ALCOHOL

More alcohol is being distilled in the United States than ever before. That has nothing to do with prohibition. The use of alcohol in industry has multiplied enormously since the war. The new chemical industries use it in a thousand ways. Next to sulphuric acid, it is the most important of all chemicals. Business would stop, in hundreds of lines, if the manufacture of alcohol stopped. But less grain is being used for alcohol than before. Molasses and potatoes are the chief sources of industrial alcohol. The sugar-growers of Louisiana are getting real money now for what used to be pure waste, and the potato growers of Maine, Michigan, Maryland and the other potato centers have a more stable market for their product.

CHEESE

There are more than five hundred varieties of cheese. Some are made only in certain parts of the world, such as Roquefort, which ripens only in natural caverns in France, Gorgonzola, a native of Italy, Stilton, as English as John Bull, Limburger, Brie and a hundred other "ripe" cheeses, besides the mild soft cheeses such as Camembert, cream and the others that are eaten as soon as possible after they are made. Swiss cheese must not be overlooked. And then there are the more universally popular cheeses of the cheddar type, which includes the Dutch Edam and Pineapple cheeses and the standard hard cheese of commerce, which is the staple product of the American dairy.

Cheese supplies all of the nutritive elements found in meat.

MOUNT VERNON

Greatest of all our national shrines is Mount Vernon, the country seat of George Washington, on the Potomac, a few miles below Washington. It was a neglected almost ruinous old house, when, more than fifty years after Washington's death, a band of ladies selected from the various states, raised funds with which to purchase and repair it.

From time to time a movement for the Federal Government to take over Mount Vernon and be responsible for its maintenance has been begun. For nearly eighty years the burden has been carried by private donations and subscriptions. If there is any one spot in America which should properly be a charge upon the whole nation, it is Mount Vernon.

GETTYSBURG

To North and South alike the battlefield of Gettysburg is hallowed ground. Here was the high tide of the Confederate forces. Here Lincoln voiced his immortal phrase, "Government of the people, by the people, for the people." Here the most imposing monument is the statue of General Lee. Here, among these rolling Pennsylvania hills, lie the most gallant soldiers whom America has produced. "Under the sod and dew, waiting the judgment day."

Every year nearly a million and a half tourists visit the Gettysburg National Park. They come from every section of the Union, as many from the South as from the North. The pleasant little town has welcomed them but its facilities for housing and feeding its guests have not kept pace with the growth of the tourist tide. It is good news, therefore, to all who cherish Gettysburg as one of our national shrines, that the people of the town have at last stirred themselves to meet this need. A new hotel, in a style and manner befitting its surroundings, is to be built this year. And this will make the pilgrimage to Gettysburg even

SHERIFF RUNS DOWN ALLEGED OKLA. SLAYER

Man Said To Be Wanted For Slaying Of His Brother

SHOTS FIRED HERE

Willis Shoots At Gas Tank Of Speeding Car In Get-Away

Roy Plaster, said to be wanted in Waurika, Okla., for the slaying of his brother, was captured late Friday night by Sheriff W. S. Willis after an automobile chase of more than 30 miles at break-neck speed over the Ozona-Barnhart road. The capture was made after Plaster had bolted from Sheriff Willis and successfully eluded a pistol bullet sent after his car by the Crockett County sheriff and after the fugitive had run the gauntlet of a pistol barrage laid down by a group of officers in Barnhart.

When captured Plaster was suffering from a pistol wound in his left thigh, a bullet having passed up through the seat cushion and through the flesh of his leg. The missile did not strike a bone and the wound was dressed by a local doctor after the prisoner had been brought back here and placed in jail.

The chase, which caused considerable excitement in the downtown section about 10 o'clock Friday night, started from about the middle of the city park on the main business street. Sheriff Willis, acting on a tip from officers in Izanah, who wanted Plaster on a charge of theft of automobile parts, stopped the man when he reached Ozona and as the sheriff started to alight from his car, Plaster threw his car in gear and stepped on the gas.

As the officer got back into his car to give chase, after his pistol fire failed to stop the fugitive, he noticed that his car was nearly out of gas and while he was getting the car refilled the fleeing man had a good start toward Barnhart. Sheriff Willis phoned officers at Barnhart and Big Lake and at the former town, Plaster was halted but refused to stop and was greeted with a hail of bullets which punctured his car in several places and broke his windshield. Two boys of Barnhart stopped the fugitive a few miles out of Barnhart by placing their car across the road, the Crockett Sheriff driving up just as he stopped.

Plaster was brought back to Ozona and placed in the Crockett jail for the night, officers from Fort Stockton taking him in charge Saturday morning.

