DEBATE AT KNOTT
The debate at Knott last Sunday between J. D. Boren, Church of Christ, Big Spring and J. L. Davis, Missionary Baptist, Fort Worth, was conducted in a fine way and enjoyed by all. The tabernacle was not near large enough to take care of the crowd that came. Dinner was spread on the ground and everybody enjoyed a feast of good eats together. The debate led to another. Beginning Thursday night, April 7, Bro. A. LeRoy Elkins of Lamesa Church of Christ will meet Mr. Davis on the baptism question. This will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights and then an all day session with dinner on the ground again Sunday. That is the plan at this time and more definite announcement will appear next week. They will discuss the question of apostasy (commonly thought of as falling from grace) Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Church of Christ tabernacle, Big Spring. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

Have some choice trackage property; also good lots on East and West Third streets. Shockley & Martin—phone 205.

Mrs. Steve Calverly of Garden City was a visitor in Big Spring Monday.

Notes from Other West Texas Fields

Winkler County New One

It is reported that the Gulf No. 1 Hendrick, in Winkler County, struck the pay at 2250 feet and is making about 300 barrels daily. This well is located on section 41, block B-5. The Southern Crude discovery well is reported to have made over 400 barrels one day this week, flowing by heads.—Midland Reporter.

Drilling Around Pecos

Eleven wells in the Pecos oil fields are now actively engaged in operations, with one producing, and five just commencing the test of their acreage. Winkler County development is adjoining the Loving County activities and may lead to more extensive exploration there from present outlook.—Pecos Enterprise.

Drilling Near Tahoka

O'Donnell's first wildcat test since the recent discovery of oil in a water well on the Yeates farm 10 miles west of town was spudded in Tuesday afternoon.

The location was made on the Yeates farm about 100 yards northwest of the discovery well which has caused so much excitement during the past sixty days. The test is the first of three shallow tests to be sunk in this vicinity by Dr. H. S. Gerson and associates, drillers of the Brownfield wildcat which is attracting considerable attention.—Lyon County News (Tahoka).

Brownfield Well Hit Cavern

For the time being there is no drilling on the oil well in the Brownfield ranch, as a joint of casing some 1200 feet under the ground has been crushed so badly that the drill will not pass through it. It was supposed to have either been crushed by great water pressure or the falling in of a huge stone, as a great vacant place like a cavern was found at that depth, which they tried to fill in with concrete.

Some thirteen stratas of water has been encountered in the 1200 feet, all of them heavy ones. It is thought that probably all of them have been converged. As soon as the casing is pulled and a new joint put in, we understand that drilling will be resumed.—Terry County Herald.

Drilling Going Ahead

The recent cuts in the price of crude oil, while tending to put a slight damper on drilling, has had little or no effect whatever on leasing activities in Reagan County. A large body of acreage is now being blocked up and a test is scheduled to start in the near future about three miles south of the Moody Corporation's Sawyer Cattle Company ranch No. 1, which was plugged some few weeks ago, after having shown up with a quantity of good live oil, said to have been the best showing of any well drilled in this section. At any rate, this test will prove the means of several more holes being drilled on the Sawyer ranch property and lands adjoining.—Big Lake Wildcat.

Developments at Odessa

According to W. S. Parish, president of the Humble Oil & Refining Co., in his speech to the business men of Odessa, at the banquet tendered the officials of his company and the Standard Oil of New Jersey, the drop in the price of crude oil will not stop the development in the oil industry.

There has been considerable leasing and buying of royalties around Odessa the past week. Several large companies, through their agents have picked up small acreage that has been heretofore seemingly overlooked.

Several more supply houses have bought locations here the past week. A representative of the National Supply company was in town Monday with Mr. Griffith, assistant Land Commissioner of the T. & P. railroad company, seeking a location for his company.

The Parkersburg Rig and Reel Co. purchased a half block of Steakley Oil company this location being railroad frontage.

The Magnolia Petroleum Co. added to their already extensive holdings here this week another four acre tract adjoining their railroad frontage. The land was purchased of Mrs. Dona Rabb, and the company is making very rapid development in their improvements on said properties. A private side track, concrete casing rack and much other building is being carried on on their holdings just east of town.—Ector County News (Odessa).

Gulf Pipe Line Route Along T. & P. The Gulf Pipe Line Company has started surveying the route for a ten inch trunk line from Ranger to the Crane-Upton fields, and work was begun Tuesday from the east end by a crew of 18 civil engineers. The new trunk line, although no date has been set for the starting of construction, will connect at Ranger with the Gulf's main Texas line, which leads eastward through Fort Worth to Saltillo, where it hooks on to the main line from Oklahoma. It will pass through the southern end of Jones County field, and although it is understood the West Texas trunk will be built primarily to transport oil from the Church and Fields and the McElroy pools in Crane County, there is a possibility that Jones County production will also be handled. The system will also connect with the Gulf's Panhandle pipe line, which is being completed from there to Ranger.

