HUGE CROWD IS EXPECTED FOR ANNUAL RODEO

Vanguard of Visitors Arrives Wednesday For Opening

STAGE IS ALL SET

Best Show in History Of Assn. Claim of Fair Heads

The vanguard of the big crowds expected here for the fifth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show, opening here today and continuing the rest of the week, began pouring in Wednesday afternoon to be on hand for the opening of the festivities Thursday morning.

Every room in the Hotel Ozona has been reserved for the three days and other hotels and rooming houses in the city are full, as well as the tourist camps and many homes. Despite the fact that there are a number of competitive celebrations in progress over this section, one of the largest crowds in history is expected to be here during the three days.

The celebration got under way a day in advance, the annual Rambouillet sheep show being held on Wednesday morning, a day in advance of the opening of the regular program. Some of the finest Rambouillet sheep produced in America are entered in the show competing for the $500 in premiums offered by the Fair Association in this department. The show was held from 9 to 12 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The annual Rambouillet sheep sale will be the opening event of the three days' schedule, this feature being slated from 9 to 12 of the opening day. The sale will be held each morning, with Registered Angora Goats and Registered Hereford Cattle being sold from the same ring also during these hours.

Afternoon programs, which include rodeo features and the racing card will get under way at 2 o'clock each afternoon, following the free barbecue at noon each day in the city park. Following is the program for the three days:

MR. PRESIDENT

JOE PIERCE, JR.

President Crockett County Fair Association since its organization five years ago. Under his direction and with the assistance of an able staff of directors and helpers and with the 100 per cent co-operation of the people of Ozona, the annual July celebration has grown from a modest beginning to one of the greatest of its kind in the state.

OKLAHOMAN IS FATALLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

H. H. Downing Killed, Wife and Daughter Injured Near Here

CAR TURNS OVER

Victim's Head Crushed; Body Is Shipped To Oklahoma

H. H. Downing, about 50 years of age, was instantly killed, his wife was seriously injured and a daughter slightly hurt about 10 o'clock Monday morning when their car, a Lincoln roadster, overturned about 30 miles south of Ozona on the Comstock road when going at a high rate of speed.

The exact cause of the accident could not be determined, persons who visited the scene said. It is presumed, however, that the car struck a rut or loose dirt and Downing lost control of the wheel. The car turned completely over and landed upright on its wheels. Mrs. Downing and her daughter were thrown clear of the wrecked machine but Downing's body was found crumpled up on the front seat. His head was crushed, both arms and legs broken and he was injured internally.

A son of the Downings, about 15 years old, and a nephew, were in a Ford and were the first to reach the scene of the tragedy. They brought the injured mother and daughter to the Early Baggett home 12 miles from here and brought Downing's body on to the Joe Oberkamp undertaking parlor here where it was prepared for shipment and burial. The new $5000 ambulance purchased recently by Joe Oberkamp was sent to the Baggett ranch home and brought the injured women in and took them on to San Angelo for treatment. Downing's body was taken by Joe Oberkamp Tuesday to San Angelo for shipment to Enid, Oklahoma, where funeral services will be held.

The car, a Lincoln touring car which had been converted into a roadster, the rear being used as a rack to carry oil field tools, was not badly damaged. The windshield and top were stripped off and the fenders bent somewhat, but otherwise it was not damaged. It was driven to Ozona under its own power by Lee Wilson and placed at the Ozona Motor Company for repairs.

$25 day; $50 final
5:00 P. M.—Calf Roping.

AERIAL DISPLAY OF FIREWORKS TO BE FAIR FEATURE

Fireworks, touched off at from 1500 to 2000 feet in the air from an airplane, will be an added feature of the fifth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show to be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The fireworks display, as a specially prepared program which will last fifteen minutes, will be fired from an airplane piloted by Lee Wilson of Ozona.

This novelty feature will take place at 9:30 Friday night, July 4, according to present plans. The display will be fired over the fair grounds shortly after crowds gather for the dance on the open-air platform.

Included in the display will be bombs that fire several intermittent shots and end up with a huge cannon-like report with a flash of fire that lights up the ground. There will also be flares which produce 5,000 candle-power lights, capable of lighting up the whole city. There will also be vari-colored sprays of light and other beautiful combinations of lights and explosives.

The display is especially prepared for firing from an airplane, Mr. Wilson said, and does not constitute a fire hazard for the plane. The only danger will be from the night flying and landing. Arrangements have been made, however, to have automobile lights turned on the landing field here to enable the pilot to bring his plane down after the fireworks display. The plane is also equipped with flares on each wing tip to permit emergency landing if necessary.

New Officers of Lions Installed

Fulmer Relinquishes Gavel After Serving Two Years

Installation of new officers, elected recently, featured the regular luncheon of the Ozona Lions Club Monday noon. The new officers will take over the direction of club affairs at once.

Rev. M. M. Fulmer, retiring president, was master of ceremonies, installing all officers up to president. The retiring officer as well as the newly elected one in each office made brief talks upon installation.