CITIZENSHIP

Becoming a citizen of the United States ought to be as impressive as joining a church or a lodge. When you join a church it is a solemn occasion. You are welcomed into the communion by a ceremony in which minister, elders, deacons or other officials take the lead and the whole congregation participates. When you join a lodge you are, for the moment, the central figure among the brothers; you are made to feel that you have achieved a new importance in their eyes, a new dignity in your own esteem. But when a man or woman goes into a naturalization court to get his final papers he is treated as if Uncle Sam wished he had stayed at home.

It would be a useful service for any Chamber of Commerce to undertake to make of the admission of aliens to citizenship an occasion for public rejoicing. And if the same idea could be extended to an unusual welcome to the new American-born voters who have just come of age, that would certainly help impress upon them the responsibilities and the dignity of American citizenship.

Jones Miller Is Hotel Corp. Head

Other Officers Named At Meeting Stockholders Saturday

Jones Miller was elected president of the Hotel Ozona Corporation at a meeting of stockholders of the concern held here last-Saturday afternoon.

Other officers were elected as follows: Joe Pierce, Jr., vice president; J. O. Secrest, secretary-treasurer, and Scott Peters and Wilse Owens directors.

Reports of the treasurer showed the hotel corporation in good financial condition and that the hotel has been prospering since the last report. The outstanding indebtedness against the building has been reduced to approximately $8,500, the report showed.

Wrestling Card Draws Big Crowd

Cyclone Pierce Given Decision Over Fitzsimmon On Foul

A fair-sized crowd was on hand for the opening athletic card at the Mike Couch arena last Friday night when Cyclone Pierce and Red Fitzsimmons were matched for a best two out of three go, with Tot Grimmer as promoter.

Encouraged by the showing made at this first program, Mr. Grimmer announced that other matches would be staged from time to time and that the next match would probably be between the winner of Friday night's affair and Billy Londos, wild bull of the mat from San Angelo.

The opening match here went to Pierce on a foul, the referee, Leonard Hensley, giving Cyclone the decision after Red had persisted in slugging with closed fist. Each wrestler had taken a fall, Pierce getting the first in 23 minutes and Fitzsimmons the second in 18 minutes. Preliminaries included a battle royal between two colored boys and a Mexican, "Dynamite Red" cleaning out the ring in this event. A scheduled four-round go between "Chapo" Garcia and John Daniels lasted but one round when Garcia complained of a bad shoulder and forfeited the fight.

Good Crowd Present For Second Showing Of Lions Club Play

The Ozona Theater was about one-third filled for the second presentation of "Be An Optimist," a three-act comedy drama, presented under the auspices of the Ozona Lions Club Tuesday evening. Receipts for the second showing amounted to approximately $45.

The first presentation of this play brought a packed house and many were unable to get even standing room to witness the performance. At the request of many who did not see the first performance, it was presented a second time. The committee in charge of the play was gratified at the showing made Tuesday evening in the second performance.

The between-act features given were new numbers, Chester Henderson, the yodeling prairie dog doctor, who made such a hit with the crowd on February 11, again sang his way into the hearts of the audience, and was called back for a third encore. A string quartet composed of "Arkansaw" Jordan, Hartley Johnigan, Neville Davis and Clyde Barbee played several numbers between acts and Mr. Jordan danced as an extra feature.

The audience was very responsive to the efforts of those taking part in the play and as in the case of the first performance the house was in an uproar of laughter from start to finish.

P.-T. A. To Sponsor Film At Theater Tuesday Evening

Home Makers Class Enjoys Social Meet

"Fast Company," a Paramount motion picture starring Evelyn Brent and Jack Oakie, a fast moving comedy drama from the play by the inimitable Ring Lardner and George M. Cohan, will be presented at the Ozona Theater next Tuesday evening, March 11, under the auspices of the Ozona Parent-Teachers Association. Proceeds from the entertainment will go into the P.-T. A. treasury for the purchase of additional school equipment. An admission charge of 25 and 50 cents will be made.

The plot is based upon a story of baseball players written by the great American humorist, Ring Lardner. The hero, played by Jack Oakie, is a boastful but lovable slanger who wise-cracks his way to the forenoon, helping his team, the Yankees, to win the League pennant. He falls into the fast company of smart city-bred folks, including a show-girl and some crafty gamblers, and he almost ruins his own and his team's chances for victory on the day of the final game of the World's series when something happens to change the whole aspect of the plot.

Oakie is a new type of comedian on the screen and he will add thousands of admirers to his string with his swaggering "big league" comedy capers in this one. Evelyn Brent, as the girl who spurns him but later warms to his naive charm does a great job, as always, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, another young actor who has risen rapidly in comedy roles, gives remarkable performance as the slang-talk manager of Oakie. Gwen Lee adds a full quota of feminine charm and Sam Hardy as the manager of the Yankees, is, as ever, equal to the demand upon his powers as a gifted actor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Baggett, Jr., and children were the week-end guests of their daughter, Mrs. Boyd Clayton of Fort Stockton.

