long afterwards, when the savage had again sunk into stupor, the explanation had flashed into her mind. She could now reconstruct the scene ashore. In part from what Olive had made clear, in part from what her intelligence told her must have occurred.

Ponape Burke, then, had felt that, if they had not been rescued by some vessel, they must have a canoe. And to make sure they should not get one in the dark hours, he had had all the canoes on the island brought together and had set over these a guard of two men with rifles, himself waiting near. Olive, she surmised, had expected secretly to obtain a canoe from a friend and so sail without destroying Burke's possible belief in the fictitious ship. But the brown man, to his dismay, had found this impossible. As daylight must not discover them ashore, he had had no alternative save to take a canoe by force.

Under cover of the rain he had somehow managed to surprise, had bound the guards and got away without an alarm. He had hoped to prevent chase thus made certain by cutting rigging on the schooner but, for some reason, had had to desist with little more than an hour or so of delay ensured.

One detail of Olive's pantomime explained perhaps why Burke had trusted the canoes to any guard but his own. He had been drinking heavily.

And so it was she responded with a cry when Olive, at last, clicking his tongue with chagrin, pointed astern.

No need for her eyes to seek out a tiny something against the sky to know that the Lupe-a-Noa was come.

CHAPTER VIII
She would have snatched her parasol to raise as an additional sail, but now, to her astonishment, she found that Olive was not making sail, but taking it in.

BRIDE-TO-BE JOINT HONOREES AT BRIDGE

Miss Hester Bunger entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of her parents with seven tables of bridge in honor of Miss Emma Lou Phillips and Miss Dixie Davidson, two brides elect for this month. The color scheme was green and lavender and pink. The nut baskets on the tables were flowerlike contrivances in these colors and were filled with mint covered almonds of the same colors. Instead of passing the score cards plates of small corsages were passed and the guests found their tables by matching their flowers with those on the various tables. At the close of the games the honorees were presented with beautiful lined luncheon clothes. High score, a picture, went to Mrs. Bryan McDonald. Congealed fruit salad, olives, potato chips and ice tea were served.

Those present were Mesdames Joe Pierce, Joe Oberkamp, Warren Clayton, Albert Bailey, Robert Austin, Peter Fox, Baker, Hillery Phillips, Arthur Phillips, Bryan McDonald, W. J. Grimmer, Chas. E. Davidson, Jr., Massie West, Jake Short, Evert White, Nelson Hawkins, and Misses Dixie Davidson, Emma Lou Phillips, Carolyn Fox, Bennie Polk, Keeton, Elizabeth Davidson, Mary Augustine, Vivian Baggett, Lillie Flynn Myers, Floy Friend, Louise Coates, Ethel Childress and Josephine Nolen.

Wilson Motor Co. Gets Into New Structure At Big Lake

(From Big Lake Wildest)
The grand opening of the Lee Wilson Motor Co. in their new building Thursday night was one of the most auspicious occasions in the history of the town.

The building is the largest and will be the best equipped of any garage in Big Lake—covering two lots 50x140 feet and equipped with the very best and latest of steel furniture and fixtures, and being absolutely fireproof. It would do credit to cities like unto Dallas and Fort Worth.

The building is not yet completed, though they are moving in today. It will probably be the later part of next week before they are entirely moved in and "located" where they will be "set."

While Mr. Wilson handles the Buick Cars exclusively he has the very best of mechanics and is prepared to do repair work on any make of car and do the work right. His accessories department is most complete and his service A1.

The Wilson Motor Co. was formally opened to the public in their new building Thursday night with prizes in the amount of $285 given away. Prize winners were as follows:

First prize, radio set complete with everything installed, value $150, went to Mrs. R. S. McDonald. Second prize, victrola portable talking machine, with 20 records, value $50, to R. L. Slaughter.

Third prize, wrist watch, value $25, to John Meisenbocker. Fourth prize, ten dollar bill, to J. V. Dyson.