Rev. Fulmer, upon turning the gavel over to the new president, made an eloquent "farewell" address, expressing his appreciation to the members for their co-operation and tracing the growth of the

$375,000 BOND ISSUE IS SOLD TO CENT. NATL. BANK AT PAR, ACCRUED INTEREST

ANGELO BANK TAKES ENTIRE ROAD ISSUE

2 1/4 Percent Interest To Be Paid County On Deposited Fund

10 DAYS DELIVERY

County Highly Elated Over Advantageous Sale of Issue

After turning down propositions of a group of bond buyers who required bonuses amounting to approximately $18,000, the Crockett County Commissioners' Court late Tuesday sold the entire $375,000 road bond issue, voted in this county on April 12, to the Central National Bank of San Angelo for par and accrued interest.

Members of the Commissioners Court and others familiar with the transaction were highly elated over the advantageous sale of the bonds. In addition to the advantages of the saving of $18,000 bonus money demanded by bond buyers who submitted their bids at the opening session of the court Monday, it was pointed out, the money will be kept in West Texas and the sale represents an actual bonus to the county of $3,700 in accrued interest on the bonds.

Delivery of the bonds is to be made in ten days. The bonds are now on deposit with the state treasurer in Austin, having been approved and signed up by county officials and the attorney general and registered by the comptroller.

The San Angelo bank agreed to pay cash upon delivery of the bonds. As a condition of the sale, the funds representing the purchase price of the bonds shall remain on deposit at the Central National Bank to the credit of Crockett county until called for by the state or otherwise legally used in the construction of the public roads of the county. During the time such funds are on deposit or any portion thereof remains on deposit, the bank will pay the county 2 1/4 per cent interest on daily balances.

As a guarantee of fulfillment of the contract, the purchasing bank agrees to execute a $750,000 bond with personal security to the satisfaction of the Commissioners' Court.

W. C. Blanks, president of the Central National, who negotiated the deal with the Commissioners' Court in person, named Robert Massie, Willis Johnson, Jr., Clint Johnson and the Central National Bank as securities on the bond, such security representing a total wealth of approximately $7,000,000, it was declared.

Interest and sinking funds collected by the county will be kept on deposit at the Ozona National Bank, where they will draw 4 per cent interest as other funds of the county, it was stated.

The bonds are dated May 10, 1930, and will mature May 10, 1960. They bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent and the county retains an option to retire any or all of the bonds at any regular interest paying date after five years.

Sale of the bonds represents the last step in the county's obligations toward completion of the paving project contemplated in the bond issue movement, with the exception of securing the necessary right-of-way when engineers have finally chosen the route for the highways. Surveys are now being made by a crew of engineers to locate the route. Several lines will be run by these engineers and these will be submitted to federal highway engineers

Former Ozona Boy Killed in Blast

Clayton McCollum Victim of Explosion In Alpine Mine

Clayton McCollum, 22, son of R. C. McCollum, Big Bend ranchman, former resident of Ozona, was killed Sunday in a dynamite blast in the Rainbow mines near Terlingua, according to word received here by friends of the family in the Lajitas mines near Terlingua, according to word received here by friends of the family.

Young McCollum had been working in the mines during vacation, attending Sul Ross State Teachers' College at Alpine during the winter months. The family is well known here, having made this their home until about three years ago, when they moved to Alpine. A brother, Frank McCollum, formerly employed at the Joe Oberkamp store, has been here on visits several times since the family moved to Alpine.

Two companions, Harold Moyer and James Payton, were with young McCollum when the tragedy occurred. They were prospecting a vein of ore, the two survivors said, and had just placed three shots of dynamite. They thought they heard the three explosions, waited a few minutes, and then McCollum went back into the mine. He had barely gotten inside when the charge exploded, killing him instantly. His badly mangled body was carried by his two companions to Terlingua from where it was first taken to Alpine and then to Merton, where funeral services were conducted at four o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Friends of the family were present from Alpine, Ozona, Sterling City and San Angelo. Among Ozona friends attending the funeral were Rev. M. M. Fulmer, pastor of the Baptist church here, Mrs. Laura Hoover, Mrs. A. E. Deland, Mrs. M. J. Dunlap, Mrs. J. J. North, Will Baggett, and Misses Louetta and Gladine Powell.

Everybody Works In Crockett County

Census Report Shows No Unemployment in This County

There is not a single person in Crockett County who is "without a job, able to work and looking for a job."

This is the report of the unemployment returns from the 1930 United States census as reported by the supervisor of the census for this district at San Angelo. Crockett County was one of three West Texas counties reporting no unemployment, these three, Crockett, Glasscock and Loving, being among the very few counties in the United States thus reporting.

The largest unemployment figure in this census district, 839, is found in Tom Green County, the most thickly populated county in the area. Of this number, 666 of those "able to work and looking for jobs" were found in San Angelo.

Unemployment in other counties are: Howard, 457; Nolan, 339; Winkler, 399; Mitchell, 236; Coke, 131; Upton, 108; Crane, 26; Ector, 57; Irion, 18; Midland, 39; Reagan, 69; Schleicher, 27; Sterling, 16; Sutton, 3; Ward, 69; Martin, 66.