Mrs. Watts of Lincoln, Nebraska has returned to her home after a short visit with her son, C. J. Watts and family.

of Miss Day's)—Walter Kyle. Gloria Sherwood Jerome (A fascinating widow)—Josephine Longley.

Signers On Bond Petition Growing

Request To Go Before Commissioners Monday At March Meet

While backers of the Crockett County good roads movement are marking time until the next regular meeting of the Commissioners Court, additional signatures are being secured to the petition which asks the Commissioners Court to call a third election in this county to decide whether or not bonds in the sum of $375,000 shall be issued for the purpose of matching state and federal funds for the construction of approximately 82 miles of paved road through this county.

It is expected that between 100 and 200 names will be signed to the document when it is finally presented to the court at its regular March term convening next Monday morning. The new petition and order embodies all demands made by the taxpayers and by the attorney general's department for a strictly legal procedure and it is believed that when the voters approve the issue at the next vote, it will go through without further delay. The issue is for use in connection with state and federal aid toward paving the Old Spanish Trail and the Ozona-Barnhart road.

A period of at least 30 days of advertising is required by the statute from the time the election is ordered until it is held. If the petition is presented Monday, the election likely will be ordered for Saturday, April 12.

Home Makers Class Enjoys Social Meet

The Home Makers Class of the First Baptist Church was entertained by Mesdames Geo. Bean, P. A. Gray, and Ira Carson on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Carson.

Upon arrival, each guest was correctly "weighed in" and registered their weight and given-name with Mrs. W. E. West, who assisted the hostesses. A five-minute get-acquainted conversation then followed, the guests laying aside formality and learning each other's given names.

Then followed an automobile tour of the United States, the successful tourists being Lorena Dunlap and Melba Fulmer.

Next the tourists were asked to write all the slang expressions which were used on the tour. Much merriment ensued when the already successful tourists again were the winners. For their skill in this, they were awarded a travel book by Mrs. West. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served the following guests: Mesdames Bertha Word, Dora Moore, Mae Pettit, Carrie Whatley, Leta Sanders, Mary Dunlap, Leta Pettit, Lorena Dunlap, Melba Fulmer, Vera Spencer, Laura Willis, Marie Weaver, Dora Hoover, Alice Baker, Ora Coates, Vera Baker, Lola Rose, Nell Kay, and Myrtle Smith. —Reporter.

CITY DIVIDED IN DISTRICTS FOR CLEAN-UP

Woman's Club Names Supervisors In Different Sections

STARTS MARCH 17

Clean-Up System Is Explained; Truck To Make Rounds

Division of the city into small districts with a supervisor in charge of each district was announced this week by Mrs. Lee Childress, president of the Ozona Woman's Club, in preparation for the 1930 annual Clean-Up Campaign in Ozona, sponsored by the Ozona Woman's Club, which will begin Monday, March 17.

Club members have been assigned as supervisors to see that a thorough clean-up is made in their respective districts and to get in touch with residents in those sections, advise them on movements of the trucks hauling trash and to enlist their co-operation in gathering up all trash.

The districts as they have been laid out, with the supervisor in charge, was announced by Mrs. Childress as follows:

Southeast section—South of Broadway and east of Ave. C—Mrs. John W. Henderson, Jr.

Avenue C—Mrs. Joe Pierce. Southwest section—Ave. D west to draw—Mrs. Joe Oberkamp.

Business district and west to draw—Mrs. Lee Childress.

Broadway, east from Methodist Church—Mrs. N. W. Graham.

North of 9th street (City Park Hotel corner), from water works hill to draw—Mrs. A. C. Hoover.

Across the draw—Mrs. Welton Bunger.

The public property, city park and courthouse grounds will be cleaned up by crews employed by the county. The county has agreed to finance the trucks for hauling off the trash and crews for cleaning up vacant lots, alleys and streets.

School children under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Fussell will make a thorough clean-up of the school grounds.

The county has also agreed to open a roadway through the trash at the dump grounds so that trash can be hauled to the rear of the plot and dumped.

Residents are asked to gather up all trash and rubbish, sack or box it or pile it up in a convenient place so that the truck drivers can get to it easily. It is not necessary to have the trash boxed or sacked if it is piled up in neat piles, the truck drivers will scoop it into the trucks. The district supervisors will get in touch with residents in their districts and advise them when the trucks will call. If any trash is missed, a telephone call to the supervisor in charge will bring a truck to get what was left.

Winter Returns After Weeks Of Balmy Days

After enjoying balmy spring weather for several weeks, Ozona folk had to go back into overcoats Monday when old man winter returned to assure West Texas that he had not made his final exit.

The temperature Sunday and Monday nights dropped below the freezing point. A warm sunshine Wednesday, however, inaugurated the return of moderate weather. Rain is badly needed throughout this section and ranchmen are hoping that a good fall will come before another cold spell.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Clayton were visitors to San Antonio over the week-end. They were met in that city by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Swearingen of Lockhart. Mrs. Swearingen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peters.