In addition to the above cash prizes were given to the ones guessing the nearest number of strokes required to burst a General Red Tube taken from their stock.

Seven hundred fifty-six strokes of the pump were necessary to burst the tube and those making the first guess, were given precedence. These are the winners in this contest:

First prize $25 cash went to W. D. Hudson, Jr., who guessed 755—one less than the number of strokes required to burst the tube.

Frank McGuire and Daisy Jones tied on the second guess but McGuire had registered first and took second prize, $15 cash. Daisy Jones was given third prize, $10 cash.

After the drawing the big dance was pulled off under the auspices of the Big Lake Lions. This was well attended and the total sum of $198 was taken, netting the Lions, after all bills were paid a little over than $59.

This ended one of the most auspicious openings ever witnessed in the city of Big Lake.

ENGRAVED CARDS AND INVITATIONS. New sample book showing all the latest styles of engraving and new stock. We place your order with the same engraving concern that firms in the cities send it to and we personally guarantee every engraving job that is ordered. And what's more, you get it at the SAME price that you would pay in a larger city. Ozona Stockman.

Install New Fountain At Smith Drug No. 1

A new Frigidaire equipped fountain is being installed this week in the Smith Drug Store No. 1 here.

The new fountain is one of the latest and best equipped on the market and when the installation is completed, the two Ozona drug stores will boast as good fountain service as any in the state. The No. 1 store fountain was purchased new with equipment for the new building last year and the Concho Drug Company of San Angelo, owners of the local stores, ordered the new complete fountain for the No. 1 store to bring the local service up to the highest standard.

Other improvements in the equipment of the No. 1 store are contemplated in the near future, it was indicated.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

Pursuant to order of Commissioner's Court of Crockett County made and entered because of a legal and valid petition filed in said Court it is my order and notice that an election be held at the several voting boxes in Crockett County, Texas on June 23rd, 1928 to determine whether horses, mules, jacks, jennets and cattle, and also hogs, sheep and goats shall be permitted to run at large in said county.

Polls will be opened in the following places:

In Precinct No. 1 at Court House and I appoint John Bailey presiding officer.

In Precinct No. 2 at the school house in Leon Powell, and I appoint L. P. Powell presiding officer.

In Precinct No. 3 at ranch house of Wilse Owens, and I appoint A. C. Hoover presiding officer.

In Precinct No. 4. at Collins Coates Howard Well ranch house and I appoint Sid Millsbaugh presiding officer.

In Precinct No. 5. at school house in El Masho and I appoint George L. Thompson presiding officer.

In Precinct No. 6. at main office building of Pecos Valley Power & Light Company and I appoint J. R. Jones presiding officer.

All persons qualified to vote in a general election may vote in this.

However, you are cautioned that because one statute covers hogs, sheep and goats and another statute enumerates only horses, mules, jacks, jennets and cattle it will require two ballot boxes and a set of returns for each box, and each voter will cast two ballots, one for the hogs, sheep and goat box, and the other for the horse, mule, jack, jennets, and cattle box.

In either case the tickets are the same, and the voter desiring to keep hogs, sheep and goats from running at large will hand in a ticket which has written or printed on it "For the Stock Law"; if the voter does not wish to restrain hogs, sheep and goats from running at large he will hand in a ticket which has written or printed on it "Against the Stock Law." Whichever ticket he hands in will be deposited by the officers of election in the "Sheep" box, after of course it has been numbered and the voter's name and number entered on the poll list. Then the same voter in like manner hands in a ticket for the Horse, Mule, Jacks, Jennets and Cattle box. The officers of election will be supplied with two sets of Election papers, and they are asked to keep in mind that they are really holding two elections.

Officers of Election have ten days after election in which to deliver the Returns to County Judge

The Store For Everybody

Red Hair and Blue Sea

Slowly the speck that was the Pigeon of Noah grew larger. One hardly believed so small a thing could threaten so much of evil. She understood now why Olive had not tried to run. Their hope depended, not on flight, but in lying unobserved.