Gulf only recently completed and placed in operation an eight-inch pipe line from the McElroy field to a point three and a half miles east of Midland, where a thirty car loading rack was built on the T. & P. Railroad, and a large tank farm was placed. The opening of the Crane County line relieved congestion to a large extent in the Crane-Upton area, and Gulf officials stated for publication at the time construction was started that a trunk line into West Texas was then contemplated, although no definite date had been set for work to start. The Humble Pipe Line Co. has at present the only trunk line into West Texas, with a looped eight-inch line from Comyn to McCamey. While the Marland, Texas, Roxana, Southern and Gulf all have pipe lines in West Texas now in addition to the Humble, all of their production is handled through loading racks to car rail shipments.—San Angelo Standard.

BIG UTILITY IMPROVEMENTS

The extent of the operations of enterprises other than those directly connected with the oil development are hardly realized by the average citizen.

For instance, the electric light and power people are working approximately 200 men, divided as between erecting a high power line to the oil fields and installing new machinery and buildings at the plant north of the railroad. Extensive purchases of real estate and plans to buy more are of the program of the Texas Electric Service Co. in making Big Spring what might be termed a "division point" for their extensive West Texas extensions and service.

Another good-sized bunch of men is employed here by the Southwestern Telephone Company, in stringing wires, erection and replacement of poles and otherwise improving the service here. A new switchboard, additional operators, and other increases and improvements are of the present installation and a survey of the town and district is to follow, this to determine the advisability of installing a strictly modern plant and service.

The base ball park is employing a score of men in cleaning grounds and erecting fences and grand stand, many new houses are giving builders, local and imported, steady work, the railroad is employing extra help and giving the men all the overtime they can stand up to. Farming operations are under way, with employment of much help and in many ways and occupations the pay roll feature is figuring extraordinarily high for this season of the year. Added to such general activities is the oil development, in field and supply work with hundreds of high-priced men.

Verily, Big Spring is opening the spring with fine prospects for prosperity for all.

ENROLL YOUR CHILD NOW OR PAY TUITION ALL NEXT YEAR

Mrs. F. M. Purser has been taking the school census all during the month of March and will continue to enroll children of school age until April 1. If you have not given the names of your children to Mrs. Purser you are advised to do so at once. Unless children are enrolled this year parents will be obliged to pay tuition all next year. The state allows $15 per capita for each child of school age, and if the names of many school children are left off of the list it is a heavy loss of the school. Your child cannot be taught free unless allowance is made by the state. Don't be one of the ones left out, but enroll your child now and save $45 tuition for next year. Tuition is $5 per month. Attend to this at once!

ROSS CITY IS BUILDING UP
GOOD BUSINESS CENTER

Ross City, in the Howard County oil fields, is coming right along as a business center for the many people employed or otherwise located in that busy locality. So far, there has been much effort directed to securing of business and convenience establishments. Residence provisions will come later with opening of spring weather.

Mr. Rossman, owner of the site, reports the following establishments either open for business, building or with materials arriving for their structures:

Hayne's restaurant, operating and doubling its capacity; Thomas barber shop with baths; Segall Dry Goods Co., from Big Spring; Gallemore Mercantile Co., from San Angelo; Bishop hotel open for one week and already doubling its size; Pal-amore hamburger stand; Hewitt drug store; Clements tent hotel;
Barnes drug store, from Colorado;
Reed's, tailor shop; Petty garage;
Creath's second hand store and filling station from Big Spring; Phillips Bros. rock filling station and with contract to build two concrete business houses; Armpiger meat market; Womack Welding Co.; Fayles &
Fayles machine and blacksmith shop;
D. W. Atchison, lumber from Borger; Mrs. Allen Smith, boarding house, from Mexia; Mr. Eubanks of Big Spring, building business house for rent; Popular Dry Goods Co. from Colorado; Myers cafe from Coahoma; Rice confectionery; Long hotel; Ross City confectionery; 30 additional business lots sold or leased. Other business houses under construction; telephone service out of Big Spring promised with 25 or more subscribers, that many already signed up; Mr. Nabors of Big Spring contracted for ice supply.

Mr. Rossman is called to New York on business matters and expects to be absent for several weeks. The business will be in charge of Mr.
McCon during his absence.

FINE HOGS RECEIVED FOR LEES COMMUNITY

In keeping with the cow, sow and hen movement in this section, Mr.
W. E. Lee of the Lees community has just received two registered Duroc Jersey bred gilts and a registered Duroc male from the Oliver herd at Whitewright, for which he paid a fancy price.

C. H. Arrington of Lees has also obtained a very fine specimen registered Poland China male from the Fairview herd at Sanger. The above community is going strong on good cattle, hogs and chickens.

BIG ROYALTY DEAL

A substantial royalty deal in the Sottles ranch district, the tract cornering on the lease of the Roxana-Marland producing well, has been agreed upon, and awaits only final signature of the papers. This transaction carries new high figures for royalty and it involves a passing of $22,000. Mrs. Eudora Blanch Miller being the owner of the royalty and J. F. Fulgham the proposed buyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey Gaunce of the Wyoming Hotel spent last week in Gorman, Texas, arranging for tools to be moved here for a new location. Mr. Gaunce is superintendent for the Green company, which is drilling in the Chalk oil field.

IN MEMORY OF OUR MOTHER

Sorrow is a language understood by men everywhere,
By the old and young maiden, so sweet and fair;
For sorrow is his way to make us feel and see His way to make us folks, the way we ought to be.
We may feel that some height we will attain,
But we'll never reach this goal till we've felt real pain
For in sorrow, He will educate the heart and bless
So that we more fully understand a Mother's caress,
Dee Griffice,
Zudora Griffice,
Mrs. Willie Lee Henderson.