THURSDAY, MAR. 6, 1930.

Monday, March 17, has been designated by the Ozona Woman's Club as the opening date of Ozona's annual Clean-Up Week, sponsored by this organization. Plans of the Woman's Club for this occasion call for an "old-fashioned clean-up" in the words of the president, Mrs. Lee Childress.

During the clean-up period, trucks, hired by the county will make a thorough canvass of the town and haul away all accumulated trash and rubbish. During this period every resident of Ozona is urged to cut weeds, rake up back yards, trim trees and lawns, fix fences, clean up vacant lots and otherwise assist in making the 1930 clean-up campaign a 100 per cent success.

Under the direction of the Women's Club committees, with the county furnishing the money, crews of workmen will be employed to cut weeds and rake up the public park, around the courthouse and vacant lots owned by out-of-town property holders. In other words, the ladies plan to make a thorough job of it and earnestly solicit the co-operation of every resident of the city and every business house.

The trash hauling will be done free of charge to the resident. All that is required is that the rubbish be gathered up in convenient containers, something that can be lifted on to the trucks, and placed in a convenient place so that the trucks can reach it easily. Trash haulers working on their own initiative charge $2 a load for hauling trash. This is your opportunity to get your winter's accumulation hauled away without charge.

Now that the Joslin hill across the draw is polished off, we can get back to work at damming up the draws along the highway south of town.

This is the time of the year when the man with an automobile wishes he had a horse or a good team of mules whenever he turns off the main paved roads. We have gone a long way since George Washington's time, when it took him two weeks to get from the national capital, then in New York, to his home in Virginia, on account of the bad condition of the roads. The reason why our national Constitution provides that Presidents and Members of Congress elected in November do not take office until the following March is that it was figured it would take all that time for them to get to the capital, especially if new states were created west of the Ohio River!

One of the first acts of Thomas Jefferson's administration was to inaugurate a system of national paved highways. But the railroad was invented along in the 1820's, and road-building began to languish; the railroad was going to take its place. Our fathers, grandfathers and great-grandfathers continued to pull along in the mud until the automobile made better roads a necessity. The past fifteen years have seen road-building develop into one of the nation's major industries, and this year's program is vaster than any that have gone before.

The good work should not stop until every farm home in the nation has a paved road passing its gate. Already there is some idle talk to the effect that the airplane will make further extension of through motor roads unnecessary. Nobody takes that sort of talk very seriously as yet, but it may become an argument in ten years or so against the appropriation of further Federal funds for road-building. That was what happened when the railroad came in, but we know more than our ancestors did and probably will not be fooled as they were.

Uncle Si Tinklepaugh says there is one good thing about this Russian attack on religion; it gives the preachers something to preach against without making their own congregation sore.

After reading the news dispatches from Chicago, U. S. A., the people of Chicago, South Australia, voted to change the name of their town to Booth, after the founder of the Salvation Army. If that doesn't make Chicago ashamed of itself, Chicago, Kentucky, might threaten to change its name to King George and see if that will have any effect.

Miss Mary Childress of Ozona was a guest at a formal dinner sponsored by Dean and Mrs. L. L. Lettwich and Mrs. Sadie Beckham of Texas Christian University, recently. The dinner was in honor of the girls of Sterling House, a residence for seniors, and their escorts.

SYNOPSIS

Rex Leferre, apparently a suicide, leaves a note accusing Luke Maddison, who is about to marry Margaret Leferre, of ruining him.

He was at the phone—as eager, as enthusiastic, as a boy pursuing some new and delightful idea.

"Luke, is that your lawyer you are calling?"

Conscience overwhelmed her with a sudden fear; she realized for the first time the enormity of her treachery and was terrified.

"Yes, Hilton—it is Luke Maddison speaking. . . you have the draft of the antenuptial contract? Well, include everything! You have the list of my securities? . . . Yes, all. And the cash in bank—everything. My interest in Maddison's. . . no, I'm not mad!"

"You are!"
She was standing by him now, her face white as death. The words came tremulously.

"You're mad, Luke—I didn't mean it."
She stood there, her hands gripped, her breath coming quickly and more quickly, and heard him override the protests which came over the wire. Presently he hung up the phone and turned to her, a smile of triumph on his flushed face.

"You are Maddison's," he said grandly. "Lock, stock and barrel, darling—I am what old Bird calls a child of the poor."

Even she could not realize that he was speaking prophetically.

"Do you want to see a man named Lewing?" Stiles asked Maddison.

"Lewing? Who is he?"

From Mr. Stiles' expression of disparagement he gathered that Lewing was not of any great account.

"Show him in."

The man who followed Stiles into the room was tall and spare of build. His deep-set eyes had in them a furtiveness that was almost animal. He glanced quickly around the room, and it almost seemed to Luke that he was pricing every article within view against the night when he might enter and take away such movables as would show him a profit.

