Cut Your Gasoline Bill

BUY GAS AT 20 CENTS PER GALLON Thru Our Coupon Book Plan

Thru a system of coupon books similar to the familiar ice books, we are able to offer our customers a price of 20 cents per gallon on gasoline.

These books in denominations of $5.00, $10.00 and $20.00 call for 25, 50 and 100 gallons of gasoline respectively, placing the price per gallon at 20 cents.

Besides saving you a considerable sum on your monthly gasoline bill, this coupon book system has the additional advantage of convenience and-it GUAR-ANTEES you GAS AT 20 CENTS AS LONG AS

YOUR BOOK LASTS. Each coupon in the book is good for a gallon of gas no matter what the current price may pe. You buy 100 coupons for $20 and you get a gallon of gas for each coupon-Thus you are protected against a raise in the price of gasoline. Come in and let us explain the plan further.

A Demonstration Will Convince You

Let us demonstrate the many advantages of electric cookery, and explain the Hotpoint Range superiorities. A small down payment will install this modern "Electrical Servant" in your home. Let the resultant economies make the remaining payments.

The most delightful part of having the Hotpoint "Phantom Maid" cook your meals is that you merely prepare them, at any convenient time, and then entrust their cooking to the infallible Automatic Electric Timer and Heat Control.

In addition to this important labor and time-saving feature, you will find your meals far more tasty and appetizing. With Hotpoint "Controlled Heat" you are able to retain all the delicious flavors and the health-giving minerals and salts-they are not boiled away as in the old, unscientific ways of

A very eminent specialist told me recently, that to eat three baked potatoes "the size of a goose egg" daily, would harm as certainly as the smoking of three cigars. It is the excess, and not the particular thing that makes partaking deadly.

The wisest man, in my opinion, is the one that knows precisely where to draw the line in eating, drinking, and smoking. I have not met him up to this time. I am more afraid of excess than I am of the orthodox devil; that's not science bitterly lampooned, even in the house of his friends, than any other man who ever rose to the Presidency. Only after his tragic death did the people of the North begin to realize that a great man had led them. We are prone to forget that no man appears great to his contemporaries.

LIGHT

Fifty years from now the world may regard the discoveries made in our time about light as the great est scientific advance of all time. Light cures disease, ordinary sunlight, light produced in various ways by artificial means. Ordinary window glass keeps the healthful part of the sunlight out of the house. New kinds of glass let it in. In fifty years every modern home will be equipped with the new glass and illness will be less com-

Light stimulates the growth of both animals and plants. An English farmer proved that exposing young pigs to ultra-violet light made them worth double their far row-mates at six months. A French scientist recently grew straw berries in a cellar, ripening in half the normal time, using artificial light. They cost $5 apiece, but the time will come when out-of-season fruits and vegetables can be grown in the North by artificial light as cheaply as new in Florida

Autmobiles kill more people in America than any other single source of accidents, far more than are killed by railroads. The cause of accidents is usually inexpert driving. We have interpreted personal liberty to mean the right of anyone to drive a car whether he is competent or not.

Massachussetts has stiffened its tests for drivers, so that now it is impossible in Bay State to get a license to drive a car unless one really knows how to drive. And that means a lot more than merely how to shift gears and apply the brakes; it means appreciation of the fact that there are other cars on the road as well as pedestrians. Some day nobody will be allowed to drive a car in any state who has not some sense of responsibility

We have got out of the habit of attributing such things to either Divine assistance or the machinations of the Devil. We boast of them as achievements of the human mind. But the greatest men of cience today affirm their belief that the human mind derives its almost illimitable power from some source which all of the experiments have not disclosed.

We are performing new miracles | so fast that it seems as if there B must soon be an end to human proress. Science says "no" to that Mankind has hardly begun its upward flight in the conquest of nature, time and space. In the laboratories new discoveries about the properties of matter, far beyond any that have yet been applied to human needs, await the engineers who will translate them into machines and devices which will enable us to ascend even higher to ward the stars of our ultimate des-

Does the World Really Want Peace?

The Naval Disarmament Conference which is now meeting in London is of immense importance to the whole world, but of more immediate importance to the United States than to any other country We pride ourselves on being the most peace-loving people in the world, yet we spend more money today on military and naval preparations for war than any other

Perhaps we are wrong in believing that we love peace more than other people do. Hon. Alanson Houghton, former Ambassador to Berlin and then to London, suggested as much in his address on assuming the position of Chairman of the Commission on International Justice and Good Will of Federal Council of Churches. ruary, 1930. Pointing out that the United States: has managed to get into at least one important war during every generation since the Republic was established, he said that his knowledge of European nations convinced him that each of them honestly thinks, as we do, its people love peace more than any other. If something of that knowledge of the peace-loving nature of humanity in general, and some measure of belief in the good intentions of other nations toward us, gets nto the spirit of the Disarmament Conference, there is hope that our delegates may come back with a program, agreed upon by all, which will reduce our naval burden and that of the rest of the world, and provide tangible evidence that we -and the other countries-do actually desire peace.

Goodyear, the Tire

Has your car been skidding? Before you have an accident, look at the treads on your tires. Worn-down pretty smooth? Or have they nothing but ribs-"sled-runners"-in the center?

Plenty of miles left in them-but mighty little nonskid protection! We'll pay you for the remaining mileage and put on new Goodyear All-Weathers that will also insure you against delays and tire changes.

Not in 25 years has any tread approached the All-Weather for the prevention of skidding. Those deepcut, sharp-pointed, sharp-edged cross-blocks of tough rubber—DOWN THE CENTER where you most need tires to GRIP—cut in and take hold the moment you step on your brakes.

And more! Get into a rut or sink into deep mud, sand, slush or snow and these cross-blocks extending UP THE SIDES also take hold.

Drive in safety! Trade in those slippery-tread tires NOW! One accident may cost you many times the price of a change-over.