Dr. Hollis Weaver of Houston is in Ozona to attend the Rodeo and to visit relatives.

LAND

A young woman of my acquaintance was surprised recently on getting home from her daily work as a stenographer to find a young man waiting to ask her who her grandfather was. When she told him, he informed her that the title company which he represented was prepared to pay her and each of her five living sisters, aunts and uncles $200 each to sign a quit claim deed to a strip of land one inch wide and eighteen feet long.

That price was a "nuisance value," but there are several pieces of Manhattan real estate which have sold for as much or more per square foot, for office buildings. He no longer pays to build under 30 stories high in old New York. And the reason for the high land value is the growth of population. Every new comer to the city adds an appreciable amount to the value of every foot of land.

COMMERCE

I went into a grocery store in a little Massachusetts town the other day to buy some matches. The salesman handed me a package which was marked "Made in Russia." In the same shop window I saw some canned corned beef, cooked and packed in Uruguay. In a store in New York recently my daughter bought a raincoat made of silk which had first been woven in Japan and then sent to Scotland to be waterproofed. Wearing that, she drove to a country house on Long Island where the refreshments included tea from India and biscuits from England.

For every dollars worth of goods the United States sells abroad we must eventually buy a dollar's worth from the country which we sell to. That is the long and short of all the talk about tariffs and imports and the export trade.

SHIPS

The Germans now hold the record for speed of trans-Atlantic ships, but both the United States and England are preparing to take it away from them. The Cunard line, which is the oldest of all ocean steamship lines, announces that it will build a craft 1,000 feet long, carrying 4,000 passengers, which will make a speed of 30 knots an hour and will cost between 20 and 25 million dollars. A knot, by the way, is a nautical mile, which is 600 feet longer than the land mile; so a speed of 30 knots means 34 1/2 miles an hour. The United States Shipping Board in conjunction with the Post Office Department, is arranging with American steamship companies to build two ships even bigger and faster than the Cunard liner. It will take three or four years to build them. They will be good advertising for the United

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1930.

WELCOME, VISITORS

Ozona is expecting the largest crowd in the history of the local fair association Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week for the fifth annual Crockett County Rodeo, Race Meet and Stock Show. Every year thousands of visitors from all parts of West Texas and some from more distant points come to Ozona to enjoy the hospitality of this town and to witness the celebration features of the three days.

On the part of officers of the fair association, the business men of Ozona and the people of Crockett county, this paper welcomes these visitors. We will see many familiar faces among the visitors, many of them coming here every year for Ozona's three-day show, which is excelled by none in the state in a town near the size of this. This fifth annual event is going to be the best yet. Many new features have been added, much improvement at the grounds has been made and every effort has been made to give you a better and bigger show.

Among the special features will be an aerial fireworks display to be put on the night of the Fourth, Friday night, at about 9:30 o'clock. This display will be fired over the fairgrounds by an airplane piloted by Lee Wilson. The display will last fifteen minutes and will be worth traveling miles to see.

The goat show and sale is another added feature this year. This department has already attracted widespread interest among goat men over this section and is expected to rival the sheep show and sale in importance the first year.

The Alamo Shows will present their carnival attractions on the grounds each afternoon and night and Ralph Britt and orchestra will furnish music each evening for dancing on the fair grounds platform. The free barbecue in limitless quantities, cooked to a tasty brown in Bob Cooke's patented barbecue pits, will be available in the city park each day at noon.

Now that you are here and come here to have a good time, step to it. Attend the rodeo and racing programs each afternoon at the fair grounds. Eat all you can hold of barbecue, drink red sodapop and iced tea, go to the dance at night and otherwise make general whoopee. Ozona extends a hearty welcome to every visitor and every resident is a committee of one to see that visitors are made to feel at home.

SMALL TOWN'S FUTURE

"Few Texas towns," says the Winters Enterprise, "are satisfied with their population figures recently revealed, as in many cases, in fact most instances, the population has fallen short of the previous estimates although a substantial gain over the 1920 census might be enjoyed."

"Editorial comment on the small town and its future contradicts the pessimistic viewpoint that has been most universally sounded to the effect that small towns are doomed. It is evident that the small town will continue to grow and develop along mature lines if its citizenship continues to function as a prosperity unit."

"As we see it, the small town will grow, its population will increase, new industries will be continuously added and prosperity will be realized more than ever before—only just so long as its citizenship believes in the home town and its future."

"Every dollar spent out of town that should be spent at home lessens the prosperity of the future ten times that amount. There are other things which, likewise, prove vital or detrimental, according to the response of the citizenship as a unit."

Report of the 1930 census takers show that there is not one person in Crockett County who is "without a job, able to work and looking for a job." If that last clause hadn't been included in the classification the figure would have been different.

Dragging the streets before the celebration is a fine piece of work, but it seems to us that if the work had been done a few weeks earlier it would have allowed time for the streets to pack and would not have added to the dust nuisance as is now the case.

"SWEET" TAKEN FROM HOME, SWEET HOME

The "Sweet" has been taken from "Home, Sweet Home." It doesn't mean a thing any more, due to childless marriages and other things.