"Mornin', sir."

He held his head downwards and sideways, looking up from under his heavy and untidy eyebrows.

"Like to speak to you private, sir, he said in his husky voice."

Luke glanced at the manager and signalled him to leave the room. Mr. Stiles left with the greatest reluctance.

"Sit down, will you?"

Not taking his eyes from Luke's face, the visitor stretched out a hand and drew a chair to him.

"Well?"

The visitor sat down.

"Gunner's got three moon for hein' a suspected," he said in a low, hoarse voice. "The Sparrer spoke up for him but the beak handed out the three moon. The Gunner's appealin' to the sessions."

Luke nodded.

"He has got three month's hard labor and is appealing? I hope he gets off. Did he send you to me?"

Lewing nodded slowly. He had the appearance of a man who was lying and expected to be found out at any moment.

"Yes, A few quid would do him a bit o' good. He wants a mouth-piece. The Sparrer says he'll get off—an' the Sparrer knows."

"Who is the Sparrow?"

A slow smile dawned on Mr. Lewing's face.

"He's a busy—a detective, Bird by name—"

Luke nodded. He remembered Mr. Sparrow, whose activities were apparently not wholly confined to inquests.

"I was inside meself—for break-in' and enterin'," confided Lewing, "but they couldn't prove nothin' so I got out. But me an' the Gunner's like brothers. He was in the next cell to me at Brixton an' he told me to pop up here an' have a talk with you—a few quid would help him."

Luke was puzzled. His acquaintance with the redoubtable gunman who called himself Haynes was a slight one, but it had struck him during their brief interview at the Carlton, that the Gunner had the manners and certainly the vocabulary of a gentleman, and that this mean sneak-thief who was looking at him stealthily from the other side of the table was hardly the type of man in whom the Gunner would confide his commissions.

Luke felt in his pocket and took out a few pound notes.

"I suppose you know Mr. Bird very well?" he asked as he counted the money.

The man grinned.

"The Sparrer? I should say so! He's always goin' on about the children of the poor—but he's always laggin' 'em! He pretends a lot of poor people are sufferin' because of the like of—" he was about to say "me" but changed his mind—"of fellers who go on the crook. That's silly. If you can't do work you've got to do something, you can't starve. The last time the Sparrer started talkin' to me about it I says: "Look here, Mr. Bird, why don't you go after the children of the rich an' make 'em pay their whack to these children of the poor?" He couldn't answer me. He was dumbfounded. I'm always beatin' people in arguments."

He seemed rather proud of this accomplishment; was not without his vanities, even if he had to lie about his triumphs.

"Here is ten pounds. Give that to your friend. I can't help him much more. I'd like to know what happens to him, and he can write to me here."

At two o'clock Margaret Leferre stepped from her car at the door of the Marleybone registrar's office and Luke, waiting in the room of that official, turned to greet the palest bride that had ever entered those commonplace portals.

She spoke not at all, only answered the questions put to her. With a shudder she felt the ring slip upon her finger.

It was all over so quickly that she could not believe that the first act of her vengeance was played. Somebody put a pen into her hand, and a squat forefinger showed her where she must sign her name. For a long time she held the pen, and when she wrote it wavered in her fingers and the scrawled signature looked like nothing she had ever seen.

Leaving for Paris that night—the Maurice, or was it the Bristol? There was some confusion in her mind about these details; anyway, they did not matter if she kept her courage. The two o'clock wedding had been an inspiration. She went back to her house—Luke was coming to dinner; they were to leave immediately after to catch the night boat from Southampton.

Luke's voice was tremulous. They were alone in her pretty little drawing room, and he was sitting by her side, his arm around her. She was very still and unyielding, but he thought that he understood this.

Luke was bubbling over with excitement—he was like a boy who had received a new and wonderful present.

"I say, did you see that queer-looking man standing on the pavement as we came out? A fellow named Lewing—a thief of some kind. I wonder if he came to pick pockets? I'll bet he did; touched his hat to me as I came out."

She was not listening, and, after he had gone, could remember nothing that he had said except something about Rex. It was indecent of him to mention the boy. Danty rang her up, but she would not see or receive him. She must go through now without help. Luke was coming at seven. At six she called him on the telephone, and had one panicky moment when she feared that he had already left his flat and could not be found. Then she heard his voice.

"Darling, isn't it odd? I can't believe it—I still think of myself as a crusty old bachelor—"

"Luke, I want you to do something for me." She found her voice at last. "No—no, don't interrupt. It's a big thing. I don't want to go away tonight, not for a day or two. I want to be alone, not to see you. My nerves are in a terrible condition; I think I am on the verge of a breakdown."

As she went on, he listened with

The Way of Life

BRUCE BARTON

Your Legs and Your Brain
 This is one of the greatest tragedies of modern life. Men are forgetting how to walk. They travel by taxicabs and street cars; they travel by automobile; they project their personalities over a telephone wire. But they do not walk.