ONE YEAR AGO

We knew the meaning of crepe and flowers beside the door,
We knew the hurt of muffled tread
upon the floor;
For God's Angels entered our home
and took a loved one away;
Though we had faith enough in Him
to pray.
That He might let keep our one we loved,
But He took her up there above
To be with those around His great throne,
So today we know how sad and lone
We feel in a home so still and quiet,
We know for a time we have lost
the light;
Of her who was our joy,
But God called her home.

ACORN STORE OPENING COMES NEXT WEEK

The big department store now receiving goods for the twenty-two departments to be operated is planned to open to the public Friday next.
There will be an open house reception the first day, within specified hours and during which time there will be no selling of goods. Music and other entertainment features are to rule the day.

Leslie White, recently of Ballinger where he operated a similar store for the organization is local manager here.

More detail notice of this big store and its opening will be given in subsequent issue of The Herald.

WHO SAID IT DIDN'T PAY TO ADVERTISE — WILKE DIDN'T

No, sir! Wilke believes that it pays to advertise. Here's the reason. Last week he put a classified ad in The Herald stating that he needed help due to the increase of business in his shop. In response to this little ad of five lines, twenty-eight applied for a job in his jewelry shop.
Consequently Mr. Wilke has the help that he so badly needed and he believes that he got his money's worth from that advertisement.

Do You Know?

(IF NOT YOU SHOULD)

- THAT to buy any car, other than the Ford, you have to spend an average of at least $162.14 more as purchase price alone?
- THAT the FORD is the only car now equipped with the Ford Vaporizer, which has so greatly increased mileage per gallon of gas?
- THAT the FORD is the only car under the $3,000.00 class equipped with a Dual Ignition System, so when complicated and delicate battery system is out of order or battery is dead, you can continue using the car with its old reliable magnet ignition system?
- THAT the Ford has more horse-power (A L & A. M. rating) to each 100 lbs. of weight than any other car?
- THAT the FORD has more square inches of tire surface per 100 lbs. of weight than any other car?
- THAT the FORD has more piston displacement per 100 lbs. of weight than any other car?
- THAT the FORD has more braking power for each 100 lbs. of weight than any other car?
- THAT the latest model FORD has 80 per cent increased braking area on the foot brake and 130 per cent increased braking area on the rear wheels?
- THAT the FORD planetary transmission costs more to manufacture and is simpler to operate than a sliding gear transmission?
- THAT at 35 miles speed you can instantly go into reverse with the FORD and not hurt the transmission—an operation which will ruin a sliding gear transmission?
- THAT material used in the working parts of the FORD are of the best quality known to engineering?
- THAT 43 per cent of FORD parts are sold at 15 cents or less?
- THAT $1.00 worth of FORD parts is the equivalent to $3.00 to $25.00 worth of the parts of other cars.
- THAT the FORD has a torque tube drive, found on such high priced cars as Lincoln, Rolls-Royce, Marmon, etc.?
- THAT the FORD has the simplest and most positive oiling system of any car?
- THAT the FORD has the Thermo Syphon cooling system, and needs no pump with its numerous parts and attachments?
- THAT in FORDS the gas flows by gravity to the carburetor, having no moving parts, with no chance of vacuum tank or connecting trouble.
- THAT the FORD has an all-steel body — the most rigid known?
- THAT the FORD is a 3-point suspension car, the advantages of which are too great to detail, but will gladly demonstrate?
- THAT the new Pyroxylin Lacquer finish on the FORD car cannot be affected by acids or even hot water? You can pour boiling tar on it and soak it off with gasoline without affecting its lustre.
- THAT the Pyroxylin Lacquer finish on FORDS is the most durable finish known.
- THAT FORD cars take more abuse and show less depreciation than any other car?
- THAT the FORD car has the quickest get-away in traffic and is easiest parked in congested districts?
- THAT more wealthy people, who can afford any car, are buying FORDS than ever before?
- THAT many a man has suffered loss of a good job, savings and sometimes good reputation by trying to own and operate a higher priced car in both purchase price and upkeep than he could afford?
- THAT high priced cars need high pressure salesmen to prevent discussion of high automobile costs?
- THAT automobile depreciation increases with investment?
- THAT the FORD dealer receives the smallest discount given any car dealer by any manufacturer?
- THAT the FORD is really the ONE PROFIT car, because the Ford Motor Company controls its basic sources of supply for raw materials?
- THAT the FORD car can break the speed limit on any highway in America?
- THAT there have been 163 improvements in the FORD car during the last 12 months?
- THAT all FORD dealers' service stations operate on a flat-rate basis—no haggling or arguing —no undercharging one customer and overcharging another?

These facts have reference to cars manufactured in the United States of America.

Will You Please Help Me Find My Boy?

Harry Woodbury left the Kansas State Hospital at Topeka, Monday evening, Jan. 17, where he, as a voluntary patient, was receiving treatment. It was a stormy night, the wind was biting cold, and the ground was covered with snow. He was thinly clad, wearing only his indoor clothing, and without money. He was traced by his family to El Dorado, Kans., where the trail was lost Harry was traveling the highways and catching rides with motorists.