As the topmasts had risen ever higher against the sky, so now they receded—and were gone.

It was now, in this last twelve hours that Palmyra had seen Olive for the first time handle a curious kite-frame affair of sticks, decked out with small yellow cowry shells. This frame she had noticed at her original inspection of the canoe, an since, when she was not too tired, too frightened, too miserable to think at all, she had wondered what it could be.

This contrivance which she had endowed with so much of mystery proved to be nothing more than the brown man's chart. Yet, even at that, it was still a mystery. Among the islanders it was forbidden except to the hereditary navigators, and among white men few had ever grasped its application; none, perhaps, had ever been able to read upon the ocean's surface its guides and warnings.

With such a frame of sticks, however, Olive, could he have made it plain to her, sailed from lagoon to lagoon across the trackless ocean in almost the assurance of a civilized mariner with chart, compass and sextant.

That night, she awoke to find herself, again, encircled by those great arms, held close against that copper breast. But no struggle now. It was land, land—thank God, land!

Was the island inhabited? She had seen no sign, and Olive appeared at ease. But then this was the ocean side of the atoll at night abandoned to the ghosts. Anyone who saw her would think her a disembodied spirit. She shuddered. Was she now in truth more than the shadow of her former self?

As the savage lay asleep, the knife sheath on his belt was uppermost. When the girl's eyes reopened they became fixed upon that blade. It was very close. Almost she could reach out and touch the handle. She thought of the other times she would have disarmed him.

As she sat, her fingers went out once and again experimentally toward the knife, and were withdrawn. The savage, contrary to her expectations, did not awake to accuse her. She knew by now it really made no difference who had the knife.

A third time then her hand went out—and closed upon the wooden handle. The knife was loose in the sheath. Slowly she drew the weapon forth.

The girl was thrilled, intimidated by her success. Olive had become so much the ogre that she had had the feeling it would be impossible, in slightest degree, to thwart him. Yet here, by reaching out her hand, she had his precious knife!

She did not shudder at the thought as she had once before. Association had made a serious purpose no longer possible. She only glowed in a new sense of power, restoring her self-esteem, her good humor.

Quickly, however this elation faded. In its place she found, to her surprise, a touch of guilt, as if she had been untrue to a trust. He had trusted her, and now, lying there in all his strength, he was like Samson. How had Delilah felt as the shears cut through the last of those locks? But Palmyra was not irrevocably a Delilah, for she could restore the knife.

She was indeed leaning forward with that purpose, when the savage awoke. Panic stricken, the girl jerked back, not in fear of his anger, but in a guilty apprehension that, seeing the knife above him, he might think she attempted murder.

Unaware, the brown man sat up at once, looked at the heavens, his clock. Then he sprang to his feet, caught her up once more like a child, started for the canoe.

Palmyra wanted to give the knife back, but her arm was pinned. She tried to bring it forward felt the brown man's precautionary tightening of his hold, became again conscious of her grievance, jerked vigorously.

Olive was like a long-suffering parent. He did not know why she resisted, but he did know he could bundle her up close in his arms, with one broad hand across her mouth.

Sudden rage possessed the girl. She would not be treated so. She struggled with all her might. The knife impeded her and she flung it down.

The blade fell noiselessly. As it struck in the flooding moonlight it sent out one futile flash. But the savage, all unaware, marched on, holding the girl in a vise-like grip. When Olive had carried Palmyra thus unceremoniously down to their canoe, the sea was not long in reasserting its power. Her spite had been too brief for any real rally against the tyrant savage.

As the craft cut its way through the water, the girl was increasingly sorry for what she had done. Her act had been deliberate, but afterwards, at the canoe, she had (Continued on page 7) failed to call his attention to the empty sheath.

She was astonished now that so infallible a machine should not at most immediately have discovered the loss.