After studying the facts in 64 undefended divorce cases tried before him in one day, Brooklyn Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Lewis reached this conclusion.

"A home used to be the location of our birth, the place where we entertained our friends and where we held our family functions," said Judge Lewis.

"Today, we are born in hospitals, we entertain in our clubs, we eat in restaurants, we entertain our visiting friends in cabarets, and we are buried from funeral parlors."

The cure for it all would be more children and fewer divorces, according to the learned judge.—Ex.

Most of the photos sent by telephone look as if someone jiggled the hook during the process.

It looks as if many motorists think a locomotive whistles just to keep up its courage.

"Now, James," said the teacher, "if your father can do a piece of work in one hour and your mother can do it in one hour, how long would it take them to do it together?"

"Three hours," answered James, "counting the time they would lose in arguing."

Father: "I don't like to see our daughter lighting cigarettes."

Modern Mother: "Oh, don't be old-fashioned, John."

Father: "It isn't that. She's too young to be playing with matches."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Augustine and Mr. and Mrs. Marbury Morrison were in San Angelo over the week-end.

For Every Man Who Works Horses or Mules

we have a copy of "MORE HORSEPOWER"

HERE is just one reason for keeping horses or mules—to do the work for which they are suited, and to do it at a profit to you.

Just as a truck or tractor must have good gasoline and oil to operate efficiently, so must a work animal have good feed—if it is to stay in good condition and do profitable work.

"More Horsepower" tells how to get more work from horses and mules and keep them in better condition; also, why RED CHAIN Alamo is cheaper than corn and oats. (It contains more digestible nutrients and you feed less.) We invite comparative feeding tests.

An Announcement of Interest to Patrons of our Service Dept.

Effective June 1, we are turning over active management and supervision of our repair and service department to Arthur M. Quist and Louis Donaho, supervising mechanics, and after that date our repair department will be operated by these men on a commission basis.

Both Mr. Quist and Mr. Donaho are expert mechanics. Both were formerly connected with the Dudley Motor Company here and Ozona people know their ability as mechanics. We believe that under the new management patrons of our service department will find it more satisfactory to deal directly with the heads of the department where the work is to be done.

This department is thoroughly equipped to do any kind of welding or machine work and to service and repair any make of automobile. Service rates will remain the same as at present and all bills for this work will be handled through the usual channel of the McLeod Motor Co. as at present.

SELLS FOR CASH—SELLS FOR LESS

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

"There's something I'd rather you'd do. 'Twould help an awful lot if you'd do it," Ivy urgently added.

"What is it?"
Eve asked the question without suspicion. Her mind was centered on the girl's condition—surely a serious one for a dancer. Ivy's next words startled her.

"It's my job," she muttered. "I'm going to lose it; that's all."

"Oh! I'm sorry!"
"Yes. Jake said he didn't want to be hard on me, but he couldn't be left in the lurch again. So the next time I didn't come or send a substitoot, it would be the air for me."

"I see."
Eve saw with a clearness that made her wince. Evidently Miss Davenport expected a great deal from her fellow-beings. She would not have been surprised if this stranger in her room, having put her to bed and eased her pain, now announced her intention of substituting for her at the cabaret and at once departed to do so. She herself had already shown that she was a friend in need. Probably her associates also were the kind that did that sort of thing. . . . But Jake's! To dance at Jake's! Eve felt that she had definite limitations and that one of them had been reached.

"You oughtn't to talk," she restlessly pointed out.
"If you'd go up there and report to Jake, you could bluff your way through the dances," Ivy hurried on. "You'd do fine. The other girls'd help you, if you tol' them what it meant. The fellas would, too. They're all my friend's. They'd see you weren't put up against it, 'cause they'd know you was tryin' to help me."

"But good Heavens, I can't—"
Eve became conscious of her tone and checked her words, appalled. This girl had come to her days ago, offering her a job because she believed her to be down and out. Now it was clearly up to her to reciprocate. The demand was a wild one, of course, but surely she was the last human being who should fail any one in trouble. She thought of Hamilton—of the swift willingness with which he had come to her help in her crisis. She could never repay him, but here was a chance to pass on the mercy and kindness he had shown her. This girl's job was at stake, her very bread and butter. As for herself, she could stand Jake's for one night, whatever possibilities Jake's might hold.

She leaned over the bed, in which Ivy now lay in the exhaustion of extreme pain.

"Tell me what you want me to do," she said kindly, "and I'll try to do it. What bluff must I make?"
She was rewarded by the look in the other girl's face as she struggled up on an elbow.

"There's 'nothin' to it," she said eagerly. "Even if you can't dance all the dances—and I'm bettin' you can—it'll help if you'll just go there and tell Jake how 'tis, and offer to take my place. Talk to him first, and then go to the dressin'-room. Ask for Queenie Morris. She's Jake's head hostess. She's my pal, too, an' the best of the lot. She'll do the rest."

"I understand. But—you're quite sure Jake's place is all right?"
The girl in the bed was spent by the effort of talking as much as she had done, but she rallied to this question.