There is a double loss in this. A loss in health, first. Most of the diseases of modern men originate in the intestines. Formerly men and women walked enough to keep the stomach muscles firm, the intestines healthfully agitated. Now men and women even more so—sit all day slumped in. Germs settle down inside them gladly; and death, his work made easy for him, laughs. There is another loss, equally great. A loss in mental keenness and mental wealth. Did you ever take a walk in the country with someone who knows really how to walk?

Someone of the type of the naturalist Linnaeus, for instance? Linnaeus walked into Oland and found the lands of the farmers ruined by sand blown from the beaches. He discovered that the roots of a certain beach grass were long and firm; he taught the farmers to sow that grass along the beach, and so preserved their lands from ruin. He walked into Thorne, and found that at a certain period in every year the cattle fell sick and died.

It was a curse, the people said—the act of angry spirits. But Linnaeus, examining the pastures, uncovered a noxious weed, and showed the farmers how the work of one laborer for a few days every season would root it out. In his walks he examined and catalogued 8,000 plants, vegetables and flowers.

How many plants, vegetables, and flowers do you think you could identify if you were to see them in their native state? "Few men," said Dr. Johnson, "know how to take a walk." But those favored few enjoy a glorious and mysterious privilege. To discover where the violets first bloom in the spring—To be able to tell directions in the woods, by knowing that large pine trees bear more numerous branches on their southern side—Or that grass grows on the south side of ant-hills and wortle-berries on the north— There are few pleasures more richly satisfying; none that pay larger dividends in health. The man who goes into the country once a week is a better citizen than the man who never goes, even though his eyes see nothing more inspiring on his walk than a golf ball. Flabby legs usually mean flabby brains.

If you would think clearly, speak forcefully, work effectively, get out into the country when you can—and walk.

Woodrow Wilson, flashy grid-iron and track star, was high point man in the junior division, winning firsts in the 50 and 100-yard dashes and in the baseball throw and tying Buddy Moore of Ozona for third place in the high jump. Moore also won first place in the broad jump. The Ozona 440-yard relay team, composed of Woodrow Wilson, Chester Wilson, Geo. Vic Montgomery and Buddy Moore won first place in that event.

The only Ozona lad to place in the senior events was Lee Patrick, who won second place in the broad jump. Seniors participating in the meet were Earl Deland, Walter Kyle, Dock Lee and Lee Patrick. Seven schools were represented in the meeting, including Lake View, Eldorado, Menard, Sonora, Ozona, Rocksprings and Eden. Track stars from San Angelo participated in the meet in exhibition performance, but were not eligible to compete because of Class A standing.

W. M. Johnigan was reported the first of the week.

Powell by the State of Texas, April 9th, 1885, by letter patents Nos. 247 Vol. 88; that on the day and year aforesaid Defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiffs therefrom and unlawfully withheld from them the possession thereof, to their damage in the sum of $5000.00; that the reasonable annual rental value of said land and premises is $200.00; They show further in this relation that on or about the 23rd day of July, 1888, E. M. Powell conveyed the aforesaid lands to Joseph Baumgartner, who executed his certain promissory vendor's lien notes in consideration thereof; that in the conveyance from Powell to Baumgartner the superior title and Vendor's lien was retained to secure the payment of the aforesaid notes and indebtedness. That thereafter, more than forty years ago, the said Joseph Baumgartner defaulted in the payment of the consideration for said lands and the above described notes, wholly failed and refused to liquidate and pay off the same, and abandoned the lands so conveyed to him and left the State, without any provision for the payment of the consideration for said land, without the knowledge or consent of the said E. Powell was compelled and did cancel and annul said conveyance aforesaid, and retook possession of said land and has been in peaceable continuous use and possession under title and the cancellation of said contract of purchase and sale, continuously for more than thirty years, that by reason thereof defendants lost all right, interest and title in said land; that plaintiffs have been in peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of said land, cultivating, using and enjoying the same under deeds duly registered, and paying taxes thereon as they accrued for a period of more than five years preceding January 1st, 1930, and before the commencement of this suit; that they have been in continuous, peaceable and adverse possession of said land claiming, cultivating, using and enjoying the same without adverse claim by any one for a period of more than ten years prior to the commencement of this suit; that all of said land has at all said time been enclosed within an enclosure of less than five thousand acres by fence; that plaintiffs and those whom under they claim title have been in possession of said land peaceably under adverse claim of right, in good faith under a chain of title from the State of Texas, with all the muniments of title duly recorded in Crockett County, Texas, for more than twenty-five years prior to the filing of this suit or the accrual of any cause of action to defendants, claiming same adversely in fee simple without adverse claim by any one; that by reason of all of said facts plaintiffs claim said land by the five, ten and twenty-five years STATUTES OF LIMITATION; Wherefore, they pray that the defendants be cited to appear and answer and upon trial, they have judgment for the title and possession of said lands, for writ of restitution, for cancellation of any claims of the defendants of cloud upon their title, for cancellation of the aforesaid conveyance from E. As far ahead of Single balloons as Cords were ahead of Fabric Tires

There's No Other Tire Like It!