Not, however, until the hour for bananas and cocoanut did the square copper hand go back after the blade. Then there appeared upon that face what was actually an expression—puzzled, startled, be-reaved.

The queer brown-shot eyes fixed themselves upon her. For a moment there seemed a pained reproach in them, but he spoke no word. Instead, he stooped, and she saw with a gasp that he was drawing from its place a heavy stick.

The brown man picked up one of the cocoanuts, and cautioned her with those square hands, so expressive where his face was blank. Then he raised the nut and brought down upon the sharpened stick. The wood entered the green husk. With a sidewise prying motion that wrenched her hands, despite the supporting framework, he tore off a section of the husk. Again the nut came down upon the point, impaling itself, and in a moment the whole husk was removed.

After Olive had husked several of the nuts, he opened two by peeling them with the sharp end of a third, trepanning them as neatly as a surgeon.

The girl accepted food and drink humbly.

She would have struck her knife to the heart of this brown man—and he meant only to give her food.

Her eyes filled. With a girlish impulse she thrust her hand into her dress and drew out the weapon. She would make amend.

There was something very sweet in the gesture, in the expression with which she offered the knife. But the savage accepted her surrender in the serene seeming unconsciousness of the Budhas when their devotees lay before them gifts that may have meant months perhaps years of sacrifice.

In a new sense of trust, she turned quickly to him, her cheeks flushing, and spoke his name as nearly as she could in the way he liked: "O-lee-vay."

He looked up surprised.

"O-lee-vay," she repeated—"Ja-Jaluit?"

He did not comprehend. She tried the pronunciation with varying inflections. Then, perception.

The savage grinned, raised an arm and cheerfully informative—pointed astern.

The girl caught her breath. "Oh, no, no!" she cried in panic. "You don't, don't understand. Ja-luit—Ja-lu-eet."

But all too plainly he did understand. And he was sailing directly away from her one chance of escape.

As she stared unblinkingly across the seas the low black streamer of cloud unavoidably, in the intensity of her desire, suggested to her mind the smoke of a vessel racing to her aid.

The cloud, as is now and then the case, was not unlike the smudge from a funnel. And, in her fatigue, her helplessness, the very impossibility of the thing gave to this product of her imagination an extraordinary power.

She saw the steamer rising from the ocean. She climbed its ladder to the rail. And there, triumphant on its deck, she was safe!

And in that moment she knew she could not be hard on the brown man. She would not demand his punishment. Only a savage after all—no knight errant of the deep sea—his very savagery was his excuse. He had known no better, was not to be blamed. Yet he'd been kind to her and he had saved her from Burke.

At the parting she would thank him. She would load his canoe with gifts. Or, better still, though he'd carried her wife of her own port of refuge, she would give him passage to some island beyond reach of the murderous Ponape.

And then, suddenly, Palmyra Tree was back in the canoe, her heart beating to suffocation. For her dream was not a dream. The cloud was not a cloud. It was smoke, smoke! smoke!!

Her ship had come!

MISS DIXIE DAVIDSON HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. John Bailey, Mrs. Bascomb Cox and Mrs. Albert Bailey entertained with a shower in honor of Miss Dixie Davidson, a bride-to-be, last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Bailey. Behind the honoree's chair was an enormous umbrella of white lavender and pink which concealed numerous gifts. Before presenting these, Mrs. Bascomb Cox sang, Mrs. A. W. Jones gave a reading and Mrs. M. M. Fulmer gave two choice selections on the piano.

After the presentation of the gifts the honoree delighted the guests with a number of compositions on the piano, many of them original.

At the close of the entertainment deliciously cool punch and fruit pockets were served.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

When you buy an electric refrigerator, do a bit of investigating on your own. Look under the cabinet, look carefully inside it, and, above all things, listen to it.