I received a wire from Gainesville, Texas, saying Harry Woodbury rode with traveling salesman from Oklahoma City to Dallas, Texas, and then west to Fort Worth or to Breckenridge, Texas. Harry was on the western Texas highway and may be on his way to California. Harry had expressed a desire to see New Mexico, Arizona and California, also he indicated to motorists with whom he rode that he might seek employment in the oil fields of Oklahoma. It is believed that he is working his way through the Southwest, possibly through Oklahoma and Texas.

When he left the hospital he was wearing a light gray cap, a green 4-pocket sweater, gray trousers, and vest alike, a faint plaid pattern; and black oxfords. He wore no coat or overcoat.

Harry is 24 years old, has soft blue eyes, brown hair, fair complexion, even features, is about 5 ft. 9 inches in height, and weighs about 130 pounds. I fear he is of the opinion it will be necessary for him to return to the hospital should he come home or write me. This is not true, as he is fully released by the hospital, and I offer him only happiness should he return to me or write me where he is.

He has been a very sick boy, and I fear the exposure and hardships will injure his health. I am so anxious to hear from him.

Anyone who has seen him or knows his whereabouts will confer a great favor by wiring me immediately, collect. I will pay a reward of $25.00 for information which will lead me to him or him to me. I only seek his happiness and I know he would not be happy if he knew how worried and unhappy I am.

Pittsburg, Kas., Phone 1934-W.

INTO THE LION'S MOUTH

A young man who gave the familiar name of Johnson—Fred Johnson—and claiming to hail from Wichita Falls did not know that Sheriff Frank House has a deputy stationed in the oil field district. Millard Nichols is the name of the deputy and he puts in his odd time earning wages on a drilling job.

Mr. Johnson is alleged to have approached the rig and to have offered to get some liquor for a consideration. He tackled Deputy Nichols who said he wanted a quart. The bootlegger told him he'd soon be back with the staff and in short time he returned with a couple of pint bottles which Mr. Nichols received and for which he gave a bank check in payment. When the transaction was completed the deputy sheriff arrested Mr. Johnson and brought him to town. That was last Friday and on Saturday in Justice Harwell's court an examining trial was held, which brought out testimony in line with that above related. Mr. Johnson was placed under a $1,000 bond to await action of the grand jury. He was waiting for a bondsman to help him out of jail at last report from the courthouse square.

MOTHERS

Watch for symptoms of worms in your children. These parasites are the great destroyers of child life. If you have reason to think your child has worms, act quickly. Give the little one a dose or two of White's Cream Vermifuge. Worms cannot exist where this time-tried and successful remedy is used. It drives out the worms and restores the rosy hue of the baby cheeks. Price 25c. Sold by CUNNINGHAM & PHILIPS

PEACH BLOSSOMS

Not the kind that adorns the fruit trees on farms and in yards at this season of the year, but living, ever-blooming peach blossom boys is meant.

The name "Peach Blossoms" is given a publication which was issued from the Herald Printery last week and announced to be the beginning of a regular monthly paper, five cents a copy, delivered, but not through the post office. It is designed to report the activities of the First Methodist Church in its various departments, and particularly to record the doings and the aspirations of a class of boys taught by C. A. Johnson.

The salutatory editorial says that Peach Blossoms will not copy from "Potato Peelings," the popular semi-occasional organ of the class of boys taught by Jimmie Willson of the First Baptist Sunday school. Other articles in the paper tell of the activities of the Little Peaches, in the class and in their financial undertakings to raise money.

Immediately following the issuance of the first number of "Peach Blossoms" the weather clerk in charge of West Texas temperatures sent a freeze but it never touched 'em.

PROMINENT RANCHMAN DEAD

Jim Moore, inspector for the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas and well known throughout West Texas as a peace officer, was found unconscious beside his car in front of a hotel at Bandera Monday morning and died early Tuesday morning in a San Antonio hospital without ever regaining consciousness. For the best essay stating
'WHY THESE FIRMS SHOULD BE PATRONIZED'

Here's a chance to win $20.00. Open to everybody. All you have to do is to write an essay or letter stating why the business firms on this page should be patronized. Every advertiser on this page must be mentioned. For the best article THE HERALD will pay $20.00; for second best, $10.00; for third best, $5.00; for fourth best, $3.00; for the next six best, $2 each.

The contributions will be submitted to a committee who will act as judges and award the prizes. The manuscripts will be numbered -- the names of the writers withheld from the committee.

Don't make your letters more than 500 words. Write on but one side of the paper. Write name and address on a small piece of paper and pin it to the manuscript.

Here is a fine chance to win a handsome prize.

If you want any more information, call THE HERALD, and ask for Contest Editor--or, better still, call the advertisers on this page or call on them in person. All essays must be at THE HERALD office by Tuesday, April 5, 1927. Address Essay Contest, THE HERALD, Big Spring, Texas.

"WATCH BIG SPRING"
That slogan is due to be printed and published in the many ways that booster work may be promoted. It is the slogan accepted and adopted by the committee from the Chamber of Commerce, open to everybody, and for which there was a five dollar prize offered.