Note these points of difference:
(1) The fullest advantage of extreme low pressure—the lowest ever made possible in tires—and this without the slightest penalty of premature wear.

(2) Twice the mileage you have ever had from any tire—and double the comfort.
(3) Single balloons depend on air alone to take road shocks. The Dual-Balloon uses both air and rubber.

Shock Absorbers Built In!

Low air pressure alone is not enough protection. It rebounds when you hit a rough spot and makes you leave the seat. The special built-in shock absorbers of thick, extra-soft rubber plies in the a growing sense of alarm and dismay. And yet he was not thinking of himself.

"I've been a selfish brute. Of course, darling, I understand."

The conversation did not occupy five minutes of time; he could hardly realize what was happening, to what he was agreeing, before he was sitting at his writing table staring blankly at the telegraph forms by which he was to cancel so many pleasant arrangements.

Danty, waiting at Waterloo Station with a full view of the barrier, watched the mail-boat passengers filter through to the platform. He saw the barrier close and the red tail lights of the train disappear into the darkness, and went home humming a little song, for Mr. and Mrs. Luke Maddison were not among the passengers.

Luke did not even trouble to see Margaret at once. Before lunch he remembered and telephoned.

"I want to see you, darling," he began.

"Why?" It was difficult to disguise the suspicion she felt.

"I want you to sign a little document," he said gaily.

So that was it! Danty had warned her. Only she had never dreamed that she would be asked to renounce her marriage portion so soon.

"Wife! It's wonderful—unbelievable!"

"A document?"

"I want you to transfer some money to me," he said. "It is the merest formality—I've discovered that I have rather less than I need."

She thought quickly.

"Very well, come to the house at three o'clock."

He forgot that the bank closed at three-thirty and agreed. After all, it did not greatly matter if he check was returned. It was merely a transference from his personal account to the bank's.

He was, true to his methods, five minutes late, when he was shown into her little sitting room. The first thing that struck him was that she was dressed. He had pictured her resting in her negligee—in bed even. She was not as pale as she had been. It was when he went to take her in his arms that he had his first shock.

"Don't kiss me—please!"

It was not a request; it was a peremptory command.

"Why—what is wrong, darling?"

She shook her head impatiently.

"Please tell me what you want."

Her tone turned him cold. It was hard, almost antagonistic. He could hardly believe the evidence of his senses.

Stammering like a schoolboy, he told her in disjointed sentences of the situation which had arisen, and she listened and did not speak until he stopped.

"Ninety-seven thousand pounds," she said. "A tenth of that would have saved Rex."

He could only stare at her uncomprehendingly.

"It was rather dreadful to see a man make a god of money, Luke, and to know that for its sake he is willing to sacrifice even a young life."

To him her voice sounded like the clang of a bell; to herself it hardly seemed that she was speaking.

"And to accuse this poor dead boy of forgery—to add that infamy to the other."

"I—you are speaking of me?" he said in a whisper.

She nodded.

"Of you. I knew that you were coming to get your money back—that is why I did not go with you to France. I wanted it to happen here. Here, where I have friends and can meet you on even terms."

A pause and then:

"Luke, I am giving you no money. You gave it to me—it is mine. Not a penny can you have—not a penny!"

She wished he would speak during the silence that followed. She wished he would rave, curse her, do all the things that were consistent with her picture of him. But he said nothing. He was not even looking at her, but was studying the pattern of the carpet. Presently he jerked up his head.

"Good-bye," he said, and turned on his heel.

She heard the door close on him, and then there came to her a realization that made her brain reel. She loved him!

Why he gravitated to the Embankment he could never tell; it seemed a natural objective. He had no thought of suicide, no intention of finding that gross way to forgetfulness. Walking slowly by the parapet, he came to Scotland Yard and eyed that Gothic building incuriously. That big detective was there, the Sparrow—the Sparrow, who righted so many wrongs, could hardly disentangle the problem which deadened the mind of Luke Maddison. The "children of the poor!" He smiled mirthlessly. He was one of the children of the poor, the natural charge of that big man. To protect the children of the poor and punish the wrongdoer. Who had done wrong? Margaret? He tried hard to apportion all blame to her, to hate her. He shook his head and walked slowly back toward Blackfriars.

self all along, only he had never thought of it till he found a smart doctor who knew his business! All he wants is, to have that poison gone after; he leaves the smart doctor's office with a glad hope of recovery.

And that's some good done after all—the improved mental state produced.