"I'll tell the world it is," she brought out. "Don't you get no idee of white-slave stuff. There's nothin' like it at Jake's. Straight business, on the level, good eats, good music, a pretty good crowd—an' Jimmy Murphy on the spot to throw out rough ones. It ain't a club. 'Most any one can get in, but they can't stay in 'less they behave. The substitoots get three dollars for the night an' a five-cent card for every dance they give visitors, besides their tips. You'll get that tonight, of course. All I'm worryin' about is to hold my place for the winter. See what I mean?"

Eve could not help wondering how, on a few dollars a night, Miss Davenport's income ran to apartments, silk lingerie, over-stuffed furniture, and painted beds. As if the sick girl had read the thought, she hurried on:
"You'll knock down six or eight dollars a night without tryin'. I make ten or twelve. Any guy that's a real guy'll slip you a dollar or two for dancin' with him a lot, specially if he lands on your feet most of the time. An' there's always some guy will pay for your supper, too. Say—" she asked the question with sudden anxiety—"you got anything to wear?"

Eve looked at her blankly.
"No. I didn't bring an evening dress."

"Then take one o' mine, any you like. You an' me's about the same size. But hurry. That closet . . . see?"

Eve hurried, and selected the least flamboyant of Miss Davenport's several dancing-gowns—a fairly simple creation in white and silver.

"The slippers to match is on the top shelf."

Eve found the slippers without difficulty. Evidently Miss Davenport had a sense of order. They were a trifle large, but, like the gown, they passed muster. Ivy, blue-white around the mouth, approved the result, and Eve also received from the long mirror in the living room the assurance that it was not bad.

"I only got one evening-wrap," Ivy confessed, "but it goes with 'most anything." It did.

"Do I have to dance with every one that asks me?" Eve inquired, when she was ready to leave.

Ivy looked at her with a flicker in her pain-filled eyes.

"Say, haven't you even been in a cabaret?" As Eve did not reply, she answered the question: "Course you got to dance with 'em if you wanta make a hit. The big features is the program dances, but the men is there for a good time, an' you gotta help. If they ain't perfect gentlemen you tip the wink to Jimmy an' he gives 'em the air. But it's like I told you," she added more faintly. "You do what I said. If you can't dance or don't wanta, they'll all help you out. They're my friend's," she weakly ended.

Within the next hour, when she had reached Jake's, Eve discovered that Miss Davenport had not overrated her own popularity.

Jake was in the fastness of his private office, a small partitioned retreat off the main room. Eve's modest request to see the manager, combined with the mention of Miss Davenport's name, procured an immediate audience with him.

He was dressed in immaculate evening clothes and his brilliantined hair clung to his head like thick black paste. He turned upon her the unwinking gaze of two remote black eyes and waited for what she had to say.

"I've come to substitute for Miss Davenport," Eve explained. "S'matter 'ith her?"
"She's sick."
"Again, eh?"

The personal charm of Jake, as set forth by Miss Davenport, was escaping Eve thus far.

"Sure name?" he ended.
"Berson." Eve had decided to accept Miss Davenport's version.

"Sure address?"

"The same as hers."

"Know howt' dance?"

"Miss Davenport says I do. I can't do solo-work, but I think I can get along in the other dances."

"S'ope so. Awright. Report t' a' Morris."

Eve followed to its end the narrow passage he had indicated, guided by the sound of voices. The door of a room at the right was yawning slightly, and a glance through the opening suggested that here was her destination.

Half a dozen girls in evening gown occupied its limited space, lending themselves to various occupations. One, in the only easy-chair, sat holding a hand-glass and touching up an already striking facial color scheme. A second was down on a knee, sewing the beginning of a run in the top of one of her silk stockings. A third fluffed her bobbed hair before a full-length mirror, and the remaining three were smoking and resting. Eve tapped the door panel and waited on the threshold. No one answered, so she pushed the door wide.

"Pardon. Where shall I find the head hostess—Miss Morris?"

The girl who was sewing the stocking run raised her eyes from the absorbing task.
"Right here," she said brusquely. Her manner implied that she could endure "runs" but not interruptions.

"Miss Davenport told me to come to you," Eve explained. "She's sick."

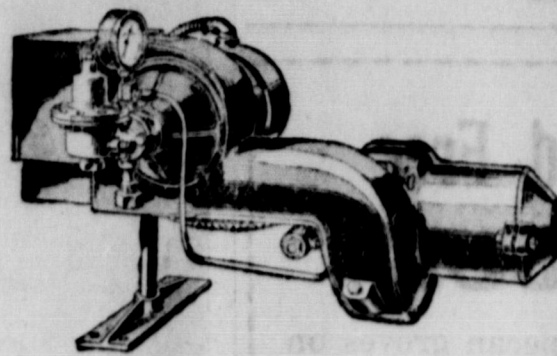

"Again!" Miss Morris's exclamation held more sympathy than Jake's, and she added briskly, "Gawd! the poor kid!"

The information interested all the girls. Miss Morris nodded.

"Fine," she said heartily. "Stick around till I finish this damned thing, and I'll put you wise to what you gotta do."