S. R. Weaver, president of the Chamber of Commerce was the lucky man to draw down the V. Quite a number of suggestions were submitted, many of them good, but the one chosen decided to most nearly meet the situation.

This slogan can be used on stationery, in publications of any sort and in display advertising. It may also be added to written communications and blazoned wherever there is space that will meet the public eye.

STATE AID GIVEN RURAL SCHOOLS

State Supervisor S. E. Clark paid personal visits to the fourteen rural schools of Howard County last week, these schools having asked for a share in the state funds available for rural schools which are trying to help themselves and are needing funds to carry out their programs of improvements.

Mr. Clark was accompanied on his inspection tour by County Judge Debenport for a part of the rounds.

After inspection of the local conditions at each school the supervisor awarded funds to the schools as follows: R-Bar $472; Vincent school $118; Center Point school $469; Midway school $135; Elbow school $40; Cauble school $454; Moore school $250; Highway school $503; Knott school $597; Morgan school $554; Fairview school $684; Richland school $175; Blasco school $427; Soash school $381. The total of all the awards was $5,460.

NEW BASEBALL PARK OPENING ON THE HIGHWAY, EAST

Unable to secure ball grounds in desired localities since the Marland Oil company leased the old park belonging to the T. & P. railroad company, the park committee of the baseball association accepted the proffer of Gary & Burns to occupy their lands just east of town. The location is in block 32, about three quarters of a mile from the center of the business district and a short distance beyond the Coleman tourist camp and business establishment, on the Bankhead highway.

A large force of men has been put to work grubbing and otherwise clearing up the land and the lumber from the old park is to be moved and set up on the new location. The lot is to be larger than the old enclosure and the grand stand is also to be enlarged.

The base ball temperature is beginning to rise and there is preliminary organizing and selection of a team from the fine material available. A championship team is the determination of players and fans.

THE MARCH FREEZE

Big Spring came in for a whiff of the norther which swept down from the northwest mountains Saturday evening and which gave icy Sunday and Monday mornings with a decidedly cool hang-over for Tuesday morning. To the north and east and extending over most of the state the cold snap caught trees in bud or blossoming, grass greened and with spring signs everywhere. As to the damage done, this section has probably escaped serious set-back. The tender buds and leaves of trees are only partially crumpled and as to fruit buds and blossoms it is probable that they escaped in part. Grass is not hurt and the ranges present a velvety green expanse, with plenty of winter grass and of cured grass mixing with the new to the fattening of range stock.

Nobody knows, but it is hoped that the end of wintry weather has been experienced. Plows are running and seed is going into the ground, with a moisture season in the ground to start off the 1927 crops in fine shape.

REPUBLIC OIL WELL SUPPLY COMPANY OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Without losing any time the Republic Oil Well Supply Co. opened for business in the new Fisher building on First street. Laying of cement floor and placing of the heavy fixtures immediately followed the closing of a lease of the building extending over several years. An extension, of fireproof construction, is to be made, seventy five feet in rear of present structure, this for general warehouse purposes.

The stocks are now in and arriving and the house is open for business and is doing business. R. E. Cole of Wichita Falls, West Texas division superintendent is in present charge of the house, with a number of others of the company who are handling the construction and installing work. The permanent local manager, Mr. Richards, is due to arrive with his family next week, Allen Hopkins, now here, will be a permanent assistant, the others of the force now handling affairs to move on to other duties with the company.

The Republic company is one of the largest and best known in the oil fields of Texas and Oklahoma, with thirty-five establishments in the principal fields of the two states.

Mr. Cole expresses himself and speaking for his company, as most favorably impressed with Big Spring's present attainments and future prospects.

JOIN THE CHAMBER-COMMERCE

Probably the best definition of what a Chamber of Commerce is good for is that it looks after the business that is everybody's business but which no individual could attend to and at same time look after his own business.

Big Spring is right now at point where the Chamber of Commerce is in position to do much for every citizen. There are daily demands that someone or some organization be on the alert to give information, to conduct negotiations and to bring to bear a mass effort to start and carry forward such public improvements as the growing city demands, things vital to all yet impossible to be attended to by individual service.

A still greater good the Chamber of Commerce performs. It brings together and unites in cooperative endeavor the people themselves. They come to know each other better, to like each other and to trust each other along the lines of the several capabilities of the individuals. Co-operating as a mass projection there is hardly anything that may not be accomplished by Big Spring in her forward stepping and within reasonable limits.

The citizen who never attends a meeting and who does not even inquire into what is doing in the activities of the Chamber of Commerce, yet who enjoys the benefits of that body's strenuous labors, should have membership, even if it is no more exercised than the payment of the small fee required. There is need of funds to operate the organization and everybody is a beneficiary of the good accomplished.

Join, in person or in financial support. Join in a contribution of your part in money if not constituted nor inclined to give personal service along with it.

BASEBALL CANVASS FOR FUNDS COMES NEXT WEEK

Having given right of way to the Chamber of Commerce membership drive this week the base ball organization, with Shine Philips as chief stirrer-up, is going forth next week to raise funds to pay for the heavy expenses incident to having to give up the old ball park and build in another location.