Now, I have seen hundreds of men and women who suffered more from the belief that they were full of poison, than from any real toxic condition. A man follows a grinding occupation until his nerves are tired to shreds—just tired. He begins to ache in his muscles here and there; his efficiency is dwindling; his bowel-nerves bankrupt—no action possible; his disposition changes; he becomes irritable, hard to get along with; both he and his family grow fearful; medicines have failed to improve; the idea grows that nobody understands his case—until some medical wise-cracker tells him solemnly that he is "full of poison."

This for a man that is just plain tired!

Hundreds of women have been "fed up" on such diagnosis, and grope aimlessly and expensively, fighting a poison that exists only in imagination! When may we expect good, plain horse-sense to come into its own, in the matter of caring for our bodies?

And it seems to satisfy certain neurotic individuals to be told they are full of germs. They are in fighting mood, it is true, and they welcome something tangible to go after. Oh, for common sense in diet, exercise, sleep, and mental

THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF CROCKETT

WHEREAS—as County Judge of Crockett County, Texas, I have been petitioned by more than twenty of the legally qualified voters of each of the following contiguous common school Districts in said County praying for the consolidation for school purposes of the Ozona Common School District No. 1 and Graham Common School District No. 2, the said petitions being filed in my office on the 26th day of February A.D. 1930.

Now therefore, I, Chas. E. Davidson, County Judge of said County, hereby order that on Saturday the 22nd day of March A.D. 1930, an election be held at the J. W. Owens ranch house in said Graham Common School District No. 2 and at the Court House in Ozona in said Ozona Common School District No. 1, to determine by majority of combined votes whether or not said contiguous common school districts be consolidated for school purposes. Polls will open at 8 o'clock A.M. and close at 6 o'clock P.M. The manner of holding such elections will be the same as in general elections, and returns be made to the Commissioners Court. Those favoring consolidation shall have written or printed on their ballots "For Consolidating Common School Districts Numbers One and Two for School Purposes." Frank McMullen and Jeff Owens are appointed Judges of Election to hold the election in District Two (2), and John R. Bailey and Houston S. Smith are appointed Judges to hold the election in said District No. 1.

This order is also the notice of such election, and same will be published for twenty days prior to said election in The Ozona Stockman, a newspaper published in Crockett County, Texas. Dated Ozona, Texas, this 26th day of February A.D. 1930.

Chas. E. Davidson, County Judge of Crockett County, Texas.

equilibrium! Right living is the ounce of prevention that is better than a ton of so-called "cure."

The Oswego, Oregon, Review runs the following interesting quotation from the American Banker's Magazine:

"No business in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger, picking up a newspaper, should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertisement.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business men."

ANALYZE THE ALLOWANCE ON YOUR USED CAR

If a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must make up the difference by extra charges on the new car or re-sell it to some one else at too high a price

PERMANENT value is always better than a temporary bargain in the purchase of an automobile. It pays to look ahead and consider reliability and ultimate up-keep costs, as well as comfort, safety, speed, and beauty of line and color.

Since most automobiles are bought for replacement, the value set on your used car is a factor in almost every purchase. Frequently it is given an importance beyond its true worth.

Used cars have a definite market value and you are justly entitled to an allowance based on that value. It is not fair that you receive less. It is not to your best interests to receive more.

IF a dealer pays you more than the true worth of the car he must either re-sell it to some one else at too high a price or make up the difference on the new car. This he cannot do unless he is allowed an excessive profit on the car or on financing, extra equipment and other charges. In either case, you pay the bill, for no way has yet been found to give something for nothing. The money must come from somewhere.

You may not get the largest used-car allowance from the Ford dealer, but that very fact should give you confidence that you are receiving full value in the new car. Ford charges are not marked up or increased to cover a high trade-in allowance on your old car.

Because there is no waste, extravagance or undue profit in manufacturing, distribution or selling, every dollar you pay for a Ford brings a full dollar in return. In lower first cost, in reliability and long life, in the low cost of operation, service and replacement parts, the Ford will save you much more than the seeming difference in trade allowance.

FURTHERMORE, at least $75 extra value is given to you in the new Ford in the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the five steel-spoke wheels, and the four Houdaille hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings, and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, are other features that show the extra quality built into the Ford car.

Roadster, $435	Phaeton, $440	Tudor Sedan, $500	Coupe, $500	Sport Coupe, $530
Two-window Fordor Sedan, $600	Three-window Fordor Sedan, $625	Cabriolet, $645	Town Sedan, $670

Ozona High Baseball Hopefuls Work-Out As Season Is Nearing

Spring is in the air. The lads from Ozona High School are out each afternoon tossing the apple about the lot, getting arms limbered up, getting the feel of the pill and otherwise shaping things up for the opening of the baseball season soon.

Efforts are being made by Coach O. G. Lewis to organize a league among towns in this section. A number of schools in this territory are planning on strong diamond squads this year. Coach Lewis has been advised, and the local mentor believes that interest in the contests can be stimulated by the organization of a league to play on a regular schedule throughout the season.