Eve entered the crowded room. One of the smokers spoke lan-

OUR COUNTRY'S BIRTHDAY

On July 4th, 1930, the United States of America will be 154 years of age. Compared with other world powers, our country is very young, but her progress has startled the world. She gives her average citizen luxuries which kings could not have a hundred years ago.

Our forefathers suffered cold and hunger, battled Indians and warred with their mother country to found a government where every man might have a chance to succeed.

The future of the nation depends upon US. The least we can do is to offer our sincere gratitude and loyalty as birthday gifts to our country.

6,000 MIXED LAMBS SOLD AT 7 CENTS PER POUND

Cliff Belcher, well known Val Verde County ranchman, has sold 6,000 mixed lambs to Jim Clamp of Brackettville for fall delivery at 7 cents per pound, according to reports reaching here Wednesday. This is the first sale of lambs reported this year. The lambs will weigh in the neighborhood of 70 pounds, it is estimated. Mr. Clamp is the owner of a fine string of race horses and owns a good ranch near Brackettville. He has been here with his horses a number of times and is well known to race horse men here.—Sonora News.

quidly. "What's eatin' Ivy?" she wanted to know. "Same ol' thing?"

She was a tall girl with green eyes, a superb figure, regular features, and red hair as closely cut as Jake's. She had a look of distinction, a voice as harsh and shrill as a Russian's, and her accent was the one heard in New York's lowest East Side slums.

"Yes. She says she's had such attacks before."

"I'll tell the world she has. They're the t'ings she ain't got nothin' else but. I'm wonderin' how long Jake'll stand for it," the tall girl drawled.

"Don't strain your mind tryin' to think, Maizie. But if you really wanta know, I'll say Jake'll stand for it as long as Ivy can dance better than the rest of us. You ain't feelin' up to Ivy's acrobatic waltz yourself, are you?"

Eve decided that she liked Miss Morris. Queenie, having thus suppressed Maizie, and also conquered the run, now felt up to other duties. She rose, shook out her skirt, cast a critical glance at the reflection of her legs in the long mirror, and turned to the new-comer, prepared to give her undivided attention.

"Set down," she invited. "Here, Stella, don't be a pig!"

She seized the legs of the girl called Stella, a tired-looking and plain-faced young person who was lying at full length on the room's one couch, and swung them to the floor. Stella retrieved the cigarette dislodged from her lips by the briskness of this maneuver, and gloomily huddled in the couch's top corner. Miss Morris pressed the visitor into part of the vacated space and fitted herself into what was left.

"What's your label?" she asked.

"Berson."

"New in the business?"

"Yes."

"I thought so," Miss Morris had the air of one adjusting her shoulders to a burden. "Well, things don't light up here till the theater crowd blows in," she resumed, "and that ain't for ten or fifteen minutes yet."

SUNFLOWER CLUB

Mrs. Marbury Morrison and Mrs. Ralph Meinecke entertained members of the Sunflower Club and their husbands with six tables of bridge at the home of Mrs. Morrison, Friday night. The Rodeo on the Fourth of July was featured in the decorations. The tally cards were silhouettes of a bucking broncho and rider with the same silhouette on the score pads. The table covers were in the national colors and a small flag ornamented the watermelon which was served at the end of the games. Mrs. T. A. Kincaid, Jr., was awarded high score prize for the ladies, a velvet plaque and Walter Augustine, high for the men, a shirt. Mrs. Chas. E. Davidson, Jr., was given low, a cookie jar and Massie West low for men, a box of candy.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Massie West, Mr. and Mrs. Hillery Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Augustine, Mr. and Mrs. Evert White, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. T. EXEMPTION CERTIFICATES
NOT NECESSARY FOR VOTE

Ed Yarbrough, district attorney for the 112th Judicial District, says that he has received so many inquiries from persons exempt under the law from payment of poll tax, as to whether or not they are required to obtain an exemption certificate before they can vote in the primary, and he submits the following explanation through the papers in the district so that every one may know the requirements of the law.

Many people are under the impression that those who are exempt from the payment of a poll tax have an exemption certificate before they will be permitted to vote and they are asking if the past legislature did not pass a law making that necessary. The fifth called session of the legislature did amend Article 2968, which became effective June 19th, this year, and it now provides that exemption certificates may be secured at any time before the day of the election but that only applies to cities with a population of ten thousand or more and people residing in cities or towns with less than ten thousand inhabitants are not required to secure exemption certificates in order to vote.

Those who are entitled to vote without a poll tax receipt are those who are more than sixty years of age, or a person who is blind, deaf or dumb, or who is permanently disabled or who have lost a hand or foot. Also persons are entitled to vote without a poll tax receipt who have become twenty-one years of age after the first day of January, 1929, and before the day of a following election at which such person wishes to vote and who possesses all the other qualifications of a voter, and it is not necessary for such persons to have an exemption certificate if they reside in a town of less than five thousand inhabitants according to the preceding Federal census.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kay returned Sunday from a visit with relatives in Waco, Irene and Hubbard, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor of Waco were guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bewley.