The amount required is only something over $1,000. This is to pay for removal of fence and grand stand and erection of enlarged grounds and building, with conveniences necessary. This contribution is all that is asked. The T. & P. railroad company bears the expenses of maintaining the team composed of its employees. Other cities and towns require, and raise, large sums for beginning and for monthly demands. Midland is reputed to have an athletic contribution of $1500 a month! While Big Spring asks only two-thirds of that amount paid once.

The park is to be available for school athletics and for other field gatherings of the public. It is a big asset to the city, the railroad and the schools. That the amount needed will be cheerfully contributed is but to again demonstrate that that is the "Big Spring Way."

H. A. Lattimore, travelling representative of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram was a business visitor in Big Spring Wednesday and Thursday. While here he visited W. B. Allen and son, local agents for the Star-Telegram.

TAKE IT FROM ME!

Novelized from the Motion Picture based on the Stage Play by WILL B. JOHNSTONE and WILL R. ANDERSON

Produced in association with UNIVERSAL PICTURES CORPORATION

What has gone before:
Tom Eggett will inherit his late father's department store if he can run it as a profitable business in three months. If he fails the property goes to Cyrus Crabb, general manager of the store who, with his assistant, Miss Abbott, schemes to run a business sale as a last resort before Tom takes charge. An untold story before Tom takes charge. An untold story before Tom takes charge. An untold story before Tom takes charge.

CHAPTER IX

SOME ONE

Tom looked at Grace covertly as she dictated this. But to all intents and purposes, it might have been a very weighty business matter that she was taking down. As he gazed a lordly hand in gesture of dismissal, and announced: "that will be all for the present, Miss Gordon," she gathered up her books and turned generously toward him. "In what department shall I file a copy of this letter?" "In the skirt department," replied she. He had not said it to be funny. He was merely trying to adjust his language to the requirements of a department store. Nevertheless, Grace gave him a queer look as she passed out of the door into her own room. The arduous duties in connection with his correspondence being attended to, Tom walked with all of the assumed importance of a general manager out into the little hall and to the balcony overlooking the floor of the store. As soon as he opened the door a strange din assailed his ears, but it did not prepare him in any way for the sight that met his eyes. Wildly gesticulating people,

"It will be impossible for me to dine with you tonight—"
Scene from "TAKE IT FROM ME."

ly women, crowded every square foot of the floor space. Articles of merchandise waved madly in the air as shoppers vainly tried to have their chases wrapped and either sent or carried to them. Most of them seemed to take them along. They were afraid the bargains were too good to be true and that someone would wake up suddenly and prevent them. As Tom stood, dazed at the shouting, seething maelstrom in front of him, it suddenly occurred to him that there were not enough people to attend to all this press of customers. Filled with elation that he should be such a fine business man on his first day, and taking it as a omen of good fortune and a sign of his success in eventually running the store, he rushed down the stairs and plunged into the crowd.

Tom had never been shopping in his life in a department store. He had participated in a Christmas effort to do in a hurry the shopping he had left till the last moment. He had always sent some one else to do this for him, or had done it over the telephone. Furthermore, he had never been under the impression that a man was the weaker sex. To him it was as though hundreds of women were being trampled to death in that mad mob. There must be some way to get down there to cause that turmoil and excitement. Certainly it was the place of the general manager to aid and assist the sales and protect defenseless women, particularly when it was bent upon purchasing in one's own store.

Into the midst of the fray rushed Galahad, looking for those men who had not gone ten feet before he stopped as though he had hit the line when it was up against its goal posts. Not an inch could he move. In fact, he was being slowly and relentlessly pushed backward.

By whom? Men, strong, powerful, impolite men? Not at all. By weak, frail creatures whom he rushed to protect, to assist. Tom never seen women like this before. He could not believe his eyes. They were pulled, burrowed their way through the densest crowds, right up to him it seemed. Nothing was done, nothing daunted them. The press was thickest, there were women seemed bent on going. His shoes were stepped on a dozen times. He was pulled off his feet. His hair matted up. Gradually he was forced back until he found his back against something hard. He could go no further. When it was possible for him to turn his head, he discovered that he was backed up against a pillar. Beside him stood another man, as flat against the pillar as he. Neither could move, until a newcomer, strong for the battle, pushed her way past them and gave them a breathing space in her wake. Then Tom saw that his masculine companion was Percy, the floorwalker, with now no floor to walk on.

"Never saw such a mob in this place before, sir," said Percy, taking the opportunity to mop his brow. "I can't get anywhere."

"But you must," said Tom. "This is splendid business. We must make the most of it. Follow me."

And together they breasted the hatted and spike-heeled mob. Tom was anxious to do something to help, so the first woman he saw who seemed to be at a loss, confused, he addressed:

"Can I do anything to help you?" he asked. The woman eyed him a second in uncertainty. But then she made up her mind that he was trustworthy and kind-hearted. Without more ado, she thrust her baby into his arms.