When you look under the cabinet do you find moving parts of machinery or no machinery at all? In the General Electric Refrigerator, you'll notice at once that all the models are up-on-legs. This means an easy job cleaning under them. And it also means that all the machinery is safely sealed away in the air-tight steel casing which you see mounted on the top of the cabinet.

Look inside. Is there really ample food space? You will find in the General Electric Refrigerator that the chilling chamber is amazingly compact. It actually takes little more space than the trays in which your ice is frozen.

Then listen. This you must do. We want you to judge for yourself the quietness of this remarkable refrigerator. Come in today. Time payments can be arranged, if you wish.

Sheffield Mail Is Discontinued

Postal Department Cuts Off Star Route After Inspection

The star mail route between Ozona and Sheffield has been discontinued.

Sam Bean, who operates a truck line between Ozona and Sheffield and who has had the contract for carrying the mail made the last haul of mail last Thursday, it was announced at the Ozona postoffice.

Discontinuance of the star route was ordered following a recent inspection of the route by a postal inspector sent here by the department at Washington.

The route was ordered discontinued more than a month ago but upon protest from citizens of Ozona, Congressman Claude Hudspeth secured a postponement of the order until an investigation could be made. At the suggestion of local petitioners to the postoffice department presented by the congressman, an inspector from another district was sent here to make a study of the situation. He recommended that the line be pulled off and the order was sent out from Washington. Efforts are being made by a group of citizens here to bring about a reinstatement of the line.

Under the new system, mail destined for Sheffield from Ozona will now go by train to Rankin and will be taken from there by truck to Sheffield, a line running from Rankin to the oil field towns in that area and on to Sheffield. However, according to postmaster J. R. Kersey, the new system will not make mail service any longer or more expensive between the two towns, the new routing making it possible to send mail to Sheffield every day instead of three times a week as heretofore.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kincaid attended the Commencement exercises at the A. & M. College, their son, T. A. Jr., receiving his degree from that institution with this year's class. Before going to the college, Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid transacted business in Fort Worth and Dallas.

Miss Elizabeth Davidson has returned from Ward Belmont at Nashville, Tenn., where she has been a student the past year. Miss Davidson was elected president of her fraternal club, the Pandora Club, at the election of officers for the coming year. Miss Davidson was met in Fort Worth by Marshall Brown, fiance of her sister, Miss Dixie Davidson, who brought her to Ozona in his automobile.

Ozona Negro Baptists Organize Church; Rev. Burton Named Pastor

After a series of meetings conducted by Rev. Burton, a negro preacher of Fort Worth, negro Baptists of Ozona organized a Baptist church in the city to be known as the Mount Gilead Baptist Church. Twelve members constitute the charter organization.

The infant church immediately called Rev. Burton as its pastor. Rev. Burton accepted and will give the local negroes half time services, being also pastor at Big Lake. The pastor shortly after his selection appointed committees to secure a place for meetings. A brush arbor likely will be employed during the summer, he declared.

The revival services were conducted in the annex of the Ozona Baptist Church through the kindness of the congregation of that church. A number of white people attended the services.

Ozona Boy Scouts Win First Honors In Camp Inspection

Ozona Boy Scouts attending the encampment at Camp Kickapoo this week won first honors Wednesday in the troop inspection, according to a report brought back by A. W. Jones and Pon Seahorn, who visited the camp Wednesday. Ozona and Eldorado troops tied for first place in the inspection, but Eldorado's discipline was not quite up to standard and the honor went to Ozona.

Gene Thornton, bootmaker at the Jones Saddlery, accompanied Mr. Jones and Mr. Seahorn and relieved W. R. Baggett, who has been with the Ozona boys in camp. Mr. Thornton will remain with the boys until the close of the camp next Tuesday.

Lee Graves, one of the Ozona Scouts attending the camp, was brought home by Mr. Baggett on account of illness. Although ill, Lee passed his Tenderfoot tests before leaving the camp and was recognized by Scout Executive Brice Draper.