Battles Fought Again
As War Buddies Meet
Here After 11 Years

Ralph Pembroke, who has been engaged in engineering work in Pecos and Crockett counties, had occasion to visit the court house in Ozona last week. While there he was most agreeably surprised to find an old war buddy in the person of George Russell, the present county clerk. Pembroke and Russell were together at Camp Sheridan, Alabama; Camp Upton, New York; crossed the pond together on a British cattle boat; served in France and Germany the better part of two years, and then parted in New York City eleven years ago this month.

After the armistice Pembroke was administrative officer in the Verdun-Lerouville district engaged in rebuilding the French railway on the west bank of the Meuse river. Russell was a sergeant in charge of a detachment stationed at St. Mihiel. The old slang term "all shot to hell" may be rather homely, but it fit that railroad to a "T" when the "Jerrys' 77's" were finally silenced in 1918.

The old boys put in a mighty interesting afternoon comparing notes and recalling almost forgotten incidents, not all of which were pleasant. They both agreed that should another row start, they would be "rarin' to go" again provided a certain Major or two (no names mentioned) are detailed to the home guards knitting battalion.—Big Lake Wildcat.

Mrs. Grady Mitcham is spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pleas Childress.

Mrs. Joe T. Davidson entertained members of the Friday Bridge Club and their husbands with a most delightful carnival party at her home Thursday night.

States, but probably will not earn their keep. The deficit will be made up in what the Government pays the company operating them for carrying the mails. The mail subsidy of the British government of Samuel Cunard is what put the British flag ahead of ours on the Atlantic, 75 years ago.

HOMES

Savings bank heads say that right now is a more favorable time to build a home than we have had since the war. Building materials are down, labor is plentiful, mortgage money is cheap. Those who are secure in their employment can probably build homes now on more favorable terms than they will be able to a year from now.

The same authorities say that the measure of how much a man can afford to invest in a home is his average income. He is justified in tying up the equivalent of two year's salary if that is under $10,000 a year, or of three years' income, if he earns more than $15,000 a year. Thus, a man who earns $50 a week can afford a $5,000 home. And from ten to twelve years is the proper length of time over which to spread the mortgage payments.

SPORTSMANSHIP

Recently when our baseball boys played Ozona they came home singing praise for the manner in which they were treated by the good people of that thriving southwestern city, and while they were defeated by the score of 1 to 0, yet our players felt that the Ozona team was justly entitled to the winning run. Ozona will return this game, which will be played on the local diamond Sunday afternoon, and it is hoped that the home team may be able to merit a defeat of the visitors in a clean, fast game of baseball.

Come out to the game Sunday afternoon and show the same spirit of sportsmanship as was shown by Ozona when our boys visited that city.—Rocksprings Record.

LIONS

There was one year in my life when it seemed as if everything went exactly wrong.

The resulting accumulation of worries and problems loomed up like a range of mountains. It hardly seemed worth while to try to get on top of one of them because there were so many others beyond.

Wise old Talleyrand, when he could not see his way clearly through a difficult situation, used to take to his bed and give out word that he was ill. It was his experience that many difficulties solved themselves if one only let them alone for awhile.

Adopting his example, I went away for a couple of weeks and played golf. When I got back the troubles and problems had not disappeared, but I was a different man.

I went down to the office, made a list of all of them, and decided to tackle the toughest one first. I cleaned it up in one day and started after the others.

An amazing thing developed. Some of the worst situations proved to be the easiest, and not one of the whole lot turned out to be worth half the worry I had given it.

The lesson was valuable. I ought to have learned it much earlier in life, for I had been given plenty of opportunity to observe the ways of successful men in such matters.

One of my first bosses made it a rule every morning to ask for the bad news first. He said: "I want to get the tough things off the calendar while I am fresh. I never deal with the same thing twice. When I pick up a paper from my desk I don't lay it down until it's settled. Procrastination is poison."

An acquaintance of mine is a prominent operator in Wall Street. I asked once if it were true that at different times he has taken tremendous losses.

"Losses," he exclaimed, "I've taken millions in losses. Any man who tries to get through life without taking losses will never make any money. The trick is to take 'em quick and forget 'em. Amateurs worry about them in advance and brood about them afterward. The worry and the brooding break their nerve." The Book of Proverbs, which said pretty nearly that can be said, and much better, has this verse: "The slothful man saith There is a lion without, I shall be slain in the street."

The wise man steps out boldly. And more often than not the lion proves to be just a motion picture lion, with his claws cut short and his poor old teeth all gone.

"You look very downcast."
"Yes; my wife has been away for six weeks and I wrote her every week and said I was spending my evenings at home."
"Well?"
"She is back now, and the light bill has come in—it's for fifty cents."

Girl: "This is where that young fellow I told you about grabbed me and kissed me."
Homely Friend: "Let's hang about for a bit. They say they always revisit the scene of a crime."

THE VALUE OF SOUND DESIGN

New Ford engine gives outstanding acceleration, speed and power without sacrificing reliability or economy

THE good performance of the Ford car, so apparent on every highway, is due largely to the sound mechanical design of the engine.

It has outstanding acceleration, speed and power, yet that is only part of its value to you. Greater still is the fact that it brings you all these features without sacrificing either reliability or economy.