"Yes. Hold this. I must get to that counter before the gloves are all gone," she said, and charged through the crowd of women in a successful effort to reach the glove counter. The thought occurred to Tom that she would make a wonderful halfback, but he didn't have long to think about other things, until she, too, discovered the unwonted activity in the store. At first she was thoroughly mystified. She had never seen anything like it in all her life. When the boy brought the morning paper, however, she looked idly at the advertisement of the store. Instantly she was all attention. One glance at the ridiculous prices convinced her that there was some underhand work somewhere. Then the letter she had inadvertently seen occurred to her. She fished it out and read it over again. It all seemed to be of a piece—Crabb's work. Suspiciously she looked into Miss Abbott's room, the room that had been her own. But that conspirator was at the moment chucking with Crabb in a corner of the store over the success of his scheme. It certainly looked as though the whole store would be cleaned out.

Just then Tom came in, looking a positive wreck, and still holding the baby in his arms. But he was beaming at the thought of all the profit the store must be making. This business was not so bad after all. He was having as exciting a time as he had ever had in all his life; not the least trouble in entertaining himself in this new life he was leading.

"Splendid business for the first day, Miss Gordon," he chortled. Miss Gordon, strangely enough did not share his enthusiasm, but she was alarmed at his clothes and at the sight of the baby. It looked as though it were going to cry. Right on Tom's heels came Van and Dick, not any more fortunate in the matter of their personal appearance.

"Cradle snatcher," began Dick, and Tom really noticed the baby he had been carrying around as though he had seen it for the first time. He looked perplexed for an instant, then handed it over to Van.

"Here, Van, put this in the Lost and Found Department."

The baby had been all right with Tom. It hadn't cried once, but the instant Van touched it, the infant set up a shrill protest.

"No," said Tom, "better take it to the Complaint Department."

As the department managers filed in to make their report on the morning's business, Van handed it to one of them, and he in turn passed it on to the next until it was out of sight.

When they all assembled in the office, Tom walked in from Miss Gordon's room, rubbing his hands and looking the picture of satisfaction.

"Well, boys, we did a wonderful business today. Take it from me, if it keeps up like this we will all be rich men."

He was so absorbed with the remembrance of the crowds that he did not notice the solemn looks of every one of the managers.

Finally one of them ventured the assertion:

"We did the biggest business we ever have, but my department lost money—plenty of it."

Tom was nonplussed. Each of the managers in turn made substantially the same report. He could not understand it. One of the managers started to tell him what the real trouble was, when Dick interrupted him.

"I'll tell you what is the matter, Tom. It's because our girls are all dressed like pall-bearers. Those black dresses don't live things up enough."

This was such a radical idea to these Crabb-trained men that no one had the assurance to gainsay him. And Tom, too, had noticed with dissatisfaction that the girls were all dressed alike and all in black. He nodded his head. "Take them to the Gown Department and see that they get proper clothes to make the store look bright and inviting," he said judiciously.

"Another thing," spoke up Van, "our people move around as slowly as snails. I timed one of the floorwalkers over a space of thirty feet which I had marked out. He was exactly 52 seconds flat doing that little stretch. It's a tremendous waste of time with all this rush on our hands."

"All right, Mr. Efficiency Expert; put 'em all on roller skates. Get some yourself. Get some speed."

As though this settled everything, Tom waved his hand majestically and the department managers filed out, looking at each other in a dazed sort of way.

Grace considered that this would be a proper time to tell the new general manager what the real trouble was, so she picked up the advertisement and the felted letter from the bank and entered his office. But the lynx-eyed Miss Abbott, who was now in her office, with a feeling for situations that had been inborn in her and highly cultivated under the tutelage of Crabb, sensed what Grace was going to do. With determination she pushed in ahead of Grace and engaged the boss in an animated conversation. Grace glared at her. Tom, on his part, realized that there was no love lost between them, and in an effort to restore peace said to Miss Abbott: "Isn't it about time for lunch, Miss Abbott?"

"Oh, how nice of you," darted back the old maid who had never in all her life been asked to go out to lunch with a man. "Where shall we go, Mr. Eggett?"

This was certainly a strategic move. It was a pinch hit for Crabb when he was most needed, and it all but secured Tom Eggett and his new secretary.

What Will You Be When You Are 65?

You will be ahead or behind the game. That is certain, but it all depends on what you do now.

Of the average 100 people, just one is wealthy at 65; only 3 are well-to-do; merely 6 living on their income; 54 are living on friends and charity; 36 die before reaching their 65th birthday. It is easy to tell who had a bank account.

The odds are against you 87 to 1 unless you save a little every day. Your savings should be placed with a good strong bank where they will be cared for. Bank with us.

PECOS FISHERMAN MURDERED

J. A. Bonner, 45, was found lying dead on his bed roll on the bank of the Pecos river, a mile and a half from the State line, by a party of fishermen from Roswell Sunday morning about ten o'clock. Coroner's inquest reported death due to blows from an axe, which was found in the river a few yards away, the handle sticking out a few inches above the water.

Bonner was a stranger in Carlsbad and had gone fishing about ten days before in the company of a Mexican guide, who it is alleged, committed the murder. According to reports from Sheriff Joe Johns of Carlsbad, the clothes of the Mexican were found near the river, and belief is that he was drowned.

The body of the victim was found with his hands and feet tied behind him, head badly crushed, and three ribs broken, from the blows of the axe, showing signs of a brutal murder. Sand had blown over the body, partially covering it, and it had apparently lain in the spot for about a week.—Pecos Enterprise.

ZANE GREY'S MAN OF THE FOREST

WELL DRILLERS FIND BIG CAVE IN CULBERSON COUNTY

Culberson County, where there are still some of the great open spaces famed in song and story, and where the effete easterner is likely to feel very, very small in comparison with a few hundred miles of hazy valley and the towering blue peaks of the Guadalupe Mountains, has uncovered a hitherto undiscovered natural wonder which may some day rival the famous Carlsbad Cavern in southeastern New Mexico. Nothing in the way of details will be known until a shaft is sunk and explorers are lowered into the vast underground chambers which are known to rise tier on tier in the rocky depths.

The discovery was made when trouble, plenty of it, was encountered by the Sun Oil Company in drilling its No. 1 Gardner Estate in Culberson County. The oil test was started off in fine shape, but things began to happen when the drill reached a very hard rock formation. Breaking through suddenly, the tools dropped into a seemingly bottomless pit, and letting the cable run out did not find the end. There was a floor to the cavern, it is true, but it was on a steep slant, and no side walls could be found. Using every ingenious device known to an old time driller, the hole was finally started past the first cave, only to run into three more in succession. All of them were vast in extent, insofar as could be determined from the surface. Some idea of the trouble experienced in drilling may be gained from the fact that eight weeks were consumed in getting down only 250 feet.

An eighteen inch baller twenty feet long tried its best to disappear completely when it was let down into one of the caverns, and it slid and bumped its way the length of its cable without ever finding the end of the chamber.

The whipping of cables during the eight weeks of pounding wore and battered the hole to more than two feet in diameter, and men on the ground had planned to lower a camera and flashlight equipment down to the first cavern in an attempt to obtain some idea of its size.

There was no inrush or outrush of air when the drill dropped into the first cave, indicating, in the opinion of some, that the mammoth subterranean rooms have no natural outlet. Whether or not they are interconnected is only a matter of conjecture, but it is the belief of Sun Company men that a discovery has been made fully comparable to the Carlsbad Cavern.

It is an interesting sidelight that there are big oil fields in New Mexico near the wonderful Carlsbad Cavern. With the rock formations approximately the same the possibility is extended that there may be similar fields in Culberson County near the big caves. While no commercial producer has ever been completed in that county, a few tests for oil have been drilled there, and the Sun Company must have at least thought of the chance of striking oil to gamble more than $50,000 on it. It is also known that the Texas Company holds very large tracts under lease in Culberson County, and it is very doubtful that it could be bought at any price within reason.

A movement is said to have been started to develop the gigantic caverns as a scenic wonder, and its location near the foot of Apache Peak on a mile high mesa only twelve miles from a highway is considered ideal for the purpose.—San Angelo Standard.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS
By the
W. T. Chamber of Commerce

McCamey — Construction is underway by the Orient Railroad on additional storage trackage. When completed the car capacity of the Orient's yards will be increased 175, making a total capacity of 1010 cars.

Midland — The local light company and properties was sold recently to the Texas Power and Light Co.
Another move of immediate importance to the town was sale of the Curtis property to Clarence Scharbauer.
Scharbauer plans to erect a modern five store hotel on the property.

Sweetwater — At the suggestion of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, Judge W. C. Crane has suggested the name of Tonkawa Hills for a picturesque wooded range extending toward Buffalo Gap. The name suggested would perpetuate a tribe of friendly Indians who aided the pioneer Texas plainsmen against the Comanches. Manager Wade has been asked to lend support of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in securing legislative designation of the name "Tonkawa Hills."

Chillicothe — Five new brick buildings are being erected by Wofford Brothers, west of the Touchstone & Lincecum Motor Company.
The contract, let to J. K. Stuckey, calls for a modern fire proof tile and concrete building to be 115x80 feet.
This makes a total of 13 brick and concrete business houses to go up in Chillicothe in the last three years.

Jeff-Davis — The Jeff Davis County Chamber of Commerce has been organized with more than forty paid members. A membership of 75 is expected before complete organization. One of the first official acts of the newly formed body was to take out five memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Wichita Falls — Scores of towns are already sending in their names promising to bring large delegations to the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held here May 16 and 17. Activity interest in the part to be played in the mammoth pageant of nations is displayed. Lots are to be drawn by the various towns who will send delegations to see what nationality they will represent in costume, colors, and flags in the huge pageant.

Lefors — Contract has been let for the construction of a modern sanitary water and sewer system here, and work has already begun.

Slaton — Plans for installing a new and modern common battery plant or flashlight system for improved telephone service in Slaton are announced by officials of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Dallas.

Crosbyton — Crosbyton promises to rival Baird as banner district convention city. Plans underway for the South Plains District convention to be held here April 7 indicate a record attendance.

Don't be fooled
on house paint!

"Cheap" paint isn't cheap at all!

When you are tempted by wonderful claims, elaborate guaranties and a very low price to buy "cheap" paint, remember this:

"Cheap" paint sells at a low price because it is low in quality—poor stuff. That's the only reason a manufacturer can afford to sell at a low price.

By the gallon it costs you less. But don't let that fool you. It will cost you many times more than good old SWP on the wall—by the job and by the year—because it covers only about half the area per gallon—and lasts only about half as long.

Come in and let us tell you the truth about the high cost of "cheap" paint—why SWP House Paint is the least expensive.