That is the reason the Ford car has given such satisfactory service to millions of motorists all over the world and has been chosen by so many large companies that keep accurate cost figures. In every detail of construction it has been carefully planned and made for the work it has to do.

The design of the compression chamber is an important factor in the efficiency of the Ford engine. It is built to allow free passage of gases through the valves and to thoroughly mix the fuel by producing turbulence within the cylinders during compression. The spark thus flashes quickly through the whole fuel charge, resulting in quieter and more effective engine performance. Other factors are the direct gravity gasoline feed, the specially designed carburetor, the new hot-spot manifold, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves of larger diameter, statically and dynamically balanced crankshaft and flywheel, the simplicity of the electrical, cooling, lubrication, and fuel systems and accuracy in manufacturing.

club during its two years of existence.

At the close of the installation ceremonies, Glenn Rutledge, on the part of the Club, presented Rev. Fulmer with a beautiful "Past President" Lion pin. In his presentation speech, Mr. Rutledge expressed the club's appreciation for the unselfish service which the retiring president has rendered and emphasizing the value of his work in raising the club from its infancy through two years of growth.

Newly elected directors of the club were first installed, George Harrell, P. T. Robison, Scott Peters and M. M. Fulmer are the new directors. Other officers were installed as follows: Tail Twister, Jack Sharp; Lion Tamer, J. L. Littleton; Second Vice President, A. W. Jones; First Vice President, J. L. Bishop; Secretary, Hugh Childress, Jr.; and President, Evert White. The retiring officers are L. L. Bewley, Tail Twister; Glenn Rutledge, Lion Tamer; Second Vice President, J. H. Meredith; First Vice President, W. R. Swinney; and President, M. M. Fulmer.

several hundred thousand people throughout the length and breadth of the land who are thinking about vacation and vacation to most of them, means going some place.

That is the way it should be. This is the greatest nation in the world for going places, and may such never cease.

To travel is to live. To sit sloth like in one place is to see nothing, be nothing, feel nothing and next thing to knowing nothing. Travel is education—the most pleasant form of education known to man, for it "peoples the heart and mind with pictures that never fade." Travel gives a character of experience to knowledge, and brings the figures upon the tablet of memory into strong relief.

Get away from the surroundings with which you are so contemptuously familiar." Get away from the daily grind—go places, see things and learn, by contact with those of a different clime. If you live South, go North—if your habitat is East, go West. If you live on the plains, go look at an ocean; if you have never seen a mountain go gaze at one, before you are any older. And in the going, see what there is to see. Study how towns do things—how others who make their living as you make yours, conduct their affairs. What you learn depends solely upon your natural powers and gift of conception, but regardless, you can't be the loser for such a venture.

There are, in America, so many worthwhile places to go—places that every American should see and know about, that lack of destination is no excuse. The National Capital, the National Parks, historical points, prominent in America's history—in every section of the United States, in your very own state, there are places to go.

But whatever you do, wherever you go, remember that you are an ambassador of the place where you live, and as such, "sell" it to all those with whom you come in contact. Don't "gush" about it, don't overdo it, don't lie about it—just sell it.

KING TUT'S
PYRAMIDS

King Tut's Transportation Problems were settled in a way that is the marvel of modern engineers. His methods, in a way, were crude compared to modern ideas. . . barges, big carts and man power. With this crude method of transportation the Pyramids were built. If the labor had not been organized it is more than probable these large engineering structures would not now grace Egypt.

The economic forces which made organized transportation a paying proposition then are the same that make it so now. Call phones 168 or 275, or place your order at Ozona Tire and Battery Co. for the Best Hauling Service.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR
By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

SERIOUS WARNINGS

Big headlines in the late newspapers announce that several hundred citizens have become paralyzed from drinking "jake" or tincture of Jamaica ginger. This is a somewhat surprising conclusion, but even science cannot know everything; we are learning day by day often by very painful and afflicting experience.

Of course alcohol is the preserving agent in all vegetable tinctures. "Jake" is a medicine, pure and simple. It has no mortal use as a beverage; the guzzler of this poison must expect to take the consequences.

The purpose of this letter to my readers is, to warn them against the use of any unnecessary thing. Life and happiness are too precious to be fiddled away in foolish habits. The man or woman without sense enough to obey the law of self-preservation—a law which even dumb brutes recognize—must expect to reap the fruits of such serious folly.

Can legislation put sense in the human head? Or would teaching be better? Can I compel my neighbor to abstain from being a hog? Must I imprison him for months and years in order to educate him? These are vital questions, capable of shaking the foundation of a republic. Wars have resulted from disputes over less vital things.

I shall never swear out a warrant for any man's arrest who does interfere with my rights unjustly. But I have a right to say to my patient, my friend, my neighbor, "If you are no better custodian of your most precious possessions—life, health and happiness—than to fritter them away drinking "jake" and corn whiskey, then take the consequences, and blame nobody but yourself." I might say that tincture of aconite would do a quicker, cleaner job for you—and save your family a lot of worry! I have no use for "jake" even as a medicine.
